A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Something to cheer about

Joe's Boot Shop is giving local cheerleaders something to cheer about Saturday.

Cheerleaders from five towns will battle for the $400 first prize and an opportunity to appear in Joe's radio and TV commercials in November in Joe's first annual cheer challenge.

The challenge will include an original cheer made up about Joe's Boot Shop, a poster contest and fashion show.

Judges for the contest include 1991 Miss Rodeo New Mexico Shelly Franklin and ex-Texas Tech masked rider Jason Spence.

The challenge starts at 5 p.m.

Mail in ballots available

Applications for ballot by mail for the Nov. 3 general election are now available.

The last day to submit an application for a ballot by mail is Oct. 27.

Early voting for the election will start Oct. 19 at the Bailey County Courthouse. Early voting ends on Oct. 30.

For more information, call the Bailey County Clerk's office at 272-3044.

City power outage

An electrical surge in Lamb County was the cause of Tuesday's short power outage, according to an SPS spokesman.

Parts of Muleshoe lost power for a little more than 10 minutes at about 8 a.m.

The surge caused breakers to trip on the transmission line along U.S. Highway 84.

Pilot program will help science students see the light

Triboluminescence phenomena. It's hard enough to pronounce never mind spell.

Fortunately, being able to spell the phenomena is not a prerequisite for joining a pilot science program at Muleshoe High School.

Students accepted into the program will be part of a collaborative research effort between Muleshoe, Eastern New Mexico University and Los Alamos National Laboratory.

"It's a unique opportunity," said

MHS science teacher Jack Willis. "We're talking about learning life skills that they will be able to apply to almost anything. What they learn in this program will carry over to more than just science."

The ultimate goal is to get more high school students interested in physics as a career, according to Willis.

Researchers at Los Alamos have discovered that when diamond-like carbon thin films are deposited on aluminum substrates and then stressed, they emit brilliant, yellow-orange light. Diamond-like carbon is used to harden things like farm implements.

Muleshoe students will measure the amount of light released using a luminescence spectrograph they will build themselves. The students will later use a computer to interface with the spectrograph and collect the data.

The program also includes two trips to the world-famous Los Alamos National Laboratory, including using its Oppenheimer Library to

LAZBUDDIE ROYALTY

Seth Black and Scottie Brown were honored as Lazbuddie High School's Homecoming King & Queen during halftime of Friday's game against Southland. Black, a senior, is the son of Rick and Sarah Black. Brown, a junior, is the daughter of Scott and Claire Brown.

Five Area's Kidd earns top honor

Hubert Kidd, general manager of Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Inc. was presented the Neville Haynes Award Sept. 15 at the Opening General Session of the 93rd annual convention of the Texas Telephone Association held in Austin.

