Scouts visit Washington

T.J. Hutto didn't let politics affect a recent trip to the nation's capital. Scout's honor. "I'm not a big Clinton fan, but it was really neat," Hutto said after President Clinton spoke at the National Jamboree of the Boys Scouts of America three weeks ago. Hutto and Tyson Purdy, both Eagle Scouts and Muleshoe High School sophomores, were among the approximately 35,000 boys scouts from all over the world that attended the jamboree held every four years.

"I really couldn't get a good look at the President, but it was still neat to have him there," Purdy said.

After touring the nation's capital four days, the scouts attended a camp in neighboring Virginia for 10 days.

"It's something I'll remember the rest of my life," said Hutto, who listed scuba diving, repelling and motorcross as new experiences he tried at camp.

"It was a blast," Purdy added.

Hutto and Purdy are members of Muleshoe Boy Scout Troop #620. They joined a troupe from Midland for the trip.

The marijuana had an estimated street value of $1 million.

Bealls announces official store opening

The new Bealls department store on Main Street will open Sept. 11, the company officially announced last week.

The Houston-based retail store replaces Anthony's, which had been in Muleshoe since 1953.

A grand reopening is scheduled for Sept. 11-14.

Stage Stores, Inc. acquired 426 Anthony's stores earlier this summer and now operates 600 stores in 24 states.

The local Anthony's had been rumored to be in financial troubles the past few years.

Operating under the philosophy of "taking fashion to small-town America," Bealls hopes to offer customers up-to-the-minute fashions without driving to the regional shopping mall.

Stage operates most of its stores in small cities, where populations average about 20,000.

"Muleshoe is our kind of hometown," said Carl Tooker, chairman and chief executive of Stage Stores in a press release. "It's a friendly, family-oriented community and we're making a major commitment to give our customers the nicest shopping environment and the best service found anywhere. The new Bealls store really gives the area the fashion excitement it deserves."

Store upgrades include adding a full line of cosmetics, fine jewelry and fragrances, plus a broader line of athletic apparel, company officials said.

Bealls will carry names like Calvin Klein, Liz Claiborne, Levi's, Nike, Reebok, Elizabeth Taylor fragrances and Chaps Ralph Lauren.

The company also plans to introduce special promotions like a VIP shopping card and a 20 percent discount to customers 55 and older on the first Tuesday of every month.

The 14,000 square-foot building is currently undergoing renovations.

No personnel changes are expected.

City might dump latest sanitation fees

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

City sanitation fees might be going up even before a previously approved increase goes into effect.

Residential fees were expected to increase slightly when WesTex Waste, Inc. takes over city sanitation services next month. Commercial rates were in some cases were expected to double.

Now City Manager James Fisher is recommending an additional $2.50 across-the-board increase.

Fisher said during a City Council meeting Tuesday the increase is needed to absorb the cost of closing the city-owned landfill, estimated at $100,000.

Fisher had hoped to dedicate $80,000 WesTex is paying the city for two sanitation trucks and more than 600 dumpster toward closing the landfill. But the money might be needed elsewhere, Fisher said after preliminary budget figures projected a revenue shortage during the next fiscal year.

At the previously approved rate, the sanitation department would show a $46,000 deficit at the end of the next fiscal year Fisher said. With the proposed increase, the city would break even, he said.

"We have to do something that governments have failed to do in the past, make the service pay of itself," Fisher said.

Under the proposal, residential rates would increase to $17.50 a month, an increase of $3.50 over the current rate while commercial rates would range from $35 for a shared dumpster to $55. Current commercial rates range from $14-32.

Several Councilmen were visibly uncomfortable with the Muleshoe shows added depth in scrimmage

By RICK WHITE

Muleshoe's intrasquad scrimmage Saturday went pretty much as expected, head coach David Wood said.

Except for a few intermittent flashes of offense, the defense dominated during the hour and 15 minute scrimmage.

"The defense always dominates this time of the year," said Wood, in his second year at Muleshoe. "But we're a lot further ahead than we were last year."

Muleshoe, which finished 1-9 last year, scrimmages Thursday at Floydada, with the varsity scrimmage starting at about 7:30 p.m.

