WANTED: A PROOFREADER

Simplified spelling is the rage these days, especially in signs, but this Lubbock street sign is carrying the idea a bit far! The stamped, metal sign appears at more than one spot on Quaker. Or maybe they intended to say that the street was closed only on Thursdays?

Three Criminal Cases Set For District Court Term; Grand Jury to Meet Today

Activity in district court here picks up tempo, starting today with a grand jury session opening this morning followed by a criminal court session slated for next Monday.

District Judge Pat Boone has summoned 16 Bailey county men for possible duty on a 12-man grand jury, due to be sworn in at 10 o'clock today.

Cases to be brought before the grand jury, some 16 altogether, will include such alleged violations as child desertion, car theft, forgery and worthless checks.

Majority of those whose charges are to be heard by the grand jury already are being held in the Bailey county jail.

The defendants will be questioned by District Attorney Jack Young as they are brought before the grand jury.

Called for possible grand jury duty are Baker Johnson, D. O. Terrell, L. B. Hall, D. O. Burlesmith, David S. Anderson, J. G. Arnn, Jacque Baker, Lonnie Bass, Jim Beller, Virgil Nowell, Bill Field, Cecil Cole, J. W. Simpson, W. E. Chisholm, J. D. Dunlap and H. A. Gore.

Three persons are slated for trial at next Monday's district court criminal term, Jack Young announced. Sixty persons have been summoned for possible duty on the petit jury.

Defendants in three separate cases include E. A. Flatt, Paul Harcraft Jr. and Joe Franklin.

Flatt, a former Muleshoe used car dealer, was indicted by a grand jury in March, 1963, on five counts, including false notary acknowledgement, theft and forgery. Several continuances have been granted since the case was first set for trial late in 1963. Among charges made by the state is an automobile title which Flatt allegedly acknowledged transferring title of a 1962 Ford from Duane Darling, Sudan. The grand jury indictment claims Darling did not sign the transfer.

Harcraft is alleged to have given a check for $565.30 to Omer Kelton Dec. 2, 1963, drawn on the Bank of Austin. He was indicted Feb. 14, 1964 on an alleged worthless check charge.

Franklin faces a charge of removing mortgaged property from the county. He is alleged to have bought a 2-door Pontiac sedan Aug. 20, 1963, the vehicle mortgaged by Pool Insurance Agency. The indictment, handed down in February, 1964, alleges Franklin took the car from the county.

Strong Organization Needed

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a six-part series dealing with various phases of Muleshoe Area Improvement Forum (MAIF), this one dealing with suggestions for carrying out the recommendations made in last autumn's public meetings.)

Muleshoe people who attended last autumn's public session to determine the area's needs, which were sifted and catalogued by Ralph Duncan, manager of the Community Services Department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, WTCC conducted the meetings and recorded each suggestion made by the public.

Now the carrying out of those recommendations will require careful organizational set-ups. Most of the organizational steps were suggested by Duncan in his final report to the chamber. However, some of the suggestions were made by people attending the meetings, suggestions for activating the program.

Duncan recommended that a "working committee... be named to activate each project included in the new program of work. Experience teaches us that committee action is essential to successful operation. A good committee insures specialized planning and direction for each project, and it will give the organization the help needed for bringing about a success."

He recommended that the committees' size should be determined "by the size of the job to be done. However, let us suggest that the committees not be too large." He added: "In (See ORGANIZATION Page 6)

While the application of Pro-pazine, one of the top herbicide chemicals, needs to follow a careful pattern, this general statement can be made, Adams explained.

For the farmer who wants to use herbicides, the county agent has two pamphlets that deal with the matter as prepared by Dr. Wiese. They are available at the county agent's office here.

Farmers May Go Herbicide Route to Control Weeds As Labor Costs Mount

With the collapse of the Bracero program and the prospect of higher wages for farm workers — if workers are available at all — herbicides probably will come into prominence in the Muleshoe area as never before.

If there's nobody to lop off the weeds by the old-fashioned hoe method, then farmers will try this year to prevent the weeds from growing in the first place.

Thus the farm picture takes on an entirely new face as the spring planting season approaches.

And because farmers realize the labor probably which they face, they are flocking in droves to herbicide meetings being held throughout the West Texas area these days.

