Ready To Eat Some Hot Dogs?

Nothing sets July 4th apart in Bailey County like the annual Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture's Independence Day Parade, fireworks and hotdogs... lots of hotdogs.

Although all of the events planned for this year's festivities have yet to be finalized, three things you can depend on this year are the parade, fireworks — because recent rains have forestalled the enactment of a burn ban, and the annual Muleshoe Journal Hot Dog Eating Contest.

This will be the third year for the hot dog eating contest.

The contest, which will be held at 11 a.m., after the July 4 parade, in the parking lot of the Bailey County Courthouse, will pit adults — 16 years of age and above, and juveniles between the ages of 10 and 15 years, against each other in a gastronomic frenzy for the title and trophy of Hot Dog Eating champion.

Last year, Dallas Tosh captured the adult division title, while the juvenile division title claimed by Malachi Rodriguez.

"It was a neat event," someone said following the first year competition, obviously not referring to the contestants' table manners.

Registration forms for the hotdog eating contest are available at the Muleshoe Journal office, 201 W. Ave. C.

There is no charge to enter the contest.

Some of the long established events at the Muleshoe Independence Day celebration, such as the Jennyslippers' Muleshoe Pitching Tournament is expected to be held as well.

And Chief Deputy Julian Domingez has announced that a volley ball tournament with teams from local emergency service agencies and local businesses is scheduled.

Individuals, organizations and businesses wishing to enter the Independence Day parade should contact the chamber of

Another Bike Tour Completed

The Muleshoe Heritage Foundation's 20th annual "Tour de Muleshoe Bike Ride" was held Saturday, June 12, with individual and team cyclists gathering to enjoy the day while traveling through the Bailey County area.

While the Journal's attempts to contact foundation officials was unsuccessful, the number of riders participating in this year's event appeared to be lower than in recent years, possibly due to the heavy rain the area received the previous evening.

Pictured on the right, one of the tour's smallest participants receives a chauffeured ride as he approaches the intersection of American Blvd. and First Street.

Earth Tops Sales Tax List

Lamb County communities filled the top and bottom ranks in this month's sales tax allocations, according to information received from the Texas State Comptrollers' office.

The City of Littlefield brought in the most sales tax for the month — as is expected considering its larger business base.

However, it also showed the smallest amount of growth with a large 23.09 percent decrease in the size of its sales tax allocation compared to the same period last year.

On the other hand, Earth shows the largest percentage of growth at 35.12 percent, representing an increase of $972.22.

Olton followed Earth with a 31.83 percent increase.

Both Littlefield and Olton have a sales tax rate of 2 percent, while Earth remains at 1.5 percent.

Of the 10 communities monitored by the Muleshoe Journal, only six — including Muleshoe and Earth remain at the 1.5 percent level.

Along with Olton and Littlefield, Bovina and Farwell are at a 2 percent sales tax rate.

As for Muleshoe, the Bailey County seat joins with three other area communities in showing a slight — .47

Movie Time Success

The Muleshoe Youth Advisory Committee's "Movie in the Park" drew a large crowd on the evening of Thursday, June 12. This year's event — the first of three scheduled for the summer, experienced a brief delay when the lights from a little league game made viewing of the outdoor screen impossible. Pictured above a young movie-goer pauses in his popcorn consumption long enough for a photograph.

Even If Fidgeting Is Genetic, A Little Rest Is Divine

Scientists have discovered, I'm told, a gene for "fidgeting." I guess I've got it.

When sitting down with your legs crossed, do you find your in-the-air foot speed-wiggling for no apparent reason?

Has your spouse surprised you by suddenly erupting in your presence, "Will you stop clicking that pen!"?

You didn't realize you'd committed any crime — well, at least, not that one — but there you were, guilty as sin, nailed for incessantly and quite unconsciously rapid-fire firing off a pen-clicking mechanism.

Answer yes to those questions and, yes, you, too, carry the fidgeting gene.

I suppose fidgeters should form a victims' group. Our society loves victims. There could be money in this. Surely our fidgeting is not our own fault. Who to sue?

If you're a fidgeter, I guess you could try to overcome genetics by cutting down on your coffee intake. I've thought about cutting back to one pot.

But that approach seems fraught with danger. I can't imagine how anyone could expect to write anything coherent or, for that matter, think two logical thoughts in a row, without the beneficent aid of a cup or a few of dark-roasted brew.

