COTTON SIGNUP BEGINS IN COUNTY NEXT WEEK

Sign-up for the government's new soil conservation and soil building program will be started Monday in Scurry County, according to the county agent.

Farmers are urged to contact their community committees, who are being elected in community meetings last week and this week, or come to the county agent's office to prepare their work sheets. The sign-up in each community will continue only one or two days, and it is planned to complete the county program by May 15.

The sign-up constitutes filling out a work sheet showing what the farmer has done in the past as regards the government's new plan, and a plan sheet for 1936.

This filling-out is not binding on any farmer, since the new program is strictly voluntary. It is optional now with a farmer as to whether he will go into the program. However, for any farmer to be considered in the government-help plan, he must have complete work and plan sheets.

Farmers are urged by the county agent to give the program their careful consideration, as it contains many features of interest and benefit to all who are interested in the present and future welfare of agriculture.

The government's purpose. The government is carrying forward the new program on the belief that soil conservation and soil building are the backbone of sound agricultural practices. The new farm act, it is claimed by its authors, is paying farmers to do something they should be doing all the time.

Community farm meetings were held Friday through Wednesday at Fluvanna, Plainview, Snyder, Emis Creek, Bison, Union, Canyon, China Grove, Dunn and Ira. Thursday meetings are being held at Camp Springs, Inadale and Hermeleigh, and Friday meetings will be held at Pleasant Hill and German.

At each meeting a committeeman and an alternate is being chosen.

COUNTY TO AID ON NEW BRIDGE

The Commissioners Court voted in regular session Monday to pay $50 toward reconstruction of the bridge over the small creek that traverses a portion of Northwest Snyder. Precinct No. 2 would provide half the amount, and the road and bridge special maintenance fund the other half.

The bridge, which has been condemned, is located on the extreme northwest corner of the Blankenship Addition, a block north of Highway No. 15.

The court took action on the bridge matter after City Councilmen Forest Sears, W. J. Ely and Dwight Monroe had appeared in the interest of the city, which proposes to build the bridge with county financial assistance.

Routine passing of bills was the only other major court business Monday.

Farmers Get 99 Pool Checks for Total of $1619

Ninety-nine special Bankhead pool checks were received at the county agent's office Tuesday for Scurry County farmers. They total $1,619.21.

A total of 452 Scurry County certificates were pooled. The final payments on 99 contracts that were received this week represent the first batch of final payments received in the county. The others are expected daily.

In conclusion, he told a story of Roger Babson, famous economist, who was asked by a South American president why North America had progressed so rapidly and South America had been so comparatively backward. Turning the question back to his host, Babson received this reply: "Men came to South America seeking gold; to North America seeking God."

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE ENJOY HUGE PAGEANT

Final Chapter of Centennial Affair Is Written Tuesday Night in Historical Display.

As almost 5,000 persons watched and listened Tuesday night beneath the new lights of Tiger Stadium, a three-hour display of historic pageantry was unfolded by an array of 1,000 children and others.

A 15-scene pageant presented by Snyder students, plus a one-act play by a Lions Club cast, was preceded by introduction of visitors, brief talks, singing of Texas and range songs by student voices from county schools, and coronation of Queen Mavis of the House of Jenkins of the Land of Texas.

The largest crowd ever to jam into the stadium filled every inch of space in the grandstand.

They Sat Everywhere.

They sat on dozens of benches that had been brought to the stadium for the purpose. They sat in dozens of cars surrounding the improvised platform and an open space that provided room for the pageantry. They stood on the beds of trucks. They sat Indian style, many of the late comers, in front of those who arrived in time to get seats.

King Sides, master of ceremonies, reminded the giant crowd of its responsibility in helping others war and see the show. He presided with a tact and a precision that helped the people remain orderly and good-natured until the night of pageantry ended with group singing.

It was an outstanding pageant, and folks who came from a wide area to witness it were enthusiastic in their praise.

Greetings were brought from Sweetwater by D. R. Covey, superintendent of schools, and Zelle

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

New Soil Conservation Details Are Explained Benefit of Scurry County

(Editors' Note: This is the second and last of two articles concerning the new soil conservation set-up.)

There are two types of payments which a farmer may earn if he can qualify: Number 1, the larger, is called the "soil conserving payment." It may be granted for getting to soil conserving or building crops and practices, up to 35 per cent of the cotton base, and up to 15 per cent of the bases of all other common Texas soil depleting crops.

