

IT'S THAT TIME — Time to take down the old calendar and put up the new, and that's just what Joyce Hicks is doing as the old year ends. Happy New Year!

Today Is Swearing-In Day For Five County Officials

Today is "swearing-in" day for five county officials, but it will be old stuff for four of the "new" officials. They were re-elected.

Only newcomer to the official family is Jean Lovelady, who becomes county tax assessor — collector, succeeding Dess Stafford. Actually, even Mrs. Lovelady is no newcomer to the official family; she has served in county offices in the past as a deputy.

The ceremony is being moved up one day since Friday — the first day of the new year — is a holiday, it was explained. The swearing-in process will be done by County Judge Glen Williams.

Two county commissioners also will start new terms with the new year, both having been re-elected. They are Ike Stinson and W. H. Eubanks.

McCallum, the courthouse, along with several other offices in the county, were preparing for another holiday. The courthouse was closed four days for the Christmas holidays — Thursday through Sunday. However, the courthouse will have only one holiday marking the new year; it will be open Saturday morning as usual.

Banks also will be closed only on Friday, opening again for Saturday morning's usual hours. Federal offices will close Friday and Saturday since they are usually closed on Saturday thus giving federal employees a three-day weekend.

New Year's Eve Dance Is Planned

Muleshoe Youth Center is planning a New Year's Eve dance, it was announced Thursday. The affair will be held in the American Legion hall, starting at 8 p.m. and will continue "30 minutes into the new year."

Music will be provided by "The Outer Limits," and youth in this area are invited to attend.

New Shoplifting Twist She Just Forgot To Pay

A 12-year-old girl who did her shopping without bothering to pay for it, offered County officials a new twist in the way of excuses.

"I went in to buy some things," she told County Judge Glen Williams, "but somebody called me outside, and I just forgot to go back and pay for them. I had the money all the time to pay for the things — my Daddy had given it to me."

The story sounded a bit thin, especially since her memory had failed her at three different stores. At all three stores, it seems, somebody called her outside the store before she could pay for the items she had picked up, and in all three instances she just plain forgot all about the minor matter of paying for her merchandise.

Men's underwear, men's handkerchiefs and neckties were among the items which the 12-year-old "forgot" to pay for.

Monday she was back making the rounds of the stores, returning the unpaid for merchandise and apologizing to the store owners for her memory "lapse."

Bracero Program Ends; Labor Costs To Climb

The nation's Bracero program ends today, and cotton and grain farmers will be hard hit by the new labor price boost and by the elimination of immigrant labor.

Cucumber and tomato farmers, on the other hand, will simply pass on the increased cost to the consumer; Mrs. John Q. Housewife will pay more in 1965 for her tomatoes and cucumbers, because growers of those crops will have to pay higher wages.

These were developments seen Thursday as the bracero program ended and the new increased labor scale went into effect.

Actually, farm labor experts explained, the bracero program will continue — after a fashion. But the new rate increase will simply "price" such help out of the reach of most farmers.

And there's another factor before any imported labor can be hired, efforts must be exhausted to secure all the labor needed right here in the States.

Elvona DeVaney, manager of Western Farm Labor, said the "use home labor first" ruling will make it difficult to anticipate labor needs. "However," he said, "that's just what we are going to try to do — exhaust our domestic supply and then put in for what we believe we will need in the way of immigrant help."

In addition to the pay increase — 90 cents per hour until April 1 and $1.15 after that date — labor also must meet other standards. They must provide adequate housing, transportation, insurance and a guaranteed work period.

Of course the "extensive recruiting" period comes first, to the farmers who will have little time during their busy season to scout for domestic help.

The immigrant labor law is not new. It has been in existence for several years under the title of Public Law 414, operated by the immigration service. Through the years, many workers have come into the United States under the "white card" program — ship builders, miners, scientists, etc.

Even the famous British Beetles came to America this year on a white card pass. And the entire purpose has been to permit such immigrants — Beetles and shipbuilders alike — to earn money in the land of milk and honey, the United States.

