Bailey County Farmers Prepare To Plant Another Crop

Cotton Growers Receive Four Choices In Planting Acreage

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman announced Saturday provisions of a new cotton stabilization program for 1964 as they affect growers and domestic mills. The provisions were drawn in line with the new wheat-cotton bill which President Johnson signed.

The cotton program will retain the 1.6 million acre planting allotment established last winter for this year's crop.

Growers will have four choices of operations as follows:

1. They can plant within their effective basic planting allotment

— which would include any acreage reallocated to them or allocations surrendered by other growers. These farmers will be eligible for price supports at 30 cents a pound, about 2.5 cents less than last year.

2. Growers can plant within what is called a domestic allotment designed to help to reduce production at a time when surpluses are large. The domestic allotment will be 33 per cent less than the basic allotment — that is, their share of the nation's 16 million acre allotment. For small farms — those of 15 acres or less — the domestic allotment will be 15 acres or which is smaller.

Farmers who plant within their domestic allotment will be eligible for price support at 30 cents a pound. In addition they will get a government payment of 3.5 cents a pound for a normal yield of cotton this year compared with 30 cents available to those who planted their full basic allotment.

3. Farmers can choose to participate in what is called an export acreage allotment. This means they can plant their basic allotment plus an additional 5 per cent of that allotment. These farmers would be eligible for the 30 cents support on cotton grown on their basic allotment.

4. The farmer can choose to ignore all allotments and plant as much land as he wants. But he would be ineligible for both price supports and payments. In addition he would have to pay a penalty of about 20 cents a pound on the cotton grown on land in excess of his basic allotment.

Heretofore, growers had two choices, compliance with the allotment with consequent eligibility for price supports, or non-compliance with penalties on excess cotton and ineligibility for price supports.

The new program carries a plan for equalizing price domestic mills and foreign buyers pay for U. S. cotton. Foreign buyers have been getting the benefit of a government export subsidy of 8.5 cents a pound. This has put domestic mills at a competitive disadvantage.

Between now and Aug. 1 — the beginning of the 1964 crop marketing year, the department will make an equalization tax payment of 6.5 cents a pound to mills on all bales of cotton opened.

Area Awaiting Ground Soaking Rain: Much Acreage Fertilized

Spring has come to Bailey County. The trees and shrubs are shaded in delicate green splendor. Tiny green sprouts are poking their heads above the warmed soil in their annual struggle toward the sun. The steady, humming sound of irrigation motors underscores the roar of tractors tilling the winter rested soil, and Bailey County farmers are straining at the bit to seed a new crop.

All that is needed is a sweet, clean, ground moistening rain.

Within the next 3 days, if the soil temperature continues building up and weather conditions are otherwise normal, seeding will get underway on an area wide basis.

Many farmers will plant their cotton crops first; others will plant grain sorghum before their cotton. It all depends on the individual farmer.

But first, the ground temperature should average 60 degrees for ten consecutive days. It has not yet reached that point. The average this week has been about 54.56 degrees. Most area farmers go by this rule of the thumb. Last year soil temperatures hit the cotton planting average about mid-April.

The area wheat crop looks good. Bailey County's approximately 12-14,000 acres is generally being irrigated and the head is in the boot. The June-July harvest is expected to be "Good".

Some green bugs have been reported in the crop, but it is believed the pest will do little damage as the warming weather is expected to dispel the danger.

About 105,000 acres of cotton will soon be planted here to form the 1964 crop.

It's much too early to predict anything on the cotton crop. Area farmers are now going through one of these slow watering seasons, particularly on that land which has been deeply broken.

The on-again-off-again high and dry winds of the past few weeks have slowed irrigation. However, much of the bedded land in the irrigated parts of the county has been watered and chemical fertilizer sprayed on the fields.

Reports have been heard that some farmers have already planted cotton. However, these are unconfirmed.

Most local farmers are aiming at late April and early May feed planting. This is thought to be early enough to beat out the midge problem.

In past seasons feed planted about the middle of April has been relatively safe, but there is no guarantee that the pest will not crop up earlier than in the past.

This year about 550 acres of tomatoes will be planted here. Most of the crop will go to a Colorado firm, Western Food Products.

The company will produce a new experimental tomato in the area this year on a small acreage basis. Both the experimental and regular tomatoes should be in the ground by May 15th. Again the area must have rain first.

For the first time, cucumbers

Cub Scouts Undertaking New Projects

Cub Scouts of Muleshoe Pack 620, are undertaking work on pack Goodwill and Service Projects.

Under the Cub Scout Pack 620 Charter, according to Richard Puckett, cub master, the local scouts plan to work with and for the Muleshoe Area Public Library as a pack community service project. This is in satisfaction also of the aim of scouting to be of service to others, the community and the nation.

Wednesday members of Den 3 and Den 4 began the first clean-up campaign of the library grounds at 113 East Ash. Lion's Den Number 4, under den mother Mrs. George Britton and Mrs. Richard Puckett, consisted of Cub Scouts Billy Wimberly, Tommy Britton, Tommy Glass, Tommy Clements and Mike Morris.

Den 3 workers were Cub Scouts Lynn Dearing, Donnie Johnson, Perry Hall, Zan Walker, Andy Ray, Gerald Fender, Eddie Ellington, Den Chief Alfred Blecker, assistant den mother Mrs. B. A. Dearing and Mrs. Larry B. Hall.

The Webelos of Pack 620, under Richard Puckett and Bob Ellis, are to have their group at the library today for assistance in some of the many tasks of opening and operating the local library. Webelos are Freddie Faris, Mike Duncan, Rickey Faver, Donnie Puckett and Scott Bliss.

Muleshoe To Enter New Conference

The State Executive Committee of the University Interscholastic League announces the inauguration of a Conference AAA Girls' Basketball State Championship. All Member schools in Conferences AAA and AAAAA fielding girls' basketball teams will be assigned to this conference.

The new conference was inaugurated, first, because there are many member schools in Conferences AAA and AAAAA which field a girls' basketball team, and it was their thinking that they deserve separate scheduling. Thirdly, it further carries out the philosophy of the League that schools of comparable size should compete with other schools of that approximate size.

Just What We Need

Keeping up with American ingenuity can be a full-time job. New gadgets turn up so often it seems everyone must be inventing or manufacturing them. Always there is one more surprise, the latest being a plan to develop an edible package.

