Slated Deep Test In Pecos Showing Shallow Oil, Gas

Redmond, Greene et al No. 1 Iowa Finds Pay In Upper Permian Zone

By Frank Gardner Oil Editor Showings of oil and gas in the upper Permian have been encountered by J. E. Redmond of Fort Stockton, J. L. Greene of Midland et al No. 1 Iowa Realty Trust, scheduled Ordovician test two miles north of the Hein- er deep area in Northern Pecos County.

No. 1 Iowa Realty, located 668 feet from the southeast and 1,979 feet from the southwest line of section 29, block 10, University survey, this morning was drilling at 1,510 feet in hard lime. It showed oil from 1,240-65 feet and gas from 1,295 to 1,310 feet. Hole unloads whenever trip is made and the well blows an estimated 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas daily. Oklahoma Drilling Company, headed by R. P. Coats of Midland, is contractor on the projected 6,000-foot test.

When drillstem test was taken from 5,265-85 feet in Magnolia Petroleum Company and Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 2 Tex-Mex Petroleum Corporation-McKee, in the Abell Ordovician pool of Pecos, the well started flowing gas 30 seconds after testing tool was opened. Gas reached a peak of 4,227,690 feet daily. No fluid was present. The test was terminated at the 10-minute mark and No. 2 Tex-Mex-McKee is drilling ahead past 5,335 feet in sandy lime and shale.

Stanolind No. 1 Conroy-Davis Unit, Pecos wildcat several miles east of Simpson sand production in the Abell pool, is reaming at 5,680 feet. Total depth is 5,889 feet in Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, dolomite which the test topped at 4,825 feet after finding the Simpson cut-out. One-quarter mile north, Stanolind No. 1 Meyer-Logan unit is preparing to run 13-inch surface pipe at total depth of 537 feet in anhydrite.

Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company No. 1 E. E. Grove, over a mile east of the Abell discovery, recovered four and one-half feet of green sand carrying a slight odor of oil by coring from 5,447-57 feet. It was cored ahead to 5,465 feet and the bottom part of the core was said to have borne some oil staining. The well now is shut down for repairs at 5,465 feet but is expected to resume coring late today.

Magnolia is preparing to take a core at 5,680 feet in No. 1 D. P. Gerey, test west of production at the north end of the pool. The company's No. 2 State-Baldwin is drilling at 5,521 feet in lime, while its No. 1 J. F. McKee had reached 5,378 feet in shale and lime.

North Basin Tests. Humboldt, Standard and Stanolind No. 1 A. F. Byrd, scheduled 9,000-foot test in Southeastern Hale County, is drilling past 5,170 feet in lime.

Magnolia No. 2 Maple Wilson, Hockley County deep failure north of the Slaughter field, was in the Gloriaetta sand when it quit at 5,596 feet, it was learned today. The test entered the Gloriaetta at 5,495 feet. It is being plugged and abandoned.

In Western Terry County, The Texas Company No. 1 S. T. Murphy is drilling in solid lime below 4,685 feet.

In Northwestern Andrews County, Mascho Oil Company of Midland No. 1 M. M. Fisher is drilling unchanged at 4,273 feet in gray lime, and the same firm's No. 1 Texaco-University is drilling at 3,050 in anhydrite, shale and red rock.

Mascho No. 1 Gulf-University, three miles north of the Emma pool in Southern Andrews, was spudded last midnight. Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 University-Andrews, also in Southern Andrews and the deepest test yet drilled in the county, had reached 8,213 feet in lime.

Start Thurmon Trial In District Court Here

State Witness Testifies Midland Man Was Intoxicated Night Of Car Crash Which Cost Lives Of Two Persons

W. P. Thurmon, Jr., pleaded innocent today at his trial in district court on an indictment charging murder while in the performance of another felony which resulted from an automobile accident last December 21 which cost the lives of James R. Hays, 35, Pecos druggist, and his son, Elmo, 14.

C. C. McDonald, Wichita Falls, attorney for Thurmon, told the jury in his opening statement the crash was an unavoidable accident beyond Thurmon's control and that the defendant was not intoxicated.

McDonald described the collision as an "unfortunate tragedy," and asserted evidence would show Thurmon was blinded by lights from an approaching automobile.

The state charges Thurmon was intoxicated at the time of the crash. District Attorney Martelle McDonald is heading the prosecution and assisted by County Attorney Merritt Hines.

Thurmon now is on trial for the death of Elmo Hays before District Judge Cecil C. Collins and the jury.

Jury selected for the trial are W. E. Nance, Ross Carr, H. H. Hamlin, H. E. Herrington, Albert Norwood, A. E. Patterson, H. N. Phillips, Floyd Countess, Jr., Tom Wingo, T. J. Potter, Charles Galbraith and A. C. Caswell. Forty-one prospective jurors were examined before the jury was finally selected shortly before noon. The state's first witness was William Marshall, negro, employe of (See THURMON, Page 6)

Senatorial Campaigners May Inject Pensions In Speeches

Mayor Ulmer Urges Every Citizen To Buy Defense Bonds

Mayor M. C. Ulmer told the Midland Rotary Club today it is up to every member of each service club of the community to urge every person to buy defense bonds.

Ulmer told Rotarians at their meeting in Hotel Scharbauer of the recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Mineral Wells and of subscriptions for more than $100,000 worth of defense bonds at the meeting. He said he pledged Midland would buy $15,000 more of the bonds, and it probably will buy $50,000 worth.

The convention knew Midland was there and each delegate did his part to bring the next meeting to Midland, the major said.

The convention will be held here in the fall, probably in October, and plans soon will be made for the big event. Ulmer was elected vice president of the West Texas chamber.

"All of Midland will have its hands full entertaining the big convention this fall," Ulmer said. "But we can do it in Midland's usual satisfactory way and will do it."

Unity Is Necessary "Unity of purpose and unity of action is necessary to do things these days. We must work for the common good and let the outside world know about Midland."

"There is as much potential development in West Texas as in any region of the United States and one prominent man recently told me the potential development of West Texas is unchallenged and greater than any similar area."

Discussing the convention and giving Midland citizens credit for their splendid work at Mineral Wells, Mayor Ulmer said the highly important theme of "Defense" keynote the entire meeting. The mayor praised the address of Congressman R. E. Thomason at the defense banquet and then asserted "It is as much our patriotic duty to buy defense bonds as it is to answer the call of our country to the colors."

"Get behind the sale of defense bonds. It should be increased."

Miss Margaret Ann West, second place winner in the recent district "Home Town" speaking contest, gave her address on Midland and gave a round of applause. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John P. West.

Fred Wemple, former district governor of Rotary, urged members of the club to arrange to go to the Rotary International convention in Denver and said reservations should be made immediately.

W. B. Simpson, club president, presided and D. McCormick was in charge of the program.

Ickes Asks New Time Schedule To Save Power

Urges Act Of Congress; Tate Forecasts Worst Emergency In History

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON, May 29.—Interior Secretary Ickes today advocated daylight saving time on a nation-wide scale, and suggested that America may have to resort to restricted use of electricity and institute "gasless Sundays" to meet shortages of power and oil.

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill the House Interstate Commerce Committee approved a bill urgently requested by President Roosevelt to give the government authority to build oil pipe lines.

Under the bill the president could direct a government agency to build such lines, or aid private corporations in their construction, and both public and private builders would have the right of eminent domain if the president declared the pipelines were required "for national defense purposes."

The statement came as an official of the Federal Power Commission foresaw a power emergency, "perhaps the most serious in history," and revealed studies were being made on means of diverting power from civilian to industrial uses. (See ICKES, Page 6)

Red Cross Will Set Up Offices

Directors of the Midland County chapter of the American Red Cross voted to establish a headquarters, to segregate functioning activities to committees, and to meet each month, at a meeting last night.

The headquarters will be in a former lodge hall building on North Main St. Committees will be named. The board of directors will meet the second Thursday night of each month at the courthouse.

George D. Montag, field representative, spoke at the meeting last night and Curt Tamm gave a report of his trip to the national convention in Washington as representative of the Midland chapter.

Junior Red Cross work and first aid also was discussed.

Leaders Say Japan May Be Weakening On Alliance In Axis

WASHINGTON, May 29—(AP)—Responsible legislators said today there is a growing belief in administration circles that Japan's adherence to the Axis soon may weaken, and they cited as evidence President Roosevelt's virtual omission in his fireside chat of any discussion of America's problems in the Pacific.

This belief, reported to be entertained in high quarters, was said to be based on information that business interests apparently were gaining influence in the Tokyo government and might eventually prevail over the military party which led Japan into the war with China and into the Axis alliance.

The President made only brief references to the Pacific in his address Tuesday.

Rep. Lyndon Johnson, a third candidate for Senator, urged in a speech at Longview the construction of pipelines from Texas oil fields to the Atlantic seaboard.

He said they would supply vital defense industries and increase Texas' share of the Atlantic seaboard oil market.

National Oil Scouts And Landmen Convene

DALLAS, May 29—(AP)—Officers and directors of the National Oil Scouts and Landmen's Association were to meet at mid-afternoon today in a pre-convention session, as 300 delegates registered for the organization's 18th annual meeting.

Otherwise, only social affairs were on today's schedule. The convention starts tomorrow.

Stimson Announces Program To Instruct RAF Fliers In U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 29—(AP)—Secretary Stimson disclosed today that a far-reaching undertaking to train 8,000 British Royal Air Force fliers in this country would start June 7.

The first class of 550 students, all from the British Isles, is to begin instruction on that date, followed by new groups at five-week intervals.