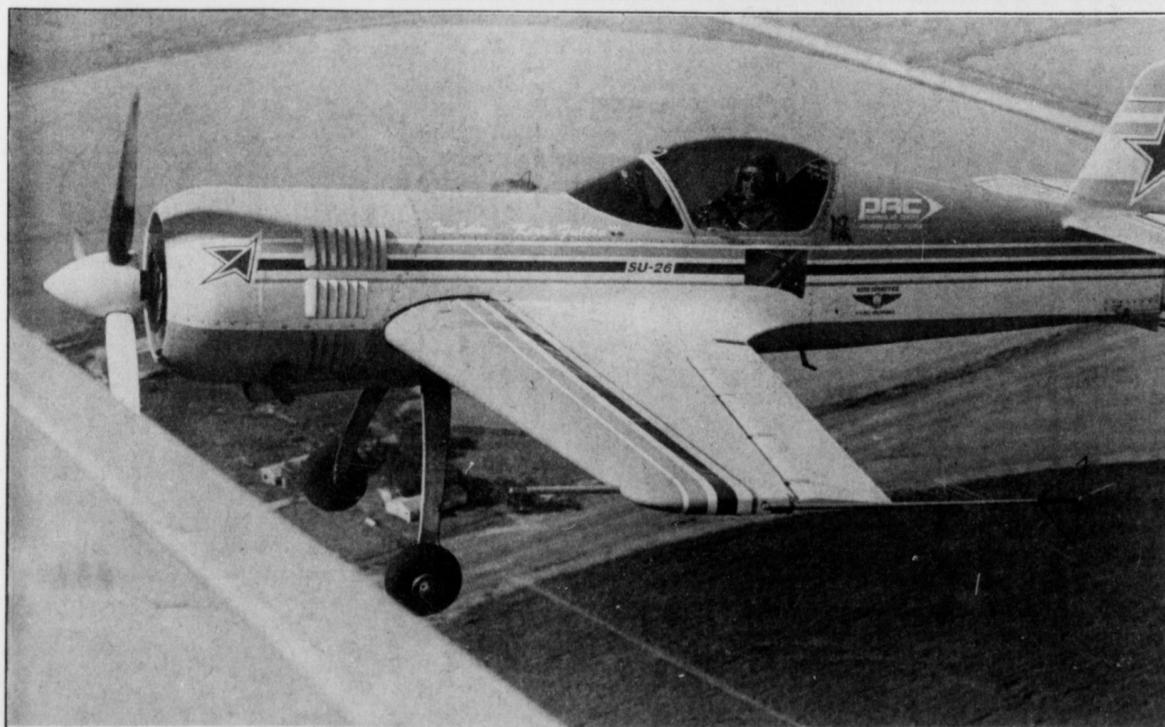

The award is the highest honor bestowed to a member of the TTA.

As recipient of the Neville Haynes Award, Kidd was recognized for his exceptional leadership and contributions to the telephone industry and the association. Throughout his years of service in telephone industry, he has exhibited the qualities of service and leadership exemplified by the late Neville Haynes of Big Bend Telephone Co., in Alpine, who was a long-time Board member and former chairman of the TTA.

Kidd began his telephone career with General Telephone of the Southwest in 1956 as a combination serviceman/construction foreman. In 1970, he went to work for Navajo Communications and eventually was promoted to assistant general manager and engineering/construction manager. He joined Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Inc. as a general manager in 1970.

He has been a tireless supporter of the telephone industry through his involvement in TTA, serving as a Board member of the TTA, as well as the TTA Regulatory, Small Company, and Nominating Committees. He has also served on various boards and committees of the National Telephone Cooperative Association, the Texas Statewide Telephone Cooperative, Inc., the In-

Mules open two-game homestand with Tulia

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Put a few zeros on the scoreboard, get a little ink, and opponents take notice.

Muleshoe has posted shut-outs in its first three games, which certainly has caught Tulia's attention.

"Our kids are aware of the situation," first-year coach Tulia coach Eric Wilson said. "We're going to see what we can do about."

Muleshoe (3-0) hosts the rebuilding Hornets (0-3) at 8 p.m. on Friday at Benny Douglass Stadium for the start a two-game homestand.

Owners of a six-game winning streak, the Mules are coming off a 51-0 blowout of Brownfield and will once again be heavily favored.

Muleshoe coach David

Wood said it's important the Mules understand that each game is a building block for the season.

"We want to come out, play well and stay crisp," Wood said. "We can't afford to get complacent."

With players still fighting for playing time in preparation for district, maintaining focus shouldn't be a problem, Wood said.

The Mules encountered minimal problems against Brownfield, gaining a season-high 473 yards while posting their third-straight shutout.

With the Cubs keying on leading rusher Gilbert Vela, Muleshoe senior quarterback Matt McClanahan had a field day. McClanahan piled up 294

Serving no swine before its time

The pork producers are to be commended. They have worked long and hard to improve the image of pork. For centuries pigs and fat have been connected at the jowl.

Porky, piggish, pig pen, pig-headed, pig-eyed, hoggish, ham handed, hamstrung, pork barrel, hog wash, sow's ear, boar's nest, pig sty and pig in a poke are all terms that have become common when wishing to insult some human's appearance or behavior.

But when the farmers changed the product (the market hog himself), they changed the public's perception of pork as well.

I thought "The other white meat" advertising slogan—a clever tie-in with chicken, was imaginative. I'm amazed how well it has sunk into the consumer's brain. "Course when they named it that, I don't think the pork producers ever figured it would be the same price!

But be that as it may, I've been plotting their next piggy back advertising relationship. One that will move them into a new level of sophistication and acceptance. How does this sound, "We shall serve no swine before it's time."