The idea is to make the container out of corn with a high starch content.

Frozen foods, instant drinks, candies and the like could be eaten without removal from the carton. Just eat as is, or toss into a pot of water, the instructions will read.

It sounds fine, and it might be the answer to our huge disposal problem.

By packing everything in edible cartons, we could prevent littering and preserve the beauty of our highways, parks and picnic areas.

The slogan would be: "Don't dump it, lump it."

If all the stuffing should lead to a weight problem, dietetic boxes would be the answer.

Box lunches, instead of tired, some fried chicken, could come in six delicious flavors. As for cereal — eat it in the box, then eat the box.

Or would that spoil things for the box-top contest people?

Local School Board Talks Bond Details

Muleshoe Area Farmers To Make Decision On Whether To Join Program Or Go Alone

With passage of the new voluntary wheat control program by the legislature, Bailey County farmers, along with those across the wheat belt, will be faced with the decision of whether or not to play up a portion of their planted acreage.

The legislation for those in this area comes at a time when available moisture is dipping seriously low and producers are watching the skies in hopes of good spring rains.

Total wheat acreage in Texas is estimated at 3,735,835 acres, according to the wheat harvest control office in Amarillo.

Backers of the new bill contend that without it, the price of wheat would drop from its present $2 a bushel to $1.25 a bushel, a drastic cut of $669 million from the income of wheat farmers.

There is far from a unanimous view, however, with disputes coming from all sections, including a large segment of the congressional voting strength and leaders of some of the larger farm organizations.

The bill, with strong support from President Lyndon Johnson, squeezed through congress by a vote of 211 to 201, with almost solid opposition from the Republicans.

It offers payments to wheat growers which, sponsors say, would give them $450 million more for their crops than otherwise would be possible, but these payments are limited to growers who cut back wheat acreage to a level set by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman last year in his efforts to reduce a wheat surplus.

Under this bill, farmers would have a basic support price of $1.39 a bushel.

In addition, the government would give them certificates worth 70 cents a bushel for wheat for domestic consumption, bringing the price up to the current $2 a bushel, and 25 cents a bushel for export wheat, making a price of $1.55 per bushel.

Millers and processors would have to buy these certificates from the farmers. Since they are already paying $2 a bushel, there would be no increase in total price to them and therefore, the bill's backers say, no increase in the price of bread and other wheat products.

Wheat sold for livestock feed or outside the program would be supported at $1.30.

Farmers would continue to get federal payments for reducing their plantings below federal acreage allotments.

Acreage allotments would be based on a national allotment of not less than 49.5 million acres. Farmers would have to comply with their individual allotments as a condition to receive price supports, certificates and acreage diversion payments.

The price at which the government could sell wheat from its surplus stocks is set at 105 per cent of the support price.

Republicans said they wanted this "release price" for government surpluses to be set a 115 per cent of the support price, to prevent any possible "dumping" of government wheat on the market.

Secretary Freeman contended in a statement that the program will bring benefits to farmers, consumers, taxpayers and wage owners. He said that in addition to increasing wheat income, government farm program costs would be reduced.

Sharp disagreement came from several sources, including Charles B. Shumann, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Schumann countered in a statement that the programs will be bad for all. He said his big farm organization, which wants fewer controls over agriculture, will continue to work for "sound agriculture programs."

As in this area, the winter wheat crop was planted at a time when farmers did not know what kind of program would govern this year's crop.

With rejection of the government program in the last referendum, decisions must be made by the individual grower whether to go along with the voluntary program and remain within his allotment or to go it alone and

Three Officers Elected By University Women's Branch: Book Review Given on 'SheWho Rides A Peacock'

Three new officers were elected Monday night at the local branch of American Association of University Women's regular April meeting. Mrs. Joe Costen was elected first vice-president; Mrs. Neal Dillman, second vice-president, and Mrs. R. E. Everett, treasurer. These officers will serve two year terms; Mrs. C. E. Moore is president for 1962-66, and Mrs. Mabel Laughlin, current secretary.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Laughlin and Aileen Stiervert. The Junior High School Library was the scene of the business meeting and social following the program. Mrs. Dillman presented the invocation.

A book review was the featured program. Mrs. Larry B. Hall presented the review on Dr. Margaret Cormack's "She Who Rides a Peacock".

"Dr. Cormack symbolized the changes that are taking place in India today as the struggle between Lakshmi and Saraswati," Mrs. Hall noted.

"Saraswati symbolically refers to the Goddess of Learning, who is always pictured as riding a peacock or a swan. . . thus the name of the book on Indian students and social change.

"It is Dr. Cormack's theory that if Saraswati does not discount her peacock of academic traditions, India can not develop her creative abilities, which are so urgently needed in these years of change.

"Indian students are not really following Saraswati, goddess of wisdom, for along with their society they are too busy following Lakshmi, goddess of wealth. They live in a world where security lies in economic, not intellectual, status. . . ."

The author's state aim was to look to the state of higher education in India. In the widest context she discussed the struggle of youth against the older generation, evolutionary changes in family life, marital relations, religious spheres, caste problems and political activities, such as student indiscipline. People cannot be creative adults unless their education has stimulated and developed creativity, she concluded.

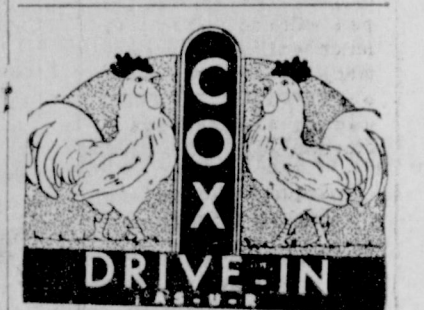

Mrs. Hall stated that only about 24 out of every 100 persons can read and write in India in 1964. There are 46 universities compared to 23 in 1950. One million adults a year learn to read and write in evening classes. Change is everywhere — in the world, and particularly India, she said.

New members welcomed were Mrs. Lena Hawkins, Mrs. Melvin R. Evans and Mrs. James A.

