

Campers Return From Post

The promise of the Boy Scout Handbook came to life for 12 Muleshoe area Scouts at Camp Post last week when they spent a week camping out on the grounds. They returned Saturday.

Those attending under the direction of leaders Bill Elrod, Willard Tibbits and Corky Green were Tommy Jones, Billy Kelly, Jerry Haskins, Bruce Purdy, Micky Wilson, Mike Tibbits, Archie Waller, Logan Puckett, Lance Puckett, David Gupton and Dean Gardner.

While at the camp each boy was given individual attention in the various fields of scout interest. Many worked toward and some completed requirements for various badges, according to Elrod.

The camp offered dining hall type feeding well known to most ex-servicemen, and a lake for boating and canoeing as well as archery and rifle ranges.

All attending were given training in citizenship, character building and physical fitness.

Returning leaders feel the boys learned the basic elements of democratic living, of sharing, and of responsibilities as they

BITS and PIECES

For months now we've been observing strange drivers holding up two fingers in the old World War II "V" for victory sign. Finally stopped one this week and asked if he was just being friendly or what. Learned it's an unofficial rule of the road sign in this part of Texas meaning "beware there's either a highway patrol car lurking down the road or a speed trap. In New Mexico the signal is blinking of the headlights. Highway Patrol probably doesn't think much of it, but it sure helps unorganized drivers. Let's all join in the fun.

Myron Pool and Ray Griffiths returned from a fishing trip in the vicinity of Creede, Colorado, they reported the trout were not biting too good. However, they managed to bring back 125 as a result of clean living and hard work.

Harmon Elliott reported seeing an out of town Latin American laborer attempting to get inside the Muleshoe State Bank's new drive in TV deposit box with a Sears and Roebuck Catalogue.

USDA Rule Grants Permission To Graze Diverted Land Here

United States Department of Agriculture announced Wednesday that farmers may use "diverted" crop land for grazing and hay-cutting.

ASCS officers here said no request for using diverted land in this county had been filed with the department, although earlier in the spring USDA offices had requested that "soil bank" land be freed for grazing after the early spring drought had flattened most of the dryland wheat and pastures.

Diverted acres cover those acres taken out of wheat or the feed grain program, ASCS officers explained.

One farmer-rancher, in commenting about the latest announcement said: "Permission to graze diverted lands came almost too late. We had hoped for relief back in the early spring when the dryland wheat was drying up, along with the pastures. Now that the emergency has been declared and 'prohibited' land is being opened to grazing and haying, we will welcome the opportunity, but it would have meant more if it had come a month ago." He added that he believed it would have been better to include only soil bank land rather than opening diverted acres to pasture and hay.

Wheat farmers in this county signed up in large numbers, in May. A total of 214 wheat farmers signed up before the May 22 deadline, and the ASCS officer said 10,884 acres are included in this year's program. The 214 farmers agreed to divert 1,100 acres, and this did not include acreage already diverted to the soil bank. The sign-up also did not include farmers who plant 20 acres or less to wheat, he explained.

Presumably, under the newest USDA directive, the 10,884 acres in the wheat program can now be used for grazing of cattle or for recovery of hay.

JULY 4TH CELEBRATION PLANS NEAR COMPLETE

Final plans have just about been completed for Muleshoe's annual 4th of July Celebration.

The newest development for what may be the area's largest "fiesta" atmosphere celebration is the announcement of the contracting for the appearance of Plainview's widely renowned Barber Shop Quartet and Chorus.

The group will entertain "early bird" crowds from about 6:30 p.m. until the beginning of the formal program shortly after about 7 p.m., according to Chamber of Commerce officials.

The group is scheduled to formally open the program with a special arrangement of the Star Spangled Banner and another of America. A sing-along program will follow.

The group is composed of Plainview business and professional men. Its president, Harvey Barham, is a research chemist. It's immediate past president and the man who formed the group, Hall Nall, is an auto dealer and president of the Plainview C of C.