That's right friends, National Hog Farms can become the Ernest and Julio Gallo of pork. Imagine two obviously happy, environmentally conscious, grandfather types appearing on the television each holding a smoked ham singing the praises of pork.

We'd see billboards with thirty somethings on a beach somewhere smiling and toasting each other with a cracklin'.

North Carolina would become the Napa Valley of the pig Business. People would plan vacations to swine country. They could go by the individual swineries for samples of head cheese, pickled pigs feet, Baco bits, and sausage.

On college campuses faculty would engage in swine and cheese parties.

Swine tasting would become an art form. At restaurants the Hamelier (swine server) would bring out your entree, cut your first bite using special tongs and pig sticker (sorry) and proffer it to your lips. You would sniff, suck, masticate, savor and swallow.

"'Excellent Herve'. It has a certain candor, a frankness that says I'm from Oklahoma and proud of it. Haughty, but not coy, a boldness reminiscent of Javelina '55. Yet juicy and succulent, stepping into the new millennium while keeping a cloven appendage firmly enconced in..."

"OH SHUT UP!"

Forgive me, I got carried away. But it's not often I can see this clearly into the future. Pop the Cork on Pork!

Rev. Border guest at Calvary Baptist

Rev. Glen Border will be conducting the morning worship service at the Calvary Baptist Church at 11 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 27

Lunch will be served at the church located at 18th & Ave. C.

He will present his field as a Missionary to the Jewish people. Rev. Border serves on the International Board of Jewish Missions, Inc. His territory covers nine states.

Rev. Border will be accompanied by his wife, Sandra. Both are Muleshoe natives. Rev. Border's parents are the late Spencer and Phyllis Beavers. Beavers served as Postmaster in Muleshoe for many years. The Borders have 4 children, Vickie, Dianne, Rhonda and David, and 14 grandchildren.

Rev. Border is a 1958 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

He married Sandra Jenkins. Their marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Jack Darrow, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church.

The couple lived in California for three years, then came back attended Wayland Baptist College for a year and a half. They moved to Oregon where Border served as a deputy sheriff for four years.

Then in 1970, he and his brother, Chester Clay Beavers, left to attend Baptist Bible College at Springfield, Mo. Both received their degrees in theology. He pastored the Faith Baptist Church for 17 years.

The Borders are looking forward to seeing many of their old Muleshoe friends. The public is welcome.

Rev. Border recently spent 2 weeks in the Ukraine with a group of 32 pastors. City wide campaigns were held.

Noted anthropologist Goodall appearing at Texas Tech Oct. 1

Jane Goodall, famed anthropologist, will speak about Her Life With The Chimpanzees at the Texas Tech Allen Theatre at 8 p.m. on Oct. 1.

Through her 35 years of researching chimpanzees she has found many similarities between humans and chimps, as well as disproving the myth that chimps are like all other animals.

Jane Goodall believes, "to understand the chimpanzees, you must first realize that human beings are not the only creatures capable of rationalizing or subject to the emotions of joy and pain."

Since 1960, scientists have studied chimpanzees to learn more about the evolutionary past and interactions of humans.

Studies of Chimpanzees behavior have raised many questions.

Scientists reported that chimpanzees show human-like behavior patterns such as hunting, using tools, use of plants for medicine, social intelligence and much more. Chimpanzee studies began in 1960, when Louis Leakey appointed Jane Goodall to pioneer his project in the Gombe National Park, Tanzania, East Africa.

Through Observation of the chimpanzees, they have found that chimpanzees create tools to make their lives easier—such as the carefully chosen grass stems used to "fish" for insects. Research shows that chimpanzees are susceptible to the same parasites that effect humans.

Scientists have also found that chimps use plants as antibiotics by swallowing a whole leaf or by chewing the bitter pith. The pith is the sponge-like substance at the center of branches and stems. Pith chewing is how chimpanzees carefully remove the leaves and outer bark from shoots and chew on the exposed pith, sucking out the bitter juice.

Chimpanzees demonstrate a social behavior that suggests a strong responsibility to family. Scientists have shown that there are stronger relationships between unrelated males than unrelated females. The females tend to stay closer to their families.

yards of total offense and accounted for six touchdowns.

