Extra Practice Readies Mules For Perryton Sat.

The Muleshoe Mules, victorious in their fourteen point win over Canyon's goosiegg last Friday, should profit from an extra day's practice this week, and rally for their second hoped-for conference at Perryton Saturday afternoon, Coach Willie McAlpine said Wednesday.

"We were happy to win this last one, but we will face a big, not fast, but strong, Perryton Ranger team this Saturday," McAlpine commented.

The last game of the Mighty Muleshoe Mules' 1964 season will be at Ranger Field, Perryton with the kickoff scheduled at 2:30 p.m. there.

Dumas bombed Perryton, 34-0, last week but Perryton has won four games, lost four, and tied one this season, with their conference record placing them with Tullia and Hereford who claim 2-2 records. The Mules, by winning Saturday, could come up the conference ladder to move in on the two-win teams.

Gigantic Yule Bike Give-Away Slated

The big news around town, announced Wednesday, was that one hundred bicycles are to be given away to 100 children on Christmas Eve, 1964!

Comment is "It sounds spectacular!" Chamber representatives say "sure it does — and it is going to happen right here in your town. (We don't do things halfway in Muleshoe.)"

This attention-getting promotion is the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce members gesture to kids in the entire Muleshoe area to participate and enjoy Muleshoe's special Yuletide plans.

Children from four through 14 can register free as many times as they like from November 28, next Saturday, until December 24 for one of the bikes to be given away at one p.m. Christmas Eve. Adults can register for the children also. Participating businesses will be announced in the near future, officials say.

Four years ago this same expression of Christmas generosity and goodwill was an outstanding success here. At that time only 75 bikes were given away. To "beat the best" Chamber officials say this time they will have 100 bikes to give away.

A sneak preview will be held of the handsome prizes when merchants and businessmen will ride their give-away bike prizes in a special parade on registration day next Saturday.

The Muleshoe business committee and other members of the local chamber hope this will make a finer Christmas and strengthen friendships and Muleshoe's position of leadership throughout the Great Muleshoe Country by this expression of appreciation to area friends and

High School Drop-Outs Reasons Listed At Richland Hills P-TA

Parents and teachers of the Richland Hills P-TA attended a most enlightening and informative session Monday evening in the school cafeteria.

Shirley Smallwood and Nine Ed Bovell, delegates to the Governor's Youth conference held this past summer in Austin, shared the facts and figures they acquired concerning high school drop-outs. Relative to the problem that exists in our own Muleshoe, Shirley said, "My class is representative of the drop-out problem in our local school. Out of the 156 first graders who were in my class only 97 are graduating with me."

"The time and place to attack this problem is in the home, before the child starts to school. The attitude of his parents toward education and learning is the key to the child's future disposition toward the school," according to Shirley. She continued, "Every child is a potential drop out and the ratio increases tremendously by the time he reaches the tenth grade. Present statistics show that for every day a student remains in school, college inclusive, he adds a potential $1000 to his life income.

Nine Ed gave some of the reasons students drop out of school before obtaining a high school diploma. "Among the most prominent are a lack of respect for authority - parents teachers, and the law. This all goes back to the parents," said Nine Ed "who display a lack of respect also for these elements". Next is the availability of transportation. "A fast car, a fast girl and a drink which a teen age can obtain anywhere in this area, spells "drop - out" and at the most "trouble". Wanting to be a "big shot" gets out of hand with fellows who own cars, so often, and its hard to distinguish which comes first, dropping out of school or trouble with the law."

Testimony from four convicts was given at the conference in Austin. Nine Ed told of their testimony by giving quotes from the Bible, which warned others not to come to "this place of torment." These four convicts were all high school drop - outs.

"Muleshoe High School has a very effective program to solve program of distributive education which permits a student to attend classes until 2 p.m., then work at a job the rest of the day. This allows a student who cannot attend college to learn a trade and keeps many in high school who would otherwise leave in order to earn money," Nine Ed concluded.

In other business, Mrs. Clarence Mason and Mrs. Owen Jones reported on the State P-TA Congress held last week at the Dallas Memorial Auditorium. Over 3,229 delegates attended, some 93 from district 14 of which Muleshoe is a part.

"Highlight of the convention was the example of true democracy in action which was shown by the two extra hours that the congress debated legislative programs and amendments," Mrs. Mason said.

