ITEMS IN BRIEF.

C. C. Smith, a warm friend of the local market whose headquarters are at Mound City, Mo., contributed one car of stock to today's receipts.

Guedy McDonald, one of the most extensive feeders of Maitland, Mo., was on today's market disposing of one car of cattle and one car of mixed stock.

Hadley's Cafe, 112 South Seventh street, for best meals in the city.

J. O. Thompson, one of the big shippers of Guilford, Mo., was on today's market with one car of cattle.

A. C. Trapp, a staunch friend of the St. Joseph market, arrived today with one load of good cattle from Savannah, Mo.

W. H. Scane, the old reliable farmer and feeder of Bedford, Ia., was noticed here again today with one car of good hogs.

Rev. S. P. Cresap, who is a presiding elder in the South Methodist church, is frequently represented on the live stock market here.

W. N. Crockett of Whitesville, Mo., was among those having top hogs here today. He had one load of Chester White hogs that averaged 196 lbs. each and sold at $8.50.

In each sale he will have a choice lot of western and native hogs. At Grand Island he will offer one hundred and twenty-five native and gentle broke cotton mules; fifty head of one and three-year-olds, that choice standard high-grade brood sows; and a choice bunch of mares, which will consist of ten carloads of good range hogs including some unbranded suckling colts, yearlings, two and three-year-olds and some matured mares and geldings.

His sale at South Omaha on Thursday, Nov. 10, will be the tenth sale of the year. The outlook is very encouraging for a liberal run of range horses for this sale. All kinds and classes will be represented in ages from suckling colts to matured horses. There will be a lot of high-grade brood sows and a choice bunch of mares. He will also offer quite a few head of mules and about two hundred native broke horses.

You are urgently requested to attend either one or both of these sales. You will find just such horses at the Col. sales as described in his advertisement on another page of this issue.

In yesterday's issue of The Journal there appeared a sale of 126 hogs, averaging 163 lbs. that was quoted at $8.50, which should have read $8.25.

WHEN WRITING ADVERTISERS Mention The Journal.

YOU CAN SAVE MONEY BY READING THE ADVERTISEMENTS

By SETH BROWN

The store which does the most business can afford to handle the best goods at the lowest prices.

The amount of business which a store can do in a year is not limited by the size of the store or its location.

The one which can turn over the goods the most frequently, sell the most goods during the year, is the one which can afford to serve customers to the best advantage.

In order to do this the merchant must advertise continually—tell the people what he has for sale. Otherwise the goods would remain on his shelves a long time.

They become old before they are sold.

Therefore it is very plain that the store which advertises is the best one in which to trade.

That is not only true from the standpoint of variety and style, but from the standpoint of economy, because the merchant who advertises does a larger volume of business each year than the man who does not advertise and therefore he can serve you to better advantage.

It pays to trade with the dealer who advertises—tells the public what he has for sale and why it is good.

WAS ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND

"There's Lots of Horses, But There is Only One Judge Kinne," Says Judge.

During the second Cleveland campaign, Col John P. Irish, the golden-tongued orator, and Judge Kinne of Waterloo, Ia., the man with lungs of brass, were stumping Iowa in behalf of the Democratic candidate.

They were driving in a buggy on the road to Sidney, a young city in the southwestern part of the state, when they came to a fork of the road where there was no sign board. Which turn to take was a question, as they had barely time to make the turn anyway.

"There's a farmhouse over there a bit. You sit still and I'll go over and ask questions," said Irish, and climbing out he started for the desired information. He got it, and on his return saw the horse, evidently frightened at something, tearing down the road at runaway speed. Instead of trying to stop the horse, Judge Kinne dropped the reins, climbed over the seat and dropped off the back of the buggy into the road.

When Irish caught up to him, the judge was busily dusting himself off after his roll in the roadway, not in the least disfigured by his acrobatic stunt.

"You're on the right fork of the road, all right, judge, but why didn't you hang on to the horse?" asked Irish, laughing heartily.

"Why didn't I hang on to him?" rumbled Kinne in his deep sub-cellar voice. "I'll tell you why I didn't, my Christian friend. There's lots of horses in this world, but there is but one Judge Kinne."

THOSE WHO SCOLD 'CENTRAL'

No Greater Boor Than Man Who is Always Raising Row With Telephone Girl.

