A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Foster wins tie-breaker

The Philadelphia Eagles' botched field goal attempt turned the Dallas Cowboys and Steve Foster of Lazbuddie into surprise winners.

Foster won the Journal's Week 2 football contest by exactly guessing the number combined points scored in Monday's 21-20 Dallas win.

For his efforts, the Lazbuddie businessman wins the $15 first prize.

Foster was one of six contestants who correctly picked 14 of 18 winners.

Thomas Reed of Friona won the $10 second prize with a tie-breaker total of 42 points. Rusty McFarland of Pearland and John H. Carrion of Muleshoe split the $5 third prize after guessing 43 points.

Upsets by Arizona State and UCLA and El Paso Jesus Chapel's 57-14 win at Three Way hurt most of the 36 contestants.

MISD tax rate unchanged

The Muleshoe Independent School District property tax rate remains unchanged.

The MISD school board officially voted to keep the rate at $1.2704 per $100 of valuation during a Sept. 8 MISD school board meeting.

State school boards could not officially approve tax rates until after the Aug. 9 homestead exemption election.

The tax rate was tentatively approved when the board adopted its $9.7 million budget in August.

MHS looks to rebound against No. 4 Wolverines

BY RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

James Williams is not a one-man team — although the Springlake-Earth quarterback is a heck of a place to start.

The Wolverines have plenty of other weapons in the backfield, according to Muleshoe coach David Wood.

Springlake-Earth (2-0) rushed for 460 yards in a 28-0 win at Morton last week and has outscored its first two opponents by a combined score of 69-0.

"They're explosive," Wood said. "Of course, I don't have to say anything about the quarterback. And they've got some size up front to block for him."

Williams has rushed for 327 yards and four touchdowns in two games. The 6-3, 200-pound senior is being heavily recruited by several major colleges as a defensive back.

"We can't just stop (Williams) and expect to win the game," Wood said. "Their fullback and tailback can scoot."

"We've got to attack them and hope that takes some of their quickness away," Wood said.

The Mules (1-1) travel to Earth Friday for an 8 p.m. game against the Wolverines hoping to rebound from a 26-0 loss to Denver City last week.

It won't be easy.

Springlake-Earth moved up to fourth in the Class 1A poll this week and has qualified for the playoffs six-straight years.

"We need to be a little more consistent," said Springlake-Earth coach Rick Hulett, who is 84-31-4 in his 11th year at the school. "We know that to be competitive in our district and to get to the playoffs we're going to have to play better than we are now."

Muleshoe's chances of pulling off an upset starts up front with the offensive and defensive lines.

Against Denver City, the Mules failed to School program aimed at parents

The Muleshoe Independent School District is reaching out to become partners with parents.

The school district is sponsoring a free series of programs aimed to meet the needs of parents by offering important topics related to the youth of today.

The first program entitled "Parent Info — Things We All Need to Know!" will be held from 6-9 p.m. Monday at Muleshoe High School.

"Parenting is a difficult thing to do, often parents need more information to be parents, especially on drug and social issues. Our goal is to provide parents with more tools to be good parents," said Twila Albertson, program coordinator at Region 17 Service Center.

The program is a part of a series of parenting conferences that the district began implementing last year.

