

Can't Decide About Those Amendments?

Puzzled about these 14 amendments to the Texas constitution that folks are going to vote on November 6? If you are, then you are not by yourself; few persons in Texas apparently know very much about the 14 questions which occupy the entire bottom half of the General Election 30-inch ballot. A check made by the Journal this week showed most people don't know what the amendments seek; most people don't care, and except for the 14th proposition (trials de novo), not too much has been said or written about the proposals.

Most newspapers have either shied off the questions entirely or have not attempted to express an opinion. The Dallas News last Sunday came out in favor of 10 of the proposition, against four. That newspaper favors propositions Nos. 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11 and 13. It opposed Nos. 2, 9, 12 and 14.

Below The Journal presents a condensed explanation of the 14 proposed amendments.

Proposition No. 1: This amendment would extend to other political subdivisions of the state the power already given to counties to provide workmen's compensation insurance. The constitution was amended in 1948 to allow counties to provide workmen's compensation for their employees, and in 1952 another section was added to enable cities, towns and villages to provide such insurance. The effect of this proposal is to extend this power to school districts and other political subdivisions in addition to counties, cities, towns and villages already covered.

Proposition No. 2: This amendment would extend assistance to needy children, needy blind and needy aged. This would extend the total amount of money which can be expended each year out of state funds to $52 million. This would be an increase of $5 million per year over the maximum now authorized for these persons. Proponents say the average amount received per recipient is simply too little.

Proposition No. 3: This would create hospital districts in Ochiltree, Castro, Hansford and Hopkins County, each (See AMENDMENTS, page 7)

Crop Outlook Is Bright

Frost Date Is Key

Bailey county should produce bumper crops of both cotton and grain sorghum this year.

But there's a big "IF" in the crop picture. Whether the county winds up the 1962 season with near-record productions will depend on how late Jack Frost visits the area. An early visit, and the crop prospects will dim considerably, but if the old man from the north holds off until well into next month, then farmers will have it made.

These are the conclusions of County Agent J. K. Adams who says cotton on irrigated land anyway has the best prospect in many years on "most irrigated lands."

And grain sorghum, too, looks good with 75 percent of all irrigated sorghum already harvested before last week's "WET" weather came along. The remaining 25 percent will be harvested — or most of it — before a hard freeze arrives, it is likely. Of course again if an early frost came, the prospects might not be so rosy.

Cotton that was watered in late August is in what the county agent calls a "delicate position." This late - watered cotton, in many instances, "is not far enough along to defoliate and a hard freeze at this time would cause immature bolls to freeze and ruin."

However, only 10 to 20 percent of Bailey county's irrigated cotton is in this category, the county agent opines.

"The earlier - than - recommended defoliation of cotton has resulted in premature opening, and the accompanying wet weather is bound to lower quality on this cotton," he explains.

"By and large, the wet spell has delayed maturing and the harvest of the crop, but most every farmer is willing to accept the wet weather if it can be substituted for the freeze

OUTLOOK BRIGHT — Barring unseasonably early killing frost, Bailey County's two "money crops," cotton and grain sorghum, should turn out exceptionally well this year. Cotton, as the field above shows, is late, but irrigated grain, rolling to market on schedule, already is being stock-piled outside elevators. (Journal Photo & Eng.)

Lovelady 'Rally' Called Off

Ray's 'Ritin'

By RAY MARTIN

If you set out to look for a vacant business building in Muleshoe you might find one and you might not—probably would not. The reason is that there just aren't any available, or very few anyway.

All of which is by way of saying that Muleshoe seems to be pretty well off. Vacant business buildings are a business barometer, bad business. No vacant buildings, is an indication of good business.

Which recalls another town in this area which is not so well off. Made a count the other day and found out that that particular town has 13 vacant business buildings on Main Street and probably several more on the back streets.

Furthermore, that particular town is losing businesses. One big department store will close its doors this weekend; it's moving to another town. Still another major department store will close January 1, and a discount house will give up its lease at the end of this year.

In addition, two women's dress shops and a hobby shop will go out of business at the end of this year.

Got to thinking it all over—why should Muleshoe continue to grow while another town in this area of somewhat similar size and economy is shriveling?

There probably are several reasons.

One is the fact that maybe the people who live there don't want it to grow. That's just possible, mind you. We once lived in a town of that kind. I recall that the wife of one of the prominent business men in the town told my wife that she "hates to see the town grow; I like it just the size it is and don't want it to get any bigger."

If there were enough business jobs in that town with that kind of a feeling, then the town would continue to grow—but smaller instead of larger.

Maybe — just maybe, mind you the town I've been discussing has that view. Seems there are people like the old mountaineer who met a stranger on the road, and said, "I don't know who you are, and I don't care because I've got all the friends I need now so I'm not making any new acquaintances — much less new friends."

There is a mistaken idea among some people who have grown up with a town that if it gets too big for them to know everybody in the town, then it loses its friendliness. Maybe — just maybe, mind you — this town I've been talking about has too many people with that kind of a warped view.

Size of the town doesn't determine its friendliness; it's the character in it who determine that characteristic. We have lived in big towns that were very friendly and little towns that were not. And vice-versa. Size alone does not determine its friendliness, despite what some folk like to think they believe. The loneliest place in the world can be a very small town.

Maybe, too, this town I'm speaking of that is losing businesses is lacking in community

Trick or Treat To Aid CROP

Sponsored by the Bailey County Ministerial Alliance, young people of senior and junior high school departments from the various Muleshoe churches will go "trick or treating" for Christian Rural Overseas Program the night of October 30, the Alliance announced Thursday.

The young people are to meet at the First Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. to receive materials and assignments, and will return to fellowship hall at that church for refreshments at 9 o'clock.

Each youth group attending is requested to bring along an adult counselor to assist in the drive. Last year, Texas young people collected $53,000 which was used by CROP to feed hungry people in the Congo, Hong Kong and the Near East. The young people here collected $200 last year for CROP.

All youth groups and their sponsors are asked to participate, and persons who will not be at home October 30 are asked to send their contributions to CROP care of the First Methodist Church.

A Monday night district courtroom rally for "the friends of Karl Lovelady," indicted Bailey county attorney, was cancelled and Lovelady met instead in his office with his attorneys.

Lovelady told the Journal that the rally was announced over KMUL Saturday morning, but it later was deemed "best not to hold the meeting at this time." He added: "Instead we decided it would be best if I go over the case with my attorneys." He said a public meeting "might be held later."

He told the Journal that only two radio announcements were made regarding the meeting of Lovelady's friends.

However, a check of courthouse records showed the courtroom had been engaged for the occasion. When only two persons and the Journal representative appeared for the meeting, one of the courthouse janitors crossed the street to Lovelady's office and inquired whether the meeting was to be held. Informed that it had been cancelled, the janitor returned to the courtroom, turned off the lights and locked up the building.

Meantime the county attorney, facing four indictments, is "almost certain" to go on trial on the opening day of the next term of criminal district court, set for Monday, November 19. District Judge E. A. Bills has not announced the docket for that term of court, although it is certain that Lovelady will face trial on at least one of the indictments at that time.

Three indictments were returned by a district court grand jury early in September, and on September 28 the same grand jury was called in again. That time they returned a fourth indictment against the county attorney.

Specifically, the first indictments include one charge of giving a worthless check for $50 and two charges of embezzlement. The first charge is listed as a felony since it involves a sum of $50, while the other two charges involve only small sums and thus are county court misdemeanor cases.

The fourth indictment charges theft and extortion. It involves an alleged illegal fee of $100 collected from three men to free Jose Marie Cavazos from jail last year.

Lazbuddie Girl's Hampshire Barrow Wins State Fair Sweepstakes Honor

By MRS. C. A. WATSON

LAZBUDDIE — Charlotte Seaton's 212-pound Hampshire barrow was selected top entry in champion over the 600 other entries in the 1962 State Fair of Texas last week. Judge J. T. Tenkley selected her Hampshire as grand champion over the 600 other entries in the junior barrow division. Earlier in the day, the barrow had been named champion of the Hampshire breed.