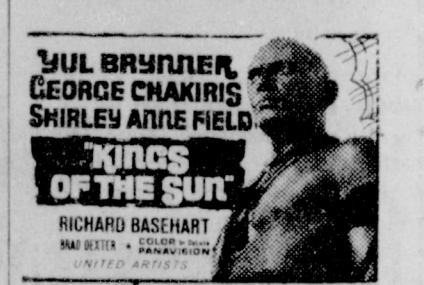

Martin. Other members attending were Mrs. Costen, Mrs. Dillman, Mrs. Everett, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Laughlin, Mrs. John Watson, Mrs. Jack Beddingfield, Mrs. Ola B. Jones, Miss Siewert, and Mrs. Hall.

The next meeting will be held May 11 with Mrs. John Watson and Mrs. R. E. Everett as hostesses for Oriental dinner in Clovis and program on Oriental Food.

MISS DEB

... answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. Two of my friends stopped baby sitting for a family in my neighborhood because the children are so impossible. I have four younger brothers and sisters, so I thought that I could handle them. Was I wrong? The last time I sat for them, the 8-year-old hit me with an umbrella. The time before he rubbed glue into the carpet before I could stop him, and the 5-year-old threw a heavy glass ashtray at me. I hate to give up and I think that I could still get them in line if I spanked them when necessary. What do you think?

A. Congratulations on your concern and determination, but a discipline problem as serious as this can't be solved by the part-time efforts of a sitter — no matter how sound her approach may be. Spanking or other punishment should not be administered by a baby sitter. Have a talk with the parents. Tell them you can't sit for children who attack you. The fact that they may lose their third consecutive sitter may make them realize something is seriously wrong with the way they are bringing up their children.

Q. I'm five feet, one inch tall and weigh 123 pounds. My measurements are 36, 32, 36 and I have ash blond hair and a nice complexion. I want to be a model and hope to work my way through college by modeling, so can you tell me how to reduce and do as much as I can to improve my figure. I'm 13.

A. Since there's plenty of time until college, you don't have to take any drastic measures such as going on a crash diet. First, try easing up on the malteds and skip the between meal snacks. If you've already tried this, ask your family doctor for a good diet that will take off pounds gradually. In addition to your usual gym and sports activities, set up a program of regular at-home exercises aimed at reducing hips, thighs and waist. Consider regular skin care to keep your complexion glowing. Do that ash blond hair justice by giving it nightly brushings and regular shampoos. Read everything you can about beauty care, and pay special attention to choosing clothes that add height and subtract pounds. And remember, the next couple of years probably will do a lot along these lines too, simply in the course of your natural growing-up. Even if you should change your mind about modeling, you'll profit by a systematic beauty plan. The attractive, well-groomed girl has an automatic advantage in the job hunt whatever her choice of work.

Q. I know teenagers have the reputation of over-working the telephone, but I'm just the opposite. Whenever I talk on the phone, especially to a boy, I get tongue-tied. What I go in for horrible stutters or I make stupid remarks I can't believe are coming from me. How can I hold up my end of the wire?

A. Lots of people aren't at their best on the telephone. It just happens that you have a slight case of "telephobia." The answer is to listen — really listen. Just try to understand what the other person is telling you. Then, allow yourself a short, deliberate pause before you start talking. You'll find your thoughts will gather more easily, and words will come out in a much more relaxed manner. Stop thinking that every second of silence is awkward. Also, try picturing the person you're talking to. This way you'll be talking to a live personality, not just a mechanical voice.

Fancy Lemon Pie

There's almost a taste of sunshine in this lemon-cheese pie. The filling is fluffy as a cloud, and is poured into a flaky pie shell you have baked beforehand. Easiest pie—and prettiest—you could whip up! Mint leaves and sliced lemon garnish the swirled top. The recipe uses cream cheese, pie filling and lemon peel. These delicious flavors are enhanced by the addition of 7-Up with its delicate blend of lemon and lime oils.

Lemon Sunshine Cheese Pie

- 1 package (8 1/2 ounces) lemon pie filling mix (not instant)
  - 2 1/4 cups 7-Up
  - 2 eggs, separated
  - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
  - 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
  - 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
  - 1/4 cup sugar
  - 1 (9-inch) baked pie shell
- Combine pie filling mix and 1/4 cup 7-Up in saucepan. Blend in 2 egg yolks. Add remaining 7-Up. Stirring constantly, cook over medium heat to a full boil. Remove from heat. Add lemon juice, lemon peel and cream cheese, beating until smooth. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into lemon mixture. Pour into baked pie shell. Garnish with lemon slice and mint leaves. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Fabulous Chocolate Pastry Cake

You'll love this four-layered beauty with its pastry layers and its delicious creamy chocolate filling. Chocolate also gives a flavor bonus to the pastry layers. Make this "conversation piece" dessert on a day that's not busy... freeze it... serve it later to very special, very important guests.

Chocolate Pastry Cake

- 2 packages (4 oz. each) Baker's German's Sweet Chocolate
  - 1/2 cup granulated sugar
  - 1/2 cup water
  - 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
  - 2 teaspoons vanilla
  - 1 package (10 ounces) pie crust mix
  - 2 cups heavy cream
- Remove wrapper from one end of a bar of chocolate. Using a vegetable peeler, dipped in hot water frequently, shave 3 squares of chocolate into curls or shavings. Set aside to use as garnish. Break up remaining chocolate and combine with sugar, water, and cinnamon in small saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until sauce is smooth. Remove from heat; add vanilla. Cool to room temperature.
- Then blend 1/4 cup of the chocolate sauce into the dry pie crust mix; divide into 4 parts. Press or spread each part over the bottom of inverted 8- or 9-inch square pans to within 1/4 inch or more of the edge. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 6 to 8 minutes, or until pastry is almost firm. Remove from oven. If pastry has spread over edge of pan, trim with a sharp knife. Cool pastry layers just until firm—about 5 minutes. Then carefully run knife under layers to loosen from pans. Place on racks to cool thoroughly.
- Whip the cream just until soft peaks will form. Fold in the remaining chocolate sauce. Spread between and over the top of layers. Garnish with the shaved chocolate. Chill at least 8 hours or overnight, or store in freezer. Makes 12 to 16 servings. Note: To freeze cake, place in freezer uncovered until firm; then cover and store in freezer. A few hours before serving, place cake in refrigerator to thaw.