There surely exists no greater boor pup than the man who is always raising a row with the telephone girl, writes Tip in the New York Press. All over, everywhere, in Europe and this country, come reports of nervous breakdowns of "hello girls." Lots of men, and whole scuds of women, seem to think those girls are trained talking devils, with a special spite reserved for the "phoner" alone. It is silly, not to say brutish, to scold the operator for something she cannot help. No matter how well trained the nerves are, it is impossible for the strongest nerves to be quarreled and yelled at month in and month out without some nervous string being worn or broken.

There are probably more low-browed, low-flung scolders, drivers and browbeaters of women in this country than were ever seen here before. There is one blessed thing Tip must say of Texas. If any dog tries to browbeat or run over a woman down there, the first man that hears him is liable to entertain him by punching gun wads out of his face, and pushing his teeth down his throat with the end of a six-shooter gun.

No Plated Stuff Wanted.

There was a small crowd at the soda counter when the tall man rushed in and pushed an empty bottle over the drug soles.

"Acid!" he whispered, excitedly. "Ten cents' worth of acid, and quick!" The soda-water crowd began to sit up and take notice.

WOMEN IN SCOTCH PRISONS

Humane Methods in Glasgow's Jail Are to Be Adopted in England.

Totally rough, ignorant women coming into a Scottish prison, sent up for a reasonably long time, leave there with some useful handicraft at their fingers' end, even such arts as fine oriental rugmaking, skillful needlework and professional cookery being some of the many money making self and home-sustaining trades and things there taught. Glasgow's prison permits no degrading sense of being applied upon and watched and driven by a harsh, bulldozing jailer all the time, the New York Press says.

Chinese Death Penalties. China has just received from France its first guillotine. It will be set up inside the new prison, as, according to recent regulations, executions will no longer be public. The penalty of death, as laid down in the old code, had six degrees—death by torture, immediate decapitation and exhibition of the head; immediate decapitation without exhibition of the head, decapitation after some months, immediate hanging and hanging after some months. According to the new code the death penalty is in four degrees—immediate decapitation, deferred decapitation, immediate hanging and deferred hanging.

What They Intended to Do. "I bear," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "that Mr. Goodman intends to leave his fortune for the purpose of founding some kind of an eleemosynary institution."

Professor Likes Skunk Meat. According to Prof. Frank E. Wood of the Illinois state laboratory, the unpopular skunk is good to eat as well as being otherwise useful. That the flesh of the much dreaded beast is white, tender and of a delicious flavor if the scent glands are removed is the assertion of the savant. Professor Wood gives no recipe for the capture of the animal, and does not tell just how one is to be enabled to enjoy the meat.

The Vicious Circle. "The Washington people smile down upon the folks over in Alexandria, Va.," said a philosopher on a Potomac flatboat, "and the Alexandria folks laugh at the natives back in Fairfax Court House, and the Fairfax natives poke fun at the one-galaxed chaws that live down on Pohok Creek."

Infant Mortality. The department of health ascribes the high death rate among babies in hot weather to the ignorance of the mothers, and for their edification has issued a simple list of rules for caring for infants, printed in several languages, and urging that prompt notification of illness be sent to the branches of the department. The mortality among babies is found to be highest among the negroes, the Italians ranking second and the Russians third. The Yiddish speaking population of the lower East side has a comparatively good record.—Medical Record.

Habit. Habit is the deepest law of human nature. It is our supreme strength, it also, in certain circumstances, our miserablist weakness. Let me go on, scanning my way with an earnestness of outlook, and successfully arriving, my footsteps are an invitation to me a second time to go by the same way; it is easier than any other way. Habit is our primal fundamental law, habit and imitation; there is nothing more perennial in us than these two. They are the source of all working and all apprenticeship, of all practice and all learning in the world.—Carlyle Disadvantage of Veracity. Washington boasted he couldn't tell a lie.

"Then you will have to own up that you didn't enjoy your vacation," his father replied.

Herewith the youthful George shipwrecked at the prospect.

Difference in Way American and Canadian Authorities Deal With the Indians.

A recently issued book on "The Riders of the Plains," an account of the northwest mounted police of Canada, published in London, gives a number of instances showing the difference between the Canadian and the United States' methods of treating the Indians. One of these is to the effect that a number of Canadian Indians, who had been concerned in the half-breeds' rebellion of many years ago, fled over the border to the states. These most undesirable immigrants Canadian government finally said it would take care of these Indians if the states would send them over the border. And here is the conclusion of the story:

In due course 200 very dissatisfied and wild-eyed Crees, with 450 horses were rounded up and started north ward, with a strong force of United States cavalry in attendance. They were met at the boundary line by three mounted policemen, one corporal and two troopers.

