JAMBOREE

Myriad Activities Capture Interest of Boy Scouts

The opportunity to get acquainted with Boy Scouts and their leaders from 42 countries and all the 50 states was the highlight of the Sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. attended by six Muleshoe boys and their leader, Owen Jones.

Logan Puckett, Tommy Jones, David Gupton, Jerry Haskins and Billy Kelly were among the 280 South Plains Council scouts to arrive home Monday night after a memorable tour of many historical points of interest and a week at the Jamboree with 52,000 members of the organization.

Paul Lenau was met by his mother outside Little Rock, Ark. on the return trip and was not available for comment. He will arrive Friday.

Logan found Greenfield Village to be the most interesting of the tour. There, they saw all of Edison's inventions, laboratories and the huge Colonial homes.

"Smithsonian Institute was something to remember, too. The mammals and reptile display was fascinating. I like the stuffed mammals better, but also liked the skeletons of pre-historic mammals, some of the three-horned type and the fossils, too.

"At Hannibal, Mo., we saw the Mark Twain cave which gave us an insight on his book where Tom Sawyer was lost in this cave. The cave is a dry cave with very little seepage. It only has about three stalagmites.

"Dodge City was educational for us to see as a part of the frontier life show there, stage coaches, etc.

"At the Jamboree, I like participating in hikes and other skills for the Jamboree Adventure award, which all the boys in our Troop earned."

"The new friends I made at the Jamboree was what I liked best of all," David Gupton said. "The entire group traded patches and things we had taken from home with boys from other countries."

"Field trips, skeet shooting and finding direction by compass was the Jamboree program events I liked best. Also the Campfires in the area where we saw and learned many things about our American Heritage."

"The lighting of 52,000 candles in the last Campfire held in the huge arena and the repeating of the Jamboree Oath was most outstanding and impressive event of the Jamboree, reports Jerry Haskins.

"Each Scout was given a candle, all were lit at the same time to symbolize the Jamboree theme 'Our American Heritage.' This ceremony was to show that each small thing or deed done by each individual added up to throw a big light on the community, state and nation, and altogether had formed the 'American Heritage,' Jerry said.

The Great Smokey Mountains was the most beautiful scenery on the trip to me, he said.

Tommy Jones said he was most impressed with the courte-

"The Black Sheep" To Be Given Sunday At First Baptist Church

A Drama Group from the Clovis First Baptist Church will be presenting a modern play, "The Black Sheep" during the Sunday evening worship service at the local First Baptist Church.

The service starts at 7 p.m., according to the pastor, Rev. Don Murray.

A story of parent-teenager conflicts, the play to be presented here will be under direction of youth director Joe Provenca. The cast is composed of Mike McDaniel, Larry Baughman, Pat McDaniel, Carol Thompson, Paulette Kinder, Reagan Cagle, Joe Jesko, Pat Harris and Judy Bergstrom.

Since the formation of the Drama Group early in 1962, the young people have presented numerous full length presentations as well as skits and fun dramas for fellowships, banquets, parties and other gatherings. The group has taken part in drama festivals for the past three years. Their first, held in March, 1962, was in Lubbock, when they presented "The Leper". In June, 1963, the group journeyed to Kansas City, Mo. to present "The Featherweight Champ", a fun drama. In April, 1964, the group went to Deming, N. M. for the statewide festival and presented "The Black Sheep". For this, they received high acclaim and praise.

According to Provenca, a thrilling spiritual experience awaits you in the presentation of this play. The public is cordially invited to attend the presentation.

Large crowd attend Republican Political Rally

One of the largest crowds ever gathered in the Muleshoe area for a Republican political meeting attended Friday night's Goldwater - for - President rally. More than 80 persons necessitated "standing room only" in the Muleshoe State Bank's community room.

Clarence Mason, Bailey County Republican chairman, presided over the county-preplanning campaign plan business. He announced the selection of Doyle Turner as precinct 1 A chairman for the Republicans. Turner, a well-known Muleshoe farmer, replaces D. L. Morrison who recently moved to Clovis, N. M.

GOP candidates in the November 2 general election for local offices were introduced. They included C. O. "Dutch" Laue, tax collector - assessor candidate; Earl Ladd, Jr., constable candidate; Jim Beller, for sheriff and Billy Morrison for precinct 1 county commissioner.

Featured speaker at the first election-year GOP rally was Joe Phillips, Lubbock, Republican nominee for 19th congressional district of which Bailey County is a part. He was introduced by Mason.

Phillips, who spoke in Muleshoe last year, told an enthusiastic audience that he opposed "the creeping socialism of the Democratic strategists". He favors states rights and individual freedom balanced against a less-centralized federal government.

