Toastmasters Formed Here; Elect Officers

Muleshoe Toastmasters held its first organizational meeting this week.

The group signed up 21 charter members and elected organizational officers to serve on an extended, but temporary basis.

Vic Benedict was elected president, Alex Williams, administrative vice-president; Harmon Elliot, education vice-president; Robert Alford, secretary-treasurer and Tom Hunke, sgt-at-arms.

The group voted to meet each Tuesday night at 8 p.m. in the Bailey County Electric Co. - Op building. Dues were established at $4 per quarter. Initiation fee is $7.50.

The group will be limited to 40 members by charter, and persons wishing to join are urged to contact any of the officers. Charter memberships will be open until 40 members are reached, according to Benedict.

Farm Busy Season Is Getting Busier

Wheat is jointing. Sugar beets are up. Beds are being watered. A few farmers have started planting grain sorghum and cotton. Soil temperature is pushing 65 degrees. And there is still a lot of fertilizing to be done.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the fertilizer has already been applied in Bailey County. In the Muleshoe area, about 50 per cent of the nitrogen has been applied and a large number still plan to apply phosphorus.

Sidedressing of nitrogen will soon be in full swing. Ammonia or any of the sources of nitrogen can be sidedressed in the middle of the furrow or placed to within 4 to 6 inches of the plant.

Care should be taken not to get too close to the plants to avoid pruning roots. Since nitrogen will move after it changes to the nitrate form, sidedressing nitrogen in the middles or slightly offset from the middles will do just as much good as placing it close to

214 Sign Up For '64 Wheat Program; Extended Deadline Closes Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the deadline for farmers to sign up to join the federal government's 1964 wheat program here.

At this writing 214 Bailey County Farmers had already signed. They will divert approximately 1,100 acres of wheat land to other crops this season, and plant about 10,884 acres of wheat, according to Charles Daniels, SCA manager here.

The county has been allotted a total of about 16,000 acres of wheat by the government.

Originally the deadline for the sign-up was last Fri., but Daniels received word from USDA Friday that the deadline had been extended to tomorrow.

Confusion over whether or not farmers had signed up to participate has caused a delay in the sign-up procedure.

Many farmers who had signed original cards had assumed such signatures were all that was needed in order to participate; however, farmers who intend to enter the 1964 program also must sign new agreement.

Daniels said the 214 farmers who had signed agreements up to Tuesday constituted about 1-3 of the county's operators.

Many small farmers — those

Two Jailed: One Fined In Court Action

Three men plead guilty to various driving charges in county court this week. Two were jailed and the third fined.

Garvin V. Scott plead guilty to a DWI charge. He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

The second DWI case was that of Paul Garcia. He plead guilty, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

In the third case Johnny Fried plead guilty of driving while license suspended. He was fined $25 and costs.

who grow 20 acres or less — are not required to sign up. The "small" operators can sell on the open market without need to sign up.

Farmers who do not go into the program will not be penalized for failure to participate so long as the operator stays within his allotment. Such farmers will be able to participate in the loan program — $1.27 for this county — even if they do not sign up. If he is not in the special program and over-plants his allotment he will be free to sell his wheat on the open market.

Some farmers prefer to over-plant, feeling that the extra yield from the over-planted acres will overbalance the benefits of the program.

Jaycees Vote

Muleshoe Jaycees voted 18 to 1 in favor of the city assisting the permanent Muleshoe Area Library. The library board has asked the city to assist the facility with a $6,000 ten month budget. The matter is under study by the council.

its awards assembly for the 3rd and 4th grades at 3 p.m. Monday at the school. The awards assembly for the 5th and 6th grades is to be held Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. at the school.

DeShazo will hold to the same schedule, but will hold its awards assembly in its cafeteria.

Hilltop School has scheduled its awards assembly for 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Names of those children to receive awards were not available from the schools at press time.

teacher and church workers, as a consistent worker for all that was good for her church, school and community."

Mrs. Jones was born Lillie Ray, Oct. 27, 1887, daughter of a Texas Ranger. When she was 14 months old, her mother died. An uncle, Warren Ray, also a Texas Ranger, and his wife, Allie, took the child, along with her three sisters and a brother, to rear as their own. Oldtimers in this area still refer to those foster parents as "Uncle Warren" and "Aunt Allie". The Rays brought Lillie to the Plains in 1891.

The colorful and useful life Mrs. Jones has lived during the 76 years of her life was reviewed by those who knew her and whom she has assisted in so many ways.

