Daddy's Bedtime Story — Poor Teddy Jones Has a Saucy Rival

TWO nightgowned figures sat before daddy. They were Jack and Evelyn, and they were waiting for a story.
'I must tell you the latest news about Teddy, the Jones boy's clever dog,' said daddy. 'Poor Teddy's nose is a trifle out of joint. This is the reason. The Jones boy's mother is Teddy's favorite. When she goes out for a walk or to visit a neighbor Teddy is sure to know of it and to be waiting outside to go with her.'

WINTER MUTTON SHORTAGE. Evidence that we are facing a winter mutton shortage continues to accumulate. At a period when cornbelt finishers ought to be buying in wholesale fashion the range run of thin stuff has been cut off. Feeders will feel the loss of the Wyoming run of feeders this season, that state having been partly put out of the sheep business in consequence of two bad winters and a dry summer.

HANDICAP OF POOR ROADS. The great handicap to the development of Beltrami, Koochiching and other counties in the extreme northern section of Minnesota is the lack of good roads, or any roads in fact, according to H. J. Maxfield, state immigration commissioner, who has been making an investigation of that district.

SURPRISED AT WESTERN RUN. Omaha Journal-Stockman: Western stockmen view with genuine amazement the volume of cattle and sheep receipts from the northwest this fall. They were unanimous in predicting a big decrease in supplies on account of the heavy losses last winter and the well known shortage in their several neighborhoods.

FEWER CATTLE AT THE MILLS. Oklahoma Live Stock News: Oklahoma is going to have to hustle if it is to produce a normal supply of meal and hull fed cattle this season, and prospects that it will not are apparent on every side. It's a case of a fat year one way and a thin one the other.

EXCITEMENT AT BLANCHARD. Discovery of Traces of Oil Causes Flurry in Iowa Town. Blanchard, Ia., Oct. 22.—Blanchard is going to the verge of nervous prostration over the discovery of what is thought to be a pool of oil. A well sunk to artesian water level is sending up water that is impregnated with oil. A painful of water taken from the well will show one-eighth of an inch of oil on the water after being allowed to stand a few minutes.

HIGHEST AND LOWEST POINTS. The highest point in the United States is the summit of Mount Whitney, California, 14,911 feet above the sea level. From this spot one may look down upon the lowest point in the United States, only ninety-two miles distant, but 274 feet below the sea level, a difference in altitude of 14,777 feet. This lowest point is in Death Valley.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

TESTED RECIPES. Sandwich Filling.—Dressings, marmalade with chopped nuts; cream cheese with chopped pimentos; cold chicken or any cold meat; olives and celery, chopped and mixed with mayonnaise; salmon, hard cooked eggs and pickles; Swiss cheese, spread with mustard and put between slices of rye bread; figs and nuts; jelly or jam with nuts; lettuce and cucumber, salad with French dressing; tongue and lettuce; cheese paste.

Stewed Kidney with Rice.—After soaking a beef kidney in salt water overnight, stew until tender and until little water is left in the kettle. Cut the kidney into small pieces and thicken with flour the water in which it was cooked. Add a tablespoonful of butter. Sprinkle with salt and serve with boiled rice.

Orange Pudding.—Take two or three oranges, peel, slice and cover with one-half cup sugar. Let stand two or three hours. Make a custard as follows: Two eggs, one pint strained milk, one pint milk, yolks of two eggs well beaten, one-half cup sugar. Heat the milk in double boiler. Add the mixed custard, sugar and eggs, a little butter and salt and boil two minutes. When cold add oranges. Make a meringue of the whites of the two eggs beaten stiff, two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Spread over the top of the pudding and brown.

Rice Timbales.—Place in double boiler 1-2 cup rice and 2 cups boiling water with 1-2 teaspoon salt. Boil forty minutes; then make a tomato sauce as follows: One pint strained tomatoes, Season with salt, pepper and a little sugar. Thicken with 1 tablespoonful of flour mixed with 1-tablespoonful butter. Add 1-tablespoonful grated cheese. Mix half of this with rice and place in timbales to mold. Set the timbales in a pan of hot water for a few minutes; then turn out and serve with the remainder of the tomato sauce.

Oatmeal Crisps.—Two eggs beaten separately, 3-4 cup sugar, 3 heaping tablespoonfuls flour, 1 level teaspoonful baking powder, 1 level teaspoonful salt, 1 cup walnuts, broken; 2 cups raw oatmeal. Drop by spoonfuls into butter pans to bake.