"If elected congressman from the 19th district, I will endeavor to follow the desires of you - the people, feeling that the majority are against increased federal control of farming, of oil interests, of business - large and small and socialized medicine. Phillips said to the applause of the audience. "I definitely agree with the principals of the Republicanism of Goldwater."

Phillips is a native Texan, and has been active in the area farming and ranching, as well as more recently in the Lubbock real estate business.

Crops Fed by Air

Approximately 50 area farmers are now feeding their crops with the foliar feeding plan developed by Weldon Cox, Portales, N. M. According to Allen Haley, Farmers Aerial Spraying Service who makes application in this area. Cox has been working on the project and conducting experiments for the last seven years. This type of plant feeding is designed to make available to the young plant the required elements through the leaves so that the plant can become strong at the beginning, so that it can handle a larger amount of its product when it matures.

"This system is similar to the practice of giving small children vitamins so that their bodies can become stronger as they grow in to adults." The method of applying these elements by air was developed so that the plant could absorb the vitamins sooner and also to get it where it is needed sooner, and also, this method requires much less plant food as does the ground method, he further stated.

City has Perfect Water Record For 38 years

In the 38 year history of the Muleshoe water dept., the City has never asked the citizens to stack up on their water usage. Through - out the years, the city has always been able to supply enough water for the needs of its citizens. W. E. (Wendy) Young, Water Superintendent, reported that the city has drilled 10 wells in the course of its operation. The last 4 wells are now in operation, supplying an average of one and a half million gallons of water a day. The water dept. is at the present using 5 storage tanks, 3 ground and 2 over head, with the total capacity of 650,000 gallons. Young stated that with all wells in operation at once, they can produce 2,875 gallons per minute. However, the wells are set up in a system that they need not all be pumping at the same time. The water is kept under 45 - 55 pounds pressure at all times and when the water is used at a faster rate, and the pressure starts to drop, another well will automatically come on and build the pressure back up and therefore supplying enough water to meet the demand automatically.

The Water Dept. also employs an auxiliary pump powered by a gasoline engine for emergency use in case of a large fire, to supply the additional water needed.

Young stated that all of the city's wells are located within one mile of the city. Since Young joined the water department as superintendent, in 1942, the water table has dropped some 66 feet, being pumped at the present time from a depth of 100 ft. Young maintains a constant check on all of the wells and booster pumps throughout the day and night so that in case of a break down the trouble can be detected and repaired in a short time without a shortage of water. In most cases, when a well motor or pump goes out, the citizens are never aware of the trouble, due to the short time that the trouble can be corrected. Two days is usually the greatest amount of time that is required to repair a well and the other wells are capable of pumping enough water to prevent a shortage.

In June, the city pumped 39,160,000 gallons of water to an estimated 1,487 homes and businesses in the city of Muleshoe. Young remarked that the most water is used on the weekends and between the hours of 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. weekdays.

There are three men assigned to the water dept with provisions to draft eight men when needed from other depts, within the city system. The city's water system is set up in sections where any one section can be turned off in case of a main rupture, without disrupting service to other sections of town. Each section consist of two or three blocks.

Weevil Numbers Increasing

Boll weevil infestations are increasing above the Caprock. A report from Area Extension Entomologist Don Rummel says 25 weevil cases were confirmed above the Caprock as of Monday, July 20. Heaviest infestations above the Caprock to date have been found in Crosby County, with other cases reported from Floyd and Dickens counties.

Weevil infestations in cotton below the Caprock are widespread. Populations of the damaging insect continued a slow - but steady - increase this past week. Heaviest weevil infestations in cotton below the Caprock were noted in the Afton and East Afton areas of Dickens County. Light to heavy weevil infestations exist in several other counties off the Caprock.

Many farmers have started spot-spraying where weevil infestations have appeared in their fields above the caprock. Infestations above the Caprock are still light and confined to fairly small areas of the field. Spot spraying will help prevent a buildup and spread of the weevils further into the Plains. This is an important part of the overall weevil control program.

Farmers below the Caprock should begin control when infestations reach the 10-15 per cent level. Infestations of 50-60 per cent which are present in some fields below the Cap. are much more difficult and expensive to control than if treated earlier.

Accurate timing of applications can be determined only by regular field inspections.

Overall fleahopper populations have been light, although hot spots have developed in some Rolling Plains counties. Late cotton should still be checked closely for fleahopper infestations.

County Agent J. K. Adams cautions that early detection of damaging insects in cotton fields is necessary for effective control.

