Carter asked Congress to give the government the power to order electric utilities to revise their rate structures.

The step would make electricity cheaper if consumed at night or during other off-peak times while banning utilities from continuing to sell cheap power to industries who use a lot of it.

But Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., floor manager for the bill, said Wednesday the administration plan goes too far. The federal government should not try to dictate electric rates, a power that should remain with state governments, at least for the time being, he said.

'We're not saying no to utility rate reform, we're just saying we're not ready for it," Johnston said.

Social Security Tax Hike Seen

Ways and Means Committee agreed Wednesday on provisions of a bill to rescue the deficit-plagued Social Security system by tax increases bearing most heavily on higher-paid employes and their employers.

If Congress ultimately enacts the plan, those earning $19,900 or more would pay $1,204 next year, or $239 more than this year's maximum payroll tax of $965. Stee-per increases would come later and all workers would face some increase in 1981. The employes faxes are matched by employers.

Universal System

The bill also would convert Social Security by 1962 into a virtually universal retirement system by bringing in more than six million employes of federal, state and local governments and nonprofit organizations, the last significant groups not now covered. About 118 million persons are already covered. could produce practically unpayable benefits in the next century, the bill would introduce a new calculation of pensions. geared to a person's best active year

The formula is intended to provide benefits equal to about 60 per cent of earn-43 per cent for the average worker and about 30 per cent for those workers earning the maximum amount on which Social Security taxes are levied.

Same As Maximum Persons making more than the maximum taxable amount - now $16,500 but scheduled to up when the bill is passed would receive the same benefits as a person making the maximum. However. since their overall income is larger, the percentage of their income replaced by Social Security would be smaller.

Other provisions in the complex measure would allow retired persons to earn more without having their benefits reduced, give a break to divorced spouses and remarried widows and eliminate other provisions in the law considered discriminatory on the basis of sex.

It also contains technical changes, including some designed to solve coverage problems for police, fire and other public employes in Illinois, Mississippi, New Jersey and Wisconsin fought to the end for an alternative proposal designed to avoid immediate tax increases. It would have blanketed in the government workers sooner and, beginng in 1990, would have increased gradually the age for retirement with full ben-efits. By 2001 the age would have been 68 instead of the present 65. But when the committee voted down publicans withdrew their substitute.

GOP Plan Dropped Republican committee members

In a final argument for the Republican proposal, Rep. Bill Archer, R-Tex., denounced the committee bill for imposing "a heavy, enormously burdensome tax on the middle income class." Archer also complained the bill does not deal adequately with Social Security's long-range problems and would result in a deficit of nearly one trillion dollars over

Supporters of the measure say it is designed primarily to solve the immediate problem of inadquate financing that would exhaust the system's reserves by 1983. They said also the bill would keep the system in balance for 40 years, allowing plenty of time for longer-range changes. Committee leaders have promited that they have been a more functional to the state of the same and the same area.

Court Decision Hits Pregnancy Benefits

Court was asked Wednesday to decide whether pregnant workers may be denied sick leave benefits and whether their bosses can tell them when to begin unpaid maternity leave. Many feminists concede that prospects of a court victory, in the wake of the GE Nashville Gas lawyer Charles Wray case, are dim. But their cause might fare better across the street from the court in Congress.

Last month, the Senate approved a bill by a 75 to 11 vote that would require employers to include pregnancy benefits in any worker plans.

The proposed law, which is now before the House of Representatives, was designed to overcome the effects of the high court's GE decision.

Agents Defend Undercover Goods Buying

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Justice Department's "sting" operations -in which lawmen buy stolen goods with taxpayers' money - do not encourage more thefts, said an independent report released Wednesday.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which paid for the survey, has financed 32 stings in 23 cities, spending $1.5 million to recover goods worth an estimated $57 million and made more than 3,000 arrests.

In a typical sting — named after the movie — agents of the FBI and other federal agencies join local police to pose as fences in rented store fronts. Thieves and robbers swarm in to sell stolen wares. The headquarters is rigged so each purchase is recorded on sound and film. This evidence is so good that most of the arrested plead guilty rather than face trial, the report said.

United Way Drive Kicks Off

Congratulating Lubbock on its tradition of success, guest speaker Robert Gadberry of Wichita, Kan., formally began the United Way fund-raising campaign Wednesday.

The campaign opened during a kickoff campaign at noon Wednesday in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center, Hundreds of volunteer workers and civic club members attended the 32nd annual kickoff.

The Wichita banker said Lubbock's tradition of success in meeting the United Way goal shows that the city is a community of concern for its fellow man.

Comparing the fortunes and philosophies of mankind with mathematics, Gadberry said Americans are living in a numbers age. He added that Americans also live in a world of addition because of the abundance of our circumstances.

The guest speaker said the subtraction in today's world is those people who lead lives of hopeless desperation. He added that there are persons in the world, and also in Lubbock, who are feebly blessed in their circumstances. Gadberry said that the tragic trademark of today is division of our lives and that people build walls of indifference to the peeds of others. He added that we seem determined to divide ourselves every way we can.

The Wichita banker said he is convinced that we still live in a moral universe because there are multipliers in today's world, volunteer workers. He added that there is a huge lump of tremendous problems in today's age and the leaven for the lump is volunteer work.

The guest speaker said compassionate concern for each other is the most American thing we can do and that concern for others is evident by the volunteer work in communities. He added that the volunteer workers transfer and relate the story

Affected by the "peanuts" fares, as TIA has dubbed them, will be selected flights between Lubbock and Austin, and Lubbock and Houston.

The fare reductions are scheduled to go into effect on Nov. 13.

"Peanuts" fares for flights between Lubbock and Austin and Houston will be $25 and $40, depending on flight times, saving round-trip Austin travelers up to $50 or 50 per cent and saving round-trip Houston fliers up to $74 or 59 per cent.

The airline filed the "peanuts" fares proposal with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D.C., on Aug. 12. Other Texas points included in the airlines' plan to receive the cut-rate prices for the first time are Amarillo, Beaumont-Port Arthur and Wichita Falls. The new low rates match the budget fares first brought to Lubbock by Southwest Airlines. Continental Airlines dropped some rates to match Southwest's on May 20, the first day of the commuter service's flights here.

Same Old Carter

There is no evidence that any official in the Energy Department objected.

But after President Carter entered the White House press room on Sept. 26 to blame "special interests"-that is, big oil and its Senate allies -for dismemberment of his energy bill, the department spread the word across Capitol Hill that it had no part in the attack.

It was in fact pure Jimmy Carter-evidence that in some respects he has changed very little after eight months in office.

The President is still inclined to moralize on issues that, far from being moral, are matters of practical politics and to appeal directly to the voters whenever he runs into trouble in Congress.

THE ANGER ON Capitol Hill generated by

WASHINGTON-I wish no one's demise. But I have two bucks for the witch doctor who devises a substitute for death that would render Howard Cosell non compos mentis every Monday night during the baseball and football seasons.

In the field of sports commentary, Cosell has created for himself a new kind of Renaissance man. At various times, he is ignorant, boorish, pompous, tasteless, tedious, pushy, arrogant, vainglorious, and absurd.

If women, with their unerring capacity for spotting the phoney, ran the ABC network, Cosell long ago would have been unfrocked and set to brewing coffee for the office boys.

One need only review Cosell's performance during the New England-Cleveland football game to cite the impossibility of this preposterous bush-league ham. As usual, he tried not only the patience of his captive viewers but that of his partners, Frank Gifford and Don Meredith.

THIS MAN HAS nothing to say, and insists on saying it. Insists? He renders the word bore inadequate. Cocktail pests across the land quiver at the futility of their efforts every time Cosell opens his mouth.

Unfortunately, turning off the sound poses too much of a problem. Football is sometimes a complicated game and one of the advantages to watching it on the tube is the presence of Gifford and Meredith in the booth.

Both are intelligent, personable, and articulate former football stars, not the least of whose qualities is that they know what they're talking about. When, that is, Cosell permits them to speak.

New England vs. Cleveland was an exciting game. It went into overtime before Cleveland won, 30-27. For Cosell, however, it was not so much a thrill but triumph for ABC's scheduling, another masterpiece produced by his bosses.

Meanwhile, Cosell's pretentious voice intruded The game had resumed before Gifford or Meredith could explain.

Late in the game, Cosell kept denouncing Patriots quarterback Steve Grogan for his "critical mistake" in throwing an interception. What had happened, as the replay showed, was that a Browns defender had grabbed the jersey of the would-be Patriots receiver, who otherwise probably would have made the catch.

And the officials failed to call the holding penalty by which the Patriots would have kept pos-

ONE WAITED IN vain for Meredith to state the obvious, to wit, that even a Hall of Fame quarterback sometimes throws an interception at a crucial moment. One heard only Cosell prematurely awarding victory to the Browns.

Meredith, with his cutting cowboy wit, could have squelched King Louis IV. In The Mouth, Meredith has found his Nemesis. Insults bounce Meredith has found his Nemesis. Insults bounce off Cosell's rhinoceros hide like tennis balls.

At the end, Cosell intoned a requiem. New England's defense, he said, has collapsed. Well, the final score was 30-27, evidence that along the way the Browns defense was not exactly airtight either. But in a game between two lively, high-scoring beams, the obsessive Cosell could locate only a seat. God save the twhe nly a goat. God save the tube.

bustling cities.

Carter's outburst promises deepening trouble ahead when his ambitious legislative program encounters inevitable obstacles.

Even some administration officials admit that it was no high-pressure lobbying campaign by the oil and gas industry that delivered multiple wounds to the energy program.

Only a handful of the industry's giants (led by Gulf and Mobil) have pressed hard against the Carter program—a mere shadow of massive oil lobbying in past years.

Indeed, a consumer and labor lobbyists were more effective in sabotaging the oil equalization The Senate disaster grew from a combination of factors: deepening public unrest with government regulation; fading public support for the Carter program; failure to devise a Senate strategy after Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill guided the program through the House so easily.

Both friends and foes of the program use a harsh word to describe a basic source of the problem: incompetency.

A CASE IN POINT was the oil equalization tax. Shortly after Secretary of Energy James Schlesinger appeared before the Senate Finance Committee to discuss compromises, Assistant Treasury Secretary Laurence Woodworth proposed a different approach

When Woodworth left the room, Assistant Energy Secretary Al Alm popped up with still a third version.

In this chane often employed as governor of Georgia: lumping his opponents with "special interests." It was the decision of Carter, not of his congressional lobbyists or his Energy Department, But Dr. Schlesin ger, himself hostile to big oil, approved it.

Other administration officials did not at all approve. "If you make the same appeal against spe cial interests too many times." one told us. "it begins to lose all effect." Other officials saw in consistency in the President attacking the industry for raising the cost of energy when his own program does exactly the same thing.

KNOWING FROM experience that the President could not be moved, officials confined their activities to toning down Carter's language. Names of individual Senators and oil companie button. The energy bill, though in disarray, is far from dead

At this writing, it seems the Senate may pass a natural gas deregulation bill, but the Senate-House conference will surely find a compromise setting a higher regulated price.

The tax features of the program are still subject to compromise.

The President's tactic was clearly a bad way to approach U.S. Senators. The judgment of one Democrat who has strongly opposed gas deregulation and generally backed the President's pro-

"It is patronizing when the President sets himself above us and suggests we are being manipulated by lobbyists.

WHAT PARTICULARLY irritates supporters of gas deregulation is the fact that candidate Carter himself backed this position just a year ago when seeking support from oil-producing Accordingly, these Democratic senators feel that the President's hostility to the industry is not born of conviction but of opinion polls showing emotional public resentment against big oil.

'It was poison," confides one administration official in describing the Senate impact of the President's tactic. On a Senate gas deregulation vote just following the Carter attack, the President lost two additional Democratic senators-North Dakota's Quentin Burdick and, from his own state of Georgia, Sam Nunn

Coming less than a week after the resignation of Bert Lance, the sudden attack on "special interests" suggests the Lance affair has by no means ended moralizing in the Oval Office.

Upgrading conventional political questions to the status of good vs. evil is still an ingrained habit for Carter, but one that has not helped his energy program and could do him harm in the fu-

RABAT. MOROCCO-Outside the Rabat Hilton, the pre-dawn mist hung in the palm and date

In the distance, a sound we had not heard in years drifted through the moonlit night.

It was a cock crowing... It was an alarm we were to hear for almost a week of travel in this fascinating North African Arab kingdom of ornate palaces, ancient Casbahs, lush orchards, desert oasis and waste, and

This day, our second in Morocco, it marked an early start for a long day's travel to the ancient capital of Fez, a city of some 400,000 in the northeastern foothills of the Atlas mountains, which separate much of the nation from the steaming

THE DAY BEFORE, a Sunday, we got a good look at Rabat, the nation's modern capital since 1921, now a metropolis of 500,000, and the permanent palace home of King Hassan II.

Rabat, like much of Morocco, is a city of sharp contrasts. On the one hand, there are spotless, modern hotels, and places of business with a European-French flair. And on the other, there are the ancient walls of the "old" city, the imposing mausoleum that is a monument to King Mohammed V, who King Hassan II succeeded in

Also in the nation's capital are two ultra-modern hospitals, multi-storied apartment houses, ancient mosques, schools, tree-lined boulevards, the 'new' city of Dar es Salaam and the inevitable

Casbah. And although twice within the past six years, bullets of would-be assassins have ripped dangerously close to King Hassan II, today there is an air of relaxed rule in the capital and across the King Hassan today is riding the crest of the successful "Green March" of Moroccan soldiers into the Spanish Sahara to the South, and the sending of Moroccan troops to aid Zaire in its struggle against invading forces from Angola.

BUT, POLITICS and such things seem to fade into the night mists and warm sunlight as one travels by bus to Fez for a day's outing.

The city is the oldest in the country, having been founded in the ninth century by Morocco's first king, Idris I. In its cramped quarters and surrounding hills, it still retains much of the flavor of ancient Berbers and Arabs who jam its Casbah with some 50,000 shops.

On the way, our party of West Texas travel agents, TWA officials and one other newsman was treated to an impressive panorama.

Leaving Rabat, one passes through a forest of cork trees, rolling hills, across a tumbling, mountain-fed river, small farms lush with orchards, grain fields and cattle, sheep and the inevitable burros. Closer to Fez, the land changes, at times resembling the hills of Judea, although dotted here and there with vegetation.

FEZ ITSELF is almost impossible to describe, a combination Tower of Babel and Baghdad. built in a valley and along cliffs and sharply rising hills.

Past a beautiful and ancient golden gate, one enters the market place, on foot. Here begins an incredible honevcomb of souks, or shops. Here is the medina, or inner city as it is known. It is also called the Casbah, a word which conjures up visions of beautiful women, romantic intrigue, spies, strange music and moods.

It may be all that. But it is more. Here in cobblestoned and dirt streets which have known the shuffling feet of thousands through the ages, are the small shops which form the lifeblood of the Most of the shops are little more than stalls, facing crowded, narrow foot paths. Sunlight filters through covered roofs and awnings, which span the space overhead. The chant of shopkeepers hawking wares of every description mix with the warning sounds of burro drivers, seeking a way through the mass of humanity.

THE SHOPS feature everything from slaughtered lamb and beef, hanging in the open, to fresh fruit measured by ancient scales, grain in woven baskets and sacks, spices, baubles, clo-other wares, by ancient hand tools, leather-craft for which the nation has long been famous. BUT, WHAT OF the people who populate Rabat and Fez. Marrakesh and Casablanca and the

A Congressional Budget Office study shows it will cost $260 to heat a typical house with natural gas this year if the gas comes from interstate pipelines, which are federally regulated.

Under Carter's energy program, natural gas supplies in all markets would be regulated in the future and gas prices would rise gradually.

The budget office study estimates his plan would hike average annual bills to $278 next year, $280 in 1980 and $296 in er announced Wednesday. The increase, about 5.8 per cent on the average, includes a $262 hike in the price of the base vehicle and a $125 boost in optional equipment and shipping costs, said Bennett E. Bidwell, Ford sales vice pres-

The largest percentage increases are on Ford's big models, while prices have been reduced in some cases on small cars. That strategy, Ford hopes, will boost sales of its small, fuel-efficient cars and ensure that the firm can meet a new federal fuel mileage standard which takes effect this year.

Last month, General Motors Corp., the nation's pricing leader, announced its 1978 prices would be about 6 per cent or $405 higher on the average than for comparable 1977 models Although both companies have raised prices by about the same percentage figure, GM's higher average dollar figure reflects the fact that it sells more expensive cars than the other companies. Ford said some of the new models will come with less standard equipment than did the 1977s, while others have more. The price increases also will affect options and shipping charges. Bidwell said. Ford's 1978 base prices will range from $2,995 for the subcompact Pinto Pony, which has been cut 4.3 per cent from a comparably equipped 1977 model, to $20,099 for a special edition Continental

Prices for full-size and intermediate cars are 6 to 8 per cent higher on the average than in 1977; prices on luxury compacts are up in the 2 to 4 per cent range, and prices for subcompacts are down 1 to

Under a new federal law, each company's fleet of cars produced in the 1978 model year must average at least 18 miles per gallon. Otherwise, the company faces a stiff fine. Ford officials have said they must sell a greater proportion of small cars to meet the minimum standard.

Sample increases, according to a Ford spokesman, include: a 1978 price of $5,-335 for the full-sized Ford LTD two-door with less standard equipment than the 1977 model, which cost $5,128; a base price of $4,330 for the 1978 two-door Mercury Monarch, which has more standard equipment than the $4,026 1977 model; and a 1978 price of $10,166 for the fourdoor Lincoln, up from last year's $9,692 for a comparably equipped model.

Base prices for Ford's new compact Fairmont and Zephyr models will be $3,-589 and $3,742 respectively, Bidwell said. Ford will introduce its 1978 models Fri-

Senators To Raise Questions Regarding Panama Canal Pact

head of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee warned Wednesday that the Senate is not likely to approve the Panama Canal treaties unless it gets answers to troubling questions raised in a leaked

State Department cable. Acting Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, issued the warning after Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., cited the confidential, potentially damaging document as proof that Panama denies U.S. claims the treaties guarantee America defense and security rights in the waterway.

Dole charged Wednesday that the State Department has approached the Senate Ethics Committee to see if action can be taken against him for releasing the cable.

"This is a great open administration we're dealing with," Dole said. "We should have learned from Watergate that we can never again allow a 'national security' classification to be used in such a way as to mislead the American people, or to cover up politically embarrassing

Although State Department officials angrily accused Dole of breaching security, they said they are seeking "clarification" from Panama on the views expressed in the cable.

The State Department also reaffirmed its belief that the pacts grant the United States permanent defense rights to the

But Church said the Senate must have nswers to questions raised in the cable if the treaties are to be approved.

"Let's be clear," he said. "The Senate s not likely to ratify these treaties if crual provisions are being interpreted diferently by Panama and the United States. This is a matter which must be clarified."

Board Ponders Parking Talks

The Civic Center Board today will consider naming a subcommittee to negotiate an agreement with Texas Tech for money to cover city maintenance costs of, the Auditorium-Coliseum parking lot.

The board will meet at 11:45 a.m. in the Terrace Suite of the Memorial Civic Since 1961, the city has allowed Tech to use the approximately 1,490 spaces for student parking. The university charges the students for the spaces, and collects about $60,000 annually, according to board estimates.