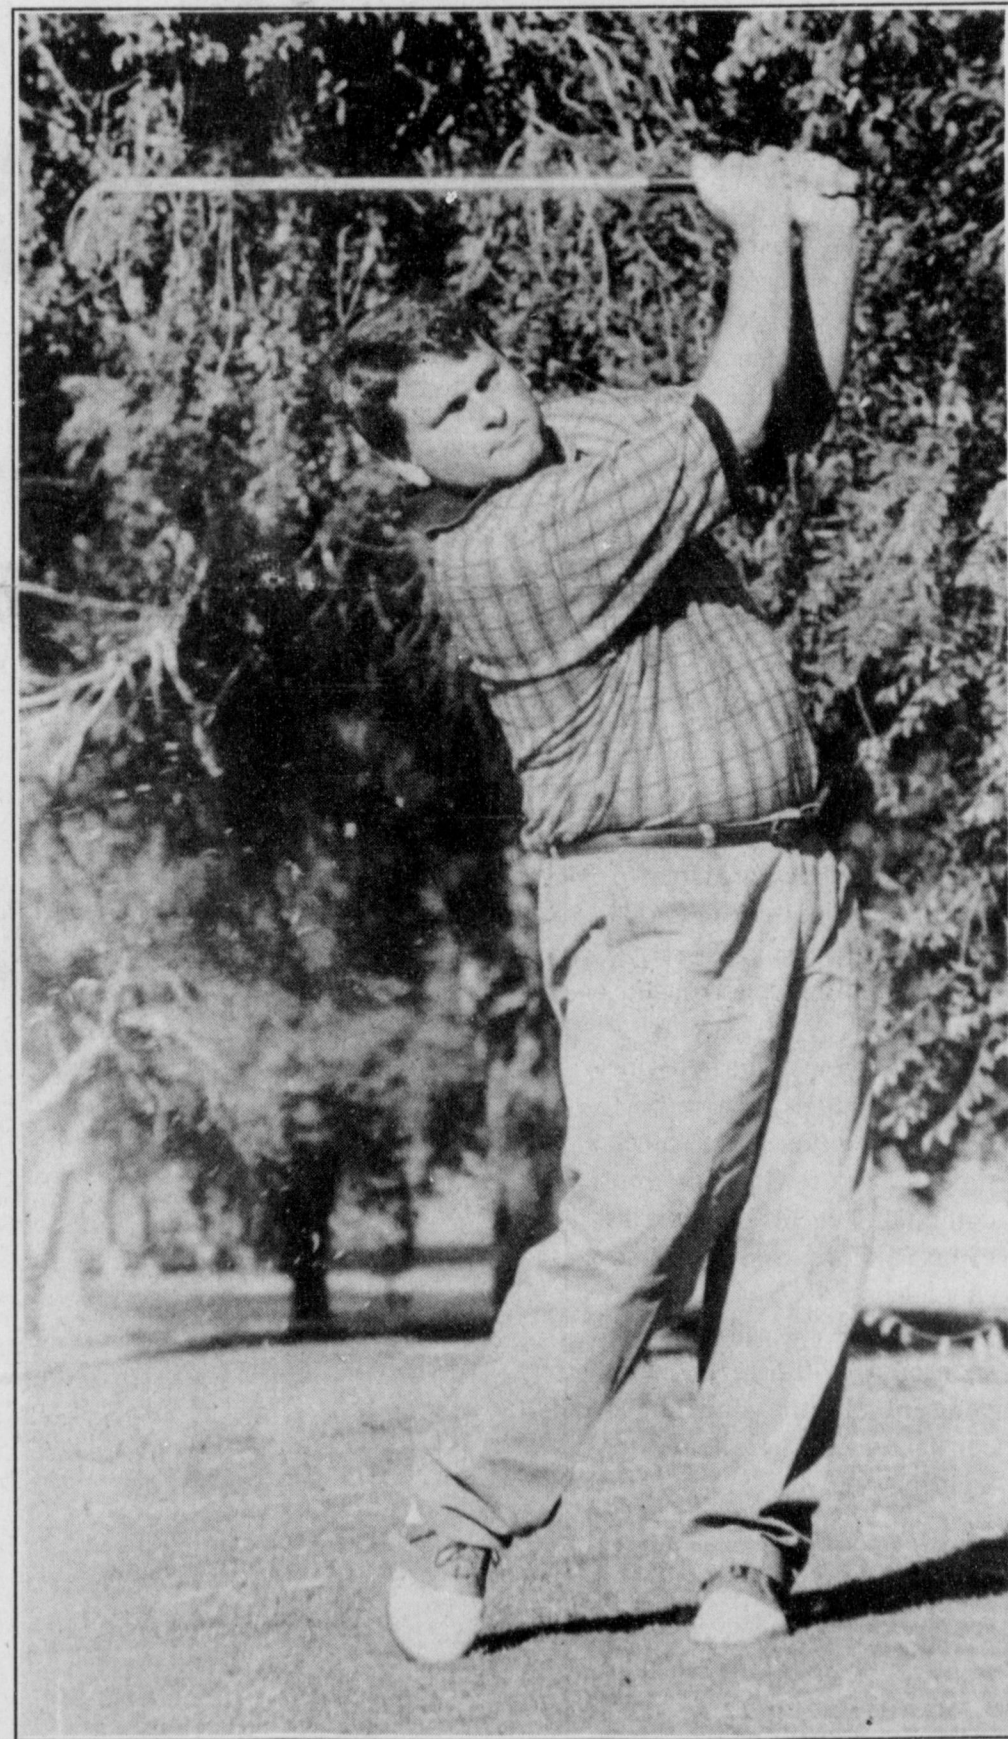

The district has seen several benefits since starting the program.