In the past, the immigration department has been generous in granting White Cards. In fact, the people who work in the immigration department have looked forward each year to the influx of foreign helpers.

The short-term workers have come from many countries, it was pointed out. Canadians have moved into northern farm states. Workers from Jamaica have been admitted on "White Card" to southern regions of the United States.

And in this area, Mexicans have been imported to work on farms. Farmers in the Muleshoe area have utilized such help extensively, although the cost has risen steadily during the last three years. Pay in 1964 was 70 cents per hour. Labor experts say this is an increase of almost 100 percent in the last three years.

Under the new terms, the Labor Department is stepping into the picture, DeVaney explained, taking over from the Immigration Department which previously operated the labor program under Public Law 414.

Here's the way the program will work in this area:

The Labor Department is forming 12 eight-man crews from their own personnel to recruit domestic workers. For farms in this area, three such teams will operate in Texas.

Western Labor says it will continue to operate, although on a more "domestic" basis in the east. That organization has brought in thousands of low-priced labor for farm use in this area. Under the new plan, Western will attempt to continue to fulfill the needs of farmers, and will act as a go-between for farmers and the labor department," DeVaney explained.

"It will mean that we will have to anticipate the farm needs well in advance. When the farmers come to us for help we will seek to find laborers for them. The farmer, for his part, must determine well in advance the exact day he will need help and how many he will need. (See BRACERO Page 6)

One-Time 'Woman Of Distinction' Laid To Rest

Carles Family Trekged West, Lured By Bright, New Land

Beulah W. Carles, who first saw Muleshoe from a peephole in the canvass of a covered wagon back in 1912, was laid to rest in the soil that she loved this week.

The 88-year-old woman who was lured west by the irrigation promises of a bright new land, died Dec. 26 in Oklahoma City. She had lived there for three years, near a daughter, but it was this high, dry land of West Texas that she called home.

Graveside services were conducted at Muleshoe Cemetery by the Rev. J. Frank Peery, pastor of the First Methodist Church here, and arrangements were in charge of Singleton Funeral Home.

It was back in 1953 that Muleshoe honored this pioneer whose own life story reads like a western novel by naming her the "Woman of Distinction."

She was presented with a plaque at the Will Rogers Roundup celebration, Attorney Pat Bobo doing the honors. Hundreds were on hand for the program.

Mrs. Carles was born near Bentonville, Ark., Dec. 22, 1876, and in 1890 the family moved to Bentonville. She used to do the "outdoor work" on the farm. "Being the oldest of six children, I helped my father by driving mowing machines and hay rakes. That to help with the milking from the time I could hold a quart cup," she wrote in her own brief life sketch.

In 1890, the family moved to "Indian Territory" where the family had chills and fever," but on New Year's day in 1900, her sister had a hemorrhage of the stomach and it became Beulah's job to drive the wagon to Manitou, Colo. for a "cure."

Of the experience she wrote: "Before my sister became ill, my mother had been taken to Manitou where she drank the iron water and she had been completely cured. So, she said my sister must go there and I was to take her. . . My father bought a spring wagon with over-curtain and a good top and started us, with a neighbor family, WOMAN OF YEAR — Back in August, 1953, Muleshoe picked Mrs. Beulah Weir Carles as its "Lady of Distinction," here she's shown receiving an award from Attorney Pat Bobo. Funeral rites for Mrs. Carles, who came to Muleshoe in 1912, were held here this week.

Driller Is Killed When Crane Hits High Volt Wire

A 45-year-old water well driller was killed Monday afternoon in the Maple community when the mast of a crane unit came in contact with a high voltage electrical line.

Killed was Doye Lee Turney, a resident of the Enochs community. He was dead on arrival at Morton Memorial Hospital after attempts to revive him failed.

The man was electrocuted while drilling a water well on the Eugene Huff farm, about three miles southwest of Maple. The man's 16-year-old son, Dennis, issued a plea for help on their two-way radio, but artificial respiration efforts failed.