In other celebration action, Roger Albertson, chamber president and manager of Cobb's Department store, is still receiving applications for participation reservations in the huge Muleshoe Area Talent Show, which will be the feature attraction of the celebration.

One hundred dollars first prizes will be given in each category.

This year there will be two separate categories, one for those 18-years of age and under, and another for those over 18 years of age. There will be additional cash prizes in each category.

The show is sponsored here annually by the C of C in appreciation to the people of Muleshoe and the Muleshoe trade area for their trade and public assistance to the chamber of commerce during the year.

Second feature of the evening, which will be the highlight for the children — young and old — will be approximately 45 minutes of fireworks displays.

The colorful pyrotechnics cost the chamber over $700 and will compose an "American West" display. Firing of the fireworks will be handled by the Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department under the direction of Chief Earl Ladd, according to Frank Ellis, chairman of the celebration.

According to Ellis and Albertson, the problem of the lighting has been solved with the volunteering of the South Western Public Service Company to erect special lighting poles and wiring (See CELEBRATION, Page 5)

No one has yet found just how deep it goes, but it's chuck full of so many fish there's hardly swimming room. This, what may be a direct route to China for all we know, is one of two holes which appeared suddenly. (See second section for picture of second hole.)

The student arrived August 1 last year and is to leave from Amarillo by bus, June 2, on a three week's tour before returning to her home in Neheim-Husen, Germany.

My year at Springlake High School has been a wonderful one. "I never thought teenagers would be able to function as ambassadors between nations. I did enjoy everything about the community and school, but most of all, I loved my family which has taken the part of my German family, filled with love.

"I am happy I have made so many friends in Texas, the friendliest place I've ever visited and I have grown to love it very much.

Being here has opened my mind to understanding and it will help me so much. Texas will never be forgotten.

"Also, I have enjoyed my week's stay in the Lenderson home and as I like art, I really enjoyed the painting we did while I was here, and also being the guest in the Lenderson's beautiful home. She plans to complete her high school work next year, then will enter college.

Micronaire Reading Price Cut By USDA

Micronaire, or "Mike", readings will join Grade and Staple as official measurements of cotton quality this year, reports the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service's Cotton classing office in Lubbock tells us that the classing office is ready to take a Mike reading on all cotton samples they receive, and the Mike reading will appear on the Classification Card, right along with the grade and staple.

Cost of the Mike reading service has been reduced from 24 cents to 6 cents per sample, provided the grower applies for this service prior to the time the samples are submitted; otherwise the charge will be 25 cents. Grade and staple information will be provided free, as before, under the Smith-Doxey program.

Mike describes fineness and maturity of cotton fibers. Its measured on a scale from 2.4 to 8.6, in steps of one-tenth. It works like this: When compressed air is forced through a sample of cotton, an air-flow instrument registers the Mike reading of that particular sample. Fine fibers permit less air to pass through. Thus, the finer the fibers, the lower the reading. Fineness and maturity affect the spinnability and value of the cotton.

About six weeks ago, USDA announced that Mike readings will be required for all upland cotton that goes under price support loan.

Included in the announcement was a schedule of premiums and discounts, based on Mike readings. If the reading is between 3.7 and 4.8, a premium of 13 points per pound will be allowed when the cotton is placed under the loan. No premium or discount will be allowed if the Mike reading is 4.9 through 5.1, or between 3.3 through 3.5. Also, cotton having a Mike reading of 3.0 to 3.2 will be discounted 50 points, 2.7 to 2.9 150 points, and 2.6 and below 300 points.

Mr. Palmer says all ginners in the Lubbock territory have been provided with a new Question and Answer pamphlet that explains the new Mike reading service.

A Summertime Snack Drink

After play, children generally dash in and ask: "What's for a snack?" For a pleasing answer, make it "Dutch Chocolate Vanilla Float." This delicious concoction is a snap to make, for it takes only two ingredients—Dutch Chocolate Flavored Drink and plenty of vanilla ice cream. For each serving, pour the milk-based chocolate drink into the mugs. Use large mugs for handy serving. Add a large scoop of vanilla ice cream and presto—the float's ready to be enjoyed. For an extra fancy finish, decorate the ice cream with chocolate sprinkles. In addition to its taste appeal, Dutch Chocolate Vanilla Float contains good amounts of Vitamins A, B-1, B-2, D and calcium. Borden home economists say. This concoction will prove most popular for the teenage set, but grown-ups will go for it as well.