Charlotte is a sophomore in the Lazbuddie high school. Other Lazbuddie entries at the state fair also wound up with prize money.

Three Plead Guilty To DWI Charges

Three persons have been charged in county court with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, a check of records revealed Thursday. All three have pleaded guilty although one had first pleaded not guilty.

K. R. Volkman, charged with driving while intoxicated, pleaded guilty when arraigned before County Judge Glen Williams who set his fine at $100 plus costs, gave him a three-day jail sentence and suspended his driver's license for six months.

James Raymond Still faced a similar charge. When first arraigned he pleaded not guilty. His bond was set at $1,500 and the case ordered for trial on the November term. The following day, however, he changed his plea to guilty, was fined $200 and costs, plus a three-day jail sentence. His driver's license was suspended for six months.

Roberto Guerra also was charged with driving while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty and was handed the same sentence meted out to Volkman and Still.

Two persons also have been charged with giving worthless checks. They are Boyd Stamp and Elizabeth Preece.

Earlier this month the highway patrol arrested some 50 persons for traffic violations on U. S. 84, most of whom drew fines of $20.50 for speeding violations. They were charged in Justice Joe D. Vaughn's court here.

Advance ticket sales have been moving along at a brisk rate. Advance fees are $1 per person while door tickets will cost $1.25 for the adults, while children's admission price will be 50 cents.

Scores Expected For Lions Show

A big turn-out is expected for the Prince Zogi Revue, a professional variety show to be presented at the senior high school auditorium tomorrow (Friday) night.

In the Lamb show, Darrell Mason won the Suffolk fat lamb class with a 110 pound lamb. He also placed 10th, 12th, and 14th in this class. In the cross breed class, Darrell placed 13th and 29th. Richard Gorden had an 11th place Dorset lamb. There were 500 lambs entered in the Fat Lamb Show. Vocational Agriculture teacher is Scotty E. Windham.

Type II Polio Day Set for Next Sunday

Next Sunday is Type II polio immunization day for Bailey County.

Dr. Ray Santos, who headed the Type I project last month, will again head the program here.

Place will be the junior high school building, and hours will be from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Those to be immunized will be persons who took the type I vaccine on September 16. And as for the type I vaccine, make-up Sunday will be the following Sunday - November 4.

The committee said it will not be necessary this time for persons who were immunized in September at the original SOS day to sign cards. However, all persons were asked to bring the cards which they received at the first series.

As at the first SOS program, no set fee will be charged, although those who can afford to do so again will be asked to contribute at least 25 cents to help defray the costs of the vaccine.

Doctors, dentists and pharmacists again will be donating their services to help make the program a success, and as at the first series, medical societies in this area are sponsoring the mass immunization day.

Clubs again will assist in the program. These include the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, the Muleshoe Jaycees, and Lions and Rotary clubs.

It is hoped the Type II series will be as successful as was the original SOS program. A total of 5,241 took the sugar-saturated doses during phase I to make the program even more successful than sponsors had hoped for.

On the first Sunday, 4,123 persons received the vaccine, while on make-up Sunday, an additional 1,109 persons were immunized. Sponsors figure if 80 percent of the population receive the vaccine that the program is a success. Here the 80-percent figure was passed.

Juvenile Probation Board Formed Here

Appointment of a "juvenile probation board" for youthful offenders of Bailey county, has been announced by County Judge Glen Williams.

The five-member board will hear all "major" criminal cases involving juveniles and youths will be probated to the board, he explained. Co-operating in setting up the board were Sheriff Dee Clements and County Attorney Karl Lovelady.

He said the names of the board members will be kept secret. "We believe the work which this group can do will be more effective if the young offenders do not know who is on the board in advance of their hearings," Judge Williams explained.

He said four boys already have been probated to the board.

See BOARD, Page 7

"This group acts to help young law-breakers who otherwise would have to be sent to institutions for boys or girls," he said. Under Texas laws, such offenders must either be sent to such institutions or to some individual or family. In the case of probation boards, the offenders are probated out to these groups.

The five-member board has been active since its creation early this month, he said. A rash of small crimes by juveniles was reported. Four boys in the 14-16 age group were brought before the court recently and were turned over to the probation board. One boy was from Lubbock so was handed over to Juvenile officers there. Still Watch for the contest again next week.

Shelton, Splawn Win Grid Money

Muleshoe Journal's weekly gridiron contest money went to Don Shelton while Howard Splawn, a winner several times in the past, took second place. Shelton receives $5 for doing the best advance scoring of last week's games, and Splawn receives $3.

No contest is slated for this week since Muleshoe Mules have an open date on their schedule. The Journal's football contest page, sponsored by a score of firms here, will not appear this week. However, another contest will be offered next week with winners to receive $5 and $3 respectively for the two best guesses.

Grand prize winner for the season receives two tickets to the Dallas Cotton Bowl New Year's game, plus $50 in expense money.

Mules Grind out 1st Conference Victory 7-0 over Morton, Take Week's Breather

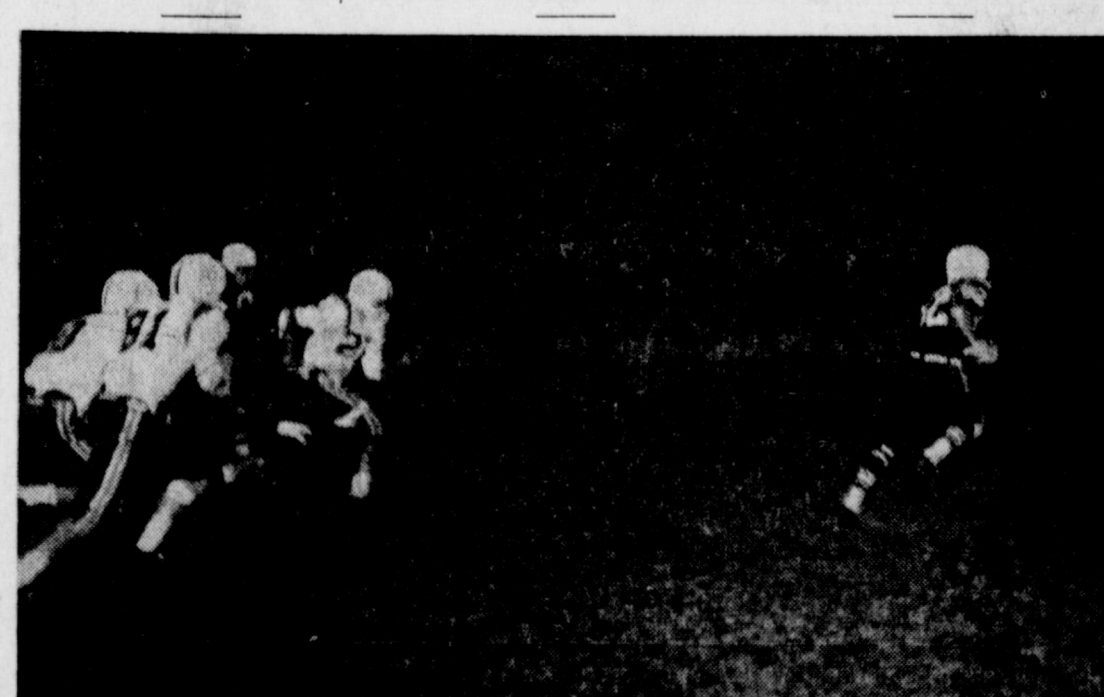

The Mules started conference play off last Friday night with a big bang when they shut-out Morton Indians 7-0 in an outstanding defensive stand by the small, but tough line.

The Mules have no game this week, playing Olton here November 2.

Such was the defensive play that the ball was not moved inside either 30 yard line until the last seconds of the first half when Jerry Gilbreath scrambled from the Morton 35 to the 11 but was penalized back to the 26 and couldn't move from there before the gun sounded ending the half.

When the teams came on the field for the second half the Mules were a fired up group of boys. They kicked to Indians who moved the ball only three yards in 3 plays and had to punt. Muleshoe took the punt on Indians 47 and three plays later Kenny Heathington threw a pass to Larry Allison on the Indians 34 yard line who went easily into the end zone for the score. Jimmy Cabrera kicked the extra

Visits Relatives In New Mexico

Mrs. C. E. Girdner, Greenville, was a visitor in the homes of Mrs. Sam McKinstry and the homes of Harold and Oscar Allison.