"First, we are fostering of the partnership between the schools and parents together. Second, we are gaining a greater awareness of things that we can do to make a parent's job easier and more effective," said MISD Superintendent Bill Moore.

"Parents and the schools need to work together, giving

High finish

Muleshoe Country Club pro Jeff Baker follows through on his iron shot Sunday on the par-3, 18th hole. See page 6 for complete results.

Wins title with birdie on final hole

First-round leader Carey Sudduth was five-over-par after five holes Sunday and just thinking about making it back to the clubhouse after re-injuring his back.

Sudduth rebounded from his painful start and won the Muleshoe Country Club Men's Open championship by one stroke with a birdie on the final hole.

Sudduth played the final 13 holes in one-under-par, finishing the day with a 74 and the 36-hole tournament at four-over-par 144.

Sudduth, Sammy Gonzales and Todd Shipman were tied for the lead heading into the 125-yard, 18th hole.

Sudduth, who finished fourth last year, rolled in an 18-foot putt for the win.

"I knew it was in as soon as I hit," said the Lazbuddie High School teacher and coach, who missed two days of work earlier in the week with a strained back. "Sometimes you just know when a putt is going in."

Gonzales, whose birdie putt on No. 18 slipped four feet by, settled for par and finished second at 145.

Shipman double-bogeyed the hole after hitting his tee shot in the water and finished tied for fourth at 147.

No reservations about entering ministry

Joe and Lela Copley

By TERESA STONE
Journal staff writer

Joe and Lela Copley plan on spending the rest of their lives in the mountains of Montana and Wyoming — unless the Lord calls once again on a new journey.

In 1987, the Lord summoned the family away from their life-long home in Muleshoe and their Christian family at Calvary Baptist Church to minister on Indian reservations, their Copleys said.

Ten years later, the couple has established three churches with an average Sunday attendance of 35 at each one.

"It was definitely a cultural shock when we first arrived," Lela Copely said. "Reservation life is very different, their way of thinking is different. There is a lot of poverty because of drinking. We get drunk people at our door 24 hours a day needing a ride, or money or food."

The Copley's minister to the Crow Indians in Prior, Mon. and to the Araphoe in Wyoming, 225 miles away.

"The Crow Indians have been evangelized for years, so sometimes things go in one ear and out the other, but, the Araphoe have never been exposed to Christ, never been evangelized," Lela said.

City police cash in on drug arrest

A district court judge Monday ruled that the Muleshoe Police Department could keep $7,480 in cash and a 1984 Ford vehicle seized during a May 27 drug arrest.

District Court 287 Court Judge Jack Young made the ruling during a forfeiture hearing at the Bailey County Courthouse. The defendants, LaQuita Dillinger and Gerald Green, both of Portales, NM, did not attend the hearing.

Dillinger and Green were arrested May 27 along with a third man after Muleshoe Police discovered 112 grams of methamphetamine and five grams of cocaine in the car they were driving.

Muleshoe Police Chief Rick Heneger, who testified at the hearing, said the money would go into the police department budget.

The Producer Meeting

BAXTER
BLACK
ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

When you take a seat in the waiting room of a veterinary clinic, a feedlot office or an animal health store, you occasionally notice a body sitting there who looks out of place. They are often dressed in more formal attire than most clientele. They may be doing their times (two times two is four, two times four is eight, etc . . .), they may be reading the ten year old copy of Look Magazine or they could be annoying you . . . just killing time.

These dedicated people, who seem to take precedence over no one in the animal health food chain, are company reps. Salesmen, armed to the teeth with research trials supporting their product, special offers to entice volume buying out of season, and lunch money. They are the mainstays of our continuing education.

They seem to exude a certain tension, which is understandable . . . they have the job security of a smoke jumper.

A big part of their regular duties is producer meetings. Some of these meetings go well. Others . . . well, others prove that masochism builds character.

John works for an international pharmaceutical company that offers products for use in livestock. He arranged with the manager of a good sized feedlot to put on a meeting for the cowboys and vet crew employed therein.

A local steak house was selected as an appropriate location for the meeting. Supper and drinks were furnished as bait. A good crowd of 18-20 showed up for the meeting.

No separate room was available, but the maitre d' had set up his movie screen against the back wall at the end of the table. The slide projector sat in the middle of the table between the attentive cowboys.