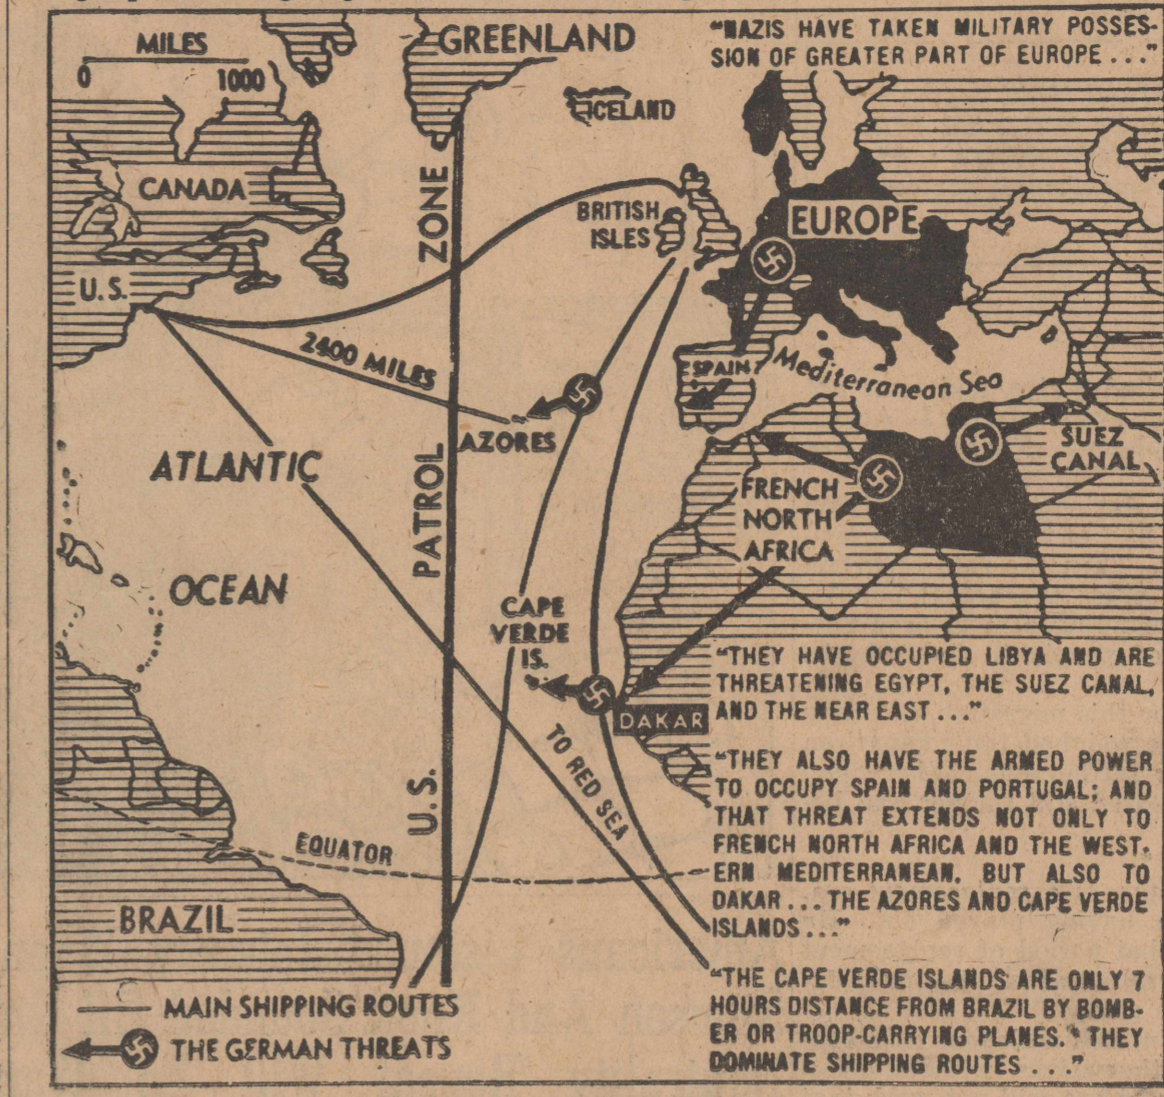

Stimson told reporters the program might be enlarged later. He asserted "it can be done without interfering at all" with the army air corp's own undertaking to accelerate the training of American pilots to 30,000 a year.

He explained that pilot training in this country was far ahead of the deliveries of new military planes.

Both air corps and civilian schools will be used to train the RAF pilots from England and the Empire. The war department explained that 4,000 would be trained annually as fighter and bomber pilots in seven civilian and six army schools.

A second group of 3,000 will be retained annually under a British course of instruction at schools yet to be selected. A third group of approximately 1,000 will be trained annually as aerial navigators. (See HEADLINES, page 6)

Behind The Headlines

By DeWitt MacKenzie

The position of the Anglo-Greek Allies in the Battle of Crete was so grave today that even as this is being written they may have been compelled to give up the fight to retain control of that strategic island.

During the ten days of one of the fiercest battles of history the Nazi dive-bombers have all but blasted Crete out of the water. Late Greek reports record that the cities of the island literally are pulverized by the deluge of high explosives that have produced an inferno in which civilians and troops alike have struggled.

Lack of air-power in the Eastern Mediterranean is the milestone on the Allied neck. It will so continue to be until this deficiency is supplied from America.

Some London observers believe that if the Hitlerites win the Battle of Crete they will turn their attention to the big British Naval base on the Island of Cyprus. This lies four hundred miles to the east of Crete and off the coast of Syria.

North Africa Is Objective. That might be an early objective, but possession of Crete would give the Nazis a fairly wide choice of moves. In any event, they must take time out for consolidation of the bomb-torn island before it will be of much value as a base for further major operations.

It is quite possible that the Germans will by-pass Cyprus for the moment, and try to establish themselves in Syria. This would provide a necessary base for a drive through Palestine to Egypt and the Suez Canal, and it would give them

Exercises close the school year. Baccalaureate services were Sunday night, Class Day exercises Tuesday night, and last night the annual junior-senior prom was held.

Weather Aids Nazis In Raids On Britain

LONDON, May 29—(AP)—Weather vagaries aided the Germans and handicapped the British aerial offensive last night and the British Isles were strafed by the Luftwaffe with a severity unequalled since May 17.

Nazi bombers favored by improved flying conditions struck at towns of northwest, east, southeast England and the southeast coast of Northern Ireland while a small force of British bomber command aircraft raided objectives of Northwest Germany in spite of what the air ministry called "bad weather."

A communiqué acknowledged the loss of four British planes in all operations yesterday; claimed one raider was shot down over England. Other sources reported destruction of one German fighter over the French coast.

Mabees Pay $63,121 Too Much In Taxes

The Bureau of Internal Revenue at Washington, according to the Associated Press, reported today that L. E. Mabees (Mrs. J. E. Mabees) and J. E. Senate Overrides Veto On Benefits

AUSTIN, May 29—(AP)—The legislature overturned another of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's vetoes today.

The Senate voted, 27 to 1, to override the veto of a bill reducing benefits to unemployed seasonal workers under the unemployment compensation law.

The House acted similarly yesterday. Senator Allan Shivers of Fort Arthur, who made the motion to pass the bill despite the governor's disapproval, said he understood the change in the law was desired by the federal government.

Governor O'Daniel in his veto message said the bill would be unjust to some workers.

Italians Strike At East End Of Besieged Island

Britishers' Case Grows Worse; Schmeling Falls Trying To Make Escape

By The Associated Press

With newly-arrived Italian troops striking from the east end of the island, Adolf Hitler's aerial invaders captured Crete's prize harbor of Suda Bay on the west today and occupied Candia, in central Crete, as the British struggled desperately in the jaws of a closing vise.

Candia is the island's biggest city, with a population of 33,000, about 55 miles east of Suda Bay.

British military headquarters, conceding that the heavily-reinforced Germans had scored major gains, declaring that violent hand-to-hand fighting was continuing.

Casualties were heavy on both sides, the British said, with New Zealand and other Imperial forces fighting bitterly east of Suda Bay.

Among the German casualties, it was reported, was Max Schmeling, the former world's heavyweight champion, killed while attempting to escape from British troops who had captured him.

A Nazi parachute soldier, Schmeling was declared to have tried to break for freedom when other Nazi "chicks" dropped from the skies on his captors.

"Schmeling grabbed a rifle and went into action like a wild bull," a New Zealand ambulance driver who witnessed the episode recounted. Edna Names Germany

"Before he did any damage, someone let him have it—and that was the end of Max."

Amid the losing struggle in Crete, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden gave the first comprehensive statement on Britain's war aims and declared:

"We must never forget that Germany is the worst master Europe has known. Five times in the last century she has violated the peace. She must never be in a position to play that role again."

Fascist press dispatches reported that hundreds of little Greek sailboats, loaded with German troops, had been safely escorted to Crete under the guns of Italian warships.

"Its effect is to create for the commander of the British Imperial forces a sudden new front to the east, when German pressure they must face on the west is already heavy."

London military quarters acknowledged frankly a "serious deterioration" in the situation in the last 24 hours.

The British admitted that capture of Suda Bay, the best harbor on the 160-mile-long island, probably would be the deciding factor in the struggle.

Ickes Says FDR May Control Oil

WASHINGTON, May 29—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said today that the president might have the power, under his declaration of an unlimited emergency, to regulate production of oil.

At his press conference, Ickes said tests would arise to determine how broad were the president's powers and that these tests might decide whether they included control over petroleum production.

He did not elaborate to say that the president could issue an executive order to the Interior Department concerning oil production allowable.

Decay At The Core

Every large city in the United States, and some not so large, face the same problem, says Frederick L. Ackerman, New York architect and planner. Their course has run along this line:

First, a spectacular growth during the first 30 years of this century, until more than half of the American population was living in the cities. Then the rate of urban growth declined, and in some cities the actual population is declining. From the expanding central area now moves a continual migration of people to the suburbs and even the country.

There are many reasons for this migration, but they boil down to this: many people weighed the comparison and found that life was better farther out. Whereupon the congested urban area stagnated still further and became a "problem area."

We are now, Ackerman says, in a replacement era, the original development area having played out. He believes that cities must seize that period of replacement to redevelop the stagnated central areas into the most desirable residence district of the city.

But that sort of development will no longer take care of itself. The cities grew by themselves, without direction or plan. But the replacement era will not work that way. It must be planned.

High valuation due to overhanging capitalization stands in the way of private efforts to accomplish such rebuilding. Ackerman puts it thus: "We have built our cities under guidance of the same economic fallacy which accounts for the plight of our railroads. We failed to extinguish their capitalizations at rates corresponding to physical decay and obsolescence, whichever was the higher. In a world of unprecedented advance in science, the urban center has stood firm against change, either in respect to physical plan or fiscal policy, both of which are obsolete."

