

DAILY MARKETS

Official Receipts, No Cars, 25 Cattle, 38 Cars, 2458 Hogs; No Sheep Reported.

WEEK-END TRADE IS QUIET

Few Cattle Arrive for Final Market of Week—Prices Unchanged.

STEERS STEADY FOR WEEK

Beef Grades Closing Up About the Same as a Week Ago and Trade in Fair Condition as to Tone—Veals Make Sharp Advance—Stockers and Feeders Generally Steady for Week—Hogs Strong—Sheep Higher.

Receipts from January 1, 1911.

Table showing receipts from January 1, 1911, and corresponding time in 1910 for Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Horses.

Live Stock in Sight.

The following shows the estimated receipts of cattle, hogs and sheep at the five principal western markets.

Table showing estimated receipts of cattle, hogs, sheep, and horses at five principal western markets.

Receipts by Cars.

A factor that has entered into the market this week has been the big fall, cattle have been taken on each day.

CATTLE.

Market Closing in Fair Condition. Prices Generally Steady.

As usual, final day of the week brought out very few cattle and market conditions were not materially changed compared with the previous day.

At the five leading markets hog supplies for the week aggregate 325,000, as compared with 375,100 the preceding week.

and good clearances have been made from day to day.

Best steers offered this week went at $6.00 per 100, with the bulk of the good serviceable kinds selling at $5.50

COWS, BULLS AND MIXED.

The cow and heifer trade this week has been a spotted affair, the opening and closing being on a strong footing

PACKERS' HOG PURCHASES.

Table showing Packers' Hog Purchases for Swift & Co., Hammond Packing Co., Morris & Co., and Total.

RANGE OF PRICES.

Table showing Range of Prices for Monday through Saturday.

SHEEP.

Market Closing Up in Good Condition. Prices 15 to 25c Higher.

Any change in the prices for sheep and lambs this morning was impossible, owing to entire absence of fresh supplies, and the market was quoted nominally steady.

STOCKERS AND FEEDERS.

Showing of stocker and feeder cattle here today was of the usual small Saturday dimensions. Demand was good and the few odds and ends changed hands readily at prices that showed no material change as compared with yesterday.

HOGS.

Good Tone Marked Closing Trade of Week—Prices Strong.

There was none of the weakness shown yesterday when the market was opened, receipts were plentiful and demand light, even for Saturday, and demand was of sufficient strength to furnish snappy competition for all offerings.

At the five leading markets hog supplies for the week aggregate 325,000, as compared with 375,100 the preceding week.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

The following Chicago board of trade quotations are furnished by T. P. Gordon, 1005-1009 New Corby, Forsee Building, St. Joseph, Mo.

Table of Grain and Provisions including Wheat, Corn, Oats, Pork, Lard, Hides, and Butter.

ST. JOSEPH CASH GRAIN MARKET.

Table of St. Joseph Cash Grain Market showing prices for Wheat, Corn, and Hogs.

82... 188... 6 12 1/2 @ 1.170. 80. 6 10

Odds, Ends and Wagon Hogs.

NO. 3 CORN.

ST. JOSEPH HAY MARKET.

Local Quotations Corrected to Date by Local Dealers.

The following quotations are furnished daily by the St. Joseph Hay Receivers and Shippers Association for the benefit of Stock Yards Daily Journal.

POULTRY SHOW FOR CITY.

State Exhibition to Be Sub-Divided. St. Joseph Gets Northwestern Show.

St. Joseph poultry fanciers have been informed that the Missouri state poultry show will be sub-divided next year, instead of there being one big show, as has been the custom heretofore.

PLANNING DRY FARMING TESTS.

Kansas and Oklahoma May Ask Indian Land for Experiments.

Arkansas City, Kan., May 12.—The Arkansas City Commercial Club is considering a plan to provide a tract of 640 acres for demonstrations by the Campbell Soil Culture company of Lincoln, Neb.

OTHER LIVESTOCK MARKETS.

CHICAGO. CHICAGO Cattle Stock Yards, Ill., May 13.—The Live Stock Market reports:

KANSAS CITY. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 13.—Special to The Journal: The Drovers Telegram reports:

SOUTH OMAHA. SOUTH OMAHA, Neb., May 13.—Special to The Journal: The Drovers Telegram reports:

EAST ST. LOUIS. EAST ST. LOUIS, National Stock Yards, Ill., May 13.—Special to The Journal: The National Live Stock Reporter reports:

WESTERN PACKING. Special reports to the Cincinnati Price Current show the number of hogs packed since March 1 at undermentioned places compared with last year:

Chicago, 1,129,000; Kansas City, 720,000; South Omaha, 519,000; St. Joseph, 379,000; Indianapolis, 199,000; Milwaukee, 193,000; Cudahy, 79,000; Ottumwa, 83,000; Cedar Rapids, Ia., 70,000; Sioux City, Ia., 210,000; St. Paul, Minn., 150,000; Louisville, Ky., 27,000; Wichita, Kan., 120,000; Detroit, 82,000.

