Arvis Grogan is shown above with the carrots that were planted on his 30 acre plot where cotton once grew this year, but was hailed out. Grogan expects approximately eight to ten tons per acre.

Carrots Take Place of Hailed Out Cotton

After losing all but 2 1/2 acres of his cotton to that dreaded menace 'hail', veteran farmer, Arvis Grogan decided to once again plant carrots on 30 acres of his cotton land. Raising carrots is not something new to Grogan, as he raised this crop in 1957 - 58 and 59. Grogan also realizes the flexibility of the price market for this product. In his first year to raise this crop, he sold his product for $60, a ton, and the last year, his product sold for $3.50 per ton. As the market stands now this crop is selling for about $30.00 a ton, although Grogan has about one month before harvest. This year he is expecting approximately eight to ten tons per acre.

Van Cliburn Music

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What ever happened to Van Cliburn — overnight musician hero of 1958?

Cliburn won first prize in the International Tchaikovsky Piano Contest in Moscow, got kisses from Khrushchev on both cheeks, a welcome home from Ike in the White House and the first ticker tape parade New York ever gave a musician. His concerts were sold out; his recording of Tchaikovsky's Concerto-Russia, became the only classical LP in history to sell more than one million copies. (It still holds this distinction.)

Is Van Cliburn fading into youthful oblivion? The answer is no.

Not this time.

He had a big concert season, 1955 - 56, right after winning the Leventritt Award. But bookings had slipped badly when his former piano teacher at Juilliard, Mme. Rosine Lhevinne, suggested he enter the Tchaikovsky competition.

Since winning that competition, April 13, 1958, there has been no slipping.

The Sol Hurok office, which books Cliburn's concerts, says he is one of the highest paid classical artists in the world. He gets $6,000 minimum per concert and with percentages of tickets sold has taken in $12,000 for a concert. He plays about 100 concerts a season, roughly half in the United States, half in Europe.

Cliburn makes two record albums a year, and they sell briskly. He has recorded eight concertos and a recital album titled "My Favorite Chopin." He has a new album out in September, "Brahms Concerto No. 1" with the Boston Symphony. All are on R. C. A.

But Cliburn declines to comment on his success. Speaking so softly he can scarcely be heard, he says, "After all, any serious artistic career can not really be judged until after a long passage of time."

And he refers questions about his concert schedule and his in-

gr. cer tires. It is inconvenient and it costs lots of money to remove trash from the roads. So this appeal is made in the hope that such dumping will be stopped. Unless it is stopped, then violators will be prosecuted. This action is taken in the interest and for the protection of the public.

THE BAILEY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' COURT
Signed: By Glen Williams
County Judge
Bailey County, Texas

PUBLIC NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that a public hearing on the proposed County Budget for the year, 1965 will be held Thursday, September 17, 1964, at the regular meeting place of the Commissioners' Court in the courthouse in Muleshoe.

Time of the hearing is to be from 8:00 o'clock A. M. until 5:00 o'clock P. M. Any or all interested citizens are invited to attend.
Dated this 8th day of September, 1964.

come to the Hurok office. "I'm not like most people; I don't like to know how many concerts I'm going to do. I did 21 concerts in 30 days last April and the only reason I know that is because they called me up and told me."

Cliburn says his background is Scottish and English and a discussion of his domestic arrangements leaves the impression that the Scottish dominates.

When in New York, Cliburn stays in an apartment in a thick-walled hotel across the street from Carnegie Hall. He has a program worked out with the hotel, he says, whereby he can keep his piano in the apartment and other people can live there while he is away. "I'm in transient status in New York. I couldn't afford to keep a flat in a hotel."

"He owns a home in Tucson — which he has rented for the last three years. "You feel you have to have a place to put your head in the event of an emergency. I wanted a house in Arizona if the day ever came when I got arthritis so bad I couldn't negotiate. But I could only enjoy the house at very limited times within the year, now. And it would be prohibitive to have it just sitting there."

Cliburn's legal residence still is Kilgore, Tex., where he grew up — to 6 feet 4 — and was taught the piano by his mother. He was born, and named Harvey Lavan Cliburn Jr. for his father, in Shreveport, La.

Asked about his major problems and concerns, the 39-year-old pianist says:

"One always has to search to keep enough free time for reflection meditation and reviewing one's outlook." "I think in this air age you always feel that it is possible to get so many places in such a short time that you do more than is really feasible to give you this time for reflection."

In the midst of a busy concert schedule, "there are times when you find music that you wish you could take time off to learn and digest. You always keep it in the back of your mind that some day you'll do it."

