HOG WEIGHTS LIGHTER.

While hog receipts continue to run nearly twice as large as at this time last year, the average weight of the hogs is about 12 or 15 per cent lighter so that the actual increase in the available supply of fresh and cured pork is not at all alarming.

KEEP BOYS AND GIRLS ON FARM.

To keep the farmers' boys and girls in the country is a problem affecting every agricultural district in the United States. The universal opinion of the farmers throughout the country, as voiced to the National Country Life Commission, was that the present system of education in the district schools in a large measure is responsible for the exodus of the youth of the country to the city.

Recognizing fully the importance of the problem of conserving for the country a large proportion of its young people and of directing them in childhood to appreciate the dignity and independence of farming as a profession, Secretary Fisher of the department of the interior has authorized the reclamation service to cooperate with the department of agriculture, the various state and county authorities.

On a number of these projects the old-fashioned one-teacher district schools have been eliminated and consolidated or centralized graded schools have been established. Sufficient land has been set aside or donated adjacent to these schools to permit the planting of small tracts for planting. A course in elementary agriculture is to be taught and an actual demonstration of irrigation and cultivation is to be given with prizes for the best results.

CANADA CROPS FOR 1911.

As finally estimated by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the extent of land under wheat in Canada in 1911 was 19,373,958 acres, yield 215,851,300 bushels, the area being 1,078,153 acres more extensive than that of the previous record year (1910), and the output surpassing the former high-water mark by 65,861,706 bushels. Upward of 92 per cent of the Canadian wheat lands are in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Alberta; the three Provinces in 1911 had 9,301,293 acres under this cereal, an increase of 995,893 acres over the preceding year; the yield, 194,083,990 bushels, exceeded that of 1910 by 65,192,060 bushels.

The total surface under oats in 1911, compared with 1910, shows a decline of 644,180 acres, owing to decreases in the eastern Provinces and Manitoba. In Saskatchewan the area was slightly and in Alberta heavily augmented. In all provinces the aggregate acreage was 9,219,920 acres, against 9,854,100 acres last year.

The Old Story Of Baucis And Philemon

"Dinah never gives anything to tramps," said Evelyn. "She says it will only bring them back again with a dozen more at their heels." "Dinah says tramps ought to work same's she has to," added Jack.

A CHANCE FOR THE LADIES. One of the greatest opportunities presented to the women readers of The Stock Yards Daily Journal, is presented in an advertisement of the Townsend & Wyatt Dry Goods Company on the second page today.

Yield, although about 40,000,000 bushels less than was forecasted in September, is still in excess of that of 1910 by almost 25,000,000 bushels, the absolute figures being 348,187,609 bushels in 1911 against 323,449,000 a year ago.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

Lovers of tea and coffee will be interested in the following from the pen of an authority on the subject: "Tea is usually considered more harmful than coffee because it contains free tannin and about three times as much thein. Thein in tea and caffeine in coffee are the same alkaloid, which gives to tea and coffee their peculiar stimulating properties.

TEA AND COFFEE.

TO ERADICATE VERMIN. The burning sulphur candles for ridding the house of vermin is a most successful eradicator of roaches, bed bugs and such pests. The stronger the candle the more effective, of course, and the roach must be very tightly closed. Four candles will usually do the work for one room of ordinary size. Just place the candle in a little water in an old pan or other receptacle and light it, closing doors and windows tightly, and no living thing can stand the fumes. This is an excellent disinfectant when a case of contagious illness has been in the house. Never leave articles of silver or brass in the room while the burning is in progress, as it tarnishes them.

TO AMUSE THE CHILDREN.

Did you mothers ever encourage the little folks in the home to have a set of colored pencils or crayons, and give them an old book and just let them use their own heads as to blending colors, etc.?

MONTANA SHEEPMEN SMILE

Cheering Account of Conditions Affecting Ranchers.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 8.—The long-lost smile of the Montana stockman is beginning to return, said William Rea, of Rea Bros., the well known and extensive Montana sheepmen and wool dealers, who was here looking over the market and exchanging views on the sheep and wool situation with the local talent. "After nearly two years of depression, due to a combination of adverse conditions such as enforced liquidation of Western flocks on low markets, caused by droughts, tight money, the encroachments of settlers, threats of free wool and what not, things are again beginning to break right for the sheepman and wool grower."

"I now have nothing but good news to impart, as concerns Montana. Contrary to reports in the public prints, Montana losses of stock due to weather conditions this winter are infinitesimal. Flocks and herds in the Yellowstone valley seldom came through a January in such excellent condition. We have really had but two weeks of bad weather and no losses. Just before I left home, we rode our ranges over in the vicinity of Billings and Forsythe and found our flocks in an excellent shape as I have seen Northern range sheep at this time of the year. The fall range, you know, was fine throughout the Yellowstone valley, and stock went into the winter in superb condition. Hay was never so plentiful as this winter, and there, but not much has been fed. The snow was nearly all gone when I left home and we were enjoying temperatures of 40 to 50 degrees in the Forsythe district."

