RUSSIA MOVES TO WIPE OUT ENEMIES

Christmas Atmosphere Hits Cisco Business

GALA LIGHTS BEING STRUNG ALONG STREET

With the Thanksgiving holidays past, Cisco today definitely took on the atmosphere of Christmas. Stores up and down D avenue were putting their gift suggestions in prominent places for early shoppers, and workmen were busy stringing a cable along the main business street for the installation of the colored holiday lights. There was even the promise, for the kiddies, that Santa Claus would pay a visit to the city before long.

The long cable down D avenue, reaching from the Daily News at Third street to the Nance Motor company at Ninth street, was to have wires running from it to each side of the street, five to the block, with colored lights every four feet. The lighting was made possible through the cooperation of Cisco merchants and the West Texas Utilities company. Merchants each donated $1 to pay for light strings where vacant buildings occur, and those who did not have light strings of their own purchased them. Labor and electricity until Jan. 1 were to be furnished by the power company.

Colored Lights Wednesday Dick Giles of the West Texas Utilities company today announced that the lights would be turned on Wednesday for the first time and that they would burn each night afterwards until January 1. The committee which arranged details, under the general direction of J. J. Collins, was composed of Dick Lauderdale, W. H. LaRoque, Charles Sanfeler, and Jack Anderson.

While this committee was arranging for lights, another, composed of Mitt Williams and Hermann Wood was negotiating for a visit from Santa Claus before Christmas. Finally Santa agreed to leave his work and come to Cisco for a few moments on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 15. He said he would be here at 2 o'clock.

Plans were being worked out today for the jolly old fellow to be met by the Lobo band and a fire truck. It was rumored he might have 300 pounds of candy to distribute among the good children, if he found any in Cisco. Cisco merchants were taking unusual pains to decorate their stores in Christmas style today, upon the assumption that this would be a season of early Christmas shopping.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED BY BROGDONS On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brogdon, well known and substantial family of the Romney community, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary surrounded by their six children and eight grandchildren.

Discarded Bag Offers Clues

A black suit case filled with dresses for three young girls of approximately the age of those found slain near Carlisle, Pa., provided the most substantial clues in the strange "Babes in the Woods" mystery, Corporal Linton Gritman of the state police is shown examining the contents of the suit case, which is reported to have contained belts that match garments worn by the dead trio. It was found several miles from the bodies.

Raymond Hamilton's Trail Leads Into Louisiana After Gun Fight

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 3.—The trail of Raymond Hamilton, fugitive from the Texas death house, led into western Louisiana today after the outlaw and two companions shot a nightwatchman at Maud, in Bowie County, Texas.

The automobile in which the three men fled from Maud was recovered a mile west of Shreveport a short time after nightfall, Gene Mills, 50, was wounded. The car's motor was still warm. Records showed the machine was stolen at Houston.

The shooting occurred yesterday morning when Mills attempted to question three men in a car parked in front of the Maud post office. When he flashed a light inside the car, the occupants opened fire. The officer was shot in the side but was not wounded seriously.

Mills identified the men as Hamilton, erstwhile associate of the late Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker; Julius Bohannon, Oklahoma fugitive charged with slaying two officers, and Chester Elliott, Texarkana youth sought on charges of robbery and assault to kill.

GOV'T EXPENSE IS BOOSTED BY RECOVERY PAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — Heavy recovery cost sent government expenditures up to $638,607,912 last month from $499,420,000 in November a year ago, the treasury reported today.

The November expenditures of which nearly two-thirds were for emergency purposes, however, were slightly under total October disbursements of $748,000,543,000. Another sweeping rise in government gold holdings was reported in November with the rise in gold stocks approaching the $100,000,000 mark as the result of heavy foreign importations.

C. of C. Will Meet Tomorrow Evening

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular meeting at the Chamber of Commerce building tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock, according to Secretary J. E. Spencer.

POLICE WARN MOTORISTS OF TRAFFIC LAWS

Police today asked the cooperation of Ciscoans in a drive for better observance of traffic laws within the city limits, including parking in the downtown district.

Double-parking, of which there has been a great deal lately, came in for the first criticism, and police urged motorists to help them to stop it. It was described as unsightly, inconvenient, and dangerous.

"Some of the business men park their cars on D avenue all day," police said. "They at least can park on another street so that their customers can find a parking space in front of their stores."

The parking of cars for such a period of time, it was said, has necessitated the double-parking of shoppers who want curb service or who will have heavy bundles to carry out of the stores and do not wish to carry them for a great distance.