For example, 200 turned out last week at a herbicide meeting held at Hub. All were eager to learn just how herbicides might be able to lick the weed problem without the use of expensive hand labor.

The labor situation, one farm expert put it mildly "is causing some concern to farmers." Herbicides, he added "may be the answer — at least partially."

Speaker at the meetings, including the one at Hub, has been Dr. A. F. Wiese from the South-west and Great Plains Research Center at Bushlands.

At his meetings in this area he is discussing the use of herbicides on cotton and grain sorghum the two crops which just happen to be the major crops for this area.

Use of herbicides is not new to this area; many farmers have been attempting to control weeds by the use of preventative chemicals for several years. However, the cloudy labor picture is putting new emphasis on herbicides, and farmers are eager to learn just how they may use the chemicals in lieu of at least a big part of their hand labor.

Thus weed control through chemicals might be the farmers' only answer to the labor problem.

J. K. Adams, county agent, who has attended several area meetings to hear discussions on herbicides, says "we are learning to have less fear of some herbicides. In the past, we made mistakes and results were not as good as had been hoped for. However, tests have proved the most effective way to use chemicals, and farmers who applied herbicides at the proper time and under proper conditions found them very effective last year."

At the meetings, Dr. Wiese discussed the broadcast method of applying chemicals to cotton land. However, caution is still being given on the use of pre-emergence herbicides. "Some herbicides should not be in-

Somewhere Over The Rainbow

HONOR RUNNERSUP — At Trinity Baptist Church, a queen and king were crowned. These are runnersup for the title. They are Lynda Johnson and Alvin Walker and Norma Beene and Mike Williams.

"Somewhere Over the Rainbow" was the theme of a youth banquet held at Trinity Baptist Church Friday night.

LaNell Spurgeon was crowned "queen" and her escort, Grady Casey was crowned king.

The social event was held in a setting of clouds and color under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Roloff.

Blue plastic bags were stapled to the ceiling creating the cloud effect. Revolving lights flashing about the banquet room caught reflections of the variegated colors of the tall, colorful rainbow behind the head table and the castle which occupied one corner. Varigated blue paper covered the guest tables centered with glittered tapers. A wishing well, complete with a chain and bucket represented the youth's dreams and images of their dreams were depicted in decor throughout the room. For instance one boy dreamed of owning a new "Mustang" which was supplied for the banquet by Muleshoe Motor Company. . . . a girl's dream of marriage and her dream was carried out with the use of a miniature bride and groom. A cloud, floating bore the picture of one youth with fishing equipment, depicting a dreamer with nothing to do except fish.

"As some were entering the first door, some were passing through the last door.

"What can you expect from over the rainbow?" he challenged. One: More responsibility. . . . more independence and above all . . . more opportunity to choose and build a life up on your choice." A poem was recited by the speaker concerning the facts "I Face the World Unafraid, because I am Not Alone . . . I have God with me." A "Royal Table" was featured for graduating seniors at the banquet and was decorated with caps and gowns, along with pictures of the students themselves and a horseshoe bearing the inscription "Good Luck, God Bless You."

The coronation was presided over by the pastor, Rev. Troy Walker. Guest were introduced by Mike Williams and the welcome address was presented by Jimmy Johanson.

Guest speaker was introduced by Grady Casey and the benediction pronounced by Larry Baker.

Weeds--
ams says: "Cases where rains fell within three weeks of application, have proved effective. "The chemical did not work when row irrigation was used to soak up beds before the rains came. This was due to the fact that weeds sprouted in the saturated beds and grew up through the shallow treatment of Propazine. Had the rains occurred, Propazine would have been soaked into the ground, thus assuring success for the chemical."

The county agent says cotton weed control can be effective in fields where hoeing costs usually exceed $3. per acre. "Pre emergence herbicides can be applied in 10 - inch bands over cotton rows before emergence of the plants. On 40 - inch rows this treatment requires only as much as one - fourth as much herbicide as by the broadcast method," he explains.

Thus more effective use of the chemical can be obtained through a narrow - band system than through a broadcast application, which also would cut costs for the chemical considerably. He says also that some farmers have used too much Propazine to the acre and have stunted the growth of the cotton plants.