 Making personal appearances at the Jamboree were President Johnson who spoke to them at the Campfire; Loren Green and Dan Blocker, star of TV show Bonanza; singer Anita Bryant and Rick Nelson.
 Jones said he was most impressed with the amount of food consumed by the Scouts. About 100 freight car loads. The last Jamboree meal served consisted of 26,000 pounds of steak from 2,200 steers. Two meals of hot dogs served actually meant 22,000 was served. On Sunday, July 19, 75,000 drum sticks disappeared from the tables and 25,000 quarts of ice cream.
 The food was distributed from section headquarters three times each day and each troop went to headquarters for their food issue about an hour before each meal time.
 All in all, Jones concluded, the trip and Jamboree was something we will never forget.

AUSTIN, Tex. — A costly plan for "catching up with other states in the field of higher education has been outlined to Texans by the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.
 It will take considerable money to accomplish just one of the major tests of excellence in education — bringing Texas faculty salaries up to the national average. More is needed for libraries and research facilities.
 To help achieve goals in those three fields, the committee recommended that further college construction be delayed. By using present classrooms and laboratories more hours a day and more days a year, this saving can be accomplished, the committee felt.
 Gov. John Connally conceded that it will take new taxes to finance the program which he has termed his No. 1 interest. Neither he nor the committee recommended a financing plan. Committee did say the Legislature should double college tuition, so students and their parents would share more of the cost of education.
 Plan calls for expansion of the junior college system, and wide use of vocational training to prepare students for skilled and semi-skilled technical jobs in industry.
 Coordination, to eliminate duplication between state colleges, would be placed in the hands of an 18 - member board appointed by the governor. Board would take over duties of the present junior college division of the Texas Education Agency and the Commission on Higher Education. This would put junior and senior college and university supervision in a single group.
 Goal would be to make junior college training available to all, and to raise its level of excellence so all junior college credits would be immediately transferrable to senior colleges.
 Committee, headed by H. B. Zachry, San Antonio construction executive, is taking its case to the public in a series of meetings with business leader in their communities.
CUT AGAIN — Another 28,602-barrel cut in daily oil allowables was ordered by the Texas Railroad Commission as it held August production to 26.5 per cent of the capability of the wells. Two large purchasers complained they are over-supplied with oil and unable to sell it.
A POPULAR PLACE — Texas State Capitol is being invaded daily by both Texans and out of state tourists who come here to pay tribute to the history of the state. Men, women and children — about three times as many children as parents, it seems — literally crowd the Capitol halls, their numbers reaching as many as 1,200 a day.
 One of the most popular stops on the informal tour (there are no guides) of State buildings is the State Archives and Library, just across a walkway from the Capitol.
 There, renowned artists Peter Hurd and his son-in-law Peter Rogers are executing a mural of Texas history, featuring remarkable likenesses of Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston and Anson Jones, as well as Davy Crockett and William B. Travis. The mural depicts the conquistador as well as the cowboy.

JOHN TOWER

As you know, Congress is now marking time while preparations are being made for the campaigns this fall. In view of that, I would like to report to you today on some general observations of legislation we have acted on lately, or will act upon before this session ends.
 To begin with, the most important piece of legislation this Congress enacted was the Civil Rights bill. Despite all we could do in opposition the bill is now law. In my opinion, it is a punitive piece of legislation that should not have been passed and signed by President Johnson. The full weight of the Administration was thrown into the battle to end debate on the bill. This was not unusual, for the path of the Civil Rights bill through Congress was marked on every turn with the use of force. It was forced through House Committee in an unusual fashion. In the Senate, the bill was not even violence in the streets, while the Administration did nothing to discourage those threats. The mentally retarded will have to wait until at least September 14 to learn which will be chosen.

 Chairman of the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools site selections committee, C. E. Bentley of Abilene, said his committee will report to the board on that date. However, Bentley did not say that the committee will make a definite recommendation on a single site at that time.
 Texas Industrial Commission is boasting in the July issue of Texas Parade Magazine that 27 new plants were announced in Texas in May. Map used to illustrate the new industry points out quite prominently the fact that while the Dallas-Fort Worth area gained 12 of these new plants, seven were located in Panhandle towns and six others were in other small towns.
 Commission announced that Patrick J. Ryan of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Sylvan R. Lange of Greater Marshall Industries have been approved for the first year class at the Industrial Development Institute in Norman, Oklahoma.
ATTORNEY GENERAL RULINGS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr ruled that a county election board must furnish voting booths for all polling places within each city of 10,000 or more inhabitants.
 Carr also ruled that a county clerk does not have authority to change the fee for releasing of a chattel mortgage or lien on personal property at the time such mortgage is filed.
VETERANS' COMMISSION — State Auditor C. H. Cavness reports that the Veterans Affairs Commission helped Texas Veterans and their dependents and benefits during the year which ended August 31, 1963.