Heavenly Food.—One cup dates, cut in small pieces; 1 cup walnuts, broken; 2 eggs, beaten separately; 3-4 cup sugar, 3 heaping tablespoonfuls flour, 1 level teaspoonful baking powder, 1-8 teaspoonful salt. Bake in a thin sheet and cut in squares when cold.

Calico got its name from Calicut, a town in India, once celebrated for its cotton cloth.

The Code Feminine. As soon as Mrs. Granger was fairly past, Mr. Compton heard an irritated "There! I knew it!" from his wife, and turned to see what was the matter.

"She's just as provoked as she can be to think that Mrs. Lombard and I didn't ask her to go out with us to see the Williams baby!" said Mrs. Compton. "She thinks that it was on account of her having said that she didn't find three weeks' old babies very interesting, when of course she'd make an exception of Lena Williams' baby. But that wasn't the reason we didn't ask her; it was because we decided all in a hurry, and there was just time to catch the train. She's made up her mind she won't propose our names for the book club!"

"How do you know she thinks all these things?" inquired Mr. Compton. "My dear, didn't you see the way she bowed?" asked his wife in a pitying tone.

"Why, yes," said Mr. Compton. "I thought she gave a rather more pronounced bow than most women do, and smiled quite brilliantly."

"You dear thing," and Mrs. Compton patted his coat-sleeve, "of course she did! That's how I knew exactly what she was thinking."—Youth's Companion.

Index to Intoxication. The late George B. Cluett believed profoundly in temperance. Mr. Cluett, at a temperance dinner once said:

"In moonshine districts, where the whisky looks like water and is drunk like water, strange ideas prevail as to what intoxication really is.

"In a moonshine village, one Saturday afternoon, a man lay in the broiling sun in the middle of the road with an empty bottle by his side.

"He's drunk; lock him up," the sheriff said.

But a woman interposed hastily. "No he hasn't drunk," she said. "I jest seen his fingers move."

EASY TO TEACH BLACKBIRD

is a Natural Imitator and Responds Quickly to Training—Its Memory Strong.

The blackbird, which belongs to the thrush family, has strong imitative powers, and has even been taught to speak. There is not much variety in its natural song, but its voice has a pure, flute-like tone and full volume.

After the blackbird has completed his education, he should be placed near some other singing bird, whose notes he would soon learn and blend with his own.

WOODPECKERS OF LARGE SIZE. Species That Abound in Mexico and Central America Attain Large Proportions.

To those readers who may only be familiar with the average sized woodpeckers found in this country, it will be interesting to know that there are species of this famous group of birds in existence, which, even when compared with such sizable species as the well-known "flicker," appear in proportion like great ravens, placed by their lesser congeners, the garrulous magpies.

WHERE THE WORLD LAGS
 In Arts, Literature and Science It is Progressive—Why Not in Humanity?
 In the acceptance and appreciation of the latest developments in the arts, literature, philosophy and the sciences, the modern world is truly cosmopolitan. It recognizes no boundary line of race or nationality where genius in these fields reveals itself. So closely are the various countries now bound together through international communication and commercialism and the universal diffusion of intelligence, that competition in the search for knowledge has been tremendously stimulated, says a writer in the Metropolitan Magazine. In the realm of the intellect and the senses emulation is encouraged and each new discovery or achievement that promises greater progress for mankind is hailed with impartial enthusiasm. The world is ready to pay homage equally to Marconi, Lister, Rodin, Reinhardt, Tolstol, Loeb, Peary or Amundsen. None will be denied the acknowledgment due him because he was born in one country and not in another. It is the patience, daring, endurance, persistence, wisdom and passion for truth and knowledge as manifested in his works that are accepted as the measure of his worth. It is only when economic and political supremacy is in question that the nations and races maintain hideous and barbaric relations toward one another. Then envy, suspicion and thoughts of mutual destruction are accepted as natural, logical and inevitable. Then the world divides itself into armed camps and group alliances are made as safeguards of one nation against the other. In everything but the one vital, human essential of the welfare of the people, who sustain out of their poverty the armaments in times of peace and give of their lives when war is rampant, the world's rulers are content to see amity and brotherhood prevail.