Cliburn does not write music. "That takes time. You must not travel and dash about madly. You must be in a very meditative, contemplative mood."

He does occasionally conduct. "I do it just for education and therapy. I'm a pianist and always will be."

Pursuant to an order passed by the Commissioners' Court on the 31st day of August 1964, attention is called to the dumping of trash on the County road right-of-ways, and other public property.

Such dumping of trash is not only illegal and unsightly, but it is terribly expensive to the taxpayers of the County. We don't believe our citizens really mean to do wrong, but the careless dumping of trash on or alongside the County roads is wrong, and it should be stopped.

Lucia Shown at Baptist Church

The new Billy Graham feature length sound color motion picture, "Lucia" was shown at 8:00 p.m., September 8 at First Baptist Church.

This is the story of "Lucia", coming to the motion picture screen with all of the pathos and poignancy that transcends its Latin setting, to embrace common to every culture and clime around the world. "Lucia" was made in its entirety in Buenos Aires, directed by World Wide Pictures' President, Dick Ross. The fire and excitement of gaucho folk muted scenic grandeur and the exotic, South America's unmatched excitement that belongs to one of the world's largest cities, are all enriched by full color and authentic sound.

But the real impact of "Lucia" is to be found in its intimate, utterly honest treatment of an individual's emptiness and frustration apart from the filling of the "God shaped vacuum" with which all mankind is born. With this newest of the Billy Graham Films, "Lucia" enter into the area of domestic discord and what the Bible has to say in resolving the emotional problems that are the hallmark of 20th Century living.

Red Barn to Build Million $ Plant in Texas

Plans for a million-dollar fertilizer plant in Freeport, Texas, were announced today by Red Barn Chemicals, Inc., of Shreveport, La., which operates a local branch in Muleshoe.

In making the announcement, J. C. Berry, president, estimated that the new plant would increase the company's sales approximately five million dollars per year.

The new plant, a modification of conventional granular mixing operations, will manufacture mixed fertilizers and fertilizer materials. It is expected to be in operation before the end of the year.

Grain for Wheat in the 1965 Program

Planning for maximum income in the short-run could prove wrong in the long-run. Using present wheat program prices and present feed grain prices, the greatest opportunities appear to be in feed grain, but feed grain prices for 1965 have not been established. Heavy substitution by farmers could have an effect on future prices of either wheat or feed grain, or both.

Wheat can be planted this fall, get winter grazing and make final decision in late winter when more is known about 1965 wheat prospects and more about the 1965 feed grain program.

Maximum income from wheat or feed grain does not necessarily mean maximum total farm income.

RISK

The provision allowing substitution for wheat for feed grain, or feed grain for wheat, could be considered a risk-reducing factor for some, since wheat can be planted this fall and destroyed at any time that prospects appear to be not good between fall and spring.

Substituting these crops, one for the other, could prove to be a greater risk in the event of low yield or lower prices.

RESOURCE USE

If wheat and feed grain are substituted, there is a great possibility of getting the farming activities out of balance. Changing land use could effect production and cultural cost.

Water, labor, or capital could become a limiting factor. By increasing one crop or the other, poorer utilization of rainwater, or heavy stress on wells could occur. Present labor and machinery could become inadequate. Operating capital needs might change. Bankers' attitude could change.

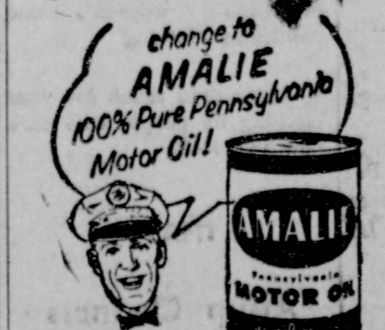

If wheat or feed grain is substituted one for the other in 1965, this could make it difficult to change back to a both crops program in 1966, or future years.

The amount of wheat or feed grain planted and produced could directly effect other enterprises or activities on the farm, such as stocker cattle activities, feedlot operations, etc. There may be some advantages for substitution, but on a given farm these advantages could be offset by other disadvantages.

Consider 1964 Wheat Program Provisions Carefully

Farmers will want to consider several new provisions of the 1964 Wheat Program. Several programs can be used as risk-reducing factors, according to County Agent J. K. Adams.