Annual maintenance on the lot costs about $8,000, Coliseum Director Dottie Townsend said

A board member said the group will seek to collect enough money from the university to at least cover that annual

Two years ago the board tried to work out an agreement with Tech, but "no one was interested" because of the uncertain status of the Indiana Avenue extension, the member said. The project was forgotten until this month, he added.

The board also will consider recommending to the city council that the dressing rooms at the Coliseum be refur-

The document in question is a confidential report filed last week by the acting chief of the U.S. Embassy in Panama, Raymond Gonzalez.

In it, Gonzalez quotes Panamanian treaty negotiator Carlos Lopez Guevara as telling embassy officials, "Panama cannot agree to the U.S. right to intervene. Intervention is simply forbidden by international law.'

It also said Lopez Guevara had scoffed at U.S. claims that Gen. Omar Torrijos, Panama's national leader, had acknowledged U.S. intervention rights by making a reference to the scope of U.S. military power during the speech

It also said the Panamanian official had disputed the U.S. view that American warships would get head-of-the-line privileges in the waterway in times of emergency, saying "expeditious passage" does not guarantee top priority.

Expert Proposes Ice Barrier

AMES, Iowa (UPI) — Huge icebergs hauled by superships off coastlines could reduce the fury of tropical storms and hurricanes which cost Americans nearly $1 billion damage a year, a weather expert said Wednesday.

Dr. Joanne Simpson, professor of environmental sciences and former director of the U.S. Project Stormfury Hurricane Modification Program, said the theory is on target but the technique will need perfection before any nation can claim the ability to tame nature.

"The method has promise," she said in an interview at the First International Conference on Iceberg Utilization. "But at least at present, it also has its problems. The scientific basis of the proposal is simple. Studies in a 20-year period indicate the impact of major tropccal storms has been lessened when storm systems crossed sea water cooled by as little as 2 to 5 degrees centigrade. To put theory to the test, a large quantity of cold water - preferably fresh water, which would float above the heavier sea water - would be required.

Miss Simpson said icebergs fit the bill and the prospect of long-range iceberg transportation under consideration at the conference could provide the ability to cut damage in storm intensive coastal areas.

"With the knowledge we have right now," she said, "we know cooling off the sea surface in the path of a hurricane would be extremely beneficial in reducing its destructive winds, which in turn would reduce the storm surge. "It would be unlikely to significantly reduce the rainfall, which we certainly do not want to do, because these areas we're talking about need the fresh water supplied by rainfall."

Miss Simpson said the proposal would require an enormous investment in research, but noted the cost of operating four supertugs -considered for future iceberg-towing expeditions - is less than 13 percent of the nation's annual loss

Energy Program Blunted In Congressional Fight

While the House passed most of the President's energy program last August in one package, the Senate has fragmented it into five parts and now has begun dismantling the pieces. Administration officials and congressional Democratic leaders express hope that most of the President's proposals can be cemented back together and enacted later this year.

But recent Senate actions, striking at the heart of the President's plan, suggest this may be a Herculean chore.

The chipping away at the President's program didn't begin with the Senate. The House dumped the President's plan for higher gasoline taxes and for rebates for small car buyers before senators even got the legislation.

Here is a rundown on each of the President's major energy proposals and how they have fared in both chambers.

Carter proposed ending the dual market under which gas in interstate pipelines is regulated at $1.46 per thousand cubic feet while gas used in the states where it is produced is free from controls. He recommended a uniform new ceiling on all newly discovered gas starting at $1.75 per 1,000 cubic feet and rising to about $3.36 by 1985.

The House went along with this completely. But the Senate earlier this week took the opposite approach, approving an proposal to force most utilities and indus-industry-backed plan to lift price controls on new gas after two years and to leave the intrastate markets free from regula-

A House-Senate conference committee will try to reconcile the differences and put together a compromise bill. Carter has said he will veto the legislation if it contains deregulation like that voted by the Senate.

The President proposed cutting fuel consumption by imposing a tax on domestic petroleum that would make it as expensive to refiners by 1981 as imported crude. The result would be an increase of about seven cents a gallon for gasoline and other petroleum products. He proposed returning the tax to consumers as

Again, the House agreed to the President's plan pretty much as submitted. But the Senate Finance Committee rejected it outright. Even members supporting the tax generally held that the revenues should be used for developing new sources of energy, not for rebates.

Finance Committee Chairman Russell Long, D-La., who supports the tax, was trying to put together some form of compromise version but even if that happens the tax is likely to be rejected when the bill gets to the Senate floor. The White House has indicated it might slap a $5-a-barrel fee on oil imports which would have approximately the same cost impact on consumers - if Congress rejects the crude oil tax.

The House approved the President's

The Senate approved a watered-down version, clamping down on industrial and utility use of natural gas shipped across state lines but allowing all but the largest plants to continue burning oil.

The President's plan, passed by the House, also would impose a tax on utilities and factories that use oil and gas after a certain date with tax incentives to those that shift to coal. This part of the program is in serious trouble in the Senate Finance Committee.

The President proposed taxes on cars that get poor gas mileage starting in 1978 with a corresponding rebate to buyers of fuel-efficient cars.

The House Ways and Means Commit-Mayor's Desk Used As Hitching Post

OLLOLAI, Sardinia (AP) - Mayor Michele Podda found an ass tied to his office desk when he went to work Wednesday and police immediately opened an investigation into who did it

Police said unidentified persons took the ass from a courtyard, broke open the doors of town hall and of the mayor's office, let the ass in and took away the mayor's armchair. It was found in the courtyard where the ass had been sta-tee killed the rebate scheme. The rest of the plan was substantially modified in the House-passed bill, with the tax not beginning until 1979 and applying to few-

The Senate rejected the tax concept and passed instead an outright ban on the production of cars that get less than 16 miles per gallon after 1980, rising to 21 miles per gallon by 1985.

Carter wanted the power to impose an added nickel-a-year tax on gasoline for each year consumption rose above specified targets. It was quickly rejected by the House Ways and Means Committee and several half-hearted efforts to revive it in the House failed. It has not been considered by the Senate.

The President called for a complete overhaul of electric rate structures, making power cheaper to consumers who use it during off-peak hours and seasons and ending discounts to industries who use large amounts of electricity.

The House approved the President's plan and made it even stronger, giving the government greater power to inter-vene in state electric rate-making cases.

But the Senate discarded everything having to do with rates. Its bill would just give the government the power to make energy-saving suggestions to utilities and, under some circumstances, to order connecting lines between power plants. House and Senate conferees will try to find a middle ground.

The Senate Finance Committee is pected to follow suit. This part of President's plan is the least controver

There are other questions about the - Why go at all?

 Why visit such countries as Brazil,
Nigeria, Iran and Poland? They're hardly the center stage of world affairs.

- Why honor Brazil and Iran with a state visit? Their records are less than exemplary on human rights, one of the President's biggest concerns.

- Why go now? Carter already has been abroad once. Before he was inaugurated, he said he expected to do little or no traveling overseas this year. Why not wait until next year?

The President's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, responded to these questions a few days ago. During a rare appearance at a White House news briefing, he provided a glimpse into the administration's global thinking. And he flunked a history quiz.

First, he denied Carter is trying to change the subject.

"We are trying really to respond to some very fundamental changes that are taking place in the world ...," Brzezinski said. "He (Carter) is really trying to show that our foreign policy ... is very much concerned with renovating the international system, with increasing the scope of international participation, with giving the emerging powers a positive and constructive role to play. That, in a general sense, explains why we want to talk to the Brazilians, the Iranians, Nigerians and others .

'The trip is part of a systematic effort to give American foreign policy a wider focus, to engage it more with the emerging powers in the world and to try to identify the United States more directly with change in the world."

As he did two weeks ago when he announced the trip, which also will include Venezuela, India, France and Belgium.

In South Africa, he said, the moral issue of human rights has been transformed into an immediate political issue.

Whereas in some other places ... that issue has not surfaced," Brzezinski said. 'One has to make one's judgment not only on the basis of what one would like to see in the world but also in terms of what Brzezinski said the administration is not making human rights a condition for dealing with other governments.

If Carter isn't making human rights the centerpiece of relations with Brazil and Iran, why is he making it the key to U.S. relations with South Africa?

"I think in a way that is not only a difficult question to raise, but a very good one." Brzezinski said.

"It was somewhere back in March that the President said to me that after one year has passed from the date of the election he would like to ... take a trip ... (to) more generally symbolize the kind of foreign policy he wishes this country to adopt in relationships to the emerging global problems

Brzezinski talked it over with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

A conventional trip to traditional allies wouldn't do. A trip to the Soviet Union was out because it is President Brezhnev's turn to come here. To go to the Middle East would be redundant; Vance had been there, and negotiations were in progress. Latin America alone wouldn't be enough. Besides, Mrs. Carter and U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young had leaders were coming here.

TULSA (AP) - At Oral Roberts University you shape up or ship

As part of its curriculum aimed at development of the "whole person," the university, founded by evangelist Oral Roberts, pressures students to trim off excess fat. Failure to do so could mean probation or, possibly, suspension, said Paul Brynteson, chairman of the health, physical education and recreation department.

The American Civil Liberties Union has filed a 75-page complaint with the federal government seeking review of the university's policies.

Shirley Barry, ACLU executive director in Oklahoma City, said: 'We think it's discriminating against individuals with minor health problems, disabilities and imperfections."

Upon entering the school, each student is given a complete physical examination, including a test to determine the amount of fat in the body. If tests show that fat makes up more than 35 per cent of a female's weight, and 25 per cent of a male's weight, the student is considered obese, and is placed on a "Pounds Off" pro-

While on that program, the student contracts with the school physician to lose a pound a week. The student has several choices of how to go about his weight loss, Brynteson said.

The student may take an exercise and weight control class, turning in weekly menus to the instructor; join a dormitory counseling session in which weight loss is discussed in a group, or try to lose weight independently.

"In most cases, a person who has too much fat wants to lose,' Brynteson said. "But some say leave me alone and others say Brynteson said that although the program is mandatory the university tries to be lenient with students. If a metabolic problem is involved, he said, the student is sent to a specialist.

In upholding Lockett's conviction, the court did order the trial court to conduct a hearing with the defendant and his counsel present, to formally assess the punishment.

The Court of Criminal Appeals also dismissed separate appeals from Steven Wayne Danks and Bernaldino Herrera, both convicted on DWI charges in Lubbock. Danks had been ordered to spend seven days in jail and was fined $300. Herrera was sentenced to five days in jail and fined $150.

In both cases the court said it had insufficient evidence to review the sentences.

The Plainview victims told police they were sitting in a car in the lot at a club at 2211 4th St. when a group of men approached the car.

The victims said the men began beating the car with chains and belts just before 2 a.m. and knocked out windows on one side of the vehicle.

Four of the Plainview men said they jumped from the car to square off with their attackers and a melee ensued.

Police said one man was struck on the face and head and kicked in the left eye, another had been hit on the chest and back with a belt, a third had been struck on the arm with the belt, while a fourth suffered a slight cut on his left hand and blows to his face and body. Still another man complained of being struck on the back and chest with a chain and a final victim said he had been cut on the left forearm when he was struck by a chain.

All six victims refused treatment and told police they did not intend to file charges, but 22-year-old Jessie Ruiz said

A West Lubbock pharmacy owner told police a man called his business Tuesday and ordered 100 tablets of the drug Seconal. The pharmacist said the young man had called in as a Lubbock physician, but had given an incorrect identification number.

When the young man appeared to pick up the drug, police indicated, the pharmacist advised him that the store was out and would have to get the Seconal on loan from another store.

The suspect fled the building when officers arrived. Police later questioned a suspected accomplice and have the name of a suspect. Christopher Hooper said thieves took $680 worth of liberty at his home Tuesday night, by lifting a television, bike, sewing machine and clock radio. Hooper said burglars entered his home through a west side window, while he was awey.

Tennessee Reports New Legionnaires Disease Cases

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) - Two more cases of Legionnaires disease at Holston Valley Community Hospital were confirmed Wednesday by the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, officials in Tennessee said.

The two new cases brings to six the number confirmed since an outbreak of the disease was reported at the hospital last week.

Diana Blalock, a health educator for the Sullivan County Health Department, said the four men and two women confirmed as having the disease all were between the ages of 26 and 59.

One of the six, a 51-year-old woman, died in the hospital on Sept. 7 but officials did not confirm that she had Legionnaires disease until last Saturday.

The first three cases were confirmed a week ago Wednesday. Officials said at the time that blood samples from seven of the 10 patients then tested by the Atlanta center were negative for Legionnaires disease.

Twenty-seven patients have been admitted to Holston Valley since Aug. 13 with atypical pneumonia, which has the same high fever, coughing and headache symptons as Legionnaires disease.

Legionnaires disease gets its name from an outbreak in the summer of 1976 among persons who had attended an American Legion convention in Philadelphia. The disease is not believed to be contagious from one person to another and can be treated effectively with Firemen suspect arson may have been involved in a fire that gutted a 3011 Bates St. residence about 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Firemen responding to neighbors' calls for help found the small structure ablaze with several children standing outside. Neighbors reportedly told firemen the flames swept through the structure just after they observed a youth standing near but still outside the house.

There were no injuries, and fire department investigators said the residence's owners were apparently out of town at the time of the fire.

Damage was estimated at more than $1,000 to the structure and its conten

Sixth Juror Chosen For Mabra Hearing

A sixth juror was chosen late Tuesday to serve in the David Mabra capital murder trial, being conducted here before 237th Dist. Judge John R. McFall.

The selection of a 25-year-old truckloader leaves the panel with four women and two men.

Three jurors were chosen Tuesday, during arduous individual examinations which ran until 7:30 p.m.

Mabra, 20, of Amarillo, is accused of the Oct. 21, 1975, shotgun slaying of convenience store clerk Edith Whitfield. The alleged crime took place in Amarillo, but Mabra's trial was moved here on a change of venue after a co-defendant received the death penalty from an Amaril-

If Mabra is found guilty of the capital charge, he will receive either death or life imprisonment, the only punishment options open to jurors after a capital conviction.

During individual examination, Amarillo Asst. Dist. Attys. Morris Overstreet and Dick Stokes have indicated prosecutors are seeking the death penalty. Lubbock Asst. Dist. Atty. Chuck Bailey is assisting in the prosecution.

Defense attorney Bill Kolius has indicated that his client will request probation if convicted of a lesser charge than capital murder. He has also hinted there is a possibility Mabra may take the stand in his own defense in the case

Sick Eskimo Gets Airlift

LITTLE DIOMEDE, Alaska (AP) -An Eskimo teenager with acute appendicitis was airlifted off this tiny island by helicopter Tuesday after health officials gave up trying to obtain clearance from Soviet authorities to land a fixed-wing aircraft on neighboring Big Diomede.

The effort to gain permission to land on the Soviet-owned island began Monday night when severe weather over the Bering Sea prevented a Coast Guard helicopter from landing on Little Diomede, which does not have a landing strip.

The plan was to transport Henry Soolook, 13, by boat the 2 1/2 miles to Big Diomede and then fly him to Nome for

We made an effort through the State Department to land a fixed-wing aircraft on Big Diomede," said Bill Dann of the Norton Sound Health Corp. "We worked on it through the night.

But Dann said officials finally abandoned the idea after concluding that it would be too time consuming and out of the belief that the Soviet government would reject the proposal anyway.

"The Soviets responded three days ago to a request we made last year for general landing rights on Big Diomede and they denied it," Dann said.

Worried about deterioration in the youth's condition, health officials chartered two helicopters to make the 25-mile trip from Wales on the tip of the Seward Peninsula to Little Diomede.

One of the aircraft picked up the youth and flew him to Wales where a fixedwing charter was standing by to fly him to the hospital in Nome.

Doctors said an examination showed that the youth's appendix had not ruptured and he safely could be operated on

Feds, Crystal City Officials Plan How To Allocate Grant

CRYSTAL CITY (UPI) - City officials rate, but put the money into escrow and representatives of federal agencies conferred Wednesday on how a $310,000 government grant could be spent to alleviate problems caused by the termination of the city's gas service.

City Manager Raul Flores: Coronado Cruz, the director of the nine-county Community Action Agency headed at Laredo; and representatives of the Community Services Association were compiling results of a house-to-house survey on effects of the Sept. 23 cut-off of natural gas by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.

A spokesman said no decisions would be made until Wednesday. One suggespending outcome of Crystal City's court fight. Carrizo Springs made its payment to LoVaca shortly after Crystal City's gas was shut off, and Wednesday spokesmen for the other two cities indicated they were ready to pay the $924,58.16 Uvalde owes and the $1,339,353.07 Del Rio owes.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., intervened to arrange the $310,000 grant from the Community Services Administration, $150,000 of which was earmarked for emergency aid and the rest to be used for a study on how to approach similar problems in South Texas cities.

While Crystal City officials sought federal aid for its citizens, 85 per cent of whom earn incomes less than the poverty level, LoVaca announced intentions of going back to court to force payment of $785,207 in overdue bills. The firm gave the predominantly Mexican-American city until Oct. 14 to come up with the money before it seeks a court judgment.

'It (Crystal City's delinquency) will be treated like any other debt," said LoVaca director of public affairs Simon Benfield. "We will first ask for payment and if that is not made, we will ask the court to col-

The firm also notified nearby cities of Del Rio and Uvalde they must begin paying an interim rate for natural gas approved by the regulating Texas Railroad Commission in 1974.

The Crystal City Council, which had a long-term contract with LoVaca for natural gas at 36 cents a thousand cubic feet, refused to honor the regulatory agency's ruling and declined to collect the higher rate, which has now zoomed to more than $2, from its residents.

Protection Sought For Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The savings and loan industry opened a campaign Wednesday to protect its massive innercity mortgage investment with a call for the federal government to partially insure home improvement loans made in some urban areas.

The U.S. League of Savings Associations also urged a tax exemption for profits on rehabilitation investments in city neighborhoods.

Investors and the federal government should stop concentrating on costly new home construction and spend more money on rehabilitation, the league recommended.

The league's report disputed the claim that the mortgage industry is to blame for urban housing problems.

Critics have charged that in recent years, many financial institutionshave refused to make loans in central city neighborhoods, thus hastening their decline. The practice is called "redlining."

But the league argued, "The tightening of mortgage credit in older city neigborhoods usually follows rather than leads the decline in both the quality of life and property value."

"It is unproductive to assess blame on an individual industry," the league said.

The report was issued on the same day that President Carter toured New York's blighted South Bronz. Carter, standing in the rubble of a tenement, ordering Secretary of Housing and Urban Developmen Secretary Patricia Harris to study what "ought to be salvaged and what ought to be torn down" in the devastated slum

But the President also said, "We couldn't expect federal money to do it

The league urged that government officials, private investors and city residents work together to recreate stable city neighborhoods where investment would bring adequate profits.

"Cities can be revitalized only through a coordinated neighborhood approach," said league president John A. Hardin. Hardin said the 4,461 savings and loans institutions in his group "hold nearly

Carter Approves
Nonstop Routes

DALLAS (AP) — President Carter has gone along with a Civil Aeronautics Board recommendation and signed an executive order giving Braniff International and Pan American World Airways authority to fly nonstop between Dallas-Fort Worth and 25 cities in Central and South America.