The most important amendment involved teacher's raises. The State Congress passed an amendment to their legislative program which endorses Texas proposal to set $45 a month increase in pay in 1965. The workshops were excellent, the delegates reported, as was the main speaker, Mrs. J. Frank Snowden, of Corona del Mar, Calif., national vice president of PTA.

Beavers Stresses Christmas Season Early Yule Mailing

The Christmas "rush" brings a very old quote to mind: "Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stay these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." This was said by the Greek historian, Herodotus in the Fifth Century B. C. but it still is true of the postal service.

However, Postmaster Spencer Beavers recently added a thought "While it is true that bad weather doesn't stop the mails, it certainly can slow them down."

He mentioned that planes can't get off the ground, switches on railroad tracks can freeze up. Trucks must move more slowly and cautiously over highways. And in many places, mailmen might wish for the warmth of an igloo. Even the impish Mr. ZIP can't assure next-day delivery under these conditions.

"Why," you may ask, "does the postmaster bring this up?" "Simply to let people know that there is a factor that we just can't control, the weather," Postmaster Spencer Beavers said. "It is important the people mailing Christmas cards and gifts make every effort to shop early and mail early to assure on time delivery. This is especially true during the Christmas rush when an ever increasing avalanche of mail moves through the postal system."

The Post Office Department has several new tools to use in this year's mail service. The most important is the new ZIP Code and transportation - distribution system that came into being with the Zoning Improvement Plan (ZIP). Postmaster, Spencer Beavers is urging everyone to use the five digit numbers because in most cases the code cuts down the number of times a piece of mail must be handled. This saves time, labor, and money.

He suggests that even if you don't know the code for the address of the people to whom you'll be sending cards and gifts, you should use the code on your return addresses and you should record the codes from the return addresses of those who are writing to you.

Moving the Christmas mail is a hard, tiring job and the local workers who work so diligently during this period deserve all the cooperation they can get.

The postmaster said that shopping early, mailing early and using ZIP Codes will really put ZIP into your Christmas mailings... and give your mailman a hand too.

Today's Meditation

RELIGION IS NOT CHRISTIANITY

Some folks confuse religion and Christianity. Christianity is a religion, but any religion is not Christianity. Many times I have heard people say, "I believe a person's religion is alright as long as he is sincere in it." My answer to this is that Satan, that deceiver of men, that destroyer of souls, is also very sincere in his religion.

There is only one Book that has the Divine seal of approval of Almighty God on it, and that is the Bible. The Bible is the Book given to men by God and in it's pages are found the words of eternal life. This one Book describes only one religion as the hope of mankind. That one religion is Christianity.

This one Christianity is based upon one person, the Lord Jesus Christ. Christ claimed to be and is the Savior of mankind, whether they accept the fact or not. We recognize the destroyer of man as Satan and we are quick to admit his role against Christ that, "no man cometh unto the Father but by me." And again, "I am the door," which eliminates all other doors and again, "I am the way which eliminates all other ways.

Any other religion might do to live by, but only Christianity will do to live and die by. Sincerity in a religion is not enough to please God, unless that religion be built on the doctrines and principles laid down by Christ and taught in the word of God.

Drizzling In Area

A scattering of drizzling rain, scattered hail and some sleet which arrived via a wintry cold front that howled out of the Rocky Mountains Sunday has caused little damage to area crops, it was reported Wednesday.

The cold front hit Muleshoe Sunday evening, with high winds, scattered hail and drizzling rain. R. J. Klump recorded one and fifty-hundredths rain by Monday with temperatures dipping to 33 degrees. Tuesday's rainfall officially was ten one-hundredths, with an all-time low ranging between 36 and 32 degrees during the day. Wednesday morning light hail was reported some 20 miles south of Muleshoe.

Klump, official weather observer for Muleshoe, reported that thunder storms and the uncertainty of the weather this year was most unusual. Normal conditions bring a little rain in October and November but not of this "thunderstorm" variety, he said.

Cotton was still on the stalk although quite a lot of ice was piled on the fields of Lloyd Stephens' place in the West Camp area Wednesday morning. Most of the drizzle which brought approximately 2 1/2 inches of rain was Tuesday night, the West Camp Gin reported. They had very little hail.

At Needmore the amount of rain also was around a half an inch, with not much damage reported by scattered hail.