How many sermons have crashed on take-off even at the composition stage, long before they reached the pulpit, because the reckless sermonizer was short of coffee?

How many columns and essays have decomposed even as they were being composed, simply because the writer was so undisciplined and lax in his craft, so criminally careless with the precious words

Without a doubt, politics... and religious beliefs... often result in strange bedfellows.

Such is the case this past week as leaders within the nation of Iran announced that the "Great Western Devil... America," and more specifically the United States, isn't quite the devil they've declared it to be for more than two decades.

That's right. The nation whose former president denounced the United States before the United Nations with passion similar to that of the former USSR's shoe-pounding Nikita Khrushchev, has reportedly stated a willingness to ally with the United States against the al-Qaida militants who are even now threatening to overcome Iraq's government.

As we said... strange bedfellows.

As of this week,

entrusted to his care, that he tried, without the aid of coffee, to send them down the runway and expect them to fly?

One wonders.

Besides that, the list of the health benefits of coffee-drinking just keep piling up. Google it.

(By the way, did you notice that butter has now been pardoned by the food police? Cheesecake will surely be next!)

Ah, but how to deal with fidgeting?

I'm told that some fidgeters, trying to bravely bear up under the weight of their affliction, enter the ministry. That way they rarely have to sit through an entire sermon.

For about two nanoseconds, I thought I had the answer: "Fidgeters Anonymous." But that'll never work. Not the anonymous part. Everyone around us already knows who we are.

But it would be a great club! (We could meet at Starbucks.) I couldn't prove it, but I'll betcha dollars to java-dunked donuts that both the Apostles Peter (jumping out of a boat to water-walk) and Paul (rapid-fire, take-no-prisoners prose) would be honored posthumous members.

God created, and loves, both fidgeters and non-fidgeters. Both groups have inherent strengths and weaknesses.

But in the not-so-anonymous Fidgeters' Club, we probably should post prominently a framed copy of God's Fourth Commandment.

The Almighty seems to think we all need to this country's administration has expressed a similar openness to the idea of joining forces with Iran to combat the al-Qaida incursion.

It's one of those cases in which "the enemy of my enemy is my friend."

At the heart of the current situation is the fact that the al-Qaida force follows the Sunni beliefs of Islam while the Iranian government is Shiite.

Add to that fact the information that the Iraq-Iranian war of Saddam Hussein's day was based upon this religious difference — along with the fact that Hussein's government was victimizing Iraq's Shiite population, and you get an idea of where the Iranian's willingness to "shake hands with the devil" arises.

From the United State's side of the coin, you have the possibility of thousands of US lives and billions of US dollars being uselessly tossed aside should the militants who have already taken several of Iraq's major cities gain control of the nation.

In light of recent events, it's easy to see that peace in the region — and ultimately around the world, doesn't have a chance unless the current situation is resolved.

The al-Qaida militants are following the pattern of behavior demonstrated by their associates in Egypt and Syria — the execution of those who don't follow their particular denominational beliefs.

In Syria and Egypt, Christians are reportedly being murdered by members of the al-Qaida-backed jihadists.

And in the Iraqi territories currently being held by the militants reports of thousands of Shiites and governmental supporters being summarily executed has stunned the world.

A decision has to be made by our government... and quickly. People are dying.

But, in reaching this decision and any possible alliance, our national leaders need to understand that other existing treaties and alliances can't be thrown under the bus.

In other words, in its protection of the rightful government of Iraq, the administration must also remember that Iran's refusal to even acknowledge the right of Israel to exist is a continuing obstacle to peace in the region.

Even in its protection of Iraq, the United States cannot abandon Israel.

When Can My Child Ride in Front?

We are all guilty of occasionally rewarding our children's good behavior with special indulgences.

Think about the extra candy bar or the special trip to the fast food restaurant to be entertained with not so healthy treats.

But perhaps the most dangerous reward parents give their children is letting the child ride in the front seat.

The truth is that the back seat is always a safer choice — not just for children but for everyone!

Most crashes are frontal crashes, so just by virtue of being in the back seat you are further away from the point of impact.

Children are not just small adults. Their bones and ligaments are still developing, and they are more vulnerable to crash forces than a full-grown adult.

Studies have shown that restrained children in rear seats have the lowest risk of dying in fatal crashes. Even in side-impact crashes, properly restrained children in the back seat do better than children sitting in the front.

Frontal air bags can also pose a danger to children, just as they can to small adults.