"We're going to take what teams give us," Wood said.

Wilson is facing a rebuilding task similar to what Wood went through three years ago at Muleshoe.

Tulia lost 22 seniors from a 1-9 team last year and is relying on mostly sophomores and juniors.

The Hornets were outscored 96-6 in losses to Childress and Littlefield before playing Lockney tough last week in an 18-6 loss.

"We're asking the kids to gain experience on Friday nights and that's hard to do," Wilson said.

Like most opposing coaches, Wilson is impressed with the size of Muleshoe's offensive line and its aggressive, attacking defense.

"In order to have a chance, we're going to have to play well on defense and hopefully catch a couple breaks on offense," said Wilson, previously coached at Claude and Boyd.

According to the Mules' scouting report, the Hornets play a 4-3 defense and will adapt its scheme to counter offensive strengths. On offense, Tulia runs a wishbone.

Speedy sophomore T.J. Olivarez (5-11, 144) is the Hornets' leading rusher with 180 yards. Junior fullback Aaron Scarbrough (5-11, 180) had a big game off the bench last year against Muleshoe.

Mules' success starts up front

The battle in the trenches will usually determine the winner of the war.

Sure, shifty tailback Gilbert Vela is on pace for another 1,000-yard season and senior quarterback Matt McClanahan just got finished torching Brownfield for 294 total yards of total offense and six touchdowns in Muleshoe's 51-0 romp last Friday.

But it all starts up front.

Muleshoe's 3-0 start can be traced directly to the play of the Mules' offensive and defensive lines.

Led by three returning starters on the offensive line, the Mules are averaging 368 yards and 30 points a game.

Muleshoe coach David Wood credits experience and an off-season program that has made the lineman quicker and stronger.

"They come off the ball hard and really believe that every play can be a big play," Muleshoe coach David Wood said. "They take a lot of pride in springing a play at the line scrimmage."

Senior guard Matt Turney (6-4, 275) continues to pancake opponents and draw interest from MAPLE—Jonathan Kindle blocked a punt and returned it for a touchdown late in the fourth quarter Friday as Three Way stole a wild 34-32 win against Wellman-Union.

Clinging to a 28-26 lead with three minutes left in the game, Three Way (3-0) forced Wellman-Union to punt deep in its own territory. Kindle blocked the punt, scooped up the ball, and ran 15 yards for the score to give the Eagles an eight-point lead.

Wellman-Union came right back and scored on a 27-yard pass from Clark Kelcy to Jeremy Harlan. But the Wildcats (0-3) missed the two-point kick that would have tied the game.

"Jon Kindle, Gerald Perez, and Monty Kirby came through for us," Eagles coach Danny James said. "Monty allowed us to have a better kicking game than they did. He kicked the first three extra points, then added a field goal. Wellman-Union played well . . . they were ready for us. Emotionally, we weren't there all night. We were fortunate to win."

LAZBUDDIE — Lazbuddie is still waiting for its first real test after three-straight blowout wins.

Josh Morris threw three touchdown passes Friday and Lazbuddie cruised to a 46-0 win against Southland during its annual homecoming game.

The mismatch was ended by the 45-point rule with five minutes left in the third quarter when Jason Jesko scored on a six-yard run.

"It's hard to tell where we are at," Lazbuddie coach Mark Scisson. "We didn't play with a lot of fire. We've still got to prepare each week no matter who we are playing."

Morris completed 8 of 10 passes for 105 yards for the Longhorns, who finished with a season-low 334 yards. Adam

St. Clair led LHS (3-0) in rushing with 60 yards.

Lazbuddie entered the contest averaging 67.5 points and 583 yards a game.

Morris threw a pair of touchdown passes and Brandon Foster scored on a 65-yard punt return in the second quarter as Lazbuddie built a 40-0 halftime lead.

LHS stopped three Southland drives inside the Longhorn five-yard line to preserve its first shutout of the season.

Southland (0-3) finished with 178 total yards on offense.

Scisson figures the Longhorns will be challenged this week when they travel to Sands.

Sands (0-3) is still looking for its first win after playing three top 10 teams.

"The Sands game should tell us where we are at," Scisson said. "If we don't play well, we will get beat."