Under one new provision, farmers signing up in both the wheat and feed grain programs may substitute wheat for feed grain or feed grain for wheat. This could be considered a risk-reducing advantage since wheat can be planted on both wheat acres and feed grain acres this fall, and possibly grazing obtained from this wheat. Next spring probably in February or March if wheat prospects look good, both wheat and feed grain acres can be left in wheat. If wheat prospects are not good, both wheat and feed grain acres can be left in wheat. If wheat prospects are not good, the wheat can be plowed up and wheat and feed grain acres put into feed grain - or any combination of the two.

If oats or rye were produced in 1959 and 1960 you can apply for an oat-rye base for the farm. If this oat-rye base is established, wheat can be substituted for oats or rye - or vice versa.

Another change permits wheat farmers signing up in the 1965 Wheat Program to over-plant their 1965 allotment by as much as 50 per cent and store excess production under Bond. By storing the excess wheat under Bond and carrying out other program provisions, farmers will be eligible for marketing certificates and price-support loans. The excess or stored wheat can be sold in a later year. Election of this option makes the producer ineligible for the substitution provisions of wheat and feed grain acreage. This can be a "risk-reducing" factor especially for dry land producers. Overplanting of 1965 wheat allotments will not affect wheat acreage history in determining future allotments.

Producers taking part in the program who plant as much as 80 per cent of their allotments for harvest will be eligible for full amount of certificates. When fewer acres are planted for harvest, the amount of certificates will be reduced. Any reduction in the amount of certificates will first be made in the lower-valued export certificates.

Producers who elect to participate in this program and comply with its provisions will:

(a) Sign up in the County ASCS office between August 24 and October 2, 1964

(b) receive a price support of $1.25 per bushel (national average) on farm production. (1964 price support was $1.30 national average)

(c) receive Domestic Marketing Certificates - 75 cents per bushel on maximum of 45 per cent normal production of the farm allotment. (1964 was $70 per bushel on 45 per cent of normal production.)

(d) receive Export Certificates - 30 cents per bushel on a maximum of 35 per cent the normal production of the farm allotment. (1964 was $25 per bushel on 45 percent.)

(e) receive Diversion Payments for diverting below the farm allotment based on 50 per cent of county price support loan rate and normal yield for the farm. (farmer will not receive diversion payment on a minimum qualifying acres but will on the additional diverted acres up to 20 per cent of the 1965 allotment.)

Producers who use the substitution provisions and divert feed grains instead of wheat, will receive the diversion payment rate for the crop actually diverted below the feed grain base or wheat allotment. Where wheat is planted on feed grain acreage, producers will not receive additional marketing certificates for this added acreage.

To qualify for price support and certificates under the 1965 wheat program, you should:

1. Sign up to take part in the program.
2. Have an acreage of wheat no larger than your allotment unless you plan to use the storage under bond provision or the substitution privileges.
3. Keep within the wheat allotment for any other farm in which you have an interest. Excess wheat from other farms may be stored under bond.
4. Keep within all other allotments established for the participating farm.

5. Divert an acreage of crop land to approved conservation uses equal to 11.11 per cent of the farm's wheat allotment. There will be no diversion payment on this acreage. Additional acreage may be diverted for payment.

6. Meet other provisions of the program - such as preventing weed growth and not harvesting or grazing diverted acreage unless approved by the ASC County Committee.

For local interpretations of provisions, contact your local county agricultural agent or ASCS representative. When the feed grain program is announced, sample budget forms will be available in your county agent's office that can be used for economic analysis.

Inspection Time arrives for '65

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that the time has arrived for Texas motorists to have their vehicles inspected again.

Garrison said September 1 marked the beginning of the 1965 vehicle inspection period as prescribed by the Public Safety Commission. As in previous years, the period will end on April 15, 1965.

"This means that between now and April 15, 1965, more than 5,200,000 Texas registered vehicles will have to be inspected at the 5,200 official inspection stations in Texas," he said.

Garrison urged motorists to have their vehicles inspected in the routine visits to garages for ordinary maintenance and repairs and thereby eliminate the necessity of having to wait in line at a later date for an inspection sticker. He further pointed out that with the ever increasing number of vehicles registered in Texas, it is becoming ever more difficult for the motorist to get an inspection sticker without some delay.

"With the hard summer driving coming to an end, fall is an excellent time to have vehicles safety checked for the winter months ahead," Garrison said.

Pastor To Be Installed For Area Church

The Rev. William Rommolt, for the past 10 years pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Lakewood, Colo., will be installed as pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Littlefield next Sunday afternoon, September 13, at 3:30. Officiating at the installation service will be the Rev. Harold Kaester, pastor of Christ

Lutheran in Lubbock, counselor for the Lubbock circuit, and the Rev. Elmer Nounaber, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran in Lubbock and area vice-president of the Texas District church of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod.