Above and all other... 5,190,000 3,485,600

TOTAL HIVE STOCK MOVEMENT. The following table indicates the round total of receipts of cattle, hogs and sheep at five leading markets for the week ended today, together with aggregate totals and comparisons:

Table of Total Hive Stock Movement for Cattle, Hogs, and Sheep at five leading markets.

SCHOOL FOR INSTITUTE WORKER. At a suggestion of T. C. Wilson, secretary of the Missouri state board of agriculture, a "school of instruction" for all the institute workers and lecturers under the board will be held at Columbia during the latter part of July or first of August.

J. L. HARRIS TALKS

Railroad Man Scouts Idea of Any Alarmist Scarcity of Live Stock.

LAKE OPENS TODAY.

Never in Better Shape for Entertainment—Cosman Will Be in Charge.

COUNTRY BIG, PRODUCTIVE.

Security Theorists Fail to Reckon With Recuperative Powers of the Country—Hog Up a Purse and There Will Be Plenty of Competition For Its Contents, Says General Live Stock Agent of the Hawley Lines.

"My observation embraces a large section of the live stock producing area of the United States, and what I see is not justifying indulging in security theories," said James L. Harris, general live stock agent of the Hawley lines, to the Breeder's Gazette.

MISSOURI SONGS TRIED OUT.

Columbia, Mo., May 12.—The state song committee yesterday went through the best of the contributions for the $1,000 prize contest.

DID NOT KILL HIS WIFE.

Boonville, Mo., May 12.—George Maddex, a farmer, was acquitted yesterday on a charge of murdering his wife.

MOTHER WAKES AS SON DIES.

Columbia, Mo., May 12.—Instead of the supposed snoring of deep slumber which Mrs. Toalson heard last week, she awoke north of Columbia, heard yesterday morning at 12:30 o'clock, emanating from the room of Fielding T. Toalson, her son, the noise which awakened her.

ROMANCE SHATTERED.

Dixon, Mo., May 12.—A dream of love and happiness was shattered by a train that was on time and a constable.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WHEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WHEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WHEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WHEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WHEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

ITEMS IN BRIEF.

Stitt & Co. and Andy Turner, regular dealers in live stock, are around town.

J. W. Bookman, the regular shipper from Maryville, Mo., had a shipment of hogs on the market today.

The Farmers' Protective Elevator Association of Alexandria, Neb., marketed two cars of hogs here today.

Mike Starn of Maryville, Mo., had hogs on sale today.

Two loads of hogs sold on the snap market today for the account of C. Bebout, of Hopkins, Mo.

See Al Bright for Molasses Feed.

Transit House enters to stockmen.

Best meats, best rooms, Transit House.

Change of management at Transit House. Try our meals.

No Material Change in Prices Compared With Last Sale.

At the regular auction of horses and mules held at the stock yards yesterday about two hundred horses and mules were put through the arena.

PIMBLEY PAINT AND GLASS CO., 213 South Sixth street, St. Joseph, Mo.

Pioneer Driver Fatally Hurt After Shot Falls to Stop Team.

Medford, Ore., May 12.—Jack Louden, one of the last of the old time stage drivers, was injured fatally Thursday at Haze Hill, on the Crest-cent county road, fifteen miles from Grand Pass, while driving a four-horse team.

SHOT.

Louden was thrown headlong, landing on his head and fracturing his skull. Louden's two passengers jumped from the stage and escaped with slight injuries.

SHE'S SOME CHICKEN GIRL.

Bethany Stenographer Puts Incubators in Office Windows.

Bethany, Mo., May 12.—Miss Rosa Bender, a stenographer in the office of J. C. Wilson, has a miniature chicken farm, which she conducts in the show windows of her employer's place.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Missouri: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

STOCK YARDS DAILY JOURNAL

405 W. Illinois Ave., St. Joseph, Mo. City Office—Rooms 2 and 3, Hoch Island Building, corner Sixth and Lombard streets.

The St. Joseph Journal Publishing Co., Publishers. W. E. WARRICK, Editor and Manager.