John began his presentation. He started with lung diseases. Pictures of fulminating pleuritis glared from the screen attracting the attention of random diners. Presently, an incidental customer walked between the projector and the screen, excusing himself politely as his shadow darted across a rather explicit slide of chronic suppurative pneumonia. As John was soon to discover, he lay in the direct and only path to the restrooms.

The wayfarer returned, tripping over the projector cord which gave everyone a moment's respite from pulmonary contagion.

Just as John segued into injection site abscesses, he was interrupted by the waitress, who stepped into the spotlight and asked, "Who ordered the scotch and water?"

Then in the midst of his discussion on reumen physiology a group from the other side of the room broke into song. It was "Happy Anniversary To You" dedicated to a couple celebrating 58 years of wedded bliss . . . "Happy anniversary . . . " . . . methane . . . " . . . to yo-o-o-o-u-u-u-u . . . " . . . is released along with . . . " yeah, yeah, applause. . . " "Scuse me, I gotta go to the john. . . " "Sure" "Carbon dioxide" "Any questions?" "Yes, who ordered the two whisky sours and the Bud Light?"

On the drive home John commented to his boss, "All in all, it wasn't too bad a meeting."

"Yeah," the boss said, "But ya know they might've missed some of the details."

two sons first arrived on the Indian reservation, they hung a sign that the church would be opening and then hoped for the best. Twenty-three Indians came to the first service.

"We were well received and they respect us. Overall, the Indian people are super religious, it's just that their religion is based on the worshipping of nature, such as the sun," said Lela.

The missionaries are not reaching as many adults as they would like, but they are having an opportunity to make a positive impact on the reservation's children, said Lela.

The church gets quite a few 'bingo kids.' Children that would normally be left alone while their parents go to the bingo parlors. But we do not care how or why the children come to church, we are pleased that we get a chance to make a difference at least in this second generation, said Lela.

One of the biggest events on the reservations is Vacation Bible School.

Last year, 87 children participated.

The Crow tribe donates a buffalo from their herd for food and at the end of each day, families come for their children and they have a big feast.

Feasting during or after a big event is a tradition. The Copley's also make sure that each family has food to take home, another Indian custom.

But the Indian culture does not allow the Copley's as much time with the children as they would prefer.

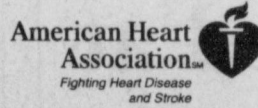

Since the mid 1980s, the Native American religion has been growing in popularity and now at age 12, boys are required by their tribes to start learning about the Indian religion and their ways, so they must leave the Christian church.

But the Copley's are thankful that the boys are able to experience Christ during childhood, and hope that the boys will return to the Christian faith as adults.

The Copley's, who live with the Crow Indians, try to respect the Indian culture, but sometimes they must withstand from community events due to religious differences, such as sundances.

The Copley's, who are now sponsored by 40 different independent Baptist churches, constantly seek more help with their mission.

Since the late 1980s the couple has visited more than 400 churches across America sharing their ideas and goals with Christians, hoping for more spiritual and financial support.

Here's another necessity for your apartment.

If you are living in an apartment or duplex, this may be the first opportunity you've had to experience the terrific benefits of having natural gas in your home. You will find that for heating your home during cold weather, for hot water, or for cooking, nothing beats natural gas for convenience, economy, and efficiency.

With cooler temperatures just around the corner, here are a few reminders from your friends at Energas Company on the safe and responsible use of natural gas where you live.

Your furnace needs an annual check-up.

Your natural gas furnace has been sitting quietly all summer, waiting for the time it's really needed. And like anything that's been idle a while, your furnace needs a check-up before it starts back to work. You may want to check with your landlord or apartment manager about arranging for an annual inspection by a qualified professional heating contractor. Once it's been inspected, your furnace should require very little attention the rest of the winter.

A closet isn't always a closet.

Your water heater or furnace is probably in a closet all by itself. And that's the way it should stay. As tempting as it may be, don't use the space around a water heater or furnace for storage. Even if these major appliances sit in the open, the space around them should be kept clear to insure adequate air circulation.

If you smell gas.

We hope that you will never have to deal with a gas leak. If you do smell gas, day or night, exit the building then call your local Energas office immediately. Do not flip light switches or use any other electrical equipment. Do not light a match or a candle. Do not try to find the leak yourself.