Would you like to save money on your food dollar? One of the ways that you can do this is to buy foods that are in season or are plentiful at the time you buy it. In order to help you save this money each week I will include a list of the month's plentiful foods.

June is dairy month. The Department of Agriculture reports that milk and dairy products will be plentiful in June. Other plentiful foods include early summer vegetables, beef, and canned pink salmon.

About 40 cents of every dollar spent on food goes for protein items. That is, for main dish items — meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dry beans and peas. So any money a woman can save in this area goes a long way in cutting her food budget.

Here are some ways she can save:
Serve dry beans occasionally. Five cents worth of beans provide one-third of a day's protein for a young man, and the money you save could mean a steak meal later in the week.

Prepare cheese dishes for your family. Four ounces of American cheese or 3-4 cup cottage cheese will give each person a meal's worth of protein for 9 to 12 cents. Eggs are another economy protein food and so is chicken. Figure 15 cents for a third of a day's protein from each of these. On a weekend special you probably can buy chicken even cheaper — for about 11 cents.

Beef liver is also an outstanding buy in protein. It's all meat and highly nutritious — and costs but 15 cents for meal's worth of protein.

Social Slated For Shelys

Cotton Industry Problem Told In One Sentence By Mill

The new cotton program is widely acclaimed as a first step toward increased cotton consumption and an eventual solution to at least some of cotton's pressing problems. It is just that and no more — a first step. The forces of supply and demand are still to be reckoned with, and cotton is still a long way from being out of the woods.

An exceptionally clear and concise presentation of this fact has been made by Harold Williams, President, National Cotton Ginners Association. His remarks go straight to the heart of the dilemma, transcending the differences of opinion which exist between the many segments of the cotton industry, and we believe them well worth repeating.

Writing for an International cotton publication, Williams said: "High quality, competitive pricing and imaginative promotion are essential to survival in today's competitive society whatever one's business might be, whether it's ginning or the manufacture of cat food.

"The competitive facts of life are just as applicable to an industry as to an individual; and those who grow, process and merchandise cotton have real reason for concern when their biggest customer, the U. S. textile mills lay those facts on the line."

The facts to which Williams referred were illustrated with a quote from a textile industry spokesman who said earlier this year: "Speaking to you as one of your customers, . . . We only want to sell our products in the volume in which they deserve to be sold. . . . But if we cannot sell yours (cotton producers) we will devote our time, our efforts, and millions of dollars to selling your competitors' fibers."

Referring particularly to his own ginners, he said: "Many of us are so busy, however, trying to keep one step ahead of our competitors locally that I'm afraid we lose touch with some of the big forces that affect all of us in the cotton industry."

"These forces," he continued, "regardless of our initiative as individuals, could sweep the efficient and inefficient alike down a calamitous road. These forces are the over-all factors that will determine whether or not cotton in the long run will compete as a major textile fiber."

Williams went on to say that gins alone, of which there are more than 5,000 across the cotton belt, represent an investment of over one billion dollars, excluding land values, and they represent only a small portion of the $23 billion cotton industry.

"Their future," he said, "depends solely on the extent to which customers buy and use cotton products. Without this demand there is no need for lint or seed or the processes to convert them. Diminish it and the prosperity of the cotton industry is diminished. Increase it and the benefits to all are increased.

"When surpluses accumulate, acreage is cut back and the volume of cotton production is reduced. There are less bales to gin, compress, warehouse, transport and merchandise. Decreased volume results in lower efficiency, higher costs and curtailed profits for all concerned. The economy of hundreds of companies dependent on cotton suffers a serious blow.

"While we are grateful for any measure that staves off such disaster, we would be foolish to rely on this legislation to solve our long range problem. It only gives us much needed time."

In summing up, Williams said: "In terms of protecting our investment and in terms of assuring a profitable income from it throughout the years to come, the money, time and energy channeled into the industry's own effort to develop and expand markets for cotton, promise a worthwhile payoff. In the program of self-help lie the real key to cotton's competitive future."

Mr. Williams' article reveals him to be a clear-thinking, straight-talking ginmer — the kind we like to hear from. It's a pleasure to give our "Amen" to his remarks.

AUSTIN, Tex. — There is a certain sadness around the capitol. An old friend is about to depart.

That old friend is the majestic Walton building. For many years it was the home of the Game and Fish Commission (now part of the State Parks and Wildlife Commission). The building soon is to be demolished, by order of the 58th Legislature, to make way for a parking lot.