So what is the minimum age when a child can ride in the front seat?

The American Academy of Pediatrics continues to recommend that children under 13 years of age sit in the back seat for the best protection.

Children under 13 are always safer buckled up in the back seat in the appropriate car seat for their age or a seat belt if they are big enough to fit correctly.

Unfortunately, the law in Texas does not address seating positions. The law simply states that children under age 8, unless taller than 4 feet-9 inches, must be in a child safety seat according to manufacturers' instructions.

The law is always the minimum. Parents and caregivers want the maximum safety for their children.

Kathy Carr, Texas A & M AgriLife Extension Service agent in Bailey County, reminds parents and caregivers to keep children rear-facing until age two or until the limit of their rear-facing convertible seat is reached, which is usually 35-40 pounds.

Also, children should stay in a five-point percent, representing a $205.08 — decrease in sales tax revenue.

Regarding the year-to-date totals, Olton's percentage of increase is at 43.41 percent, representing $26,544.76 additional sales tax collected.

The lowest percentage of increase for Y-T-D totals was Littlefield with 7.08 decrease compared to the same period in 2013.

As for Muleshoe, it's Y-T-D totals show a 6.49 percent increase, representing $17,977.47 in additional revenue collected.

Littlefield's numbers show a $41,362.49 decrease for the year.

The only other community to list a decrease in its Y-T-D total is Dimmitt with 2.87 percent fewer tax dollars.

The June sales tax allocations reflect taxes collected in April and submitted to the state in May.

According to Texas Comptroller Susan Combs, the state sales tax revenue in May was $2.45 billion, up 8.5 percent compared to May 2013.

"Sales tax growth was evident across all major economic sectors," Combs said.

"The growth was led by the retail and wholesale trade sectors, the oil and natural gas mining sector, and the services sector," she said.

"This marks the 50th consecutive month of increased state sales tax revenues, and brings the fiscal year-to-date growth to 5.4 percent," Combs added.

Comb's office will send cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts their June local sales tax allocations totaling $621.5 million, up 11.6 percent compared to June 2013.

Weather Whys: What Are Dry Lines

Q: You often hear the weatherman talk about a "dry line." What is it?
A: Simply put, a dry line is very much like a cold front, says Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University. "It's sort of a boundary between very humid air and air that is dry," McRoberts explains. "The difference reaches the height of 4 feet-9 inches at age 11. Next time you are thinking about rewarding your child, think about treating them like a VIP and keeping them in the back seat. "The advances of dry lines can adversely affect the weather in your area as they pass through," he says. Q: Does a dry line mean rain is coming?

A: Very often, that is the case, McRoberts says. "Clouds often form along dry lines during the afternoon and these can grow into thunderstorms," he points out. "Dry lines typically

Sudan ISD Welcomes New Staff Members

By Cheri Sain

Sudan ISD is proud to welcome the new staff members for the upcoming 2014-2015 school year.

Since Gordon Martin was named the new high school principal, the head football coach's position was awarded to Guthry Edwards.

Coach Corey Wallace and Coach Dean Edwards also left the school district to pursue other ventures.

That left three coaches' positions open to fill. The school has hired Jeff Barker and Erik Edwards to be PE/assistant coaches for the next school year.

Erik Edwards graduated from Sudan. The district also hired Jason Josselet to be the next head boys basketball coach.

After the departure of Ag/FFA teacher Drew Turner, Trent Houchin was hired to fill his teaching position.

Houchin has taught at Olton High School before coming to Sudan.

Forage Insurance Sign-Up Deadline Set For Mid-July

In spite of recent rains, livestock producers may be considering adding a layer of protection against drought loss on annual forage crops, and the deadline to sign up for that insurance is approaching, according to a Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service specialist.

The Rainfall Index - Annual Forage

Insurance plan, referred to as RI-AF, is a risk policy designed to provide livestock producers the ability to buy protection against losses due to a lack of moisture, said DeDe Jones, AgriLife Extension risk management specialist in Amarillo.

The sign-up deadline for RI-AF is July 15 for the fall growing season — Sept. 1, 2014, through March 31, 2015, and Dec. 15 for the spring season — March 1 to Sept. 30, 2015.

All premium payments are due by Aug. 30, 2015.

Jones said RI-AF is similar to Pasture Range and Forage Insurance, or PRF insurance, but the difference lies in the type of commodity covered.