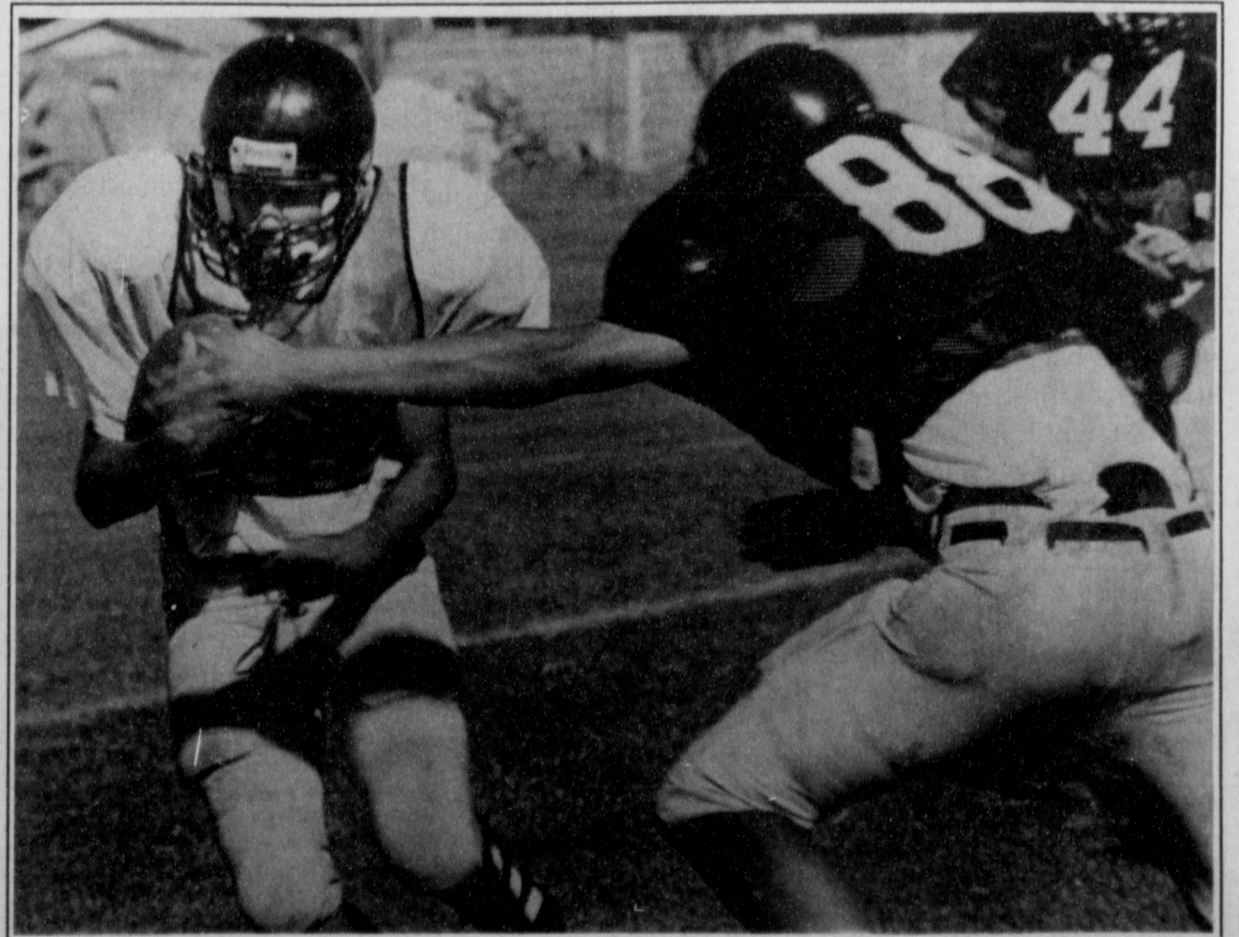

Junior quarterback Matt McClanahan threw well on the run Saturday, and backup Breck Brown made several good throws.

On defense, returning starters Dustin Cleavinger, Ricko Aguirre and B.J. Gonzales had solid outings.

The main purpose of holding an intrasquad scrimmage is that it "sets the tone for competition," Wood said. "It also gives us a chance to look at each player and make sure they're playing in the right position."

Cohesiveness in the offensive line is Wood's

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Story extended family's grief

Dear Editor

I am sorry you have used your newspaper to exploit your versions of recent tragedies in our community.

I am referring to the Don Williams and Gary Hanks news write-ups.

A rural editor has an obligation to report death without the callous and expedient style you have chosen.

The family and friends are suffering enough. We are a small community that has been able to cope without news stories that add to the grief.

I am sorry you do not feel the same about our community.