The 60 year old Clergyman is no stranger to the Texas Pa-handle. Born in Sealy, Texas and educated at St. Johns College in Winfield and Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, he became pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Plainview upon his graduation in June 1929.

Pastor Rommolt will fill the last vacant Lutheran Parish in the Lubbock circuit. Three other vacant parishes have been supplied with pastors this past summer: Plainview, where the Rev. Otto Urban was installed early in March, St. John, Lariat, where the Rev. Herbert F. Peiman took over his pastoral duties on April 19, and Our Savior, Lubbock, where the Rev. Kenneth Bohnke, a June 1964 graduate of Concordia Seminary, and a grandson of Dr. J. W. Bohnken, long time president of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod was ordained and installed July 26.

Several members of the Lariat Church will join the Littlefield congregation in welcoming their new pastor next Sunday, stated the Lariat Pastor, the Rev. Herbert F. Peiman.

Airport Goes With Industry

By WRAY WEDDEL LJR.

Even with his experience in Chicago's rugged sales promotion arena, Frank W. Raymond Jr. may be facing his biggest ever selling challenge up on Texas' Capitol Hill.

For the 1966-67 biennium, Raymond is asking $450,000 to assist Texas' smaller and poorer towns and counties enter the air age on an at-home basis.

Raymond who took the Aeronautics Commission post Feb. 1, 1962, is flabbergasted at what he has found in this state more than 60 years after aviation's birth. Many an unburied Texan would share the feeling.

Raymond is the imaginative executive director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission, a comparatively small state agency with some large ideas.

TAC is up to the flight line with its first budget request under Raymond's direction, and it proposes to put the state into the aid to aviation business.

In justification of his budget request, Raymond writes: "It is state as progressive and as wealthy as Texas would permit a condition to exist where an entire county is without the benefit of even a single public use airport."

The TAC director then points out that such is the case today in 35 of the 254 counties. Among the 35 is Blanco County, President Johnson's "homeland."

Raymond's ultimate aim nothing less than "to help each county develop and build at least one airport for use of the public."

To some, perhaps many, this may seem a rash program for an agency with its principal function now limited to rendering engineering services and technical assistance to political subdivisions wanting new airports or improvements to existing ones.

But advertising man Raymond knows that is selling best these days - industrialization and tourism. He effectively pitches both in his budget promotion.

"Since industry is demanding adequate general aviation airports as a prerequisite to locating new plants in a community," he argues, "it is the duty of TAC to help relatively small, poor communities who realize they can not shoulder the burden ask for and expect aid from the state or federal government, or both."

It is Raymond's forcefully put belief that the state should not hesitate to help uplift the economy of such communities with aid for airport construction.

Lumping together what his agency will do and must do with what it desires to do, the commission director says, "TAC will help those who cannot afford consulting engineers. We are obligated to do their engineering and master planning. If they want federal aid, we will help them get it. If they need state aid we will contribute up to 50 per cent of the needed funds (subject to appropriate examination)."

And a note of urgency is injected for consideration of the holders of the state's purse strings: "The time is now for the state to recognize the importance of building and maintaining an adequate system of airports to improve the economy of rural and small town Texas."

In the area of another top hit of the day, tourism, Raymond suggests construction of airstrips adjacent to or in state parks "to attract flying tourists."

Even with what Raymond considers nothing more than the first big leap forward to catch up with the present, the commission's proposed budget is relatively modest - $1.1 million for the two-year fiscal period beginning Sept. 1, 1965.

IT'S THE LAW
 in Texas

LEGAL RESEARCH
 Much of the work a lawyer does has the effect of preventing law suits. By foreseeing a situation which may go bad, a lawyer can protect his client. All of this means great emphasis upon legal research.
 Much of your lawyer's time goes into looking up the law. He must check statutes, codes, reports of decisions, commentaries, and often technical books outside the law. He can then advise his client what to do and to keep his client from getting into situations that may lead to litigation. This stress on prevention is relatively new, as compared with the lawyer's traditional role as trial advocate.
 In general the longer a rule of law based on precedent has been used, the more persuasive a court is likely to find it. Following precedent is called the doctrine of stare decisis ("the decision stands"). Because of "stare decisis", lawyers are able to count upon the law's stability in helping their clients to plan their estate, personal, or business affairs.
 But law also changes as conditions and attitudes change. And these are days of change.
 Lawyers want to predict legal results reliably for their clients. Some law changes little, for example, in the fields of property, contracts, wills, and trusts. But in other fields such as civil rights and labor law, for example, the law changes rapidly these days.

