YOUNG MUSICAL PRODICY.

Seven-Year-Old Bastern Lad Who Is a Piano Player of Remarkable Skill.

Elizabeth N. J .- A series of really remarkable piano performances have been given recently the warerooms of a music house he by David Earl Moyer a seven-year-ol_ goungster, who stand up at the piano and dashes off Bach "Inventions" with the utmost unconcern. He has played here an extensive programme of more or less difficult pi ano music from a repertoire said to consist of 42 pieces. His technical work is astonishing, critics say, and his touch good, lacking but slightly in tone color

Those who have watched and are competent to judge say that he may become wonder, while it is just possible that he will remain in the glorious company "musical prodigies." The young fellow's work is being much talked about, and has attracted the attention of music teachers. Among them is ter-of-fact ton dertaken to give the lad an education musical and otherwise.