PRF covers perennial grasses such as pasture and hay, while RI-AF is strictly for annual forage crops, including winter small grains, such as wheat, oats, rye and triticale, and spring plantings such as sudan, haygrazer and millet.

Under both insurance plans, payment is not determined by individual damages, but rather area losses based on a grid system, she said.

A major difference between the two policies is that PRF allows producers to insure only a portion of their acreage, but RI-AF requires coverage on all certified acres not intended for grain production.

Producers must also choose a maximum of three two-month intervals per growing season per year, Jones said.

Insured acres are then spread between time periods, with no more than 40 percent of the acres placed in any interval.

Coverage levels between 70 and 90 percent are available, she said.

Once coverage is selected, the producer chooses a productivity factor between 60 and 150 percent.

The productivity factor is a percentage of the established county base value for annual forage.

Base value is a standard rate published by the Risk Management Agency for each county.

The Rainfall Index determines RI-AF coverage, Jones said.

This model uses National Oceanic and Atmospheric Climate Prediction Center data and a 12-by-12-mile grid system.

Indemnities are calculated based on the deviation from normal precipitation within a grid for a specific period selected.

Providing Certainty To Farmers

As a former small business owner, I understand the difficulties of long-term planning.

That's why I voted last week for a bill to provide more certainty in the U.S. tax code.

America's Small Business Tax Relief Act of 2014 helps business owners and farmers expense new equipment and invest in growing their business.

It sets permanent, higher expensing limits under Section 179 of the tax code.

It allows small businesses to deduct up to $500,000 of investments in new equipment in one year, instead of over time, making it easier for them to make decisions about a big purchase.

This is especially important for farmers, who rely on increasingly expensive agricultural equipment to feed and clothe America.

Earlier this year, I wrote a letter to Congressional Leaders pushing to extend Section 179 expensing levels to provide certainty for our small business owners and farmers.

I'm proud the House passed this common-sense bill to allow them to invest in their own growth, and spend more resources producing and creating American jobs.

Ensuring Rural Veterans' Access to Health Care

We keep learning more and more about the expansive scope of the VA's unconscionable neglect of our veterans. Our efforts to hold the Administration accountable are vital.

But my top priority right now is ensuring our veterans get the care they need and deserve. Last week, I supported a bill to expand veterans' options in receiving care.

The Veterans Access to Care Act requires the VA to sponsor private care for any veteran who can't get an appointment within 14 days.

More importantly for West Texans, the VA would be required to do the same for any veteran living more than 40 miles from a VA medical facility under this bill.

This means less wait time, shorter travel time, and more access to care. It also promotes accountability in the VA by prohibiting performance bonuses for VA staff until at least 2017.

Fourteen years ago, the Muleshoe ISD Board of Trustees authorized the creation of the Muleshoe Opportunity Scholarship Trust (M.O.S.T.). This local scholarship fund was established to ensure that every Muleshoe High School graduate would receive a scholarship that would allow him or her to begin a course of study in higher education. At the end of May, the Muleshoe community had donated a total of $20,782. That enabled us to make sure EVERY Muleshoe High School graduate received a $500 scholarship to attend a university, college, or trade school.

We want to thank the community of Muleshoe and friends of the school that gave so generously to support this worthy cause. We appreciate the Muleshoe School Board for its leadership in allowing us to pursue this goal. We want to say thank you to the volunteers and students that made posters and donated services and did hundreds of other details that were necessary to complete this project. This truly is an investment in the future of our children and the future of our community. We can all be proud to live in a community that gives so generously to support its youth.

FCCLA Members Attend Leadership Camp

By Cheri Sain
Sudan Correspondent

Two members of the Sudan Chapter of Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) attended the June Leadership Officer Camp in Navasota this past week.

Senior Brianna Azua and Sophomore Nereida Trillo are regional officers for the State of Texas and represent more than 65 counties in the state reaching from El Paso to the top of the Texas Panhandle.

Azua will serve as Region I Vice President of Competitive Events, and Trillo will serve as Region I Vice President of Projects.

These officers joined officers from around the state from all five regions and the state officers to plan the state and regional meetings, learn how to conduct their offices, and gain leadership skills.

Trillo and Azua served on the state executive council that decides the theme for next year and votes on major decisions that affect the entire state.

Once state executive council business was finished, the rest of the week was devoted to regional meeting business and committee work.

Azua served as chairperson for the competitive events committee and reported their work at the general executive meeting at the conclusion of camp.