School Curriculum Director Tells Duties For De Shazo PARENTS

Mary DeShazo P-TA met Monday afternoon in the school cafeteria with Elizabeth Watson as guest speaker.

Mrs. Jack Schuster presided over the meeting and Mrs. Watson was introduced by Mrs. Irvin St. Clair.

Mrs. Watson, Curriculum director for the schools said "The curriculum is now generally considered to be all the experiences that learners have under the direction of the school. Curriculum refers not only to improving the structure of the curriculum but also to simulating growth, learning and changing of values on the part of all the persons concerned."

It involves what happens in the classrooms, auditorium, gymnasiums, hallways, cafeterias, school activities, anywhere the children are under the guidance of the school.

The responsibility of the curriculum directors may be identified in three kinds: the responsibility to give individual help to the teacher; the responsibility to co-ordinate and make available to all personnel the instructional services of the school and the responsibility to act as a resource person to the superintendent and other administrative personnel, as a special agent in training teachers in service, and as an interpreter of the school and its program, both to the school personnel and the public. Many ideas of teaching was brought out and the means by which the student learns better under different circumstances. Finding these problems and aiding in their correction all goes into the curriculum director's hands.

Mrs. Watson also showed a film concerning the curriculum and the different types of pupils in one room, under one teacher and the methods used to teach them.

Famed British Restaurant to Serve Grits

LONDON (AP) — One of Britain's oldest restaurants announced Saturday, with some misgivings, that it is now prepared to put the South in your mouth.

In a blatant bid for tourist trade originating below America's Mason-Dixon Line, Stone's Chop House plans after considerable soul-searching, to serve grits.

Stone's lifted the veil on this adventurous culinary departure in a somewhat gingerly worded press statement which remarked: "Grits has — or have — always been the subject of great controversy. First, are they plural or is it singular?"

For the benefits of Britons who haven't cottoned to grits, Stone's defined them, or it, as "a white corn meal, ground to about the consistency of coffee, and very much like the African mealy-mealy."

The statement went on to say that it, or they, "are boiled in salted water and served as a mushy porridge in the morning, or as an adjunct to fried eggs, or as a vegetable, or with raisins in a pudding."

"They are eaten hot, cold, lukewarm or raw. They also are used as a fattener for the finest of hogs destined for the famous Virginia hams."

Big Financial Operators Are Sweeping Out the Schoolhouse

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — New York long has been known as a city of big financial operators. But hardly anyone would have expected to find a flock of them sweeping out the little red schoolhouse.

Thus there were gasps of amazement here and elsewhere when it came to light that city school custodians were among the highest paid people in the nation.

A number were found to be making more than governors, mayors of large cities, college presidents and even school superintendents.

One wound up with $53,000 for a year's work — $3,000 more than New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Another made $46,130. By comparison, School Supt. Calvin A. Gross gets $45,000 a year. Of the city's 870 custodians, some 68 were in the $25,000-plus bracket.

How did this situation come about?

Long ago the ruling elders of the school system concluded that it would be better to farm out the janitorial job than to set up a large organization within the system to do it.

As a result, custodians became contractors. As individuals they contracted to maintain and keep the schools clean. The money they received was based on the size of the school.

Out of the lump sum they were to hire whatever help was necessary and pay for all equipment and materials to do the job.

Whatever was left over was their own pay.

About a year ago the system came under official scrutiny as the result of newspaper stories on custodians' income.

Probes were undertaken by a newly installed school administration and by Herman T. Scheman, special commissioner of investigation for Gov. Rockefeller. Public hearings were held by Stichtman.

A school official testified that the custodians were getting "two to five times more than what is being paid in private industry." He added that in personal inspections he found many schools weren't being kept clean.

Speaking in defense of the custodians was Harry G. Mundi, president of Local 891 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. The local represents most of the custodians, who, in most cases, must pass civil service tests.

Coeds Don't Trust Machine To Get Dates

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Coeds at the University of Cincinnati have balked at the idea of having a machine select their partners for a weekend dance.

"I think I'm a better judge of character than any old machine," was a typical comment given by Frances Dick, Cincinnati freshman. "And besides who is going to put the right answers on that questionnaire."

"I have a date Saturday night — and I picked him out myself!" she exclaimed.

Plans were to have students fill out a questionnaire, giving all the pertinent detail about themselves and their ideal partner.

The information was to be fed into a computer to match "ideal" couples for an "IBM" dance Saturday night in the Student Union.