Featured Patient

Clara Lou Milstead was born April 22, 1923 in Plainview, TX. She grew up in there and graduated from Plainview High School. She then attended Wayland Baptist University where she completed her studies and received a degree.

Miss Milstead married Owen Jones on November 3, 1943. Mr. Jones passed away in June of 1987.

The couple moved to Muleshoe in 1949. Mr. Jones worked for Bailey County Electric for many years, as did Clara Lou. Mrs. Jones also worked at Five Area Telephone Cooperative. Clara Lou worked 17 years between the two coops. She retired in 1968, but not before accomplishing many noteworthy feats.

Among the most memorable is the fact that she and three other ladies spent most of 1953 signing people up for the first telephone service in this area. In 1954, Clara Lou put together the first phone directory by herself—selling the advertising, gathering names and taking the directory to be printed. She continued to do this until her retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones parented two sons: Tommy of Houston and Mike of Amarillo. Mrs. Jones has two granddaughters: Jennifer and Katie.

Until her eyes started giving her trouble, Clara Lou enjoyed crocheting and painting t-shirts, but this is not what most people remember about her. Most remember her volunteer work.

Mrs. Jones volunteers at the Muleshoe nursing home. She reads, helps with exercises, directs devotionals and teaches Sunday school. She says, "I wouldn't give it up for the world."

She and Owen ran the concession stand at ball games for 18 years, and she also volunteers her time distributing commodities for S.P.C.A. When asked why she volunteers so much of her time, Clara Lou says, "My husband always said that a community is only as good as you make it." She took that thought to heart and hasn't looked back.

Mrs. Jones is a former member of the Heart Association and is a current member of the Eastern Star. She is their past Matron. She attends first Baptist Church where she is a member of the Joy Choir and the Women's Missionary Union.

About M.A.H.H.A., Clara Lou says, "I don't know how I would have made it without them. Home health is marvelous!"

Division I schools. Seniors tackle Jonas Alfaro (6-0, 225) is as steady as they come and Wood describes senior center Itchy Nunez (5-10, 180) as "undersized and overhearted." Joining the returning starters are junior tackle Matt Conklin (6-0, 235) and undersized senior guard Joey Mata (5-9, 175). Wood called Conklin a pleasant surprise and praised Mata for competitiveness and productivity.

On defense, Muleshoe has recorded three-straight shutouts while limiting opponents to 110 yards a game.

Just on sheer size, Turney is a load in the middle while Alfaro is the leading tackler among linemen. The biggest surprise has been sophomore defensive tackle Jeff Shelburne (6-0, 210), who wasn't even on the varsity depth chart at the start of the season. He's become the Mules' best pass-rushing lineman. Mata is also part of the rotation.

The superior interior line play has forced teams to double team them and kept blockers off linebackers Greg Pena and Mitch Mason, the Mules' two leading tacklers.

The "TNT" package along with ends Dustin Cleavinger and Roger Whipple have dominated the line of scrimmage to the point where the defensive backfield is scrounging for tackles.

Because of their play, Muleshoe is winning the battles up front and the war on the scoreboard.

In the boys meet, Ryan Cruz of Shallowater continued his domination by winning his third-straight individual title with a time of 13:41.

Slowly closing the gap on the Shallowater standout, Atwood finished in 14:45. It was the freshman's second-straight top 5 finish. Garcia, a sophomore, came home in 15:35.

Brownfield won the meet with 35 points and Shallowater was second with 45. Muleshoe finished fourth behind Olton (84 points) with 100 points.

Free legal assistance available for victims of nursing home abuse

Responding to the growing number of complaints against poorly run nursing homes, the Legal Hotline for Older Texans has announced the availability of free legal assistance for Texas nursing home residents and their families.

According to Managing Attorney for the Legal Hotline for Older Texans, Mina Loomis, "The abuse of older Texans must stop. In many instances, residents and their family members are reluctant to get legal help either due to the fear of high legal fees, or simply because they just want a question answered. The Nursing Home Advocacy Project was established to meet those concerns."

In recent years, newspapers have reported on cases where nursing home residents have suffered grave injury or death as a result of malnutrition, dehydration, over medication, bedsores, and even assault. Many residents and families are afraid to complain about poor care, fearing retaliation by nursing home staff while the resident is still in care. Loomis responded, "These patterns of abuse must stop.