The white limestone building with its fanciful towers and elegant facade is an old-timer. Built in 1875, it was the Travis County Courthouse until 1929, when Gov. Dan Moody and the Legislature bargained and bought the building for the state for $40,000.

Although the Walton building was best known to sportsmen and conservationists coming to call on the Game and Fish Commission, it also was the home of the vocational education area office of the Texas Education Agency, the Rehabilitation District office, and the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

Just when the Walton building will be demolished is a decision due to be made by the State Building Commission, composed of Gov. John Connally, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, and Charles Coates of Chappell Hill, chairman of the Board of Control.

Sen. Tower Report

In an attempt to swing the nation's press into the anticivil rights camp, Senator John Tower proposed an amendment to the pending Civil Rights bill, exempting journalists from coverage under Title VII, the section dealing with discrimination in employment.

Senator Tower said his amendment would protect "the Constitutional principle of freedom of the press by precluding any bureaucrat from being in a position to order the hiring or paying of any writer or commentator on public affairs."

The amendment would apply to Title VII of the bill. It would add the following words on page 31, line 2 of the measure now pending:

"Except that any individual who is employed in an editorial capacity involving the preparation, selection, or presentation of the news, including, but not limited to, editors, editorial writers, journalists, photographers, announcers, and commentators, shall not be considered employees."

Tower said the bill, as now written, would bring almost every newspaper in the country, weekly and daily, under provisions of the proposed Equal Employment Opportunities Commission. The same thing would apply to television stations and magazines.

"Consider what might happen if a newspaper or station, or magazine turns down an applicant for an editorial writing position who happens to be a member of a minority group. Quite aside from the fact that the individual may not agree at all with the newspaper's editorial policy, a federal commission could decide that the newspaper discriminated in refusing to hire him on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin."

Editor's note: Historically, America's press has not operated on the principal that editorial employees must or should agree with a given paper's editorial policy. In most of the nation's papers, editorial employees give equal space to both sides of any beliefs. If they do not they should not be in Journalism, and are usually quickly weeded from the staff of any newspaper worthy of the name.

Area Loses Chance At New Industry

Tide Products Inc., has selected Littlefield as the location of its newest fertilizer plant, according to Jim Lang, district manager. Other new plants to be operated by the company will be erected shortly in Hereford, Farwell and Seagraves.

Muleshoe had been surveyed as a possible location for the plant but was dropped from consideration.

"We surveyed and looked over a number of towns in the area," Lang remarked, "And the attitude of the people here was a factor in the final analysis."

Lang also had high praise for the industrial committee of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce. "The reception of Tide management officials here was wonderful," he added.

He told the club that Tide — producer of solid and liquid fertilizers, insecticides, fungicides and herbicides — is also locating plants at Hereford, Farwell and Seagraves on the Plains. Littlefield will be the center of operations in the area.

Tide is also expanding into other sections of the United States. Lang remarked, however, that the Plains appears to be the most promising area at this time. The company is affiliated with Union Carbide Co.

The company's liquid fertilizer plant at Rio Hondo is the largest in the South. Rotarians were told. Lang said Tide originated in 1952 with multi-pump gas stations, sold out and entered the agricultural chemicals field later.

He explained the company does not work through dealers, but sells directly to farmers. Very little packaging is involved in the operation.

ATAX AUDIT

More and more taxpayers are getting audited as a part of the government's revenue collection. If selected, you may well ask, "Why pick on me?"

Well, you may have made an arithmetic mistake, deducted too much, claimed a large refund compared to your income, had a big income, had too small an income. Or, you may have been picked out by chance.

There are many audits. An auditor may ask you to bring in your records to talk over your report and that's the end of it. Again you may have several talks before the matter is closed. You may bring your lawyer along if you like or anyone who helped you make out your last return.

Sometimes a federal agent may come to your home or place of business to check your records in person. Just showing the agent your records may satisfy him. But he may "adjust" your return. You then must take steps to pay, or to challenge his conclusions.

When a special agent comes to see your records, it may be well to have your lawyer on hand.

As a rule most honest differences over taxes are settled without suits. But not always. Whenever taxes are challenged, take prompt steps to protect your interests. People have lost good defenses or claims by failing to act within the times set by law.

The workload of the tax offices has brought on automatic data processing. Magnetic tape and other devices may store and analyze returns of each taxpayer, say, by 1970 or sooner. Then more audits.