Funeral services for the 36-year resident of Enochs are pending at Singleton Funeral Home in Morton.

An employe of Aury & Son Drilling Co., Turney was the holder of five bronze stars received in the Pacific Theater during World War II. He had (See DRILLER Page 6)

Public To Hear Forum Report At General Meeting In January

Steering Committee of the Muleshoe Area Improvement Forum met Monday night to receive the report and analysis of the series of public meetings held in November to receive public suggestions for community improvement. The committee examined the lengthy document prepared by Ralph Duncan, Manager of the Community Services Department and the staff of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in their Abilene offices, and discussed its various aspects.

Because of its profound significance to the future of the Muleshoe Area, the group decided an open public should be held to air the complete report. A date for such a meeting will be announced soon.

Intense interest in community betterment was displayed by the 258 citizens who attended the 8 group sessions of the Forum. The report shows a total of 1047 suggestions in 92 separate project classifications for the development of Muleshoe and its surrounding territory were made. Discussions of suggested projects were held and most of those present entered into the spirit and purpose of the meetings.

Duncan summarized the general results of the forum as: (1) Providing a wide range of practical improvement projects as suggested by a representative cross section of citizens, and (2) stimulating interest which should result in putting more people to work in com-

Muleshoe Quiet Over Holiday; Two Held For Stealing Gas

Two youths, 21 and 19 years of age, swiped gasoline from Muleshoe's coop elevator just once too often. They got caught the second night in a row that they attempted to rob the tank.

City Police Chief Carl Neely said officers were waiting for the lads after the tank had been robbed the first night. "And the second time we were ready for them. We caught them in the very act of draining off gasoline from the Coop's tanks."

The chief said the Co-op figures the boys got about 20 gallons of gasoline by the simple process of breaking the lock on the hose and channeling the gasoline into their tank. The officers even got a picture of the car being "free gassed."

Except for the gasoline incident, the Christmas weekend in Muleshoe was a quiet one, officers reported.

Only three persons were arrested by the sheriff's department during the long weekend, and automobile accidents were missing entirely from the city blotter.

The sheriff's office arrested a man on a drunk and disturbance charge, and two Negro men were arrested for fighting.

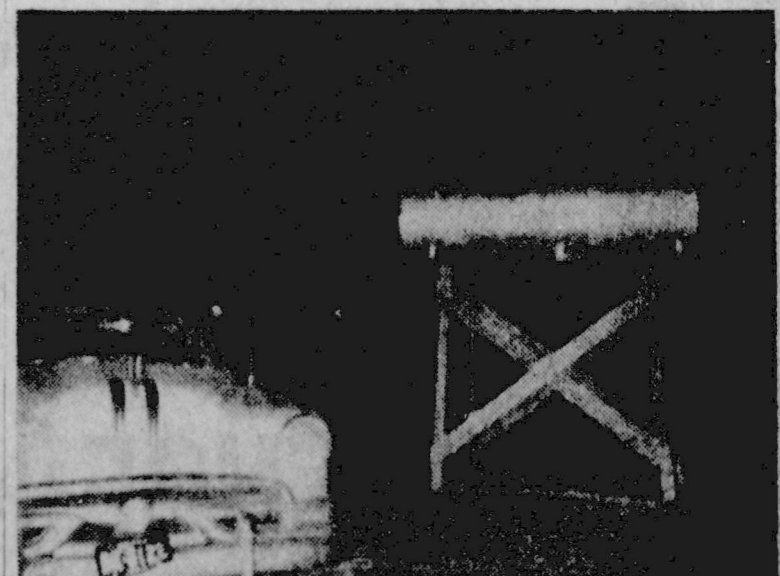

Even Justice of the Peace Joe Vaughn had a light docket after the long weekend.

His record showed one drunk was charged. The highway patrol made 10 arrests. Four were filed on for having defective lights on their cars, two were arrested for speeding and one was charged with parking on the roadway.