The pamphlets also contain specific information about the various tradename products which are available for use this year. For example, Treflan is a liquid formulation containing four pounds per gallon of trifluralin. Thorough incorporation into two to four inches deep is essential when using this herbicide. This herbicide is used also for soybeans. Suggested rates for reapplication for coarse, medium and fine-textured soils are 1/2, 1 and 3/4 pound trifluralin per treated acre. This is equivalent to 3, 4 and 6 pounds of Treflan per acre applied to a 10-inch band. Application with incorporation prior to bedding may be made to fields with a severe weed problem. Sorghum cannot be planted the year following application.

While some of the herbicides are applied before planting time to inhibit weed growth, other chemicals may be applied after the plant has started growing. "Farmers may prefer to apply herbicide to the cotton crop when it is about six inches tall," the county agent says. "In this event, the farmer uses Karmex DL or Caparol-80 W."

Karmex DL and DW are liquid and dry formulations of diuron. Karmex DL contains 2.8 pounds of diuron per gallon and Karmex DW is an 80 percent wettable powder. Light incorporation of diuron may be beneficial. Suggested rates of diuron are five tenths, 8 tenths and one pound per treated acre for coarse, medium and fine-textured soils. This is equivalent to 7, 9 and 11 ounces per acre of Karmex DL per acre applied to a 10 - inch band.

In applying Caparol 80W, is a trademark item for an 80 percent wettable powder formulation of prometryne. Soil incorporation is not advised. Suggested rates are 1, 1 1/2 and 1 3/4 pounds per acre for coarse, medium and fine - textured for Muleshoe schools, in addition to Dillman who heads the group, are these teachers: Lois Witherspoon, first grade; Janice Phillips, second grade; Floree Pough third grade; Jackie McAlpin, fourth grade; S. L. Benefield, fifth grade, and Ben Gramling, sixth grade. All the above are arithmetic - selectors.

Teachers--

Then Betty Jennings picks seventh grade readers, Wayland Ethridge seventh grade readers, and Mary Scoggin seventh and eighth grade science. R. E. Everett, junior high principal, has selections for civil government, 8th grade; related math, high school; civil government, high school, and general woodwork, high school. Ralph Stevenson, senior high principal, picks junior business training and driver education and safety. Bryan Brady selects biology textbooks, a n d, soils respectively. This is equivalent to 5 and 8 ounces (dry) of prometryne 80 - W per acre applied to a 10 - inch band."

There are several other chemicals which will be available at local dealers' stores, the county agent said, and the farmer who wants to use the herbicides is asked to call at the agent's office for copies of Dr. Wiese's pamphlets. The publications deal extensively with the various chemicals and with recommended use.

One pamphlet deals with chemical weed control of sorghum and corn for the Panhandle and South Plains while the other deals with cotton.

Whether the chemicals will cost less to use than hand-labor methods will depend on a number of factors, farm experts summed up. But regardless of costs, if labor is scarce, herbicides definitely play a vital role in this year's agricultural operations in this area.

Rotary to Mark 60th Birthday

Two speakers appeared on Tuesday's Rotary club program here Robert Meeler, a student, talked on animal art, and Albert Field, city manager, discussed the Rotary's magazine, the Rotarian. It was decided to add the Rotarian to the library's reading room here.

As its 60th year begins, Rotary is growing at the approximate rate of one club a day. The organization's phenomenal growth indicates the strong appeal of Rotary fellowship and service to men of different vocational backgrounds.

The 60th anniversary of the founding of Rotary, the pioneer service club, will be marked next week by the club here. Olan Burrows, president of the Rotary Club of Muleshoe in announcing the club's anniversary meeting, said, "The local Rotary club joins a world-wide celebration planned by more than 11,800 Rotary clubs and 560,000 Rotarians in 127 countries. The occasion will be marked by men of diverse languages, religions, and political beliefs, but with a common bond in the Rotary ideal of serving others."

The first meeting of the world's first Rotary club was held on February 23, 1905 in Chicago. It brought together the founder, Paul Harris, a lawyer, with three of his business acquaintances: a mining engineer, a merchant tailor and a coal dealer. In the early days of Rotary, it was agreed that only one representative from each business or profession in the community would be admitted, a principle of membership that continues today.