Such changes sound like a Spartan remedy, but no city which has a "blighted section" at its center can afford to see that heart of the city go to seed without making strenuous efforts to meet the problem before it is too late.

The Americas Act Together

Every time the American nations act together on a matter there is a net gain for the principle of a united Western Hemisphere. Their joint action in recommending a common policy toward foreign-flag ships lying idle in their ports is excellent.

It is a reasonable, sensible attitude, too. The American nations do not normally have between them enough ships to carry their trade. In normal times this trade is largely carried in foreign, European, ships. Those ships are either at the bottom of the ocean today or blockaded. So it is only sensible to use for inter-American trade those ships which lie rusting at anchor in American ports. That should release for war service any ships the British may be using in that trade.

Without going into long dissertations on international law, it is a sensible thing to do, if, as is only right, the ships are paid for when peace comes again.

Swords Into--Bombs

The ancient vision of a people beating their swords into plowshares was given just a flicker of new life the other day by news that in Britain 10,000 swords, no longer of military value, are to be melted up. Not into plowshares, however, but into newer and deadlier forms of munitions.

The sword no longer kills with efficiency. Therefore, the luxury of sporting them, and the fine steel they contain, is no longer to be indulged in. The swords, many of World War vintage, are to be called in and melted down for airplane motors or whatever a modern age of modern war decides is most deadly. The world looks wistfully ahead to a day when the peoples shall convert their tanks into tractors, and their bombers into transport planes.

The Banks Co-Operate

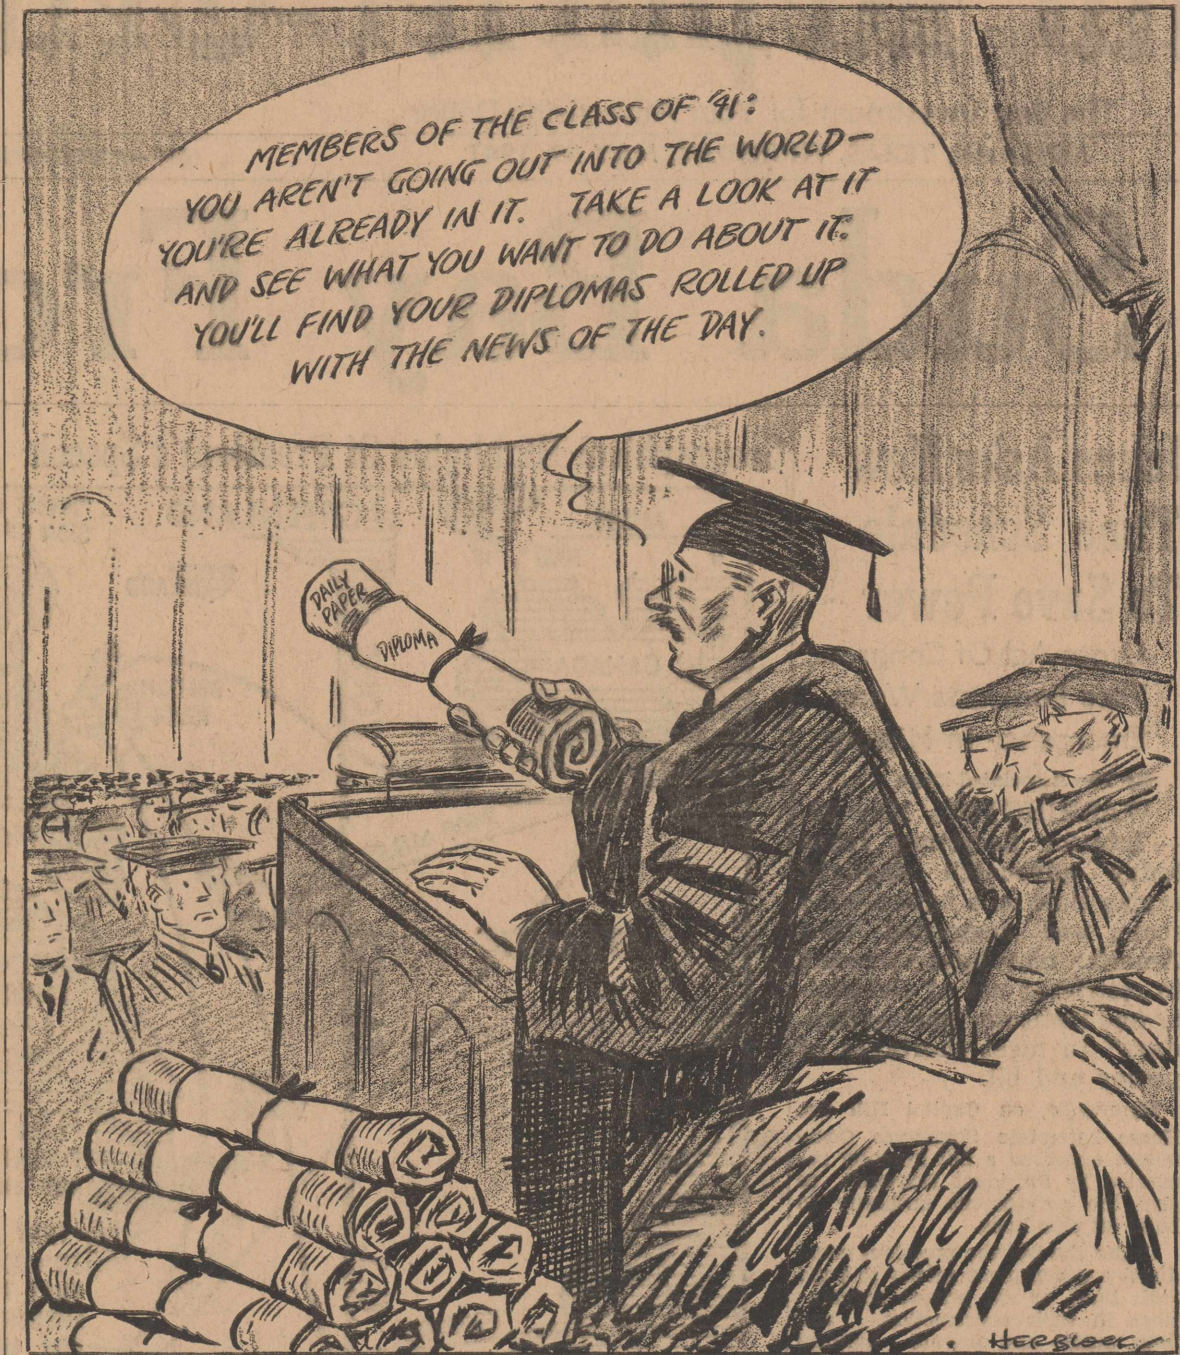

Another example of splendid co-operation in the government's defense program: the banks.

Not only are they uniformly handling subscriptions for Defense Bonds without cost, but many bankers have gone much farther, personally urging their purchase. In St. Louis, one bank took a full-page advertisement at its own expense to urge their advantages, headed up with the legend "Uncle Sam Is Too Modest," and then setting forth reasons for buying.

You might think banks would regard the Defense Bonds as competition, and discourage their sale. After all, money used to buy Defense Bonds is not deposited in the banks.

But they don't feel that way. Most banks have adequate deposits to meet any demand for loans. They don't need more money deposited. Besides, World War experience has taught them the technique and the ultimate advantage of co-operating with the people in their effort to build defense.

Americans Listened Intently When Stimson And Knox Sounded Off On Neutrality--Repeal Will Be War

By Peter Edson
Midland Reporter-Telegram
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — There's a gag going around Washington now about certain members of the cabinet who have limbs growing out of their bedroom walls so that with a minimum of inconvenience they can get out on them.

Latest exploit of administration spokesmen who verbally chin themselves and then perch out on the end of the well-known un-diplomatic limb was the feat of Secretaries Stimson and Knox in coming out for repeal of the neutrality act. That was a shocker, and to say that Washington waited with cocked ear to see if the President would follow up the lead puts it mildly.

When or if the neutrality act is ditched or modified, you can bet a hat it will mean that the United States is on the verge of war, for this act has been the foundation of the Hull foreign policy, the one measure which more than anything else has kept loss of American lives and American ships at an absolute minimum thus far.

To get the background for this bedrock of American foreign policy, you have to go back to 1935, when the famous arms embargo was passed, following disclosures of the Nye munitions committee investigations and the general belief that the powder and cannon hawkers were a bunch of—well, trouble makers.

Statutes dealing with keeping America out of war were amended in 1936 and 1937 but the arms embargo provision was retained. Then in 1939, the administration began to feel that the arms embargo might be dangerous, that the situation in Europe was changing to such an extent that it might be desirable for the United States to export arms, just to help keep it out of war.

On Sept. 1, Germany invaded Poland. Congress was called in special session on Sept. 11, and on Nov. 4, Congress passed the new program, the neutrality act of 1939, dropping the arms embargo.

Lease-land passage cut right through the neutrality act. Loans to belligerents by American private capital are still prohibited by the Johnson act, but the granting of a seven billion dollar government loan or gift to Britain so far surpasses anything private capital might do that the Johnson act is to all intents and purposes nullified.

There the matter stands today. Only one American ship has been sunk, and that was by a mine in Australian waters. The neutrality act, as much as anything except our own unpreparedness, has kept us out of war.

What would repeal of this neutrality act mean? Principally, that American ships could take war supplies right to Britain. As matters stand now, U. S. naval vessels can still be ordered to convoy or patrol duty, right to British ports, if the President, as commander of the fleet, so orders, for war vessels are not covered by the neutrality act. It is even a moot question as to whether U. S. Maritime Commission vessels, being the property of the government, could not be transferred to the navy and used for carrying supplies to Britain. Certainly the ships themselves can be transferred to Britain and haul any

University Mourns Death Of Engineer

AUSTIN, May 29—(AP) — The University of Texas and its alumni today mourned the death of Thomas Ulvan Taylor, 83-year-old dean emeritus of the school of engineering and "grand old man" of the institution.