Natural gas is the best energy you can have in West Texas for any home heating job. Just set your thermostat, and have a great winter!

We're proud to be your gas company

Sewing still fashionable

Muleshoe youth competing in 4-H fashion follies

By TERESA STONE
Journal staff writer

A Muleshoe fifth-grader is one of the few people of her generation keeping the art of sewing alive.

Erin Gallman, 12, will be participating in the South Plains Fair Fashion Follies this Sunday.

Erin will be entering and modeling a denim jumper she made that is decorated with small silk embroidered flowers on the pockets.

Judging will be based on the quality of the work, how it was made and how the finished product looks.

"Last year, I made a vest that was pretty easy. This year I decided to do a jumper because I wanted to do something that was a bit harder," said Erin, competing in the Fair for the second time.

Erin began sewing two years ago as part of 4-H.

"I always hoped she would be interested in sewing," said her mom, LeAnn

Erin's friends at school have commented on the clothes she has made, and she has one piece of advice—join 4-H.

"I tell my friends to just come to one meeting and see if they like it," said Erin.

During her three years as a 4-H member, Erin has also competed in the County Food Show. Her first year she made Vermicelli and, to her surprise, won third place.

"Every year at Thanksgiving someone in my family would make Vermicelli, now I can do it," said Erin.

"Joining 4-H has been a great learning experience for her," said Erin's mother.

Erin also painting, drawing and playing the piano. She plans to be a teacher.

Although Erin is the only Muleshoe participant in the sewing competition, other Bailey county 4-H youth will show livestock at the South Plains Fair.

Steers will be shown by LeeAnn, Lindsey and Cody Altman, Lynsie, Katie, Brady and Marlie Black, Ky Kennedy and Bryce Embry.

Swine will be shown by Dal Whalin, Amanda Hahn and Jill Gladden.

Market goats will be shown by Brandi Whalin.

Lambs will be shown by Brandon and Amy Burris.

the students the best education possible, helping with problems and heading off any problems students might face," Moore said.

An important change to last year's format is that the program will be presented in English and Spanish on the same night.

English presentations will be held in the auditorium. Spanish presentations will be held in the cafeteria.

There will be three 50-minute sessions beginning at 6 p.m. with Coping with Family

Stress, at 7 p.m. with Parent Awareness of Juvenile Activities, and at 8 p.m. with Controlling your Child.

"Parents do not have to come to all three, they can come to just one. We want to make this as comfortable and convenient as possible," said Bill Moore.

Between each session refreshments will be served and door prizes given away. Babysitting will also be available during the program.

EP Jesus Chapel tops Eagles 57-14

MAPLE — Not only couldn't the Three Way Eagles stop Marc Bustamante. They hardly slowed him down.

Bustamante rushed for 151 yards and scored seven touchdowns Friday, leading El Paso Jesus Chapel to a 57-14 win at Three Way.

Three Way coach Danny James called the 5-9, 150-pound Bustamante the best running back he's seen in several years.

"He had tremendous quickness," James said. "I don't think we ever put a pad on him. We just couldn't match up against their speed and quickness."

Three Way had pulled within 27-14 and had the ball inside the Jesus Chapel 25-yard line late in the first half.

But Cody Wilson was hit as he threw and Bustamante intercepted the wounded duck pass and returned it 54 yards for a touchdown.

Bustamante scored on runs of 70, 44 and 41 yards in the second half when the Chargers (2-0) outscored Three Way 22-0.

Three Way gained 305 yards, but turned the ball over five times, four on fumbles.

Wilson completed 13 of 17 passes for 154 yards and two touchdowns.

a 25-21 win Saturday.

Michael Montoya threw a pair of touchdown passes and Ben Speer returned an interception 13 yards for a third score as the Golden Wolves (0-2) led 21-12 at halftime.

Trey Duke threw two touchdown passes and Alan Adkinson ran for 145 yards and two scores as Perryton (1-1) beat Guymon, Okla. 31-7.

Littlefield blanked Tulia 29-0, limiting the Hornets (0-2) to 92 total yards. Trey Ensor scored three touchdowns for Littlefield (1-1).

River Road and Sanford-Fritch were overpowered again by District 1-4A teams.

Astolfo Venzor of Dumas rushed 241 yards and three touchdowns in Deacon's 36-13 win over River Road.

Jerod Ficak ran 60 yards for one touchdown and passed 28 yards to Andy Dunlap for a second touchdown for River Road (0-2).