Saturday, Mrs. Mc Kinstry, Mrs. Girdner and her daughter, Sammy and Jean Allison, went to Lovington, N.M. where they were overnight guests in the Dr. Kenneth Osborne home.

The group, accompanied by another daughter, Mildred Osborne, drove to Carlsbad, N.M. Sunday to visit with Mrs. Edith West who is a patient in the hospital there. They also visited in the home of the Lewis Wokmans while there.

For the noon hour, they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Millen, Miller and Mrs. McKinstry attended school together.

Late Sunday, they went to Hagerman for a buffet dinner in home of the Edward Smiths. Other guests in the Smith home were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McKinstry, a sister, Mrs. Eva West and Dr. Osborne and children.

Sammy and Jean Allison and Mrs. Mc Kinstry returned to Muleshoe Monday while Mrs. Girdner remained for a longer visit with the J. D. McKinstry in Hagerman.

MISS JANIE SANDERS

Bride-Elect Feted In Afternoon Tea

Janie Sanders, bride-elect of Norman Brantley, was honored with a gift tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alex Williams.

In the receiving line with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Robert Sanders, Mrs. T. J. Brantley, mother of the future bridegroom; Mrs. A. E. Robinson and Mrs. Henry Hanover, paternal and maternal grandmothers of the bride-elect.

Approximately 60 guests were registered by Mrs. Jerry Smith, Lazbuddie.

The bride-elects chosen colors, white and turquoise, were carried out in decorations throughout the home.

The serving table, presided over by Mary Sanders, was covered with a white damask cloth and centered with an arrangement of white mums. Candelabras with turquoise tapers flanked the arrangement. Crystal and silver service appointed the table. A miniature bride and groom decorated the corner of the napkins which bore the inscription "Janie and Norman".

Hostess assisting Mrs. Williams with the hospitality were: Mmes. Allen Guinn, Clifton Finley, W. F. Creamer, Ross Goodwin, Gilbert Lamb, C. H. Gillis, Ernest Kerr, Jan Wampler, An-

Peery Is Speaker At Wesleyan Guild

Wesleyan Guild of the First Methodist Church had the Rev. J. Frank Peery as their guest at the Tuesday night meeting held in the Youth Chapel of the church.

Rev. Peery spoke on his tour of Europe and showed slides of historical structures and churches, as well as some depicting the life of the natives of each country as well as some scenic views of the country.

Rev. Peery also commented on the speech made earlier in the evening by President Kennedy concerning the Cuban situation. Those present felt that Peery's recent tour of the Soviet Union made him far more aware of the situation than those who have not been there.

Mrs. Ray Daniel gave the devotional. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Barbara Burton, in Fellowship Hall.

Lubbock College Associates Meet

The Lubbock Christian College Associates met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Dick Scott. The meeting was opened with a prayer led by Mrs. S.C. Caldwell. Mrs. Paul Scott, President, presided over the business session.

Mrs. Ross Goodwin, Program Chairman, introduced Mrs. Jack Lenderson, who presented a very interesting program on "Art in the Home." Pictures were used to illustrate the speech. She also gave a demonstration of painting with sponges and tempera paints on masonry, turning out a beautiful canyon scene.

Hostesses Mrs. Jess Pendergrass, Mrs. Morris McKillip, Mrs. J.B. Wright, and Mrs. Dick Scott served a very tasty pumpkin pie, topped with whipped cream to 23 members and five guests.

Andrew Dutton, James White, David Anderson, S. E. Goucher, D. B. Lancaster, and Evelyn Autry.

Convention Group Hear Rev. Murray

The Rev. Don Murray, pastor of the Muleshoe First Baptist Church, will bring the annual sermon at the District Nine Convention to be held in the Bovina First Baptist Church Friday, October 26.

Theme for the convention is "With Christ After the Lost." The program will begin at 9:30 a.m. and lunch is to be served by the host church for 75 cents.

Frank Gillham, of Yokahama Baptist Church, will also be a featured speaker with his topic being on the Japan Crusade.

Gillham is conducting a revival at the local church which began Wednesday, Oct. 24 and will continue through the Sunday services.

Mrs. Ivy Hosts Half Century Club

Muleshoe Half Century Club met last Thursday afternoon in the Vernon Roving home with Mrs. Maurine Ivy as hostess.

Fourteen members enjoyed an afternoon of bridge and canasta. The Halloween motif was used as party decorations and favors.

All members of the Half Century Club are invited to attend a Thanksgiving dinner to be held at the American Legion Hall on November 15.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee were served by the hostess.

Baptist WMU Study Missionary Book

Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met for an all day program and fellowship Tuesday.

The meeting opened at 10 am with Mrs. Jack Schuster teaching the book, "Enlistments for Missions" by Helen Fling.

A luncheon was served for those attending and those who work and were unable to attend. Mrs. Verney Towns, presented the closing meditation.

Jackie Learned From Her Mother

"I wouldn't dream of telling Jacqueline what to do," says Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, mother of the First Lady. "I never have. It's too late to start now."

How then did the First Lady manage to grow up without being spoiled? The October issue of Good Housekeeping supplies the answer in a frank and candid article that tells, "What Jackie Kennedy Has Learned From Her Mother."

Without ordering her children to do things, Janet Auchincloss, just like any other mother, subtly directed them along the path they would follow. With her keen eye for individual differences, Mrs. Auchincloss expected entirely different things from each of her children.

Lee, Jackie's younger sister, was always restrained and tactful, while Jackie was fiercely honest. Mrs. Auchincloss was quick to recognize that Jackie had an original turn of mind and an imagination that expressed itself in irrepressible flights of fancy. For instance, Jackie used to dream of being a circus queen who married the man on the flying trapeze. She also wrote poems and stories.

In this respect she is much like her mother, who had a secret hankering to write and took courses in short story and playwriting at Columbia in her youth. Janet Auchincloss also taught her children that, well off though they were, money doesn't grow on trees. When Jackie wanted to take along a favorite horse, Dan-seuse, to school in Connecticut, her mother said no, insisting that $25-a-month upkeep charge was an extravagance.

Muleshoe Chapter of Epsilon Chi Hosts Area Sorority Chapters

Muleshoe Chapter of Epsilon Chi was hostess to the District 9 Epsilon Sigma Alpha held in the Production Credit building Sunday afternoon, October 21.

Marjorie Precure, president of the Muleshoe Chapter, gave a welcome address to the visiting chapters from Sudan, Post Plains and two chapters from Lubbock.

The meeting was conducted by Bernice Cockran, president of District 9 from Denver City. Other officers participating were: Pattie Crawford, secretary-treasurer, Lubbock; Virginia Masten, district co-ordinator, Sudan; Virginia Campbell, State first vice-president, Lubbock; and Thelma Sholwater, district vice-president.

Highlights of the business meeting were the decisions for the judging of the District Beauty Queen at the January meeting to be held in Plains and an outstanding member of E.S.A. will be announced at the April meeting at Post.

A workshop was conducted by Virginia Masten with other chapter presidents participating.

The party room was decorated in Autumn colors and carried out the Halloween theme. A beautiful door prize was won by Martha Markham, Sudan.

Kappa Kappa Iota Halloween Social

A Halloween social and business meeting was held by Kappa Kappa Iota on October 18. Mrs. Mabel Laughlin and Mrs. Barbara McNutt were hostesses to the event held in the Junior high school library.

Mrs. Lena Hawkins, president, presided over the business session.

During the social hour, various Halloween games were played. Spiced tea, coffee and cookies were served to the following members, Mrs. Neal Dillman, Mrs. Senn Slemmons, Mrs. Al Stovall, Mrs. Jo Costen, Mrs. John Watson, Mrs. Jack Obenhouse, Mrs. Melvin Mackey and Mrs. Ed Johnson.