To Enforce Traffic Law

Police said that they had been lenient with motorists lately in the matter of double-parking, but that they intend to see that the city traffic ordinance are enforced. When a parking space is not available, motorists will be allowed to stop in front of a store long enough to go in, transact their business, and return to the car, but double and triple-parking will not be tolerated.

Cars must be parked within 12 inches of the curb, motorists were warned.

Alley parking, which has been a favorite with some motorists, must stop, the police said. Cars may be parked only on the north side of downtown alleys. Recently they have been jammed into the alleys in such a manner as to obstruct any traffic that might have to pass through.

Observe Stop Signs

Stop signs must be observed, the police department said. The signs have been placed on the streets for the safety of motorists and pedestrians alike, it was pointed out. "The people have been abusing them lately, though, running right over them without paying the least attention to them. That's got to stop, or we are going to have to give some people some tickets for traffic violations," motorists were warned.

"And another thing—don't park near those fire plugs." Parking in the space reserved by the plugs in only endangering car so parked and the property near it, it was pointed out.

"We don't have very heavy traffic in Cisco now," police said, "but we will have during the holidays, and the people can help us to take care of it by observing these traffic don'ts."

BEST SHIPPING YEAR

TOLEDO, Dec. 3 — Toledo has just ended her best season in years as a coal, ore and grain port.

Double Slayer Quizzed on Crime

Still in a daze after confessing a double murder, Joseph Steinmetz, 22, Los Angeles divinity student, is shown here at right as he was questioned on the crime by Saul Price, New York assistant district attorney. Price holds the gun with which Steinmetz admits he slew his wife, formerly Ruth Armstrong, 17, Hollywood movie aspirant, and the Rev. Joseph Leonard, Lawrenceville, N. J. Roman Catholic priest, when Steinmetz found them together in the priest's room in a New York hotel.

League To Seal Saar Border For Two Weeks Before Jan. 15 Voting

By RICHARD DEVERN McMILLAN United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright 1934 by United Press)

SAARBRUCKEN, Saar Territory, Dec. 3.—League of Nations officials intend practically to seal the Saar Territory for 15 days before the Jan. 15 plebiscite to avert clashes that might necessitate invasion of French troops, it was learned by the United Press.

It is planned to close the frontiers so that almost no one can get in. League officials said that an order in the name of the League alone would open the frontier, and they mentioned as one possible order a request for French "police" to come over. The "police" presumably would be the soldiers garrisoned a few miles from the frontier to wait for an emergency.

News from Geneva was that the League of Nations council would meet a few days before the plebiscite, in order that it will be able to act promptly if necessary. It would be for the council, at the request of its governing council here, to ask for French "police."

There was great interest here in the negotiations at Rome regarding the fate of the Saar coal mines. It was learned that both French and German delegates have suggested that Saarlanders buy the mines from the French government.

This, the Germans suggested, would solve two problems at once—the mines themselves and the absorption of French currency now in circulation in the Saar, which would almost cover the mines' cost.

The accident occurred when workmen of the West Texas Utilities company, tightening a cable to string colored lights, across the street, exerted more pressure than the weak awning could stand and it collapsed.

The negro was taken to Graham's sanitarium in Green's ambulance, where he received medical attention. Other persons nearby were not under the awning at the time of the crash. No damage except the loss of the awning was reported to the store.

COLD WEATHER PREDICTED FOR NORTH TEXAS

By United Press Freezing weather which returned to the panhandle, reaching as far southward as Abilene, was expected to extend its grip to North Texas today.

Generally fair but cold weather settled over most of the entire state as the low pressure area which brought unsettled weather today passed eastward into Louisiana. No rainfall was reported in the west section of the state and only traces were recorded at Dallas and Abilene.

'RED TERROR' ORDERED FOR SOVIET FOES

(Copyright 1934 By United Press) LENINGRAD, Russia, Dec. 3 — Ruthless extermination of enemies of the Soviet regime was proclaimed today because of the assassination of Sergei Kirov, one of the high leaders of communistic Russia.

A degree of the parliament was made public, ordering prompt execution of persons found implicated in the assassination. The parliament assembled immediately after the assassination on Saturday and passed a resolution evoking the most important weapon of the dictatorship of the proletariat — the arbitrary "red terror" under which many thousands of potential foes of the government faced execution before firing squads in the early years of the revolution.

The resolution precluded the possibility of delaying execution by appeal from persons found guilty of terrorist acts. The foreign office was instructed to carry out the sentences without delay and the parliament declared it could not accept clemency appeals for examination. The utmost speed was demanded of authorities conducting the investigation of the assassination and possibility of a conspiracy.