QB Michael Soria passed for 218 yards and two touchdowns, leading Caprock to a 27-2 win over Sanford-Fritch.

Haven Reed rushed for 65 yards and Jarrod Carr added 63 yards for the Eagles (0-2). S-F scored first on Bryon May's 41-yard field goal.

Shade must be provided for a goldfish tank because goldfish have no eyelids.

touchdowns and Sammy Soliz rushed for 112 yards on 19 carries. Soliz also caught seven passes for 88 yards.

"We moved the ball fairly effectively when we hung onto the ball," James said. "But we kept shooting ourselves in the foot."

Three Way trailed 21-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Wilson got the Eagles back into the game with touchdowns passes of 30 yards to Gerald Perez and 17 yards to Soliz.

The Eagles host undefeated Wellman (2-0) Friday.

control the line of scrimmage for the first time all year.

"After the game, I think the kids realized you just can't expect to show up and win games," Wood said.

Trailing 14-0, Muleshoe failed to score from inside the Denver City seven-yard line just before halftime.

"We moved the football," Wood said. "I really think if we had scored, we could have stayed with them," Wood said.

Denver City dominated the second half, scoring the first two times it touched the ball and limiting Muleshoe to 11 yards in the last two quarters.

"We never quit playing though," Wood said. "We still stuck our heads in there and never did give up."

Muleshoe, which opened the season with a 403-yard effort against Portales, managed 86 yards last week.

Junior tailback Gilbert Vela leads Muleshoe with 109 yards rushing. Fullback Greg Pena has 106.

Pena left the Denver City game with back spasms but is expected to practice this week.

Muleshoe is healthier heading into the Springlake-Earth game than it was last week, Wood said.

Last week, several players were questionable with injuries late into the week.

"We have the whole week to get mentally and physically prepared," Wood said. "And that's the key to Friday nights."

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to limit increases in the appraised value of residence homesteads for ad valorem taxation and to permit a school district to calculate the school property tax freeze applicable to the residence homestead of an elderly person or the surviving spouse of an elderly person in accordance with the law authorizing the transfer of the school property tax freeze to a different homestead regardless of whether that law was in effect at the time the person established the person's homestead."

PROPOSITION NO. 3

Parent/teacher conferences important tool for success

As a parent, you're concerned about your child's progress in school. Does your daughter get along well with her peers and teachers? Is your soon struggling with math? What exactly do grades measure?

should attend. Having both present builds a stronger partnership, and better communication, between home and school. If one parent can't attend, be sure the other one writes down any concerns to raise during the conference.

the time limitations. Conferences may range from 20 to 40 minutes, but regardless of the length, the teacher probably has other parents waiting.

■ Be positive. Approach the conference with a cooperative, not confrontational, attitude. Teachers want to work with you and your child.

■ If you have questions and concerns, contact the teacher. ■ Discuss the conference with your child, so he or she knows what to expect. ■ Follow up on your action plans immediately. ■ Stay informed regarding your child's school work. Talk with your child about it, and keep in touch with the teacher.

SCHOOL NEWS

One way to find out is through a parent/teacher conference.

Parent/teacher conferences allow both parties to share their observation on a student's school work.

Like anything else, the more effort you put into the conference, the more you'll get out of it.

Here are some suggestions from teachers:

Before the conference

■ Talk with your child for his or her opinion on how school is going. Compare his or her views with the teacher's evaluation during the conference. Any misperceptions your child has could lead to significant surprises when report cards arrive.

■ Write down your questions in advance to keep the conference on track and professional.

■ If possible, both parents

During the conference

■ Communicate goals and expectations you have for your child with the teacher.

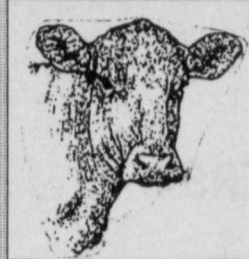

■ If the teacher says something you don't understand, ask.

■ Ask questions about your child's academic work and social skills. From there you can go on to ask the specifics of curriculum, grading, discipline policies and procedures, homework expectation and special projects.

■ Find out what you as a parent can do at home to help your child do well at school. Before you leave, summarize the plans you and the teacher have made to help your child. This eliminates the chance of misunderstanding.

■ Be prepared to talk about your child as a whole person, including his or her interests, activities and strengths outside school. You might also bring up significant family situations that could affect your child's performance at school.

■ Be on time, and recognize