CENSORSHIP

To the American mind censorship is abhorrent. Unlike the totalitarian state, ours is a country in which men may speak, write, and publish as they wish and read and see what they want. Just as governmental requirements of religious and political conformity are intolerable, so censorship in literature and in the visual and performing arts is repugnant to our society. To be sure, there are legal limits to the exercise of free speech and artistic expression; the law prohibits obscenity that is utterly without social value, malicious libel, and subversion of national security amounting to "clear and present danger". Yet, we seem in principle to be moving toward a position in which it is and will be increasingly difficult to define and enforce the limits beyond which the spoken and written word and the various modes of artistic expression may not go.

will move increasingly to victimize our youth, our children, and destroy our moral strength. Is the public taste descending to a point of no return through mass media that reach as never before practically all the population? What about the church in this area? It is not the sole task of the church to impose its convictions upon the world, but it is the obligation of the church to declare its convictions to the world. In a day when multitudes have substituted a laissez faire morality for the Biblical ethic, Christians are responsible to live in a non-Christian world according to the teachings of their Lord and the scriptures which testify of him. Pornography is not an isolated phenomenon, but part and symptom of an era. We have let dirt become realism. We have dirt in our movies, T. V. shows and literature; but we call it realism. This realism or clean dirt is leading us to become incestuous Americans. Our criminal records the past few years speak this truth.

frankly Speaking — As decency squares off against the obscenity racket we must ask three questions. As a community and a nation, are we responsible for the thought life of today? Do we still have responsibility for our neighbors? Do we need a new awakening of non-conformity? — Christian protest is overdue.

FOR FARMERS ONLY!

ARE YOU A FLWWTMMM?

* Farmer looking for ways to make more money.

2100% return on investment sounds phenomenal, but that is the sort of return cotton farmers in this area can receive this season.

The investment is one boll of cotton every 7 feet down the row. The kind of results to be expected is an extra boll of cotton on every stalk.

These statements come from 9 of the nations leading soil scientists who have devoted most of their lives to soil fertility in the southwest and especially in the plains.

Such authorities as Dr. Alex Pope, Dr. Bill Trogdon, and Dr. Gaylord Hanes have been instrumental in the manufacturing of a completely new product at the new Plains Division Plant located at Plainview. This new product for plains soils has been named "Am-Sul-Phos".

Am-Sul-Phos contains almost three times as much nitrogen as phosphorus. The nitrogen is in a form highly resistant to leaching and losses to the air. The phosphorus is highly water soluble. The remainder of the pellet is soluble sulfate ion which reacts with excess calcium in the soil, thus giving maximum uptake by the crop of phosphorus and nitrogen as well as minor elements such as iron, zinc, boron, and manganese.

The product was used in experiments last year. Yields were increased as much as one bale of cotton per acre over standard fertilizer practices in many field scale experiments.

A 100% increase in grain sorghum yield, with high protein grain and 400% or more profit on your fertilizer investment?

Sound far fetched? ? Not at all!

Best's staff of experienced Agronomists has developed an entirely new product which contains the correct ratio and sources of nitrogen and phosphorus which combined with the sulfate ion (SO4) will result in greater efficiency of nitrogen and phosphorus uptake and in a more balanced nutrition for grain sorghum.

What is this product? - "Am-Sul-Phos".

If you have not fertilized your sorghum this year, "Am-Sul-Phos", applied as a sidedress before the sorghum is 10 inches high can double your yield and increase the protein content of your grain.

If you have applied part of your fertilizer at or before planting, apply the rest as a "Am-Sul-Phos" sidedress

All You Need Is A Little Money - Or A Lot

By NANCY EATON AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Can you afford to come to the World's Fair? Or is this one-of-a-kind, billion dollar show out of the range of the ordinary budget?

grounds, lunch and snacks, souvenirs, transportation on the grounds, and shows, but not lodging.

However, most of the fair can be seen for nothing more than the price of admission, or $6 for a four-member family ($2 for each adult, $1 a child). Since at least 150 hours are needed to see everything, a family could spend days at the $5 per cent of the fair that is free. A home-packed picnic lunch, and perhaps staying at a friend's house would make a trip to the fair very inexpensive.

Can Spend a Lot

On the other hand, an unlimited amount can be spent. Fifteen per cent of the fair exhibits have paid admissions, and a wide and unendingly fascinating variety of goods and services are on sale.

These run the range from a 35 cent hot dog to a luxury picnic dinner ($10 and up), and a 25 cent rapid transit ride from one part of the fair to another to a $9 an hour escorter service with a back seat driver-guide. The family of four determined to go first class all the way will have no trouble spending about $75 in a day.