bill contains sections that are, in my opinion, a dangerous infringement on the constitutional rights of all our citizens.
 Too, Congress enacted the Mass Transit bill, which puts the federal governments in the business of assisting local municipalities with their traffic problems. The net effect of this will be the creation of still another tax-consuming bureaucracy that will be exceedingly expensive. Under it we will see ranchers in west Texas and dock workers in Galveston being taxed to provide funds for mass transportation systems in Eastern cities. I led the fight on the Senate Floor against this bill.
 The Congress continued, this session, the foreign aid program allocating more than $3 billion U. S. Tax dollars to the Administration for use in various countries around the world. I do not agree with the present approach in foreign aid spending, nor the amounts of tax money involved. I believe our entire policy of dealing with foreign nations should be studiously reviewed. I do not believe, for instance, that we should give aid and comfort to Communist countries. I do not believe we should carry on trade with them except in very limited cases and in circumstances where the advantage is clearly with us.

 In this regard, I would like to quote from a story in the New York Times of Sunday, June 28. The story dealt with repeated trips by Russian agricultural experts to the farm of a prominent capitalist in this country, for the purpose of learning all they can about American agriculture so they can apply that knowledge to the Soviet scene. The American, in this case, is one who maintains that a well-fed Communist country is not as dangerous as a hungry Communist country. In a speech before the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee in February of this year, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev referred to this particular case and said he was following the advice of Lenin, who said "everything that is valuable in capitalism must be adopted so that the victory be complete and final."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Board of Control is willing to go only half-way in the drive to take energetic tourists to the op of the capitol dome.

State purchasing and house-keeping agency asked for $16,950 to open the dome to the fifth floor. Sightseers now must stop at the fourth floor landing. Board of Control looks with disfavor on tourists going 41 feet higher, to the tip-top.

"Structurally," said the Board, "the capitol dome is thoroughly safe for its intended and original purpose - which was not as a tourist attraction."

Cost of opening the dome to the public - complete with guide service, security, repainting and janitorial service - was estimated at an additional $52,000.

Even opening the fifth floor landing is complicated enough, said the Board.

Included in its recommendations were $4,000 for a grill to catch objects dropped from the lofty landing; $3,000 for a ventilation system in the stairwell areas "to keep people from dropping out from exhaustion while climbing"; $2,000 to run a water line and install a fountain; $2,500 for annual repainting to hide the work of slogan-writers; and $350 for a first aid kit.

COURTS SPEAK - Texas Supreme Court has declined to reconsider an earlier decision holding off pipe shipping rates set by the Railroad Commission in 1962 while they are in contest. High court refused the Commission's request for rehearing. Oil field truckers called for suspension of the new rates, claiming they give railroads an unfair advantage.

In another case heard by the Supreme Court, a Railroad Commission production formula for Fairway Field in East Texas, largest U. S. oil discovery in the eight years, is under attack. W. L. Pickens brought the action to void the formulas for the field in Anderson and Henderson Counties. Pickens claims the formulas would allow neighboring leases to drain oil from under his property. Under the Commission order, allowables would be based 50 per cent on tract size and 50 per cent on acre feet of oil bearing sand beneath. District court here has upheld the order.

Finance companies won a major battle with the State when the Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin refused Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell's motion for rehearing on the State's case against Termplan, Texas Public Finance, Beneficial Finance and Consolidated Credit.

Court affirmed the opinion of the 53rd District Court in Austin that the 1963 Texas Loan Act section which says a loan company cannot be licensed unless 51 per cent of its stock is owned by Texans is unconstitutional.

EDUCATION - JOB OPPORTUNITY - Texas Department Public Safety is offering educational opportunities along with jobs for young men who can qualify.

Fifty will be selected between August and October for the DPS Law Enforcement Academy here. Graduates of the four-month school, covering 800 hours of instruction in 95 subjects, will fill vacancies in the highway patrol, license and weight, motor vehicle inspection or driver licensing divisions.

Young men 21 to 35 who can meet physical and mental requirements will be given qualifying examinations on August 8, September 12 and October 10. School will begin on November 19. Students earn $375 a month while in training and $438 to $453 a month on graduation.