"But," sighed Anthony Scanapico, Student Union program director, "the girls didn't sign up for the program."

At deadline earlier this week, the dance list was a little top heavy: 60 boys had agreed to let the computer serve as a matchmaker, but only 10 coeds were willing to do so.

Since the earlier deadline, however, Scanapico said more girls have shown an interest — but it's too late.

The delicate computer will not have time now to get ready for such a chore, said C. F. Evert, director of the UC computer center.

RECALLS HIS 46 YEARS IN POLITICAL LIFE

John Nance Garner Proud Of His Record

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Sprawling oak trees bend low to form a quiet green chamber in the soft sunlight around a white-haired man sitting ramrod straight in a rust-spotted metal lawn chair.

"I'm proud of my record and that's the reason I brag about it when I get a chance," booms a voice from a thin but not frail body.

John Nance Garner squints beneath shaggy eyebrows and tells a front yard circle of visitors and friends about his days in politics in Texas and Washington.

He is 96 Sunday, the oldest of the nation's five living former vice presidents. He has lived longer than any other in U.S. history. He is the only person to serve successfully as speaker of the House of Representatives and vice president. He spent 46 years as an elected official and he's proud of it.

"I don't think anyone in Washington will ever beat that record," Garner says, puffing on a cigar though his doctors tried to get him to give them up several years ago.

Garner wears a black suit, white shirt, dark blue tie, and a battered hat that he occasionally doffs to women tourists. His eyes are weak and he strains to see newcomers when they join the daily circle around him in the yard of his home in this small southwest town of 12,000.

But his voice can be loud and strong. His answers are quick. There is a lot of spark left in the legislative veteran whom John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers once called "a labor-baiting, whiskey-drinking, poker-playing, evil old man."

Despite the new importance attached to the office of the vice president Garner still says:

"The speaker of the House is the most important man, next to the president, in this nation because he makes laws and laws govern people."

He emphasizes his opinion by flailing the air with his cigar — reminiscent of the times he splintered gavels during his first week as speaker.

"The vice president is just a waiting boy, waiting just in case something happens to the president," he says, recalling how it was in his times. He served two terms as vice president under Franklin D. Roosevelt, then returned to Texas because they did not agree on a third term and on Supreme Court appointments.

But since his days as vice president, the office has a new lustre. President Eisenhower's illnesses during his presidency and the assassination of President Kennedy have focused attention on the man who occupies the No. 2 job in the U.S. government.

Under Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon had duties never before assumed by any of his predecessors, and Lyndon B. Johnson, when vice-president under Kennedy, was given jobs of first magnitude.

In the recent presidential campaign, the Democratic and Republican choices for vice president came in for great public attention.

But Garner cherishes his days as speaker. He has said that when he switched from speaker to vice president, at the 1932 inauguration, it "was the only demotion I ever had."

He once called the vice presidency "a spare tire on the automobile of government."

"However, you need a vice president," Garner tells visitors. "You need him to preside over the Senate, you have to have someone in case something happens to the president."

A visitor asked Garner if he had heard of the Senate approving a proposed constitutional amendment that would let the president fill a vacancy in the vice presidency, subject to confirmation by a majority of both houses of Congress. The meas-

Small Grain Pastures Can Be Profitable

Small grains can provide lush green pastures and good yields of high quality forage during the winter months if properly managed.

Winter pastures should be grazed only after the plants have become well established, says Albert C. Novosad, Extension pasture specialist, Texas A&M University. They must be allowed to develop a root system that is deep enough to use moisture and plant nutrients below the three-four inch soil level.

Novosad points out that a plant's height best indicates whether or not its root system is well established. Upright growth — type plants such as Alamo, oats, Gator and Elbon rye and Goliath barley reach this stage at a height of eight to ten inches. Root systems of such intermediate-type plants as Moregrain, Suregrain and Victorgrain oats are usually well established by the time they are six to eight inches high, while the most prostrate types such as Mustang oats must be four to six inches tall.

The difference between profit and loss on winter pastures is often determined by the first grazing, explains the specialist. One grazing too early may cut yields as much as 25 per cent, while a combination of too early and too close grazing over a period of time can reduce forage production as much as 70-80 per cent. Top growth is reduced and crown and root development are retarded.