AUSTIN — Fear of snakes will keep many a would-be camper at home this summer, even though statistics show that in the U. S. more people are killed or seriously injured in their bathtubs than by snakebites.

An unreasoning fear or ignorance may cause more harm than an actual snakebite. For example, a man who once trod on a rattler still wakes up screaming in the night. And a hunter, spiked by barbed wire thought he had been bitten by a snake and very nearly died of shock.

True, these are extremes. But if you do regard the snake as a vicious and cunning brute with a deep-seated hatred of man, you are mistaken. Instead, it is timid and retiring. The earth-bound reptile will react to man as it would to any big and threatening creature, but it much prefers to slide unobtrusively away.

Poisonous snakes of the U. S. include the rattlesnake, copperhead, cottonmouth moccasin and coral snake. One of the most prevalent in Texas is the rattlesnake.

Should you encounter a rattler, the safest thing to do, usually, is to remain perfectly still or edge gingerly away. Don't run. You only excite the snake, making it more apt to strike in self-defense. On the other hand, don't assume that it will shake its rattles as a signal of attack or that it only strikes when coiled. A rattling tail indicates nervousness rather than a sign of aggression. And, a rattler may strike in any direction from any position.

If you should receive a snakebite, don't panic. Cease activity as much as possible and lower the affected part below the level of the rest of the body. Quickly encircle the extremity with a constriction band above the bite. Use of a band makes gangrene more likely below it, but sometimes may save a life. The band should be loosened as soon as antivenin is given.

If a lengthy interval seems likely until antivenin can be given, make cuts cautiously through the skin into and just above the avoiding tendons, and apply suction. It probably is best not to make cuts if the snake is small or if it largely wastes the venom in biting through clothing.

NEWS RELEASE LIFE SAVING QUIZ GAME: ARE YOU A HIDDEN DIABETIC?

Can you spare a few seconds for what may be the most important quiz game you ever played — so important, in fact, that it could save your life? Are you on the shady side of 40? Are you overweight? If a woman, have you had any babies weighing 9 pounds or more at birth? Does either of your parents or other blood relatives have diabetes? If you answer yes to more than one of these key questions, you may be in what doctors call a "high risk" group as a candidate for diabetes yourself.

Almost anyone can get diabetes — a disease that results from the body's inability to turn food — mainly sugar and starch — into energy. But the dangers are greater for "fat and forty men and women, and particularly for those with a history of diabetes in the family.

According to government estimates, there are some 1,500,000 "hidden diabetics" — people who have the disease but don't know it — in the United States. This statistic is all the more distressing because, although there is no cure, early detection and good medical care make it possible for most diabetics to lead happy, useful lives.

Moreover, finding out whether or not you have the disease is simple. Just ask your local health department or your physician to make a blood sugar test two hours after you've eaten a normal meal. Excess sugar in the blood probably means diabetes, although further tests would be performed to be sure. Besides the questions already raised, a number of other signs and symptoms may give you a clue as to whether you're a proper subject for an early diabetes check up.

Constant thirst, excessive appetite, frequent urination, fatigue and drowsiness, wounds that are slow to heal, changes in vision, pain in fingers and toes, and itching of the skin are some of the more common symptoms of diabetes.

In many cases, however, the disease is present before any of these outward symptoms show up. That's why it's so important

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

TOO LATE TO CHANGE YOUR MIND

What if some glib salesman signs you up for an encyclopedia, or a set of pots and pans. Next day you change your mind. Can you cancel the order? Chances are you can't. The typical pattern runs thus: the salesman fast-talks poor Joyce Jones into signing an order for a set of cooking ware, silver, or what - have - you. She pays a nominal amount down, the balance to be over a long term. The price is high enough, plus a big carrying charge, but the installments run for a long time and at first look reasonable. When the shipment arrives, Joyce decides she doesn't want it, and can't afford it anyhow, so she refuses to accept it and tells the company she is cancelling the order.