Do you have MONEY TO BURN? Those days that sounds like a silly question . . . because none of us have so much that we could casually see our hard-earned dollars go up in smoke. Yet that is just the gamble we take if we let our property go along under-insured . . . or if we neglect checking our home for fire hazards. If you don't have money to burn, take these two precautions; don't play with fire . . . fire feeds on careless deeds . . . so BE CAREFUL; and for extra protection, let us look over your fire insurance needs to make sure that you're fully protected. most cases, committees can be limited from five to seven members, including the chairman."

He also recommended that the committee be dissolved when its particular job is completed, adding that "the work and accomplishments of all committees should be publicly acknowledged."

Duncan also made recommendations on how to select committee members: "The committee personnel should be selected according to interest in the assignment, ability and willingness to serve. Agreement to attend meetings should be had before announcement is made, and committees should meet only when they have something to do. Ordinarily one hour is long enough for meetings, and credit for achievements should be acknowledged."

The public made eight specifications. The commission decided to look into the master plan idea further, working with City Manager Albert Field. Also discussed by Roy Davis, Chamber Manager, was the possibility of a junior college here. Davis pointed out the advantages to area youth of such a college. Present at the meeting were Ben Yeager, Bobby Airhart, M. D. Gunstream, Ralph Douglass, Jim Jennings, commission chairman; Albert Field, Roy Davis, Horace Holt, Matt Dudley, Rudolph Weidubush and Woody Lambert, concialmen.

ic recommendations on organizational setup:

1. Consider the organization of a President's Round Table Council. Such a council should be composed of representatives of all clubs and organizations, such as ministerial alliance, city council, county commissioners, service clubs, women's study clubs, P-TA, church groups, etc. to study means of solving community problems common to such groups. . . .
2. Widen Highway 84 West.
3. Maintain community calendar of events. (This will help avoid conflicts in scheduled events).
4. Central Welfare Agency needed.
5. Consider more adequate and improved office quarters.
6. Increase chamber budget and membership. (Special attention should be given to increased membership from rural areas.)
7. Maintain attendance record of directors.
8. Check attendance to determine number of officers attending the sessions.

Duncan concluded his 12-page report of MAIF with this statement: "We desire to express appreciation to the leaders of your chamber for their assistance and cooperation during the Area Improvement Forum, as well as the group chairmen, newspaper and radio people, and the general citizenry for its ready response and cooperation. Please call on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and its various departments at any time it is felt that our services could be helpful. It will be a pleasure to serve you."

Tower Offers Own Medical Care Bill

By JOHN TOWER

U. S. Senator

Last week I introduced a bill, S. 820, to provide expanded health care for our elderly citizens.

This bill is infinitely better, in my opinion, than the administration's so-called "medicare" program which would be financed through increased social security taxes. My bill would provide those benefits under programs already existing in many states. It would be financed by federal - state matching funds and would require no increase in payroll taxes.

I have been heartened by early response to my bill. Several Senators have indicated they will join in support of the measure, and my mail indicates that Texans prefer this approach to that offered by the Administration in its medicare proposal.

The bill I introduced (S. 820) was drawn up by physicians who care for the elderly and know their health problems and medical needs. It is not the product of political maneuver, nor the result of campaign promises. It offers more benefits for people 65 and over — who need care and cannot pay for it — than any other legislation now before Congress.

It provides a wide range of benefits — physicians' care, surgical and drug costs, hospital and nursing home charges. Eligibility for benefits would be determined quickly — before illness strikes — and without a welfare department type of investigation.

Citizens 65 and over would obtain a policy for medical care. Some would pay nothing for it. Others would contribute a part of the cost of their policy, depending on the level of their income. To apply for the policy, the elderly would submit a simple statement of income. That is all.

This program would offer a free choice of physicians and hospitals — without federal bureaucratic interference.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm must have had a bad cold recently, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I was at a complete standstill out here on this Johnson grass farm yesterday hoping that somewhere in the plans for the Great Society they include a battery for a car or tractor that won't ever go dead, draw its energy from the sun or a television tower or anything just so when you push the button something happens, not that dead silence that makes a man despair before his day starts.

Then I got to thinking. While I was at a standstill because of a dead battery, the President of the United States was at the same time at a standstill because of a bad cold, and I hope he used the situation to include a war on colds in his Great Society plans. As far as I'm concerned, there's no place in such a society for dead batteries or common colds, especially the latter.