JUST AS I SEE IT

In order to set the record straight may I say I am not an avowed present-day so-called Democrat and I have no desire to hide my political identity behind the banner of the New Frontier or beneath the coattails of Lyndon Johnson or the Three Kennedy Brothers. Suffice it to say, I have not voted a straight Party ticket in the past fifty years.

The strained effort being made by the rabid partisan to leave the impression that this group of avowed Democrats is ashamed to march openly under the banner of the Republican Party in the crusade to preserve what is left of States Rights and individual liberties, reflects upon the political fearlessness of that mighty horde of stalwart Democrats who supported Ike Eisenhower in both 1952 and 1956 and Dick Nixon in 1960. Have the names of these fearless Democrats been erased from the roster of the Democratic Party? If not, why not? Let it be said that the only evidence of shame visible in this campaign is the reluctance of Connally and his campaign managers to even mention the New Frontier or its youthful leaders.

The charge has been made, and so far has not been disproved, that John Connally was picked and groomed by Lyndon Johnson and the Kennedy Brothers to be their candidate for Governor. John Connally insists that the decision to leave the Military in the care of the National Guardsmen while he flirted with the Political was of his own making. It appears that he awoke one morning in Washington, threw the covers back, resigned from the Navy, planted his feet upon a selfmade political launching pad and in the twinkling of an eye found himself orbiting the great State of Texas in a five hundred thousand dollar political campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Being an ex-soldier and having a close relative in the National Guard, I am keenly interested in all the whys and wherefores surrounding his resignation. It must be recalled that his tenure as Secretary of the Navy was hardly long enough to familiarize himself with the entrances and exits to the Pentagon. Yet he was rated by his Commander-in-Chief as one of the greatest Navy men since Paul Jones cried out, "Don't give up the ship." If this be a true appraisal of his competence, why was his resignation offered and why was it accepted at the time when the President of these United States had declared a Berlin crisis and called 400,000 National Guardsmen away from their life work and the embrace of their families to the defense of their country. The unjustifiable aspects of this resignation makes both the appointment and resignation of John Connally appear as secret plays in a political game designed to give John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson a strangle hold upon the political machinery in the State of Texas.

The efforts of the Vote'er Straight Boys to draw a complete similarity between Ike's invasion of Arkansas and the Kennedy Boys invasion of Mississippi is an insult to the feelings of the humbled southland. The difference as seen by the true southerner is the difference in being slapped by an outsider or being slapped by one's own child. Ike was the leader of the Republican Party which John Connally, in a burst of emotionalism, said, in a speech at Quanah, Texas imposed the carpet-baggers upon the defenseless South. This was one hundred years ago. Just yesterday, the Kennedy Brothers, the leaders of the once proud Democratic Party, the Party conceived and nourished by the valor and love of the Southland, sent 20,000 fully equipped soldiers into the little town of Oxford, Mississippi, to desegregate its schools.

This is not to argue the right or the wrong of either invasion, but to beg the Vote'er Straight Boys to show no partiality in dishing out their venomous criticism, and to realize that there is no longer a traditional Party of the South to which they owe their allegiance.

John Connally says that the doings of the National Administration has no bearing in this Governor's race. A more illogical statement was never uttered. Does he not know that the very existence of State Government is becoming more and more dependent upon the whims and moods found in the various branches of the National Government? Can't he feel the ever-creeping encroachment of the Federal Government upon the functions of the State and the rights of the individual? Where could a more advantageous bastion be found to challenge these encroachments than that offered by the State House in Austin?

Jack Cox believes in State Rights and he also believes that only a political contortionist can be a conservative at Austin and a New Frontiersman in Washington.

Jack Cox believes in mending our own fences, doing our own sowing and reaping, running our own shoals, choosing our own doctors and praying when and where we may choose.

Jack Cox is against having our tax dollar sent to Washington to be redistributed as handouts in the name of some political party or self-seeking politician. This damnable practice is being perpetrated upon the voters of this State this very day. May their deceptive acts be damned.

Controversial issues such as these, involving as they do State government, makes public debate imperative. John Connally, as a member of the Kennedy-Johnson Campaign Committee, was an enthusiastic supporter of the Nixon-Kennedy debates. His present refusal to debate Jack Cox detracts from his stature, and reflects upon the dignity of the office to which he aspires.

SHADES OF KENTUCKY — D. O. Smith, who lives on his farm 1 1/2 miles west of Progress, stands beside two 8 1/2 feet tall Kentucky Burley tobacco plants near his front door. They came up volunteer this year after he had shown the tiny sand-sized seeds to someone and then cast them to the side to be forgotten. The plants have light pink "morning glory" looking blooms at the top, and form seed pods just "loaded" with the tiny seeds. One ounce of the seed contains 384,000 potential plants to transplant 20 acres of crop tobacco. Smith grew some plants last year in his garden after receiving them as a gift from a nursery where he purchased tomato plants. The leaves on the plants average about 30" long and 16" wide. Amendments-- district to become co-extensive with the limits of the county. This amendment itself does not require a vote of the property owners in order to establish the districts. Actually the proposition is simply an "addition" to a previous law which "seems to be a serious defect which might make both laws subject to challenge at some later time," says Texas Industrial Conference.

Proposition No. 4: This amendment enables communities to provide for future water needs through federal - state - local cooperation. Proponents claim such an amendment would enable cities and towns to provide for future water needs and thereby attract new industries to such area. Texas Industrial Conference says success "will depend on good management by the Texas Water Development Board. Willingness of local districts to carry their share of the cost. Opponents doubt the advisability of providing pensions to elective officials."

Proposition No. 5: Would create hospital districts and set their powers. The districts could be composed of one or more counties or all or any part of one or more counties. The districts could issue bonds, but would be required to assume full responsibility for providing medical and hospital care for the needy inhabitants of the districts.

Proponents of separate hospital districts point out that counties and cities have often had working agreements for joint payment of hospital costs, resulting in double taxation of those living in cities.

Proposition No. 6: This proposal would permit governmental subdivisions and counties to provide insurance, retirement, disability and other benefits for elected and appointive officials and employees. Theory behind this proposition is that such a provision would encourage good employees to remain on their jobs and get advancement. Opponents doubt the advisability of providing pensions to elective officials.

Proposition No. 7: This amendment would provide for the continuity of state and local government operations in event of enemy attack. It would provide that state and local government operations continue if incumbents in office become unavailable for carrying on their powers and duties.

Proposition No. 8: This amendment would provide assistance to totally and permanently disabled persons. Proponents say that a substantial number of people are on the rolls and many others are not receiving assistance. They suggest another $1 million a year as a "modest attempt to solve the problems of the disabled," while opponents say this is not the answer to the problem, favoring instead a program in self-training, in state hospitals, in nursing home care or medical assistance for which money can be appropriated without further amendment to the constitution.

Proposition No. 9: This amendment would create two hospital districts in Brazoria county and homes for the aged in Titus county. The amendment, if approved, would itself authorize Titus county to levy a special tax for constructing the home for aged. The Dallas News, in opposing this amendment says it "lumps together two unrelated, local matters. There is no objection to its provision to permit creation of Brazoria county hospital district. Authorizing Titus county to levy taxes for homes for aged could, however, open the door for 254 county 'old folks homes' - an outdated, dangerous method of dealing with aged problems."

Proposition No. 10: This permits state officials and employees, such as the president of the University of Texas, to act as consultants and advisors on public matters. Example: He could serve as a member of the public school board if he were not actually a teacher.

Proposition No. 11: This amendment permits disposal of unsold land in the veterans land program, adopted in 1946. It would allow the state to dispose of such unwanted land in an orderly manner.

Proposition No. 12: This proposal would create zoning powers delegated to certain counties along the Gulf Coast. It is argued that enforcement by county authorities along beaches would be simpler and better than state policing. However access to beaches by virtue of public right is important to the whole state and for this reason some are opposing this move.

Proposition No. 13: This is a Dallas county situation dealing with independent school district taxes and is intended to correct a serious impediment to the efficient and economical administration of their public schools.