But poor Joyce is out of luck. The company promptly tells her that they "sold" her installment contract to a bank or financial institution, and she must now deal with them, not the company. The company thus got its sale price in full, the salesman his commission, and the new owners of the contract expects his money in full. Sorry, but it is too late to cancel the order. This is not at all like buying from a local store, where you can usually return the goods if they are unsatisfactory or if you change your mind. If Joyce ships the merchandise back, the company will most likely refuse to accept it.

Moreover, the companies buy-to be tested if you're in the "high risk" group. Ideally, everyone would have a test for diabetes at least once a year as part of a regular physical check-up. Those in the so-called "high risk" groups would do well to be tested once every six months.

When diabetes goes undetected and hence untreated, the inevitable result is a variety of complications. These may include impairment of the blood circulatory and nervous systems. Often the vision is affected. In fact, diabetes is listed as the third leading cause of blindness in the United States.

But, when the disease is detected early and the symptoms are properly controlled by diet or by a combination of diet and medication, the complications may be much less severe, or they may be delayed indefinitely. Some day, scientists think the disease may be halted completely by a combination of early detection — and early treatment.

Editorial On The Hoof Prices

The Agriculture Department's advisory committee on cattle has recommended a government program to prop up declining prices of American grown beef.

It recommends a reduction in beef imports through voluntary negotiations with exporting nations. Many cattlemen have blamed sharply rising imports for much of their trouble, but the Department has taken the view that a heavy price decline in the last two years.

The council's suggestions and the Administration's growing concern show an awareness of the problem. Yet it would seem a probe of the giant supermarkets and middlemen is in order. There has been too much of a price differential between what the cattle farmer gets and what the consumer must pay.

There have been indications the chains which maintain their own stockyards can manipulate prices in their favor. And handlers between the farmer and retailer seem to profit excessively, while the grower is often at the mercy of the market.

Congress and the federal government should be concerned, because the free enterpris sys-

Serve A Summer Surprise:

Sunny Graham-Pecan Cake

Bake a summer surprise cake with a deliciously subtle flavoring. The secret is mace, a delicate spice that combines beautifully with Sunshine Graham Cracker Crumbs and crunchy pecans. Served with a scoop of sherbert or ice cream, the cake is an unusual, tasty summer sweet. Here's what to do:

- Sunny Graham-Pecan Cake
- 1 package Sunshine Graham Cracker Crumbs, 13 3/4 ounces, or 56 whole 2 1/2" square Sunshine Graham Crackers crushed
 - 2 cups finely chopped pecans, 2 cans, 4 1/2 ounces each
 - 1 teaspoon mace
 - 2 cups butter or margarine
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 6 eggs
 - 3/4 cup milk

Mix crumbs, pecans and mace well; set aside. Cream butter or margarine; add sugar gradually and blend well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Stir in crumb mixture alternately with the milk, beginning and ending with the dry material. Distribute batter evenly in lightly greased 9-inch slip-bottom tube pan; smooth top gently with back of spoon. Bake in very slow oven, 275° F., for about 1 1/2 hours or until top springs back when gently pressed with tips of fingers. Let cool in pan on rack for about 30 minutes. Carefully remove from pan and continue cooling on rack. When cool, store in cake box. Yield: about 16 to 18 servings.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill's Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm apparently has found out about the latest Supreme Court ruling, his letter indicates.

Dear editor: I'm not going to argue with the Supreme Court — its like arguing with a woman, you don't get anywhere, even when you're right — but there was something in the newspapers about the results of the recent decision on redistricting that I want to clear up.

As you know, the Supreme Court says state senates have to follow the same rule as state lower houses, base its membership on population, not geography. In reporting this, the newspapers said that city people would be pleased with the decision, that for years the rural areas have held the upper hand in state legislatures.