Sincerely,
Majorie Precure
Muleshoe

The families are hurting and broken-hearted over their loss and you added to their grief.

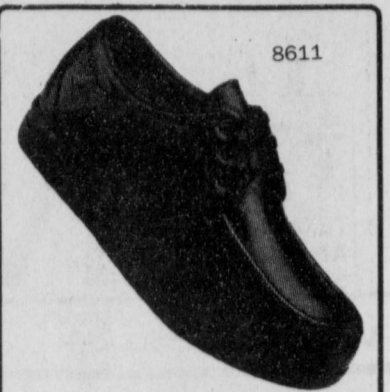

A simple obituary would have been sufficient.

Please, consider the feelings of others before you print anything in your newspaper.

COTTON NEWS

By SHAWN WADE Plains Cotton Growers

It's old news that there will be no diapause program in 1997.

The latest news, following the referendum, is there will be no areawide boll weevil control program in 1998 unless producers demand one after the first of the year.

Producers spoke through the recent referendum and said "No" to establishing a Southern High Plains/Caprock boll weevil eradication zone. This "No" vote to the first item on the referendum ballot eliminated all subsequent items.

Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers learned Wednesday that of 13,200 voting forms mailed out only 6,636 valid ballots were returned. Just 48.4% of those voted for Proposition 1, well short of the two-thirds majority needed to establish the zone.

In a meeting of PCD's Boll Weevil Steering Committee discussing the results members expressed respect for producers not being ready to accept the proposals offered by Texas Department of Agriculture and Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation.

"This is not the time to quit. It's imperative that we have a program in this area. It's time to enlist support from those who have been sitting on the sidelines," said State Sen. Robert Duncan of Lubbock.

PCG has always taken a proactive stance in facing the boll weevil issue. The organization will continue to gather and publish boll weevil population data from its established trapping the insect one-on-one.

The end result of this referendum is that cotton producers are 100% responsible for any, and all, boll weevil control on their own farms. PCG stands ready to carry out the future desires of producers in regard to boll weevil control activities.

High Plains cotton producers have worked hard over the past decade and a half to improve the quality and perception of the cotton they grow.

This effort has been enhanced over the past three years by High Plains producers participating in the beltwide "Fiber Form" sponsored by Fiber magazine.

The "Fiber Forum" is exactly what it seems, a forum during which producers and spinner can discuss current issues. Participants can then work to develop strategies for avoiding potential problems and enhancing the value of products produced at both ends of this marketing chain.

During past Forums High Plains producers have had to travel to the Southeast to attend the meetings. Now, efforts are underway to bring the next "Fiber Forum" to the High Plains. If all goes well, Lubbock could host the next Forum in March of 1998.

"This is really an outstanding opportunity for growers across the High Plains to visit directly with the end-users of about 55 percent of their production," says PCG President Jackie Burris of Wellman. "By taking the time to visit with the people who utilize our crops, we can target our efforts towards producing the type of cotton they need to operate efficiently."

The August estimate of 1997 High Plains cotton production held very few surprises aside from a feeling by some crop analysts that the acreage available for harvest could be slightly underestimated.

Numbers published by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service indicate approximately 3.26 million acres from an initial planting of 3.44 million acres. TASS estimates are reported by district and the High Plains is generally estimated as a combination of districts 1-N and 1-S.

The August estimate for yield in the area hovers near the one-bale mark bringing estimated production in at 3.08 million bales.

The area could have even greater potential, primarily depending on a favorable weather pattern during the month of September and through harvest.

Study shows horses gaining popularity

In today's world of rapid social change and technological advancements, many American traditions are quickly being displaced by new ways of living and communicating.

However, recent statistics indicate that America's longstanding love affair with horses is alive, well and growing in popularity. And along the way, America's equine industry has become an important economic segment of our country's leisure industry.

The new statistics, recently compiled by researchers for a new consumer exhibit on the horse industry called 'America is horse Country,' show that today's Americans are keeping up and expanding upon the proud traditions of horse ownership begun by our ancestors.

Today:
 ■ More than seven million Americans are involved in the horse industry as owners, service providers, employees and volunteers. Many more participate as spectators

■ More people now view horse events than visit movie theaters

■ There are more than 6.9 million horses in the United States, and approximately 70 percent of them are involved in showing or recreation

■ One of every four recreational riders in the United States are children

■ America's horse industry generates more than 1.4 million jobs and $25 billion in sales of goods and services, creating a total economic impact of $112 billion and tax revenues of approximately $1.9 billion.