Constant close grazing hampers the production of all small grains, contends Novosad, and also increases winter killing. Livestock should be removed when plants have been grazed down to a height of about three inches. Usually four or five weeks should be allowed between clippings or grazings for plants to make sufficient regrowth.

ure has not been accorded upon by the House.

"Sure, I heard about it," Garner said. "I have two TV sets and a radio in the house and I keep one or maybe two going most of the time so I can keep up with things. My eyes won't let me read any more."

Then Garner tells one of his favorite stories — his departure from Washington. "I crossed the Potomac for good in 1941 when I caught the train to Texas," he said. "I said I'd never go back, even though everybody pooch-pooched me, and I haven't. I've lived here like I said I would."

It was the end of a career that began when he was born in a log cabin in Red River County in 1868, three years after President Lincoln was shot. His formal schooling ended at 14, but he later studied law and was admitted to the Texas bar in 1890. Garner's political life began with his election as a county judge in Uvalde, while Grover Cleveland was president. Garner served two terms in

Another Grand Plan Emerges for London

By ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP) — Just under 300 years ago, Sir Christopher Wren, Britain's greatest architect, sketched out a grand plan for London.

It was for a capital of wide, tree-lined boulevards with plenty of space to double-park the coach and four, and room to swing your walking stick as you strolled in the sun.

They never listened to Sir Christopher. His plan was scrapped, London just went ahead and grew.

Now a plan is emerging that may help save the city from being choked to death.

The boom in office skyscrapers that has radically changed the face of old London is collapsing. The government has imposed a ban on building more office space. This applies throughout the crowded capital and stretching for 40 miles on every side. Both private and public construction is affected.

Some of the new skyscrapers overshadow castles and cathedrals that were the city's greatest architectural heritage.

But the building freeze announced by Economics Minister George Brown has little to do with sentiment about saving architectural vistas.

It was three major purposes: To relieve the strain on London's public transport system and highways.

To encourage office builders to take their business to industrially neglected areas.

To make more land available for houses.

The old Conservative government tried to encourage businessmen to take their trade into the less crowded provinces, but there was no compulsion. Only a few made the move. There is prestige attached to having an office in London — it sounds better than, say, Wigan or Cleethorpes.

Now only in very special circumstances will office building be allowed in London. Buildings already under construction will be finished. Drawing board plans—ground ideas for new tall towers—all must be scrapped.

By freezing office building, the government aims at least to stop the existing chaos from growing.

A publicity campaign, hand-in-hand with the government directive, aims to show employers the advantages of taking their offices and employees out into the provinces, or at least outside the 40-mile London limit.

Rents are cheaper out there, they're told — only a third of the London average rate of $6.40 per square foot per year.

Gary Snook of Iowa set two Big Ten records in the Washington game. He netted 233 yards, 18 of them rushing and 215 on passes. Snook's 19 completions in 32 attempts also was a Big Ten mark.

Ohio State's Arnie Chongo set a Big Ten record by intercepting three Indiana passes.

Mike Shannon of the St. Louis Cardinals fanned five straight times during the fifth and sixth games of the World Series. He broke the string with a single off the right field screen in St. Louis.

Margaret Sanger Has Little Hope For Population Explosion Control

By JOHN RIDDICK

The Tucson Citizen TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Margaret Sanger, founder of the birth-control movement, has little hope that the population explosion will be controlled.

"I just don't see how we can control the birth rate until we get the government to agree that this is something that should be taken seriously," said Mrs. Sanger in a recent interview.

"Other countries feel that if our country is against it, it must be bad," she continued. "Americans would be much more acceptable when they go abroad to work on this problem, if we could get our government to okay it under population control."

Mrs. Sanger, who once challenged President Dwight D. Eisenhower to debate whether birth control is a proper concern of government, advises her country to follow Japan's example.

"The first time I went to Japan, I didn't get anywhere," she said. "But when I went back after the war, I found that quite a movement had been building up. We could do well to copy the Japanese on this."

However, she is not so optimistic about finding a solution to India's population problem.

"The difficulty there is the language," she explained. "Even Mr. Nehru didn't speak all the languages of India."

Mrs. Sanger said she is encouraged by what she sees as a change in the attitude of the Roman Catholic Church.

But what the birth-control movement still needs most of all is education, she said. "Education is needed mainly among the poor and illiterate. I began the movement really because of them."