Both airlines already serve cities in those markets, but the order will eliminate stops in Houston, Miami and New Orleans.

The authority to fly the routes becomes effective Nov. 15, but neither airline has announced dates on which they will begin such nonstop service.

Braniff and Pan Am are contending for newly-authorized nonstop service betwen Dallas-Fort Worth and London.

That service would begin as soon as the CAB decides which carrier will get the route one-half of the mortgage debts on single family homes in urban areas."

"Few other segments of society have so large a vested interest in keeping American cities alive...." the report said. "The saving and loan business can help, but it cannot act alone. It must have a suitable environment within which it can make sound loans."

The report called upon Congress to enact a nationwide "mortgage co-insurance program.... to insure a portion of the risk on home loans made in designated urban areas." The report noted that Rep. Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, has introduced such a proposal.

It did not spell out what areas would be designated.

Other recommendations included:

— Revising tax laws to "do more to encourage the maintenance and upgrading of older neighborhoods."

 Providing tax credits or deductions for home improvements. Giving tax breaks to savings accound customers and a special tax exemption for "saving toward a down-payment" in first-time homebuyers.

for "saving toward a down-payment" by first-time homebuyers.

The trade group also urged property tax relief for homeowners in neighbor of investment activity.

The league urged Washington to "encourage the development of a housing rehabilitation industry." Such a campaign to upgrade existing housing would rely heavily on savings and loan mortgage money.

"Rehabilitating an existing home or apartment building on a paved city street with sewers, lights and other amenities eliminates many of the other costs associated with new homes in undeveloped areas," it said.

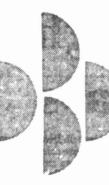

Secretary Harris has already promised that HUD will step up its funding of rehabilitation efforts in areas that do not need new construction.

Harding, 56, reportedly had been considering running for the post again even before James died.

Harry Ledbetter of Austin and former Bevar County Auditor Charles Sanderson of San Antonio announced before James' death they were running for his job.

Gov. Bill Hobby and Comptroller Bob Bullock. He also is a former Legislative Budget Board staff member.

Rep. John Bigham, D-Temple, has said he will formally announce his candidacy within a few weeks.

Houston businessman Don Johnson, a Republican, has announced he will seek the GOP nomination for the office.

The appointment of Harding is effective immediately, and he will serve the remainder of James' unexpired term ending Dec. 31, 1978.

Harding was first elected treasurer of Dallas County in 1950. He was named outstanding treasurer of the United States by the National Association of County Treasurers and was the first recipient of the Outstanding Treasurer Award of the County Treasurers' Association of Texas.

He is a past president of the National Association of County Treasurers and Finance Officers and has been president of the County Treasurers' Association of

Also accompanying the President was lame duck Mayor Abraham Beame, who was offered a job by Carter as chairman of the Commission on Intergovernmental Administration after he leaves City Hall Jan. 1. Beame said it would not be a fulltime assignment but an advisory one and he promised to get back to Carter shortly on the matter.

"Talk To People" As the presidential motorcade's passage was heralded by the sirens of his police escort, some onlookers complained that "he should have stopped and talked to the people." Later, Carter did just that, alighting on two occasions from his limousine to mingle with residents of the area, an expanse of burned-out, collapsed buildings and trash-bestrewn lots where fire-gutted apartments long since were torn down as

Arsonists in the area have run the gamut - thrill-seeking youngsters, welfare clients seeking relocation, absentee landlords coveting insurance, and vandals intent on scavanging saleable metal from the abandoned buildings.

Jobless Rate High The unemployment rate in some parts of the largely black and Puerto Rican South Bronx is as high as 85 per cent. "Hi, Jimmy, glad to see you in the Bronx, checking out conditions," was the cheery greeting accorded Carter by Claude Briley, one of a group of tenants engaged in rehabilitating a six-story tenement with the aid of federal funds.

"How do you think you are making out?" the President wanted to know. "Fine," Briley replied. "We hope to make more progress on a wider level."

Salvage Hoped 'See which areas can still be salvaged," the President directed Mrs. Harris at one "We can create around the edge...We can create a recreation area and start turning it around."

Carter's hourlong visit took him to areas along the once opulent Grand Concourse, the mecca of Jewish families earlier in the century, and into side streets in onetime Irish areas. It took him within a block of Yankee Stadium, and along the streets where such major leaguers as Hank Greenberg and Rocky Colavito

"Most of this occurred in the last five years - after Nixon cut off the urban renewal funds?" the President asked Mrs. Harris at one point. She agreed, although actually the deterioration of the South Bronx began some years earlier.

President Agrees The tour was the brainchild of Tim Kraft, the President's appointments and scheduling assistant. He suggested that while Carter was in New York such a tour might be a good idea, and the President agreed.

"I'm glad he had the opportunity to see it." Beame said afterward, "and I think we will get some progress in the South Bronx

Carter Retaliates In retaliation for Koch's letter of complaint, Carter was said to have scrapped plans to plug the congressman's campaign for mayor while in the city. Asked about the situaton by reporters after his Bronx tour, Carter replied:

"His public expression of concern is legitimate. Ed Koch expressed some concern in his letter. I feel myself obviously we've got a difficult job. Our ties to Israel are absolutely unshakeable. The security of Israel is vital to the security of our that the product must be enacted without change is not only wrong, but it is unrealistic," he said. The Senate began considering the electric rate legislation a day after it delivered a major rebuff to the Carter energy program by voting 50 to 46 to lift price controls from newly discovered natural gas after two years. Controls Urged Carter had wanted to keep controls on gas and to also extend them to now-unregulated markets within gas-producing

The House passed the President's plan. A House-Senate conference committee will try to fashion a compromise.

Meanwhile, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said the President's energy plan is "in a shambles" and should be withdrawn and redrafted. "The administration should go back to the drawing boards and come up with a new program," said Ribicoff, a senior Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee. The committee currently is eyeing a possible compromise to replace Carter's proposed crude oil tax which it earlier killed.

Committee Named In an action prompted by a stormy filibuster over the natural gas pricing issue, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va. announced Wednesday the appointment of a special committee to consider changes in the Senate's filibuster The filibuster was waged by several liberal Democrats who fought for the Carter gas pricing plan even after Democratic Senate leaders abandoned it. After the Senate adopted a filibuster-breaking motion limiting each senator's speaking time to one hour, they continued their delaying action by offering hundreds of amendments

The filibuster was finally broken on Monday when Vice President Walter F Mondale, at the request of Byrd, ignored Senate customs and began ruling the filibusterers' amendments out of order in rapid-fire succession. Hard Feelings

Although the move ended the filibuster, the tactics used by Byrd and Mondale generated hard feelings among many sen-

"The leadership is not unaware of the criticism which has resulted from the attempt by the leadership to establish precedents to expedite the Senate's business," Byrd said in naming the special committee

He said the episode demonstrates the need for new Senate rules to prohibit the kind of filibuster-by-amendment waged on the natural gas bill.

He named to the special committee Sens. Sam Nunn, D-Ga.; Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.; Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y.; Alan Cranston, D-Calif, Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Labor Wins Key Fights In House; Vote Nears

WASHINGTON (AP) - Organized labor won three key fights Wednesday as the House prepared for a final vote on legislation to streamline the nation's labor laws to make it easier to organize

The House voted to speed up first-time affiliation elections for workers deciding whether to joining a union, to bar repeated violators of the labor laws from getting federal contracts and to give union organizers equal access with employers in presenting arguments to workers on company time.

These were at the heart of the proposed labor law revisions the Carter administration and organized labor backed to reaffirm the 42-year-old right of workers to organize for better pay and working con-

The initial victory came on a 247 to 168 vote to reject a business-backed proposal by Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Ill., to eliminate from the bill the provision giving unions equal access to workers, on company time and premises.

Speed Elections

Later, the House voted to speed up first-time affiliation elections to no more than 25 days after a majority of workers signs a union petition and gives it to their employer. This would be about half the average 45-day time lag that currently prevails. However, some elections are delayed for months and even years. The House later adopted a compromise giving the secretary of Labor latitude in deciding whether to prohibit repeated labor law violators - companies or unions - from receiving federal contracts for up

The original proposal would have made the prohibition mandatory after the second violation of a National Labor Relations Board order or a court order

Captive Au

Labor had argued that workers are 'captive audiences' for employers trying to keep unions out and that union organizers are hard put to get a list of workers, let alone present their arguments to

Business particularly objected to giving unions equal access to workers, saying that this was an invasion of their ownership rights and that unions have ample opportunity to talk to workers during lunch breaks or after hours.

Democrats agreed to GOP amendments giving employers an equivalent access to workers at all public functions or union events where the issue of union affiliation is considered. Visits to workers' homes by employers would not be permitted, however. The overall equal-access section finally was approved by a vote of 408 to 8

The proposed revisions to the National Labor Relations Act affect only the initial union organizing period. Under the bill, the NLRB would be expanded from five to seven members to take care of the three-fold increase in appeals in recent years. The board also would draw up rules, for the first time, defining appropriate bargaining units. ra said. "Besides that, Mr. Ybarra, The bill also includes a requirement you're never going to spend a day in jail that workers illegally fired for union organizing activities be reinstated immediately at double back pay and that workers be compensated for lost benefits if a company refuses to negotiate an initial contract after the union is voted in. Business contends only a few companies flout the labor laws and that the proposals go far beyond what might be needed to remedy any injustices.

Tax Hike

The Senate Finance Committee meanwhile has suspended sessions on its version of the legislation, while advocates of differing plans try to reconcile their differences. The committee had tentatively approved a proposal to increase taxes on employers more than employes, but this may be reconsidered.

The measure finally passed almost certainly will come out of a conference to reconcile House and Senate versions. Congress is under heavy pressure to take final action before adjournment, which leaders hope will come by the end of October

But Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., Briones gave a statement in which he chairman of the Social Security subcomsaid he and Ybarra had been with a third mittee, told reporters that if the proceman on the morning in question, but said Ybarra had taken the man's wallet. blood off of Stone and from the interior of Stone's vehicle.

He said that he watched, 100 to 200 feet away, unobserved by the defendant.

Also on direct examination, Ybarra had said that, while at the dirt road, he got a good look at a gold watch Briones allegedly took from Stone. He said he was aided by an interior car light when a front door opened. That was one of the first items Garza

"You stated Victor opened the door and that by the light of the car you could see the watch, is that right?" the courtappointed attorney asked. "That's correct," Ybarra replied "You stated Monday (during a pretrial hearing) that the only light out there was the light of the moon, but that there was no light in the car - were you lying then? Garza pressed. "Yes, sir," the witness said

Noting that Ybarra had told jurors the stabbing took place on the dirt road, Garza asked if Ybarra had ever made a contrary statement. Ybarra indicated he may have done so.

Saying Ybarra could be "getting his stories confused," Garza then produced the statement given by Ybarra Feb. 15 in which he told officers the stabbing took place near the horse pen area instead of at the dirt road.

Americans Concerned About Unemployment

Six out of 10 Americans hold the basic view that a major cause of the persistent unemployment is "the general recession in the country."

Despite the indicators that point to a relatively healthy economy, 53 percent of the public believes that the country is still in a recession and, because of this, they expect unemployment to remain high. The high rate of unemployment is also a sure sign for most people that the country is not recovering from its eco-

According to a recent Harris Survey of 1,491 adults nationwide, the public also sees other important reasons for unemployment these days:

-A 53 percent majority believes that "too liberal and too lengthy unemployment compensation benefits" are a major cause of joblessness. This view is held by both conservatives and liberals.

-A somewhat smaller 49 percent of the public sees "the lack of real economic growth" as a major cause of unemployment. Whatever the recent signs of economic vigor, the public is skeptical that it will continue into next year.

-Forty-five percent believe that "the introduction of automation and laborsaving devices" is a primary reason for high unemployment. The public has come to expect extensive job dislocations as a result of the advanced technology that replaces people with machines, but they have come to terms with this sort of dislocation in a computerized era.

-Forty-one percent of the public feels that "the lack of a federal government jobs program for the unemployed" is a major cause of high unemployment. Despite a series of public works measures which have been enacted into law, a sizable portion of the public still feels that Washington simply has not come to grips with the problem of putting the jobless to work.

-Thirty-nine percent see "disruptions in business due to rapidly rising costs for energy" as a major cause for unemployment.

"Twenty-eight percent see "not giving teenagers a chance to go to work" as a major cause of unemployment. The public is aware of the high level of teenage unemployment and the higher level that exists among black teenagers.

"Eighteen percent of the public feels that "discrimination against blacks and Spanish-speaking people in hiring" is a major cause of high unemployment.

"Fifteen percent of the public believes that a major reason for high unemployment is the nick of job opportunities for women.

In the main, the public thinks that what it perceives as a weak economy is the primary cause of the high unemployment rate. But whatever the reason, people also seem to be saying that the federal government and the private sector should give the bob problem a higher priority than it has now and that it must be attacked on a broad front rather than in any single, quick-fix fashion.

Crime Shows Increase; Murder Arrests Climb

month from August, 98 to 101, with a significant increase being recorded between the two quarters — 239 to 283.

All classes of theft were down during the month. The respective figures for incidents over $200, $50-$200, and under $50 were: 128, 202 and 191. Quarterly, however, significant increases were recorded, jumping from 438 to 497, 694 to 763, and according to reports made to the Lubbock Police Department.

The quarterly picture, however, including July through September, was represented by increases in almost all types of crime, except murder.

Four persons were killed in homicides here last month, with suspects being arrested in each case. An outbreak of three such incidents in as many days accounted for the significant rise from only one offense in August. The seven homicides for the past three months was down slightly from the eight reported during the previous quarter. Of Lubbock's 21 killings this year, only one remains uncleared.

There were 24 robberies in September, the same as in August. The quarter total of 68 was only one more than the number reported to police during the previous three-month period, and represented 23 more than the incidents reported during 1976's last three summer months.

The number of rapes also decreased slightly, from six to five in September. Quarterly, however, 22 such incidents were reported July through September, compared with only 18 for the previous 647 to 700, respectively.

Auto theft numbers also showed similar movement with only 66 reported in September, compared with August's 85. During the past three months, however, 219 such complaints were made to police, compared with only 164 for the previous quarter.

Burglaries appeared to be down for the month, from 389 to 336. Again, however, the three-month picture was different with 1.123 such incidents being reported, compared with 1,016 earlier in the year.

Forgery incidents showed a marked decline during the month — from 26 to 9; however, slightly more were reported from quarter to quarter - 53 to 57. Alleged narcotic violations reported to LPD remained constant between months at 24, but 77 were reported during the past three months and only 45 during the previous period.

The $369,138 worth of goods reportedly stolen during September was down sharply from August's $619,980. Official records indicated $142,418 worth of property was recovered during the month, compared with $254,984 during August.

Laumeier Park is the home of 40 pieces by sculptor Ernest Trova, the self-taught native St. Louis artist whose "Falling Man" and other works have been displayed in museums and private collections around the world.

Trova, who envisions the gift of his works as the start of an international sculpture park, says the pastoral surroundings and his large metallic works form a perfect counterpoint.

'The sculpture accentuates the terain," he said in an interview. "It's so imortant to place the right piece in just the right spot so it isn't jarring.

"A landscape architect for the county elped with the final decisions, but basially one knows that some pieces go here and others go there.

The idea for Laumeier as a sculpture owcase began when banker Adam n, an avid art collector, brought gether Trova, who wanted an outdoor play of his work, with Wayne Kennedirector of parks for St. Louis County. rate estate of Henry and Matilda Launeier was perfect, Trova said, because the gently terraced land had no other focus, such as a golf course.

"It's beautiful," Aronson said. "It's onnecticut and Virginia and southern France and the start of the Ozarks."

Trova's "Falling Man" is a faceless, armless human tumbling downward — a tatement on the dehumanizing effects of modern life. The park's one "Falling Man" figure oversees the main area and stands in the middle of a pond.

Other works are grouped into three categories: Profile Cantos, where the falling man figure is sliced lengthwise and wrapped abstractly around various shapes: GOX, or geometric exercises; and Abstract Variations

Conducting a tour of Laumeier, Trova pauses to adjust the bases of the works, puzzle over whether a particular piece is level and wonder why supporting railroad ties are placed just so.

The county government, which owns the park and the sculptures donated by Trova, hopes to buy adjacent property to expand Laumeier. A citizens group is forming to act as advisers in future art selections and to help spread the word about the outdoor museum.

Trova said Storm King outside New York City is the only other American sculpture park he knows about, and he is leased with the pace at which Laumeier has proceeded since its dedication last July. He hopes other artists will be repreented soon.

Here is his sad story. "I elected to open the deuce of hearts. South played low from dummy and my partner's jack forced South's ace. He cashed dummy's ace and king of spades and led a club. I was back in with the jack and played my deuce of diamonds. Dummy's king fell to my partner's ace. He returned the three of hearts. I took my king, gave him a ruff with his jack of trumps. We still had to get a diamond trick to set him one trick. Believe it or not we got a bottom score for plus 100."

He was unlucky, but he might well have tried a takeout double of that three-spade opening. In that case his partner would either have played in four or five clubs, making that contract or North and South might have played at four spades doubled down one or maybe two.

Where was his bad luck? We checked and found out that no other South had opened three spades.

> . . . HINTS FROM HIM

Dear Heloise:

Can an old retired man, who enjoys and has benefited from your fine column, offer a suggestion which may help others as it has me?

My black leather boots got soaking wet. When they dried out, a white mildew showed up. Black paste polish would hide the white spots for a few hours, then the white would reappear.

I applied a thin coat of petroleum jelly to the white spots, buffed the boots with a shoe brush, then gave them a regular shine with shoe polish.

The boots looked better than ever and a week later the white has not reappeared. - G.B. Whitfield

Tune In Tomorrow

BY JON-MICAHEL REED NEW YORK — Karen Wolek stumbled into the town of Llanview on "One Life to Live" a little more than a year ago.

She had led a knock-about, run-around life that involved her in a run-in with the police and her then drug-dealing boy-friend, Marco Dane. Reunited with her "good" sister, the nun-like Jenny, Karen resolved to mend her ways by setting her hooks into her second cousin, Dr. Larry Wolek. She had visions of goading him into setting up a prestigious private practice that would provide the fnancial luxuries to which she wanted to become accustomed. Although Marco came back into Karen's life, she was able to give him the brushoff and strut down the wedding aisle to become Mrs. Karen Wolek Wo-

Married life has not been a bed of roses for Karen, however. She's bored, and household duties are not her forte. To while away the daytime hours, she dreams up ways to taunt and tease the milkman, butcher, baker, bartender and most of all husky Gus, the plumber. She calls Gus at the drop of a hairpin in the kitchen sink, then distracts him from his work by parading around in a bikini. One of these days Karen is going to go too far and get her comeuppance for being a naughty sexual tease.

Actress Kathryn Breech revels in playing the sultry, manipulating wench Kar-en. She's grateful that the role offers her an escape from the Alice In Wonderland goodie goodie types she usually found herself playing. Karen's capers also provide a fantasy alternative to Kathy's own

She was born 23 years ago into a wealthy, socially prominent family in Bloomfield Hills, an exclusive Michigan suburb. She inherited the characteristic Breech independence and determination that moved her paternal grandfather from a job as a Missouri blacksmith's apprentice into the stellar spot of Chairman of the Board of Ford Motor Company. The folks wanted her to go to law school but in the family tradition, she too, struck out on her own.