Senator Ralph Yarborough of Texas, right, registers concern during testimony by Food and Drug Administration witnesses that no federal control now applies to metal parts now used in bone surgery, even though improperly tested metals can sometimes injure the patient. The Senate testimony came at hearings of the Subcommittee on Frauds and the Elderly of the U. S. Senate Special Committee on Aging. The testimony was only one of several facts already disclosed in the subcommittee investigation. "Health frauds and quackery endanger health, and testimony indicates they cost the American consumer a billion dollars a year. This cannot go unchecked," Senator Yarborough said. JIM LANGDON—A WINNER!

Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon is a 49-year-old native Texan with a winning record in public office. When John Connally appointed him to the Railroad Commission, the Governor said:

"I have for several weeks been attempting to find a man I consider to have outstanding ability, integrity and honor... I am happy we have found that man — Judge Jim C. Langdon."

Jim Langdon has fully lived up to Governor Connally's expectations. He has conducted his office in the spirit of Governor Jim Hogg, who had the Commission set up in 1891 to look after the public interest in railroad and freight rates. It now regulates also truck and bus rates and the production of oil and gas. Judge Langdon will continue to keep transportation rates in line and see to it that our oil reserves are protected against waste and greed. This will help keep down Texas gasoline prices, already among the lowest in the nation.

Jim Langdon was elected District Judge twice and re-elected Chief Justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

Follow the Chemagro Practical Cotton Program

The Chemagro Practical Cotton Insect Control Program combines Di-Syston Systemic Insecticide with careful field checks to give you effective and low-cost control of cotton insect pests.

Plant your cotton with protection

Di-Syston is absorbed as soon as root system forms to protect entire plant against sucking pests up to 8 weeks.

Good Early Growth with Di-Syston

Di-Syston is a granular systemic insecticide that is applied in the furrow with seed at planting time. It protects cotton from damage by thrips, beetles and mites from the time it emerges, but it does not harm beneficial insects. Di-Syston kills harmful pests as soon as they pierce any part of the plant to suck plant juices. It gives your crop an early, vigorous start. Cotton sets fruit earlier to make high quality bottom bolls.

Di-Syston works from inside the plant where it is unaffected by weather. It can't wash off or blow away. Control lasts from 6 to 8 weeks and more. And many growers report season-long suppression of red spider mite because of the excellent early-season control. For good early growth and more uniform stands, protect your cotton at planting time with Di-Syston.

Yarborough In Washington

Dear Fellow Texan:
My report this week is on a sad event in our nation's history, the passing away of General MacArthur, the greatest pro-consul ever to serve this Republic.

Commanding those troops was a man of destiny, the only U. S. Congressional Medal of Honor winner whose father also had been a U. S. Congressional Medal of Honor winner, General Douglas MacArthur.

His great achievement in Japan is not yet fully realized by the American people. When the occupation of Japan began in August, 1945, I was there. Its cities were black scars on the land. Two of them, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, had been incinerated with atom bombs.

Twice in my lifetime I served in the Armed Forces of this Republic under General MacArthur. Once in my youth for a year as a cadet at West Point, where he had returned from his glamorous and victorious record with the Rainbow Division in World War I as a young brigadier general, to become superintendent; and a quarter of a century later as a lieutenant colonel in the Army in World War II, I served as chief military government officer under his command in Japan for nine months, my area being one-seventh of the area and population of Japan. In the succeeding years, I corresponded with him during his retirement.

The resources of Japan were drained. Ruin and famine stalked the land. Even their religious faith — that the emperor was the god-head and couldn't lose the war — had been disproven, destroyed. The bitterest war this nation ever fought left the defeated people of Japan embittered and fearful.

General MacArthur was a soldier. I know of no higher tribute to pay to a man who dedicated his life to soldiering and who did it so well for this Republic, with a flair that inspired all Americans. His actions in Japan, his protection of private property, protection of civilians, protection of their rights, will go down as one of the greatest accomplishments of an occupying power in the history of this Republic or in the history of mankind.

They had experienced four and a half years of destruction, defeat and despair. They were a proud and intelligent people who had never known defeat or occupation. With their losses, their sacrifices, their deprivation all around them, they looked up from the ruins to see the victorious troops occupying every city and crossroads.

In 1961, General MacArthur was sent back to Japan by our late beloved President John F. Kennedy. There, on his last trip to Japan, General MacArthur told the people that war had become too expensive for anyone to win. And in his final speech to his old comrades in the Pacific, he said:

"What, you may well ask, will be the end of all this? I would not know, but I would hope that our beloved country will drink deep from the chalice of courage." That was good night from General Douglas MacArthur.

LABELS

Of late the law of warranties has placed heavy tort responsibilities on advertisers. Sometimes the buyer may treat what sellers say about their goods as promises to which the law will hold them.

In the old days a seller was responsible mainly to the buyer, but the product liability now goes beyond the first buyer. Warranties now sometimes protect the buyer's family, his friends, or innocent bystanders whom the product may hurt.

But the law is not all one way. Recently, in another state, a chemical firm sold an insecticide spray. Farmer Jones bought some, and sprayed his crops. Many plants wilted. Jones sued the firm for the loss of his plants.

The company replied that the label said "Seller makes no warranty of any kind, express or implied, concerning the use of this product. Buyer assumes all risk in use or handling. . . ."

The chemical firm won this law suit: Parties to a sales agreement, as a rule, can agree to disclaim liabilities, as for example, when the seller tells the buyer before he buys that he makes no warranty, or makes only limited ones. Jones should read the label and know of the limitation, otherwise, without any express limitations the law "implies" a warranty that the product is fit for its intended use.

Like labels, advertisements may as well as increase a seller's responsibility. In a famous case a car maker claimed that all his cars' windows had safety glass that would not shatter when hit by small rocks. Smith bought a car, but when a pebble struck the glass, it shattered, hurting him badly. The court held that the seller had made warranties by advertising his car windows' special features to consumers. He had to pay.

In another case, Mrs. Brown was famous for her chicken salad. She bought canned chicken which was labeled and advertised as having "no bones." This time her chickensalad contained several broken bones which hurt her mouth. The court held that the canner had to pay Mrs. Brown for her injuries. She had a right to think there were no bones at all in the can.

Greek Nonsense

The latest proof of the fickleness of mobs—if any proof be needed - is the spectacle of Greek mobs parading through the streets in Athens carrying anti-U.S. signs and shout-anti-U.S. slogans.