REDISTRICTING - Fourth in a series of public hearings held by the Legislative Council Study Committee on Congressional Redistricting will be held in San Antonio. Legislators seek public opinion on the way to draft redistricting to conform with the U. S. Supreme Court edict. It's a matter which must be settled during the 1965 session.

Speaker of the House Byron Tunnell says he believes redistricting - both congressional and legislative - should be handled at the end of the session, after higher education proposals and tax matters are out of the way.

His idea conflicts with those of Governor Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr who have said redistricting should be the first item on the Legislature's agenda.

PASSENGER TRAIN HEARING SET - Railroad Commission issued notice that it will hold hearings on the Texas and Pacific Railway's request to discontinue operation of two passenger trains now operating between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Fort Worth hearing will be held on September 15, and the El Paso hearing on September 17. Railroad claims it has suffered a net loss of $200,000 on these trains over the past year.

FOOD STAMP PLAN - William M. Herndon, who administers the commodities distribution program for the State Department of Public Welfare, says the Federal Food Stamp Program, just passed by Congress, will take at least five years to filter down into all counties which otherwise would participate in the surplus commodities distribution program.

ADD TO HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS - Under the proposed program, low-income and no-income families may trade federally-supplied stamps for food at a grocery store, instead of limiting their supplies to those items declared surplus commodities and distributed on a county-agent basis. Luxury and imported items will be exempt from the plan. Banned from the stamp "shopping" list are bananas, coffee, cocoa and tea.

But the switch must be gradual because current surpluses must be used up, and it has not been determined yet how much Congress will appropriate for the program.

YARBOROUGH ASKS SCREW WORM FUNDS - Sen. Ralph Yarborough's Austin office announced he has urged the Senate Subcommittee on Agriculture Appropriations to earmark $5,500,000 to continue the screw-worm eradication program in the Southwest.

Unless a barrier zone is established along the Mexican border, Yarborough said, reinfestation of "free" areas will occur and a $12,000,000 investment in the program will be lost.

PARKS OVERCROWDED - All state parks in Texas are over crowded, says Director W. M. Gosdin.

Gosdin pointed out that 47,944 persons visited Corpus Christi State Park on Easter weekend and the level has held up major parks such as Garner, Inles, Goose Island, Brownwood and Fort Parker are handling capacity crowds.

A $160,000 expenditure at Huntsville State Park provided only a third of the facilities that could be utilized, reports the parks chief.

Rancher - Candidate Presents Foreign Meat Label Plan

Robert D. (Bob) Price, Panhandle rancher introduced an ordinance in the City Council of Pampa calling for labeling imported meats in retail food stores. Immediate favorable response created area-wide interest in the plan.

Price is quoted as having said, "While marking meat to show its place of origin will not reduce the import of foreign products, it will give the consumer information he should have. Quality standards of beef and mutton are less rigid on meat shipped to our market from overseas than on our domestic supplies. Health supervision is less strict. The housewife is entitled to know whether the meat she buys at the counter was raised in the U. S. or some foreign nation".

Price gained immediate support for labeling meat from community leaders, ranchers and housewives. Spot checks indicate there is no heavy influx of foreign meat in the retail outlets in the Panhandle area. Price said we should discourage any increase of foreign imports.

Kansas, California and Colorado have similar meat labeling laws, and interest in protection of U. S. high quality beef markets is spreading. Price pointed out "Congress has failed to adopt any of the several laws offered in the past to prevent mingling of foreign and domestic meat indiscriminately. That is a strange condition in view of the stringent and sometimes confusing Federal Laws governing the inspection and stamping of American meat. One of the great costs of beef production lies in meeting consumers the finest, purest own laws. The meat growers of this country recognize and accept the responsibility of assuring consumers the finest, purest products possible. At the same time, there should be no less control over that sent from foreign nations".

Price and many fellow ranchers in the area have offered information to all interested communities for similar action. He has stated that failure of Federal agencies to protect the vital beef industry makes it even more imperative that local communities and states move to defend themselves against unwarranted growers.

Price, candidate for Congress in the Republican Party, has led the area struggle against unfair competition and prices from foreign countries. Debate in Congress over recent heavy increases in beef imports has included charges that cattle health control, quality standards, and handling requirements on foreign beef are far less stringent than on domestic. Argentina, Australia, New Zealand, Mexico, Ireland, and many other meat producing nations have increased exports to the U. S. as much as 15 times over, in less than five years. American ranchers insist that is the principle cause of depressed prices in beef cattle. They consider the beef cattle industry to be in a crisis stage, a loss unless imports are reduced and better controlled.