She became interested in acting while attending a posh New England prep school where she was an honor student. During her college days at the Santa Cruz division of the University of California, she met and was romanced by a fellow student who directed her in several school productions. Coincidentally, the young man is Gerald Anthony, who plays Karen's nemesis, Marco Dane, on "One Life." The couple are still an on-again, off-again item.

Kathy, a 5-foot-2, 100-pound feather-weight, is hooked on athletics, She's a former field hockey champion and is an expert horsewoman. At one time she de-bated between a career as a jockey or verterinarian.

She has few traits in common with her character, except that both, as Kathy acknowledges, are willful. "Karen is like me with my worst side on top. There's a tiny bit of the manipulator in everyone when they want something desperately. But she'll walk over people to get what she wants. I've never had the capability of doing that. And I don't think I use people the way she does. But by the same to ple the way she does. But by the same to ken." Kathyn adds with an apprehensive knock-on-wood laugh, "Karen doesn't think she used people either — and she

City Prospects, Plans Reviewed By Citizens

TULIA — Sixty city residents gathered in a recent town hall meeting to discuss future plans for Tulia and discovered many things they wanted already had been realized or were on the drawing

For instance, the need for a new Senior Citizens Center and Swisher Museum will be met when the second phase of Swisher Memorial Building is finished. The building's first phase houses the library which is in need of new furniture and a genealogy section.

Suggestions for the future included plans to meet housing needs, plans for a new interstate highway just west of Tulia, an improved airport, support of the Day Care Center, progressive economic growth, more concerned citizens and a cleanup of "Dip Street," or Broadway conducted in the high school cafeteria.

Present struggles the town faces include the raising of funds for completion of Swisher Memorial Building, the economic condition of the area's farmers, the need to broaden the community's economic base and the need for a more adequate water supply.

The group adopted a proposal stating, We the citizens of Tulia. in order to improve the community, propose to increase communication among all members of the community by personally making full utilization of existing channels within the community, to promulgate all information of which we are aware and the community should know.'

Directing the session were Joyce Shank and Ken Gilgren of Amarillo, trained town hall directors. The meeting was

Commission Names Jail Revisions

A-J Correspondent

CROSBYTON - Improvements required for the Crosby County Jail to comply with the Texas Commission on Jail Standards includes the installation of emergency operated electric doors in case of fire.

Visiting facilities are a necessary item now missing from the jail as well as minor adjustments such as shelf installation for shaving materials, door stops, clothing hooks and updated lighting in all cells.

An exhaust system for removal of smoke or fumes also is needed. Other items include health identification tags for prisoners with heart trouble or diabetes, identification for toothbrushes and combs and the posting of rules and regula-

During a recent review of the jail, called "far above average" by a commission representative, the changes needed were noted by Sheriff Fletcher Stark and County Judge Robert Work.

From a list of 345 items checked in the jails, Crosby County's jail meets or exceeds mandatory standards on 158 items and suggested standards on 78 others.

Documentaries Mark Ranch

Two ranching documentaries, one a slide-tape presentation and the other an artist's multi-media exhibit, will be offered Saturday as a part of the eighth annual Ranch Day at the Ranching Heritage Center.

Ranch Day begins at 9 a.m. at the 12acre historic Ranching Heritage Center at the Museum of Texas Tech University. In addition to activities in all of the authentically restored buildings and on the grounds, special events will be taking place in the David M. DeVitt and Mallet Ranch Building.

Among these will be an exhibit of paintings, etchings and photographs documenting the recent past of the Waggoner Ranch near Vernon. All are the work of Marilyn Todd, instructor of art at Midland College, who is on leave while she works toward the doctoral degree in higher education as a Helen DeVitt Jones

Fellow at Texas Tech University.
The slide-tape presentation, which will be shown four times Saturday morning, is the work of William D. Benson, area resource development specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service. Benson completed the work a year ago for the Rolling Plains Economic Program, a 29-county organization of key agricultural leaders. The presentation looks at the past and present of the Pitchfork Land and Cattle Company, the Swenson Land and Cattle Company, the W.T. Waggoner Estate and the Burnett Ranches. It ends with commentary by the four ranch managers, each discussing the future of ranching.

This is the first time the presentation has been shown in West Texas.

Todd's photographs are both black and white and in color. The artist did all of the photographic processing. Her paintings are in oil, acrylic and watercolor. Her etchings are from zinc plates, and she also will be showing three lithographs produced from stone plates.

Todd said she began using the Waggoner Ranch in 1970 as a visual inspiration for her ranching documentation. She was reared about 45 miles from the ranch in Frederick, Okla.

"Gradually the idea took shape to do a documentary using different two-dimensional arts media to express the different facets of ranch life," she said.

She roue roundup several years with her camera in hand, but her works depict all seasons of the year at the Waggoner

Nobel Awards To Begin Today

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish Academy of Letters announced it will award the annual Nobel prize for literature today to start off eight days of Nobel honors also covering science, peace and economics.

Writers mentioned in speculation on the literature award included Turkish author Yasar Kemal, English novelist Doris Lessing and Guenther Grass of West Germany.

Kernal, a 55-year-old epic writer and oft-jailed active Marxist, unofficially was reported to have been the chief alternative to American author Saul Bellow as last year's winner. Kernal spent several months living in Sweden this year.

Others said to be in line for the prize included such standbys as Graham Greene of Britain or France's Simone de Beauvoir. Also mentioned were Belgian Flemish writer Luis Paul Boon and V.S. Naipaul of Trinidad.

Childress Sets Adult Classes Registration

A-J Correspondent
CHILDRESS — Registration for upcoming adult basic education classes in Childress has been set. According to Herman Vinson, director of adult basic education for the Childress Independent School District, registration cafeteria at Wilson Elementary School.

"Classes will be open to all persons who want to work toward a GED certifi-is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, in the cate," Vinson said.

He explained that the certificate is equivalent to a high school diploma and is awarded after the student passes the GED test.

Classes are offered at no charge to anyone 17 years of age or over who has been out of school at least one year. Students may enroll at whatever class level meets their needs. Courses include beginning reading, math, writing and speaking, and progress to preparation for the GED test. English as a second language also will be offered.

Vinson said the classes are sponsored by the school district in cooperation with the Region XVI Education Service Center. Persons may obtain more information from Vinson at his office in Childress High School.

Bilingual Program Hearing Slated

A public hearing has been set for Tuesday by the Lubbock Independent School District on an application to continue the Title VII bilingual education program. The meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. in the materials center of the School Administration Building, 1628 19th St.

The application will seek approval for the federally funded program during the 1978-79 school year. A Title VII grant of $130.571 now provides support services for the district's bilingual education program in five elementary schools. A statefunded program in bilingual education is also operated in these schools and 11 other elementary schools.

SALEY BOLDSTEE CHEECE

If a woman receives the award, worth $145,000 this year, it will be the first time in a decade. The last woman winner was Nelly Sachs, a Swedish poet who shared the prize in 1966.

The literature prize traditionally has been awarded after the science awards, but the academy, acting to forestall leaks such as last year, when Bellow was widely reported in advance to be the winner, made a surprise announcement Wednesday that it would name this year's winner today.

No American is likely to get the literature prize and there will hardly be a repeat performance of last year's clean sweep in which seven Americans split the science, economics and literature prizes. Still, several prizes are likely to find

U.S. winners.

One of these is the economica prize, a late addition to the original prizes set up in 1901 by the will of Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite. The economics prize, to be announced Oct. 14, was established in 1969 by the central bank and since then has been awarded to Americans six times out of eight.

Last year the prize went to controversial Chicago economist Milton Friedman.

Among strong American candidates mentioned this year were James Tobin, one of Friedman's sharpest critics; Herbert Simon of Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh and English-born Kenneth Boulding, a professor at the University of Colorado.

The science academy, after sifting prospects down to secret "short lists," will distribute the physics and chemistry prizes on Oct.11. The faculty of the Karolinska Institute will award the medicine prize Oct.13.

The Nobel Peace Prize, awarded in Oslo by the Norwegian parliament, is to be announced Monday. The parliament's Nobel Committee, which last year awarded no prize, is considering 54 candidates, more than usual.

The committee never releases the names of those it is considering, but names occasionally are disclosed by persons who nominate them. This year they include American comedian Jerry Lewis, nominated by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., for raising money to help cure muscular dystrophy.

The Luxembourg parliament has suggested the peace prize go to Amnesty International for its work to aid political prisoners around the world.

Some observers regard Mrs. Betty Williams and Miss Mairead Corrigan, the founders of Northern Ireland's peace movement, as strong candidates.

They were out of contention last year because their nomination did not arrive before the Feb. 10 deadline. Instead, a collection was taken among Norwegians and they were given a "Norwegian People's Peace Prize" of $146,000.

Two Arrests Follow Alleged Swindles

A-J Correspondent
CHILDRESS — County authorities have arrested two Childress men and are seeking a third individual after reported incidents of roof repair swindles here. Sheriff J.E. Benham said Wayne Bailey and C.F. Ewing were taken into custody on charges of theft by deception after several complaints were filed by residents against the men. Bond was set at $1,500 for each.

Three complaints were made against the men, accusing them of doing roof repairs using small amounts of materials and labor, then charging excessive fees, the sheriff said.

The reported incidents were said to have occurred last week. In one case, a resident told authorities she paid $168 for roof repairs done by the men. The sheriff said the "repairs" later were estimated to have involved about $5 in materials and a few minutes of work.

"Don't talk to me about retirement!"

Okay, let's talk about living at John Knox Village of West Texas!

Because it's not at all what you'd expect retirement to be about.

Lubbock. A beautiful city in the scenic high plains district. Noted for its many recreational facilities, and educational and cultural institutions. John Knox Village of West Texas. A Living-Care Retirement Community.

Living-Care

What is Living-Care? It's a lifestyle as imaginative as the one you lead now.

As a Village resident, a one-time Entrance Endowment provides you with a comfortable home for the future, without the cares of expensive and tiresome home management and repairs.

Choice of Lifestyles

At John Knox Village of West Texas, you can choose from garden cottages, villa apartments, and studios, one- and twobedroom apartments.

A Whole Life

There are activities aplenty at the Village. Facilities include an indoor pool, a woodworking shop and a kiln. There's an ice cream parlor at the Village, too.

You'll never feel any pressure to "join in" at John Knox Village, though. You've chosen the way you want to live, and you're in complete control. Quiet times with family and friends, or just curling up with a good book, are favored activities here, too.

Many residents of the Village have gone back to school, taking classes in degree programs at nearby colleges.

All Village residents and their guests can take advantage of the Village Dining Room, for all meals or just for an occasional night out. Those who require special diets, such as low-sodium or low-sugar, will have their menus personally supervised by the Village dietician.

Health Care

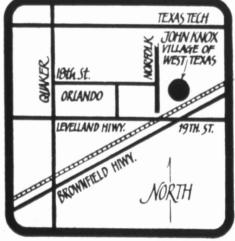

Living-Care is lifestyle, and Living-Care is health care, too. Every John Knox Village resident is provided the immediate availability of health-care services. The Village Med Center is staffed 24 hours a day with professional nurses and aides, should the need ever arise for their services

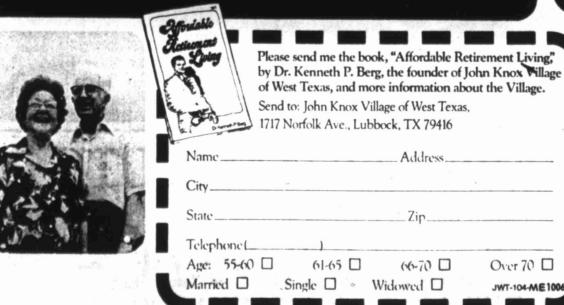

Physicians are always on call for emergencies. Your own doctor is always welcome, of course, and you'll find it doubly reassuring that the Med Center Staff are people you already know and trust.

Living-Care Retirement is the creation of Christian Services, Inc., the nation's leader in the development of retirement communities for almost two decades.

Come and see John Knox Village of West Texas. We're in Lubbock, and easy to get to.

Carter Urged To Start Over On Energy 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee sought Wednesday to revive the heart of President Carter's energy-tax program but another Democrat said Carter should admit defeat and go back to the drawing board. The argument centers over whether money from a proposed tax on crude oil should be rebated to consumers, as Carter wants, or turned over to the oil companies, as several committee members fa-

"Shouldn't the President admit his energy plan is in a shambles" and start work on a new one? Ribicoff asked.

Despite the protests of Laurence Woodworth, Carter's chief tax adviser, most members of the committee seemed to agree with Ribicoff's assessment.

Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the panel, who has backed several of Carter's proposals, said "We are so far apart" that it would be wise for the committee to ad-considers the tax "the worse idea I think "It's a miserable pittance of a plan," Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said of the entire Carter energy package. And if the Carter taxes ever get to the Senate floor for debate, said Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., the two-week filibuster on natural gas prices "may look like a Sunday School picnic" by comparison.

Earlier this week, Energy Secretary James Schlesinger said that unless Congress approves the tax the administration might impose a $5-per-barrel import tax on all foreign oil. That would have essen-

The finance committee rejected the heart of Carter's tax program, the crude oil tax, on an 11-7 vote two weeks ago. However, Long, who usually wields considerable influence over other members of the committee, is willing to go along with the crude oil tax if a big share of the $39 billion that the tax would bring in by 1982 is turned back to the oil companies as incentives for production. The tax is in trouble because liberals generally oppose taking money from consumers and giving it to the oil companies. Most conservatives on the panel contend big tax increase and argue that the best way to give the oil companies further in-centive is to end price controls and let them raise their prices.

Long first asked the committee to re-vive the crude oil tax and decide later how to spend the money. Republicans said it makes no sense to levy a tax if there is no apparant needing it. there is no program needing it.

An adjacent home had "You are next" sprayed on a wall. "Maybe you" was sprayed on the wall of another residence.

Residents in this neighborhood of $60,-000 to $70,000 homes are "scared to death," one homeowner said Wednesday. Following the discovery of the body, neighbors barricaded their doors and children were kept indoors or escorted to playmates' homes.

Police said Mrs. Rosenthal and her husband, Allen, 34, were married Sept. 16 and moved into the one-story home Sept. 24. Rosenthal, an employe of a Minneapolis printing company, had been in California on business for several days and returned to Minneapolis late Tuesday, police said.

Mrs. Rosenthal's body was discovered by her sister about 3 p.m. Tuesday, Authorities refused to release details of the slaying, but said the investigation has revealed nothing to indicate there were any anti-Semitic motives.

Rob Reed, 15, who had been staying alone at his home next door while his parents were vacationing in Louisville, said he became aware something was wrong when he saw the victim's mother sobbing on the front steps of the Rosenthal home. "That's when I saw the paint on the side of our house," the boy said.

One neighbor said the victim's mother came to the home after the discovery was made and sat sobbing on the front steps of the home.

Patrolman Gary McMullen told investigators, a State Police disaster report shows, that he was upset about a news story several days after the May 28 fire, which killed 164 persons, that witnesses had said "a man in a uniform" had shut the fire exit on the south side of the Cabaret Room, where most of the victims

"The officer was upset at the time and wanted to clear the record," Fort Thomas City Atty. John Bankemper said. "His story is entirely supported by a couple McMullen said when he arrived at the Southgate, Ky. club, he saw people crowded down the stairs to the exit.

"It appeared to me that those people were squashing each other on the staircase," he said, adding that he broke a wooden banister to allow some to jump from the steps. "I caught numerous women who jumped fron the stairs, and put them on the ground."

The door slammed shut suddenly, he said, and he used part of the broken banister to pry the door open again. A club employe then wired it open, he told in-

Childress Plans Bloodmobile Program

Childress County Chapter Blood Program met recently with Mrs. Driver to formulate plans for the council. Prospective chairmen present for the meeting were Mrs. Eddie Wilson and Mrs. Fred Wilks. Also attending were past chairmen Mrs. Morris Higley, Mrs. Malone Hagan, Mrs. Glen Stiner, Mrs. Weldon Teague

Mrs. Driver announced a workshop, sponsored by the regional blood center, scheduled for 3:30-5 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 20 at Quanah National Bank in Quanah. Past and prospective blood chairmen and area nurses are encouraged to attend, she admires her efforts to redecorate the White House and improve its fare with a French chef who got tips from Alphand's

He described her appearance at an intimate White House dinner a month before the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of her husband: "Jackie, a little heavier, dressed Italian style, her back largely exposed; a beautiful head and the hairdo of a lioness, with a voice soft as that of a dying woman.

Alphand's generally favorable assessment of the Kennedy years includes some criticism of U.S. foreign policy.

The envoy portrays Kennedy as young, enthusiastic and intelligent, but so anxious to prove he was tough that people wondered whether he really would be in an emergency. "If he (Kennedy) has taken care to maintain his country in the front row of world powers and assure its atomic superiority, why does he give the feeling, in seeking negotiation with the Soviets (which is natural), that he would not follow his resolutions to the end?" Alphand

"It is impossible that (then French President Charles) De Gaulle has not sensed these hesitations and the risk they carry. This explains the French nuclear policy so unpopular with the young president of the United States and his advisers, the brilliant minds of Harvard.'

Most of the diary contains Alphand's irregularly jotted notes on significant diplomatic events in which he participated during an active career from 1939 until 1972. But he digresses frequently to record impressions of personalities he came into contact with.

Alphand's tenure in Washington spanned some of the most difficult periods of U.S.-French relations, including the 1956 Anglo-French Suez Suez expedition, French nuclear weapons development and De Gaulle's pullout from the NATO military structure.

He looks down his nose at some things on the American scene.

Describing, Newport, R. I., and its mansions, he says: "It's a nightmare, but Americans are proud of it and a preservation society conducts visits of these horrors for an ecstatic public."

FATAL CRASH—Five men, including four employees of Rock-well-International, died when this short take-off and landing Wednesday Morning. (AP Laserphoto)

Five Persons Perish In Crash Of Experimental Airplane

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An air-plane making a demonstration flight for Rockwell International crashed in flames just after take-off from Wiley Post Air-port Wednesday, killing all five men

A witness to the crash, Rick Hess, 21, said, "I was standing outside the hangar and saw the plane come up, roll back to the left and then nosedive straight down into the grass."

The victims, dead at the scene, were identified by Rockwell officials as Dennis Nelson, 33; Ronald A. Young, 37; Steve Harrison, 31, and Kenneth Foreman, 31, all Rockwell employes, and the pilot, Vern McEntire.

The men were testing a new turbo engine design on the Swiss-designed craft, commonly known as a Tilatus Porter, said Al Balaban, public information director for Rockwell. The plane is assembled in the United States by Fairchild and is also known as a Fairchild Heliporter, he said.

INFREQUENT RAIN In some parts of Chile's Atacama Desert, rain falls only once in every 25 to 50 The Short Take-Off and Landing craft had made several uneventful test flights from the Oklahoma City airport since ar-riving recently from Wichita, Balaban

Wiley Post tower chief H.R. McKissack said the plane took off after rolling about one-third of the way down a southbound runway. He said it climbed to about 300 feet before apparently stalling. The craft made a left turn and crashed between a runway and a taxiway, bursting flames after impact, McKissack said.