Greek emotionalism is a result of the U.S. role in the ancient row over Cyprus. There Greeks and Turks have been sparring with each other through the centuries and tension on the island has been high in recent years.

The United States seeks to keep peace and avoid a war between the two nations, both of which are in NATO. But because we do not actively side with the Greeks, we are the subject of abuse from emotional Greek mobs.

The irony is that the United States saved the nation from communists to overthrow the elected government, the United States moved into the vacuum, saved the nation from communism with a massive program of military and economic aid.

Had it not been for that emergency program, carried out by President Harry S. Truman, the nation would have almost certainly gone the way of its Balkan neighbors. Now, just fifteen years later, memories are so short President Johnson is the subject of abuse and the United States is the subject of emotional mob hatred because we maintain a neutral posture in the Cyprus controversy.

The same short memory is true with the French Government, and many Frenchmen. Saving their country-giving it back to them and then giving them, in addition, billions in aid (the U.S. extended France more aid than any other country, including England, which fought bravely throughout the entire war) has brought us a strange return!

Kites And Wires

This is the season of the year, when youngsters of various ages delight in the flying of kites.

Some of the youngsters with gray hair and many years have to enjoy their kite-flying by proxy, but boys and girls will go them one better putting up their kites in the breezes.

It is well to warn the youngsters to stay away from electric power lines and high-wires. Don't use wire for a kite-string or a cord with finsel or wire in it. Be sure the cord isn't wet. If kites break loose and the cord falls across electric wires, leave it alone.

Of course, we know that very few boys and girls who actually fly kites each spring will read this editorial. However, the retired kite-flyers, remembering the days of their youth, might be reminded to caution their youngsters. A few words of warning, sometimes, might save a young life.

Bible In The Home

Children should be taught to pray and read the Bible at home and not in the public schools.

That's the argument advanced by those who strongly favor the Supreme Court's now famous prayer decision.

True, required Bible reading and prayer should not be part of a public school's curriculum. However, this means parents who want their children to study the Bible and pray have a sober responsibility — which schools can no longer legally help them meet.

This country was founded by God-fearing men who sought religious liberty and who fled religious persecution. The Bible was the center of their home life.

Today we see a deemphasis of the Bible in the home with results beginning to show.

Just recently a Bible test was sprung of five classes of college-bound 11th and 12th graders in a Massachusetts public school.

Some though Sodom and Gomorrah were lovers: that the Gospels were written by Matthew, Mark, Luther and John; that Eve was created from an apple; and that stories by which Jesus taught were called parodies.

Eighty to 90 per cent of the students could not complete such familiar quotations as: "Many are called, but few are (chosen)"; "A soft answer turneth away (wrath)"; and "The love of money is the root of all (evil)!"

Parents, it would seem, must do better — if our children are to know the Bible and depend upon its teachings in their formative years.

LODGE AND GOP

Top Republican leaders are keeping their distance from efforts to boom Henry Cabot Lodge for the GOP presidential nomination. Apparently the surprising write-in victory which gave Lodge, United States Ambassador to South Vietnam, New Hampshire's fourteen caucation votes has attracted no major party figures to his cause.

GLENN QUILTS OHIO RACE

Lieut. Col. John H. Glen Jr. Jr. has announced that his slow recovery from a severe head injury barred an active campaign and he did not think it fair to ask "the people of Ohio to vote for a name." The announcement broke off a contest for the Democratic nomination between Colonel Glenn and incumbent Senator, 74-year-old Stephen M. Young.

Cotton Picture Looks Brighter As Manufacturers Use Fiber

Maybe it's just the spring weather making the sap run a little more freely in our veins, but we've recently been remembering some childhood advice to the effect that it's often wise to "look on the brighter side of things."

And, while the sunny side of the cotton industry street may seem pretty narrow and rocky at the moment, a little searching through the mass of cotton information that comes across our desk has revealed that a sunny side does, in fact, exist.

For instance, a nationally known manufacturer of children's clothing, using anklets as an example, says his company is getting back into the all-cotton ankle market as fast as possible after the synthetic stretch-sock craze pushed foot disease up 5.00 percent over just a few years. He says all-cotton socks let your feet "breathe" and cut down on foot disorders, and that mothers in particular are finding this out. "Man-made fibers," he says, "have a long way to go in matching the natural qualities of cotton, and a high quality product

Researchers at North Carolina State's School of Textiles have started a new project that they expect will lead to socks, T-shirts and underwear knitted from stretchable cotton yarns, enabling cotton to compete more successfully in stretch fabrics. Director of the project says he hopes to develop all-cotton yarns that will retain all of the favorable properties of cotton and at the same time have the additional advantage of being stretch-able. If you don't know what he's talking about when he speaks of "the favorable properties" of all-cotton, compare an all-cotton T-shirt with one from synthetics on a hot summer day. The difference will be obvious to you, especially if you are engaged in a strenuous sport.

A host of other new and improved uses for the king of fibers are being investigated, many of which show high promise.

On the production side of the industry, research is underway to lick some of the long-standing obstacles to lower cost and higher quality cottons. The boll weevil and other insects, verticillium wilt, weeds, seedling and other diseases, — all are coming under the big guns of expanded efforts in this direction.

Right here in our own back yard research is making strides toward adapting the cotton plant to our low night-time temperatures during the growing season, and success in this undertaking can mean improved quality and yields for High Plains cotton through faster and fuller maturity. Irrigation, fertilizer, breeding, different cropping systems and other production elements are also under scrutiny to better the conditions for growing our cotton.

Again, maybe it's just the spring weather, but it appears to us that more and more of these bright spots are showing up on cotton's horizon, and we don't think it's accidental. We believe it is the direct result of the increased interest shown by producers and others in the industry in research and promotion of their product. And as this interest increases the bright spot will increase, too.

While this was being written the news came in that the cotton bill was passed by the House on the close vote of 211 to 203, climaxing over two years of painstaking legislative work by almost the entire cotton industry. Here too is an indication that our optimism may not be entirely misplaced. All pros and cons aside, the bill does make cotton available to U. S. mills at a price competitive with foreign mills. . . . a big step in the direction of increased cotton consumption.