A series of Texas horse events during June and July — the Mesquite Rodeo, the Lone Star Park at Grand Prairie and the American Paint Horse Association World Championship Show — made the size, diversity and economic impact of today's equine industry abundantly clear. Large crowds of horse lovers watched horses and riders compete in dozens of different events.

The growth of the horse industry is good for horses, too. Thanks to some exceptional advances in veterinary care and nutritional research, today's horses are leading happier and healthier lives than ever before. Whether used for pleasure or work, competition or showing, today's horses generally live longer, which benefits everyone involved.

proposed increase, scribbling on scratch paper trying to make numerical sense of the latest figures.

"Businesses are always getting hit for everything," said Councilman Roger Williams, owner of Williams Athletics, noting that his rate would nearly triple. "That's really sticking it to the businesses."

After further discussion the motion was tabled until the next council meeting.

"It's obvious we need time to study these new figures," Mayor Robert Montgomery said.

The Council did approve a rate schedule with WesTex.

The Midland company is charging the city $12.50 for residential customers and between $30 to $50 for commercial accounts.

WesTex will take over the city sanitation services Sept. 1.

Buddy Holly Festival Sept. 4-7

LUBBOCK — Legendary singer/songwriter Carl Perkins and country & western star Joe Ely are the headliners for second annual Buddy Holly Festival Sept. 4-7 in the historic Depot District.

The celebration is a tribute to the Lubbock native and rock-n-roll giant who was killed in a plane crash during his prime.

In 1956, it was Perkins, not Elvis Presley who wrote and recorded the original version of Blue Suede Shoes.

Perkins has entertained audiences for over five decades, recording with the likes of Paul McCartney, John Fogerty, The Animals, Chuck Berry and has toured with Tammy Wynette.

Perkins recorded an album in 1985 called the Class of 55 along with Roy Orbison, Jerry Lee Lewis and Johnny Cash.

The recording sessions took place at none other than Sun studios in Memphis, the label all three originally signed with three decades earlier.

Johnny Tillotson, Terry Allen and the Maines Brothers are also featured performers this year.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL)--A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream or new roll-on liquid form. Arthur Itis, is guaranteed to work or your money back.

biggest concern right now. Several spots are still up for grabs.

Wood is also worried about pass protection. Opponents gave Muleshoe fits with stunts last year.

The Mules have added considerable depth this season and are nearly two deep at every position, Wood said.

The Mules have switched styles this year, replacing last year's power running game with the veer option and using more zone coverage on defense.

The veer allows McClanahan to be more of a factor in the running game.

Defensive coordinator Flint Bigham has taken over the secondary this year.

Muleshoe is better suited to playing zone because it allows the cornerbacks to be used for outside run support, Bigham said.

Dairy officials alarmed by declining numbers

AUSTIN — With Texas milk production dropping dramatically and large numbers of dairy farmers going out of business, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry has joined with the Texas Association of Dairyfarmers to request an in-depth study by Texas A&M University.

They hope to develop solutions that may help reverse the industry's decline.

"Of the nation's top 10 dairy-producing states, only two states saw a drop in milk production in June 1997 compared with June 1996," Perry said. "Minnesota's production dropped by .2 percent, while Texas' production dropped by 5 percent. Large and small dairy operations also have gone out of business in unprecedented numbers in Texas with nearly one in 10 dairy farmers shutting down over the past year."

Texas, which is the sixth largest dairy producer in the nation, is predicted to slip as far as ninth place nationwide.

Dan Smith, president of the Texas Association of Dairyfarmers and a Sulphur Springs dairy producer, said that Texas, until recently, has been an ideal location for dairy production.

"In the 1980's and early '90s we saw many dairies relocating to Texas recognizing that the state was a great place for milk production," Smith said. "Now, Texas is leading the nation in the number of dairies going out of business or leaving the state."

Larry Gibson, who serves on Commissioner Perry's Producer Advisory Committee and who is a dairy farmer in Dublin, agreed.

Even with the recent production drop, dairy continues to be an important part of Texas' agricultural industry as the state's fourth largest agricultural sector generating about $800 million a year in income.