A member of the university faculty more than half a century, Dean Taylor was known to thousands of students as instructor, friend, benefactor and general fountain of inspiration. He was a native Texan and graduated from the University of Virginia in 1883.

Funeral services were scheduled at 3 p. m. The educator was survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. D. C. Strother of Randolph Field. A son, Sommerfield Taylor, died a year ago.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

Dandy Handies.
It's hands up time, if you know the answers, for here is a handy set of questions about the hands. Don't hand out any wrong ones.
1. What can an ambidextrous person do with his hands?
2. On what side of home plate does a left-handed batter stand?
3. In ballroom dancing does the boy hold the girl's right or left hand with his right?
4. When is the term "hands" used as a unit of measure?
5. Complete this quotation and give its source: "Let not thy hand know what thy hand doeth."

Shooting Brings Death To Fighter

WICHITA FALLS, May 29—(AP)—Marlin (Country Boy) Owens, 30-year-old Fort Worth shooting gallery operator and former Wichita Falls professional boxer, was dead and his estranged wife and her parents were wounded as the result of an early morning shooting here. An inquest verdict of suicide was returned by Nat L. Ingle, justice of the peace, in the death of Owens, whose body was lying on the front porch of the home of his wife and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Culver, when police arrived. Officers said a revolver with five spent shells was clutched in Owens' hand. Mrs. Culver, only one of the injured three able to discuss the shooting with investigators, said her daughter had filed suit here for divorce in April and sought custody of the couple's two small boys. The case was to be tried next week.

Storms Flood Friona; Lightning Kills One

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 29 (AP)—Violent thunderstorms last night flooded Friona, just across the New Mexico border in the Texas Panhandle, and added a lightning death to the toll in the flood-stricken Southeastern New Mexico city of Carlsbad.
 At Friona, grain elevators in the lowlands were reported flooded and the Santa Fe Railway yards washed out by a record flood crest in Friona Draw.
 Trains were derailed from Clovis, 34 miles southwest of Friona to Amarillo via Lubbock, Tex.
 In Southeastern New Mexico lightning struck Marcus Neeley, 27, while working on a concrete mixer at a potash mine, southeast of Carlsbad.
 The storm at Carlsbad was short lived and did not bring a repetition of cloudburst crests which roared down a week ago, making more than 1,300 homeless.

Senate Sends Ships Bill To White House

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The Senate finally approved and sent to the White House today administration legislation permitting the government to take over more than 80 foreign ships now lying idle in American harbors.
 The measure, a compromise between the original Senate and House versions, was approved by the House earlier this week.

Under the bill, the government may take over foreign ships by purchase, requisition or charter.

SERIAL STORY

THREE TO MAKE READY

BY W. H. PEARS

YESTERDAY: Kilo faces the bombing, clears his name, but Bill Jenks counters all her appeals. As the boys start to storm the barracks, Paula sees a car approaching. Perhaps Dr. Lud has come for help.

VICTORY FOR CARDMAN

CHAPTER XVI
IN throwing now, the boys were showing hard young shoulders against the sagging door. But equally solid League shoulders were holding it from within. The night was filled with the impact, the grunts, the exchanged challenges of the two groups.

It was a hard game, Paula thought, a hard-fought game with enmity forgotten in the thrill of the struggle. But once the door fell, everything would change.
 "They're coming," Kilo gasped.
 The door, ripped from its hinges, was being pushed inward like a shield.
 Then a lumbering figure ran swiftly past Paula, and a voice like a big bass horn belted above the tumult.
 "STOP!"

HAL BASCOMB swung his flashlight away from the door, and two beams of light crossed like rapiers.
 "Dr. Van Horn!"
 "Stay where you are, all of you!" The tone of Van Horn's command suggested past Army training. He stepped over the splintered door and stood in the entrance of the barn. "Bascomb, since you seem to be in command of this expedition, I shall hold you responsible for anyone who follows me into the barn."
 He was inside but a few minutes, emerging just as Lud barked: "Dr. Van Horn, the light! Over here."

The president's flashlight swung to the fleeing figure of Bill Jenks. Cutting in from an angle, Lud brought him down with a flying tackle that elicited a gasp of admiration from the boys.
 Van Horn said with quiet irony, "Surely, Mr. Jenks, you wouldn't leave without a complete story?"
 He turned to Bascomb. "Bring your boys inside. We can settle matters right here in this barn."

THE two groups of students filled the barn. They were packed in so tightly that the shoulders of League and fraternity members brushed. But there was no hostility now; the attention of both factions was commanded by the powerful personality of Dr. Van Horn.
 "No speech," he said with a smile. "I'll save it for Commencement tomorrow. You understand the situation, so there is no need to dwell upon it."

 He paused and the complete silence that ruled the place was a tribute. Van Horn pointed his finger at Bascomb.
 "Bascomb, will you be kind enough to observe the person on your left?"
 "Yes, sir," Bascomb turned puzzled eyes on a tall League boy.
 "Thank you," Van Horn said. "Do you find him so much different from yourself?"
 "No, sir."
 "I thought not," Van Horn said quietly. "Now let us say, by some coincidence, that upon leaving school you find yourselves employed by the same firm. Or—his eyes became grave—"even in the same Army. Would you continue this foolish quarrel?"
 "No, sir," both boys answered.
 "I'll tell you why," Van Horn said. "Because of loyalty to your firm or your Army. Now let me ask all of you one question: Don't you feel you owe that same loyalty to Cardman?"

The crowd nodded sheepishly.
 Van Horn beamed. "In that case you can easily adjust your differences." He beckoned to where Paula, Kilo and Tony stood. "Will you come here, Miss Jeffers and Beale—and Miss Sherwood, too," he added as Kilo hung back. "Then, very simply, he said, "These three young people, particularly Miss Sherwood, rejected loyalty to their own small groups for a larger loyalty to Cardman. I wish to thank them."
 Kilo, her face pale with emotion, said huskily, "I—I don't deserve that, Dr. Van Horn. I'm entirely to blame for—"
 "Shall we forget it?" Van Horn smiled.

Kilo whirled to face the students. "League members, I—I think we should listen to Dr. Van Horn," she choked.
 Voices were raised in quick agreement with her suggestion.
 Van Horn held up his hands for silence, a sparkle of moisture in his eyes.
 "We have arrived at a democratic principle," he said. "I beg of you to carry it with you always when you leave Cardman. It is your right as citizens of a free country to join any group you choose—so long as it does not interfere with the sacred rights of another group. . . . You may all leave when you wish, and good luck."

Students began to file quietly, thoughtfully out of the barn. Bill Jenks was about to leave when Van Horn called to him.
 "Mr. Jenks, I should like to make certain you have your story correct."

 "Sure, sure, Doc," Jenks grinned. "Peace and harmony on the campus. Dr. Van Horn's great diplomacy brings rival groups together!"
 Van Horn's big fingers bit into the reporter's shoulder. "You will write facts, Mr. Jenks, nothing more. Is that clear?"
 "I'll write facts," Bill said ruefully. "So long, Doc."
 All the students, including Kilo, had departed. Lud turned to Tony. "You can take Paula home in my car. I'll ride with Van Horn and Larson."

TONY drove the old coupe slowly. Paula was silent, mulling over the problem of Tony's actions. In nearly four years she'd never known him to do a mean thing. And yet, jailing Chris had been pure spite.
 She said, "Chris didn't hit you, Tony. Kilo borrowed his scarf that night."
 Tony said calmly, "I never thought it was Chris."
 "Then . . . why did you take the scarf to Dean Larson?"
 "The Dean was trying to get at the facts. He gave me his word not to land on Chris without more evidence."
 "So you turned around and put him in jail!" Paula said scornfully.
 Tony nodded. "It was the only safe place for him, Paula. I know Chris pretty well. He's not the type to be kicked around for something he didn't do. One of two things was bound to happen. Either Chris would get into a rip-snorting battle or he'd leave town before Commencement. So I dumped him in the cooler where he'd be safe."
 "Oh, Tony," Paula wailed, "why didn't you tell me?"
 "You didn't give me a chance, Paula. You simply decided I was a five-star heel."
 Paula flushed. "Tony, I—I'm sorry. But . . ."
 "It's all right, Paula. Let's forget about it."
 "Gosh, Tony, you were swell to-night," she sighed. "I—I was proud of you."
 "Thanks," Tony said coolly. "Well, here we are, Paula. If you'd like to, you can come to the jail with me in the morning when I get Chris out."
 "Okay, about 8. Good night, Paula."
 "Good night, Tony . . . dear." Paula added the last word under her breath.

Nazis Sink Mashona In Bismarck Battle

LONDON, May 29 (AP)—The British destroyer Mashona was sunk by German planes when they got in the last blow of the sea battle which cost Germany the 35,000-ton battleship Bismarck, the Admiralty announced today.
 One officer and 45 men are missing from the 1,850-ton tribal class destroyer, which went down shortly after the Bismarck was pounded to ruin 400 miles west of Brest, France, last Tuesday morning.
 The Admiral's normal complement was 240-110 more than that usual for British destroyers.
 The Admiral's said that more than 100 officers and men of the Bismarck were picked up after the battleship was sunk.

Official Predicts Power Emergency

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—Forecasting a nation-wide power emergency—"perhaps the most serious in history," T. R. Tate of the Federal Power Commission revealed today that a study was being made of means for diverting electricity from civilian to industrial purposes, to assure uninterrupted production of defense weapons.
 Tate expressed hope, however, that any restriction in the use of electricity would not include the "lightless nights" and darkened great white ways of World War years.
 Under the "unlimited emergency" proclaimed Tuesday night, President Roosevelt has absolute sway over the nation's power facilities. He may "take over power houses, dams, conduits and reservoirs; require temporary connections of facilities and such interchange, delivery and transmissions as may be required."
 Tate, who is director of the national defense power staff in the power commission, predicted that "if we are going to double airplane production, quadruple tank production, treble powder, small arms ammunition and rifle production, and multiply output of machine guns and other materials, then by the end of 1941 the power situation will be critical indeed."

National Guardsmen May Continue Duties

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—Indefinite military duty for the National Guard was considered a virtual certainty by army officials today because of the unlimited national emergency proclaimed by President Roosevelt.
 An early request to Congress for authority to retain the 291,000 guardsmen in service beyond the current single year of training was accordingly anticipated, although no final decision has been disclosed on the question.