The American commanding officer looked at them with a surprised air. "Where's your escort for these Indians?" he asked.

"We're here," answered the corporal. "Yes, yes, I see. But where's your regiment?"

"I guess it's here, all right," said the corporal. "The other fellow's looking after the breakfast things."

"But are there only four of you, then?"

"That's so, colonel; but you see, we wear the queen's scarlet."

And these four redcoats were all that were necessary to take these 200 Indians, their horses and belongings a distance of more than one hundred miles into Canadian territory where they could bother the United States no more.

Writ Was Not Served. A ludicrous incident occurred when Carter, the lion king, as he was called, was exhibiting with Ducrow, at London. A manager with whom Carter had made and broken an engagement, issued a writ against him. The bailiffs came up to the stage door and asked for Carter. "Show the gentlemen up," said Ducrow; and when they reached the stage there sat Carter composedly in the great cage, with an enormous lion on each side of him. "There's Mr. Carter, waiting for you, gentlemen," said Ducrow. "Go in and take him. Carter, my boy, open the door." Carter proceeded to obey, at the same time eliciting by a private signal a tremendous roar from his companions. The bailiffs staggered back in terror, rolled over each other as they rushed downstairs, and nearly fainted before they reached the street.

The Other Side. "I see you employ a number of old men."

"How old are they?"

"Too old to be interested in canoeing, or mandolins, or race horses, or girls, or tennis. That makes 'em fine for work."

Warning to Files. Atlantic City has begun war on the files by posting official bulletins relative to the subject in all the markets and stores. Even now we can see a flutter among the files, and after reading the bulletins they will undoubtedly hike across the meadows to Pleasantville and disappear into the woods.

BEAUTY IN BERLIN

Valuable "Plowing Strips," Mile Long, Are to Disappear.

"City Beautiful Plan" Being Taken Up in German Capital—Emperor is Deeply Interested in New Project.

Berlin—The "garden city" or "city beautiful" plan, which is causing such a wonderful transformation in the suburbs of London and other English cities, is being taken up in Germany, and Berlin is to be extended in all directions...

Berlin has grown up in a peculiar way. The whole metropolis has been built up solidly to its limits to a height of five and six stories, and then it stops suddenly, and open farming country begins immediately beyond.

Some of the strips are valued at a million marks. This has been the greatest problem in the way and has required unusual skill in laying out suburbs.

The main radiating and circumferential traffic streets are to be carried out scientifically, while intermediate residential streets are to be made most agreeable places to live in. There will be intermittent use of trees, or short rows of trees, or small trees, shaped open spaces at a street corner, all of which break the line of a street and give every street its own individuality.

More than $40,000 has been spent in plans, and the best architects and landscape gardeners in Germany have contributed their ideas. The New York playground plan is to be tried. A "suburb beautiful" is being laid out near Dresden, another near Nuremberg, and still another on the outskirts of Munich. The Swiss are trying the plan just on the borders of Berne. A "garden city" is growing up close to Douges, in France. The same general principles are being followed in all these, the idea being to create within easy distance of the large city an independent community on copartnership lines, with all the features of a complete town.

EVERY HOUSE HAS ITS BABY

Benevolent Stork is Busy Bird in Small Connecticut Town—Everybody is Supplied.

Waterbury, Conn.—Terry's Bridge is a little knife town north of here, with less than one hundred families.

The special Sunday school service of the Union chapel was scarcely opened when one of the infant class, bursting with pride and excitement, announced to the room:

"We have got a little baby sister at our house. The doctor brought her this morning."

Another girl spoke up, "He brought one to our house, too, a little while ago."

"Yes," announced a third, with all the conviction of childhood, "he is going to bring everybody one now. Papa said we were going to have one the first time we were good a whole week."

Small Boy is Millionaire.

New York—John Arthur Hinckley, four years old, stepped into the ranks of the millionaires through the will of his father, John A. Hinckley, New York capitalist, who died at Belpport, L. I.

The child received two-thirds of the estate, the remainder going to his mother.

The son is to receive $5,000 a year until he reaches the age of 15, then $10,000 a year till he is 21, and $20,000 till he is 28. At 28 the executor is to pay him $50,000 outright. Besides, he is to receive $25,000 a year until he is 35, when he obtains half of the principal. At 40 he receives the remaining half.