Another piece of news which the Western sheepman has derived keen pleasure from is the advance of 5c recorded in the London wool market and the fact that the Canadian sheep markets. Montana is going to show an excellent crop of wool next spring and a big one, considering the number of sheep on hand for shearing, which is comparatively small. Fleeces were never in better shape. Already Eastern wool buyers have invaded the field endeavoring to control spring clips, but no contracts have been entered into as yet, and there is a disposition on the part of growers not to listen to bids made at this time.

URUGUAY EXPERIMENT STA.

Directors Will Be Experienced Men From United States. Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—That Uruguay is bent upon developing its magnificent agricultural resources on modern lines is shown by decrees establishing six agricultural experiment stations and setting aside 2,500 acres of land for their use, and appropriating about a million dollars to inaugurate their work.

HAS GRANT DATED 1767.

Long Beach Auditor Own Parcelment Signed by Penn Brothers. Long Beach, Cal., Feb. 8.—City Auditor W. L. Shuman has in his possession a time-worn document which is a grant of land made to ancestors of the auditor in the year 1767. It is on parchment and is about 18 inches long and 10 inches wide, and is the eighteenth century the writing and printing is almost as legible as that of the records of today in the keeping of the city official. Mr. Shuman is proud of the record, and stated that a portion of the original grant, about eighty acres, still remains in the family.

FERTILIZER NEEDED.

Expert Says Minnesota Farms Could Easily Double Their Yield. St. Paul, Feb. 8.—With the proper treatment of the soil so as to conserve its fertility, the productivity of the land under tillage in Minnesota can be doubled, according to Prof. Cyril G. Hopkins of the University of Illinois agricultural college, who gave an address before the Agricultural club at the farm school of the University of Minnesota last night on "Soil Fertility."

SELLING THE MARE.
I hear you want 't sell yer old bay mare.
Says I 't Jephtha Johnson, "What's her price?"
He give me then a cold an' distant stare An' says: "We ought 't soon be out-in' ice.
There's a good four inches on the lake 'd'ay.
It looks like snow of yonder in th' sky.
I guess it's time for gittin' out the sleigh.
Which hoss wuz it yew said yed' liked 't buy?"
"I didn't say I like 't buy at all," Says I 't him, an' give him back his stare;
An' read the advertisement on his wall.
"I heered yed' like 't sell yer old bay mare."
"I heered," he said, "ye lost a hoss last week.
Ye have tough luck in keepin' 'em alive.
That mare o' mine is sound an' kind an' meek;
I'll let her go fer jes' three-seventy-five."
"Giddap!" says I, an' took the lines in th' hand.
"I hope yer wife an' little ones air well;
I'll tell the neighbors 'round who understand
The new air in the market 't sell.
That it ain't so. I mus' be goin' on.
It's strange how rumors travel 'round about!"
Says he 't me: "Now, jes' a minute,
What'll ye give fer that old mare right out?"
"I ain't partic'lar fer that old bay mare
I've got mos' all th' hoss flesh I can drive.
If yew air anxious 'tough 't sell an' care
T' let her go, I'll give one-seventy-five."
Says I 't him, an' then he give a sigh An' stopped awhile 't take another chew;
"I heered," says he, "that yew wuz out 't buy;
I guess folks has been rumorm' on yew."
"If I wuz anxious now to sell that mare
Perhaps I'd let her go fer even three.
But I don't know as how I really care
T' make a deal. She's wuz much more 't me."
"I ain't denyin' that at all," says I,
"I'm sure that what yew say is reasonable true."
If I wuz in the market, though, 't buy An' needed her, I'd give as high as two."
"I reckon we can't get together now," Says he; and then, say I, "I reckon not;
I ain't so keen fer buyin' anyhow."
Says he: "Fer sellin' I ain't over hot."
"If yew wuz mos' desirous 't dispose
Of that mare, what woud yew take?" says I.
Says he: "In that case fer two-ten I'd close."
Says I: "In that case here's the cash, I'll buy."

INDIANS VOTE ON LAND SALE

Chickasaws and Choctaws to Decide Whether Tribal Tracts be Sold.