LONDON, May 29—(AP)—The German freighter Lech, 3,290 tons, trying to run the British blockade from a South American port to occupied France, has been intercepted by a British ship, the admiralty announced today.

The British would not say whether the Lech had been scuttled by her own crew, sunk by the British, or captured.

AFL Group Says Yard's Strikers Should Stop Now

By The Associated Press. The executive council of the American Federation of Labor declared today that AFL machinists on strike at shipyards in the San Francisco Bay area "should call it off immediately and return to work."

This formal announcement by the council backed up a sweeping pronouncement it issued yesterday, calling on all its affiliates to take disciplinary action against local unions which strike without exhausting resources for mediation. The executive council said it would take similar action itself against federal labor unions directly under its control.

The council declared that uninterrupted production by the West Coast shipyards was vital to the nation's defense, and further that "the good name, the honor and the 'no-strike' policy of the American Federation of Labor demand that the costwise master agreement between the shipbuilders and the metal trades unions, barring strikes and lockouts, be religiously observed and respected."

AFL and CIO machinists are on strike at 11 San Francisco yards which hold $500,000,000 in defense contracts.

FDR Adopts Silence On Convoys Question

WASHINGTON, May 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt adopted the strategy of silence today on future methods for delivering the goods to Great Britain.

"You don't telegraph your moves anymore in the world of today," one service official explained, referring to the President's statement that army and navy technicians were devising new safeguards. "You can't afford it. You'll notice the other fellows never do."

However, Chairman Reynolds (D-N C) of the Senate military committee looked for "full convoys of

GIRLS WRITE LOVE LETTERS ON BRITISH PLANT'S TIME

CARLISLE, Eng.—(UP)—Not only do the girls at a well-known biscuit manufacturing firm in Carlisle stop work once a week to write love letters but—their employers encourage them.

It is all part of a plan run by the welfare department of the firm to help workers keep in touch with their friends in the armed forces.

The girls do part of their courting during working hours, but the letters they write must be to boys in the forces. He said that was his interpretation of the President's fireside chat pledge to see that needed supplies reached England safely.

8760 Hours Later: U. S. Defense Effort in Full Swing

AIR FORCE: May, 1940 4500 planes, 6000 pilots; May, 1941 8000 planes, 14,400 pilots. ARMY: May, 1941 1,300,000 men; May, 1940 250,000 men. NAVY: Built, building, appropriated for; May, 1940 450 warships, 1,754,170 tons; May, 1941 700 warships, 3,500,000 tons.

A year has passed since President Franklin Roosevelt made his 50,000-warplanes speech and started the U. S. defense effort rolling. Today, after conscription, projection of a two-ocean navy and rapid expansion of aircraft and arms factories, defense production is swinging sharply upward. Pictographs show the progress.

Bavarian Villagers Await Presentation Of World-Famed Play

By Ernest G. Fischer
OBERRAMMERGAU, Germany, May 28—(AP)—This peaceful village in the Bavarian Alps is busy with war work but its 3,000 residents eagerly await the time when they may present their world-famed Passion Play again.

Mayor Alfred Bierling said the play, suspended last year on account of the war, probably would be performed again in 1944. But Alois Leising, who had the role of Christ in 1934, declined to hazard a guess, explaining that the next production depended on termination of the war—after which "at least a half year's preparation would be required."

War has brought other changes to Oberammergau, too. Four hundred and eighty of its sons, including about 100 from the cast of 1,600 used in the special jubilee performance of 1934, are in the military service. Many of the older men, skilled in the handicrafts, are working in industrial plants. Many young women are taking men's civilian jobs for the duration of the war.

Four of Oberammergau's men have been killed in the present war, none of them members of the Passion Play cast. Villagers recall that 70 of the 1910 cast fell in the World War.

As first secretary of the British embassy in Paris until the collapse of France, Henry Noble Hall figured importantly in the writing of diplomatic history in the first year of the war. He knows intimately the men of Vichy who now cling to uncertain rule of their conquered country. The article below, prepared exclusively for NEA Service and The Reporter-Telegram, is a penetrating and unsparring word-study of the characters of Petain, Laval and Darlan—whose present course of action in regard to collaboration with Germany is being watched as anxiously in the United States as in Europe.

Petaim Heads Strange French Triumvirate

By HENRY NOBLE HALL
 (Written for NEA Service)

One man dominates and two others loom large upon the stage of Vichy: Marshal Petain, Pierre Laval and Francois Darlan—a great soldier, a Machiavellian statesman and a sailor-politician. It is useless to try to understand what is happening in France unless one knows what sort of men they are.

Henri Philippe Petain was born 86 years ago. He comes of a race of peasant soldiers. His people for centuries have been well-to-do farmers at Cauchy-la-Tour in Flanders, in the very heart of the cockpit of Europe. They were there when Crecy and Agincourt were fought. They have had Germans on their land several times in the past century. They know the enemy and do not trust him. Indeed, they do not trust anyone. Men to them are capable of anything, like the weather.

Take a man of that hard, tenacious breed, run him through the military mill, make him a professional soldier. He will be a first-class fighting man. As mother-keen on his men as his men will be brother-fond of him. His life, his fate will mean nothing to him. His duty, his honor will mean all. He will never give way.

Petaim's Sense Of Duty

Everything that makes Petain a good soldier makes him a bad politician. Not only does he dislike politics, but he has no political sense, and will fall for the most specious arguments of men like Darlan and Laval. Thus he has been persuaded that "loyal cooperation with the Reich" could be carried through without any hostile act against France's former allies. He has an intense dislike for liberal views and a dread of communism, yet has surrounded himself with men who have no use for democracy and who have persuaded him that he should collaborate with Hitler, allied with Stalin.

Darlan did not oust Laval because he disagreed with Laval's anti-British and pro-German policy. He ousted Laval because he wanted Laval's job, and to make sure that he would succeed Petain as the master of France.

Darlan is nothing like as able a man as Laval, but he is ambitious and believes that he is cleverer than he really is. He is the son of Senator Darlan, who sat for the Department of Lot et Garonne, and was minister of public education in the closing years of the nineteenth century. His father was a typical Gascon, a boastful, intriguing opportunist. He married a Bretonne of an old sea-faring family. Young Darlan inherited his father's flame and intensity of feeling, his mother's tactfulness and tenacity.

He will never forgive England for having crippled the French fleet at Oran. When he delivered the funeral oration of the men who lost their lives, he said, "Our sailors would doubtless have preferred to die in a fair fight rather than perish assassinated."

But if he hates England, he hates Germany even more. He has tried and tried hard to get the Germans to accept him in the place of Laval, but so far without success, and since he must placate the Germans he has continually urged the Marshal to unbind and to cooperate with the Germans in the political as well as in the economic sphere.

Darlan is more of a politician than any other of France's mili-

in France. He has a dominating personality. His versatility and capacity for work are almost without limit. He claims to be a realist like Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini. He never bothers about principles, never having had any. National honor, the plighted word means nothing to him, and he would have greeted with a smear Patrick Henry's immortal cry "Give me Liberty or give me Death!"

Laval has thrown in his lot with Hitler. Although he knew that lining up France with the Axis meant dishonor and virtual bondage, he cared not. He was willing to give Germany the French fleet and to agree to a German-French-Japanese condominium in North Africa.

Convinced of England's eventual defeat, openly hoping for the same as a personal victory or revenge, Laval, in the presence of American newspapermen, told a number of German correspondents that he hoped within a fortnight that they would send him post cards from London. That was early last July.

A clash between Petain and Laval was simply inevitable. The slow

...the Midland Country Club, who testified he sold beer to Thurmon the evening before the accident. On cross-examination by Attorney C. C. McDonald the negro said he wasn't sure of the exact date.

Dorothy Pauline Paris, 18, of El Paso, formerly employed at the Rountree Cafe west of Midland, was the second witness. She testified she met Thurmon the night of the accident, and saw him buy three bottles of beer at the cafe. She said he drank two bottles of beer and gave her the third.

Testifies Thurmon Was Drunk

Miss Paris told the jury Thurmon was drunk while at the cafe. She said she could tell his condition from the way he talked and from the way he attempted to sign a check.

The young woman said that in her work in restaurants she has seen numerous intoxicated persons and has observed people drinking.

She said she moved to El Paso soon after Christmas and now is employed in a cafe there.

On cross examination she denied she had fussed with Thurmon. She also testified she did not remember the names of any men she danced with at the cafe the night of the accident.

Trial of the case continued this afternoon and indications were it would not be placed in the hands of the jury before tomorrow.

Senate Passes Bread Bill Twice—Dizziest Happening In Session

By Hugh Williamson
AUSTIN, May 28—(AP)—Perhaps the dizziest of a host of wacky incidents which inevitably occur in the turmoil of law-making—the 47th legislature now drawing to a close being no exception—was the Senate's passage of the now-famed "bread-bill."

Or rather, the double passage of the bill, since a portion of the Senate admittedly was asleep the first time.

When the Senators awoke and discovered what they had done, they immediately reconsidered the vote by which the bill was finally passed. Having reconsidered, they voted it through again.

A number of Senators confessed that, on the first trip, the bill got by without their knowledge.

Amendment Stays In

The controversial part of the bill was an amendment by Senator W. C. Graves of Dallas, making it illegal to sell a loaf of bread weighing 1 1/2 pounds.

The amendment inspired what was probably the most amusing speech of the session. It was delivered by Senator Weaver Moore of Houston.

Excerpts:

"You might as well tell me I've got to buy either a 35 belt or a 45 belt. I couldn't fasten the 35 belt, and the 45 belt wouldn't hold my pants up."

Despite Moore's speech, the Graves amendment stayed in the bill, but the House refused to concur and the measure went to a conference committee.

handy airdromes for an assault against Cyprus.

Also of vast and perhaps more immediate importance is the fact that possession of Crete would bring German bombers within 250 miles of the Libyan-Egyptian border on the North African coast where the Axis expeditionary force is maneuvering for an opening to drive into Egypt.