Payments to Vary

The exact amount of this soil conserving payment will vary according to crop. For cotton the payment will be 5 cents per pound for the normal production of the shifted acres. For all other soil depleting crops soil conserving payments will be on a straight per acre basis, varying by counties, by farms and by crops.

Direct to Eligibles

These grants may not be assigned to creditors, but will be made direct to the persons eligible to receive them, and to no others.

How Program Is Administered

The Texas program is being administered by elected community and county committees and by a state conservation and domestic allotment committee of seven farmers, in cooperation with the Texas Extension Service. A temporary

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

The Clearest Picture.
The clearest picture that remains ten days after the giant Centennial parade: J. Wright Moor, Scurry County Citizen No. 1, riding his fast-stepping horse with a vigor and a buoyant pride that belied his 85 eventful years.

At the Old Tabernacle.
The City of Snyder, which recently sponsored a Fire Prevention Clean Up Week, could make the old tabernacle look much better by straightening some doors, uplifting a stovepipe and applying hoes and rakes and brooms with precision.

William Feather Says.
William Feather, one of the country's best known free lance magazine, newspaper and house organ writers, says the power of the printed word is not what it is cracked up to be... unless you happen to step on the out-poked toes of a customer with a pet peeve.

England Worries.
You know that England is worried about something when you read that she now demands that the league establish an oil embargo against Italy. A little late, but it is explained that England is outraged by Italy's use of poison gas against the Ethiopians.—Roscoe Times.

The Last 27 Weeks.
"Only 27 weeks till election!" proclaims The Pathfinder. But with the Roosevelts, the Borahs, the Knoxes, the Vandenberges, the Landons and the Hoovers in double-quick action, the voters will swear when the general election rolls around that the last 27 weeks are the hardest.

Which Side of the Ledger?
Texans are no judge of their own popularity. The ability to pass on the merits of Texas belongs to visitors from other states, and it is a cross section of their opinion that puts Texas either on one side of the ledger or the other.—Community News (Plainview).

Our Schools Surpass.
The Times rises to proclaim that no county in Texas probably has such a capable, hard-working group of teachers as the independent schools and part of the common schools of Scurry County. Their willingness to join hands in a cooperative cause was never more clearly proven than in last week's parade.

Modern Martyrs.
Talkative Tillie says some of the girls in last week's parade were martyrs almost as truly as their forbears and were martyrs. Their grandmothers braved the frontier with a man and a gun between them and the wilds; the girls braved an icy norther with much less to protect their dainty skins.

The Pageant: A Climax.
The Tuesday night pageant was a fitting climax to last week's celebration, part of which was delayed because of cold weather. The pageant was not only a marvelous demonstration of outstanding Texas historical events, but a demonstration of what can be done with several hundred students by a few laboring teachers.

One of the First Signs.
Signs of spring tried to crowd themselves on us last month, but they did not succeed very well because Nature had planned a cold spell for late March and early April. But the signs of the past week have been unanswerable. The old colored mammy, for instance, trailing down the R. S. & P. tracks with a fishing pole across her shoulder and a passel of young ones at her heels.

Things to Remember.
It is no easy matter to single out the major things of which we should be proud in Scurry County—and to put those things into compact, forceful language. Such was the task of the committee that prepared the wording for Snyder's panel at the Frontier Centennial, Fort Worth. In the end, the major points were emphasized thus: Purebred Herefords, Cotton, Center of West Texas, Pure Underground Water.

Have You Read the Rag Ad?
The Times has run a "rag wanted" classified several times in recent issues. The ad brought such good results that no more rags will be needed for weeks to come... but it reminds us of how rags were obtained more than 100 years ago: "In the days when virtually all papers were made from rags, collectors' advertisements were frequently written in verse or chanted by collectors in the town square. The following appeared in 1807:

"Sweet ladies, pray be not offending,
Nor mind the jest of sneering wags;
No harm, believe us, is intended,
When humbly we request your rags!"

The Times Creed:
For the cause that needs assistance;
For the wrongs that need resistance;
For the future in the distance,
And the good that we can do.

Scurry County.

If a Centennial visitor were to stop you on a street corner and inquire about Scurry County's resources, points of scenic interest and history, what would you say?

Some of us, no doubt, would do little more than splutter and apologize. Others would just laugh and make some slurring remarks about their home county. A rare few would relate some facts and tales that would make a visitor glad that he had come this way.

If you will investigate—and all of us need to investigate during this Centennial year—you will find that Scurry County presents some of the most unique history, natural attractions and latent resources of any county in West Texas.