Largest Outside Circulation of Any Paper Published in Buchanan County, Mo. Entered at the Postoffice in St. Joseph, Mo., as second class matter, September 4, 1897.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Daily per year $10.00, Daily per month $1.00, Daily per week 20c.

In making change of address, please state your former position. State whether your paper is Daily, Tri-weekly, Semi-Weekly or Weekly.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application. Usual 10 cent copy should be allowed postpaid, when not published to take a subscription.

LIMING SOILS FOR ALFALFA. To what extent soils are in need of liming in order to successfully produce alfalfa is not definitely known.

Soils that produce good crops of clover will probably not be seriously in need of liming for alfalfa. On the other hand, where there is trouble in getting a stand of clover, or where this crop does not otherwise succeed well, it will usually pay to lime the soil.

Exchange: Probably there will be no material betterment in wool conditions until after the extra season of congress is closed, and in event that the wool duties are seriously trimmed there appears slim prospect for anything akin to recent prices prevailing in the wool market for a long time ahead.

As a result many wool growers are in an embarrassing position as regards finances, since the banks which lend money on wool as collateral are treating the wool holders less liberally than would be the case were market conditions normal.

WE EAT MEAT. The inhabitants of the United States of America eat more meat than any other nation at least civilized in the world. From recent statistics compiled by the department of agriculture it is shown that the average person in the country eats 160 pounds of meat a year, says Ag. Exchange.

Individual Shortcake—Sift one cup flour, one cup of sugar, and one rounded teaspoon baking powder three times. Place one tablespoon of butter in a cup and put on stove to melt.

Rich Gold and Copper Find. Pueblo, Col.—Five employees of the Santa Fe who have been working a mining claim four miles west of Beulah have uncovered ore assaying over $1000 per ton in gold and copper.

Helping the Farmers. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Postmaster General Complies With Request of Senator Jeff Davis.

Every Bachelor Would Contribute $50 to a common fund there would be no dependent children.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How a Little Oyster Died to Make a Pearl

"ONCE upon a time," began daddy, "there was a family of oysters in a very comfortable home just off the shores of Newport.

Next day a lot of little boys and girls from the city came down to the beach to go in wading. With them was the one they loved best, little Margaret, but she couldn't walk nor go paddling because she was still weak from a long illness which had also made her blind.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

Strawberries. Cleaning Berries—Now that the strawberry season is here, an excellent way to cleanse the berries and destroy all germs is to place them in a colander, rinse in cold water, boil, and then pour over boiling water, drain, and follow immediately with cold water.

Strawberry Shortcake—Make a good biscuit crust, roll it out about a quarter of an inch thick, cut into two cakes the same size and shape, spread one over lightly with melted butter, lay the other over it and bake in a hot oven.

Jelly and Butter—Jelly—Cap and wash two quarts of strawberries. Cut up three stalks (large) of rhubarb into small pieces.

Sponge Cake—Separate the whites and yolks of four eggs. Beat whites till you can turn dish upside down and invert will remain with one pint of this one-half cup of granulated sugar.

Individual Shortcake—Sift one cup flour, one cup of sugar, and one rounded teaspoon baking powder three times. Place one tablespoon of butter in a cup and put on stove to melt.

Rich Gold and Copper Find. Pueblo, Col.—Five employees of the Santa Fe who have been working a mining claim four miles west of Beulah have uncovered ore assaying over $1000 per ton in gold and copper.

Helping the Farmers. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

DEPARTMENT YEAR BOOK.

Bureau of Agriculture Will Soon Issue New Publication.

Washington, May 12.—The seventeenth volume of the Yearbook (1910) will soon be issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Construction of agricultural courses in country schools, the article entitled Community Work in the Rural High School will be of interest and value.

Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

MANY IRRIGATION PROJECTS.

Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance.

Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

LIBERAL NEW BOOM TOWN

Successor Citizens Testifies to Prosperity of Western Kansas.

Liberal, Kan., May 12.—Like the seductive tales of the early days of the west, when the sturdy Yankee deserted the necktie counter and went forth in overalls to the land of the sunset to exact with a pick the earth's riches, returning to his native home just in time to hit the squirrel in the countenance with a shale of maxims, and received the mortgage, reads the history of several Liberal men.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

Helping the Farmers. The International Dry Farming Congress Special Train. Following up the extensive work of agricultural education in which they have so vigorously engaged, the Rock Island Lines operated free for the International Dry Farming Congress, a special train of nine cars, March 14 to April 25, 1911.

Shipping Cantaloupes. Lower Rio Grande Country Has Begun Moving Melons. San Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Express shipments of cantaloupes are being sent out of the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Many Irrigation Projects. Artesian Water Being Found in Abundance. Hutchinson, Kan., May 12.—There are two things you hear more than anything else in western and south-western Kansas.