When she began her crusade to make birth control a public issue and a private possibility back in 1912, the whole subject was taboo.

"I had to be very careful about the words I used," Mrs. Sanger recalled. "Even my father — an outspoken Irishman — who brought me up to do my own thinking — said to me one day: 'Margaret, can't you find some other subject in the world to talk about besides the bedroom?'"

Although she was jailed eight times for her efforts to spread information, Mrs. Sanger isn't bitter.

"Every time I was put in jail, it was a mistake," she explained. "It was by somebody who didn't know anything and thought I was advocating abortion. Actually, I was trying to get people to give up abortion and use contraceptives."

Mrs. Sanger founded the Planned Parenthood organization and was its international president until just a few years ago.

Now she is looking forward to the development of a drug that would produce infertility for a certain period of time. "Injection is the best idea," she said. "That will be the great day when they have that."

Livestock Lice Season At Hand

Lice are busy with their annual invasion of Texas livestock and will take a sizable chunk of producers' profits again this year unless controlled.

These pests appear in greatest numbers during fall and winter, and losses can be reduced materially if control measures are taken now, says Weldon Newton, associate Extension entomologist, Texas A&M University.

Animals infested with the parasites usually are restless, eat less, do not have good feed conversions and have a rough, coarse appearance.

Sprays recommended for controlling lice on beef and non-lactating dairy animals include methoxychlor, malathion, dioxathion (Delnav), lindane, Ruelene, carbaryl (Levin), ronnel (Korlan) and toxaphene.

For dairy animals, Newton recommends these formulations: Ciodrin, pyrethrin and rotenone. Irrigation induced by lice on sheep and goats causes the animals to rub or bite themselves. Thus wool or mohair may be pulled out or become matted or low in grade.

A thorough spraying, immersing or dusting is suggested for ridding sheep and goats of these pests. Coumaphos (Co-Ral), DDT, dioxathion (Delnav), toxaphene, Diazinon, malathion and ronnel (Korlan) are effective controls, says Newton, but should not be used on milk goats. Lindane, as well as methoxychlor, is specified for use on milk goats.

The blood-sucking lice occurring on swine can be controlled by such insecticides as coumaphos (Delnav), malathion, lindane, ronnel (Kolan), methoxychlor and tocaphene.

To control these tiny parasites on horses, the entomologist suggests chlordane, coumaphos and tocaphene.

Poultry are also attacked by several species of lice that irritate the birds and cause weight loss, reduced egg production, decreased quality of market birds and even death.

Coumaphos (Co-Ral), malathion, carbaryl (Sevin) and nicotine sulfat all rate as good controls.

In using insecticide formulations, Newton stresses the importance of following the manufacturer's recommendations and observing all safety restrictions.

Twice during game 6 of the World Series Yankee pitcher Jim Bouton retired seven men in a row.

Arkansas set the Southwest Conference rushing record by gaining 505 yards against Rice in 1953.

More detailed information on the control of lice and other external parasites is found in Extension publication, MP - 691, Texas guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry, available at the local county agent's office.

FIRES TOTAL 138 — The Bailey County Fire Department Chief Earl Ladd reported total fires in 1964 were 138. The latest fire was Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 9:20 p. m. at Edwards Gin. Pictured above are seven bales of cotton which were placed on the platform outside the gin were destroyed. There was no damage to buildings or machinery. The total count of 138 is 24 ahead of the 1963 total on Nov. 11 of 114. Chief Ladd said that this was a normal increase, as more people in the area make more fires and that the dry weather this year was a detriment. He said that there are more fires outside the Muleshoe City Limits.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

COURTS SPEAK — National chain loan companies got the word they wanted from the Texas Supreme Court.

I upheld lower court decisions that an effort by the Legislature to restrict non-Texas companies from opening new loan offices in Texas clearly was unconstitutional.

Small Texas firms had convinced the Legislature that loan licenses should be issued only to companies owned at least 51 percent by Texans. But the court said that is not valid, under both state and federal constitutions.

On request of Upshur Rural Electric Cooperative and Southwestern Electric Power Company of Shreveport, Supreme Court dismissed appeals in a dispute involving construction of a $9,000,000 rural power generating plant near Ore City in East Texas. Southwestern claimed the Upshur Coop, serving 10 North East Texas counties, had no authority to discontinue buying power and to start generating its own. All matters in dispute reportedly were settled.