The fair itself is only one of many expenses faced by the visitor from far away. Housing and transportation can be costly and vexing unless they're carefully planned. You can't pitch a tent in Central Park or stay in a house trailer in the heart of Manhattan. Sleeping on park benches isn't allowed either. Few camp sites are available for trailers or tents within a 5-mile radius of Flushing Meadows, home of the fair.

However, the World's Fair Housing Bureau reports 100,000 hotel and motel accommodations in the immediate vicinity. Rates vary from $3 a night for a single room without bath to $36.00 for room without bath to $36.00 for the most luxurious double room in downtown Manhattan has to offer. Arrangements for renting rooms in private houses and apartments must be made privately.

Copters Available

You can sail your hotel room to within walking distance and save a lot of money, if you happen to own a boat. Overnight slips at the World's Fair Marina rent for 20 cents per foot of boat, and mornings for 10 cents a foot.

If you don't own a boat, you can still arrive at the fair by water. Hydrofoil boats will run frequently from several points in the city. One-way fare for the 35 minute trip is $3.50. For $2.75 you can take a two-hour pleasure cruise to the fair. Coming back the same trip costs $2.

Helicopters from Kennedy International Airport ($6.00), Newark Airport ($10.00) or Manhattan heliports (about $8.00) provide panoramic approach.

Prospect but cheap transportation includes cars, buses, subways and trains. The fair has parking lots for 30,000 cars at $1.25 a day. Public buses leave Bridge every hour. Rates are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children. Chartered buses can be parked at the fair for $8 a day. Shuttle trains run from Pennsylvania Station in Manhattan and from Jamaica, L. I., to the main gate. The trip from Manhattan takes 12 minutes and costs 50 cents. Fifteen cents will buy a subway ride to the fair from any point in the underground system.

In other words, the fair will cost as much or a little as the individual visitor has to spend. But whether he goes tourist or first class, and whatever his age or height, he will find plenty to do and see.

Magic Film Though few homemakers know it, stainless steel fixtures and utensils actually have an invisible film over their shiny surface—and it's this film that makes them so rugged! According to Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, this unseen coating resists all forms of corrosion or rusting; if it is scratched, the film repairs itself as soon as oxygen touches it. A great many of you have written to me this past week expressing your concern over the deaths of American servicemen in South Viet Nam under conditions unacceptable to either you or to me. Of course, I refer to your letters about the American pilots who have died when the wings fell off their obsolete, training airplanes during combat flights for which the planes never were designed nor intended.

As you know, I have been critical of this nation's Viet Nam position for some time. To me, it is tragically unfortunate that the Johnson Administration cannot decide even now whether Americans are being committed to battle there in an effort for victory or only to delay an eventual Communist takeover. In other words, we are fighting a war of attrition there, if we apparently have no intention of winning.

If it is determined that South Viet Nam is vital to American interests and to the preservation of freedom the world over and to the halting of the Communist drive for world domination, then we should pursue the war with whatever force is necessary to win. If that means air strikes in North Viet Nam, if that is necessary, then that's what we should do.

The sacrifice of American lives in any cause other than one dedicated to victory is, I believe, totally unwarranted, and one that will not achieve the approval of many Americans.

American servicemen do not go to war as mere mercenaries fighting only for their paycheck. They battle when our Nation calls upon them because we and they are deeply committed to the principles of freedom and liberty.

Americans fight in Viet Nam today for the same cause which motivated their brothers in Korea, their fathers in World War II, or their grandfathers in World War I. They fight to preserve our nation and to defend liberty for all men.

And, when American soldiers go to war, they know that their government and their fellow citizens, for whom they are ready to lay down their lives, will be honest with them. They expect to be adequately supported.

In South Viet Nam, our soldiers have been let down. Their equipment has been far from the best our nation can provide.

Therefore, I have introduced in the Senate a resolution stating that American servicemen fighting in the Republic of Viet Nam, or at any other place, be provided promptly and in adequate numbers, with the most effective weapons, equipment and aircraft available in American military inventories.

Likewise, I have introduced legislation to provide that Viet Nam may be recorded as the place of death of Americans who fall there. Amazing as it might seem, it is not now possible for the Federal government to note, as its expense, the words "Viet Nam" on the grave markers of our dead who have died in Viet Nam, simply because we are not officially at war there. I do not think American service widows should have to pay for an inscription telling where U. S. soldiers died.