This is outrageous. They're not going to pin the blame on us country folks. Whatever the state legislature has done in the years past, it was entirely out of my hands. Most of the time I didn't even know about it till it was done. I had nothing to do with it.

Let em go ahead and redistrict, let the cities have all the legislators and senators they can get, and I predict you won't be able to tell the difference.

It will be sort of like giving the vote to women. You know, when women were clamoring for the vote they argued it would be wholesome for politics, it'd clean it up completely, to have the feminine touch felt at the ballot box.

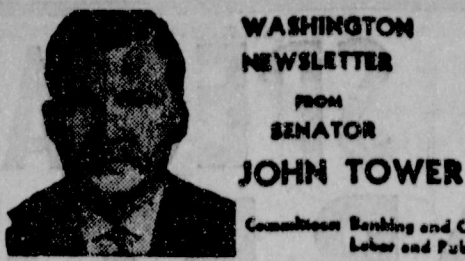

Well, I'm not going to argue about it — arguing with a woman is like arguing with the Supreme Court, you don't get anywhere, even when you're right — but I can't help noticing that we've got about as many investigating committees investigating politicians as we ever had.

The feminine touch, like the rural vote, is a myth when it comes to politics.

By the way, what is the rural vote, anyway? The votes in this precinct around this Johnson grass farm in the last state election went about on exactly the same lines as the vote around the rest of the state, including the cities.

However, if the newspapers say the Supreme Court has now

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

As you know, I report to you each week on developments in Washington. As a general rule this takes into account legislative action by the Congress, or recommendations made by the Administration in the way of proposed legislation, or some development in the field of foreign affairs with which Congress may be concerned.

This week I would like to depart from that just a little and report, not on recent developments so much as the lack of developments.

Under our system of government, you, the people, send representatives to Congress to pass legislation, or repeal legislation previously passed, and to impose taxes with which to run the government. The Administration, again under our system of government, is supposed to properly administer the laws passed by Congress, acting as agents for the people.

The system, in my opinion, is the best yet devised for government by a free people. It will not operate at its best, however, unless each branch of Government fulfills the function given it by the Constitution.

To illustrate this, I would like to report this week on the situation surrounding two subjects of extreme importance to our state, and, indeed, to the whole nation. One subject is agriculture in general and cotton in particular. The other is foreign affairs in general and the war in Viet Nam in particular. In both cases I believe foot-dragging and indecision on the part of the Administration is costing the American people dearly.

program last summer, and there will be another increase this year. In 1949 there were 13,000 participants.

"The Little Leagues were the starting point for many major League stars, but they are much more than a proving ground for baseball players. They provide healthy competition for hundreds of thousands of boys who go on to become leaders in many fields.

"This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Little League program, which began in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, with 54 players and has since served more than four million youngsters.

"I am looking forward to attending the regional championships in Breckenridge in August, a forerunner to the Little League World Series in Williamsport."

W. R. (Bill) Black, district administrator of Breckenridge will serve as Tournament Director.

Let us consider Southeast Asia first. There, the apparent inability of the Administration to decide upon a positive course in Viet Nam is costing us heavily in money, and, in what is of far more importance, the lives of our soldiers and airmen.

We have heard a variety of reports on the matter. Some time ago, the official report was rosy. The war was going well, it was said, despite clear indications otherwise. Gradually, the reports became less rosy, and now they are they grave, indeed.

In the last two weeks, two American jet planes have been shot down by Communist gunners in Laos — the toll may be higher by this time. This downing of our planes points out rather clearly that Secretary of Defense McNamara has been, at best, somewhat misleading in his frequent, reassuring statements to the American people about Southeast Asia.

Mr. McNamara has insisted that our old, propeller airplanes are adequate for the task in Southeast Asia because, among other things, they need not fear sophisticated anti-aircraft fire from the Communists. It is now obvious that this is not the case. Americans returning from Southeast Asia have said for some weeks that the Reds, particularly in Laos, are armed with 50 caliber, 37 millimeter and 88 millimeter anti-aircraft guns. It would appear to me that, contrary to the impression left by our Secretary of Defense, American pilots in Southeast Asia are going into action with equipment very evenly matched by the Communists.