Whether a patient is simply being neglected, or is the active victim of abuse, we are prepared to provide confidential help for the resident and their families."

When families do decide to seek legal help, they may not know where to turn other than the yellow pages or other advertisements by attorneys whose ability is unknown. The Nursing Home Advocacy Project provides families with a source of free legal advice by attorneys who have years of experience resolving health care problems of older Texans.

In some instances, the Project staff will assist in referrals to injury attorneys certified as specialists by the State Bar of Texas, who have agreed to accept hotline cases on a reduced fee basis.

The Nursing Home Advocacy Project is a legal services program supported by private donations, the Texas Bar Foundation, and the AARP of Texas, and works in close cooperation with the Texas Department on Aging. Free advice is available to callers at 1-888-343-4414 during normal business hours.

Farm Bureau Ins. makes donations to local volunteer fire departments

The Maple and Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department each received a check for $150 recently from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the department's work on the property of Hall Brothers Spraying, Inc.

The money will be used for their loss prevention program.

The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them.

The Insurance Company believes fire departments have contributed to reducing the amount of loss involved by fire and preventing fires.

MULESHOE RETIRED TEACHERS NEWS

The Muleshoe Area Retired Teachers Association met Sept. 18 at the 16th & D Church of Christ Fellowship Hall.

Norma Prather opened the meeting and prayer was given. Then the covered dish meal was served.

After the meal, Mrs. Prather called the meeting to order with a poem called "Stuff", which was enjoyed by all present. Two offices were elected: secretary, Nan Johnson and 2nd vice president, Lucy Faye Smith. It was voted to give a memorial in memory of Margie Moore to the William D., Pearl and Margie L. Moore Division of the Opportunity Plan Inc.

Mrs. Prather then introduced Jean Bingham, who showed her beautiful quilts to the group. She is a retired teacher who started quilting after she retired. She is a member of a quilting club in Slaton, lives in Lubbock and was a good friend of Margie Moore. Virginia Lea Mock came with Mrs. Bingham to help her show the quilts.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mary Crane, Nan Johnson, Letha Patterson and Robin Taylor.

Other members present were Marquita Adamson, Jean Allison, Maude Blaylock, Mary Nell Bleeker, Alene Bryant, Joyeline Costen, Ann Oyler, Norma Prather, Maxine Ragsdale, Rose Sain, Lucy Faye Smith, Wilma Smith, Martha Stroud and the two guest, Jean Bingham and Virginia Lea Mock.

Late season insects becoming pests

LUBBOCK—South Plains cotton growers are facing another decision as their crop approaches harvest in what has been a problematic year.

An influx of late-season insects now pose a threat to next year's crop and this year's crop quality, said a Texas A&M University entomologist.

"Weevil numbers are increasing almost exponentially in our 28-county Extension trapping program," said Dr. James F. Leser, Extension entomologist at the Texas Agricultural Research and Extension Center. "These weevils are still damaging immature cotton bolls, but their feeding won't negatively affect yields this late in the growing season."

"Our concern is that they will fatten up on remaining squares and soft bolls and have a better chance of successfully overwintering. If that scenario pans out, it could set the stage for a large weevil infestation next year."

Growers, entomologists and crop consultants were surprised earlier in the growing season to see boll weevils virtually disappear following robust emergence from their overwintering sites. Robust emergence produced higher numbers of weevils than last year, but overall numbers didn't reach population predictions made from last year's late season trap counts.

Crawford wins FB contest with perfect mark

Nathan Crawford of Lazbuddie won Week 3 of the Journal's football contest with a perfect score.

Crawford correctly picked all the winners in 18 high school, college and NFL games to earn the $25 first prize.

Rosalinda Toscano of Muleshoe won the $15 second prize in a tie-breaker with Sharli Crawford of Lazbuddie after both correctly picked 17 of 18 games. Crawford had to settle for the $10 third prize.

The tie-breaker game was the Dallas' 31-7 win against the New York Giants.

Tascosa's upset of Randall and Tennessee's overtime win against Florida caused the most problems for this week's 43 contestants.