Hugo, Okla., Feb. 9.—The Indian trait of carrying everything to an extreme will be evidenced within the next few weeks, when Gov. Victor M. Locke of the Choctaw Indian nation and Gov. D. H. Johnson of the Chickasaw nation will call a referendum election in both tribes on the same day. The question is whether the lands owned by the two nations, which are situated in the Indian Territory, should be sold to the government. The referendum will be held on the same day, and the results will be binding on the tribes. The lands are situated in the Indian Territory, and are owned by the two nations. COTTON ACREAGE REDUCED

Agitation Reported to Have Had Results in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 9.—Traveling traffic men and traveling salesmen—many of whom make weekly reports to their general headquarters—report that the agitation throughout the state—believe that there will be a reduction of from 20 to 25 per cent this year in the cotton acreage of Oklahoma. They report that in the cotton belt of Oklahoma production the reduction campaign is becoming very popular. The farmers have organized themselves into number of acreage reduction associations, with a county chairman to supervise the work in general and with a township chairman in each township to work out the organization in detail. Each farmer is handed an indexed card to fill out, providing for the listing of the acreage devoted to cotton last year and the acreage to be planted this year. As these cards are made out, the township chairman gathers them up, sends them to the county chairman, who, in turn, sends them to the officers of the Cotton Growers' Acreage Reduction Committee at Austin, Tex. By this means, it will be known by the state whether the acres are planted in cotton and just how much reduction has been effected—not only in Oklahoma, but throughout the South.

AS TO FEEDING CATTLE.

The Method Depends Wholly on the Age and Future of the Stock.

The feeding of cattle depends upon the age and the future of the animals. If fed for market a liberal supply of palatable food is necessary. If held for winter, the coarser, cheaper feeds. Cattle to be grazed during the summer will do the best if not turned on the grass too fat. The change of feed retards the growth. The feed that is consumed to put on this surplus of fat is lost.

AMERICANS TO MEXICO.

Hungry Landseekers Made Lately Disturbed Republic.

City of Mexico, Mexico, Feb. 9.—An unusually large number of American land prospectors have arrived in Mexico since the first of the year. Many of them went into the Tampico section and have purchased farms. There is a strong effort by men who are interested in the development of the agricultural resources of the country to weed out and prevent the speculative element in lands.

Citizens of Arkansas Anxious to Back Up Enterprise.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 9.—The farmers of Arkansas are ready and anxious to back up the Little Rock packing house project, according to L. A. Markham, agricultural commissioner of the Iron Mountain Railroad.

"I don't think I ever saw the farmers, as a whole, more interested in any recent proposition affecting this state than they are in the matter of Little Rock carrying out its packing house project," said Mr. Markham.

"One of the most striking features of the recent series of meetings held under the auspices of the Agricultural Department has been the surprising growth of interest in the live stock industry among the farmers at most every place we have visited.

"Everywhere we have found them ready and anxious to hear something about the cattle and hogs, and watching with increased interest the movement for the establishment of packing houses in Little Rock and Pine Bluff.

"The success of the Frisco's experiment or model farm at Springfield has moved the road to adopt the larger policy. The crops yielded during the direction of Frisco's commissioner of Agriculture E. S. White have been grown on the farm have been the marvel of the residents of this section of the state.

"The success of the Frisco's experiment or model farm at Springfield has moved the road to adopt the larger policy. The crops yielded during the direction of Frisco's commissioner of Agriculture E. S. White have been grown on the farm have been the marvel of the residents of this section of the state.

"Farm work should be done as work, not as a pastime for occasional idle hours," Commissioner White told his visitors. "Know how to farm well, and then do the work as a banker or a merchant or a carpenter does his. The high cost is due to people who do not work at all—but to buy other cause, one afternoon last fall, I saw in a paper that 2,500,000 men and boys were watching the baseball score boards of the country and farmers were writing to me at the same time begging me to devise some way for supplying them with men to rather their crops. I tried to get a man to work on my farm the other day, and on my way to Springfield to seek a hand I passed a party of six men camped beside the railway track, watching their dinner cooking in a tin can while they smoked and talked their easy lingo.

"Learn to farm right, for we've got to produce the living for 2,500,000 men and boys who won't work when there's anything else to take up their time, and it will be necessary to double the productiveness of the land now under cultivation if prices of farm products are not to be hoisted up twice as high as they are now."

One of the demonstrations given at the Springfield model farm is how to raise three crops a year in the Ozarks. So short a time ago as last spring farmers here said this could not be done. But when the dry summer came on Commissioner White saw his chance to prove what he could do.

He invited farmers to come to his farm, and there he showed them how he should do during the summer, and urged them to try his plans without risk, since they would lose the use of their soil unless they could employ it in his way. The result was the general adoption of his methods and last summer saw some splendid farming results here in one of the most unfavorable seasons ever known in the Ozarks.

One of the new farms will be located near Lamar, one near Mountain Grove, one in the vicinity of Lebanon and a fourth southwest.

TWO HOMESTEAD BILLS.

Brown Measures in Line With Taft's Message.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Senator Brown introduced in the senate two bills to modify the homestead requirements on both dry land claims and reclamation projects. The residence provision on dry claims is reduced from five to three years, though proof cannot be made until five years after entry. On irrigated claims patent may be secured after five years residence, unpaid water rights to remain a lien in favor of the government.

This leniency to the homesteader, it is claimed, will relieve him from occupation at a time when the condition of the land makes it most burdensome and will furnish him with a title upon which he can borrow money and continue the improvements.
