SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

U. S. Putting Pressure On Big Time Criminals

By U.S. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D.-Conn.)
Member, Senate Judiciary Committee

Crime in the United States is big business, and persistent efforts by the Federal Government are required if it is not to become bigger.

The cost of illegal gambling alone, for instance, has been estimated as high as $7 billion or more. The cost of narcotics, prostitution and other forms of organized crime is enormous. Furthermore, cost of crime is often much higher than the money involved. The damage resulting from the corruption of public officials—which is often a part of the successful operation of organized crime—is impossible to measure.
The Kennedy-Johnson Administrations have pursued a strong course in efforts to reduce and wipe out criminal activity. These efforts include new anti-racketeering laws, better coordination among the Government's various enforcement agencies, and speedier administration of justice.
The Administration moved promptly in 1961 to secure anti-racketeering legislation. As a result, a total of six new anti-racketeering laws were passed in September 1961 and September 1962. These new laws, under which important criminals previously out of reach of the law could be prosecuted, and organized crime made increasingly risky, represented the greatest legislative advance in this area in 30 years.

But that was not all. The Organized Crime Section of the Department of Justice more than tripled the number of lawyers assigned to it. Field units were set up in five cities and trial lawyers worked with cases from their very beginnings in order to insure effective prosecution.
Also, under a system set up by Attorney General Robert Kennedy, a combined intelligence system was established, allowing the 26 Federal investigative agencies to pool information on hundreds of racketeers and work together in taking action against them.
Finally, to reduce the delay in legal action against criminals — and to clear the innocent more quickly as well — action was taken to reduce the log-jam of cases which existed in many Federal courts. The Administration secured enactment of a measure creating 73 new judgeships, and acted to fill them as well as existing vacancies on the Federal Bench, as quickly as possible.
The results of all these actions have been impressive. As the following table shows, both the number of racketeering indictments and the number of convictions have increased rapidly from year-to-year since 1960, and more than six times as many convictions were achieved last year as in 1960.

Year	Indictments	Convictions
1960	49	45
1961	121	73
1962	350	138
1963	625	282

Those convictions represent successful prosecution of racketeers, narcotic and liquor violators, corrupt public officials and people who have violated food and drug laws.
Finally, the Federal Bureau of Investigation secured convictions in more than 12,900 investigated cases, the largest number in any peacetime year. Also, last year there were convictions in 581 mail frauds—a 10 per cent increase over the previous year.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas' prospects of the new Civil Rights law was commended by visiting federal officials here to discuss aspects of the new Civil Rights Law.

Gov. John Connally met briefly with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges; former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, director of the new Community Relations Service; and former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee.

Session was one of a series to be conducted with governors in all states at the request of President Johnson to discuss the Community Relations Service operation. Agency will provide conciliation service at the state and local level to resolve discrimination disputes.

Governor Connally predicted Texas will continue to move forward without outside help.

Meanwhile, Texas School Boards Association warned that action on the part of segregated schools between now and Labor Day may determine their continued eligibility for federal funds.

According to Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials on the Civil Rights Law, all the answers won't be known until new regulations are drawn late this month.

Texas schools now get about $30,000,000 a year in federal money for such programs as the national defense education act, vocational education, school lunch and milk program and aid to districts where federal installations bring in a large number of pupils.

HEW personnel indicate "tentative procedures for enforcement of Title VI (of the Civil Rights Law) will require assurance from local school boards of compliance or intention to comply before federal funds will be awarded."

HUNTING-FISHING LICENSES GOING OUT — New hunting and fishing licenses are scheduled to be sent to some 2,800 dealers by August 14, State Parks and Wildlife Commission announces.

Old licenses expire on August 31. More than 2,300,000 are expected to be paid during the coming year — at the rate of $2.15 for fishing license and $3.15 for a hunting license.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas Highway Commission studies to determine future highway needs of Abilene, Midland, Odessa and Texarkana.

Cigarette taxes continue to increase — to $8,460,000 in June, a jump of $317,942 over the previous month — according to State Comptroller's office.

Thirteen citizens' task forces met here to work on various aspects of a Texas plan for community mental health programs.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler refused to consider the sale of 10 tracts of school land in Bandera County, explaining that he thought his own staff had set values too low.

Treasurer Jesse James reported an increase of $459,999 in tax revenues for stamps on all liquor and wine from July, 1963, to July, 1964, for a total of $10,600,000 last month.