In fact, this entire stretch of coast, including the all-important British naval base at Alexandria, and the Suez Canal, would be brought within very hand bombing distance for the Nazis.

to prevent interruption of defense production.

Daylight saving, Ickes said, could be instituted by an act of Congress, to save substantial amounts of power.

In mentioning the possibility of priorities in the use of power, the secretary said restricted consumption might easily include night baseball, and he commented: "It's more important to make aluminum than to have night baseball."

Advocates Pipe Lines

Turning to oil, Ickes told his press conference the problem was strictly one of transportation and he fore-saw a possibility of restricted use, especially on the Eastern seaboard.

In this connection, he advocated oil pipe lines from the south to the east, where severe shortages of oil are feared because of the transfer of one-fifth of the American tanker fleet to British service. He advocated priorities on materials used in making pipe lines and oil tankers, to hasten their construction.

Ickes said an effort to build the pipe lines had been blocked in the Georgia legislature by the railroads "very shortsightedly."

T. R. Tate, of the federal power commission, told of the study to conserve power.

Salvage Court Awards American $4000 For Helping Save Vessel

LONDON.—(UP)—When the British motor vessel San Demetrio set sail last November from Halifax, laden with a valuable cargo of gasoline, the only American citizen on board was Oswald Preston, able-bodied seaman.

Preston, who joined the tanker crew because he wanted to get into the fighting forces of Great Britain and had no other way to reach the scene of action, recently was awarded $4,000 in a British Admiralty salvage court for the heroic part he played in saving the San Demetrio after it had been set on fire by shells from a German raider and was abandoned on the high sea.

One Of First To Board

With second officer, Arthur Godfrey Hawkins and 14 shipmates, Preston found himself in the only one of the three lifeboats that managed to keep the tanker in view during a storm-tossed night 700 miles off the Irish coast. Meanwhile, the 37 other merchant vessels in the convoy had scattered and the auxiliary cruiser Jarvis Bay had decoyed the raider away.

On the following morning, Preston was one of the first men to reboard the burning vessel. After the flames had been extinguished, the remnants of the tanker's crew worked half under water for hours to plug numerous holes in the wave-washed decks.

According to a report of the Admiralty proceedings in "Lloyd's List of Shipping Gazette" Preston and his British companions were awarded $54,800 for nursing the crippled tanker to a British port, where cargo and vessel were valued at $1,200,000.

Soldiers Of Provisional Searchlight Battalion Sing Midland's Praises And Hope They Can Return To City Later

Soldiers of the Provisional Searchlight Battalion from Camp Hulen, recently stationed here for maneuvers, still sing Midland's praises and hope to return to this city.

Lieutenant Thomas L. Tempest of the 211th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft, at Camp Hulen expresses the appreciation in a recent letter. Tempest who was supply officer and provost marshal during the maneuvers was one of the most popular men in camp.

His letter in part, follows:

"This is the first chance I've had to sit down and let you know that we are alive and haven't forgotten you. We had an uneventful trip back here and although we picked up rain at Austin at 4 a.m. and took it all the way to Palsadous with us, we arrived on schedule time without mishap.

Major Papenfoth reports for duty with the 33rd Coast Artillery Brigade headquarters. I have been promoted to regimental supply officer for the 211th.

"Big improvements were made in the camp during our absence, but although it is not as hot here as in Midland, the damp, humid heat is just about killing us Midland alumni.

"Last night, a battery of the 211th assembled at the Post Exchange and mourned the day we had to leave your city. After buying enough beer for a good start, we toasted the city, the people, the practice, the records made, the city officials, the buildings, the streets, the good times, the dances, the cafes, the swimming pool and everything one could think of regarding Midland.

"We sang 'For Midland' about about twenty times and the newspapers you sent went the rounds. Some one even suggested getting up a petition to get us ordered back there. When the news got around camp as to what was going on we were joined by the gangs from the 69th, 107th, and 203rd. It started all over again sound strange, when the 400 of us sang 'For Midland,' the last time, there were damn few dry eyes and not a man was ashamed of it.

"We start this week to prepare for the maneuvers in Louisiana. Again inadequately thanking you for your splendid help and cooperation, I'll close, ordering you to write as soon as you possibly can. My regards to everyone in Midland.

"Tommy Tempest."

"P.S. An enclosing words of 'For Midland.'"

Liquor Chief States Law Will Be Defended

AUSTIN, May 28—(AP)—Steps will be taken promptly to defend the new law restricting drug store sale of liquor against a suit alleging illegality, C. A. Paxton, chief supervisor of the enforcement division of the state liquor control board, said today.

A temporary injunction restraining the board from enforcing the law was granted yesterday by District Judge Max M. Rogers of Huntsville. Hearing was set for June 18.

Paxton said that immediately after the papers had been served representatives of the board would confer with members of the attorney general's department and a course of action decided upon.

The district clerk at Huntsville had advised him by telephone that the papers were being mailed, he asserted.

Rep. Dallas Blankenship of Dallas, author, said the bill was constitutional and had withstood attacks by liquor interests during its passage through the legislature.

Observers Forecast Rising River Stages

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 29—(AP)—Continued melting of snow on the Rio Grande's upper watershed brought a forecast today of rising river stages for several days, but officials minimized flood threats, barring heavy mountain rains.

Main activity along a 200-mile front where the river has been fought for a month was about ninety miles south of here at San Antonio. A levee gave way there Tuesday, requiring evacuation of several farm homes.

FOOTSTEPS IN THE FOG
 BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Beginning Soon in The Reporter-Telegram

Blackout Affects Argentine Dress

BUENOS AIRES, (UP)—The blackout of Paris as a world style center still leaves the Argentine woman somewhat bewildered about her clothes.

Before the fall of France, Argentine women were able to receive new styles in dress a full season before the women of the United States, due to reverse seasons in the north and south temperate zones. Thus, for example, while new styles were being prepared for the following season in the United States they were being worn in Buenos Aires.

Today all this is reversed, and fashions in clothes here are a season behind the United States. New York fashions exert some influence here through the large women's magazines dedicated to modes, and to a limited extent. Hollywood trends in women's clothes are noticed. There also is a certain London influence on styles, through British-owned department stores.

Leading Argentine style experts say, however, that except for sports clothes, New York and Hollywood fashions are too extreme for the more conservative and modulated tastes of the Argentine women. Colors are too flamboyant and lines too extreme.

MICHIGAN YOUTH AIR - MINDED

RANDOLPH FIELD, Tex., (UP)—The State of Michigan placed the largest number of flying cadets in the newest class at Randolph Field, the army has announced. Michigan led the list of states with 40, Texas was second with 38 while Illinois with 36 and California with 32 followed closely behind.

Saturday Night in Africa

It's the same the world over come Saturday night, so this member of the South African engineers corps in Kenya colony sliced a gasoline barrel in half and put himself, plus soap and water, in it.

Lawmakers Had Over 1500 Bills

AUSTIN, (UP)—Many members of the Texas legislature in its 1941 session thought "there ought to be a law."

More than 1,500 bills were offered by state senators and representatives.

Among the proposals were the following:

- To prohibit display of a red flag.
- To shoot on sight persons engaged in un-American activities.
- To prohibit sale of bread in pound and a half loaves.
- To require thumbprints on checks cashed for strangers.
- To close dance halls at 1 a. m.
- To define a pack as 52 playing cards and "sometimes a joker."
- To paint school buses red, white and blue.
- To declare Texas' sovereignty extends 27 marine miles from its Gulf of Mexico coastline.
- To require electric lights in cabooses.
- To permit either electric horns or steam whistles on trains.
- To regulate the hunting of bullfrogs.
- To make an escaping convict guilty of a felony.
- To limit a doctor to issuance of 100 liquor prescriptions in any 90 days.
- To buy the Virginia birthplace of Gen. Sam Houston and open it as a state shrine.
- To permit hunting of Mexican or golden eagles from airplanes.
- To declare every one of the state's counties has suffered from flood or drought and is entitled to reduction of taxes.
- To declare a man and wife found dead after an automobile accident, died simultaneously.

Inadequate Vocabulary Handicaps Modern Girl

CHICAGO, (UP)—Contrary to the popular belief about the dexterity of the female tongue, the modern career girl may find that she is handicapped by an insufficient vocabulary.

"We can teach girls to make out- lines of words—shorthand—but it doesn't do any good if she hasn't sufficient knowledge of the words she takes down to do a sensible job of transcribing," declares Dr. Margaret Frank, consultant psychologist.

Psychologists have found two predominant causes for most existing "boss-steno" conflicts:

- 1—The stenographer doesn't have an adequate vocabulary.
- 2—Her cultural level may be too high or too low for her business associates.

War Consciousness Develops On Island

MANILA, (UP)—With the Commonwealth government redoubling its efforts to prepare the Philippines for any possible emergency, a sudden war-consciousness appears to be rapidly developing among all sections of the population.

Not many weeks ago, the Filipino in the street went about his daily routine with scarcely a thought of war.

Today, however, United States and Philippine involvement in the war is a foregone conclusion. The constant arrival of American soldiers and warplanes and the evacuation of army families from the Philippines have served to arouse Filipino public opinion to the belief war must be imminent.

Flashes Of Life

By The Associated Press RICHMOND, Va.—It was 70 below or thereabouts in the Antarctic on January 10 when Theodore A. Petras, a member of the Byrd expedition mailed a postcard from the base at Little America to a Richmond supper club requesting reservations for a family reunion.

The night the master technical sergeant picked for the affair, May 28, was the hottest of the year in Richmond with a maximum of 98 degrees.

KANSAS CITY.—Chester W. Seiglar's frank admission that his thoughts were on fishing won him exemption from jury service.

"I just couldn't sit here and hear the evidence impartially and think about those fish in Minnesota," he told the court.

Circuit Judge John F. Cook agreed the excuse was "a frank one," but quickly added that his decision was not to be taken as a precedent.

Kitchen Shelf Holds "Home Facial" Kit

By Alicia Hart NEA Service Staff Writer.

You don't have to have a lavish fairy tale budget in order to keep your complexion firm, fresh and youthfully attractive. A weekly facial at the hands of an excellent operator is a wonderful idea, of course. But if the budget allows money for finger waves only, then it's smart to learn the art of giving your skin efficacious treatments at home.