Proposition No. 14: This deals with trials de novo on appeals from rulings of administrative agencies. This proposal has received more criticism perhaps than any other proposal and is being vigorously fought by many school and municipal officials. The Dallas News says: "Evils outweigh admitted merits in this proposal to require new trials of appeals from decisions of administrative agencies. Many Texans feel that this is the most dangerous of any amendment proposed. It could possibly wreck local governments and certainly would place tremendous loads of litigation on courts already burdened with business." Proponents say the jurisdiction of administrative agencies should be strictly limited, and they believe the trend of administrative law is to invade the field where courts should operate, and that the courts on appeal should hear such cases completely anew, as a protection of the rights of those who appeal. Opponents, on the other hand, feel the proposed amendment goes too far.

point and the score was set for the night at 7-0 in favor of the stubborn Mules.

After the Mules scored the Morton team tightened up their belts and settled down to tight defensive maneuvers that let the Mules get inside their 20 only one more time.

An outstanding Mule defense pushed the Indians back to their own six and they had a short punt which gave the Mules the ball on the Morton 24. Three times Muleshoe moved the ball inside the fire only to be penalized back.

Morton took the ball on 3 and moved out to 50 before time ran out and the Mules had racked up an important conference win against a potent Morton team.

another was sent to Morton and will be subject to courts there. Judge Williams said the arrests of the youths came about as a result of a series of break-ins. The Potato shed, Muleshoe elevator, Sesame elevator and the Co-op elevator were all entered by the boys, he said. A box of bananas also was stolen at Cashway grocery, and in addition, gasoline was taken from parked automobiles.

He said if the boys should be convicted of other acts while on probation they will be sent to Gatesville Boys' home.

spirit, and in loyalty to home business and people. That's also quite possible.

And maybe the people themselves aren't particularly interested in a growing town. Maybe they have everything they need anyway. Like the fellow in Temple, Texas, who once seemed surprised that I was surprised because he had never been in Dallas, 125 miles away. "Why should I go to Dallas?" he asked, "we've got everything here that Dallas has." Funny part is that he meant it, too. I can just see Dallas' blush!

I inquired if taxes could be at fault in this particular town, I've been discussing, but I found that the tax rate is in line with other towns. There are no smog, no foul odors, no bad noises, no nothing that might be objectionable. So none of these causes could be given for the move-away of good businesses.

Bank deposits, I noticed, are increasing; the recent bank call shows a substantial gain for that town's trade territory as they are in Muleshoe's trade territory.

Might make an interesting study to determine why Muleshoe has no vacant business (nor homes, either, for that matter) while another town has gobs of business houses available, and with business moving out at an almost wholesale rate.

Somebody who is an expert in such matters please solve the problem for me.

Meantime, I'm glad I live in Muleshoe which is growing. I should think it would be depressing to live in a town that is losing population, especially one in which no definite reason for the slump could be sighted by casual study.

Fill me in, will you?

Crash Victim's Rites Planned

After effects of injuries received in an automobile accident October 3 proved fatal Wednesday to Pauline Dominguez Rangel, 25. She died in West Plains Hospital of pneumonia.

She suffered a broken arm when the car in which she was riding with her husband and two small children was in collision with a station wagon driven by Beulah Thomas Mimms, 35, Rt. 3 Muleshoe. A blowout on Mrs. Mimms' car caused the crash 1 1/2 miles north of Muleshoe.

Funeral services are to be held at 4 o'clock today (Thursday) at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Clifton J. Corcoran. Burial, with Singleton Funeral Home in charge of arrangements, will be in Muleshoe cemetery.

Surviving are her husband, Jose Rangel; two children, Birma and Reberto, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Dominguez, Muleshoe.

Mrs. Rangel was born Jan. 25, 1937 at Weslaco, and had lived here for the past seven years.

Outlook--

He says that dryland cotton is well loaded, but bolls are still too immature to stand a freeze in the near future. One reason for this late condition is because farmers were forced to wait for rain through June before they could plant their dryland cotton.

"There was even a lot of cotton-planning going on as July 1 rolled around. This has made the cotton on such lands much later than average," he explains. Adams says this "heavily-loaded cotton could produce a good crop if we have one of those rare years when the hard freeze waits until mid-November or later to arrive."

"If we have one of those 'miracle' fall seasons, we could exceed this figure considerably."

Last year, incidentally, the county officially produced 102,691 bales.

Grain harvest, apparently, is in better shape than is cotton harvest. In fact, about 75 percent of the crop on irrigated land is already in the bins, and the remaining 25 percent will mostly be harvested before a freeze should arrive.

Farmers who had been short of water from wells earlier in the season managed to keep grain sorghum from suffering for want of moisture because of "help from upstairs," the county agent explains.

"Dryland grain sorghum is turning red in the fields, and some has been harvested, but about half of the crop could get a serious cut in yield by a freeze in October," Adams says. "The yield is bound to vary from farm to farm, depending on whether the crop was planted in June or July," he says. "But the overall average is very likely to exceed the long-time average for dryland grain sorghum."

Senior High Council Changes Rules

Pupils in Muleshoe senior high school have amended rules governing membership on the student council, it was announced this week.

By a vote of all students, two sections of the by-laws of the council were changed completely.

Previously, the president, secretary-treasurer and an elected representative of all four classes were automatically members of the council.

The membership provisions have been changed to read: "The student council shall be composed of a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, historian, reporter and parliamentarian, along with the following representatives: Freshmen class two; sophomore class, three; junior class, three, and senior class three."

The group repealed completely an article which said that clubs such as FFA, FHA, M-club, Dusty Pages, the newspaper staff and the annual staff should name representatives.

These had included the editor of the paper and annual staff and an elected representative; and other clubs should be represented by the president, plus another representative.

Also repealed was a ruling that band, chorus and activity organizations should be represented by their presidents.

The pupils retained a section of the council's constitution which said: "If a member fails to cooperate with the rest of the council and fails to be a leader in cooperation among the student body, he shall be impeached and removed from office, provided this action is approved by both the sponsor and the principal."

Class Discusses Gift to School

The senior class, at its October 22 meeting, discussed the gift which the class will leave for the school. They did not reach a decision however.

The class will be selling charm bracelets which spell out "Mule-

Student Council To Present Play

Muleshoe high school student council will present its play, "Bull in a China Shop," next Monday night, it was announced this week.

The play concerns six old maids who fall madly in love with the detective across the street. These ancient female antics to get the detective's attention are hilarious.

The case includes: Dick Allison as Dennis O'Finn, detective first class; Mike Connell as Kramer, detective, second-class; Davy Jean Anderson as Miss Hildegard, the landlady; Sue Willman as Miss Birdie; Vanita Harkey as Miss Amantha; Sheryl Stevens as Miss Lucy; Kay Baker as Miss Nettie; Pam Lenau as Miss Elizabeth; James West as first stretcher-bearer; Larry Allison as second stretcher-bearer; Donna Baker as Jane Rogers, reporter for the Herald-Globe, and Wister Harrison as Johnson, police fingerprint expert.

Council Plans Carnival Booths

The Student Council will have two booths at Next Week's Halloween carnival, it was announced this week.

One booth will be for snow-cones and candy and the other will be a wrecked car.

Some may remember the wrecked automobile from last year in which one man proved his strength by hitting it with a sledge hammer to add further damage to the crippled vehicle.

The student council urges everyone to attend the carnival and to visit their booths.

The play will be presented in the senior high school auditorium, starting at 8 p.m.

The public has been invited to attend the play.

Class Members Hold 'Car Wash'

Junior class had a "car wash" Tuesday at the Highland Motel, and the class extended its thanks to everyone for his cooperation.

Another such car wash will be held in the near future, it was explained, and the class is looking forward to making everyone's car bright and shiny.

The class is still selling chrysantheums and hopes to dispose of even more for the homecoming game next Friday.

The juniors also will have the basketball toss at the Halloween carnival and extends an invitation to everyone to visit their booth.

Senior High School Honor Roll Lists 26

Only 26 pupils made the senior high school honor roll for the first six weeks of the 1962-63 term, H. W. Callan, principal, announced Thursday.

The list includes eight seniors, 18 juniors and 10 freshmen. No sophomores were listed on the roll.

By classes the honor roll included:

Seniors — Jeannine Coffman, David Douglas, Karen Jones, Gail Kitchens, Pam Lenau, Jo Ann Mock, Barbara Serratt and Jim Thompson.