For the price of one nuclear-powered submarine or one misfired shot at the moon we ought to be able to set up a bunch of scientists in a laboratory somewhere and tell them to forget the cost and not come out till they've found a vaccine for the common cold. It's my belief that any scientists with the brains to whip the whooping cough can whip the common cold. Somebody's just not trying hard enough.

In fact, if the bad cold had been fatal, we'd already have whipped it, but so long as it just makes people feel miserable, everybody seems to think it's something we have to endure from now on, like droughts and floods and nagging wives, but I don't agree. In fact, I'm half-trying with the idea of starting a national March of Pennies Drive to stamp the thing out, but since I won't have time to serve as chairman, I've got to get into town to see about this battery. I guess you could send your money to the Journal to send it on to President Johnson, earmarked for the War on the Common Cold.

The first commercial planes had only two navigational instruments, an altimeter and a compass. Today's commercial transport average more than 300.

In the Indian Ocean north of the equator monsoons reverse direction every six months. Nowhere else is there a similar seasonal reversal of the prevailing winds.

Some 10,700,000 square miles of North America lay under ice at one time or another.

There's nothing more ridiculous than a group of finely-honed scientists hovering at the base of a ten-story, multi-billion-dollar rocket aimed at the moon having to postpone the flight on account of one of the astronauts has come down with a cold.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

GOVERNOR'S PROGRAM — Most of the governor's program already has been introduced in some form in one or both houses.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Of Law and Love

QUIET PLEASE!
Satirist Ambrose Bierce once described noise as "the chief product of civilization." Bierce was prone to exaggerate. But there is no doubt that the noise level of our lives has risen alarmingly.

At times, the law must decide how noisy a person may be in his own home. One basic test can be found in the law of nuisance. Is Home Owner A committing a nuisance by making noise? Is Neighbor B entitled to have it stopped?

Oddly enough, both A and B stand on the same foundation; the rights of private property. One of those rights, argues A, is to do as he pleases on his own premises. B retorts that he is entitled to enjoy his private property in peace and quiet.

How to reconcile the irreconcilable? The degree of loudness is one factor, but only one. Justice is too elusive to be achieved by merely counting decibels. A court must seek out all the special circumstances that give color to the dispute.

For instance noise is less lawful if made with malice aforethought. One woman was held liable for playing her radio loud and long at an open window, purposely to inflict a maximum of annoyance on the neighbor next door.

Another factor is the ease of abatement. The owner of an incessantly barking dog was ordered to abate the nuisance, the court noting that it was simply a matter of not leaving the dog alone so much.

But noise appropriate to the time and place is usually no nuisance. Thus, courts have declined to interfere with the cackling of hens in a rural district and with evening croquet games that vexed only a single sensitive neighbor.

In another case, a court found no nuisance in the singing of popular songs on the front porch, even though the fastidious couple next door were scandalized. The court said:

"Those who enjoy the modern jazz cannot be restrained from producing it because it offends the classical ear."

Noise may not be the chief product of civilization. But civilization has certainly made more of a din less of a sin. One court, denying a home owner's complaint against the Little League baseball games on a nearby lot, had this rueful comment:

"Today we not only have modern conveniences but also modern inconveniences."

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas written by Will Bernard.

Bills or constitutional amendments filed would:
Set up an 18-man coordinating board over the state system of higher education;
Repeal state property and poll taxes;

Establish a State Department of Mental Health;
Tighten driver license laws;
Provide four-year terms for state officials;

Combine the Migrant Labor Council with Texas Good Neighbor Council;
Insure equal legal rights for women;

Establish a $10,000,000 college building fund;
Set up a college student loan fund;
Create a Fine Arts Commission;

Revise the Texas election code; and
Free the Texas Water Commission for water rights administration and make Texas Water Development Board responsible for all water planning, financing and development activities.

BUILDING HIGHEST — Building shattered all records during 1964. Total permits issued in the state came to $1,600,000,000 or seven per cent more over 1963, according to UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Bulk of the increase came from a 25 per cent gain in non-residential buildings, principally industrial structures which were up a sensational 92 per cent. Home building authorizations dropped three per cent, while permits for alterations and repairs were up two per cent.

Non-metropolitan areas led the construction surge with a 30 per cent gain over the previous year. Metropolitan areas gained only three per cent.