Attorney General Carr announced the recovery of $52,425 against two defendants charged with operating slanted oil wells, making a total of $800,270 in judgments which have been returned against slant-hole drillers and operators.

Texas Education Agency has formally requested federal authorities the establishment of a multi-million-dollar residential vocational education school at old Gary Army Airfield, San Marcos.

Governor Connally will tour northern Mexico states bordering Texas on August 15-18.

University of Texas' Bureau of its seasonally-adjusted index of business activity in Texas for the June, 1963 level, marking the 41st month in an upward swing that rivals the 45-month expansion record set between October, 1949, and July, 1953.

Tourist attendance of 16 key Texas attractions have served 10,100,000 this year, up 15 per cent over the first six months of 1963.

Prescott-Vacation Headquarters

Situated in Southwest Arkansas, the bustling city of Prescott is the center of many scenic attractions. Eight miles away is ARKLA VILLAGE, an authentic re-creation of a typical frontier town of the mid-1830's, where there's fun for all the family. In another direction you take a ride on the Possum Trot Line of the READER RAILROAD driven by an old-fashioned steam engine. Go another way to a real DIAMOND MINE where, for a small fee, you can dig for your own diamonds (one woman found a $15,000 stone). Then there's OLD WASHINGTON, a famous roadside inn, which around 1830 was the last outpost before reaching the wilderness of the West. To these attractions add NARROWS and WHITE OAK lakes, and you have a wonderful vacation spot — another of the many places to go and things to see in General Telephone Country.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

Many things are being considered here in Congress this week. In the end of Session rush, but it is likely none of them will have a greater long-run effect upon our state than the Supreme Court decision forcing redistricting of our Legislature.

states and their people. One of the most wonderful features of the Constitution is a legislative branch divided into two houses: one based on population and the other on geography, or actually on what we call the federal plan.

by judicial decree, ordered a basic change in our political system. The Court's remarkable new theory is based upon the contention that state legislators were meant to represent only people; not trees, or cattle or oil wells. Those judges, who are elected by nobody and who serve for life — or for good behavior which means for life — say that population can be the only basis for a legislature.

complex amalgam of their hopes, fears, and interest and concerns. Legislators cannot represent merely because there are 20,000 constituents. Legislators must speak for all — the interests of their constituents; for their interests in cattle, and oil, and cotton, and highways, and homes — many of which interests are interests in cattle, and oil, and co-ers live.

preme Court decisions wrecks these checks and balances. Therefore, I am following the process in an attempt to assure that our state, and all states, may continue to choose one legislative house on the basis of population and the other one a check and balance basis such as geography, or such as number of registered voters or political subdivisions — however a state chooses to make that selection. I think that the Supreme Court has vastly exceeded its authority; I think it's high time the Congress paid attention to its mandate in Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution, which holds that the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction subject to such exceptions and regulations as the Congress shall make.

COTTON TALKS

LUBBOCK. — John Reynolds, Executive Vice President of the Western Cotton Growers Association of California has recently completed a two week survey of textile mills and offices to determine what effect the cotton law passed in April of this year is having on the farmer's cotton markets. In a letter to Plains Cotton Growers, which included a number of quotes from textile executives, Reynolds said: "There's no doubt about it. Everybody's optimistic even though the law has been in operation only a few months," and added that "The threatened big acreage cut has been forestalled." Reynolds quoted William Reid, president of the American Cotton Corporation, as saying: "Before this legislation, cotton was in more serious trouble than most people realized because growers had not yet felt the full impact of what was going to happen to their markets unless the price of cotton came down. Now that has changed. In our company we will use from 9 to 13 percent more cotton for the balance of this year than we did in the same period last year."

Francis Implement Co. FORD TRACTOR Muleshoe, Texas

The head of Avondale Mills

New York office, Frank Mountcastle, told Reynolds that their mills would be running from 6 to 10 percent more hours on cotton than they were before the law was passed. "The new cotton legislation stopped the planned expansion into synthetics which our company was considering," Mountcastle said, "and one other firm that I know of which was a heavy user of synthetics has shifted entirely to cotton."

A 6 to 10 percent increase in the use of cotton by mill managers is expected, but when multiplied many times over a lot of cotton is involved. Furthermore, in many instances such increases are replacing planned reductions, which has the effect of considering what Ben Tipton, Vice President of Dan River Mills, had to say.

"We would have dropped about 10 percent without the new cotton law, but we have already increased cotton use by 10 to 15 percent since the bill was enacted," he said, and brightened the picture more by adding that: "Our new $10,000,000 plant is evidence of our renewed faith in cotton because it is set up to spin 100 percent cotton fibers."