We suggest a patio with a swimming pool and similar lighting to the house in Plainview, which can dial moonlight, starlight or bright sunlight, according to the owner's fancy. ## Comment On Sports

By PETE FRITCHE

Washington, D. C. — The recent nonsense about taking the heavyweight title away from Cassius Clay, because World Boxing association officials didn't like the way he lived his personal life was an amazing demonstration of prejudice.

Clay supposedly won the boxing championship he holds fair and square in the ring. Assuming this to be the case, his religion or his personal conduct or his statements on race issues, have nothing whatsoever to do with his boxing championship.

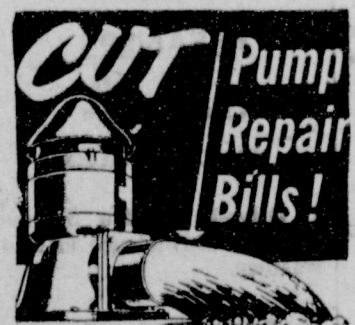

It doesn't affect his right to hold the boxing title if he is a disgrace to the United States. If ever a Yankee were ashamed of him and if he irritated every one of us daily. That has nothing to do with his ability as a boxer, or his eligibility to hold the title.

The only thing WBA officials can do, if they don't like Clay, or the things he says and does, is hope that an opponent comes along who can beat him in the ring.

If he has the chance, under the right conditions, Sonny Liston might do it. And then again, this has nothing to do with boxing ability and ring talent.

The move to strip Clay of his title was a childish misconception from the first, certain to bring worldwide condemnation if it had succeeded. Prize fighters have never been expected to be Rhodes scholars or even Sunday School teachers.

Graded Furrow Type Irrigation Systems Difficult To Maintain

As one looks over the different types of irrigation systems in Bailey Co. one of the popular types in use is the graded furrow method. Graded furrow is popular in this area because the row crops grown are very well adapted to row watering.

A limiting factor to this system might be the slope of the land. Sometimes before an adequate job can be obtained, the land must be smoothed or leveled to promote uniform water distribution in the row. Before a leveling job is started the farmer can ask for technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service. Sufficient soil depth is needed for proper land leveling and to insure maximum root growth of the plants.

The graded furrow is used because in most cases very little leveling of the soil is needed. Few expensive permanent water control structures are needed. This method is easily adapted to areas with established crops such as cotton and grain sorghum. The layout and construction of the irrigation set-up is relative simple. Light water applications can be made easily at important times.

A proper delivery system should be used in the graded furrow system to get the proper irrigation efficiency needed by the farmers of today. The best type of delivery system would include the proper size pipe to get the amount of water that the well is capable of producing efficiently.

Some hazards that farmers have to guard against are that in some cases the rainfall cannot be used to the fullest of its advantage. A high degree of skill is required to apply irrigation water efficiently. The best method to get uniform row water intake is to try to get the initial water to the end of the row in the shortest period of time, then cut back to the proper amount that will keep uniform water from one end of the row to the other. Soil Conservation Service personnel can help a farmer determine the proper amount of water to apply to each row.

Another problem farmers run up against is that it is very hard for one man to handle many acres of land if proper irrigation efficiency is carried out.

When graded rows are used erosion has to be guarded against in case of heavy rainfall during the peak rainfall periods. The design of a proper graded furrow system goes below the surface and needs considerable thought to have proper irrigation efficiency. With any irrigation problems the Soil Conservation Service can help almost any farmer achieve more irrigation success which mean more gross farm income.

Writing in a national publication recently, columnist Walter Lippman set forth what he called a "critique of Congress." In it, he includes this sweeping statement: "There is a greater business before us than the tax bill or even the civil rights bill, and that is to think seriously about the problem of making the American system of government work in the kind of world we live in."

subverted by what he calls the "smothering" of legislation by the Congress. Now I do not propose to criticize Mr. Lippman. He is entitled to his own opinion, however wrong it is. Quite obviously, as one of the chief architects of present day liberalism, and one of the chief apologists for the programs of this administration, Mr. Lippman feels the Congress is not ward his hoped-for goal of a thoroughly managed society. But since attacking the Congress has become somewhat of a fad among certain writers, television commentators and publi-posals. They are sent down to Capitol Hill from the Executive Branch every day. The Executive Branch and even some members of Congress demand immediate action. These proposals affect the lives of every American. They ought to be carefully debated; they ought to be deliberated on and examined thoroughly before being voted upon. Every member of Congress should know both sides of the question before being asked to vote yes or no. This means that a great deal of time must be spent in Committee hearings listening to qualified witnesses. Subcommittees and committees must have time to thoroughly review legislation before deliberating on that legislation, marking it up, as we say, (that is, putting it in its final form), and then reporting it to the full House of Representatives or to the full Senate, as the case may be, for a vote. Take foreign aid, for example. This was the bill that kept Congress in Washington during the Christmas holidays. Most members want to help the world's backward nations; we want also to make sure you tax dollars are being spent wisely. I don't believe that giving and giving in is the answer to every foreign crisis. Deliberation on the foreign aid bill took time, but it was time well spent. You will remember that millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money was saved, that there were substantial cuts in the bill made, and it took time for us to do that. But I think that, generally speaking, the American people are glad that we took the time to deliberate carefully and slowly and make some important reductions in foreign aid expenditures which will reflect savings to the taxpayers. As you know, members of Congress are chosen to represent their constituents to follow as far as possible the political thinking of the people in their Congressional districts or in their states, if they happen to be senators. And though it took time, there's no question in my mind that Congress, in cutting foreign aid, accomplished something for the American people. As you read and hear about the failures of Congress in the press and on television, keep in mind that, although it may not be perfect, it is still the best system that has yet been devised. It is the most stable and most orderly. And while improvements can and often should be made, speed alone is not the essence of a good or orderly legislative process. Senator John Tower said today he will oppose confirmation of Mrs. Mary Dublin Keyserling to be Director of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor. Tower said he did not question Mrs. Keyserling's loyalty to the United States, "but in view of her past associations, I do question her judgment and her ability to render such decisions as would be necessary in the post for which she has been nominated."