SOUTH ST. JOSEPH'S BIG FREE CARNIVAL. PARKER'S 20 BIG SHOWS ALL NEXT WEEK, MAY 15-20. Big Free Attractions Every Afternoon and Night EVERY NIGHT A CARNIVAL NIGHT

SAVE THE CAPS OLD FASHIONED LAGER BEER SAVE THE CAPS. Put up only in Small Size Bottles Packed in Cases 3 Doz. Each Price per case $3.75. Above price includes a deposit of $1.50 for bottles and case. The deposit will be returned on receipt of case containing full number of empty bottles. SEND US YOUR ORDERS The Kansas City Breweries Co. Heim Brewery H. W. SCHMIDT, Special Agent Both Phones No. 756. SAVE THE CAPS

CLASSIFIED BUSINESS DIRECTORY

Reliable Professional Men and Business Institutions Who Want the Trade of Readers of The Stock Yards Daily Journal.

"TRUNKS, BAGS, ETC." WE make the best of goods at the lowest prices. Trunks, Ladies' Handbags, Gigs, and Satchels. Phone: Hill 3713. Home 225, Repairing Herold Trunk Factory, Hill 3. Bldg.

ABSTRACTORS. J.C. HEDENBERG 413 FRANK ST. Abstract of Title of the City of St. Joseph and Buchanan County. Telephone No. 387.

TAILORS. UGETA $3.50 PANT McMILLAN'S 308 FRANCIS STREET Near Metropole Hotel

BELTING For the Best Write to Lewis Supply Co. 115 S. 4th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

ARCHITECTS. ECKEL & ALDRICH Make specialty of plans and specifications for farm residences and private and public buildings in surrounding territory. Write us. Corby-Forsce Building ST. JOSEPH, MO.

Rudolph Meier ARCHITECT Fifth Floor, Ballinger Building

RESTAURANTS. HILGERT'S CAFE THE STAG The Finest a la Carte Mocha. Best Cuisine. 227 S. 6th St. Stockmen make this your headquarters when in St. Joseph. This paper on file daily.

Freeman's Cafe Fifth and Edmond Open All Night After Theatre Parties Served a la Carte. Tables Reserved for Ladies HOTEL. MR. STOCKMAN When at the yards make my hotel your stopping place. Junction Hotel & Restaurant L. A. Eaton, Prop.

Laclede Hotel Third and Jule Sts. Stockmen will find home comforts at reasonable prices.

PRINTING. COMBE PRINTING COMPANY ST. JOSEPH, MO. Stockmen's Stationery, Bank Outfitters and Lithographers. A Complete Stock of Typewriters, Factory Blank—Low Prices. Send for Our Catalogue.

Advertise in The Journal

St. Joseph Stock Yards Company St. Joseph, Missouri. We are in the Market Every Day for Cattle, Hogs and Sheep. We are especially bidding for Range Cattle and Sheep, both for slaughter and feeding. Located on fourteen railroads, and in the center of the best corn and live stock district in the United States, we are prepared to furnish a good market for all kinds of live stock. Our packers furnish a daily market for all kinds of Cattle, ranging from Cannons to Export Cattle. Look up your R. R. connections, you will find them in our favor.

SHIPPERS TO ST. JOSEPH You are invited to call at ST. JOSEPH STOCK YARDS BANK EXCHANGE BUILDING SOUTH ST. JOSEPH, MO. Ask Us About Our Method of Handling Proceeds of Shipments on Day of Sale Satisfaction to Yourself and Your Home Bank

The Galloway MANURE SPREADER Only $39⁵⁰ F.O.B. WATERLOO. The real thing. A success of 25 hundred spreaders with more than four years of success behind it, only $39.50. This is only one of the great waterloo lines. More than 50,000 farmers of America have stamped their O.K. on it. They say, "It's the best spreader ever made from the Great Galloway factory." It's part of my 1911 success of 50,000 manure spreaders. It is you that gets the benefit of this tremendous output, and you save 10 to 15 per cent on your purchase because I divide the manure with you. Every page of my big free book fairly bristles with proof.