An Austin district court refused the Houston House of Tobacco's request for a temporary restraining order to retain its distributor's permit. But it set a November 12 hearing on an injunction to keep the State Comptroller from revoking the permit. Firm's operator was charged with participating in cigarette tax stamp fraud scheme said to run into millions of dollars.

El Paso Electric Company is challenging constitutionality of state gross receipts tax on its energy sales in El Paso, Van Horn and Anthony. It seeks a $300,000 refund in appeal to Third Court of Civil Appeals here.

COLLEGE GROWTH — The 32 junior colleges which are supported in part by state money gained 16.7 per cent in enrollments this fall.

Growth of community colleges was even greater than state colleges and universities, which checked in 144,309 students, a gain of 9.4 per cent over last year.

New emphasis on the need for higher education, plus the simple fact that the bumper "war baby crop" is reaching college age, accounts for growth.

Community colleges, to give vocational and technical courses, are a major part of the recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School. Need for at least a dozen new community colleges is indicated.

AG- OPINIONS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said a section of the state driver responsibility law requiring "immediate" surrender of driver licenses when accident liability requirements are not met is unconstitutional. Department of Public Safety said it still is unlawful for anyone to refuse to surrender a suspended or revoked license.

In other opinions, Carr held that:

El Paso Commissioners have no authority to lease the county coliseum to individuals for a furniture sale; construction of a highway bridge with fender system which may interfere with a landowner's access to a navigable stream is not unconstitutional seizure of property; State Board of Plumbing Examiners has authority to set minimum apprenticeship period for license applicants and to adopt necessary rules.

WATER — A committee of legislators and citizens headed by Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake is considering a recommendation to the Legislature in the field of soil and water conservation.

A daylong hearing revealed that oil and water regulatory bodies don't mix. Spokesmen for oil companies want the law clarified so their salt water disposals are regulated only by the Railroad Commission. Bill Abington, counsel for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, outlined that view.

But J. W. Buchanan of Dumas, pollution control chairman for the Texas Water Conservancy, thought the Texas Water Commission should be given the power to veto applications for salt water disposal into the ground, as a means of making sure that underground water supplies are not polluted.

Committee will meet again to reach decisions on this and other proposals before it.

FLY-UP CEREMONY — The following attended the Girl Scout presentation of wings and pins for becoming Girl Scouts were: Karen Parks, Rhonda Bland, Annette Campbell, Viola Jackson, Terry Waller, Kathy Pena, Vowery Throckmorton, Danita Saxton, Narda Pierce, Cynthia Puckett, Lizan Gunter, Christy Ford, Kay Campbell, Tracy Cowan, Sheryl Burton, and Jeannette Campbell.

3. Everyday - Thank "God" for different things.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reviews the recent campaign in his letter this week. Dear editor:

A lot of the experts on politics, after rubbing out what they may have said before the election, have now been analysing the voting results and have asked the puzzling question: why do Presidential candidates campaign so hard and so long when it's impossible to tell what effect it has, other than to wear the men down physically.

To back this up, they point out that at the start of the campaign the public opinion polls showed Johnson with about 62 percent of the vote. Goldwater with about 38, give or take a few points for the undecided voter. Now, they say look at the results. The percentages on the actual voting were about the same, 62 for Johnson, 38 for Goldwater, so what was the campaigning all about? Why spend 25 million dollars rushing around the country when the thing was decided before they started out?

These experts don't understand politics. Both candidates have to campaign to keep things in balance and the two party system going. If you want to upset the apple cart let one man campaign and the other stay at home. This would throw the public opinion polls completely off, for a reason the experts don't understand.

The way I figure it is, if a man has a certain percentage of the votes at the start of the campaign, he's bound to lose 10 or 15 percent by getting out and campaigning. For every hand he shakes, he misses four or five. He's late for a rally, the local high school band members are hungry. And so it goes, and by the time you've covered 35 or 40 states, you leave a lot of toes stepped on. If he campaigns and his opponent doesn't, you see what this does to the polls. Throws them off completely.

Both men have to campaign, so the losses will offset each other. It is a courtesy which is fundamental to politics, and has to continue.

Campaigning is sometimes like farming. When you wind up a year and look back and figure up have been about even if you'd stayed out of the field altogether, but that would have been un-agricultural. Same thing with politics.