Editor's note: The Sandhill's Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reports on a new invention he has run across. Dear editor: Progress sometimes shows up in the least expected places. I read an item in a newspaper last night about an invention that I've wondered for years why somebody didn't think of. The Japanese have invented plastic lawn grass. This grass looks so natural and feels so natural that a lawn tennis club has tried it out and reported it works as well as regular grass. You can see immediately what this means to everybody, except maybe the lawnmower makers. All you do is surface your lawn with a light layer of asphalt, then lay the small squares of grass on that, like you'd lay tile on a kitchen floor. The results are indistinguishable from a freshly mowed green lawn. This eliminates all mowing, watering and fertilizing, and makes every lawn look just like the one next door, which is the purpose, not hurt it to walk on it, as it does regular lawns, and if part of it gets worn down, you can replace a few squares easily. Also, you can sit on it without getting grass stains, chiggers, etc. I'm just guessing, but I figure lawns in the United States, and if each lawn takes two hours of work a week during the summer months to keep it mowed and watered and weeded, that 4,000,000 man-hours of labor saved per week, and figuring an average of fifteen weeks per season, that's 90,000,000 man-hours of labor saved per year. I wish the people who buy the things farmers produce would catch on, and at harvest time come to us cringing with hat in hand ask us how much we've got to have. I can see them biting their nails and pondering: Are these imperialist farmers going to run the price up on us again this year? Why don't city people cover inside their city limits and ask: Are these imperialist farmers going to be satisfied with their territory, or are they going to extend themselves inside the city and plow up our streets for more crops? The day may come. We've already got Mr. Khrushchev convinced we're imperialists. All we've got left is 3 billion, 229 million, 299 thousand, 299 hundred other people. Yours faithfully, J. A.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

By J. Frank Peery

OUR SENIOR CITIZENS
 Today's concept of retirement is entirely different from that of a generation ago. The old notion that retirement is a state of suspended animation in which doddering invalids or semi-invalids whittle time away in their rocking chairs waiting for the undertaker is obsolete.

The family is now in a new statistical profile. In 1890, wives had their last child at a median age of 31.9 years; in 1959, the corresponding age was 25.8 years. Most significantly, the age of the parents when the last child is married is changing markedly. This median age is now 49.2 for husbands and 47.1 for wives — when the last child leaves home, this change, plus the population's increasing longevity — over 71 years for husbands and 77 years for wives — means a longer span of life when Mom and Dad will be together but alone. This new "leisure" will have an impact on the senior citizen. It already has.

Today, the modern world calls to our senior citizens not to retire from life but to retire to a new life. When a person retires now, he can simply change to a new occupation or a new career in which he can continue to grow in personal value and usefulness. Those of us who are still in the middle years or in the prime of life should be concerned about our present senior citizens and also about the day when we turn the day that opens the door to our senior citizenship.

Success and happiness in retirement, as in any period of life, depends on the effort, knowledge and common sense one brings into this span of life. Preparation for retirement is fully as important as preparation for a career in a trade, profession, or business. One must learn how to live in retirement just as one learned to live in other stages of life. There seems to be no single formula for happiness in retirement. However, what is best for one in retirement requires objective thinking about oneself, one's ambitions, one's requirements and abilities. Adjustments to a new way of life and provision for financial security must be made. Thus, one must have a mature perfected attitude toward life in general and toward what retirement really means.

It is a fact that neither Social Security nor pension income can solve all the problems presented by the man or woman who is still active at 65 years or 70 years. Therefore, it is important to look ahead for additional means to assure happy and productive lives in the years called retirement.

Frankly Speaking — A person should begin planning in a practical and positive way for retirement while he is still "in the harness". By the way, when have you made a call or said a kind word to one of our local senior citizens?

Washington Notes

Washington, D. C. — Whether by design or consequence of circumstance emerging from the Kennedy shadow much more rapidly than many people had expected.

Granted that much of his legislative program so far has been inherited from his predecessor, he has nonetheless added some embellishments of his own. More than that, he has displayed some special talents of the strictly Johnson variety in getting Congress to go along with the proposals, regardless of their origin.

Perhaps more significant, however, is the fashion in which he has been able to smoothly incorporate into his closest circle of advisors people bearing the indelible LBJ brand to replace holdovers from the Kennedy era. It's been done without undue fanfare or disruption and apparently without ruffled feelings on anybody's part or any party-splitting scars.

Most notable departees, of course, have been Ted Sorenson, Arthur Schlesinger and most recently Pierre Salinger. Others of the original Kennedy White House coterie have been given different and in most cases less influential roles and it appears certain some of them will be leaving fairly soon, too. Speculation is that Kenneth O'Donnell, now doing political chores instead of handling White House appointments, may be the next one.

If the new advisors at the White House are the ones who must fashion and present the Johnson image in Washington it is the party organization, by and large, which must be counted on to carry the ball for the President at the national convention and in the pre-election campaign.

It is then to be expected that the President will want to work hand-in-glove with them and there's every evidence he is doing that, including his feature address to a Congressional fundraising dinner in Washington.

Providing Capitol Hill gossip has any foundation, there may even be Cabinet changes before the fall election as well as after it. Attorney General Robert Kennedy has publicly said he does not plan to serve after November but the political bettors think his resignation could come before then, regardless of whether he becomes part of the Democratic ticket as now seems possible.

Conversely, a Cabinet member whose position has been solidified in recent months is Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges. Rumors were rife before last Nov. 22 that Hodges was not happy and that Kennedy was not happy with him hence that his resignation might come at any time.

Nobody even mentions that possibility now.

ADVICE TO MCNAMARA
 President Johnson has told Defense Secretary McNamara he wants him to stay out of the 1964 political campaign. Cabinet officers in less sensitive fields often are expected to pitch in and help win votes for the man in the White House. But the heads of the State and Defense Departments traditionally have tried to remain above the battle.

SENATOR RUSSELL'S BILL
 Senator Russell (D., Ga.) proposed a $1,500,000 program to try to equalize distribution of Negroes throughout the United States. At present, the percentage of Negro population runs from 42 per cent in Mississippi to one-tenth of 1 per cent in Vermont and North Dakota.

DE GAULLE'S VISIT
 A survey of the Latin American embassies show that all of the Latin American countries would welcome a visit by France's President de Gaulle. De Gaulle has invited Latin America in simple terms to join France "hand in hand" toward a world undergoing a "complete transformation."

MORE AID FOR SAIGON
 Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that the United States would pay nearly a million dollars a week to help support a program under which South Vietnam would add up to 50,000 men to its armed forces. This aid would be in addition to the present aid bill of $50 million a year.