GET THIS BIG BOOK FREE. Let me quote you prices on a Galloway spreader to suit the size of your farm. I've got the one for you. I'll pack, I'll tie, I'll put it all up to you, and if you say it's not what you want, I'll take it back and you don't lose one dollar by the deal. See it work, see you know what it's like. Here's what you will find out: It's the simplest and handiest—two horses can handle it—spreads any kind of stuff—no breakage bills—long life—satisfies all the way—it's a money-maker every day—it pays you big profit on every crop you use it. Now order this out. Find out that you can make this saving. I know something about the spreader because I have you ought to know, let me tell you. Write me and don't put it off till tomorrow. —W.M. GALLOWAY WM. GALLOWAY CO., 859 Galloway St., Wat. 100, Iowa. Let Me Tell You How I Divide the Melon with You.

Advertise in "The Journal."

The Failure

By Annie Hinrichsen

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

A girl rushed suddenly from a room.

"Will you come in?" she asked excitedly. "Come in and help me—quick. I don't know you—except as the man who lives across the hall—but you are perfect. You are exactly what I want and I'm in such a hurry."

With two steps Treadway was in the room.

"Stand where you are," commanded the girl. "Face this way. That's right. Chin up—the way you always carry it. Figure tense. Splendid pose of a successful and healthy young business man."

She stepped behind an easel and began to sketch rapidly. Bewilderment held Treadway's tongue. He stood immovable, staring at her.

"Eyes a little to the left, please." Her voice was quiet, cool and impersonal.

"May I ask," he ventured, "if this is an inspiration?"

"No. Advertisement. Chin a little higher."

"Are you—"

"Face in repose, please."

In the line of his eyes was a curly, red-brown mass of hair, pinned, as closely as its crinkling would permit, to a small head. When she tilted her head back in her abstract, impersonal scrutiny of him there came within his vision a creamy white face with dark, intense eyes, a firm, square chin and a dimpled, rosy, contradictory little mouth.

For a long time he stood motionless, his eyes on the red-brown grinkle of hair. At last he shifted his body with ostentatious weariness and drew a long, audible sigh.

The abstraction left the girl's face and genuine interest and concern flashed into it.

"Oh," she exclaimed, "I'm so sorry. You are worn out. I did not realize how long you had stood. Forgive me."

He relaxed his rigidity and dropped into a chair. The girl left her easel and sat down near him.

"May I explain," she asked with a gracious, gentle dignity. "I owe you a detailed explanation and many apologies. I am an artist. I am neither a good nor a successful one."

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Not tonight." Her voice was harsh and he did not hear the tremor. "I shall not intrude where I am unwelcome," he began stiffly. "You are always welcome," she said wearily. "But tonight I am very tired and I must rest."

"You need a long rest. You are worn out with the struggle for your art. You belong in a home of your own with a husband to take care of you and Aunt Melinda to take care of you both. Margaret, dear, won't you let me—"

"No."

"Margaret the path you have chosen is bitterly hard. You may win success in your work, but you will pay a price—"

"A price I am willing and glad to pay."

"I shan't let you."

"You can not prevent me. I care nothing, absolutely nothing for you. Do you think," she asked with a hard, little laugh, "that I shall give up my beloved art for a man to whom I am indifferent?"

He whirled about, threw open his own door and slammed it behind him. "Mr. Dick, I wish you'd marry that poor, little lamb across the hall."

"She won't have me, Aunt Melinda."

"You haven't looked at her for a month, not since the night you slammed the door so hard that my pans rattled in the kitchen. You haven't looked at her and seen that she is starving to death."

"She is not."

"She hasn't sold any pictures for a long time. Those beef people bought a few and then turned her down. She's worn out her shoes, going around trying to sell pictures that nobody wants. She's so poor now that she is taking in sewing."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

"I've come, and I'm starving! The night she wouldn't let you call on her and you slammed the door. And you are eating good, hot victuals and spending money."

Aunt Melinda returned to the kitchen. Treadway sat before the fire watching the blazing logs. The postman slipped the evening mail under the door. He heard the man step at the door across the hall.

Five minutes later some one touched his shoulder. Margaret Weston, holding a letter in her hand, was standing beside him. Her face was radiant with joy.

"I've come," she laughed, "to propose to you. Please, Dick, won't you marry me and take care of me?"

"Will I?" The words caught in his throat, but his answer blazed in his eyes. "My dearest—my own—"

"Wait a minute; don't kiss me yet. Read this letter. The Besting Baked Beef Company offers me the position of illustrator of their advertisements. Three thousand dollars a year! Isn't that glorious? I've succeeded! I'm ready to give up and—marry the man I love. I don't come to you a starved, beaten failure, seeking shelter. You are getting a successful, large-salaried illustrator. In the years to come I shall often remind you of the position I refused for love of you." She laid her hands on his shoulders and drew his head down to hers. "Dick, I'm awfully glad to give up now and be taken care of—by you."