QUESTION FOR MUSIC LOVERS
 Just What Do You Hear When You Attend a Concert or Listen to an Orchestra?
 The above question was put to me many years ago, under circumstances that made it worth more to me than a full year of instruction under any master of the old world or new.
 I was coming away from one of my first symphony concerts, when I met my violin teacher, and told him I had just heard the great orchestra. "Is that so?" he remarked. "Well, what did you hear?"
 "Oh, the Unfinished Symphony and..."
 "But you are only telling me what was on the program. What I asked was of more importance. I wanted to know what you heard."
 I started to say that there were nearly a hundred musicians, that they played all kinds of instruments, but he interrupted again. "Yes, I know, but what did you hear? Was it a great noise or did it say something to you?"
 Now I began to understand, and of course I had no words to express my feelings. But I thought about it very often for some time, and wondered what music really was; what other people heard; whether any one ever heard what I did; if they ever found themselves powerfully moved at a great climax in the music; if they preferred to go to concerts alone and sit in a dark corner and listen without looking in the direction of the stage. And as I gained more experience as a listener there were thousands of questions that arose from that one simple question. What did I hear? What did you hear when you listened to good music?—Exchange.

Roads Were Not Public.
 A century ago all the larger towns in eastern Massachusetts were to be reached substantially only over toll roads, or turnpikes, along which one paid to pass. The roads were built and owned by corporations chartered by the commonwealth, and the fares, or tolls, were taken up every few miles at toll gates, which were usually established on the bridges, so that no one could get by without paying. There were turnpikes to Concord, to Worcester, to Dedham and Providence, to Neponset and Quincy, to Lynn and Salem, and to Newburyport. At the first toll gate out of Salem toward Boston, $5,800 was taken in the year 1805, but the day of greatest travel on the road was June 1, 1813, when 120 stages and hundreds of carriages went over the road that their occupants might get a glimpse from hilltops of the fight between the Chesapeake and the Shannon, in which the dying Lawrence uttered his immortal words, "Don't give up the ship."

Russia's Hunting Bag.
 The hunting season in Russia has come to an end, and the following particulars, says a St. Petersburg correspondent, relate to the booty, which has far surpassed that of the preceding year.
 The largest number of animals killed are squirrels, which head the list with 4,525,300 victims. The most sought after fur is of course black sable, of which 12,250 were caught. Last year a clear profit of 2,500,000 francs was made on sables, which fetched as much as 1,000 francs apiece.
 The remainder of the "bag" was composed of 200,000 ermine, 1,500 brown bears, 180,000 skunk, 100 blue foxes and 10,500 gray wolves.

SHE HAD MADE A MISTAKE
 Questionable Commercial Transaction, However, In No Way Abashed the Old Lady.
 Wherever buying and selling go on, there are those who do not scruple to take a little extra profit if it can be done secretly. The deed is not always carried off so boldly as in this amusing adventure related in Mrs. Phillimore's book of travel, "In the Carpathians."
 The yellow horse—the Phillimore's journey was made in a peasant's cart drawn by a horse whose "skin was the color of honey when the sun shines on it," and driven by a romantic and elegant Pole, whose name was Milak—the yellow horse was preparing to shake the dust of Josiska from his heels when an elderly Jewess detached herself from an excited crowd in the market-place and hurried toward the cart.
 "My weight!" she demanded in a loud voice.
 "What weight?" inquired Mr. Phillimore.
 "In the sugar," replied the old lady. "What sugar?" queried Mr. Phillimore.
 Milak came to the rescue. "I bought loaf sugar," he explained.
 "The weight is in the sugar. I made a mistake," volunteered the aggressive lady with much wrath and no embarrassment. "Am I to wait all day?" she continued, impatient at the stupidity of these foreigners.
 Guilelessly, Milak produced the bag of sugar. A more knowing villager offered a bowl, into which the old lady hastily dumped the sugar, disclosing in the bottom a brass weight of three or four ounces.
 "That's it," she said, unblushingly. "I forgot to take it out," and hastily restoring the sugar to her customers, she turned and marched back to the market-place.—Youth's Companion.

Must Do Without Almanac.
 It looks as if the Chinese public in the south will be in a fix this year for the want of the usual almanac, which is an indispensable requisite in every household in order to distinguish between lucky and unlucky days and the like. The little kobos are sold by the hundreds of thousands and the trade got them ready as usual. To meet the situation new covers were put on with the new dates, while the inside remained the same as if there had been no change. The sale of these is strictly interdicted and nothing has been provided to take their place.—Pekin Daily News.