The word Friendship was adopted as the motto of the State of Texas by the Texas Legislature in February of 1930.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Only the upper 15 per cent of Texas high school graduates ought to be taken in the state's top universities, the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School has been told.

A sub-committee also informed the panel that some type of higher education must be made available to all and that there is an urgent need for general upgrading of the college system. Enrollments must be built up; dropouts reduced and standards steadily improved, the study group heard at a meeting last week.

COURT SPEAKS — State Supreme Court upheld lower court decisions that approval of $65,000,000 Millican Dam on the Navasota River is final.

Grimes and Brazos County landowners challenged feasibility of the big federal project. Cities of Bryan, College Station and Navasota asked dismissal of the suit.

High Court also held an East Texas loop on operating two slant oil wells that bottom under his own property. Decision overturned a district court order which had knocked out a Railroad Commission order permitting Stewart to produce from the wells.

Supreme Court upheld the right of an irrigation district to levy flat-rate assessments against land — regardless of the exact benefit it will obtain from irrigation — when it affirmed a San Antonio appeals court decision on a Maverick County case.

A resident of that county sued the Maverick County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 contending that a $5.25-per-acre assessment on irrigable lands and a $2 per acre assessment on lands which could be irrigated by gravity was illegal.

He said his land is rolling and did not benefit as much as level land owned by others in the district, but the trial court, appellate court and the Supreme Court ruled in favor of the water district's right to flat-rate assessment.

JUVENILE PROGRAM IMPROVING — Texas Youth Council reports that there has been a sharp and welcome drop in the number of repeaters among juvenile offenders sent to Gatesville, Gainesville and Crockett correctional schools.

In the fall of 1961, the rate of returnees was 45 per cent. Then the 1961 Legislature appropriated funds for expansion and improvement of school facilities and for five council parole officers. By August, 1963, the return rate was down to 29 per cent and youth council spokesmen say they hold this since the parole personnel was increased to 2 last month.

The Rev. Cliff Kersey, council parole supervisor, said, "We believe that by an increased stay, we can keep them in school. Then when they are paroled, they are better able to adjust and hold a job, and that cuts the chance of return."

SCREWORM APPROPRIATION ASKED — Gov. Connally has requested a $5,000,000 congressional appropriation for continued protection against the screwworm menace.

A two-year program has eradicated the screwworm from Texas, Connally told congressional leaders, and feasibility of a barrier along the Mexican border to prevent re-infestation is proved. While southwestern states, livestock producers and sportsmen have financed over half the $12,000,000 program to date, Connally said, it now is an international matter and should be financed by the U. S. without local matching requirements.

The state, producers and sportsmen would continue to provide inspection, survey and other services in the U. S.

OIL FIELD BRINE — The Texas Water Pollution Control Board scheduled a hearing for July 1 at 9 a. m. on its order prohibiting the surface disposal of oil field brine in Area II of the Ogallala formation — the Middle High Plains. All area II permit holders are to appear at the hearing and show cause why their permits should be amended to conform to the permit order.

A May 27 hearing has been set for Ogallala area I — the Panhandle area — and a hearing on area IV will be held on August 5.

THE JUDICIARY — All gubernatorial candidates have been asked by a State Bar committee to pledge that, if elected, each will consult the bar committee on judicial appointees.

Vernon B. Hill of Mission wrote 11 candidates that his committee would propose no nominees, but would rate each considered for judicial appointees either exceptionally well qualified, well qualified, qualified, or not qualified.

He said a similar procedure is followed by the President of the U. S. and the Attorney General and the American Bar in appointments to the federal judiciary.

State Bar also has named a committee to consult with newspapermen and law officers about the problem of publicity on lawsuits and trials.

Apparently, the group will seek to work out some sort of joint code for policing publicity.

LEASE CALL — The State is offering 328,786 acres of public lands for lease to oil and gas producers. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has called for sealed bids on 608 tracts to be submitted by 10 a. m. on May 5.

Sadler predicted the leases will increase the Permanent School Fund by several million dollars. Gen. Waggoner Carr announced that nine new civil penalty suits have been filed against 14 alleged slant-well oil operators in East Texas.

Suits to be filed outside of East Texas, as well as the first against an out-of-state defendant, was filed in Jackson County against John Wreather of Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Carr also filed another "first" suit, claiming a Rusk County gas well was slanted.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. Connally appointed Lewis R. Timberlake of Austin to the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. He succeeds the late Millard Cope, executive of the San Angelo Stamp and Post Office.

He named Charles H. King Jr. of Dallas Commissioner of Bureau of Labor Statistics. King resigned as president of the Dallas AFL-CIO Council to accept the appointment.

Connally picked Judge W. T. McDonald of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to serve as chairman of the Texas Judiciary Advisory Committee to the U. S. Olympics.

OPINIONS — Attorney General Carr held in opinions:

Be County Commissioners are not required to name a board of managers for a county hospital at Beeville which has been leased to Seventh Day Adventists.

A Bexar County man is entitled to credit on his prison sentence for six months held in county jail.

Term of Titus County Justice of Peace Precinct 1, Place 1, began Jan. 1, 1963 and extends through 1966, while the Titus County J. P., Precinct 1, Place 2 (Unexpired term) serves only through this year.

WATER COMMISSION — South Texas Electric Cooperative, Victoria, received Texas Water Commission approval of application to take 23.49 acre feet of water a year from Guadalupe River in Victoria County to cool steam-powered generators of its new electric plant.

Commission has published a bulletin, "Research on Evaporation Retardation in Small Reservoirs, 1958-63," for the benefit of farmers and ranchers concerned with losing water through evaporation. Bulletin is available free from the commission's office, Austin, Texas.

SHORT SNORTS — Gov. Connally issued an executive order in support of the Texas Education Agency's bid to get the Federal vocational education school contract for abandoned Gary Army Airfield at San Marcos. . . . Water Pollution Control Board approved three applications allowing City of Organs to continue sewage disposal in Sabine River on condition it improves its plant facilities promptly. . . . Texas May draft quota is only 258 men, compared to 449 for April. . . . University of Texas Board of regents placed law school professor Hubert Winston Smith on leave of absence without pay during the time he is serving as Jack Ruby's attorney. . . . Texas Industrial Commission's program of merit for other states to follow, according to a University of Texas Bureau of Business Research staffer.