Waiting for daddy

BAXTER BLACK
ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

"Mama, when's Daddy comin' home? Is it time to worry yet?"
"By supper, darlin'. Eat your Cheerios."
He rode out this morning early. Like he does six days a week
I always make him tell me where he goes 'Specially when I know he's headed over the canyon side
At least I know I'll have a place to start So in case he doesn't come back I can hunt for him myself
Or go for help if I get faint of heart
"Run and git your schoolbooks, kiddos! And be sure to wash your hands."
"Aw, Mama, do we have school today?"
If it wasn't for home schooling I might lose what mind I've got
It helps to pass the daylight time away And I know I shouldn't worry but I worry anyway
Who wouldn't, if they were in my shoes I've been up those rocky canyons and I've seen those snaky trails
I know how quick a horse can blow a fuse "Mama, Cody said a swear word." "I did not!" "Did too!" "Did not!"
"I only said Ring went to the commode."
Oh, thank God I've these children here to keep me occupied

But still I'm always lookin' down the road All afternoon I watch the sky. It's like I'm playin' poker
You don't know how I fear an angry cloud And the wind gives me the shivers. Never lets me drop my guard.
Nothin' like it whispers quite so loud
"Mama, when's Daddy comin' home? Shouldn't he be here by now?
We wanna ride before it gets too dark." And the hardest time for me I guess is now till six o' clock
I'm nervous till I hear the home dogs bark But the kids are my salvation. "Course they wanna be like Dad
He saddles up their horses and lets 'em go And I stand here by the window thinkin' 'here we go again'
But they're cowboyin', the only life they know
"Mama, look! Oh, here comes Daddy. That's him trottin' up the road. He's wavin', now he's comin' through the gate."
"See, I told you kids be patient, not to get your dander up..."
And learn to wait, and wait and wait and wait and wait.