We have better planes — planes that seldom can be shot down by Korean war guns. But the Administration has not yet been able to decide whether to use such planes. They have decided to commit American boys to war, but they can't decide whether those boys deserve the best planes and equipment our nation has to offer.

Indecisiveness of this sort never wins wars. It never saves lives. It does not impress either friend or enemies. It does not advance the cause of liberty.

And, meantime, here at home, this Administration's indecisive nature is causing trouble in the cotton industry. Three months ago, the Congress hurriedly passed a stop-gap cotton bill designed to make U. S. cotton competitive with foreign cotton on a short-term basis while lasting solutions to cotton's problems are being worked out.

When that cotton bill passed, you may remember that I noted that the key to its success lay in how the Department of Agriculture chose to administer it. I was worried about how it might be administered, but never did I suspect that Secretary Freeman would refuse to even decide on methods of administration. He has refused to decide where the payment - in-kind subsidy is to be applied, and as a result the cotton industry is in turmoil.

Decisions seldom are easy. But the price of delayed decisions is beyond estimation. For every day of indecisiveness on cotton, financial loss mounts. For every day of indecisiveness in Southeast Asia, the loss is counted in American lives.

Campers...

learned new scout skills and applied training received all during the year on the local level. The returning scouts feel that the time at camp was "loaded with fun and adventure."

Celebration

to supply need power. Removal of the Muleshoe Football Field's lighting last week had put the program in some jeopardy. However, the chamber of commerce's request for assistance was answered by Jeff Peeler who cleared the way for S-WPS to make possible the show this year.

Roger Albertson president of the C of C, expressed his, the chamber's and the area's appreciation of the act when he said, "They saved the 4th program for us."

The football field lighting had been removed as part of the Muleshoe Independent School District's summer remodeling program. Part of the program was the complete replacement of the football's field's lighting with more powerful and modern units.

Last year about 6,000 attended the fete. A like number is expected this year, according to director.

Some problems arose last year with the sound distribution system. Persons sitting in what are termed "sound dead areas" were unable to hear clearly. It is believed the problem will be licked this year through the use of more and more powerful speakers spaced around the field, stated Bill McDonald, chairman of the sound committee.

Lighting of the area will be under the direction of Owen Jones, stage manager.

The formal program will open with a presentation of the colors by members of the Texas Tech ROTC. The Old Mule Skinner, Gil Lamb will act as master of ceremonies.

A special surprise feature is being planned to entertain those attending, according to Roy Davis, local Chamber manager.

All entries for the talent show must be in by July 2. Entries should be made at Cobbs Department Store, according to Roger Albertson.

The idea of the huge 4th of July celebration here was conceived originally by Harmon Elliott, who served as chairman of the celebration three years running.

What's In The Box?

A great deal of sound and fury has been generated on Capitol Hill over a piece of legislation generally referred to as the "truth in packaging" bill.

And, by and large, manufacturers and distributors of grocery, drug store and supermarket items have been painted as villains.

The tendency seems to have been to picture them as deceivers and tricksters, victimizing the unwary shopper with their bargain-baiting methods of merchandising.

To some extent this is true. There are verified cases in which housewives have been tempted by flamboyant size and labeling of containers, and thus euchered into paying a kingsize price for a small product.

Such a practice is to be condemned and should be covered by adequate preventive regulation.

At the same time there is a danger in going too far in that direction. Standardization of packaging should not result in accompanying standardization of pricing, with the elements of competitive merchandising removed.

Free enterprise should be honest — either voluntarily or under compulsion. But it should be free.

Prayer - Constitution

The blush seems to be off the rose so far as sentiment for a prayer amendment to the Constitution is concerned.

The House Judiciary Committee has heard more than 150 witnesses for and against an amendment to permit school prayers with no clear mandate either way.

Constitutional law experts and major church leaders have vigorously opposed the change while smaller conservative church groups and at least 100 Congressmen have supported it.