Juniors — Joyce Adams, Donna Baker, Virginia Bowers, Marsha Buhrman, Jane Bruns, Diane Chappell, Armando Dominguez, Nickie Landers, Marsha McAlister, Sharon Millen, Kathy Moore, Darrell Nowell, Rena Quisenberry, Linda Scott, Sandra Scott, Sheryl Stevens, Beth Thompson and Rhonda Wagnon.

Freshmen — Joe Adams, Carolia Bass, Sonja Bass, Don Douglas, Ruth Ann Duckworth, Judy Elliott, Gary Edwards, Sandra Garlington, Glenn Head and Jan Landers.

BACK THE CANDIDATE OF THE

BIRCH SOCIETY?

Never!!

The Panhandle "Republican" candidate for Congress is a member of the John Birch Society — an organization condemned for its unprincipled extremism by leaders of both parties, Republican and Democratic.

IS IT to the Republican Party that this candidate owes his loyalty?

OR IS IT to Robert Welch, the Birch Society dictator, who has made it clear he tolerates no deviation from his rule over Birch Society thought and action?

Welch called President Dwight D. Eisenhower — the Republicans' biggest name — "... a dedicated, conscientious agent of the international Communist conspiracy."

IT IS NO WONDER THAT THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY DRAWS BIPARTISAN CONTEMPT!

Said Eisenhower: "Those who take extreme positions in American political and economic life are always wrong."

Said Richard Nixon: "We need good, strong anti-Communists in this country, But I realize that those who exaggerate, those who make a racket of it, hurt the cause."

Said Barry Goldwater: "I am not close to the John Birch groups."

On a recent NBC Chet Huntley television program, the national chairman of both the Republican and Democratic Parties disavowed any link with the Birch Society.

Demonstrating new '63 Chevrolet truck features the hard way!

When we came to a river we got wet. This river bed was paved with rocks the size of melons. What a test for new light- and heavy-duty suspension systems this was!

Conventional light-duty units have coil-spring independent front suspension — easier on truck, load and driver.

Users of new conventional medium- and heavy-duty units who have to operate in close quarters are going to like the narrower front ends (up to 7 inches).

New engines, suspensions, frames and narrower front ends show their stuff on Mexico's tough Baja Run!

With months of proving-ground tests under their belts, why did new Chevrolet trucks take on the rugged Baja (bah'hah) Peninsula? This is the toughest line of trucks Chevrolet has ever built. Sending them over the most punishing terrain in North America (a road totally unlike the fine highways on the Mexican mainland) was double proof of this fact. Frames, engines, suspension systems were subjected to stresses far greater than trucks normally encounter. You can be sure that trucks that can handle this kind of beating can handle any kind of work.

Cuban Blockade

The American flag flying over ships on the high seas is not only a matter of commercial convenience and an object of national pride, but as current events compellingly illustrate, it can quickly become a matter of national survival.

Just 90 miles south of Florida lies Communist-dominated Cuba, a growing menace to the Western world. Its development has dealt a blow to this country's international prestige and its continued military buildup is a threat to the security of the United States.

Our national interest is plain. The U.S. has cut its trade with Cuba from 4.3 million tons in 1959 to 75,000 tons, mostly medicines, in 1961.

By contrast ships of six U.S. allies, Britain, Canada, Greece, Italy, Norway and West Germany have been carrying roughly half of the cargoes going into Cuba from communist countries. These ships have earned much needed revenues for their countries, amounting to the equivalent of some hundred million dollars or more a year, carrying everything to prop up the Cuban regime including several million tons of food, machinery and raw materials: everything but military supplies.

The London Times recently summed the matter up in this way . . . Since the British Government recognizes the Cuban regime, and Britain is not at war with Cuba, it is . . . perfectly legitimate for British ships to carry Russian oil into Cuba and Cuban sugar out . . . Unlike the United States, Britain and other NATO countries lean heavily on shipping for their livelihood. The Communist countries are big buyers of shipping space, and it is in the interest of the maritime countries that this situation should continue. . . .

This is a stern reminder that we cannot rely on foreign shipping lines and foreign ship yards.

THE SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Weekend on the Moon? Not Him, It's Too Hot and Cold There

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems to be a little moon-struck, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
I don't like to stand in the way of scientific progress, I don't care how much progress the world makes so long as it goes around me, but I read in an article last night that the best brains are predicting that we'll put a man on the moon by the end of the 1960's, and there are a lot of people who can't wait. I can.

I suppose there are people who are itching to be able to say, "By the way, I spent last weekend on the moon," but it's sort of like the people who brag about eating breakfast in New York and having lunch in London. That's going a long ways to get something to eat that's no better than what you could have had at home. You can't make me believe any lunch on earth is worth flying 3,000 miles over the ocean to get to. I always have a meal at noon on this Johnson grass farm, and sometimes between breakfast and it I don't travel over a hundred steps. I could never see any point in going after something which, if you sat still, would come to you anyway.

Furthermore, I've been reading some things about the moon which make me less and less enthusiastic about it. For example, one article I read said the from 214 degrees below zero to 250 above. That sure seems like going a long ways to burn up in the daytime and freeze at night. It doesn't seem like a place I'd be interested in trying to farm. Furthermore, I'll bet the television reception up there is terrible.

What I'm saying is, certainly man ought to try to explore the moon, if his tax money holds out. But just don't expect too much to come of it. The race to the moon may be like next week's at this stage but not very important after it's over. Now if the coach would just take my advice, we could win that game.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Our Constitution says Congress shall pass No Bill of Attainder nor any ex post facto law. The fear that our Parliament might repeat what the early English parliament did, lead our founding fathers to limit the power of Congress.

1. In a bill of attainder a legislative body punishes someone without a court trial, most often someone the lawmakers don't like.

2. After the Civil War, some or before?

Coffee dunker and eaves dropper.
Gene Winningham.

Dear Editor:

One probable reason for the constant rise in food prices was provided in a recent USDA study. It shows that food manufacturers spent $1.1 billion in advertising last year, more than twice as much as they spent just 10 years ago.

Some would have you believe though that farmer is responsible for these increases in the price of food. To show how ridiculous this is, check the following example: From 1947 to 1959 the retail price of a one pound loaf of bread rose from 12.5 cents to 21 cents. At the same time, value of wheat in that loaf of bread declined from 3 to 2.4 cents.

Everytime the farmer gets or seeks a better price for what he produces, the food chains or processors see the opportunity for more profit, blaming the added cost to the consumer on the farmer.

Surely the farmers in this area are tired of being used as the "Whipping Boys" by the false reports being distributed by certain groups.

It is time for the family farmer to unite with others who believe as he does because this way, and this way only can he expect to have voice in determining the future of his beloved family. Don't leave the work up to your neighbor because he can not always speak for you.

Support a farm organization which will represent you, not the processors or the food chains. Why should you, the farmer, take a beating from the non-farm majority when you wheat in that one pound loaf of bread went down .6 cents and the retail price on that same loaf increased 8.5 cents.

LEON SMITH JR.
RT. 1, BOX 72
FRIONA, TEXAS
PARMER COUNTY
FARMERS UNION PRESIDENT

northern states tried to keep Confederate supporters from suing in their courts. The U. S. Supreme Court said six: such laws punished without a fair trial. In later years Congress has tried now and then to penalize persons who have not cooperated with Congressional Investigating Committees, in one case by cutting their salaries and requiring they got paid. The U. S. Supreme Court held: The law is unconstitutional. Congress could not thus punish a person without a court trial.

Usually a bill of attainder strikes at a few persons by burdening them without fair warning or hearing. Our legislature may penalize anyone who breaks its laws. If you don't pay your auto registration on time, you have to pay a penalty automatically. Such a penalty does not violate the bill of attainder clause.

Ex post facto laws would make crimes out of acts which when they were done were lawful. In one case a new law took away a court defense which had been allowed. In another case a state law cut the jurors allowed in a criminal trial from 12 to 8. The U. S. Supreme Court said that no such law could apply to past crimes. A person accused might be put to a disadvantage.