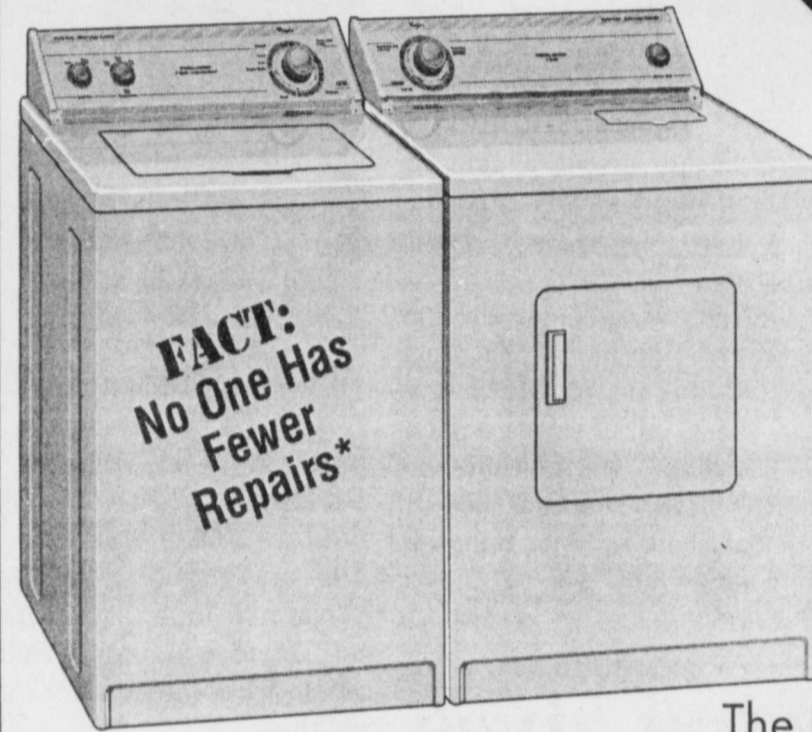

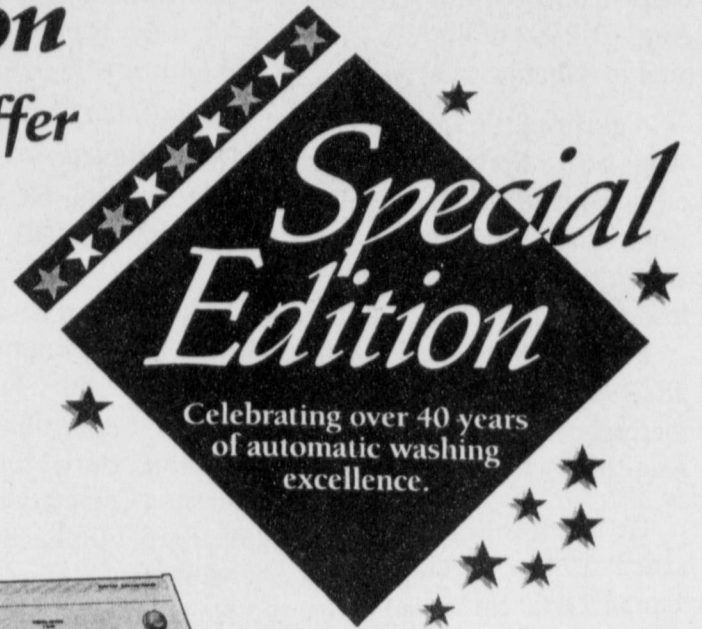

Sleeping judge exonerated of wrongdoing

LONDON — A judge caught sleeping on the job won the nod of approval from a higher court. Britain's Court of Appeal rejected a defendant's claim that his trial was prejudiced because Judge Richard Hamilton slept through parts of it. The three-judge appeals panel ruled that defendant Thomas Moringiello failed to prove that the judge catnapped through any significant testimony. Moringiello was convicted of obtaining and services by deception, and was sentenced to 18 months in prison last year.

Assisted living gives elderly independence

HOUSTON — Assisted living communities are helping to bridge the gap between independent living at home around-the-clock care provided at nursing home.

"These communities represent a new living option for elderly people who require some level of daily assistance, but do not need the medical attention of nursing home," said Nancy Wilson, an assistant professor with the Huffington Center on Aging at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "Assisted-living centers allow many people to enjoy a level of independence while providing them with services to make their lives easier."

Assisted-living communities range in size from single or double rooms in a private home or retirement complex to full apartments. Most provide three meals a day served in a common dining room, housekeeping and linen service and assistance with bathing and dressing.

Medication management, recreational and social activities and transportation to medical care are also usually part of the support package.

"One of the appeals of the assisted-living setting is that people can maintain individual control and privacy in their living space," said Wilson. "Unlike in many nursing homes, residents have the freedom to decorate and furnish their rooms, making their surroundings feel more like home."

Some communities rely on home-health agencies to furnish skilled nursing or other health-care assistance, since they only have staff for supervision and personal care.

Regulation of assisted-living communities and their personnel varies from state to state, so it is important for people considering a move to a community to visit and ask questions about the staff, services and cost.

"Relocation at any age is challenging, but assisted-living communities provide a side variety of living options that may make the transition easier later in life," Wilson said.

TOP NEWS

Tops Chapter #34 met Aug. 14 at the Muleshoe Church of Christ.

Alene Bryant, weight recorder, called the roll with 14 members answering with the amount they lost or gained.

Best loser for the week was Cheryl DeGraffenreid. Jamie Hughes was first runner-up and Loretta Lloyd second runner-up.

James read an article about the attitudes of people toward those who have lost weight and also about the attitudes of those who have lost weight.

Willie Nelson appears for the first time with Bob Wills' Original Texas Playboys in the Playboys' last performance. Patti Page celebrates the country pop sound of the 1950s and the 1960s with her hit of Pee Wee King's famous song "Tennessee Waltz."

Chet Atkins displays his guitar wizardry in a salute to the late Merle Travis; and Randy Travis, one of country music's hottest stars, pays musical tribute to the late Lefty Frizzell with a performance of Frizzell's hit "Gone, Gone, Gone."

Showcasing artists of the 1960s, Country Music Legends also includes performances by Roger Miller, Bobby Bare, Lynn Anderson, and Faron Young.

Country Music Legends airs Monday, August 18th at 9:00 p.m. It repeats Saturday, August 23rd at 10:00 p.m.

The Scottish Fiddle Orchestra thrills the audience with spirited performances of many traditional favorites, including "Far Frae Hame," "The Primrose Polka," "Flying Fiddles," and "Auld Lang Syne."

The Scottish Fiddle Orchestra at Royal Albert Hall, London airs Sunday, August 24th at 8:00 p.m.

Nunsense 2: The Sequel

Emmy-winner Rue McClanahan (The Golden Girls) reprises her role as Mother Superior in Nunsense 2: The Sequel, the outrageous continuation of the trials and tribulations of those wacky Little Sisters of Hoboken. This two-hour sequel to the award-winning off-Broadway comedy, Nunsense, begins just six weeks after the sisters have staged their first benefit (the centerpiece of the original musical). The zany sisters are staging this second show as a way to thank all the people who have supported them. But now, they're just a bit slicker and have been bitten by the "theater flea."

Nunsense 2: The Sequel airs Sunday, August 24th at 9:10 p.m.