ELECTRICITY - A GOOD MIXER

Rural people have the same need for electricity that city people have, plus hundreds of additional uses. Years ago, they tried desperately to get electric service and when everything else failed, they built the Bailey County Electrical Cooperative. This modern, efficient, dependable system furnishes a low cost electric service that is first rate. The member-owners of Bailey County find that electricity in addition to being a good mixer is a good blender, cutter, heater, cooler, grinder, lighter, freezer, dryer, pumper, sander, slicer, cooker, trimmer and a lot of other things you can probably name. Bailey County Electric Cooperative is a proud accomplishment of determined people building a better way of life in the rural areas. Rural electrification is good for all Texans.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

On June 1st of this year, the Administration announced in a joint communique with Communist Rumania, that the United States had agreed to put into effect our General License procedure under which most commodities which may be exported to Rumania from the United States will be available without the need for obtaining an individual export license.

In my report to you on June 28, I pointed out that this agreement might well work to the extreme disadvantage of our domestic oil industry. It can amount to nothing less than a drastic upgrading of the Rumanian petroleum, chemical industry, thereby making available to the Communist world the very latest in industrial know-how, as well as making available additional quantities of oil for export from Rumania.

These facilities, according to the State Department, are in the fields of chemicals, petrochemicals, electric power, and the production and procession of petroleum, and glass manufacturing.

ing available additional quantities of oil for export from Rumania. There has been a recent development on this subject that I regard of vital importance, and I would like to report to you today concerning the matter.

On June 15, following the disadvantage of our domestic Rumania and the United States President Johnson sent a formal notification to both Houses of Congress to the effect that he has determined "that it is in the national interest for the Export-Import Bank to issue guarantees in connection with the sale of United States products and services to Rumania."

The effect of the arrangements with Rumania is to give that country a preferred position in economic relations with the United States as compared with that of most other Communist Bloc members. In effect, we would be helping to build the economy of Rumania, as we have built the economy of Communist Yugoslavia, and Poland, to a lesser degree.

In return for this we extracted a promise from Rumania that the "products, designs and technology" exported from the United States would not be transhipped or re-exported without the proper consent of the U. S. However, on July 8, just a little more than one month after signing the agreement with the United States, the Rumanian government signed another agreement with Communist China that provided "scientific, technical cooperation and forecasting exchange of documentation and analyses in the areas of oil, chemical and food industries."

It would be very foolish, in my opinion, to think that the benefits of the agreement between the United States and Rumania will not thereby endure to the benefit of the Communist Chinese, who are no doubt aiding our enemies in the jungles of Laos and South Viet Nam.

The State Department says that Rumania promised that none of the "products, designs, and technology" she receives from the United States will be forwarded to other members of the Communist bloc. How this can possibly be prevented in view of the subsequent agreement between Red China and Rumania, in which they agree to "analyses" in the area of oil and chemical production, is beyond me.

In a letter to me on July 12, the State Department promised "if Rumania should pass on the equipment received from the United States to other Bloc countries in violation of commitments given to the United States, our policy of differentiation would be weakened and we would, of course, immediately re-examine our policy of extending special treatment to Rumania."

COOL—Cotton pique looks fresher than ever for summer. Here it blossoms out in a lilac and blue petunia print, skillfully shaped into an easy-fitting sleeveless style. For pretty contrast, the miniature pink belt has twin bows. By Dorothy Cox for Tanner.

ing available additional quantities of oil for export from Rumania. There has been a recent development on this subject that I regard of vital importance, and I would like to report to you today concerning the matter.

On June 15, following the disadvantage of our domestic Rumania and the United States President Johnson sent a formal notification to both Houses of Congress to the effect that he has determined "that it is in the national interest for the Export-Import Bank to issue guarantees in connection with the sale of United States products and services to Rumania."

The effect of the arrangements with Rumania is to give that country a preferred position in economic relations with the United States as compared with that of most other Communist Bloc members. In effect, we would be helping to build the economy of Rumania, as we have built the economy of Communist Yugoslavia, and Poland, to a lesser degree.

In return for this we extracted a promise from Rumania that the "products, designs, and technology" exported from the United States would not be transhipped or re-exported without the proper consent of the U. S. However, on July 8, just a little more than one month after signing the agreement with the United States, the Rumanian government signed another agreement with Communist China that provided "scientific, technical cooperation and forecasting exchange of documentation and analyses in the areas of oil, chemical and food industries."

It would be very foolish, in my opinion, to think that the benefits of the agreement between the United States and Rumania will not thereby endure to the benefit of the Communist Chinese, who are no doubt aiding our enemies in the jungles of Laos and South Viet Nam.