You will find that the country beyond Camp Springs, including Rough Creek, Double Caves, Drifting Springs and similar natural attractions have an unpolished beauty that one can find in few localities.

You will find that the exploits of the Moors, the Webbs, the Nums and other pioneers have as much color as a sunset behind spring clouds.

You will find that the resources of the county as regards pure water, pure-bred Hereford breeding, diversification, oil, industries and healthy living have hardly been touched.

You will find that many visitors will know more about our county than we homefolks know about it. Scurry County can be made attractive and hospitable and memorable to Centennial visitors if those of us who make our homes here will but become Scurry County minded.

CURRENT COMMENT

BY LEON GUINN.

While the Centennial edition of the Texas Almanac, published by The Dallas News, is one of the best reference books obtainable in its field relative to West Texas resources and industries, the commendable book of 100,000 facts still retains its Dallas flavor of journalism. . . . This particular type of journalism is found nowhere else, for nowhere else do editors rely more on facts obtained in sedately frosted public libraries. . . . In other words, it's a wee bit difficult to reflect in type the true beauty of West Texas unless one gets the actual background of this part of the state; see firsthand the evidence of the sweat and sacrifice that made and is making West Texas an empire of its own. . . . Here's a note from a Duluth, Minnesota, high school girl; rather amusing: "Will you please write and tell me if people still wear their 'six guns' in West Texas. . . . And tell me something of your large ranches, also what cotton stalks look like. . . . I want this material for a theme next week, and would appreciate your going into detail about West Texas." . . . You know, one gets a real kick out of such notes; it being a pleasure to reply to an intelligent young woman seeking germane facts.

Long has the Texas Almanac been the standard reference book of West Texas, this person having no desire to bery the value of Almanac contents, because Fort Worth takes great pride in denouncing anything Dallas. . . . Yet, one looks forward to the day when a greater West Texas, deleted of local ballyhoo, will be known far and wide for its petroleum, its gypsum, its salt deposits, its ores of silver, copper, a trace of gold, its pumice ore layers, its caliche beds, and most important its downright hospitality. . . . Already known the world over is its cotton, its wool, its livestock, and climate. . . . Geologists claim the known reserve of petroleum in West Texas, when developed, will make pale in comparison its present production. . . . Personal: All thanks from the heart to our discriminating Times readers, who insist Current Comment be in each and every issue of The Times; may you enjoy each issue all the more, because you make possible this eight-column weekly institution.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK

VALUABLE COTTONSEED OIL.

It is no secret to Texans that cottonseed is one of the state's valuable assets; in fact, cottonseed is Texas' second most valuable cash crop. Now comes the announcement that a new development in home curing and storage of farm products is the use of cottonseed oil to provide a cheap method of keeping home-raised pork indefinitely. No wonder cotton is popular in Texas!—The Texas Weekly.

FOUR LIVESTOCK MISTAKES.

That veteran student of Southern livestock problems, Dr. Tait Butler, of The Progressive Farmer, tells farmers that here are their four great mistakes in dealing with livestock:

1. We do not produce enough feeds, or if enough, not feeds of the best quality. We have too generally figured on how little feed we could use and get by, instead of how good and how much feed we could produce and market through livestock.
2. We have failed to give sufficient thought to the "balancing" of livestock rations. A balanced ration is something more than the proper proportions of protein and carbonaceous feeds. The quantity must be in proportion to the amount and quality of growth or work expected.
3. We have failed to give intelligent attention to the daily details in care and management. We have failed to do those things which the stockman alone can do—protect his livestock from climatic and natural hardships, protect them from mud and dampness in winter, parasites in summer, and preventable diseases at all times. We have not studied livestock breeding, feeding and management as the lawyers, doctors and bankers have studied the basic facts of their professions.
4. We have failed to learn and give sufficient importance to good breeding and individual quality, and to fully realize the basic fact that animals of good breeding and quality pay better prices for the feeds consumed.

The young attorney selected Snyder for the opening speech of his district-wide campaign. The 32nd Judicial District includes Scurry, Nolan, Mitchell, and Borden Counties.

Harry Tom King Is In Snyder Tuesday

Snyder was visited Tuesday by Harry Tom King of Abilene, candidate for the state Senate from the 24th District. The candidate became acquainted with a number of local business men and others, and renewed his acquaintance with old friends. He also passed out pamphlets concerning his candidacy.

"Getting My Hand In."