Despite the widespread investigation, a report was circulated that Kirov was killed by one of his personal forces because of a grudge and that it was not a political crime.

TODAY MARKS OPENING HERE OF BOOK WEEK

Today begins Cisco's observance of national book week. The public library is observing the week by stressing the reading of more good books and by holding open house from 3 to 5 o'clock each afternoon and from 7 to 9 each evening.

The reception Thursday evening will be the climax of the week. It has been announced. The reception is being given in honor of the city commission, which recently appropriated $50 for the founding of a Texas book shelf at the library. Those to be honored at the reception are Mayor J. T. Berry, J. R. Burnett, W. R. Winston, H. A. Bible, W. J. Foxworth, and H. C. Henderson.

Donate Books

Cisco patrons will also have the opportunity this week of donating good books to the library. It was announced by Mrs. Charles Brown of the library committee. All books pertaining to Texas or by Texas authors good books of fiction, or reference books will be especially acceptable, it was said.

An effort is being made to have as many Ciscoans as possible visit the library during this week. The library committee said. There they will be shown the various features of both the building and the books and reading room.

The Texas book shelf was founded in keeping with the current move toward a Texas Centennial celebration. With the appropriation for the state shelf the library committee has purchased eight rare volumes of books pertaining to Texas. Busts of Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston, founders of the republic that became a state, will also be on display.

The library committee consists of Mrs. Will Reagan, Mrs. H. Seale, and Mr. Charles Brown.

Victory Class To Sponsor Barbecue

Victory would be the last one. "Hello," said Mac. "Do I smell Christmas?" "You smell Christmas Eve, which is better," Ann replied. "The kid still believes in Santa Claus," Mac was smiling. He came over to Sarah and, a little awkwardly, put his arm about her. "Ann thought, smiling, how different Tony's frank demonstration of affection were from Mac's abashed approaches.

WEATHER

West Texas — Generally fair, frost in southeast tonight; Tuesday partly cloudy. East Texas — Generally fair, colder south portion, frost in interior tonight; Tuesday partly cloudy, unsettled in south.

Legion Auxiliary Has Party Tonight

All Legionnaires and their wives are invited to attend.

Did You Ever Read a Book?

Did you ever read a book? Come to think of it, just how long has it been since you sat down and read an honest-to-goodness good book that made you feel that the world is a little brighter place? How long has it been since you read a book that made you feel you were getting something finer, something educational, from its content? How long has it been since you read a book of fiction that was something besides blood and thunder of a slushy, sentimental love story?

The public library here has some books. It has some books that you would enjoy. It has some books that might teach you something. It has some literature.

Many of us have come to look upon books as a luxury, something to be read when we have time. . . but we never have time. We grab a magazine and read a short story, or a lot of short stories, instead. We don't stop to realize that it takes as much of our time to read a number of short stories in magazines as it would to read a book. We hurry through life, reading when we have nothing else to do, nowhere to go, and have seen the current movie.

But the public library here has some books. . . some of those luxuries we were talking about. You might be surprised to find out just what good books the library has. You might find that the luxuries are something you would not want to do without.

This week has been designated book week in Cisco, and the public library is particularly anxious that you come around and get acquainted. Get acquainted with the books and the library too. Maybe you've never been in Cisco's library. Then you have something in store for you. It's the attractive looking building on Avenue G, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Maybe you are a lover of books. . . or people. In either case you will want to share your books with others. This week will be a good chance to make yourself feel good by donating a good book or two to the public library. It will appreciate the gift, and others will have the same opportunity to follow your favorite characters and your favorite writers as they go from page to page.

Toward Better Days

An optimistic note continues to pervade news of American business.

The spirit of cooperation between governmental agencies and organized business and industry, coordinated with organized agriculture, dominates the new picture of national life. The united effort is bearing abundant fruit, not the least accomplishment being the abandonment of an outlook of timidity toward the future. Business is getting back on its feet again, as an accumulation of evidence bears witness.

Of many hopeful trends discernible in recent weeks none is more reassuring than the statement by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States declaring that encouragement is replacing the "general state of apprehension" which existed less than 2 months ago among the business men of the country.

Having examined its November indices for factors indicating a sustained upturn in business the chamber found this evidence:

Payments by check (regarded as a broad gauge of national activity) running 6 per cent over the level of last year and 20 per cent over the year before.

Retail sales keeping a "steady course," with signs of stability in prices favoring increased volume.

Stability in wholesale prices suggesting a leveling off in production and distribution costs.

Carloading showing less than seasonal decline.

Demand for electric power proceeding at a rate not equaled in November since 1930.