In order to keep up with change, for example, Texas lawyers have pooled their research and talents to conduct a program of Continuing Legal Education. During the past year there were more than 2,000 registrants in the program. They have kept up to date through hundreds of lectures and the publication of several new volumes of law books. The program is a project of the State Bar of Texas begun in 1948. It is fully financed by Texas lawyers and judges at a cost of several thousand dollars a year. The various law schools of Texas also conduct a number of post graduate seminars each year, attended by hundreds of members of the profession.

Also, monthly and weekly publications of the State Bar covering late developments in the law go to each of the 15,000 lawyers belonging to the organization.

AUSTIN -- Harvest time is synonymous with autumn in the minds of many people... particularly the migrant laborer. Over 130,000 Texans will be harvesting the nation's crops from now until the cold bite of winter sends them to their homes in southern most Texas.

They began their migration early last spring to labor in fields or orchards -- wherever they could find work. Whole families pack a few things and travel in pickups, trucks or buses following their "crew leader" across the country.

This is the migrant way of life... with its many inherent problems. For example, the typical migrant farm laborer is functionally illiterate -- that is, he never attended more than a third grade education. This problem generation as the children seldom attend school for more than a six month period.

His home, where he lives less than six months a year, is normally a small structure with little or no plumbing. On the road, following the crops, he and his family live wherever they can. The migrant way of life makes record keeping almost impossible, but those who have worked closely with these people make the following estimates.

The migrant's income averages about $900 a year. His diet more often than not, consists of beans and tortillas. Milk is an infrequent treat. The average migrant never sees a doctor during his entire lifetime. His life expectancy is about 30 years.

Obviously, health problems are a major concern of the migrant worker and the communities where he goes. Tuberculosis and other diseases may be prevalent and go undetected. Immunization schedules -- if any -- are erratic, and infant mortality soars.

The Texas State Department of Health has underway a statewide project aimed at bettering health service for the migrants. Separate projects are being conducted by Laredo, Webb County, Southwest Texas Region and

Double Crop Cotton and Sorghum for Maximum Residue

Grain sorghum and cotton go start decomposition. It also provides the soil organisms with a supply of food and energy.

Where cotton fields have had the advantage of fertilization and rotation with high residue crops, such as sorghum, and where the residue has been effectively used, crops are doing remarkably well during the dry weather. In a rotation program, sorghum residue helps maintain the annual 4,000 pound per acre minimum organic matter level needed for satisfactory crop production.

To maximize sorghum residue, stubble should be shredded right behind the combine and root system destroyed immediately. This, says the agronomist, cuts regrowth and moisture loss. The residue should be either partly or completely covered, depending upon the farmer's desire to

Dies Announces Goldwater Support

AUSTIN -- Martin Dies, Sr., an outstanding Texas political leader whose Congressional service spanned 28 years, announced recently he will support Senator Barry Goldwater.

Dies issued the following statement in Austin: "I feel that if I vote my approval of the means by which Lyndon Johnson reached the White House, I would make a mockery of the great principles of honesty and sincerity which most Americans profess and which are the cornerstone of free governments."

"Those means are matters of public record so that no citizen can plead ignorance or deception. In this critical period which could determine the survival of free government in America, I urge every responsible citizen to examine the record. This election is a supreme test of this country's sincerity in its lofty professions. Therefore, it is my intention to support Senator Barry Goldwater."

Dies, who now lives in Lufkin, was serving in Congress when Mr. Johnson was first elected Lubbock, City - County and Plainview -- Hale County health departments.

Progress Club Met In Home Of Mrs. Veta Self

Progress Home Demonstration Club met September 1 in the home of Veta Self.

Roll call was answered with "Things I Most Often Have To Repair". The hostess read a poem "Let Go" for opening exercises.

Ada Murrah reported on a sunrise kidnap breakfast held recently in the home of Ernestine Little. Fourteen women attended and some very interesting early morning attire was worn.

There will be a Hat Workshop October 6 at 9:30 in the Lutha Wheeler home. Those present were Fern Davis, Letha Wheeler, Jauree Smallwood, Lauretta Baker, Myrtle Wells, Phebe Gray, Betty Williams, Celia Hicks, Veta Self and one new member, Mrs. Leola Smelser.

The next meeting will be September 15 in the home of Myrtle Wells. Dies served in Congress during the time Johnson was serving both in the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Dies served as a representative from the Second Texas District from 1931 to 1945 and from 1938 to 1945 he was chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Dies served the entire State of Texas for six years, 1953 - 1959, when he was Congressman at large.