Our constitution exercised its genius in government by establishing a Federal system of carefully limited powers, with all other authority residing in the

for another cotton textile plant to be located on the High Plains in addition to the one announced by the Hanes Company. New plants for spinning cotton; mills switching from synthetics back to cotton; other mills stopping plans to switch away from cotton; increased output of cotton fabrics — all are words to warm the cockles of a cotton man's heart, but the inevitable and sobering question which has made all this possible is: What will happen if the law is not extended beyond 1966?

J. P. Stevens' cotton buyer Cecil Nelson told Reynolds: "We expect to buy much more cotton under the new law, but if it is not extended we will drastically cut cotton buying in favor of synthetics."

C. A. Gibson, president of the B. I. Cotton Mills, said: "Previous to this law cotton was being priced out of the market and synthetics were taking over," and added "I can assure that the buyers of textile fibers, although they may prefer cotton, will continue to switch to man made fibers if the pricing ground rules for cotton are not stabilized."

In short, what is happening to cotton under the lower prices of the new law is nothing short of wonderful, but should that price go back up after two years the cotton industry could well travel the same road to stagnation as the coal industry.

Convention Set In Oklahoma

The local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are invited to attend a three-day convention Aug. 21-23, in Altus, Oklahoma, Mr. Lowery local representative announced today. The three-day program of Bible education, as outlined by the Watchtower Society, will feature speakers from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. The highlight on Sunday will be an address by H. A. Fetzik, district supervisor. He entitles "Facing UP to The Urgency of Our Times." This will climax a weekend of activity for several hundred delegates who are expected to attend from this area of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. This is a semi-annual event in each circuit of Jehovah's Witnesses. The circuit to meet here is comprised of 16 congregations. The last such convention in Altus was four years ago with ap-

Water Cut-Off date on Cotton A Must

Stick to the recommended water cut-off date for your area and come out dollars ahead in the long run. This is what research at the South Plains Research and Extension Center shows. Based on research findings by Shelby Newman, Agronomist at the Center, application of irrigation water late in the season has several bad effects. One of these is lowering of quality—that results in a decrease in net returns per acre. Though total yield per acre may be increased, the resultant lowering of cotton quality usually means decreased net returns, plus added costs of late irrigation. Late watering also encourages rank cotton growth—which delays maturity and decreases the efficiency of once-over stripper harvesting. County Agent J. K. Adams says results of many years' research at the Center shows cotton grown in the Lubbock, Plainview, and Brownfield areas have different responses to late irrigation. In the Plainview area, tests show August 20 as the most optimum cut-off date. For the Lubbock area, August 25 has been shown the best water cut-off date. In the Brownfield area, no adverse effects have been shown when the water cut-off date is as late as August 28. Adams points out late irriga-

Highway Patrol Reports July Accident's

The Highway Patrol investigated two rural traffic accidents in Bailey County during the month of July, according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one person injured, and an estimated property damage of $900.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for Bailey County from January through July shows a total of 26 crashes resulting in 6 persons killed, 11 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $21,652.00.

Yes, it is hard to believe here school days are almost here in the middle of August that again. Do not be surprised if in a few days when you round that curve or top that rise of meeting a big yellow school bus. The Sergeant reminds all motorists on in regard to school buses. "The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which is stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, may proceed past such bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding 10 miles per hour, with due caution for the safety of such children."

Commenting on the upcoming Labor Day weekend facing Texas motorists, the veteran patrol supervisor said, "Many Texas families will be taking advantage of this last long summer week-tion in combination with excessive nitrogen tends to aggravate the excessive growth problem. This is all the more reason for strict attention to a cut-off date late in the season will also contribute to increased boll set. These bolls, in normal years, haven't matured by frost (or harvest) and thus cause a lowering in cotton quality.

With the pricing program for cotton partially based on micronaire, plus the critical need for increasing the area overall staple length, this means production of shorter and poorer size water cut-off dates than ever before.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses a personal matter this week. We guess that is what he's doing.

Dear editor:

A man out here the other day stopped me, well he really didn't stop me, I was already sitting down resting under a shade tree and got to talking and finally said he wanted to know how I get my ideas for these letters to The Muleshoe Journal. "How do you do it?" he asked. "I mean, how do you know where to start and when to quit?"