The ex post facto clause applies only to legislative acts, not to new court interpretations. One law changed the punishment for murder from hanging to electrocution. The courts held the law valid. It did not change the punishment.

The procedure for the trial, or the rules of evidence may be revised if they do not add punishment or take away a protection.

This newsfeature is prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Unions, Bosses Both to Blame, Paper Charges

The West's Weakness . . . both trade unions and employers have become technically irresponsible. Wage demands are continually made and continually met with little regard to the interests of the people as a whole or the well-being of the economy. Prices rise steadily.

That observation could have appeared in any one of thousands of newspapers in this country. But it didn't. It comes from far away—from a lead editorial in the London Times. And it serves to illustrate a problem which is common to almost the entire West, and which weakens its position in a divided and chaotic world.

In our own country, prices and costs continue to inch up. The increases in a brief given period are small—a fraction of one per cent. But over months and years they further erode the worth of the dollar—and, most important in the long view, weaken the dollar's standing in bitterly competitive world markets.

It was 1:45 a.m. "I had just reached my station," he said "when our ship received hits from both sides. They came within ten seconds of each other."

This action did not last long as the fire from several Jap ships was concentrated upon Astoria, and soon left it burning and in sinking condition. It was during this time that the physician took note of the many acts of individual heroism, and one of the men was Ensign Davis.

"Ensign Davis," he said, "went through raging inferno of oil below deck and rescued several men. Everyone thought the task was impossible, but the young officer did it."

His mother and sister had work from him before the official announcement of the loss of the Astoria and its sister ships. Writing from Pearl Harbor, he merely mentioned, among other things, that he was now on a submarine.

MULESHOE HERO
Information about the three U. S. Cruisers which were sunk on the attack on the Solomons on August continues to be released and some of it is of special interest to people of Muleshoe. On the Cruiser Astoria, one of the three to go down in the fight near Guadalcanal, was Ensign Hugh Davis, son of Mrs. Snow Davis and brother of Miss Mildred Davis, both of Muleshoe.

Lt. Commander Jas. A. Brown Houston, a physician on the Astoria, told of the fight and the sinking of the ship upon his return to Houston several days ago. The Astoria was one of three screening cruisers protecting troop ships carrying men to attack on Guadalcanal.

The physician said that he was asleep when general quarters were sounded for all officers and men to man their battle stations.

It's a great relief for an editor to get relief from persecution. It happened! About a month ago Bits Holt was swaggering up and down the street telling everyone that would listen that he could whip a guy by the name of Clyde Holland—"And," he said, "just in case I can't, I'll soon have a boy on the job who can!" NEWS ITEM! Susan Gail, a new student daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bits Holt, is getting along fine.

Food is 'Cheap' as Compared to Foreign Prices

Just about all of us complain about food prices, as we do about other prices. This, in the postwar inflationary era, has become almost an automatic, matter-of-course attitude.

But, in the case of food at least, we're off on the wrong foot when we do that. For, in the United States, food is a bargain—we get more food and better food for a smaller percentage of our incomes than any other people on earth.

That's the story that John Strohm, one of the nation's foremost agricultural writers and a world traveler who has visited 70 countries, tells in the September issue of Reader's Digest. He sets his stage in his opening paragraph: "If I could show any visitor from abroad just one thing in the United States, I would turn him loose in a small-town supermarket with $25—the average amount the American homemaker spends weekly to feed her family. For food is our No. 1 success story, a far bigger bargain here than in any other nation."

That's a strong and unqualified statement, but Mr. Strohm has the facts and figures he needs to back it up. We—the typical American family—pay 20 per cent of our after-tax income for food. The Russians, on the other hand, pay 56 per cent, the Swedes 27 per cent, the Italians 38 per cent and so on, with Nigeria chalking up a massive 70 per cent.

Mr. Strohm also nails the common fiction concerning those "good old days" when prime beef was 15 cents a pound and bread two loaves for a nickel. "Iety."

The fact that we spend so small a part of our incomes for food means higher living standards in everyway—more of the luxuries, better housing, improved education for our children. For, he tells us, those prices had to be paid out of an $11 a week family income, and food took 40 per cent of the whole. And better diets have been a significant factor in producing a sharp drop in infant mortality and in extending the life span by nine years in a mere two generations.

What are the reasons for our abundance of food, and its relative cheapness? Mr. Strohm goes into detail here. All manner of forces play their parts. New seeds, new and better fertilizers and insecticides, marvelously efficient farm machinery, bug-resistant crops, are among them. The substance of it is that one U. S. farmer can feed himself and 26 others, where, by way of comparison, a Russian collective-farm worker can only feed himself and three or four more people. As Mr. Strohm puts it, "If our farms were no more efficient than the Soviet collectives I've visited, 20 to 25 million U. S. industrial workers would have to quit their jobs for the farm. Think what that would do to our standard of living and to our ability to shoot for the moon!"

And the food story doesn't end on the farm—not by any means. Mr. Strohm speaks again: "Some eight million processors, package manufacturers, transporters, wholesalers, retailers take our raw farm produce and place 50 billion dollars' worth of food on utilize all of the hog except the squeal, 'conserving once wasted by-products for medicines and other valuable items. Jets carry lobsters from Maine to Iowa, fresh vegetables from California fields to Boston tables in 24 hours at a price the housewife is glad to pay."

Mr. Strohm makes what seems to be an unassailable case. Yes—food is a bargain in this country.

Fertilizer Schools Set

Fertilizer dealers, agency personnel and members of the county program building committee are invited to register now for the fertilizer short course to be held in November, says county Agricultural Agent J.K. Adams. Detailed program and registration forms are now available in the Agent's office.

There will be a series of three night meetings at each of the following: Lubbock, Plainview, Dimmitt, and Lamesa, and individuals are encouraged to attend the one nearest place.

Subject matter to be handled by both industry and college personnel will include nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, soil testing, and fertilizer use in sound soil management practices.

The $5 registration fee includes a notebook of the material presented, a diploma for those completing the course and a dinner the last night the meeting is held.

ARKANSAS' TIES WITH TEXAS - II

Arkansan Was First Man Killed In Mexican War to Defend Texas

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a three-part series on Arkansas' ties with Texas prepared by the Arkansas Publicity and Parks Commission.

Major William Brown, first president of the State Bank of Arkansas, was the first man killed in the Mexican War in the defense of Texas. Brown, of Texarkana, was named in his honor. He was well thought of in Arkansas, too.

The State Bank was a state institution, owned exclusively by the state. Its officers were selected by the State Legislature. The mother bank was located at Little Rock, with branches at Fayetteville and Batesville.

Major Brown, a brave and capable officer, distinguished for his urbanity and popularity, did not desire the office. While he was away on official business, he was elected. After serving about a year, he found the duties were not compatible with his military duties, and he resigned.

MEN KILLED

Soon after the troops arrived, a party of Mexican troops crossed the river and fell upon American soldiers stationed about 10 miles above Matamoros. They killed 16 and made prisoners of two lieutenants, marching them off to Matamoros in triumph.

Then, the Mexicans opened fire on Taylor's improvised force on May 3, 1846. The first man killed in the bombardment was Major Brown. Colonel Cross of Taylor's quartermaster department, and Lt. T. H. Porter and several soldiers were among the casualties.

Ten days later, President Polk received Taylor's report on the affair and placed the matter before Congress, which passed the official declaration of war May 13, 1846. The resolution called for 50,000 troops to repel the attack.

Arkansas raised a regiment of cavalry and a battalion to guard the frontier within a few days. Congressman Thomas W. Newton of Arkansas, said the regiment was "a full regiment of mounted gunmen—as noble and gallant a band as ever drew the sword or bore arms in defense of the country."

The regiment rendezvoused at the Old Tavern at Washington then left for Mexico. One company marched 250 miles to join the regiment, only to find when they reached Washington that the regiment was full and they had to return home.

Former Governor Archibald Yell resigned his seat in Congress to go with the regiment. He enlisted as a private in Solon Borland's company, and was elected colonel of the regiment. John Seldon Roane, later to be come governor, was lieutenant colonel; Borland, major; Gastor Mcears, adjutant; Josiah Houston sergeant-major; and Dr. Craver Peyton, surgeon.