"Great heavens—no!"

</

EXPERT COWBOYS OF SPAIN

Mounted Herdsmen of the Andalusian Plains are Fine Looking Fellows and Skillful Horsemen.

The perfection of Spanish horsemanship is to be seen among the vaqueros, gauacheros or garrochistas, by which various names the mounted herdsmen of the Andalusian plains are known...

All the herdsmen who look after cattle carry a long lance, called a garrocha, of thick and heavy wood, which, except when standing still, they always carry "in rest" and not "at the carry"...

Timely Instructions for Men Which Will Enable Them to Get the Task Done in Short Order.

HINTS FOR HOUSECLEANING

Housecleaning time is dreaded justly by a great many people, but the thoughtful husband may get it through with in short order.

Dusting the pictures is also usually attended with much hard work. A quick and simple plan is to take hold of the frame firmly and swing the picture back and forth, hitting it sharply against the wall each time.

Washing the woodwork is another futile procedure. Simply get a few gallons of paint and paint over the grime on the woodwork.

To repolish the hardwood floors, take your wife's machine, buffer and sit down in a comfortable position and go to work.

Washing the woodwork is another futile procedure. Simply get a few gallons of paint and paint over the grime on the woodwork.

Repolish the hardwood floors, take your wife's machine, buffer and sit down in a comfortable position and go to work.

Pay Taxes in Kind. The natives of the Congo pay their taxes in kind, as might be expected in a territory just beginning to be civilized.

The Young French Girl. A young French girl enters the theatre with her father. She takes her seat directly in front of the privileged American girls.

At a Psychic Dinner. "Have you been to a psychic dinner yet?" asked a pretty girl at a studio tea.

Uncle Hiram to His Nephew. "Stevy," said Uncle Hiram to his hopeful young nephew, "while I think of it let me tell you a little one, something that you can jot down in your memory."

Low Stage of the Mississippi. As showing the low stage of the Mississippi river an eastern Missouri paper prints this: "A load of steers was driven from Town Island to Tibbits Island on dry land in the middle of the Mississippi river at Clarksville Sunday.

Hamilton's Midnight Oil. Men who serve their countries faithfully have, in many instances, been forced thereby to neglect their own and their families' interests.

Should Be Blinding Oath. For a devout and ironclad oath the following administered to the officials of Slain, is not likely to be outdoors: "May the blood flow from the veins, may crocodiles devour me, may I be condemned to carry water to the fountains of hell in vessels without bottoms.

What Did Mama Do? Domine—What a lot of penulies you have in your little bank! Were they given you to buy candy?

Unhealthy. For near a thousand years Rome sat on her seven hills. Then she began to decline.

KITCHENS IN OLDEN TIMES

Size of Culinary Department Was More Important Than Its Furnishings Long Ago.

In olden days the size of the kitchen seems to have been of more importance than its furnishings in detail. At Hurstmonceux, for instance, there was a kitchen 28 feet high, with three huge fireplaces, and a bakehouse with an oven 14 feet in diameter; then there is an old Welsh kitchen at Penryn Old Hall, near Llandudno, dating from the Fifteenth Century, which has many primitive culinary contrivances, now obsolete or superseded by more modern devices; a meatjack with a flywheel, a steel roasting stand, and a fan bellows.

Our ancestors fully recognized the advantages of having a large kitchen. An order, dated April 19, 1206, commands Hugh de Nevill to have the king's kitchen at Clarendon roofed with shingles, and to cause two new kitchens to be erected, one at Marlborough and the other at Ludgershall.

ENGLAND GETS BEST COFFEE

All the First Grade From Java Goes There—America Uses Much Formosa Tea.

"America does not get the highest grade of coffee produced in Java, for the best grade of tea from Formosa," said Horace T. Tompkins, an American exporter from the island of Formosa.

"It is somewhat strange that it is almost impossible to get good coffee in Asia, as it would seem that Java could supply that part of the world, but it is a fact that good coffee is unknown in the Orient.

The Stenographer's Limit. James Ford Rhodes, the Boston historian, was talking about history. "Accuracy," he said, "is the sine qua non of historical writing. It is, indeed, the sine qua non of all social intercourse. If we are inaccurate we are sure to be tripped up."

"I knew an old-fashioned and aristocratic banker who is inaccurate in his pronouncement. He says 'obliged' for 'obliged,' 'thank' for 'thank you' and so forth. That is the way bucks used to talk, you know in Georgian times."

"Well, the banker invited his stenographer, a clever young woman, to lunch at his residence in Beacon street with his wife and himself one day, and during the course of turkey he called the guest's attention to the celery—or 'salary,' as he called it."