The State Department says that Rumania promised that none of the "products, designs, and technology" she receives from the United States will be forwarded to other members of the Communist bloc. How this can possibly be prevented in view of the subsequent agreement between Red China and Rumania, in which they agree to "analyses" in the area of oil and chemical production, is beyond me.

In a letter to me on July 12, the State Department promised "if Rumania should pass on the equipment received from the United States to other Bloc countries in violation of commitments given to the United States, our policy of differentiation would be weakened and we would, of course, immediately re-examine our policy of extending special treatment to Rumania."

Will you lose one out of five pounds to midge? Not this year. Not with Diazinon.

Midge damage can cost you 900-1600 pounds per acre in sorghum planted to yield 4500 pounds. That's like losing one pound or more out of every five pounds you counted on at harvest. This year, you don't have to pay that price. This year, you can use Diazinon insecticide. Texas college test results: Two Texas colleges tested Diazinon for midge control in 1963. Results? Effective control. An 80% increase in yield. Now, USDA acceptance of Diazinon for control of sorghum midge means you can expect a similar yield increase. Spray Diazinon after 90% of the heads have emerged from the boots. Then, four days later, spray again. You'll knock out the second wave of larvae and complete the control job. Extra advantages of Diazinon You can harvest or feed your sorghum to livestock 14 days after spraying with Diazinon. Diazinon is easy to work with—you don't need any special clothing or equipment. And, accidental spray drift to nearby forage causes no milk or meat residue problems. Ask your supplier for Diazinon... the newest and best in midge control. Since Last Fair, Art Goes 'Pop'

By MILES A. SMITH AP Arts Editor (ADVANCE) NEW YORK, (AP) — The last quarter-century of American art is given a splendid summary in a show at through Sept. 23. It is a summary of considerable diversities and contrasts.

The show's title is "Between the Fairs — 25 years of American Art, 1939-1964." The terminal point is Pop Art, that curious concoction using signs, billboards, comic strips and everyday corn, which the current gang of hipsters has used to turn traditional realism forerunner, of Pop Art. Not a founder, for no one became a disciple. It wasn't until the 1950's that a few artists — such as Jasper Johns — began putting common words and symbols into their paintings.

Then in the 1960s came such figures as Robert Rauschenberg, who combined splatter-dish with work-soup. This artist, who recently won the top prize at the Venice Biennials, appears in the Whitney show with "Summer Rental Number 2 (1960)."

The Pop School also counts among its major figures James Seem's run toward billboard realism, chopped into segments — as exemplified by an untitled work in this show, depicting a If there are any omissions, they might be among such common-makers as Robert Rauschenberg's geometrical road signs and such sculptors as Claes and other garish representations of (cafeteria fare). Nor does the show go beyond Alber's overlapping squares into the newer field of dizzying optical tricks.

But of course the up-to-the-minute fashions are only a small review. The basic impression of the show is that, aside from the now waning tide of abstract expressionism there has been a curiously mixed scramble during recent years on the American artistic scenes.

Of course, one of the major movements of the period was abstract expressionism — represented here by significant works from Hofmann, Tobey, Pollock, de Kooning, Guston, Kline, Motherwell, Tworok, Gottlieb and others.

There is one artist whose works serve as an oddly ironic, prophetic note at a time when Pop Art is fashionable — Stuart Davis, who died June 24 at the age of 69. His career began about the time of World War I and he was a real individualist.

As early as 1921 (with a picture title "Lucky Strike") he was incorporating signs and city scenes into his paintings. He liked jazz, neon blinkers, kitchen utensils (he once did a whole series based on an egg beater) and other commonplace but potentially significant items.

He is represented in this show with "Colonial Cubism (1954)" AND "Combination Concrete, Number 2 (1958)," which continue his use of letters and symbols.

For years Davis was a loner. His early paintings put him into the category of a precursor, or into bizarre satire. As John I. H. Baur, associate director of the museum, says in his introduction to the catalog, this Pop Art movement is "today's Ash Can school, the impolite genre painting of our time."

The contrast between Pop Art and the earlier generation — some of whom still are active — is sharp. This show contains major examples from Grant Wood, Thomas Hart Benton and other regional realists; John Sloan of the older Ash Can school; and such romantic idealists as Edward Hopper and Raphael Soyer, as well as the social commentators Jack Levine, Ben Shahn and Philip Evergood.

There are reminders of surrealism's American influence — Yves Tanguy, Kay Sage and the Burchfield. Among the precisionists to be seen here are Joseph Stella, Georgia O'Keeffe and Charles Sheeler.