Federal Aviation Administration officials were on the scene shortly after the nt of Darien, III. Fo

High Court Okays Consumer Lawsuits

AUSTIN (AP) — Consumers got a break Wednesday from the Texas Supreme Court in suing manufacturers for economic losses they suffer from badly made products.

The justices also ruled that:

- State judges have no power to accept suits filed against foreign powers, in this case a Wichita Falls man's attempt to force Mexico to pay for 218,000 acres that were expropriated in the 1960s.

- A jury must decide whether owners of an all-night washateria are liable for a customer's injuries at the hands of criminals because they failed to provide her with protection. The court plowed new legal ground by ruling that consumers can directly sue manufacturers for economic losses resulting from defective products. Until now, they could sue only the sellers.

Consumers already may sue manufacturers directly for injuries caused by products, the court noted.

"The fact that a product injures a consumer economically and not physically should not bar the consumer's recovery. Economic loss can certainly be as disastrous as physical injury," the court said.

It said it would be unfair to allow a buyer to sue only the seller of an item that causes economic loss but not the manu-"To hold otherwise would encourage facturer. manufacturers to use thinly capitalized 'collapsible corporations' for the buyer to sue for his economic loss." the court

The immediate beneficiary of the decision was John W. Shivers. A Conroe jury found that Nobility Homes of Texas owed Shivers $8,750 because of defects in a mobile home manufactured by that company. The court upheld that verdict.

In another case, the court rejected the claim of C. J. Brannan, 80, of Wichita Falls that Mexico owed him $874,000 for two ranches it seized in Zacatecas 1963 and 1967. They totaled 218,000 acres.

It also said State District Court Judge Calvin Ashley of Wichita Falls erred in accepting Brannan's suit and in attempting to compel Mexico to answer written questions.

The court said Mexico, as any other sovereign power, could not be sued without its consent, and Mexico had not agreed to be sued by Brannan.

The high court ordered full trial of a case that raised the question of whether the operator of an all-night washateria should protect his customers from crimi-Delilah Morris sued C.C. Barnette, the operator of We Never Close Coin-O-Mat. for $78,000 after she was assaulted at the Bowie County washateria May 6, 1976.

She claimed she suffered a broken cheek bone.

The district judge threw out the case, but then ordered it to trial. The supreme court affirmed the decision by Chief Justice T.C. Chadick, who became a supreme court justice today.

Attorney's Sentence Probated

SNYDER (Special) - Dist. Judge Wayland Holt has handed Post attorney and oilman Pat N. Walker a three-year probated sentence on a theft conviction.

Walker, long a controversial figure in Post because of his frequent squabbles with town leaders, filed a notice of appeal on the case.

If the felony conviction stands, he faces possible disbarment by the State Bar.

Walker was convicted on the theft-byexercising-control charge by a Scurry County jury in September. It was the second time a jury here had tried the case on a change of venue from Post.

The first jury also convicted him, but the 132nd District Court judge later declared a mistrial and ordered a new hear-

Walker and an oil business partner, James Kennedy of Post, were accused of illegally appropriating about 6,000 pounds of scrap iron belonging to Erwin Young for their use in some oil operations about two years ago.

Young, formerly of Post and now a Colorado resident, testified that no formal agreement had been reached between himself, Walker and Kennedy for sale of the scrap iron.

Walker, however, contended Young had given his consent for the iron to be picked up and that he had taken it and used it in construction of a drilling rig platform. The first Snyder jury in May deliberated about three hours before finding

Walker guilty and acquitting Kennedy. The jury last month deliberated about 71/2 hours before convicting Walker a second time.

Walker is a former county judge in Garza County.

Last year, he generated ire in Post by representing two women, former sheriff's department employes, who instigated a special grand jury investigation of then Sheriff Gene Gandy

Gandy was sheriff at the time a grand jury indicted Walker on the theft-by-exercising-control charge.

Walker faced a possible two-to 10-year iail term and a maximum $5,000 fine on

YOUR CAR AGAIN!
Polyglycoat is a paint and chrome sealant finish — guaranteed to protect your car against fading, corrosion, oxydation, and loss of gloss for three years.
Comprised of Dow 500, paraffin, silicone, with a kerosene base, Polyglycoat breaks through the tiny paint pores in the surface and penetrates 2-3 layers into the paint-sealing it and shielding eno penerrates 2-3 layers into the paint-sealing it and shielding it against the foreign elements that cause corrosion, rust, and loss of gloss. Not only will Polyglycoat elimi-nate the need for waxing, but it will virtually maintain your car's showroom finish, thankly ask.

The Avalanche-Journal means value. Value that is both tangible and intangible.

Intangible value that comes with the quality of news coverage you receive by reading The Avalanche-Journal --a level of editorial excellence on the local, national and international levels unparalleled in West Texas.

Then there are the tangible benefits derived from reading the Avalanche-Journal. The cash benefits. The money you can save by subscribing to the A-J.

For instance, we publish a variety of store coupons each week. By using just some of them, you can save enough on purchases to more than pay for that week's A-J. Add to this the many advertised sales and your savings are greater.

All this boils down to one point. Subscribing to The Avalanche-Journal is more than getting a newspaper. It's making a profitable investment.

Joining Trider and his top flight show on Friday and Saturday will be MCA recording artist, David Frizzel.

Swiss President Beats Odds

BERN, Switzerland (AP)-At home, the dust is gathering in the living room, the garden is badly in need of weeding and the children's menu is more spartan than even When parliament is in session, the limited time Switzerland's top-ranked politicial has for household chores shrinks to zero.

Every morning these days, the No. 3 streetcar takes her to the neo-Renaissance building on Bundesplatz, the federal square, where Elisabeth Blunschy presides over the national council, the lower house of parliament, and thus holds what is by tradition the nation's highest political office.

Seven years ago, Dr. Blunschy was still barred from voting but when female suffrage was finally introduced in 1971, she won a seat in the legislature on her first bid. Lage May, she was elected president for the 1977 term, the first woman ever to be chosen for that post.

She does not think much of the women's lib movement-"too aggressive." But the 54year-old lawyer has been an active champion of women's rights for most of her adult life. One of only 80 female jurists among the 2,800-odd members of the Swiss Bar As sociation, she was often confronted with women's problems.

"Again and again, there are cases of outright suppression of women" in Switzerland, she observed in an interview. But she prefers a cautious, step-by-step approach to spectacular action which she rates "counterproductive."

Long before becoming a legislator, she has been working to help reform the country's archaic family law drafted at the turn of the century. It contains provisions giving a husband exclusive control of his wife's fortune and forcing a wife to get her spouse's consent if she wants to work outside their home.

"In theory, a married woman elected to parliament would still require her husband's approval," she explained with a smile. "But in practice, things are not as bad

They were certainly not in her family. She was encouraged in her work for women's rights by both her father, a supreme court judge, and her husband, with whom she shared a law practice until his death five years ago. "It was my husband who suggested that I run for parliament."

She was elected on the list of the Christian Democratic People's party, one of the country's major political organizations in which she places herself on the left wing.

She represents her native Schwyz, a small canton between Lake Lucerne and Lake Zurich that gave Switzerland its name.

She is more busy than ever since she became Mrs. President but when she is at nome she often manages to prepare a quick meal for the family which includes a daughter, 24, and two sons, 23 and 19. "I am not a good cook because I am always in a nurry," she says.

She has no household help and no personal secretary.

If there is no time for cleaning up the rooms in her villa and taking care of the garden "they are just left as they are. But what worries her most is that pile of letters seeking advice that is steadily grow-ng in her study. "I have become a sort of human wailing wall. People turn to me with every sort of roblem, from social security to chicken breeding." In Bern, the federal capital, she nd the 243 other members of parliament share a secretarial staff of twelve. "Of course, I can give some of my work to the secretariat but much has to be done myself. We Swiss are economy-minded people.

Bern is a two-hour train ride from Schwyz. She likes driving but leaves her 20-yeard car to her son. "Taking the car would be stupid", she says, as all members of parament are entitled to free transportation on the federal railways.

As a legislator, she earns the equivalent of $4,000 annually, plus an extra $400 during er term as president. During sessions, she also receives an additional $16 per night otel allowance, but she has found a small place where she pays only $12 francs for a

"It's quiet and clean, and I have complete privacy," she says. "That's all I need durig the four months or so I spend in Bern every year.

As a practicing Roman Catholic, Dr. Blunschy actively and successfully campaigned ainst a proposal to liberalize abortion laws that was defeated in a popular vote Sept.

Did she ever regret accepting the presidency? "Not up to now. The only real bad thing about it is that I don't get enough sleep, often only four or five hours per night.' and has she ever felt bored?

Boredom does not exist in my life."

Vienna Class Offered Via Texas Tech

Living in romantic Vienna and mastering German through first-hand experience awaits students attending the 1978 summer study program in Austria.

Sponsored by the department of Germanic and Slavic languages at Texas Tech, the program is offered in cooperation with the Institute of European Stud-

While living with a Viennese family, students can earn six hours of university credit by attending two courses to be taught in historic Kinsky Palace near the University of Vienna. Participants need not be enrolled at Texas Tech. One course involves study of Vienna and Austrian life. The second focuses on intermediate or advanced German. Students already fluent in German may elect an independent research project in Austrian or German literature.

Numerous weekend outings into surrounding areas, along with study tours of historical and cultural sites, are part of the itinerary. Included will be an excursion to Prague.

Participants in the summer study program must have completed at least two semesters of German.

Those who wish to travel independently at the course's conclusion may book their return from another European city. Assistance for extended travel may be obtained through the Texas Tech Office of International Programs.

Group leader will be Theodore W. Alexander, associate chairman of Germanic and Slavic Languages. Alexander lived in Vienna prior to his immigration to the United States

Interested persons should contact the department of Germanic and Slavic languages at Tech.

Texas Broadcaster To Get Tech Honor

Wendell Mayes Jr., widely known Texas broadcaster and active member of the Texas Tech Mass Communications Advisory Committee, has been elected to the department's Hall of Fame.

The Austin radio station executive will be formally inducted into the Hall of Fame in ceremonies at a Texas Tech Mass Communications Week luncheon Feb. 16, according to Dr. Billy I. Ross, Mayes, a 1949 Texas Tech graduate with honors in electrical engineering, served as chairman of the Mass Comm nications Advisory Committee 1971-74 and remains an ex-officio member of the group, which met Friday on campus.

Mayes's selection was approved by the Communication Department's faculty, Advisory Committee and Student Advisory Committee.

Mayes is associated with radio stations in Austin, Midland, Victoria and Snyder and cable television companies in Houston, Snyder, Corsicana and Pauls Valley, Okla. He is president of the Texas Broadcast Education Foundation, director of the Broadcast Education Foundation, trustee of the Television and Radio Political Action Committee and a member of The University of Texas Communications Advisory Council.

He is an ex-student of Schreiner Institute, Kerrville, The University of Texas at Austin and Daniel Baker College, Brownwood.

The president of Thomas ollege in Waterville, Maine, is Mr. Thomas. True-False. The name of Pope Paul VI

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff Prior to the start of the 1977 football campaign, the Lake View Chiefs were considered one of the havenots rather than one of the haves.

With only five offensive and the like number of defensive starters returning from a 10-1 district championship team, it was little wonder that some teams took them about as serious as they would a glee club.

However, that hasn't been the case this season. No sir, not by a long shot.

It has been the Chiefs who have decided, despite having the fewest returnees in the loop, to again challenge for the district crown-ah, rather, the district head-

And they have been doing it with veng-

Lake View will hope to continue its winning ways and Estacado will try to stop them when the two District 3-AAA powers collide at 7:30 p.m. on the Lo-

Some folks feel the game between the unbeaten Chiefs and the Matadors (2-3) could decide the whole ball of wax-the district championship, in other words. Everyone with the exception of Estacado coach Lewis Kelley

"The winner will have a good shot at it," Kelley told newsmen gathered at Underwood's Wednesday. "But I think there is still a long way to go. You cannot go into the second district game of the year with that kind of idea.

What Kelley is trying to say is that you don't need to count your district championship before it hatches.

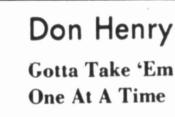

The Matadors, the team chosen by the loop bosses as the squad to beat for the crown, opened the conference chase last week with a narrow 12-0 win over Dunbar. Down in San Angelo, the Chiefs were scoring the most lopsided victory, a 36-0 win over Brownfield, during the opening evening of play.

Behind the strong running of John Maberry, a starter for the past three years, Lake View has managed to roll up an impressive 163 total offensive points this year, the most of any 3-AAA team.

The 175-pound speedster has gained 2,-925 yards during his high school stint and garnered all-district honors for the past two seasons.

Not bad for a have not.

The Chiefs also lead the loop in total points allowed against its defense, 33. The number is exactly how many the OUTSIDE, THE SUN was shining. Shining brightly, too. Not a cloud in the sky. There was a bit of snow on the distant peaks, but winter has, so far, stayed away from Laramie.

A win, even by the most narrow margin, made it even sunnier in the athletic offices at the University of Wyoming. Seems, though, that the sun always shines for David Knaus.

The big, high-pitched voice carried the same pep and fire this week as it did throughout his collegiate days at Tech. Only now, Knaus speaks the language of a coach and not that of a player, or even student-assistant coach.

Enthusiasm marked the play of Knaus. Even today, his name may be remembered around the Western Athletic Conference. It was his work on a Utah kicker which led to a blocked punt and touchdown in the first game of the 1973 season. That recovery-and the miraculous comeback which it triggered-turned despair into victory and just could have set the pattern for the entire '73 campaign when Tech went to the Gator Bowl and the brink of the nation's Top Ten.

Wednesday, Knaus occupied an office in the Wyoming athletic department. He's defensive line coach for the Cowboys, and he sounded like a coach.

'THAT WAS A great win for us," he boomed over the telephone lines. "We were coming off that loss at East Lansing to Michigan State, it was important for our squad to win one. We were the defending Western Athletic Conference cochampions, so we wanted to win for that reason, too."

Just like a coach. And. . .

'Arizona has an excellent quarterback (does that sound familiar?) and fine skilled people in their receivers and runningbacks. This has been one of their characteristics over the years. Also, I think they are much improved defensively; they're a lot more solid defensively, in our opinion," related the young coach.

The Cowboys hitched up their blue jeans and stymied a last-minute field goal try to preserve a 13-12 win last Saturday over the same Arizonans that Tech plays in Tucson Saturday. That left the Cowboys 2-1-1 for the year, with both wins being in conference. This week, Wyoming plays at Utah.

NOT THAT KNAUS didn't want to compare Arizona to some of the Wildcat squads he faced during his noseguard days at Tech, but he was more interested in spreading the Cowboy word.

"We have a lot of enthusiasm (no surprise) here," he said. "All our home games are sold out here, we have quite an entourage on the road. We have an opportunity to be successful, which is important, when we have to follow a championship team (guided by Fred Akers before he left to return to Texas)

"They're already at work on adding an upper deck to our stadium, which will bring the seating up to about 35,000. There is still some talk about a domed stadium, but we (the coaches) are not thinking about that as much as building a successful program.

For years, as a player and then as a graduate assistant, Knaus made it a habit of of pounding massive bruises on teammates, in his exuberance and fire. Nonchallance may have been in his vocabulary but not in his chemistry. He lived his football; now, he has to contain it a bit. At least during games, since he's not on the sidelines.

"It's a different situation, sitting in the coaches booth (of the press box)," Knaus admitted. "A different atmosphere. You have to maintain your concentration, as you try to make adjustments. I've been used to being down there on the field, being enthusiastic. But, up here, you are involved in the intricacies of the ball game. I do get excited every once in a while, though."

BUT, IN HIS concentration of the game, he still spotted some similarities with Arizona teams he had seen before.

There was a quarterback, Marc Lunsford, that Knaus had seen previously. There was a field-goal specialist (Lee Pistor) the Raiders remember from two years back. And, some of the skilled folks Knaus had seen before.

"Back when I played, Bruce Hill was quarterback, but Lunsford is one of the better ones we'll play. Derriak Anderson, he scored once against us, but I don't know if he's in the class with T. Bell. . . Their offensive line, they've lose some people, but their noseguard (John Abbott) is excellent. He was in on 27 participations (involved in that many tackles some way) against us. "We were behind them (12-7) just before the half. Arizona blocked a punt and got it on our 7. But, we held them on four downs, down to the one-foot line, and I think that made the difference in the ball

"Arizona has a history of not liking to come to Wyoming to play," mused Knaus. "They just don't look forward to coming. But, we, at times, we show glimpses of having an excellent football

The coach was creeping out. Arizona may be in front of Tech, but it was all in past Wednesday-for the Wyoming

KC Beats Royal Tattoo On New Yorkers 7-2

NEW YORK (AP) — History was on the side of the Kansas City Royals after they rode home runs by Hal McRae, John Mayberry and Al Cowens to a 7-2 victory over the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opening game of the American League championship playoffs.

Only once since the league playoff series began in 1969 has a visiting team won the opening game of the playoffs and not continued on to take the series and the continued on to take the series and the pennant. That happened in 1974 when Baltimore won the opener at Oakland but dropped the next three games to the A's. Kansas City manager Whitey Herzog knew exactly how much the opening-game victory meant to his club: "It gives us a one-game lead, that's all," he said.

But the Royals know that after tonight's second game, they return to their ballpark and their record at home was 38-7 over the last three months of the sea-

'We're two good ballclubs and we're equally capable of winning in each other's parks," said Herzog.

But if the Yankees are to come back, they may have to do it without Don Gullett, Wednesday's starter, who left after two innings with arm problems.

"His arm's not very good right now," said Yankees manager Billy Martin. "He told me after the second inning that it was bothering him

"I just couldn't get loose," said Gullett. "I didn't feel good in the bullpen but Ididn't tell Billy. I didn't have much velocity. When you have a bad arm, you can't control the ball. I thought it would loosen up, but it didn't

The Royals treated Gullett, the Yankees' $2 million free agent pickup, roughly. He surrendered McRae's home run in the first inning and a two-run double by little Freddie Patek in the second.

Mayberry and Cowens both connected against reliever Dick Tidrow; and left-Kelley believes the key to the Chief athander Paul Splittorff rode the heavy support to an easy victory.

"I had good control today with a good

Royals Power By NY

then McRae got all of the next one, send-ing it over the 387-foot sign in left field for a quick 2-0 lead.

Gullett retired the first two batters in the second inning, but then was in trou-ble again because of a walk. He walked Darrell Porter, and the Royals' catcher slid safely into second when Frank White's infield single backed up Graig Nettles and the Yankee third baseman's throw to second was a bit late.

That brought up Patek, the major league's smallest player at 5-foot4. He ripped a shot inside the third base line and Porter scored easily.

thinking the ball was a ground rule dou-ble, eased up on it, and when third base coach Chuck Hiller noticed that, he frantically waved White home. The Yankees argued briefly over the call by third base umpire Nick Bremigan, but, like every-thing else on this sun-splashed day, it went against New York.