One person was arrested by the patrol for failure to have a registered vehicle, and two were charged with having no driver's license.

"All in all it was a very quiet and peaceful weekend," officers summed up, "and we like them that way!"

Cranes Outsmart Texas Hunters, Numbers Gaining

The sandhill crane is proving more than a match for the increasing number of West Texas hunters trying to outwit the big bird with a seven-foot wing spread, according to reports to the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Although an apparent record number of nimbros participated in the special season from Oct. 31 through Nov. 2, the total harvest was less than recent years, calculated on the basis of a steadily increasing crane population. Thousands of the big birds were seen in the Muleshoe area.

Statistics gathered by Henry B. Burkett, San Angelo, regional director for the Department, indicate a seasonal bag of 1,200 sandhill cranes compared with approximately 2,000 taken in earlier years. At one time during the season, a survey plac-

New Year's Eve Service Scheduled At St John's Lutheran Church

A Special New Year's Eve service is scheduled at St. John Lutheran Church, Lariat, for 7 o'clock Thursday night reports the pastor, the Rev. Herbert F. Peiman.

The pastor's message will be based on the words of Joshua recorded in the 23rd chapter of his book, the 14th verse, "Not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord your God spake concerning you." These words of Joshua sum up the thoughts of a Christian as he looks back over 1964. They also assure him that the same faithful God, who has been with him in the past, will go with him into 1965 and stay with him throughout the year.

"Let good or ill betide
It must be good for me;
Secure in having Thee in all,
In having all in Thee".

These words of the Christian poet fittingly express the Christian's hope and confidence as he looks into the uncertain future of the New Year. Peiman stated.

The morning worship next

Sunday at 10:30 will include both the observance of Holy Communion and the installation of officers, which include Adolph Haseloff chairman, Walter Kaltwasser vice - chairman, Otto Lingnau secretary, Ernest Ramm treasurer, Walter Kreigel elder, Wilbert Kalbas stewardship chairman, and Tommy Beals and Delbert Lingnau ushers.

The pastor's sermon theme for this first Sunday of the New Year will be "Forward March - Forward in Faith". The text is Exodus 14, 10 - 16, where God says to Moses, Tell the people who are hemmed in by Pharaoh's army and the red sea - "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward". Forward right through the midst of the Red Sea. Forward in spite of seeming unsurmountable obstacles. It took a lot of courage for Israel to follow Moses through the Red Sea. But it was a courage founded on the promises of a faithful God. We too can and will go forward in 1965 if our confidence rests in their heavy wagon and a heavy team." Unfortunately, Beulah also got sick and "chilled all the way to Dodge City, Kans. every other day, and they were never able to reach the magic waters at Manitou. "By the time we reached Rocky Ford", she wrote in her life sketch, "I wasn't able to go any farther so we got a room there and put the horses out to pasture and waited until our family came out in the fall of 1902. My sister regained her health without ever drinking iron water, and I went to work in a laundry that winter at 12 1/2 cents an hour while my father was laid up with rheumatism. You'd be surprised what $1.25 a day would buy then."

Mrs. Carles married Dan B. Carles in 1903 and he saw possibilities in this "bright new country." They trekked west again and "put down a well on the section where Bill McAdams lives."

She said they had the first or second alfalfa plantings in the county, "but the jack rabbits were so bad we had to put hog wire around it, and still they came in."

"So," she continues, "Mr. Carles took some chicken wire and made a pen in one corner and we got out early in the morning and drove them in and the girls killed them with club."

She recalled her first visit to Muleshoe proper: "One lovely spring day he (her husband) came in and said, 'get your bonnet and let's go to Vega Mill to get chips,' and that was my first sight of the land that is now Muleshoe — that was in 1912."

"They began to build the railroad that year. Then Feb. 1, Fairview Land and Cattle Co. hired us to go to the new townsite of New Hurley where the countyseat was to be located, so said the president or boss of the company."