According to Erno Laszlo, one of the famous beauty authorities, who specializes in the application of natural substance as beauty aids, any well-stocked refrigerator or kitchen shelf contains enough materials for really good facials.

Here are Mr. Laszlo's directions for an egg facial:

First, assemble your "kit"—the juice of two lemons, one-fourth cup of fresh cream, the white of an egg, a handful of absorbent cotton.

Dip a piece of cotton into warm water and squeeze almost dry, then dip in lemon juice and pat on face and throat. Let the juice dry on the skin.

RELAX WHILE FACIAL WORKS

Wash hands thoroughly, dip fingertips into the cream and spread it over face and neck, massaging it in with light upward and outward strokes. Leave the cream on while you take your bath, then remove with a coarse textured bath towel.

Now dampen another piece of cotton and squeeze almost dry. Dip it into light beaten egg white and spread over face and neck, applying an extra layer wherever there are tired lines and wrinkles. Lie down and relax until the egg mask is completely dry.

When you get up, add the remaining lemon juice to a bowl of lukewarm water and rinse off the mask with this mixture. Again cover skin with cream, pat gently upward for a second or two, then remove with cleansing tissues. Rinse face and throat with very cold water and pat dry. Apply foundation lotion and makeup in the regular manner.

RECREATION BUILDS SELF-CONFIDENCE

To this end, no one is allowed to sit in gloomy silence. Talking book machines are provided for new arrivals. For those who have learned to read Braille, there is a well-stocked library. Included on the St. Dunstan's program are dominoes and darts, croquet, rowing, "clock golf" and dancing.

All these help to build very necessary self-confidence. When patients have been acclimated, they are taught useful trades such as carpentry, weaving, massage. St. Dunstan's has found that experienced blind craftsmen are often the best teachers of the blind.

The hospital's constantly increasing program to aid the war blinded is being aided by donations from the British War Relief Society in America, which has pledged a minimum of $100,000 towards its support.

CRIBbage SERIES TIED AFTER 5,000TH GAME

LEBANON, Ind., (UP)—Three years ago Ruth Evans and Robert Hunter of Lebanon began a series of cribbage games. When they reached the 5,000th game they decided to check up and find out who won, and discovered that:

It had taken 833 1/2 hours, or 104 eight-hour days; neither of them had been dealt a perfect hand, and —Miss Evans had won 2,500 games and Hunter had won 2,500 games.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

Don't feel sorry for the June Bride, 1941, because she isn't being married in happier times. She doesn't feel sorry for herself.

She is as happy and excited over her plans as any bride of any year. She is marrying the man of her choice. And that, after all, is such a miracle to a girl in love that nothing can dim or spoil it.

True, she hasn't a very secure future. She doesn't dare sink a lot of money into, or go into debt for, a lot of furniture.

She and her young man don't even dare to sign a lease unless there is a loophole in it that will let them wriggle out of the contract in case the young man is called into the army.

She hopes her wedding presents will be the kind that doesn't take up much room—if they should have to go into storage for a year or two.

NEVER KNOW SECURITY

But all those things she takes for granted. She isn't being sentimentally sorry for herself.

After all she has never known much security. She was able to go to college because she was willing to help put herself through school.

Her Dad couldn't do it all—and she didn't expect him to.

So her lack of security now does not trouble her too much. Of course, she doesn't like to think that her young man may have to leave her—and in a short time, too.

But she figures they are lucky to be able to marry now, no matter what comes later.

CAN TAKE CARE OF HERSELF

And as for the possibility of having to take care of herself—she knows she can do that, if it becomes necessary.

Certainly, she'd like more security—a more promising future. But she's young. And young folks don't waste much time wishing things were different—or the way they used to be.

She's a 1941 Bride—and that fact doesn't depress her. So don't let it make you pity her. She wouldn't understand your concern.

She's too sure that she is the luckiest, the happiest woman in the world.

The fourth member of this year's Vanderbilt Cup winners was John R. Crawford of Philadelphia. He and McPherran are the two youngest players ever to win that title. Neither is over 25.

While this is Crawford's first victory in the Vanderbilt National Knockout contest, he was a member of the Philadelphia team that won the National Board-a-Match Championship three times, flying up from his hometown in Florida to successfully defend in 1939.

Here is one of the hands that helped to bring his team success in the Vanderbilt Cup tournament. South won the opening lead with the ace of hearts and led the ten. Guessing the situation, Crawford put up the king so as to block the suit. Then he knocked out the ace of spades. South led a third heart, and North exited with the nine of diamond, forcing out the ten, king and ace.

Now Crawford led a low club to the ace. When the jack dropped, he took his only chance to make the club suit by leading low from dummy to his eight. He saw that if South held the queen blank, the club suit could never be made. Fortunately, North held the rest of the clubs. It was then an easy matter to finesse against North's remaining club stopper to gather the rest of the tricks.

Blanquette Of Veal.
(Serves 4 to 6).
One and one-half pounds stewing veal, boiling water, 2 small onions, 2 cloves, 2 small carrots, sliced celery leaves, salt, pepper, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon lemon juice.
Cut the meat in pieces a little larger than for stew, cover with boiling water and add the seasonings. Cover the kettle and simmer gently until the meat is tender. Remove the meat and strain the liquid. There should be about 2 cups. Add the flour mixed to a paste with cold water and cook until thickened. Beat the egg yolks, stir in a little of the sauce and stir into the rest of the sauce. Place the veal on a hot platter and pour the sauce over it. Sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

Liver Loaf
(Serves 4 to 6).
One pound beef liver, 1/4 cup chopped salt pork, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 egg, beaten, salt, pepper.
Pour boiling water over the liver, let stand for a few minutes and then drain. Grind the liver, salt pork and onion together and combine with the remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly and shape into a loaf with the hands or turn into a greased loaf pan. Place a few strips of salt pork over the top of the loaf or dot it with butter, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about an hour.
Ham Mousse
(Serves 4 to 6).
Two cups cold cooked ham, 1 tablespoon gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, few grains cayenne pepper, 1/2 cup cream.

Put the ham through a food chopper using a fine knife. Soften the gelatin in cold water and dissolve in boiling water. Add to the ham and season with the mustard, paprika and cayenne pepper. Let stand until cold and fold in the cream which has been whipped until stiff. Turn into a mold and chill. Unmold and garnish with parsley.
Menu.
BREAKFAST: Grapefruit juice, parsley omelet, enriched bread, toast, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Vegetable hash, cheese sandwiches, fruit, tea, milk.
DINNER: Blanquette of veal, steamed rice, new peas, rolls, fresh pineapple and strawberry cup, coffee, milk.

French Drivers Fail To Qualify For Starting Line-Up In Memorial Day Race; Thirty-Three Will Roar Away

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29—(AP)—An all-American field of 33 cars will face the starter tomorrow for the 29th running of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's 500 mile race.

Rene LeBeque and Jean Trevoux, who went to a lot of trouble to bring their specials from unoccupied France, failed to get into the starting lineup. Their last chance passed yesterday.

LeBeque, who finished tenth in last year's "500", made an attempt but his car lacked the needed speed. He qualified at a speed of 115.603 miles an hour, slowest of the 35 qualifiers, and thus was relegated to second alternate position.

A car must do 115 miles an hour or better to ten miles to qualify. Thirty-Five Pass Test

Trevoux did not take his car to the track in the last qualifying period.

The field was filled with qualifications for three places in the eleventh row. "Deacon" Litz, Dubois, Pa., took the inside spot with a speed of 123.440 miles an hour. The other two positions went to Duke Nalon, Chicago, 122.237, and Al Putnam, Indianapolis, 121.951.

This year, as in 1940, two more than the limit of 33 starters passed the qualifications test. Louis Durant, Hollywood, Calif., whose qualifying time of 116.152 was the next to the slowest, will start only if one of the other cars isn't at the line.

Texas Longhorns Win Most Athletic Titles But Lag In Football

AUSTIN, May 29—(AP)—The sports year for Southwest Conference schools is at an end with the University of Texas far ahead in championships—but not quite satisfied.

For a decade the Longhorns have chased after the coveted football title.

They are the people's choice to win the gridiron diadem next fall but meanwhile the orange and white will have to be satisfied with this record for the 1940-41 year:

First in baseball, track, golf, swimming and cross-country; second in tennis, third in basketball and a tie for third in football.

Texas A. and M. was Texas' closest competitor but the Aggies did not win an undisputed title. They tied for the football crown, finished second in baseball, swimming and cross-country and third in track.

Arkansas won one title—basketball—while Rice took the tennis championships.

There were no other first places to be won except that Southern Methodist finished in a tie for the top with A. and M. in football.

El Paso Golfer Leads Southwestern Shooters

EL PASO, May 29—(AP)—Carlos Edwards, an El Paso Municipal Course player, led a field of 32 today into the start of match play in the 27th annual Southwestern Golf Tournament.

Edwards copped medal honors yesterday with a par 72, while defending Champion "Ske" Stewart of New Mexico, five times a winner of the Southwestern, was dropping to a dismal 81.

Two 18-hole matches were scheduled for today.

First-round pairings included: W. W. Gallagher, Amarillo, vs. G. F. Holdsworth, El Paso.

Basketball Coach Presents Letters To Seven Players

Seven Midland high athletes received basketball letters awarded on jackets yesterday in an assembly program at the high school.

Lettermen are: Charles Hyatt, Horace Brown, A. W. Jones, Billy Hall, Leonard Shepherd, Charlie Kelly, and Maurice Bratton.

Coach Earle Clark said Kelly was the only returning letterman.

The lettermen were announced soon after the season but were required to pass scholastic requirements before receiving jackets.

Mack's Athletics Win From Boston In 16-Frame Tilt

By Judson Bailey
Associated Press Sports Writer

The real sensation of the spring in the major leagues now is being provided by the Philadelphia Athletics, who have won nine of their last 11 games.

From a haphazard crew that floundered helplessly for five weeks, once losing seven straight games and another time five in a row, the A's suddenly have sprung up to challenge the first division in the American League.