At the start of the third inning, Dick Tidrow was on the mound for the Yan-kees with Gullett's finished after four runs, four hits and two walks in just two

With one out in the third, Cowens, who finished with three hits, beat out a single up the middle. Tidrow got Amos Otis on a fly ball, but the muscular Maybe right fired the next pitch well beyond the 353foot sign in right field and the Royals' lead was 6-0.

The Yankees scored in the bottom of the third when Mickey Rivers, who had three of the eight hits allowed by Splittorff, opened with a single and Munson drove the next pitch into the lower seats in left field. One out later, Piniella backed Cowens to the right field wall for his long drive that had the crowd of 54, 300 on its feet.

New York wasted Willie Randolph's two-out double in the fourth and Cowens made a leaping eatch of Rivers' home run bid in the fifth.

Meanwhile, Tidrow silenced the Royals through the middle four innings, holding them hitless over that stretch. But the Yankees were unable to solve Splittorff. It stayed 62 until the eighth. Then Cowens, leading off, lofted Kansas City's third home ruit of the game into the lower stands in left field.

An intentional walk, the second by Philadelphia, also backfired in the sixth inning when Monday was walked with Cey on second. Then Yeager came through with his RBI hit. But the inning ended on the same play when Monday was thrown out by McBride at third base.

Mike Schmidt, who drove in the tiebreaker in the ninth inning with a single Tuesday night, failed to hit in the second game. His power partner, Greg Luzinski, who homered in the opener, collected on-

Baker Ruins Phils' Strategy

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Philadelphia's strategy backfired Wednesday night as Dusty Baker blasted a grand slam home run in the fourth inning in the the Los Angeles Dodgers' 7-1 victory.

Baker, who became one of four Dodgers players to hit 30 or more homers when he got his 30th homer on the last day of the season, said he wasn't really surprised he got the chance.

"I imagine the manager asked (Philadelphia pitcher) Jim Lonborg whether he wanted to pitch to me and I know Steve Garvey has hit better against them than I have." Baker said.

"I knew it was the percentage play. When I saw they were walking Garvey, I just tried to keep calm and tried not to let the adrenalin pump too much. "I wasn't trying to hit the ball out of the stadium, I just wanted to hit it hard and not hit into a double play. Baker's 390-foot grand slam gave the Dodgers a 5-1 lead that pitcher Don Sutton protected all the way. "I think it's more fun to pitch in something like this, with the excitement and pageantry," Sutton said. "I think I do things fairly well that I enjoy doing." "This is the Don Sutton we've seen so many times," said rookie Los Angeles manager Tom Lasorda. "He knew we had to win this one and he was ready. Philadelphia manager Danny Ozark said, "I guess I've got to be happy with a split now. I feel very confident about going home." Phils Slugger Greg Luzinski said, "We hit the ball well and they just didn't fall

Philadelphia catcher Bob Boone noted, "It was just unfortunate that he threw a curveball right in Baker's wheelhouse. and that was it."

"That home run was the biggest of my career," said Baker, who had to go to the field repeatedly to answer the applause Sales are definitely not running ahead, comparatively," says IU ticket manager William J. King. "In fact, they are running behind."

King estimated ticket sales as of last week at 5,000. Last year, 18,500 student basketball season tickets were sold, forcing a lottery system to allocate seats in the 17,000-seat Assembly Hall.

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Chamber of Commerce and the during the weekend, hotel doormen will be wearing steel helpolice have sort of mixed feelings about the annual invasion of visitors from Oklahoma - they are happy to see them come but

It is all part of the Southwest madness known as Oklahoma-Texas football weekend which also highlights the Texas State Fair and turns the city into what one Chamber of Commerce official charitably described as "absolute chaos."

The game itself pits two top teams in the country. Oklahoma is ranked No.2 and Texas is No. 5.

Of course, when it comes to their annual battle, Texans and Oklahomans look upon it as THE GAME of the year. If you are the Texas-Oklahoma football champion, what else is there?

Thousands of visitors from across the Red River are expected to roll into Dallas in wave after wave today and Friday in preparation for the Friday night giant pep rally in the downtown

Hundreds of them are arrested every year for expressing their enthusiasm in unorthodox ways, such as throwing television sets out of hotel windows. Sympathetic police, however, release most of them in time to attend the Saturday afternoon game at the Cotton Bowl. Dallas Hilton Hotel officials announced earlier this week their strategy for handling guests during the weekend. They said only one roll of toilet paper per day will be provided in each room mets and all lobby furniture will be stored in a safe place.

"We normally place two rolls of toilet paper in each room, but during this weekend we'll only put in one. In the past people have thrown the extra one out the window - sort of like Macy's parade, I guess," said Hilton assistant manager Mark

Plastic cups will be substituted for glasses and all maid carts will be removed from the hallways in an effort to reduce ammu-

"There is a lot of drinking," Hancock said. "And we hope that they do drink a lot, but we just don't want it to get out of hand so they're emptying beer on the couches or in the planters." Other hotel officials said they were removing room service tables, trays, and bottles from service area by 5 p.m. Friday through Sunday.

Jack Andrus, vice president of the Dallas hotel service bureau, said only "isolated" rooms were available among 24,000 in the city's hotels and motels.

Tickets to the game also were at a premium. Some optimistic souls advertised in the locals papers asking for tickets to the game. One even offered $15 for a ticket.

For that, he might have been allowed to look at the tickets. A salesman offered several for sale near the 45-yard line.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By hal sharp

FISH USUALLY QUIT BITING AND MOVE AWAY WHEN TURTLES BEing visits for signing SWC and national letters of intent. "I thought you could have three visits plus the two times for signing." Yeoman said. "We turned our-selves in on that one too." HOUSTON (AP) — University of Hous-ton coach Bill Yeoman said Wednesday Darrell Shepard already had signed with the Cougars when he (Yeoman) agreed to check on a car loan for Shepard's mother. "It certainly wasn't an inducement for him to sign because he already had signed," Yeoman said in the aftermath of the one-year's probation slapped on the Cougars Tuesday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. One of the charges mentioned by the NCAA was that Yeoman had assis coach Melvin Brown check with Bank of Brazoria chairman of the board Charles Marino, a UH booster, on a loan for Mrs.

"I told the NCAA committee if asking a coach to inquire about a loan was in fact arranging for a loan, then I suppose I arranged a loan," Yeoman said.

The Cougars, defending Southwest Conference co-champions with a 10-2 record last year, will not be allowed to play in any postseason bowl games this seas and will be banned from regular season television games next season.

Yeoman said after signing Shepard, the boy's mother came in and said she could not get a loan anywhere in Odessa to purchase a car for her son. She asked Yeoman if he knew where she could get a

"I told her I would check on it if it was legitimate loan and that's what I did," Yeoman said. "I didn't follow it up to see if she got the loan and I didn't even know if the kid got the car."

The NCAA also said UH violated transportation and visitation rules involving the recruiting of Shepard, one of the heaviest recruited schoolboys in the state last year

The NCAA said UH provided round trip transportation for Shepard and his girl friend between Houston and Odessa by a privatel aircraft. NCAA rules stipulate the owner of the plane must accompany any such trip.

"I thought that rule had been changed and when I found out it hadn't I turned myself in in May at the Southwest Conference meetings," Yeoman said.
Yeoman said he also was honestly mistaken about the third UH violation, that coaches visited Shepard five times during the recruiting effort. The NCAA allows three visits, includ-

Yeoman said he reported the errors to SWC commissioner Cliff Speegle. Asked for Speegle's reaction, Yeoman said "Ap-parently it wasn't too good."

News of the probation left Cougar play-ers disappointed and in some cases, dis-believing.

"I didn't believe it at first, so I wen back over to the office and got it all straight," injured quarterback Danny Davis said. "I was shocked but I was hurt more than anything else. It hurt me more than any pain I felt up there at Penn State."

Davis, who led the Cougars to the SWC co-title last year, was lost for the season with a shoulder separation in a game against the Nittany Lions.

Tackle Kevin Rollwage said he was surprised by the timing of the announce-

"I thought if they were going to do something, we'd hear about it before the season or afterward. I didn't think it'd come right in the middle."

"The way I hope they look at it is we just can't stop," Davis said. "That would just add insult to injury if we lost the rest of our games now. That would be worse

The Cougars, 3-1 this season after a last-minute victory over Baylor last week, have an open date this week.

Randy Hicks admits "everything's on on the line for us this week" as-he prepares his state-ranked Motley County Matadors for a 2-B North Zone show down against Sudan.

Despite its 5-0 mark, Motley County has not impressed a lot of coaches in the area mainly because margins of victory in three games were 1, 3 and 12 points.

"Look," Hicks pointed out, "we could have scored 75-80 points against New Home (a 45-8 win) and we had eleven 15yard penalties against Nazareth (an 18-6 triumph) and still gained 314 yards on the ground.

'We're not going to run up a big score like some people will. Forty-odd points will be the most we'll score on anybody There are two reasons for this. One, this type game presents us an opportunity to play all our younger kids and get them experience.

'Second, I don't want to kill someone's morale like that. I've been on a team that people have walked all over (at McLean four years back where he finished 0-10) and there's not much fun involved." The Matadors, ranked No. 6 on the AP state listings, have beaten a pair of Class A teams, Paducah by 1 and Crosybton by 3. "Those were two super teams the nights we played them," Hicks said. "I can be. "Last year we scored 7 points against Paducah; this year we doubled that. Last year we got 18 against Crosbyton and this Nazareth and Lazbuddie were young teams and that they've improved a great deal. These rankings have been a morale booster for us, but they've also made everyone we've played try extra hard to knock us off."

Hicks indicated the defense hadn't jelled yet but was improving. "We've had to start a lot of first-year people on defense and they're just learning how to do the job and stay with their keys. We just don't have the experience on defense we had the last couple of years."

The Matadors are averaging almost 300 yards a game, despite the fact their biggest gainer has been 25 yards. "That's something I just don't understand," Hicks said. "We've got the poeple to break, but we've been a ball control, eat-the-clock-up team all year." Hicks as much as admitted that Sudan would finish undefeated if it gets past his Matadors. —WALT McALEXANDER

Area Teams Hold Leads; O'Donnell Joins 'A' List

By WALT MCALEXANDER

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
O'Donnell made its first ever appearance in The Avalanche-Journal area football poll and Sundown made its first appearance of the year among the grid

And, needless to say, O'Donnell mentor Odis Summers was the more surprised of the two, despite the fact Sundown has the only sub-.500 ledger amond the 25 ranked teams.

"My reaction is one of a stunned nature," replied the Eagle boss. "We've never been ranked and I certainly wasn't expecting it. Not too many people around feel we've played that tough a schedule.

"Our season is still ahead of us. We can win all our nonconference games and if we don't win any district games, the season will still be a loss. We have to get after it and play good football to compete in our district (5-A, with Seagraves, Stanton, Shallowater and Plains).

The Eagles, presently 4-0-1, have the week off. "We're taking it pretty easy, Area Top Ten CINCINNATI (AP) - The former wife of Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench has asked for $20,000 in damages from the attorneys who represented her in her divorce suit. She charges that they embarrassed her through adverse publicity.

Vickie Chesser, who married Bench in February, 1975, filed the suit against Gatch, Ritchie and Kleinman of Cincinnati. She took the action after the firm filed a lien to collect $3,500 it said she owed for legal services. The case goes before Judge Peter Outcalt Friday in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court. The couple was divorced last summer.

with Bench ordered to pay her $23,200 plus an undisclosed amount of monthly alimony, court records indicated.

inate a lot of mistakes we've been making. We've got a big one (Plains) to be ready for in two weeks, so we're not trying to change the pace that much."

Sundown stands 2-3, but lost to No. 3 (area) ranked Sudan 20-14 opening night, fell to No. 1 (both area and state in Class A) Seagraves 32-6 the second week and then was eked out by Plains 15-14 the third week. However, the Roughnecks levelled

Dawson (28-0) and Amherst (26-6) their last two outings and face two "must" games the next two weeks against Anton and Ropesville to keep their string of never having lost a 2-B South Zone game "Every week is a crucial one for us."

explained Sundown boss Bill Dendy. 'Right now the crucial one is Anton. We're just going to try and survive that game. We were able to survive the Amherst game. "Our schedule has been pretty tough, but we've still lost some that we possibly

Sundown replaced Meadow, which lost to No. 1-ranked Ropesville last week, in the B listings and O'Donnell replaced Hart, which fell 20-18 to AA Friona, in the A rankings. Odessa Permian, Perryton, Idalou and Seagraves retained their No. 1 spots in AAAA, AAA, AA and A, respecitvely, as did Ropes in B.

Class AAAA underwent a shuffle of sorts as Amarillo Tascosa's 25-22 loss to El Paso Riverside dropped the Rebels from second to fourth. Monterey and Amarillo High each climbed a notch to second and third, respectively.

In Class A, Petersburg and Vega each moved up a spot to second and third as Farwell, stunned 29-26 by unheralded Shallowater, fell to fifth.

Kansas City, winning the game it felt it had to take on enemy turf, will take a 1-0 lead in the American League playoffs into tonight's second game of the best-of-

The Royals, champions of the AL West, built a 6-0 lead after three innings on Hal McRae's 2-run homer in the first, Freddie Patek's 2-run double in the second and John Mayberry's 2-run homer in the third. Al Cowens' eighth-inning homer completed the Royals scoring.

We hit with authority," said Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog. "But we're still a running ballclub.

"We don't run on (Yankees catcher Thurman) Munson. We run on every-

Nevertheless, the Royals only attempted two steals, succeeding one on, while home runs gave them the crucial first game victory

Cowens, named by Herzog as the AL's most valuable player, said he hit a fast ball from reliever Dick Tidrow that was on the inside part of the plate. The 25year-old Cowens, in his second full year in the major leagues, played in all 162 of the Royals' games, batting .312 with 23 home runs, 112 runs batted in and 98 runs

"My trying to pull the ball more this year gave me more home runs," said Cowens, the Royals cleanup hitter and Cowens raced back to the wall in the third inning to catch Lou Piniella's deep fly ball. He also made fine catches on Mickey Rivers' drive to the wall in the fifth and Piniella's sinking liner in the "Rivers' ball was over the fence. It would have been gone," said Cowens. 'Piniella's would have hit off the wall." McRae's opening-inning blast off Yan-kees starter Don Gullett just cleared the leftfield wall. "I think I hit a fast ball, said McRae. McRae said the Royals came into this year's playoffs extremely confident. Last year, Kansas City struggled in the final stages and backed into the AL West title. This year, the Royals won it easily, playing .786 (68-24) baseball from June 17 until the division clincher on Sept. 23.

"It was as different as night and day said McRae. "Last year we had a terrible second half. This year we had a terrific streak. It's better to win. It gives you confidence and a lot of momentum.

'We have the best record in baseball. Naturally we think we have the best team

Herzog named left-hander Andy Hassler as his second-game starter. His firstgame starter, Paul Splittorff, was effective, particularly against the Yankees' top home run sluggers, Graig Nettles and Reggie Jackson, who were a combined 0-8. Splittorff, 16-6 in the regular season, gave up eight hits and two runs before being lifted for Doug Bird after one bat-

Kelly Keeps Improving As Raider Linebacker

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff It came to Don Kelly very suddenly

"It's kind of strange, I guess," the Tex-as Tech linebacker said, "but, during the third quarter of the Baylor game (Tech's season opener), I just all of a sudden decided that I had the ability to do the job.

"I had been doing fairly well until then, and I'd had a couple of quarterback sacks in the first half that helped my confid-

Kelly also had an interception late in the fourth quarter that stopped a lastditch Baylor offensive push, and he's steadily improved since then.

His improvement at the weakside linebacker spot has been one of the factors in the Raiders' strong defensive showing thus far in the 1977 season. He had been switched from the middle in the spring, mark in the fall, but he's erased doubts about his ability to play. Linebacker had been a question mark for Tech before the

"Kelly has improved a lot," defensive coordinator Bill Parcells said. "He made some mistakes in the first two games, but still played well. Then he's played well the whole game against A&M and North Carolina.

The 6-0, 217-pounder says the switch from the middle to the weak side hasn't

There are some differences, particularly more pass coverage where I am now, but it hasn't been that big an adjust-

"I like the weakside better than the middle. I really love it. I'm freer at the weakside; I get to move around more. In the middle, you've got people coming at you from both directions, and you stay banged up the whole time."

He's pleased with his progress this season, but sees room for improvement.

"I had a real good spring, so I was pret-ty confident at the start of the fall," he said. "I've made a good bit of improve-ment this season, but I still need to become more consistent, overall."

Kelly sees this week's opponent, Arizona, as being more explosive than North

"They throw more, and they've got a lot of speed, too. And they've got a good quarterback. This ought to be a little faster-paced game than the North Carolina

NOTES: Tech went through a two-hour drill Wednesday, working on the passing game and reviewing plans for Arizona, head coach Steve Sloan said. . . Sloan said

Tech's starting quarterback for the Arizona contest might be decided on today, but added that "we might wait until we get out there before deciding." Either Tres Adami, last week's starter, or Mark Johnson will get the starting nod Saturday. Sloan said that offensive strongside guard Greg Wessels is questionable for the next two games with the disc problem in his back that he's been troubled with since before the season began. He might be able to play against Texas October 29, though.

Meal Money Move Made By Saban?

MIAMI (AP) — "It worked as long as it lasted," says defensive tackle Ronnie Walker, one of the University of Miami football players who was relieved of meal money as a disciplinary measure.

Coach Lou Saban, who earlier refused to confirm that he'd withheld meal money to keep his players in line, has now said he'd stop the practice.

But not all the players minded it. "It adds a little class, as Saban says, and if that's what it takes to have class, I'm for it," said Walker, who admits to being fined "a couple of dollars" for being late to practice.

Unhappy Yankees Lose Opening Game, Gullett

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Yankees suffered a double loss Wednesday. They dropped the American League playoff opener to the Kansas City Royals 7-2 and lost starting pitcher Don Gullett with an aching shoulder

Gullett's season - he had the top winning percentage in the league with a 14-4 - may have ended when he walked off the mound after yielding four runs on four hits and two walks in two innings, including a 2-run homer by Hal McRae in the opening inning and a 2-run double by Fred Patek in the second.

"He probably won't pitch again this year," said Manager Billy Martin. "The other times he was hurt he was out several weeks and this is the same thing. It's the same injury in the same spot." The spot is the left-handed Gullett's left shoulder - he spent most of August on the disabled list - and trainer Gene Monahan concurred with Martin's diag-

"He's aching through his entire shoulder," Monahan said. "Billy made a good move getting him out. I'd say there's a 99 per cent chance, he won't pitch again in

The Yankees' high command seemed as confused about Gullett as their batters did against Kansas City pitcher Paul Splittorff, who checked them to eight hits in eight innings.

But, Martin added, "In the first inning I saw him pitching straight up and down, not following through. He corrected that but he just made some pitches in areas where he didn't want to pitch. After the second inning, I asked him if his arm was bothering him. He said: 'Yeah,' and I

But catcher Fran Healy, who warmed up Gullett, said the pitcher had only "fair velocity. His arm was bothering him. I asked him how his arm was and he said it wasn't good. But the way he warms up, he always sits for a few minutes in the middle and he said he usually feels a lot better the second time. And after he sat

Martin said he phoned the bullpen after Gullett warmed up and was told by pitching coach Cloyd Boyer that Gullett was throwing the ball good.

said, 'Okay, you're out of there."

down, he did throw the ball pretty good."