"Mr. Carles knew about how to prepare land for irrigation and a well was to be put on each 40 acres. So, one day two wells were ready to start pumping and I went with him to see them start. One was going with such a clear stream of water just west of Puckett's store when here came word that a big well

NATIVITY SCENE — This Nativity scene has been placed on the lawn at the Three Way Methodist Church and is 2-3 of life-size. The figures were cut from plywood and painted and laminated by Mrs. Frances Stegall. Men from the church made the stable from slabs of wood brought from a sawmill. 1964 marks the third year for the scene to be placed there and is sponsored by Women's Society of Christian Service. More figures are added each year. The scene is lighted each night and will remain lighted until January 1. The Church is located across from the Three Way School.

was to be drilled that would irrigate the whole place, so that was that.

"I was boarding the men and furnishing beds for 50 cents a day. Mr. Carles had business in Colorado and was gone so long I took the children and went too. The big well sanded in or down and was lost."

"We came back in March of 1914 and Muleshoe was here. M. P. Smith had built a store, but on account of the sand the town was moved to Warren's land, part of the Muleshoe Ranch. Smith moved his store up here and the hotel and church from Old Hurley were moved here. . . . A county seat fight ensue between Hurley and Muleshoe and a Mr. Hayes had refused the railroad right-of-way through Fairview Land Company's land until he got what he wanted. He got nothing, not even a switch and so far as I know, only two trains every stopped at Hurley. About the first one was stopped by some boys soaping the track. So it was lawsuits until in 1915 when an election was held and Muleshoe won the countyseat by a close margin."

"Every building in town was on blocks so if the town moved they could be carted away. . . . Even the courthouse was on blocks and the jail was built of 2x4's. E. R. Hart's office was a little box building about 10 by 10 or 12. Muleshoe was in a pasture, and you had to open gates to get in here and cross the railroad. M. P. Smith was the postmaster, and the mail was brought from Bovina to Hurley by buggy."

"The after the railroad was given the contract to carry mail, a crane was put up at Hurley and first-class mail was hung up for dispatch. If they dropped the mail bag, it just waited until the next day. "I was postmistress for 1 1/2 years. . . . We were so proud of every little box house that was built in town, and you could hear a hammer anyway in the city limits, for it was very limited."

Mrs. Carles recalled that there was only one church in town and it was also used as a school house. Later the church was moved and is part of the present Methodist church. The lumber was sawed and fitted in Michigan and shipped to Bovina, then hauled to Old Hurley and erected."

Mrs. Carles was a member of that church for more than 60 years. She was a past matron of the Order of Eastern Star, belong to W.S.C.S., the P-T-A and Legion Auxiliary. She also was a charter member of the Half Century Club.

Of Muleshoe Mrs. Carles wrote in her life sketch: "I think there is no place like Muleshoe. The best people on earth live here."

organization.

The bureau board had a family party at Needmore in mid-December when Mrs. Buster Kitrell and Mrs. Ed Little were the speakers. They gave highlights of a meeting which they had attended in San Antonio in November when the proposed poverty program was the center of the discussion.

They said the meeting had been billed as one to deal with immigrant labor, a program in which Muleshoe area farmers are vitally interested. "Instead," said Mrs. Little, "we found we were attending a meeting to implement the proposed poverty program by President Johnson."

The bureau board had a family party at Needmore in mid-December when Mrs. Buster Kitrell and Mrs. Ed Little were the speakers. They gave highlights of a meeting which they had attended in San Antonio in November when the proposed poverty program was the center of the discussion.

They said the meeting had been billed as one to deal with immigrant labor, a program in which Muleshoe area farmers are vitally interested. "Instead," said Mrs. Little, "we found we were attending a meeting to implement the proposed poverty program by President Johnson."

Mrs. Carles recalled that there was only one church in town and it was also used as a school house. Later the church was moved and is part of the present Methodist church. The lumber was sawed and fitted in Michigan and shipped to Bovina, then hauled to Old Hurley and erected."