In between, there have been some interesting witnesses to appear in Washington. While the Roman Catholic hierarchy took no position, Bishop Fulton Sheen testified and left the Committee with the impression that he supported an amendment.

Congressman Robert Leggett (D., Cal.) who had introduced a prayer amendment earlier along with scores of colleagues, has now testified that is against any change.

The prolonged hearings seem to be turning sentiment away from any tampering with the Constitution, as the grave meaning of that First Amendment is studied and restudied by witnesses, and his is probably the wise course for Congress to follow.

Glamorous Fruit Dessert

Feeling fancy? Try your hand at preparing elegant fruit ambrosia cups. Fresh orange sections and crushed pineapple are folded into a fluffy citrus-flavored gelatin mixture, then piled high into fluted orange cups.

Garnish each orange cup with a bright red maraschino cherry and place on lemon leaves for serving. This light, fruit gelatin can be used for a dramatic party dessert or as a fancy salad for a ladies luncheon or bridge party.

Orange Ambrosia Cups

- 4 large oranges
- 2 cans (8 3/4 oz. each) crushed pineapple
- 1 package (3 oz.) orange-flavored gelatin
- 1 bottle (7 oz.) 7-Up
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- Maraschino cherries

Cut off top 1/4 of each orange, using zig-zag cuts for fluted effect. Carefully scoop out pulp, reserving orange shells. Cut orange pulp into pieces and drain, reserving juice. Drain pineapple reserving syrup. Heat syrup (about 1/4 cup); dissolve gelatin in it. Add 7-Up and 2 tablespoons reserved orange juice. Chill until partially set. Add sour cream and vanilla; whip until fluffy using egg beater or mixer. Gently fold in pineapple. 1 cup reserved orange sections. Chill until almost set. Spoon fruit mixture into orange shells. Chill. Top with maraschino cherry. Serve on lemon leaves. Makes 6 servings.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — U. S. Supreme Court's decision ordering both houses of state legislatures be selected on strict population basis will have a far-reaching effect on the Texas Legislature, particularly the Senate.

In the upper house, no county presently is entitled, by the Texas Constitution, to more than one senator. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith noted that under the new ruling five of the heaviest populated counties would be entitled to 12 of the 31 state senate seats, leaving 19 senators for the other 249 counties. This would create some senatorial districts 300 miles wide. Senate districts now vary from 147,454 to 1,200,000 population.

"The high court's laudable aim of equal representation for all citizens cannot be maintained in such circumstances", the lieutenant governor said. "Equality will be theoretical only. No senator could serve such a great area as adequately as three or four senators (or even one) can serve a single county."

Lt. Gov. Smith promised to ask other lieutenant governors to petition Congress for a review and "practical relief." A similar resolution may be brought before presiding officers of House of Representatives by Texas House Speaker Byron Tunnell. However, it is doubtful how Congress could intervene except by submitting a constitutional amendment spelling out authority for states to have real bicameral (two-house) legislatures if they want to.

A Texas legislative committee already is at work determining how best to comply with a prior Supreme Court decision ordering congressional districts be formed on the basis of population only. Its work may be expanded to include a look at legislative districts as well.

OIL PRODUCTION ROLLED BACK — July oil production will be cut back to the lowest level since March, 1963, by order of Texas Railroad Commission.

In response to purchasing forecasts by 13 major companies, the Commission set July maximum oil, or 2,788,855 barrels daily, compared with the present 2,845,571 barrels.

Presidents of five Texas producers associations declared the decision, "regrettable", and said it would hamper attempts to get the U. S. Congress to effect a "very substantial reduction" in oil imports.

Commissioners also scheduled a July 16 hearing on the 1947 yardstick for fixing oil field allowances.

HIGHWAYS — Texas highways are now valued at $4,500,000,000. Chairman Herbert C. Petty Jr. of the Highway Commission announced.

Petty said every effort must be made to maintain a balanced system of highways, from the farm-to-market roads to the interstate highways, to serve all sorts of traffic.