An overcoming of some of the earlier lags in production.

Steel production advance to a level better than the corresponding part of any year since 1931.

Textile industries regaining ground lost through last September's general strike.

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 — Evidence of teamwork between the governor's office and the attorney general's department in the new administration have been given by both incoming state officials. William McCraw, who will become attorney general, appointed S. E. Games and Pat M. Neff Jr. members of the present attorney general's staff. Gov. Elect Allred, finding a vacancy in his office, now appointed Tom L. Rowell Jr., one of those whom McCraw will bring into office, to fill out the term, saying it was done as a measure of cooperation with the incoming administration, and to permit Rowell to get familiar with the work.

There are many matters calling for close cooperation between the governor and attorney general. In many past instances, that cooperation has been lacking, but early indications point to a rapprochement for the coming term.

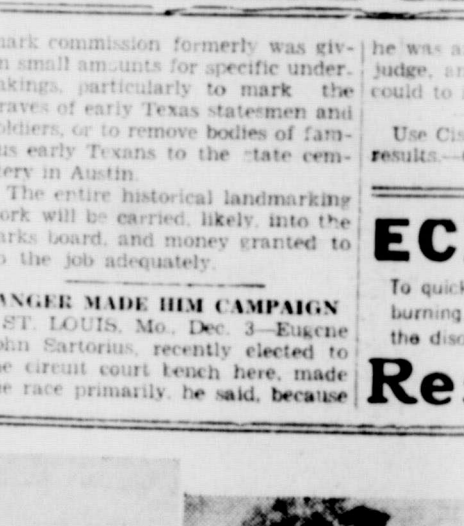

It will be with a practiced hand that Lieut. Gov. Walter P. Woodall grasps the gavel to preside over the senate in January. He has served two terms as senator; has been president pro tem of the body, and has occupied the chair many times. He is good-natured, but has a caustic wit, and holds a tight rein over dilatory tactics and the tendency of senators to get proceedings out of control. He will dispatch business; but will keep the friendship of his old colleagues and of the new members.

Robert Lee Robbitt, former attorney general, will occupy a position of unique influence and leadership in the incoming administration of his friend, James V. Allred. . . Allred once defeated him for attorney general, but when Allred ran for governor, Robbitt was on the stump, vigorously campaigning for him.

If Mr. Robbitt wants any state office, it is a safe guess that he will get it, but the probabilities are that he, with a heavy law practice and with the satisfaction of having held the second highest state office, will remain in private life, rather than taking any state office other than that which he holds as a member of one of the college boards of regents.

The state is in for one merger of official agencies. . . the state parks board and the landmark and historical commission. The parks board has been directed to beautify and improve the state, but was given no money with which to do it. The land

THE NEW FANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

CREW IS SAVED FROM SINKING LAKE STEAMER

MUSEGON, Mich., Dec. 3.—While gale waves lashed at them and a 50-mile an hour blizzard threatened to tear them loose, 25 sailors crawled to safety over a narrow strand of rope today while their steamer Seas which swept one man

The sailors, crew and captain of the freighter, Henry Cort, had settled all night in the cabin of their ship while it pounded to pieces on a breaker.

At dawn coastguardsmen made their sixth attempt to reach the steamer. Seas which swept one man to his death in the night, threatened to swamp the rescue boat.

The guardsmen rowed into the lee of the breaker while hundreds lined up on the shore cheered. They shot a line to the Cort and made the rescue.

A breeches buoy carried some of the men to the breaker from their ship. Others braved the sea and wind by crawling hand-over-hand from ship to safety. Last to leave the ship in maritime tradition, Charles Cox, captain of the ship.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

NEW YORK.—"I read Harry Mehre's story with a great deal of interest," writes Bill Spaulding, the former Minnesota mentor who is completing a decade at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Spaulding refers to the Georgia tutor's remarks about the smaller southern schools making it tough for the big fellows. "There no longer is a Dixie oasis where championship aspirants can rest and doctor up their wounds."

"Mehre should be out here on the west coast," says Spaulding. "A new football team has appeared on the horizon of the Pacific Coast. This squad, the Dons of the University of San Francisco, coached by Spud Lewis, former star of Stanford University, has played good football for the past two years, and this year it might be stated that it has arrived."

Early in the season the Dons beat Oregon State on Oregon State's home ground by 9-0, and to show that this was no fluke victory, the Catholics lost to a great Stanford team by a field goal, and to Santa Clara by a touchdown, which was the result of a fumble.

They're in the Money LOCATED in a great football center where there is an abundance of material and the best conditions, the University of San Francisco bids fair to hold its own against any competition from new men, and to say that they have arrived is putting it mildly indeed.