Well, I'll tell you, it's simple, and I've always found it just as easy to stop as start. You come out of the house and look around and see all the physical labor there is to do on this Johnson grass farm and confronted by that any thinking man will start thinking.

Some people don't realize we're living in critical times, have been ever since I can remember, and what's a sagging at compared to the situation in Viet Nam? How can a man patch his roof when the Turks and the Greeks may start fighting again, not that they haven't been doing it since recorded history?

ending to take trips prior to the opening of school. Many of these families will be trying to cover too many miles. As a result, the possibilities of traffic crashes will be increased."

Because this holiday is mostly a family affair, more persons will be occupying cars. Thus, any traffic accident might result in several casualties. This has been evidenced several times on Texas Highways in recent weeks. During the 72 hour Labor Day weekend last year, 31 crashes claimed the lives of 44 persons.

cutting weeds when at the moment I don't even know who's Lyndon Johnson's running mate. Now, how to get rid of weeds, that's been discovered for hundreds of years, but who knows how to keep Russia contained?

I know some people say I ought to work harder, that the way to solve the world's problems is to start with you own, but it doesn't work out that way. Twenty-five years ago I was minding my own business and looked up to find Hitler wasn't an idea, but very few people achieve Working for yourself is a fine goal. Most of them, the way it looks to me, spend at least half their time working for Ford and General Motors. They have 36 months to pay for a car, then 36 more to pay for the next one. The average life-time of the average man now is about 8 to 10 cars.

This may not explain where I get any ideas for the letters, or even if I do, but I've outlasted my sagging gate another week. It's just like the international situation. You don't solve international problems, you just out-last them.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

Liquor Revenue Shows Profit

Liquor Revenue reported by the Texas Liquor Control Board over and above its operating expenses for the last 11-year period has netted a $532,483,997.45 profit to the State of Texas.

The good news of this average annual $30,225,817.95 profit to Texas taxpayers was disclosed today in release of official figures by the Texas Liquor Control Board. These summarized the Board's operations for the 11-years, 1953 to 1963, inclusive.

During the 11 years the Board spent a total of $18,292,589.19 for operating expenses while collecting $350,686,586.64.

The $332,483,997.45 profit to the state has been apportioned annually by Legislative formula to support numerous state services. These include the Available School Fund, the Old Age Assistance Fund, the General Reversion System, aid to needy blind, child assistance, farm-to-market roads, the teacher retirement fund and the Foundation School Fund.

The TLCB's figures showed that during 1963 the Board spent $2,284,761, including staff salaries and Board operating expenses. Texas, fees, licenses and other revenue collected from the alcoholic beverage industry during the year totaled $42,278,363.

The second revenue collected for 1963 raised to more than half a billion dollars the total collected by the Board since it was established by the 44th Legislature on November 16, 1938.

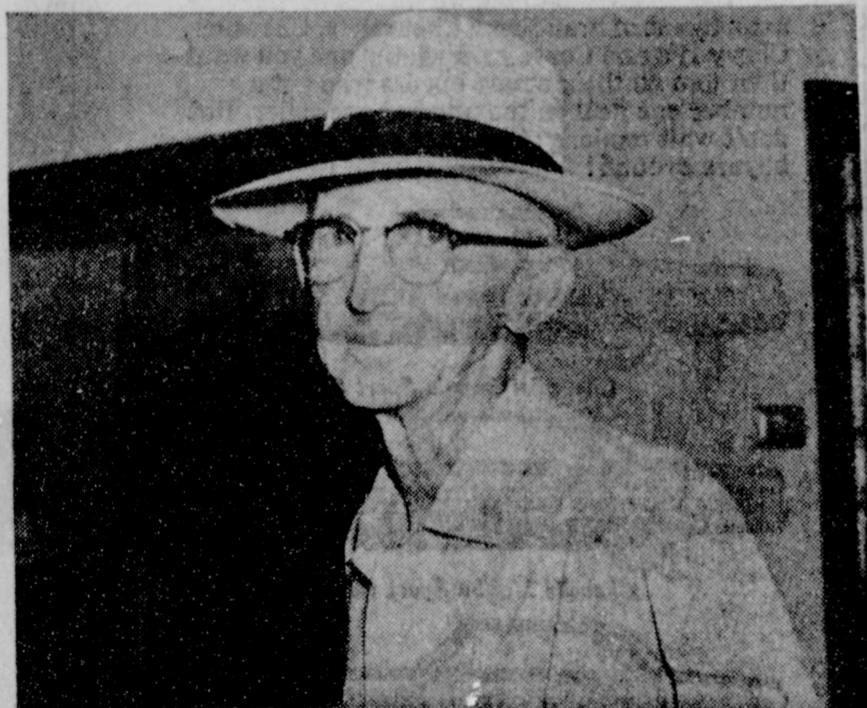

Although its work has increased considerably with the rapid growth of Texas during the past decade, the Board's operating profits to the taxpayers have accelerated even more. In 1953 the board collected $18,792,228 while spending $1,259,641. By 1963, expenses had increased 81 per cent over 1953, but revenue more than kept pace, gaining 125 per cent.