Mrs. Carles was a member of that church for more than 60 years. She was a past matron of the Order of Eastern Star, belong to W.S.C.S., the P-T-A and Legion Auxiliary. She also was a charter member of the Half Century Club.

Of Muleshoe Mrs. Carles wrote in her life sketch: "I think there is no place like Muleshoe. The best people on earth live here."

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Helen McDorman, San Leandro, Calif., and Mrs. Irene Bradley, Oklahoma City.

ed the crane population in West Texas at 206,800.

The largest concentration were reported near Lubbock, although an estimate 69,000 at one time was spotted resting on a large natural salt lake west of Big Spring.

Texas and New Mexico provided the only areas opened in 1964 to the cranes which, according to national wildlife authorities, have been increasing in numbers in recent years.

The extent of the population growth was indicated in census figures released four years ago showing 134,873 cranes in the Texas and New Mexico areas. One year later the number had grown to 165,840. The count two years ago was 184,901 cranes. In addition, approximately 60,000 little brown cranes wintered in Mexico. The total population last winter was estimated at 250,000 cranes.

The crane, meat of which is likened to that of wild turkey or wild goose, is proving a difficult prey for modern scatter-gunners, according to department reports.

Primary problems for bean-keepers, they state, are con-

Bracero

We also will publicize the needs through news media, through the Post office and other means. And then after the domestic labor has been exhausted, we will be permitted to bring in a limited number of Braceros for a short period."

DeVane predicts that the new labor program will "hurt our economy here since farmers—cotton farmers and grain sorghum farmers especially—will be unable to pay the high price necessary in order to get help. They simply can't afford to pay $1.15 an hour, the rate which will prevail after April 1."

He says the vegetable industry will not be as hard hit by the new wage rulings as will other farmers. In fact, DeVane says, vegetable acreage will be increased. For example, cucumber acreage will be stepped up to 400, and tomatoes will need 500 acres. Western Produce of Muleshoe, has increased its contract price for farmers growing both crops, the increase accounting for the increased labor costs.

All of which means that the public will pay for the boosted labor cost.

Unfortunately, DeVane explains, the cotton and maize farmer is not so fortunate; his incomes are fairly well fixed by government controls.

"I'm afraid it's going to be a mess, at least at the start," DeVane summed up. "I just hope we can still have a modified immigration program, once the Labor Department has decided the present plan won't work."

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has an odd idea this week, which we publish for what it's worth.

I am editor:
 I had to make a trip to near-by city a while back and ever since I've been calming my nerves and reflecting on the traffic and parking problem and have concluded that if it isn't solved cities are done for and I would hate to see this happen, because if the city people leave the city you know where they are coming — right out here in the country.

 But I think there is a solution. I was reading in a newspaper last night which I'd found blowing along street in the city and brought home with me, as a matter of fact, I discovered that at least for picking up papers the city beats the country ten to one, at any rate, I read that a man has invented a new parking system which he thinks will solve the parking problem. With it, you can park 20 cars in the space now occupied by two. All it is is a tower with an endless belt that stacks cars one on top of the other. When you want your car down, push a button and in 40 seconds it comes own to ground level, ready to drive if you can get it out without taking off a fender or door handle.

This is going at the problem the wrong way. It might solve the parking problem, but not the traffic problem. You don't want to stack the cars on top of each other. The answer is, stack the streets on top of each other. Turn those complicated highway approaches up on edge.

Say you're coming into a big city and need to get to the 16th floor of a building. Take the lane with the sign reading: All 16th floor traffic take this lane. Sure enough, before you get into the city proper you'll have gradually climbed to the street that serves the 16th floor. With other street levels for the 1st and 2nd, 3rd, 4th, etc., you could get anywhere you want, with plenty of parking room for everybody. I can prove it.

Take any small town in America and if the stores don't go above one story, there's always plenty of parking room on the