Admittedly "getting my hand in," Representative George Mahon of Colorado has started accepting invitations from the Democratic executive committee to speak. He recently went to Mansfield, Ohio, to address a state-wide Dolly Madison organization.—The Abilene Morning News.

Snyder Thanked By Hermleigh as Pageant Closes

The Times believes that the spirit of county cooperation so evident throughout the Centennial parade and pageant has not been more perfectly expressed than in the following words of appreciation by Superintendent W. T. Hanes of Hermleigh schools:

"Snyder, please accept our sincere thanks for being permitted to have a small part in your wonderful celebration. Nowhere, except in West Texas, could an affair of this kind have been put on in the same grand style in which you did it."

After one of the most exciting contests ever known in Hermleigh, Clara Schulze, representing the junior class, was elected queen of the Hermleigh High School. Miss Schulze represented Hermleigh in the Centennial parade and pageant, and will be formally crowned at Hermleigh next week in a special coronation at the school auditorium. The contest was run on a penny per vote basis. "From the start of the contest Monday until the close Friday of the same week, we hoped that we would, besides enjoying the friendly rivalry, obtain enough funds with which to decorate two floats for the Hermleigh schools," said Hanes.

"The total amount derived from the contest was $125.40. After paying some back indebtedness and all expenses of the Hermleigh part of the parade, there remains a balance of $51.60. This will be used in some useful manner for the school.

"The most important thing to be gained by the queen contest is that Hermleigh schools and community can have anything they want if that same spirit of cooperation will continue to prevail."

Many Letters for Times Coming Late

Several correspondents have been sending their news letters so late that it has been impossible for The Times to use them. In order to assure publication (except in rare cases when a large amount of reading matter must be omitted because of lack of space), your letter must reach the Times office not later than Tuesday. Letters that arrive Wednesday are often used, but news must necessarily be left out in many cases when it arrives so late in the week.
Writers are requested to cooperate with the publishers in this matter. Our writers have been remarkably faithful in recent months, and we appreciate their help in compiling interesting rural news each week.

Everybody Is Crying For Chicks...

A shortage of good hatching eggs causes a shortage in chicks. Withholding good feeds from the hens causes a shortage in good hatching eggs. This and withholding good feeds from the chicks causes a death rate and runs. The Economy Feeds will do the trick for you—the thing a poorly balanced feed can not do.

Ask some of our Economy users why their hens lay and pay; why the chicks they get from us thrive so well each day. They will tell you about the chicks we hatch from eggs laid by hens fed the Economy way.

Sweetwater High School's one-act play that won highest district honors recently, won first place in the Region 2 one-act play tournament in Abilene Friday night, and the cast will go to Austin this week-end to participate in the state Inter-scholastic League tournament.

Fluvanna's one-act play cast, starring in "Smoke Screen," placed second to Sweetwater in the district contest. Rosa Smith won individual acting honors for girls, Ben Collier highest honors for boys, and J. C. Landrum tied for second in boys' acting, in the face of Sweetwater's winning.

Steakley, attorney. Several leaders of county schools were also introduced by C. Wedgeworth, local superintendent.

The county-wide chorus was led by music directors from the various schools.

In an elaborate coronation ceremony, with J. R. Watkins as announcer, Wallace Smith as trumpeter and little Joe Dave Scott as crown bearer, King Richard of the House of Brice was presented, and Queen Mavis of the House of Jenkins was crowned. Dukes and duchesses from Snyder, Hermleigh, Fluvanna and Dunn were also presented, and the entire court group sat in a reserved section of the grandstand during the pageant.

Play by Lions Club

The Lions Club play, "Death Comes to the Alamo," was performed against a partial background of walls, with these actors: Hadley Reeve, Willard Jones, W. T. Hanes, N. R. Clements, W. H. Calloway, Jesse Jones, W. F. Cox, Hal A. Latimer, Miss Ruth Line, J. E. Shipp, Miss Fannie F. Sewell, local teacher, directed the play.

The various pageant scenes depicted Texas history from the time Columbus landed in San Salvador in 1492 until the Lone Star Centennial celebration. In the grand finale, 200 children represented various phases of Texas progress during the past 100 years.

The entire program was given beneath the lights, the huge beams being turned off between each scene.

Attractive Settings

Settings for the various acts were as impressive as the costumes and the acting. They ranged from a large movable tree to a spring that flowed water and to a cowboy scene, chuck wagon, saddles and all.

Local teachers were in charge of arranging all the scenes, and were highly praised by Principal Sides for their cooperation.