Gullett, who rarely has gone through a season without some ailment, said he just didn't feel good in the bullpen. I didn't feel I had real good stuff. I couldn't get loose. I felt I was hurting the club going out there with that type of stuff. But I've been in situations before where I didn't really feel that good in the bullpen and I loosened up toward the end and things would be all right when I got

Sooners Given Nod Over UT; Raiders Picked

NEW YORK (AP) - On Oklahoma's preseason roster, 31 players came from the other side of the border, the evil side, Texas. In its pursuit of top-notch football talent, Oklahoma obviously will overlook your heritage.

On Texas' preseason roster, only one player comes from Oklahoma, that funny-looking state up north. Texans are as greedy for football talent as the next guy, only they don't think hardly anyone outside the Lone Star State plays it well

They also don't take kindly to Texans playing football outside the state limits. When football beef leaves the state of Texas for Oklahoma, Texans consider the action illegal. The charges range from cattle rustling to treason. It's bad enough losing a blue-chip football prospect to Texas A&M or Texas Tech, but its downright dishonorable to go to the camp of the enemy

And make no mistake about it, Texas and Oklahoma are bitter enemies. When they clash, it's like a Civil War with the Red River the line of demarcation.

Battle No. 72 in this ongoing feud is Saturday, with both teams undefeated this year. Oklahoma got that way by letting its positives barely outscore its negatives. Fumble prone, the Wishbone has been laying eggs but righting itself just in time to beat unsung Vanderbilt by 10 points and mighty Ohio State by one. The Sooners' other victories have been easier efforts over Utah and Kansas.

Fifth-ranked Texas, on the other hand, has been running relay races into the end zone, winning its three games by scores of 44-0 over Boston College, 68-0 over Virginia and 72-15 over Rice. That opposition, however, would have had trouble with Texas' third string.

And that seems to be the pivotal factor in Saturday's game. The Longhorns, 5-5-1, last year just haven't been tested under fire this season. The Sooners, ranked second, were under intense fire two weeks ago when they nipped Ohio State in Co-

So Oklahoma will sneak into Dallas, a supposed neutral site, Saturday and pop Texas' bubble 27-21, extending its nonlosing streak against the Longhorns to six. The victory won't make the Texas 31 any more popular in their hometowns, but at least they'll be on the right side of the score-if not the right side of the bor-

Robinson Gets Cronin Award

NEW YORK (AP) - Brooks Robinson, who completed a 23-year career with the Baltimore Orioles this year, as one of the premier third baseman in baseball history, received the prestigious Joe Cronin Award before the start of Wednesday's American League Championship playoff between the New York Yankees and the Kansas City Royals.

Robinson's 23 Oriole seasons are a record for one team. He was a member of 18-consecutive American League all-star teams, was the league's most valuable player in 1974, the World Series MVP in 1970 and winner of 16 straight Gold Glove Awards as the top fielding third baseman in the league.

The Joe Cronin Award was established in 1973 at the retirement of Cronin as American League president, after a long and distinguished career as a Hall of Fame shortstop, manager, general manager and league president.

Commissioner Deane Bernan announced the radical schedule departure Wednesday, saying that the World Series of Golf could thus take on new stature and significance as the climactic event of the season.

The tournament, consisting of a blueribbon field of champions, traditionally has been played at the Firestone Country Club course in Akron, Ohio. It was held this year on Sept. 2-5.

Under the new setup, the final tournament would serve as the sport's version of football's Super Bowl and baseball's World Series. The schedule would end conflict with the busy fall sports sched-

The 1978 dates would be Sept. 28-Oct. 1.

"Under the proposed schedule, our official season would conclude a month earlier than now," Beman said. "This would open the door to a couple of interesting alternatives for the players-increased participation in foreign events and the addition of a number of unofficial postseason tournaments."

The proposal must be approved by the Tournament Policy Board, the 10-member body which includes four players, three PGA directors and three independent business personalities. The board meets Nov. 1 in Orlando, Fla.

The normal tour format runs from January to November. This season it consisted of 40 tournaments with prize money going as high as $300,000.

Beman said the Policy Board probably will review the Tour's position of neither cosponsoring nor approving foreign tournaments as a protection for sponsors.

"It will have an opportunity to reappraise its policy in light of the positive influence that we could have on world competition by sanctioning some specific events in the fall," Beman said.

For those players who might feel that the curtailment could reduce their playing opportunities, the commissioner said just the opposite effect will be achieved.

"Postseason events, with purses initially set at $100,000, could provide many of our players with an opportunity to compete after the official season is over." he

He insisted that no sponsor would be cut out because of the shorter season.

"It offers exciting possibilities," Beman said. "It makes better use of the time we have. After all, why play for $10 million in 10 months when we can play

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) -Tom Watson scored a 2 and 1 victory over Taiwan's Hsieh Min-nan and led four Americans through the first, 36-hole round Wednesday in the $225,000 World

Match Golf Championship. "It wasn't a masterpiece, but it got the job done," said Watson, whose credentials made him the world's top player this year. He hit a lot more good shots than I did. I just lucked out." PGA champion Lanny Wadkins, Ray Floyd and Hale Irwin also scored first round victories. The only American loser was U.S. Open champ Hubert Green whose putting cost him a 5 and 4 setback to Graham Marsh of Australia.

Wadkins downed Britain's Neil Coles 5 and 4; Irwin ousted British Ryder Cup star Peter Oosterhuis 1-up; and Floyd was forced to the 37th hole before scoring a 1-up triumph over Mexico's Ernesto Acosta.

In other matches, Manuel Pinero of Spain rallied to upset five-time Match

Tech Plans Tucson Pre-Game Reception

A pre-football game reception for Texas Tech ex-students, friends and supporters will be held at the Plaza International Hotel, 1900 East Speedway Blvd., in Tucson from 5-6:30 p.m. (MST) Saturday.

The Texas Tech Red Raiders meet the University of Arizona Wildcats in an intersectional game at 7:30 p.m. in Tucson. The hotel is within walking distance of the stadium.

Ex-Students Association executive director Wayne James said the reception is open to all supporters of the Red Raider athletic program.

GAME NEEDED

KRESS (Special)—Kress needs a junior varsity football game for Oct. 13 because of a recent cancellation. Any Class B or A team that is interested should contact Kress coach Tom Johnson at 684-2326.

Play champion Gary Player of South Africa 6 and 5; South African Hugh Baiocchi eliminated defending champion David Graham of Australia 2 and 1; and Spain's Seve Ballesteros of Spain topped 20-year-old Nick Faldo of England 4 and Today's 36-hole quarter-final matches at the Wentworth Golf Club pitted Irwin against Baiocchi; Marsh vs. Pinero; Watson vs. Ballesteros, and Wadkins vs. Floyd.

First-round losers received $8,100. Those who drop out in the second round will get $15,750. The eventual winner receives $52,500.

Watson, who won the British Open, the Masters and three other U.S. titles this year with winnings of $310,000, never trailed against Min-nan. He went 4-up after the morning 18, got it to 5-up with a 10-foot birdie putt on the second hole of the afternoon and just hung on.

Wadkins routed Coles, going 3-up with a solid display in the morning, taking it to 6-up with consecutive birdies on the 11th and 12th holes in the afternoon and winning handily.

Irwin, who trailed Ooosterhuis 1-up after 18 holes, won it with an eagle three, set up by a 3 iron shot to eight feet, on the 15th in the afternoon.

Floyd, 5-up at one time in the morning, squandered his advantage, fell behind in the afternoon and pulled even again when Acosta hit three balls out of bounds on the 35th hole. They halved the 36th with birdies and Floyd pulled it out with a par on the first extra hole after Acosta drove into the gallery. Green was betrayed by some of the worst putting of his career. He three-putted three times and, in addition, missed nine times from eight feet or less.

Player was the victim of one of the greatest upsets in the history of the tournament. He was 5-up after seven holes against the 140-pound Spaniard then suffered the most lopsided loss of the day. Pinero played the back nine in the morning six under par, had a 2-up h lead at the lunch break and, over one stretch of 20 holes, beat player by 13 strokes.

'Streamlining' Project Announced By Bergland

Secretary Bob Bergland announced Wednesday a reorganization of his department, including the elimination of 14 agencies by blending them into new or larger existing units.

Although more than one-fourth of the Agriculture Department's 82,000 fulltime employes are involved, none will lose jobs as a result of the reorganization and "no mission of the department will be downgraded" because of the shuffle, Bergland said.

But Bergland told a news conference that the USDA reorganization plan, which was checked out with others in the Carter administration and congressional farm leaders, is not expected to reduce

"It may not save any large amounts of money, but certainly it will improve the efficiency and delivery system of the department," Bergland said.

There are 40 separate units or agencies in the department now. Those will be reduced to 26 as the reorganization plan is carried out, he said. Part of the plan is the recreation of the Office of Inspector General, a post abolished some years ago by then-Agriculture Secretary Earl L.

Bergland announced that he has chosen Thomas F. McBride, 48, a former associate Watergate prosecutor, to take an 1975 has been director of the Civil Aeronautics Board's bureau of enforce-

As inspector general, McBride will be in over-all charge of USDA investigations and audits. Those range over many programs from activities of employes to compliance by businesses, industries and individuals with USDA regulations in such programs as food stamps, meat and grain inspection, and others.

Bergland said that dividing the office into separate agencies of investigation and audit had not worked out and that the problems have been compounded by those being responsible to different high-

The FmHA, which handles loan and grant programs for low-income farmers

bined with a much smaller agency, the Rural Development Service, into a new one called the Farm and Rural Development Administration.

Bergland said this action will require congressional approval. But he said that he had talked it over with key farm leaders in Congress and had not run into serious objection.

Some major agencies are not involved in the reorganization, including the Forest Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Soil Conservation Service, Food Nutrition Service, Food Safety and Quality Service and Rural Electrification Administration.

Bergland said that rural development, as embodied in the proposed new Farm and Rural Development Administration, will be "a major mission of this department."

Also, Bergland said, a new Food and Agriculture Science and Education Administration will be set up to coordinate what he called the fragmented research and education activities of USDA and to carry out the mandate of new farm legislation signed by President Carter last week to improve efficiency of agricultur-

Two Lubbock Ag Men Honored

Dr. John R. Abernathy and William E. Turner, both of Lubbock, were honored here Wednesday at the awards banquet of the 25th Agricultural Chemicals Conference at the Southpark Inn.

The conference is sponsored annually by the West Texas Agriculture Chemicals

Abernathy received the institutional award and Turner the commercial award for "outstanding contributions to West Texas agriculture.

Abernathy has been weed research project leader at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock since 1973. Previously he worked for Velsicol Chemical Corp. in Chicago, first as field development manager and then as regional

Last year, USDA gave interim approval for the use of what then was called "mechanically deboned meat." But it canceled the approval and backed off plans to allow it permanently after a consumer group obtained a court order against the practice. Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said the new proposal includes tougher restrictions, including prominent labeling on products so consumers know what they are getting. "I expect it will be controversial," she told a news conference. "But if people are adequately informed as to the nature of the product, they can make a rational choice on whether to buy it.

The salvaged meat and bone mixture is now called "tissue from ground bone" instead of mechanically deboned meat, a term used by the meat industry, she

The plan brought an immediate protest from Richard Lyng, president of the industry-supported American Mgat Institute, who said the proposed label is inaccurate and "seems to be a deliberate attempt to make the product unattractive"

Mrs. Foreman said USDA had determined that the old terminology was improper. "'Mechanically deboned meat' is not an acceptable title," she said. "It is not meat. We have redefined it as a meat food product.'

By whatever name, the material comes from the ribs, backbones and other parts of slaughtered animals which are difficult to trim by hand of all their

The bones and any meat clinging to them are ground up and forced through sieves with tiny openings, eighteen onethousandths of an inch in diameter.

The new proposal would allow up to 3 per cent bone in reclaimed meat, or nearly one-half ounce of bone in each pound of salami, for example. Officials said the bone bits are about the size of finely ground pepper.

Department experts last year said that up to one billion pounds of beef and pork could be added to the U.S. food supply by using the process. They said Wednesday that "somewhat less" than that probably would be salvaged under he tighter proposed rules. Mrs. Foreman said that USDA experts were satisfied that the meat product as defined would be safe to eat and would set the labeling requirements ques-

Cottonseed sold this year to feed cattle, make growers more money, according to Dr. Delmer I. Davis, livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension He says a cow-calf man may pay cotton growers more for their seed than a gin-The gin price for cottonseed is related closely to the market price for lint, and the projected market price this year about equals production costs.

Davis says whole cotton seed require little processing to be fed, contain about 20 per cent natural protein, and provide from 20 to 25 per cent more feed-energy than most commercial grain cubes containing 20 per cent protein. As much as five pounds of cotton seed can be fed each cow per day.

He says feed-energy is critically short for a lactating cow on nearly all native ranges during the winter, the time when producers must provide supplemental energy and protein.

Whole cottonseed also are usually a good source of phosphorus, a mineral demust provide it as a supplement if calf growth and cow reproduction are to be maximized.

Davis says a cattleman should consider feeding whole cotton seed when its price per pound does not exceed the price for two-fifths pound of cotton seed meal containing 41 per cent protein, plus the price for three-fifths pound of sorghum grain containing 10 per cent protein.

Because the feeder usually cannot buy cottonseed direct from the gin, Davis recommends that the cotton grower retain ownership of the seed even after the ginning so that he may sell them later. Such direct selling, says Davis, means more profit because it eliminates a middle-

Despite the advantages to feeding cottonseed. Davis says the cowman ought to be aware that the seed are harder to handle than wheat or shelled corn, require more storage space, and do not move as easily through an auger. ## Chicago Mart Cattle Futures Close Higher

CHICAGO — Cattle futures slumped 75 points in December before ending 55 lower to five higher Wednesday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. The August contract was the only option to advance. Volume was estimated at 10,564 exchanges. Selling was primarily profit-taking after Tuesday's bulge to five-month highs. Weakness in the pork pits also was a factor. Initial buying was sparked by strong cattle and beef prices. Wholesale beef was unchanged at 65 1/2 to 66 1/2 cents per pound, highest since May. Cash cattle were steady to $1

Top quotes for the day were at Peoria at $45 per hundredweight, highest level since April 1976, and Omaha at $44. Slaughter was estimated at 149,000 head. The six markets expect receipts of 10,500 head today.

Live hog futures moved up 20 points in October but follow-through was lacking and prices broke for a 5-62-point loss across the board. December led the break to two-month lows on a turnover of 7,459 contracts.

Early support came on firmness in cash hogs and hams along with the slower pace of slaughter as farmers turn to field

Wholesale hams were unchanged to up 1 1/2 cents at 77 to 79 1/2 cents per pound, f.o.b. river points, a seven-month high. Cash hogs were up $1 to off 25 cents with a top at $42.75.

The six major terminals expect about 27,000 head to arrive today. Wednesday's kill was estimated at 293,000 head.

And although Mrs. Wacholz, now 75, met her great aunt only once, they corresponded often.

While Annie Oakley - born Ann Phoebe Moses in Patterson Township, Ohio, in 1860 - started shooting at 9 and won worldwide fame with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, her private side was concerned with the less fortunate, Mrs. Wacholz remembers.

"Charity was an obsession with Aunt Annie," she says. "Once in Vienna she appeared at a benefit for the orphans of that city, sponsored by the Baroness

"In appreciation, the baroness sent Aunt Annie a bag of gold, which Aunt Annie immediately turned over to the fund for the orphans. When the baroness heard about it, she sent Aunt Annie a diamond brooch."

Annie Oakley worked with the Wild West Show for 17 years, often appearing before the rich and powerful in America and Europe. "But in her letters to us she always mentioned the hungry little children of Europe, never the royalty who were showering gifts on her," recalls Mrs. Wach-

Most remember Annie Oakley as the woman who won $350 from Grand Duke Michael of Russia in a shooting match, who shot a cigarette from the mouth of Prince William of Germany - later Kaiser Wilhelm II - and who broke all but 228 glass balls of 5,000 tossed in the air.

Fame came to Annie Oakley at 16 when she won a shooting match with vaudeville star Frank Butler — later her husband and manager — in Cincinnati.

"I saw her only once," Mrs. Wacholz says, "and that was just a few months before she died. But she was a great letter writer and had sent me messages from her travels on tour. Her letters made me feel very close to her.'

Because she felt so close to her aunt and because Annie Oakley had done so much for her relatives. Mrs. Wacholz says she set out for Dayton, Ohio, to meet her aunt when a letter arrived saving she had had a premonition of death. Mrs. Wacholz says she was so nervous about meeting Annie Oakley that she spent her first night in Dayton in a hotel. 'She was nearing 70 when I met her (she died in 1926 at the age of 66) but she stood very erect even though she was wearing a brace for a back injury she had received in an automobile accident. "I remember her saying she was grateful for her gift of marksmanship because it gave her the opportunity to make money to give to others in need...'

On Bean Soup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jay Treadwell came to Washington two years ago with the conviction that "any restaurant that based its reputation on bean soup definitely needed help."

But he has come to love bean soup, professionally if not personally.

Treadwell is in charge of running the restaurants in the U.S. Senate and of feeding 100 senators and the people who work for them, who testify before them or who come to Washington to watch them work.

Treadwell was hired because senators were tired of being criticized for eating meals subsidized by the taxpayer. The new manager was told by his boss, George M. White, architect of the Capitol, to put the restaurants on a business-like basis. It turned out that the restaurant's most famous dish, bean soup - 30 cents a bowl in the Senate cafeteria and 45 cents in the Senate restaurants — was the most popular restaurant item (except for coffee) and a big profit maker. "The tourists eat it by the gallon,"

"I thought any restaurant that based its reputatiom on bean soup definitely need-

As for the deficit, Treadwell is working

He hopes to balance the restaurant budget even before Jimmy Carter balances the federal budget.

The deficit was as high as half a million dollars. When Treadwell came it was $234,000; he has since reduced it to $165,-000 in 1976 and expects it to fall below $100,000 this year despite an annual 16 per cent cost increase in food and labor. "For fiscal 1978," he says, "it has been mandated that we are to break even." A native of New York City, Treadwell came here from training at Cornell University's School of Hotel Administration and from a stint as director of in-flight services for Pan American World Air-

Bells ring out signifying roll or quorum calls and senators dash from their tables to respond.

Half-finished senatorial meals go in the oven to keep warm, Treadwell says, but sometimes senators neglect to return to finish them. In one Senate dining room, senators can bring guests and top staff aides but another is the province of senators alone - and no waitresses or other women are admitted.n By tradition, Republicans always sit on one side of the room, Democrats on the other. Treadwell's staff must be prepared to offer an evening meal if the Senate decides to work into the night. Saturday sessions are sometimes scheduled, then scrubbed at the last mimute. "A lot of planned meals never get

TV Singer Maintains Old Image

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) - Glen Campbell says he's as much a country boy now as he was when he was growing up in Delight, Ark.

"Hell, all I am is country, that's what I want people to see. I'm just doing what I want to do, singing what I want to sing what I feel," he said.

Campbell, 41, in his second year of marriage to the former Sara Davis, exwife of singer Mac Davis, said his life is readed in a new direction.