One of the reasons for this claim to the inner circles of the basketball sport is the fact that it saw the change its name from S...

SOUTH VIEWS NEWSPRINT AS NEW INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The combined findings of the U. S. Forest Service and an expert chemist may form the basis for a huge new industry in the South—manufacture of newsprint from Southern Pine.

The forest service is taking a census of national timber resources and up to Oct. 1 had covered more than 100,000,000 acres in Southern states; much of it in pine areas.

Dr. Charles H. Herty, chemist and research scientist, is working with Georgia on a co-operative project to determine the suitability of Southern Pine for making newsprint.

Experiment Advancing Dr. Herty is said to be well along in his experiment. The Department of Agriculture's forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., is doing work along the same lines.

If Herty's project succeeds, grounds interested in establishing the industry can employ the forest service census to determine the availability and location of suitable Southern Pine forests. The latter survey, however, will not be completed for four or five years, officials said.

Emergency funds are withdrawn and the forest service is required to fall back on the original $3,000,000 appropriation for this work it might not be finished in 20 years.

Huge Acreage Covered The first completed survey cover about 25,000,000 gross acres of hardwood area in the Mississippi Delta. Work in the South now is centered on 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 acres of long-leaf and slash pine from which are derived virtually all national naval stores such as rosin and turpentine. Some work has been done among the pine lands of Mississippi, Texas Louisiana and Tennessee, the latter in connection with TVA projects.

Forest Service officials said they had no reports on newsprint resources, but that there were several million cords below saw timber size in about 4,000,000 acres of Mississippi hardwood that could be used for pulp.

BEGIN HERE TODAY ANN HOLLISTER, pretty and 20, sells the family antiques to pay debts of her father, now dead. On the day she saw a young man stopped by motor trouble, came to her home to telephone. After she leaves Ann finds a blue note missing and in its place a note signed "P.K." and $50. She gets work as a librarian and becomes friendly with SAMUEL KENNY, also employed in the library. She meets TONY MICKLE, commercial artist, and is attracted by him, though Sarah warns her that Tony is deke and irresponsible. She sees the young man who bought the blue case and learns he is PETER KENDALL, a wealthy, powerful and cunning. He is VALENTIA BENNETT, society girl. Valeria has an sympathy with Peter's ambitious and also afraid with a wild crowd. She goes to a party at DIRK VAN BALEN's apartment one night. Peter's brother, DON, arrives and Valeria hides in a bedroom. Tony, who realizes she has left her party bag where Don will see it. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX DIRK said, "You look like a ghost." as Valeria's white face appeared through the half-open door. "Guess you need this," he added as he gave her the handkerchief. "You don't think Don recognizes it?" "I don't know. Probably not." Valeria went to a dressing table and began repairing the damage done by nervous excitement. It felt silly, letting herself so in pieces as she had. Suppose Don did say something to Peter. They would be her word against his. "Oh, hello, Valeria!" Peggy Waters had come into the room. She threw her evening wrap on the bed. "Saw Don Kendall as we came up. Was he here?" "Yes." "Who's afraid of the big bad wolf? Gosh, you're brave!" Valeria turned from the mirror. "If you have an idea that I'm going to give up all my fun before my engagement is announced you're certainly mistaken."

Lovable

Ann thought the diamond was the loveliest thing her eyes had ever dwelt on. "Of course I mean it. I'm several hundred up now. Ann. By shaving a little the next few weeks, I think I can manage that down payment. And maybe there'll be a little left over, to start housekeeping. Soon." They walked to Beckworth's after work next day. Ann was soon lost in admiration for the diamond which twinkled on her slender finger for a moment. "Gosh, a perfect fit," Tony said, while the clerk beamed in sympathy. The diamond was small and square, set chastely in platinum. Ann thought it was the loveliest thing her eyes had ever dwelt on. "I'll be back before Christmas," Tony told the clerk. "By Christmas Eve anyway." ANN was so happy she could scarcely wait to tell Sarah. "I felt terribly when Tony first talked about getting a ring. I didn't want him to spend all that money when I could do without it. But the ring has come to be a symbol now—a symbol of Tony's ability to make good his promises—and sacrifice if necessary." "Don't worry about Tony spending money on your ring," Sarah said grimly. "If he doesn't spend it that way, he will some other way. Believe me, when Mac and I are married I'll encourage him to think of me. Men love women lots more if they're not too easy on them." Ann suspected there was logic behind Sarah's reasoning. But it was becoming increasingly difficult to be hard on Tony, increasingly