William Quisenberry, familiarly known as "Bill Cosh", because of his writings and cartoons, was the quartermaster. He also worked in oils and some of his paintings of that war are highly treasured possessions.

Company A was organized in Pope county, with J.S. Moffett, captain, being succeeded later by W.H. Taylor.

Solon Borland organized Company B in Little Rock, and Christopher Columbus Sanley became captain after Borland was promoted.

George Washington Patrick organized in Johnson county.

DESHA BECAME CAPTAIN Captain Andrew Porter, who organized Company D in Independence county, was killed at Buena Vista, and Franklin Desha became captain.

Albert Pike was captain of Company E from Little Rock.

Captain J. J. Dillard headed Company F from Crawford county.

Edward Hunter was captain of Company G from Sevier county.

William E. Preston headed Company H from Franklin Co.

Captain K. English headed Company I from Hot Spring and Saline counties.

John Preston was captain of Company K from Phillips county. A troop of Arkansas Cavalry under Maj. Borland, camped near Hacienda of Encarnacion, was surprised and captured. They were treated with great severity and cruelty. Lt. Thomas J. Churchill, afterward a general in the Confederate Army and governor of Arkansas, was one of the prisoners.

Arkansas troops took part in Battle of Buena Vista, fought February 23, 1847. They sustained a charge made by Mexican lancers. Colonel Yell was killed at the beginning of the battle, along with Captain Porter, Corporal Saunders, standard bearer, John Pelham, Albert Phipps, Painter and Higgins.

LANCER WOUNDS Saunders received 17 lance wounds in his body.

Joshua F. Danley, L.A. Torosoy, William Turner, Horatio Dodd and William Russell of Danley's Company B received lance wounds. Private Taylor was wounded and died. Capt. Danley returned from the war a cripple from a trapezoid wound. Upon the death of Colonel Yell, Lt. Col. Roane succeeded him.

The Twelfth Regulars, which participated in engagements at Ontreas and Churubusco, had a large number of Arkansans.

The war was an easy conquest for American arms. To conclude peace, Arkansas Senator A. H. Evier resigned his seat in the Senate and was sent as minister to negotiate the treaty. Associated with him was Nicholas P. Trist.

A treaty was affected at Gaudalupe Hidalgo, a suburb of Mexico City. The United States acquired New Mexico and California by paying the Mexican government 20 million dollars.

Next week: Arkansas leads fight for Texas Statehood.

VALUES

No one denies that Christianity costs. However, something commonly overlooked is that it costs NOT TO BE A CHRISTIAN. Do spiritual values mean anything to you? What price do you place on your soul?

David said, "I thought on my ways and turned my feet unto thy testimonies." A Christian is a person who has completely surrendered himself unto the Lord, has been called out of sin to serve God.

It costs infinitely more not to be a Christian than it does to be a Christian. Not to be a Christian costs the individual the sacrifice of peace, money, friends, pleasures... none of these will give peace.

Not to be a Christian costs the individual the sacrifice of the highest, deepest, purest and most overwhelming joy that can be known in this life. Peter said, "Ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory; receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls."

Not to be a Christian causes one to surrender to a hopeless future. The Child of God has hope (Titus 1:2; Romans 8:24). William Greenhill said: "Hope is the element by which the afflicted live, the anchor of the soul in a storm, the life-belt which keeps up a man from sinking when in deep waters, and upholds a man in life when death knocks at the door."

Not to be a Christian costs the individual the highest characteristics of manhood and womanhood. The greatest men and women I have ever known were those who accepted the truth and practiced it in their daily living. Christian qualities are the highest qualities.

Not to be a Christian costs one the sacrifice of a home in heaven... and what a tremendous cost that is! So, just remember that while Christianity involves a cost, it costs one more not to be a Christian than it does to be a Christian.

Television Schedule For Muleshoe Area

Bula P-TA Hears Minister Speak

BY MRS JOHN BLACKMAN
 BULA-The October meeting of the Bula Parent-Teachers Association was held recently at the school auditorium.
 The president, Mrs. J.F. Hands presided. Secretary's report was read by Mrs. G.B. Salyer and treasurer's report given by John Hubbard, Membership Chairman gave report on progress of the membership drive which closed October 12.
 In the business session plans were discussed for the Halloween Festival that the P-TA will sponsor. Mrs. Lands and Mrs. Salyer were elected delegates to attend the state P-TA Convention, which will be held November 14-16.
 In the room count the 2nd and 11th grades received the awards for having the most parents in attendance.

 Speaker for the evening was Terry Blake, Minister of the Church of Christ. He spoke on "Good Citizenship Development through Personal Discipline and Integrity."
 Following the program the group adjourned to the lunch room and had refreshments. Thirty-four were in attendance.
 Boy Scout Troop 676 met recently at the scout hut with seven scouts present.
 Meeting opened with scouts repeating in unison the scout laws. Kenneth Overland demonstrated the proper way to sharpen an ax, and also a demonstration on how to build a fire.
 Dennis Price became a new member of the troop at this meeting. Games were enjoyed following the meeting.
 Jimmy Gage Scout master and Don Copeland, assistant, met with the boys.
 John Richardson has been a patient in the Littlefield hospital.
 Martin Maxwell is a patient in the Littlefield hospital following a light facial stroke recently.
 Francis Taylor spent the week end in Lubbock visiting Sharron Jones.

Kermit Paper Explains 'DeNovo'

Editor's Note: The following article is taken from the Winkler county News, Kermit, and "De Novo" proposed amendment.

One of the 14 amendment proposals slated for the Nov. 6 general election ballot has drawn a wide range of opposition. Proposal is the "trial de novo amendment. Opponents of the measure claim its passage will upset the balance of power in the state government.
 A number of Kermit attorneys have said they feel the proposal is not good.
 To date it is the only proposed amendment on the ballot which has drawn any organized opposition. And opposition to this amendment has been voiced by Governor Price Daniel, leading Judges and attorneys, Texas Municipal League, the County Judges' and Commissioners' Association and the Texas Association of School Boards and School Administrators. Several judicial leaders in the State have also come out against the measure.
 The amendment deals specifically with the method of appeal from actions, rulings and decisions of any administrative agency, executive department of political subdivision of the State.
 If the amendment passes, the Legislature will have the power to force the courts to hear by a completely new trial (trial de novo) decisions of any administrative agency or subdivision of the State.
 The trial court would take new evidence, apply trial court methods of reaching a decision and ignore completely the decision or ruling of the administrative agency "as though there had been no proceedings at all before the agency."

 The court could not decline jurisdiction "even though such action on the part of the courts involves administrative or executive rather than judicial powers."
 A group known as the "committee to preserve local self government" has organized statewide opposition to amendment.
 Daniel told the group Sept. 27 that the amendment was "a great mistake." He said its passage "would lead to worst type of confusion and delay in reaching proper administrative decisions."
 Dr. Abner V. McCall, president of Baylor University, is active in the opposing group because he said he is interested in "preserving what I call front-yard government." McCall is chairman of the opposing committee.
 Texas Association of School Boards and School Administrators on Oct. 1 overwhelmingly passed a resolution opposing the amendment. Several judicial leaders, including Associate Supreme Court Justice Meade F. Griffin, have spoken out against the proposal.
 George E. Murphy, president of the Texas Municipal League, said approval of the trial de novo proposal would force "closing everything but the city jail" in Texas. He said it would "virtually destroy municipal government in Texas."
 Opponents contend the amendment would strip the Railroad Commission and other powerful state agencies like Texas Water Commission, Highway Commission and Insurance Commission of much of their power.
 Proponents say the governor and administrative branches at all governmental levels have control of boards and commissions. The resolution calling for the amendment was sponsored by Rep. Dewitt Hale of Corpus Christi.
 The nation's commercial forests support 1.3 million full-time jobs in the wood using industries.

Nichols, John Hubbard, Brewer Gage and R.C. Marrow.
 Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hinders, Sweetwater, visited recently in the Leo Holt home. Mrs. Hinders and Sharron Holt were former room-mates at Texas Tech.