They squeezed into fifth place ahead of Boston yesterday by capturing a 6-4, 16-inning marathon from the Red Sox and now not only are threatening Detroit in fourth place, but are just three games out of second.

No one will dissent in giving the greatest credit to that 78-year-old genius of the scoreboard, Manager Connie Mack, who has done it himself.

Homer Wins For Yanks

While Athletics have been raiding the east, the Detroit Tigers have conquered the first-place Cleveland Indians three in a row, yesterday by an 8-5 margin.

The second-place Chicago White Sox dropped their second straight to the St. Louis Browns 8-4.

A grand-slam home run by George (Twink) Selkirk with the bases loaded in the eighth brought the New York Yankees a 6-5 verdict over the Washington Senators.

The St. Louis Cardinals continued their burning pace in the National League with another ninth-inning rally to clip the Chicago Cubs 6-5 for their ninth consecutive victory.

A three-run homer by Vince DiMaggio gave the Pittsburgh Pirates the margin they needed to cage the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4.

Brooklyn's Dodgers preserved their hex over the Phillies by taking a 6-5 twelve-inning decision in a night game.

Sports Roundup

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, May 29—Rumor Foundry: The Brown front office is spiking stores Dick Ferrell will replace Fred Haney. They sounded the alarm because Haney tried for two seasons to get Ferrell on the club. . . . And we suppose reports that some of the Reds aren't speaking to each other are just part of the gossip that always goes along with a slump. . . . The Washington Boxing Commission says it paid Arthur Donovan $150 to referee Louis Baer, Ray C. Alvin, one of the promoters, says Donovan got a grand, which is right, and it's Alvin, who made up the difference?

Crashing The "400"

Ted Williams of the Red Sox pounded that apple for a very neat 400 in his first 30 games. . . . Which led Mel Webb to sing as follows in the Boston Evening Globe: This is the tale of Teddys the great, Who hits 'em early and hits 'em late, Who's blazed away with his trusty bat To the tune of a cool 400 fat.

Tramp, Tramp, Tramp

Hank Greenberg's outfit is marching 15 miles per day from Fort Custer, Mich., to Camp Forrest, Tennessee. . . . Good crowds turn out at every stop. At one, signs were being carried around reading, "here comes the army—and Greenberg."

Today's Guest Star

C. E. McBride, Kansas City Star: "Baseball brings strange switches. . . . Dick Bartell, now on the Giants, finds himself teamed with Gabby Hartnett and Bill Judges. . . . Bartell and Gabby didn't get along when Dick was with the Cubs. . . . And in the old days when Bartell was a Giant and Jiggs a Cub, they used to tangle every time they came together in a play at second base."

Morning Line

Fort Worth bookies quote Craig Wood, Gene Sarazen, Jimmy Demaret and Ralph Guldahl at 15-1 in the National Open. Ben Hogan is 10-1.

Zeke Bonura, bowling along at a sweet 400 clip for Minneapolis, predicts he'll be first basing in the majors before the season is over and there are plenty who will second the motion. . . . The deal the Braves and Reds were trying to make didn't involve Max West, but called for Ernie Lombardi and Whitey Moore to change uniforms with Ray Berres and Lloyd Waner. Then Ernie began hitting and the thing fell through. . . . The Detroit football Lions will move back into Briggs Stadium for next fall's home games. . . . Detroit U's orchard wasn't big enough.

Fry Beats Davis In Odessa Finals

John Davis of Midland lost to Don Fry, Odessa, 2-1, in finals of the annual Goldsmith tournament yesterday.

He defeated Bob Farmer, also of Odessa, one up in nine holes in the semi-final match.

The finals match was 18 holes.

Davis advanced to the finals with easy tournament wins over Francis Autrey and Ray Stoker, both of Odessa.

Mussolini Makes Change In Militia

ROME, May 29—(AP)—Replacement of Lieutenant General Achille Starace, former secretary of the Fascist party, as chief of staff of the Fascist militia, was announced officially today.

Premier Mussolini appointed Lieutenant General Enzo Galbani to the post which Starace had held since January, 1940, when Ettore Muti replaced him as party secretary.

Muti, now a war pilot, later was succeeded by Adelchi Serena.

The announcement, without stating the reason, merely said Starace had left the position May 25.

The Fascist militia is a combat organization of Blackshirt battalions fighting alongside regular army regiments in various divisions of Italy's armed forces.

Nazi Cruisers Sink 52,000 Tons Vessels

BERLIN, May 29—(AP)—The German high command today credited destruction of 52,000 tons of British shipping space to 'cruiser warfare in overseas waters,' marking up 41,000 tons to a single warship which "thus has destroyed more than 100,000 tons."

The daily communique declared also that the now sunken battleship Bismarck shot down five British planes last Saturday evening and sank an attacking destroyer two nights later and set another afire.

Foreign Secretary Describes Address As Momentous Event

LONDON, May 29—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told a London audience today that President Roosevelt's freddie chat was "a momentous world event" because, "by his words, the president has given resolute expression to the fixed determination of the most powerful nation on earth."

Eden said the president "described with incomparable breadth of vision the scope of the struggle in which we are engaged."

"He defined the settled policy of his country in terms which are as vigorously encouraging to us as they must be disheartening to the enemy," the foreign secretary added.

"To give effect to this policy the president has decreed a state of the United States national emergency in the United States."

"For our part, we have listened with hearts full of thankfulness to the president's determination that the cause of freedom can and will prevail."

Zale Kayos Hostak And Retains Crown

CHICAGO, May 29—(AP)—They grow them game in Gary.

Tony Zale, who once toiled in the miles of that Indiana steel city, proved that before 14,087 roaring fight fans at the Stadium last night.

Knocked spinning in the first round, he came back with a furious attack to knock Al Hostak of Seattle in 2 minutes, 32 seconds of the second stanza and retain his world's National Boxing Association middle-weight championship.

Car Fatality Brings Dallas Deaths To 18

DALLAS, May 29—(AP)—Traffic deaths in Dallas County jumped to 18 today when Marcus Morris, 16, of Addison was killed in an accident on Midway Road and Walnut Hill Lane shortly before midnight and Jack Sitten of Corsicana employe at North American Aviation, died at Baylor hospital of injuries suffered in an accident May 17.

Howe Women's Team Defeats Cameron's In Softball Contest

John P. Howe, city league women's softball ten, went on a rampage to drop Cameron's Central Pharmacy, 16-4 yesterday in a practice tilt.

Jimmie Claire Davis parked a homer for the winners. Heavy hitting featured the Howe attack.

Curt Inman's Independents took an initial workout yesterday and will engage the Wilson Dry Goods team this afternoon.

Mackey Motors, defending champions and winner over the Mustang Club in two practice tilts, play Inman's Independents tomorrow.

Southern Ice seeks a practice game today—their first engagement.

The Texas Company practiced with the Mustangs yesterday.

Clubs are using the week to prepare for Monday's opening league games.

Mann Will Battle Oklahoma Golfer In Quarterfinals

By William T. Rives

HOUSTON, May 29—(AP)—Light-spirited Mrs. Russell Mann of Homaha went out today, as she put it "to win for my married folks" as well as to essay the task of winning the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

The 29 year old matron and former Curtis cup player was the only married woman in the field of eight who were paired in the quarterfinals starting.

"Looks like I have to beat all these youngsters by myself," she chuckled.

Mrs. Mann's immediate task was disposition of laughing Pat Grant, 20 year old medalist who divides her spare time between golf and tennis.

Goldthwaite Is Beaten

Miss Grant, Shawnee, Okla., girl who chides herself with a muttered "sissy" when she dubs an easy shot and declares she "three putts like a motorboat," eliminated Polly Riley of Fort Worth, 15 year old links comer, 3 and 2 yesterday.

Miss Grant's golf was only fair but against the sterner competition in the person of Mrs. Mann she may improve. Mrs. Mann, by virtue of a fast two hole start, trimmed Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite attractive Fort Worth mother, 2 and 1.

Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., raven haired stylist who is picked to go to the finals, met Phyllis Otto, 16 year old star from Atlantic, Ia.

In the lower bracket, Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich. met Miss Hilda Urbantke of Austin, Texas, and Betty Jameson, the national and defending champion, encountered Ellamae Williams, beautiful Chicago coat model.

Many Entries For Odessa Oil Show

ODESSA, May 29—(Special)—The second annual Little International Oil Show, in Odessa, June 21-22, will be one of the largest oil shows, in the nation, this year.

Four weeks in advance of the opening of the show, 88 supply and equipment firms have signed for space totaling 29,000 square feet. Space available for the show has been trebled through the construction of two new buildings on the grounds.

Of the hundreds of exhibits, more than 55 per cent will be motorized, moving units in actual operation. All displays will have highly trained and experienced personnel to demonstrate devices.

The Little International Oil Show is a non-profit organization, headed by a committee composed of men in the oil field supply, equipment, well servicing, and production. Dick Atkinson, superintendent of Phillips West Texas-New Mexico division, is chairman of the show. Other members of the committee are: R. E. (Cy) O'Donnell, Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co., Midland; W. R. (Bert) Wheeler, American Iron and Machine Works Co., Monahans; Theo. B. (Doc) Suddreth, Me-Tex Supply Co., Hobb, N. M.; J. H. (Huey) Rives, Atlas Supply Co., Odessa; and M. B. (Tommy) Thompson, Hinderliter Tool Co., Odessa.

France Will Protest Bombing Raid On Sfax

VICHY, Unoccupied France, May 29—(AP)—The French government announced today it was formally protesting against the bombing of the French North African port of Sfax yesterday by British warplanes.

The protest will be lodged with the United States Department of State for transmission to the British government, the announcement said.

Rain Interrupts Buffaloes Spurt

By The Associated Press

It's not the other Texas League teams that the Houston Buffs fear—it's rain.

Wet weather seems to be about the only means of stopping the Buffs in their steady drive toward the championship. Last night for the second time in a row excessive dampness prevented the Buffaloes from tangling with the sixth-place Beaumont Exporters at Houston.

The San Antonio at Shreveport contest also was washed out, but element weather enabled the Fort Worth Cats to get into action and wrest a 7-3 victory from the Indians at Tulsa were edging out a 3-2 win from the Dallas Rebels.