I didn't want to bring this up during the campaigning as it was irrelevant enough to classify as an issue, but now that the election is over and the country can settle down to important things I can get around to discussing it.

According to a newspaper item I've been saving for three weeks now, economists have hailed as good news the discovery that the people during the third quarter of this year resumed their normal habits of spending.

During the second quarter the experts had detected a dangerous drift toward thrift and this had them worried. During that period people were saving over 8 per cent of their take-home pay, whereas in the third quarter they got back to saving only 7 per cent, with the possibility of going a little lower, what with Christmas coming on and all.

As I understand this theory, the economy is geared to a steady pace of producing and selling, and a jump in saving means a drop in buying, followed by a slump in producing. In other words, a penny saved is a wheel stopped. I have not gone into this theory thoroughly, but I am willing to practice it, provided there are some built-in safeguards to protect a man's reputation.

For example, say right now I'm a little hard-pressed for cash, and you could say it with-

Language Arts Classes Visit The Journal

Visitors to the Journal last Thursday were students of Betty Jennings' eighth grade Language Arts classes a Muleshoe Junior High School. Explanation of the process from which a news story is set into print, including demonstrations of the various machines used, and points in Journalistic writing were given to the class.

The eighth grade plans to publish its first newspaper next week. The newspaper tour completed studies of Journalism and preparation for the Junior High edition.

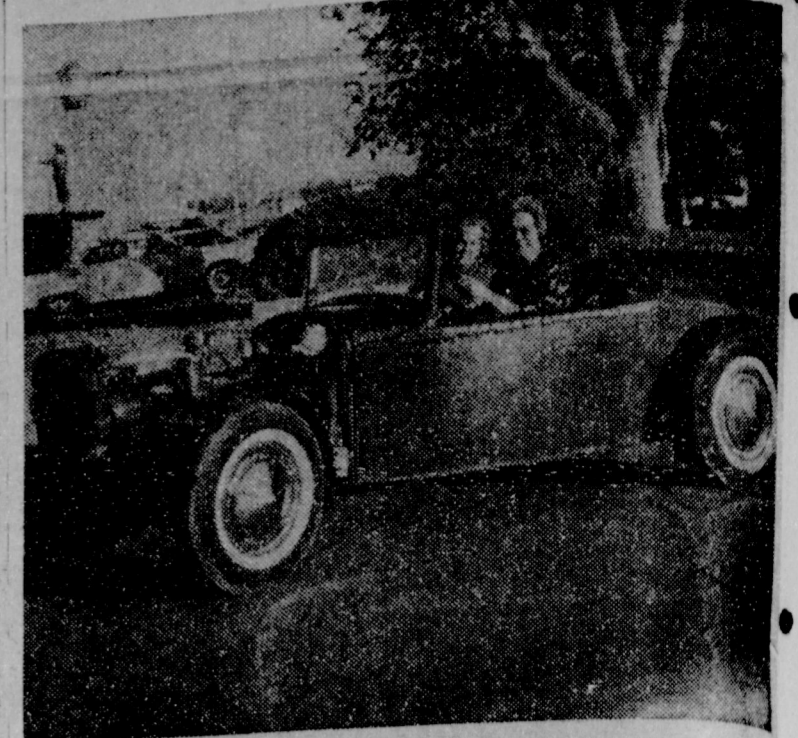

Student guests were Vina Bass, Mart Francis, Joe Pat Riley, Ricky Hudson, Karla Lovelady, Alice Holmes, Ricky Botkin, Venite King, Glenda Calhoun, Bobby Daniel, Rena Lackey, Lowry Lewis, Linda Kerr, Earl Wayne Peugh, Sheryl Mason, Lindsay Davis, Sheridan Porter, Kerma Nickels, Cindy Crane, Druscilla Dameron, Rosalia Ortil, Alicia Aguirre, John Pitts, Johnny Raney and Ronnie Daniel.

out indulging in campaign talk, and as a result have out down on my spending. Now I don't want people, unaware of situation, saying, "Look at him, not spending much these days. Probably saving his money. What's he trying to do, wreck the economy?"

Now the last thing I'd want to do is wreck the economy, therefore it seems to me the government ought to have a special fund to tide people over when, with the help of expensive families and short sighted credit manager, they've cut down on their spending.

Any time a man's saving goes above 7 per cent of his income, the government should nip it in the bud and step in with a subsidy to bring it back down to the