"Sara turned my head around. She convinced me I could sing what I want. I decided I was abusing my talent, maybe ng to sing things I couldn't. Now I'm going to concentrate on the art in this business," Campbell said during a recent appearance at Harrah's.

Campbell lives in the posh Holmby Hills of Los Angeles. It is a far cry from Arkansas, but Campbell says he still likes to go home. He said he doesn't need to stay in show business for the money, he doesn't need it. He just wants to stay.

"They still think of me as Wes and Carrie's kid when I go home. Sometimes it's like I never left.'

He still sings his hits: "Gentle on My Mind," "By The Time I Get To Phoe-nix," "Wichita Linemen" and more. But he said he plans to start diversifying his repertoire for shows here and in Las Vegas. He manages himself, and said he plans to keep it that way.

For Glen Campbell, the road to the top began in Arkansas. He was the seventh of eight sons in a sharecropper family of 12. Somehow he got a guitar in his hands at a very early age and began picking. "What I remember about my childhood was that it was cold. Man it was cold! I would sit in the schoolhouse during recess and play my guitar because I didn't have a jacket," he said. He eventually made his way to Southern California and landed a studio job playing his guitar in recording sessions behind the likes of Nat Cole and Frank Sinatra.

"I would have been happy to stay in the studio work. I really had fun. I never dreamed about any of this and never planned any of it. Why do people end up like this? It's a matter of luck and talent," he said.

Campbell still has the boyish looks which won him a following from television fans, but he has his own ideas about

"TV blows everything out of proportion. It gives people images, in fact, that's what it's all about. Also, television is restricting. You don't really have enough time. I don't agree with some entertainers that you can get overexposed on TV. Is you've got something good, exposure is only going to help. But I like appearing live in front of peoile. This is where it is.

"Playing at Harrah's, in front of a crowd like this, is one thing, but playing a county fair somewhere is another. Here you get to go out and show them, take their minds off the tables. At the fair, they came to see you. They are with you, it's special to them and they love it.

In a world of show business where stars are too one moment and down the

Watson Likes Challenge

"It's satisfying to finish ahead of Jack (Nicklaus) twice in big tournaments," says this year's No. 1 golfer Tom Watson, "but it's one thing to have a big year and quite another to attain real greatness like Jack's. My goal is to reach that kind of greatness.

Just turned 28, Watson is nearly 10 years Jack's junior, which on the tour is like a generation, and it is difficult to find an insider who doesn't believe the best is still to come

Says Ray Floyd, "Tom Watson didn't just appear out of nowhere to win two major championships in 1977. He's built himself to a peak for the past five years. Every time I'd go the practice tee, he'd be there. I'd say he worked harder at his game than anybody else out here in that time...He's good enough and determined enough to keep improving.'

When asked by Golf Digest if he ever considered a career other than golf, Watson says: "At college I tried to give myself a chance at other things, but my senior year I decided to go where my talent was greatest - that was golf. ## Report Rewritten BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) - A nugget of gobbledygook from a 75-page report about parking in this Seattle suburb: "Visitors to and occupants of the Business Center Building and the Seattle Trust Building do not appear to perceive the demand for parking as significantly exceeding the supply of available parking spaces within those buildings'

People who use the Business Center and the Seattle Trust Building say the parking lots are never full.

designed parking lots even during peak demand periods."

ENGLISH ACTOR - Glenn Conway, left, is filling a cult hero's shoes in the musical "Dean," currently rehearsing in London. Stage production is based on the life of James Dean, who was killed in a 1955 car crash at the age of 25, shortly after completing filming of "Giant," right. Conway won the role after 1,500 actors had been auditioned in London, New York and Los Angeles. (NEA Photo)

Traffic Fines Due

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Even the federal government knows you can't fight City Hall.

That's why it agreed to pay Philadelphia $35,208 in traffic fines collected by cars belonging to the General Service Administration motor pool. The fines are for 1,905 parking violations from January 1974 through April 1977. Payment is

City court officials at one point had threatened to impound the cars, but backed off when the feds reached for

Army Wants Women

If Defense secretary Harold Brown has it his way, the U.S. Army of the near future will be smaller and have more women.

As a cost-cutting move for the fiscal 1979 Defense budget -which will be presented to-

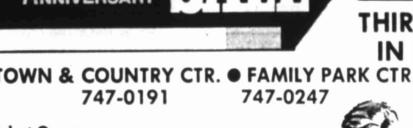

Congress and the public in January — Brown wants to trim the Army by 10,000 soldiers. If he sticks by his decision, he may provoke a major battle in Congress. Earlier this year the Senate Armed Services Com-mittee voted to reduce Army strength by about 13,000 by Sept. 30, 1978. The Army lobbied hard and the figure ended up at 3,000. Army strength now stands at 783,000. Plans had called for 50,000 women soldiers by the end of 1983. Brown wants at least 80,000. The reason? costs the armed forces less to recruit women than men

Cowboy Artist Displays Paintings

Paul Wylie will be one of the Texas Cowboy- Artists Association members to exhibit at the Scurry County Coliseum on November 5th & 6th. This will be the Fifth Annual TCAA Awards Banquet with a private showing on Saturday and a public exhibition Sunday, Nov. 6.

For Paul Wylie, a cowboy who docided to try his hand at oil painting only six years ago, it was quite a step to be chosen by the ten top professional artists of Texas as an equal.

Wylie is an authentic cowhand which his weathered looks and mannerisms reflect. He is a native Texan, born in Lubbock County. Paul began collecting cowboy's wages at 12 years of age on the late George Benson's ranch which his father managed and on which his family live for several years. Paul moved on to work at various West Texas and New Mexico ranches and as a cattle feedlot hand and then to become manager-foreman of several cattle operations over a period of 18 years. His artistic ability had to remain a hobby, only to be revived on fleeting occasions for the next two decades.

Paul's interest in art dates back to his childhood when sketching was one means of passing the long lonely hours on a ranch. After years of enjoying his hobby, in the fall of 1970, Paul decided to see what he could do seriously with oils. A local restaurant hung some of his paintings. A few sold and the interested local newspaper editor wrote an artical about him. It read in part: "Cochran County may be spawning a cowboy artist who in years to come will make his mark among the legendary painters of the west. He is Paul Wylie, who cowboys for a living and paints as a hobby. He grew up on a ranch and has spent his entire life in the cowboy profession. His paintings reflect the authenticity of the life as it is lived in the western ranch country."

Encouraged, Wylie enrolled in a noncredit beginner oil painting class taught by Don Stroud at South Plains College, Levelland, Texas the college gave Paul his first one man show in September, 1971. Paul continued to study oil painting at S.P.C., enrolling that fall in a two semester credit course which he completed with a 3.5 grade. This is the extent of his

Paul was encouraged by Don Stroud to try his hand at sculpture. Paul created two way sculptures and had them cast in 1974. "Nature's Protection", which depicts a cow in the process of a protecting her new born calf from a hungry coyote, was promptly sold to Dr. Ted Forsythe of Lubbock before anyone else had seen it. Paul soon became a frequent exhibitor at the area arts and crafts shows, winning ribbons and getting his name before the public.

It was at the 1975 arts and crafts festival in Plainview that Paul met Tom Warren, a Texas Cowboy Artist Association member. Warren later nominated Paul for membership in the exclusive TCAA. Since his induction into his group, four of Paul's bronzes have been purchased by the Levelland State Bank. Crosby County Pioneer Memorial Museum has one of the editions of twenty of "Spooked"

Peace With Security Eludes Israeli Efforts

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Four years after the war that staggered Israel, the Jewish state has picked up nearly all the pieces but the biggest, and again views the sword as its only trusted ally.

The biggest piece: peace.

A final peace still is not in sight despite the often repeated declarations by Israeli leaders that their goal is harmony with the Arabs. The problem has been trying to mate present compromises with future security needs.

Yet in the four years that have elapsed since the 18-day Yom Kippur war that killed 2,600 Israelis, Israel, Egypt and Syria have bought only pieces of peace—in 1974 and 1975. More than anything they served to soothe a world made jittery by the newest weapon in the arsenal—Arab oil.

The troop disengagement agreements with Egypt and Syria, engineered by then Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, also gave these countries time to rebuild their war machines to prepare for another round of hostilities Israelis are sure will come.

"War is certain to come," said Zvi Landau, 38, a building contractor from Beersheba, the father of two, and a reserve infantry sergeant. "Maybe it won't come this year because of the possibility of Geneva. But it will come next year or the year after. And we will be prepared for it next time."

His remarks reflected the old Israel, the prewar spirit of "we are ready for anything." Israel's incursion into Lebanon to support the Christians fighting the Palestinians is another reflection of the resurgence of the confidence that existed before 2 p.m. Oct. 6, 1973.

"They've gotten their confidence back," a Western diplomat said of the Israelis. He agreed Israel's incursion into Lebanon set a precedent for this country and perhaps the Middle East.

Israel for the first time without going to war used its military power to exert influence in the territory of another country for its own purposes, aside from the July, 1975, raid on Uganda's Entebbe airport. The purpose was to keep the Palestinians away from Israel's frontier.

But it was the successful strike into Entebbe 2,000 miles from Israel to free more than 100 hostages aboard a hijacked Air France jetliner that served to end the demoralization and depression Israel found itself wallowing in after the war it nearly lost.

For the sky fell on Israel on that York Kippur day four years ago — Oct. 6 on the Gregorian calendar. The country and

'Roots' Accord No Bonanza For Small Town

HENNING, Tenn. (AP) — The 605 residents of Henning hoped the success of home town author Alex Haley and his Pulitzer Prize-winning book "Roots," would bring a great tourist business.

They were disappointed.

"Henning is not another Plains, Ga.," Mayor Billy "Poe" Brandon said in an interview Tuesday. "Haley gave us a Haley's last visit to Henning was in May as part of a three-day statewide celebration. The small West Tennessee town prepared for 10,000 visitors. About 1,500 came.

Some souvenirs of Alex Haley Day remain, such as stack of bright green and yellow bumper stickers on Brandon's desk with the words "I have visited Henning, Tenn."

"We had planned to sell the bumper stickers on Alex Haley Day," the mayor said. "We ordered 500 and probably sold 10. Now we are giving them away."

There are other reminders.

A four-foot-high monument shaped like a book and carved from black African granite stands in the yard of the New Hope Christian Methodist Episcopal Church. Lauderdale County residents raised $2,400 for the tribute to Haley.

A historical marker is in the yard of the "Old Will Palmer Place," the white frame house built in 1918 by Haley's grandfather. Haley said he was inspired to search for records of his ancestors by stories heard on the porch of the house.

The street on which the house stands is now Haley Avenue. And in Bethlehem Cemetery, a recently placed tombstone marks the grave of "Chicken George," a former slave and Haley's ancestor who brought the family to West Tennessee.

Still, the town averages only three or four visitors a week asking about Haley. "There is as much curiosity about our other famous resident. Jim Hickman, as there is about Haley," the mayor said.

Hickman is a local farmer who once played baseball with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs.

The mayor is even unsure what will happen to Haley's boyhood home.
"The house is vacant now," he said.

"The lady who owned it died a few weeks after Haley Day.
"We don't know if the state has bought the house or still plans to. They haven't notified us, or asked us to take care of it at all."

While the publicity given "Roots" and its author has not produced a tourist boom for Henning it probably has eaused some changes, Brandon said.

Some of the old store buildings have been renovated and other merchants have painted and fixed up their shops. A new sporting goods store, a leather shop and an ice cream parlor have opened.

BINGO NIGHT PLANNED
A-J Correspondent
CROSBYTON — West Texas Caprockers Radio Club will sponsor a bingo night beginning at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Pioneer Memorial Building. A door prize drawing is planned.

its leadership were caught completely by surprise because of a smugness stemming from Israel's lightning six-day victory over Egypt, Syria and Jordan in 1967.

Indeed, military intelligence insisted Egypt — the key to whether the Arabs will open the door to war because it is Israel's mightiest foe — would not try to cross the Suez Canal until it had air superiority in Sinai. The estimate was such superiority would not be reached until 1975. The simultaneous Egyptian and Syrian artillery bombardments along Israel's frontlines at the canal and on the occupied Golan Heights shocked Israel out of its super confidence as nothing else could.

Egyptian troops overran the string of Israeli fortifications on the east bank of the canal called the Bar-Lev Line, thought by the Israelis to be invincible until Egypt's ingenuity led to the use of water cannons to crumble the sand ramparts. The line never was recaptured.

On the Golan, a river of Syrian tanks flowed across the lightly held cease-fire line and got as far as a 10-minute drive to the Jordan River. The plan was to slice Israel's Galilee region off from the rest of the country. The Arabs used Soviet weaponry, the Israelis relied on American materiel. It was a war that tested the machines of the superpowers while Washington and Moscow took notes.

But Israel recovered and succeeded in reversing the tide in some of the biggest battles since World War II.

In the south, Israelis crossed the canal and completely cut off the Egyptian Third Army. They pushed as far into Egypt as the now famous Kilometer 101 of the Cairo-Suez Highway — 60 miles from Cairo.

In the north, Israelis not only pushed the Syrians back across the cease-fire line but thrust a spearhead cnto an enclave whose far perimeter was within artillery range of Damascus — 25 miles.

Despite the battlefield victories, some Israelis felt as though they had lost the war because when the politicians took over from the generals Israel found itself giving back all it had conquered and more.

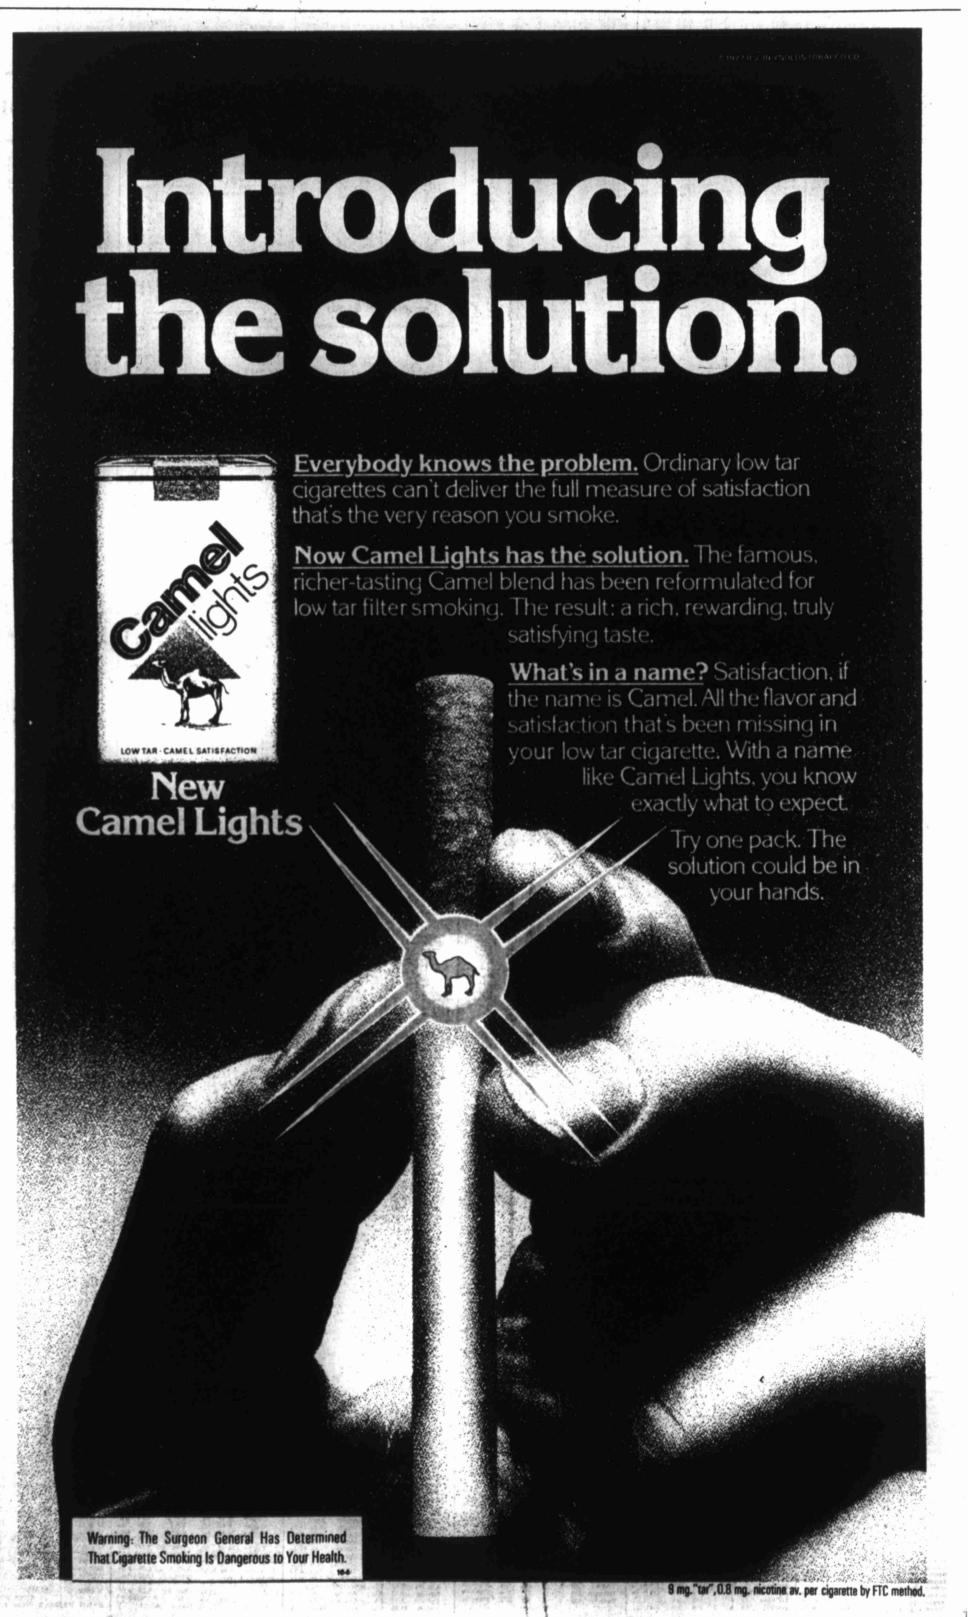

But Israel licked its wounds and aside from the high number of casualties its biggest wound was the $10 billion that the war cost. Israel just couldn't afford it — its 40 per cent annual inflation rate since the end of the war proves it.

But it reorganized and rebuilt its armed forces, vowing never again to be taken by surprise. It bought newer and better weapons from its chief armorer, the United States. It produced its own fighter, the delta-winged Kfir, with a French design, a U.S. engine and Swedish help. It wants to produce its own tank and is asking Washington for money for it. It wants to produce the F16 fighter and is buying the F15, America's most advanced combat aircraft.

Politicians and generals never tire in telling the public how Israel learned the lessons of the war. As an example, just recently Israel said it has doubled the number of its artillery pieces and 90 per cent of them are self-propelled.

So much confidence has returned that some reserve generals openly state that in the next round of fighting one of Israel's objectives should be the Arab oil fields. "What is called for is movement against focal points of power that have to be dismantled," Reserve Maj. Gen. Meir Amit, a former Mossad chief, said recently. "I mean the subject of oil, which for us is the one most difficult problem for the next 30 years."