"What do you think of my salary, miss?" he said. "Fine," the young girl answered. "I think it's fine."

"Yes, isn't it?" said the banker, proudly. "I raise it myself."

"Do you?" she returned, with a laugh. "I wish you'd raise mine, then."

At a Psychic Dinner. "Have you been to a psychic dinner yet?" asked a pretty girl at a studio tea.

Hamilton's Midnight Oil. Men who serve their countries faithfully have, in many instances, been forced thereby to neglect their own and their families' interests.

Should Be Blinding Oath. For a devout and ironclad oath the following administered to the officials of Slain, is not likely to be outdoors: "May the blood flow from the veins, may crocodiles devour me, may I be condemned to carry water to the fountains of hell in vessels without bottoms.

What Did Mama Do? Domine—What a lot of penulies you have in your little bank! Were they given you to buy candy?

ELECTRIC FOG HORNS USED

Pressure on a Button Replaces All the Old-Time Hooting with Voice or Working Bellows.

The time honored fog horn and still the one in most common use on myriads of smaller boats is of the sort that you raise to your lips and blow. Tolerably hard work blowing a fog horn.

Bigger fog horns for larger boats are set in a box, the box containing a bellows by which the horn is blown. Attached to the bellows is an outside lever by means of which the bellows is operated by hand. A lot of noise this fog horn makes, to be heard for a considerable distance.

There are now made, used on many power boats and yachts, electric fog horns the operating of which calls for the exercise of neither lung nor hand power. In these horns there is attached, enclosed at the smaller end, a metallic diaphragm to which is connected an electric coil which, when electricity is turned into it, vibrates the diaphragm and sounds the horn.

Electricity is supplied from a storage battery or from current generated on the boat if it is electrically equipped. To blow an electric fog horn you simply press a button.

GAVE LESSON IN PATIENCE

Wise Man's Lecture to Wife Was Interrupted by Spilling of Milk on His Trousers.

"Patience, my dear, patience," remarked Noey-Tall, blandly, to his wife at breakfast the other morning when she spoke rather abruptly to one of the children for dropping his bread and butter face downwards on the table cloth.

"Accidents will happen, and we were children ourselves once. I'm sure that Jimmy didn't mean to. Great Jerusalem! There goes Harold's glass of milk all over my new trousers! This is the limit. Get a cloth, woman, can't you, and swap up this mess! It beats comprehension that a man can't sit down at his own table without being tormented and bespattered as I am every time I try to eat a meal under my own roof. You've got the manners of a hog—the lot of you! Look at these trousers—absolutely ruined. Wait till I get hold of that cub. Just let me get my hands on him, and I'll teach him to deliberately hurl a glass of milk over a 47 pair of trousers. Don't tell me he didn't mean to do it. He came to this table with the deliberate intention of doing it, and I'll—!"

The Stenographer's Limit. James Ford Rhodes, the Boston historian, was talking about history. "Accuracy," he said, "is the sine qua non of historical writing. It is, indeed, the sine qua non of all social intercourse. If we are inaccurate we are sure to be tripped up."

"I knew an old-fashioned and aristocratic banker who is inaccurate in his pronouncement. He says 'obliged' for 'obliged,' 'thank' for 'thank you' and so forth. That is the way bucks used to talk, you know in Georgian times."

"Well, the banker invited his stenographer, a clever young woman, to lunch at his residence in Beacon street with his wife and himself one day, and during the course of turkey he called the guest's attention to the celery—or 'salary,' as he called it."

"What do you think of my salary, miss?" he said. "Fine," the young girl answered. "I think it's fine."

"Yes, isn't it?" said the banker, proudly. "I raise it myself."

"Do you?" she returned, with a laugh. "I wish you'd raise mine, then."

At a Psychic Dinner. "Have you been to a psychic dinner yet?" asked a pretty girl at a studio tea.

Hamilton's Midnight Oil. Men who serve their countries faithfully have, in many instances, been forced thereby to neglect their own and their families' interests.

Should Be Blinding Oath. For a devout and ironclad oath the following administered to the officials of Slain, is not likely to be outdoors: "May the blood flow from the veins, may crocodiles devour me, may I be condemned to carry water to the fountains of hell in vessels without bottoms.

What Did Mama Do? Domine—What a lot of penulies you have in your little bank! Were they given you to buy candy?

$37.00 Screw Bolt Hame Buggy Harness Complete With Collars and Breeching. Price is right. SOMETHING NEW. Price is right. Sent to your railroad station on approval. H. & M. Harness Shop, Stock Yards, St. Joseph, Mo.