TIPS... FROM THE OFFICE OF HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

By JEAN MARTIN - Litter thrown on streets and highways by pedestrians and motorists is more than paper, trash, cans and bottles. It is taxpayer's money. Where does the taxpayer come in? He has to foot the bill for the clean-up job. In addition, when trash is allowed to collect along streets and highways, gutters and sewers may be clogged and during heavy rains flooding may occur. The damage resulting from the overflow often means further expense to the city, county and state government and it can also be expensive to property owners. Texas is being judged every day in competition with other states for industrial location sites and the record can be improved. In some states, the state government is being asked to pass laws to prevent the marketing of any product in disposable containers or cartons and to increase the fines of "litterbugs". Texans can correct the situation without legislation. It will take teamwork, and a real desire on the part of all citizens to make their state the cleanest and most beautiful in the nation. A litterbag in every car, pickup and truck is a starting point. And finally, it may take some crusading by neighborhood leaders and others to make the public more conscious of the fact that it is their money they are wasting when they scatter litter everywhere they go.

Following are excerpts from the foreign aid speech of Senator John Tower. Indonesia received special attention. Further Indonesia statistics are in the full speech text in the Congressional Record.

Mr. President, foreign aid is perhaps the most remarkable phenomenon of our times. We have appropriated more than 36 billion dollars over the last nine years; 18 billion for economic assistance and some 12 billion for military assistance. Dollars from the foreign aid pipeline now are dispersed in tiny, often useless, spurts to some 108 nations and territories. There seems to be no one at AID with a sense of priorities. Or perhaps he just can't say no.

Muleshoe Journal: We would like to take this opportunity to thank you and your staff for the wonderful publicity you gave our Farm Bureau Queens contest. You were so patient in running each group of pictures along with a story as the contestants entered. Without this type of reporting we know our contest would not have been the success it was. We, as an organization, and I as an individual have always appreciated the full cooperation we get from your staff in reporting all the various farming activities in this area. Thanks again Mrs. Ed Little - Chairman of Queen committee.

Record. Mr. President, foreign aid is perhaps the most remarkable phenomenon of our times. We have appropriated more than 36 billion dollars over the last nine years; 18 billion for economic assistance and some 12 billion for military assistance. Dollars from the foreign aid pipeline now are dispersed in tiny, often useless, spurts to some 108 nations and territories. There seems to be no one at AID with a sense of priorities. Or perhaps he just can't say no. Already available in holdover funds from past appropriations are more than 7 billion dollars— or exactly twice what the Agency wants to spend this year. Let the Congress, then, call upon the Administration to revise and to revitalize foreign aid. Let us set priorities. Let us do away with the scattergun sweep and place our aid fire directly upon carefully chosen targets. One of our worst faults is our continuing failure to distinguish military and political personnel, between friends and enemies. Let's talk about Indonesia and about Mr. Sukarno. The United States now is spending money to train Indonesian Meantime, Indonesia is killing and wounding troops of our British allies and threatening the freedom and peace of Malaysia — a nation which we support. I think the Senate must face the fact that Mr. Sukarno is no friend of the United States. We also must face the fact that he is walking in lockstep with the Communist part of his nation, the PKI. It is, indeed, likely that he can do nothing not approved by the Communists. Sukarno and the Reds are identified with the same goals. Yet, the gullible United States continues to train and equip Sukarno's forces. As of late April there were 187 Indonesian armed forces personnel training in the United States, plus 38 police personnel, a total of 225. Of particular interest is the police training program administered by the Agency for International Development since 1954 and upon which, to date, American taxpayers have spent more than 16 million dollars. While this U. S. — financed training goes on, our ally Malaysia is being invaded and British troops in the area killed by Indonesian military forces. American foreign aid must be curtailed, then revised, then re-applied with reason. Unless it is, the Sukarnos will come home to haunt us.