In the field of geometrical abstraction there are such names as Rothko, Newman, Albers and Reinhardt.

Leslie Sets Novel In Northern India

THE RPE BRIDGE — by Cecile Leslie.

Rather odd story, this. Both its setting and its subject take the reader on a journey into unfamiliar territory.

Most of the action takes place on the northern frontier of India, and the heroine is 15-year-old Liza Drexler, whose mother is and unusual, game-hunting type.

Liza is glad to welcome an Indian boy, Raji, back from England, for she has an adolescent crush on him.

But the simultaneous arrival of a Mr. and Mrs. Tanner upsets her, for it seems to India-loving Liza that they represent the worst traits of a stuffy, provincial English Middle class.

Then it develops that Mrs. Tanner had been the widow of a British colonel named Henson, and has returned to India to find their "lost" daughter Caroline. The search leads directly to Liza Drexler and her mother.

There is an act of violence as the plot approaches its climax, and finally Liza is confronted with a choice about her future life.

The narrative is saturated with local color at the beginning the dialogue and descriptive passages are a little hard to follow for this reason; but the color has an authentic ring.

Miss Leslie has presented her characters, particularly the youthful and understanding. Their result is a strangely stirring story.

When you want to cook a thirty chuck beef steak on the outdoor grill, marinate the meat in French dressing for about an hour; then apply unseasoned meat tenderizer (according to manufacturer's directions) and you're ready to go.

Cream butter or margarine with minced chives and use as the spread for the bread when you are making tomato sandwiches.

THE LAWYERS ROLE

There was a time when the method of trying lawsuits was so technical and strange to the average layman that the lawyer was considered a behind-the-scenes manipulator.

Now, since the public has come to know more about trial procedure, this erroneous conception largely has been corrected. The attorney is pictured for what he really is — a hard-working fellow who presents a case in a manner designed to fully and legitimately protect his client's interests.

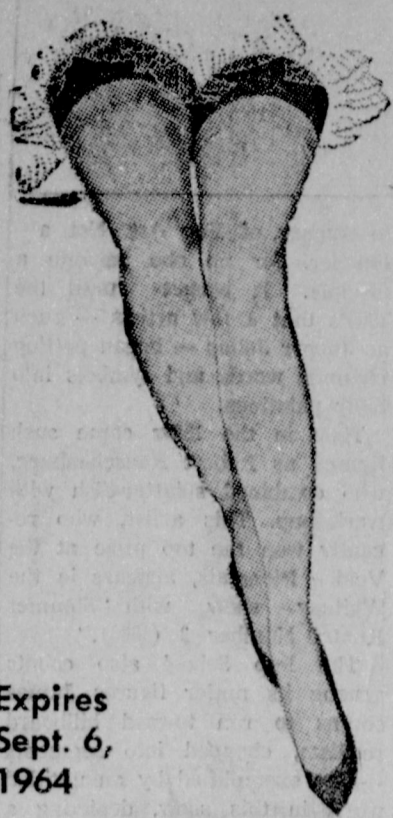

The lawyers duty starts with his first contact with his client. When advised of the controversy, he usually questions his client thoroughly to determine all the facts involved. His first duty is to objectively evaluate the facts involved. His first duty is to objectively evaluate the facts involved. He immediately advises his client to tell everything. Facts and circumstances which may seem trivial to the client can be of great value to the lawyer in the trial of the case.

The attorney then fits the law to the facts involved, and determines the theory under which lawsuit or controversy must be approached. It is surprising to the layman to learn that no two cases are alike; and, that nearly always it is necessary for a lawyer to "hit the books" to find a case or decision which governs the particular principle involved. This is sometimes a long and arduous task depending, of course, upon the intricacies of the factual and legal situation.

Quite frequently the lawyer will find it necessary to take statements of opposing parties or of witnesses to determine what fact they know that will confront him later in the trial. He is permitted to do this under our rules at any time before the trial. He also immediately starts planning his strategy, and determining the main points, factual and legal, upon which he will rely.

The next step in nearly every instance is negotiations between the parties which may or may not lead to a settlement. This usually takes considerable time, ingenuity and diplomacy. As a result many cases are settled out of court.

If the case is not settled, the attorney then prepares for trial. The case may be won or lost in trial preparation. One of the most important aspects of a trial is the jury. The fate of the lawsuit is determined by 12 persons drawn from different walks of life, of different interests, and frequently of different race, sex, and nationality. The lawyer presents his client's case to the jury through examination of witnesses and the introduction of other evidence. Based on this evidence the jury decides what are the facts of the case and renders its verdict in accordance with their findings. by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform-not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)