TAX REVISION RECOMMENDED — Texas Research League proposes the states unemployment compensation tax on employers be more closely related to benefits paid former employees.

Benefit payments to unemployed have exceeded revenue for five of the last six years, a League study for Texas Employment Commission shows. However, the Texas Trust Fund, from which payments are made, cannot go broke, because a surtax is imposed on all taxpayers any time the fund drops below $225,000,000 on October 1.

League recommends extending "experience rating" of employers to lessen the threat of having a flat rate surtax applied.

SECURITIES SALES HIT PEAK — Issuance of permits for sale of securities in Texas reached a high peak for 1964 during May, with $37,062,966 authorized to 58 corporations by the State Securities Board. This was the highest monthly total since November 1962, when $42,510,619 worth of permits were granted.

TOURIST RECORD SET — Large Texas cities attracted a majority of the record-breaking number of tourists who visited the state in 1963. Texas Highway Department reported.

Out-of-state visitors totaled $11,700,000, some 26 per cent over the previous year. They spent $532,200,000 to show a 12.8 per cent increase over 1962.

Dallas was the stated destination of some 15.8 per cent, while 14.1 per cent were heading for Houston-Pasadena; El Paso drew 9.8 per cent and San Antonio 9.6 per cent.

Highway Department recently based this information in a colorful 16-page brochure available to the public. The booklet described results of the annual survey on Texas Tourist Industry, and the cover depicts scenes from the states outstanding recreational areas.

SCHOOL RULING — School boards have the right to make rules about students' clothing, State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar ruled in an appeal against an Andrews school board policy.

Mrs. Kenneth King of Andrews made the appeal which led to the ruling. Mrs. King contended that her third grade daughter, Vickie, should wear trousers to school to protect her health.

In upholding the school board, however, Edgar advised that the policy be clarified, and that clear provisions be adopted to the clothing regulation could be suspended for a student whose doctor prescribed trousers for medical reasons.

COMMISSION STUDIES PLAN TO BEEF - UP INDUSTRY — Texas Industrial Commission and the Agriculture Economics Department of Texas Tech have made a contract to study the feasibility of increasing the meat packing industry in Texas, with the hopes a solution can be found to alleviate beef import problems faced by Texas producers.

Findings will be available in the fall of 1965.

HARDIN COUNTY MAY HAVE KEY — Texas Water Commission, releasing a report on untapped ground-water resources in Hardin County, said use of that water may be a key to future industrial expansion, as it has been in the heavily-industrialized Houston area.

"Geology and Ground-Water Resources of Hardin County," a free publication, says the potential there for further development is "tremendous."

CIVIL SERVICE SCHOOLS — Austin Postmaster Oliver Bruck advised the public against paying fees to civil service schools. It costs nothing to compete in civil service examinations, he said.

There is no school operated in connection with civil service by the Federal government, and no school is given advance information which is not available to the public without cost Bruck stressed.

SHORT SNORTS
Gov. John Connally appointed Dr. Buford M. Sanders of Tyler and Dr. Joseph R. Ordile of Fort Worth to six year terms on the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

Texas is working on a plan to increase park acreage seven times in 35 years, according to W. M. Gosdin, assistant parks director.

Texas Water Commission reported water conservation storage in Texas reservoirs was 63 per cent of capacity at the end of May and only Abilene and Wichita Falls had normal rainfall during the month.

Nursing Home construction in Texas is increasing, State Department of Health reported. A total of 186 homes went under construction in 1963. By June 1 this year, 94 more were under way. Department spokesmen said the needs for plush nursing home facilities have been saturated.

THIS ONE OUGHT TO LAST 20 YEARS! That was what we thought ten years ago when we set the other pole. But increased demand for electricity calls for bigger poles and heavier lines to carry more electricity to rural areas. This new pole is just one example of the many ways in which the member-owned Bailey County Electric Cooperative is keeping ahead of demand, furnishing an efficient, dependable, economical electric service. When no one else would do the job Bailey County Electric Cooperative was the first to bring electric service to this rural area. They're still the best. Rural electrification is good for all Texans.