Trillo served on the projects committee at the regional level.

On the last night of camp, officers were given a banquet where one of the state's national officer candidates gave her speech in preparation for the national convention.

Azua was chosen to introduce the speaker and was given a place at the head table.

These two officers will be very busy this summer and next school year.

Trillo is volunteering to help at the FCCLA Summer Summits at the Lubbock and Amarillo Education Service Centers.

Azua is attending the national convention to serve as a room consultant in STAR Events and to help host different states as they make their way to Texas.

Both officers will give workshops at fall leadership meetings at three different schools, and they will give presentations at area schools and Sudan school functions.

Nereida Trillo, FCCLA Adviser Cheri Sain, and Brianna Azua, pictured above, attend the Texas FCCLA June Leadership Camp in Navasota this past week.

FCCLA is a dynamic youth organization that has the family as its central focus.

Student leaders of Texas FCCLA use their skills from the classroom and this organization in order to become effective leaders of tomorrow in all types of industry including architecture and construction, arts, a/v technology and communication, education and training, hospitality and tourism, and human services.

The United States: A Nation In Need Of Repentance

Our nation is a nation in need of repentance.

In Deuteronomy 28, Moses told God's chosen people what they could expect if they were disobedient.

While Moses told the Israelites their obedience would be blessed, he spent more time in detailing the things that would result from Israel's disobedience.

This is important because when God finally had enough, and Jerusalem was destroyed and most of its people being carried off into captivity at Babylon, Jeremiah sat down and composed his lamentation, a dirge... a poem detailing his sorrow, that was written in response to specific events predicted by Moses 900 years earlier.

But what does this have to do with us today, with July 4, 2014, approaching, you ask?

Well, as we approach the annual celebration of Independence Day, and all that it means, I want you to also recognize that we are in a position that is dreadfully close to that of Israel just prior to the tragedies which Jeremiah spoke of in the Book of Lamentations... warnings that Moses spoke of almost a millennium earlier.

We have always known that our fate as a nation, and in fact the fates of all nations, are tied to that of Israel.

Something that is even more significant considering the current situation in the Middle East.

In Genesis 28:14, God spoke of this relationship saying, "All peoples on earth will be blessed through you and your offspring."

It was God's decision that the nation of Israel would be an example for all other nations, which means we as a nation can compare the potential of our nation to that of Israel's.

The Nation of Israel was selected by God for special blessings. Even before it could be called a nation, God made a covenant with Abraham and promised that Abraham would father a great nation.

Later, God protected his chosen people from drought and famine by sending them into Egypt, and once his people were ready to return to Canaan, God brought them out. But through it all, God asked for their obedience.

Deuteronomy 28:1, NIV, says, "If you fully obey the Lord your God and carefully follow all his commands I give you today, the Lord your God will set you high above all the nations on earth."

In just a couple of weeks, we will be celebrating Independence Day here in Muleshoe and across the nation.

We will be celebrating the signing of the Declaration of Independence, but as any parent can tell their children, who are struggling to achieve their own independence, with great responsibilities.

While there has been debate about how deep was the faith of our founding fathers, the simple truth is that at the time this country was founded, the majority of this nation's leaders not only believed in God's existence, but also worshipped God.

Psalms 33:12, NIV, says, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord."

Through a spectacular chain of events, the United State grew from 13 colonies huddled together on the western shore of the Atlantic Ocean into what is arguably the most powerful nation on the face of Earth.

Just as he did the Nation of Israel, God

The Gift of Fatherhood

Mark Twain once wrote, "When I was a boy of 14, my father was so ignorant I could hardly stand to have the old man around. But when I got to be 21, I was astonished at how much he had learned in seven years."

Certainly, when you're young, you tend to think you know best. Your parents' advice can appear out-of-touch and tone-deaf.

You have to remind them, you're 14, and you've lived.

You know a thing or two about a thing or two. You can figure things out on your own.

I know, because I've been the father to two teenage girls, and I also know because I was once a 14-year-old kid who thought he had it all figured out.

Today, I would give anything to have my father here and to be able to bend his ear when I'm facing a challenge. But I'm grateful I had in my life for many years and I'm thankful for the example he set and the lessons he taught me.

A B-17 pilot in World War II, serving in the Army-Air Corps, my father was shot down on his 26th mission over Germany.