Centenarian a Pedestrian.

Worcester, Mass.—Although two years past the century mark, Patrick Burns, the oldest man in this county, walked from his home, near Brookfield, to his son's home, on the North Brookfield road, more than ten miles, in two hours and fifty-one minutes. He attracted much attention and was followed by a small army of admirers.

TIPLESS HOTEL IS A SUCCESS

Experiment in London Has Worked Well—Guests Must Abide by Rules or Quit Hostelry.

London.—The experiment of a non-tip hotel in the Strand in London has proved a success. Since the establishment was opened a year ago there has not been a vacant bedroom, a record which could not be equaled by any other London hotel. Every day the management has had to refuse visitors. Although nearly a quarter of a million guests have stayed at the hotel during the 344 days it has been open.

The success of the hotel, the directors believe, is mainly due to the non-tip rule. Guests are forbidden to offer to any servant of the hotel a gratuity, and any servant found accepting one is instantly dismissed. People know exactly what it is going to cost them before they set foot in the hotel, and when they pay their bill there is no need for them to put their hands into their pockets to tip anybody.

Although the rule against tipping is rigidly enforced by the management, there have been visitors who have insisted upon offering gratuities. In order to protect the servants from temptation the management has had to request these visitors either to abide by the regulations or to seek accommodation elsewhere.

The management has had no difficulty in securing plenty of waiters and chambermaids despite the fact that they receive no tips.

AGAINST THE HOBBLE SKIRT

Dress Designer from Paris Says It is Horrible and Sidesteps Women Who Wear Them.

New York.—C. Poynter Redfern of Paris, dress designer, arrived here the other day to witness the opening of his new place in this city.

Redfern said he was bringing no new designs that would thrill us, and while a number of women on board "hobbled" near him, he seemed to move aside every time a hobble skirt came along.

"Don't you like the hobble skirt?" he was asked.

"No, I do not," he replied, "although I suppose I shouldn't say anything about them. They are horrible. I never did like anything that is extreme in the dress line. Women should have freedom in dress. Those skirts are too tight."

"We are not going in for them at all. The new style will be the long waist of the Louis XV type. There is a tendency in that direction in Paris now. Mme. Cecil Sorel wore such a waist at the opera lately and created quite a sensation."

"I'm not bringing styles here because you get them just as soon as they are out."

RIGHT TO SLEEP IS SACRED

Pittsburg Magistrate Fines Milkman Who Clatters About in Early Morning Hours.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The wee small hours of the morning belong to the ones who want to sleep, according to a decision by Judges J. D. Shafer and R. S. Frazer, handed down the other day in a case emanating from Craf-ton.

A milk wagon driver, Leo Harmon, is alleged by residents of the borough to have driven through the streets with unnecessary noise. His steed, according to complainants, put down his feet with such force that all within a radius of several blocks were aroused. He was arrested and fined $10 and costs.

An appeal was taken and, although a petition signed by 80 women was presented to the effect that Harmon is a model milkman, the judges upheld the magistrate.

BATH IN BARREL DISASTROUS

North Dakota Farmer Nearly Loses His Life as Result of Accident—Will Buy Tub.

Blamareck, N. D.—Henry Sile, retired farmer, was in town the other day to purchase a bath tub. His visit came about through a peculiar accident in which he nearly lost his life.

It appears that while Sile has no modern improvements in his home he nevertheless enjoys a bath. He has kept a barrel near his house which stands on the edge of a declivity leading down to the Missouri river. After a hard day's work Sile filled the barrel and jumps in.

The other night he followed the usual program and sitting down in the barrel to "soak" himself was unable to arise again. In his efforts to get free the barrel was upset and Sile and barrel rolled down the hill into the river. The barrel went in head first and Sile would have drowned had not a neighbor rescued him.

He attracted much attention and was followed by a small army of admirers.

Burns has been in the habit of taking a walk each day, but never at tempted so long a walk before. Burns has voted for most of the presidents of the United States.

BIG CROP RESULTS

Mr. Curry is one of the best farmers, and his reputation for veracity could not be doubted. Some people say that cabbage doesn't grow here, but the largest heads in this little irrigated patch of his pulled the scales down to 16 pounds. This is a small size for Mr. Curry, owing to the lateness of the season; last year his best heads weighed, when stripped of the outside leaves, just a little over 20 pounds of fine, tender, sweet cabbage.