The city with the biggest gain was Longview. Other big gains were shown in San Angelo, Lubbock, Tyler, Fort Worth, Odessa and Irving.

Bill authorizing the State Railroad Commission to order pooling of separately-owned oil and gas interests in standard proration units has cleared the Senate Oil and Gas Committee.

A four-system geographic grouping of colleges, rivaling a three-system set-up proposed by Governor Connally, is called for in a bill by Sens. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo and H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock.

Continuation of the Veteran's Land Program with another $200,000,000 bond program is proposed in constitutional amendments introduced in both the House and Senate.

Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur is author of a bill to establish a Texas mediation service for voluntary settlement of intrastate industrial labor disputes.

Updating of workmen's compensation law is proposed in a bill by Rep. David G. Haines of Bryan.

Quick Passage Due Connally's College Reorganization Plan

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally's top legislative project—creation of a powerful coordinating board to control state colleges and universities—apparently is headed for early enactment.

Bills to establish the board breezed through Senate and House committees to floor calendars without direct attack after members of the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School testified for them.

Quick and easy committee approval contradicted early rumors that establishment of the strong central board would meet vigorous opposition in the Legislature.

It seems that opposition, if there is to be any, will be confined to specific details of the bill and not to the overall proposal.

If enacted, the 18-member coordinating board would have broad powers over all aspects of higher education in Texas—junior colleges, as well as senior institutions.

It would have the final word on launching or eliminating college degree programs, control the addition or deletion of course, develop future plans for higher education and pass on proposals to create new senior colleges.

It would supplant the existing Commission on High Education although members of the commission would be eligible for appointment to the board.

Said Governor Connally: "I am very pleased with the action of the two committees. This reflects what I have said all along — that there is a great will and desire on the part of the Legislature to make some real strides toward excellence in higher education."

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria is handling the bill in the House and Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan has it in the Senate.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS — Legislative committees set aside another Ladies' Night to hear a familiar debate — should the state constitution be amended to insure that no legal rights be "denied or abridged because of sex?"

Without even hearing arguments for or against, a Senate panel quickly agreed that the amendment should be submitted to the voters.

On the other hand, the House committee listened to hours of testimony. Most of it was in opposition to such an amendment. The State Bar and spokesmen for university law schools led the opposition.

Opponents claim the amendment goes too far and would "open a Pandora's box" of future litigation. Specific statutory changes were recommended as preferable for correcting such discrimination as might exist.

Spokesmen for the women's groups, who have stubbornly pushed the amendment, retort with considerable conviction: after all these years of talking about giving women full powers to manage their property and other rights long denied them, little serious effort has been made to repeal the discriminatory statutes one at a time.

POOLING BILL — Although subject to bitter legislative controversy two years ago, the oil and gas lease pooling bill cleared the Senate with no more than a handful of dissenting votes.

There was practically no floor discussion on the bill which is backed by Governor Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, as well as most oil and gas interests.

Its House companion landed in a friendly sub-committee after an extended hearing.

Bill would authorize Texas Railroad Commission to prescribe requirements for owners of small tracts to pool their interests for oil and gas drilling purposes when they cannot get together voluntarily.

Among opponents of the bill were members of the Texas Farm Bureau and local farm bureaus in oil counties which have had small-tract problems.

C. H. Devaney of Coahoma, TFB president, asked the committee to consider the opposition to the bill "in the light of the fact that an overwhelming majority of our member families are landowners and that the Texas Farm Bureau probably represents the largest single group of landowners in any organization."

Devaney read a policy statement saying in part, "We oppose any and all legislation that would deny the landowner or mineral owners the American tradition of freedom of choice."

Free choice remained the central issue as the measure went on House and Senate calendars.

Opponents called the measure "compulsory unitization" and "land collectivization."

House sponsor, Rep. Wayne Gibbens of Breckenridge, said it is intended "to encourage voluntary pooling."

PERMIAN CASE — Three top Texas officials entered personal protests before the Federal Power Commission in Washington of gas rate findings for the Permian Basin area of West Texas and New Mexico.

Governor Connally, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon argued against approval of an F. P. C. examiner's memorandum recommending a rate range of 10 cents per million cubic feet to 16.75 cents per mcf. State contended single price of 20 cents per mcf would be more reasonable and forward-looking.