KANSAS CITY HAY AND GRAIN. The quotations are furnished daily by the Kansas City Receivers and Shippers Association for the benefit of Stock Yards Daily Journal readers and advertisements following are reliable Kansas City hay and grain merchants who solicit your consignments or orders: Timothy—Choice, $15.50@16; No. 1, $15.50@15; No. 2, $10.50@13; No. 3, $7@9.

HORSES AND MULES WANTED TO BUY. HORSES, MARES AND MULES from 4 to 8 years old. Stock must be fat and broken to work. Highest cash price paid. JOHN HANN, 204 South 2d St., Northwest Corner Paine Park, St. Joseph, Mo.

PROTECT YOUR CATTLE FROM BLACKLEG. Take No Chances. Blacklegoids are Simplest, Safest and Strongest Preventive. FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. WRITE FOR FREE CIRCULARS. PARKE, DAVIS & COMPANY, DETROIT, MICH., U.S.A.

M.J. SHERIDAN, PROPRIETOR, ST. JOSEPH, MO. Importers and Dealers in WINES and LIQUORS. Established 1872. Per Gallon: Shamrock Whiskey, Jugs or bottles, $4.00; Tennessee Rye, Jugs or bottles, 4.00; Maryland Rye, Jugs or bottles, 3.50; Maryland White Corn Whiskey, 3.00; Old Anderson Whiskey, 2.50; Kentucky Whiskey, 2.25; Holland Gin, Jugs or bottles, $3.00 to $4.00; Brandy, grape, apple, peach, $3.00 to $4.00; Port Wine, $1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 3.00 and 4.00; Sherry Wine, $1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 3.00 and 4.00; Anglica Wine, $1.25, 1.50 and 2.00. THIS IS AN OLD, RESPONSIBLE HOUSE. Mail orders shipped promptly. Remit with order. We carry everything in the Wine and Liquor order. Price list mailed on application. Address: M. J. SHERIDAN, 223 South Sixth Street, St. Joseph, Mo.

HAY DEALERS. We solicit your consignments or will buy your hay F. O. B. cars your track. K. C. HAY CO., 1200 W. 12th St., KANSAS CITY, MO. Correspondence Solicited. Bell Phone 2355 M. Home Phone 559 M.

ALFALFA and Other Hay Wanted for Early Delivery. We Want Round Baled Hay, Baled Direct from the Window White in the Sap. The Highest Market Price Paid. R. A. PAULY & CO., Station A, Kansas City, Mo.

ELDERS' SANITARIUM TREATMENT. I guarantee absolute relief in Elders' Sanitarium has demonstrated its ability to cope successfully with even the worst cases of hemorrhoids and piles. I don't want your money if I can't free you permanently from the slavery of LIQUOR, DRUGS, TOBACCO.

MORRIS & COMPANY. A FEW SPECIALTIES: SUPREME HAMS, SUPREME BACON, SUPREME LARD, SUPREME SAUSAGE, SUPREME DRIED BEEF and LION BRAND CANNED MEATS. MORRIS & COMPANY, CHICAGO, ST. JOSEPH, KANSAS CITY, ST. LOUIS.

HAY WANTED. Choice and No. 1 Timothy Hay. Write us what you have to offer: FOGARTY, KNEIB & CO., 1402-4 South 12th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

NEW RECLAIM 15,000 ACRES. New Orleans, La.—The opening day of the first unit of the big union irrigation plant near Opelousas, in the Parish of St. Landry, means the immediate reclamation of more than 15,000 acres of Louisiana prairie land and the ultimate reclamation of practically every acre in the vast uncultivated area in Southwest Louisiana. Fifteen years have been consumed in building the first unit of this plant, the funds for which were supplied by PILE'S CURED WITHOUT SURGERY. By a mild medical treatment without the use of the knife or surgical operation of any kind, 15 years' experience. DR. McCLEARY, JOHNSON & BRANAMAN, 204 Brady Building, 16th and Adams Streets, KANSAS CITY, MO.

Seaman & Schuske Metal Works Company. SHEET METAL CORNICES AND SKY LIGHTS FIRE DOORS AND SHUTTERS. Hot Air Furnaces and Steel Collings, Tin, Slate, Tile, Gravel and Ready Roofing. 1604 Frederlek Ave. Phone 427 Old and New St. Joseph, Mo.

Advertisement for OLYMPIAN DYNAMICS, Atlanta (Ga.) Journal For boldness and a belief in its high power, commend us to the Texas Legislature. It would even reform the styles.