The splendid silver cup offered by Hon. George W. Webster, the county fair at Springer last month was won by a Miami farmer, whose home is about 70 miles south of Cimarron. The prize is a handsome silver cup costing the donor $100 and was offered for the best exhibit of cereals. The winner must hold the cup three years in succession to gain permanent ownership. It went this year to B. F. McIndaffer of Miami. The list of premiums will show that most of the agricultural premiums went to Miami farmers, who demonstrate beyond question the claim of the Farmers' Development Company, that Miami is the richest valley in Colfax county. The company this year is doubling the capacity of the big reservoir and forty or fifty more homes will be established there for the next crop season.

Oats is running in the colony this year on first-year land at 40 to 80 bushels per acre; wheat, 25 to 35 bushels; corn, 40; alfalfa, three cuttings, and everything else in proportion. This country is demonstrating what the possibilities of irrigation are in the Cimarron country and is going to be the means of bringing many new settlers there.

Farmer Lee O. Lester is authority for the statement that there will be cut this year from the farms along the Mimbres Valley Irrigation Company's ditch 12,000 to 15,000 tons of seed, which will be worth to the growers $15,000 to $18,000. This is simply the overflow of the Mimbres river and has nothing whatever to do with pumping.

Apple Tree Makes $84.

At the Chase orchard near Cimarron last week were gathered forty-two boxes of big red apples off one tree. These apples sold in the market at $2 a box, making a yield from one tree of $84. Is that some apples or not? Acres of the winter apples are running two to three dozen boxes each tree, and there are sixty-five acres in this orchard.

Money in Cantaloupes.

Portions of the Pecos Valley have thoroughly demonstrated this year that there is money growing in cantaloupes. Lakewood has shipped about fifteen cars this year and growers netted over $100 an acre on the output. According to the statement of a grower who had worked at it, 150 crates are an average yield per acre, and they net 90 cents per crate on the crop. This puts the figures at $135 per acre, and it looks good.

CLAIM OF NEW MEXICO TO SECTION HERETOFORE HELD BY TEXAS.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 31.—If the western boundary line of Texas is moved back two miles to the 103rd meridian, as is now proposed by the claimant, the new state of New Mexico, it will mean a loss of about 128,000 acres of land, which has been considered a part of Texas ever since that was made in 1850 and 1850. It will transfer to New Mexico several towns that are now in Texas. The most important of these is Farwell, which is situated upon the 3,000,000-acre tract of land that this state gave to the Farwell syndicate of Chicago in exchange for the construction of the state capitol building a number of years ago. The change in the boundary line will affect the lands of this syndicate more than any other interest, as it will mean the transfer of nearly 100,000 acres of that big tract to New Mexico. This land is now valued at $10 to $15 per acre, it is stated, and located thereon are many settlers whose title to their property may be involved if New Mexico is confirmed in her contention that the 103rd meridian is the legal boundary. If the courts decide in favor of New Mexico the question will then arise as to what right Texas had to sell to the Farwell syndicate or other persons any part of the territory that properly belonged to that state. It is not improbable that an indemnity amounting to a large sum may be asked of Texas by New Mexico.

There has been an uncertainty as to the legality of the present western boundary of Texas for several years, but the matter has never been agitated by those in authority in this state. The whole question hinges on whether the ratification of the survey made by Clark by the federal congress legalizes the present boundary. It is now known and generally admitted by state officials of Texas that Clark made a mistake of two miles in the survey and that this runs from the extreme northwest corner of the Panhandle south for about 100 miles, making in all about 200 sections of 640 acres each that are involved in the present dispute.

How Clark Made Mistake.

In 1849 Texas and her northwest boundary dispute with the United States and ceded to the federal government about 67,000,000 acres of land, situated west of a distance of 123 miles. Texas claims title to this strip of land and application is now pending in the State Land Department here by John L. Wortham of Houston for the purchase of the whole strip on the ground that it is a part of the public domain of this state. In the early days of the survey the boundary of the Panhandle on the north, extended it by some mistake two miles west of the 103rd meridian and then ran the western line south from that point for about 190 miles. He found water so scarce when he got that distance with the survey that he abandoned the work from that direction. He went south for fifty-six miles, and after finding water he got his bearings again. This time he followed the 103rd meridian and from there on south to the point where the boundary turns west toward El Paso is now situated he marked the true boundary. The gap of fifty-six miles in the boundary has never been surveyed.

It is only within the last few years that land in the extreme western part of Texas became of much value.