Adoption of the examiner's findings would be a serious economic blow to the state. It would result in a tax loss of $4,500,000 a year, officials contended. They pointed out that 4,700,000 acres of land belonging to the University of Texas or the Permanent School Fund are located in the vast Permian Basin. Income to the university and the public schools in addition to substantial amounts of taxes, depend heavily on gas prices. Similar hearings, Carr reported already have begun in the Gulf Coast and East Texas fields. Hearings begun in 1961 fields. Hearings begun in 1961 now cover 35,000 pages of testimony.

COMMITTEE ON AGING — Senate State Affairs Committee gave its blessing to establishment of the Governor's Committee on Aging as a permanent organization.

Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, chairman of the present committee, is author of the Senate bill to set up a nine-member panel aided by seven state officials and executives dealing with problems of aging. Committee now is trying to get programs going for senior citizens in every county.

COURTS SPEAK — Third Court of Civil Appeals agreed with the trial court that the cigarette distributor's permit of Houston dealer accused of participating in a fraud scheme which cost the state an estimated $4,200,000 should be revoked.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert canceled the permit of the House of Tobacco (headed by Mair J. Scheps) last October. Trial of Scetpreps and six more is scheduled for May 3 in Austin.

Same court heard arguments on an eight-year-old case where the City of San Antonio seeks to overturn a ruling of the Texas Water Commission denying its application for supplemental water supply from Canyon Dam near New Braunfels. Commission (then the Board of Water Engineers) said the Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority is entitled to available water to benefit the cities in its watershed.

REVISION FAVORED — Senate Jurisprudence Committee recommended passage of an overall revision of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure which cleared the Legislature in 1963 but was vetoed because a faulty copy was sent to the governor.

Bill is the result of four years work by a State Bar committee.

Most protests at the committee hearing centered on a section which would allow a convicted person to decide whether he wished a jury or a judge to determine the penalty.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Governor Connally appointed Rev. Robert S. Tate Jr. of Austin to the Texas Youth Council. He succeeds Dr. Guy Newman of Brownwood.

Connally also named Frank Sparks of Eastland as judge of the 91st district court. He succeeds the late Judge T. M. Clie.

Durwood Manford of Smiley was named to a new term on the State Board of Insurance.

CARR ASKS MORE MONEY — Attorney General Carr is seeking some $210,500 more a year for his budget. Request is mainly for funds to represent Texas in hearings before federal agencies and to handle "scandal" cases.

Federal agencies must have a better understanding of Texas problems, contends the attorney general. He noted that consumer states of the north and east have explained their cases in a more convincing manner than as Texas.

Carr said a scandal could result from loose regulation of charitable trusts.

A spokesman for Carr appeared at a House judiciary committee hearing in support of a bill to tighten controls on such trusts.

WATER DEVELOPMENT — A friendly Senate sub-committee will consider a bill by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas which would authorize the Water Development Board to use the $200,000,000 water development fund to build reservoirs, treatment plants, pipelines and other facilities for water delivery to wholesale users and to obtain permits for storage and use.

Two other Parkhouse water development bills also remain under Senate committee study. They would convert the Water Rights Commission, an agency with expanded responsibilities and an executive director, and would revise the Water Development Board and expand its powers, keeping the granting of permits with the Water Commission.

SHORT SNORTS — Senate Game and Fish Committee has approved a bill recommended by Governor Connally to bring all counties under regulatory powers of Parks and Wildlife Department (15 and now are). . . . Total Texas e-ployment reached 3,600,000 a year's end, Texas Employment Commission reports. . . . Manufacturing employment now stands at 534,000, a three per cent increase from 1963, according to the UT Bureau of Business Research. . . . Governor Connally asked the Industrial Accident Board to begin the accumulation and publication of industrial injury statistics. . . . House of Representatives will finish its initial work on the state's $3,500,000,000 budget by March 12, setting a new record, says appropriations committee Chairman Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah. . . . Plans for a state literacy program for which the federal government would pay 90 per cent of the costs have been okayed by the State Board of Education. . . . A constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to let agricultural producers tax themselves for advertising, research and marketing funds has been introduced.

Statistics show that 150,000 women make a full-time career of door-to-door selling and that half a million operate on a part-time basis.