Texas history scenes presented during the pageant were as follows: "Texas, a Land of Flowers," with more than 100 children in various-colored costumes; "San Pedro Springs, 1715," "San Antonio, 1718," "Wedding of James Bowie," "The Vanishing Flagg," "Lafitte on Galveston Island," "The First Protestant Camp Meeting," "The Capture of Santa Anna," "Signing of the Declaration of Independence," "Pioneer's Oh Pioneers!" "Annexation of Texas," "Texas of the Confederacy," "The Last Round-Up;" "St. Anthony."

Tiger Band presented music with several numbers, and were led in formations during an interlude by Erlene Howell.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

A sweeping victory for the Texas Railroad Commission and the gas consumers of Wichita Falls marked the decision of Judge Ralph W. Yarborough of 53rd district court here in the celebrated Wichita Falls gas rate case, but prolongation of the litigation was indicated when the Community Natural Gas Company, a Lone Star subsidiary, filed a motion for a new trial and indicated it will appeal. Despite the finding of a jury, favorable to the company, after eight weeks of testimony, the court ordered refunds amounting to $4 per year to Wichita Falls consumers from December 1, 1933, and reduction of the gas rate from 67 1/2 cents to 61 cents per 1000 cubic feet, the rates ordered by the railroad commission. Attorney General Bill McCraw promised to expedite the appeal, in order to hasten the effectiveness of the reduction if it is sustained. The Wichita Falls rate case, when finally decided, probably will set a legal precedent for many other Texas cities seeking lower gas rates.

PENSION FACTS

Posturing office seekers, who glibly promise "$30 a month pensions for all of the old folks" and carp at the restrictions set up under the state law which requires applicants to show need for a pension, might well examine the state law itself, and the regulations of the federal social security board, which puts up half of the pension money. Under the terms of the federal social security act, states qualifying for the federal constitution must meet the regulations of the board, which limits its aid to "aged, needy individuals." Any blanket pensioning of all persons over 65 by Texas or any other state would immediately deprive the pensioners of $15 per month each, the federal contribution. Investigation of applicants, required by Texas law, is also a requirement of the social security board. The existing set-up for pension administration in Texas was submitted by Director Orville Carpenter to the board in Washington, and its approval obtained, before it was organized, fulfilling another requirement for federal funds. Total applications for pensions have reached 145,000. Federal census figures indicate far fewer persons in Texas over 65, indicating that many of those who have applied for pensions, will be found ineligible.

And then there was a Scotchman

Jackie was forbidden to stay behind in the playground after school hours. He must come straight home, etc. But Jackie forgot one day and arrived home very late, very dirty, and very tired.

"Look here," said his father angrily, "didn't you promise me that you wouldn't stay out and play games?"

"Yes, father," was the meek reply.

"And didn't I promise to punish you if you did stay?"

"Yes, father," said Jackie, still more meekly, "but as I didn't keep my promise, I won't hold you to yours."

The greatest coward is he that treats with cruelty a helpless living thing.

Snyder and Hermleigh Seniors Visit Carlsbad Caverns During Week-end

Forty county high school seniors made an enjoyable trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico, during the week-end, going through the world famous Carlsbad Caverns Saturday. The county group included 27 members of the local high school senior A class and 13 Hermleigh seniors.

Snyder students were chaperoned by Miss Yetta Mae Slayton, class sponsor, King Sides, high school principal, and Mrs. Sides on the three-day trip. They left Friday afternoon in one of the school buses, with Hardy Hulse driving, going by the lower route—through Colored, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Pecos and to Carlsbad.

See Caverns Saturday.

Arriving in Carlsbad late Friday, the trip through the caverns was made Saturday. Many beautiful sights in the mammoth cave proved impressive to the eager high school students. Almost 750 people, 5% of whom were Texans, went through Saturday. Other states represented were California, Arizona, Illinois, New York and Oklahoma, and three visitors were from London, England.

Sunday morning the Snyder seniors were accorded a pleasant surprise by John Jones, uncle of Dorothy Terry, who is a senior A. Mr. Jones, head of a privately owned bus line, furnished a 50-passenger bus and a driver to point out places of interest in and around the New Mexico city.

The beach on the banks of the clear Pecos River was visited, and the concrete flume, largest of its kind in the world, which goes over the waters of the Pecos, proved quite interesting. Thousands of barrels of water flow through the flume for irrigation purposes each day.

Snyder Seniors Named.