He was captured and spent the last four months of the war in a German prisoner of war camp until he and his fellow POW's were freed by General

Patton's troops.

My father instilled in me a deep respect for our men and women in uniform and for the sacrifices that are made to ensure America is the safest, freest nation in the world.

He taught me the value of hard work and service to others. He taught me that the most important hero you can be is a hero to your children.

This Father's Day, I'll be thinking of the many fathers who have lost children serving in the War on Terror, as well as the children whose dads have made the ultimate sacrifice for our security and our well-being.

Their loss can never be replaced, but it is my hope that as a community, we show them our gratitude every day and live our lives in a way that honors their loved ones' sacrifice.

While there is no greater gift than fatherhood, in turn there is no greater investment we can make in the lives of our children than to be a loving and involved dad.

One Texas father recently took an incredible risk to show his love for his son. Dennis Terry, of Clear Lake City, suffered from kidney stones and other health conditions that had kept him from donating his kidney to his 21-year-old son, Tyler, who had sustained lasting damage to his kidneys as a newborn and required a transplant at the age of 18.

Doctors had told Dennis it would endanger his health to give his kidney to his son and refused to carry out the transplant.

But after Tyler spent several years waiting on a donor list, Dennis sought a second opinion and found a team of doctors at Houston Methodist who were willing to perform the operation.

Just last month, Dennis and Tyler underwent a successful transplant.

Dennis said he was not only able to give his son a gift, but he also received one in return: "I look at it even differently because I think that I was given something. I was given the opportunity to take care of him. And so I think it was a gift for me."

May every father feel blessed by the gift of fatherhood this Father's Day and may we each do our part to be a positive role model in the lives of young people.

- Should a contestant be observed hiding his or her hot dogs, dropping them in part or in whole under the table, or placing them on another contestant's plate the guilty contestant will be deemed in performance of a "picnic violation," as determined by an eating judge, and receive an additional hot dog for consumption.

Plans for Planting!
 Gardens and farmers' fields.

Plants grow naturally around the world. They grow where they can survive. You will find a water lily in a swampy area, a cactus in a desert and a pine tree near the top of a mountain. Sometimes we want to enjoy different kinds of plants in our own yards or homes, so we help them grow and thrive by adapting the environments in our gardens to their needs. What does your family plant?

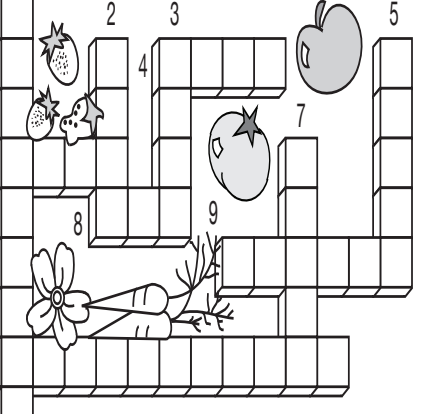

I love to dig!
 Scratch! Scratch!

Can you find and circle 10 words that have 4 or more syllables?

We love to have plants around us all year long! We can build structures like hothouses that let us garden even in cold, snowy weather. Many cities, towns and businesses have special gardens. Can you match these to their definitions?

The Senate passed a similar bill last week. I'm hopeful we can work out any differences between the two versions quickly, so this important reform can be signed into law and our veterans can receive the care they deserve.

Named a 'Taxpayer Hero'

One of my main goals in Washington has always been to rein in the federal government and hold it accountable to you, particularly in how your tax dollars are spent. I put this into practice each time I look at a new bill or proposal — my first question is how the bill will affect the taxpayers in the 19th District.

I'm proud to have been recognized by the Citizens Against Government Waste as a 'Taxpayer Hero' for 2013.

I've been recognized for these efforts in the past, and I promise to continue fighting to spend your tax dollars wisely.

Mosquitos Raise Possibility Of Feline Heartworm Disease

Heartworm disease is transmitted to an animal through the bite of a mosquito carrying heartworm larvae, which eventually settle into the blood vessels of the lungs or within the heart itself.

Although cats are less susceptible than dogs to heartworm infection, our feline friends are still very much at risk of heartworm disease.

"Cats have some innate resistance to infection, and the worms seem to prefer living in dogs rather than in cats," said Dr. Audrey Cook, an associate professor at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences.

"In addition, the tests we traditionally use in dogs, such as the Knotts test and heartworm antigen tests, are not very sensitive in cats as the number of worms is much lower."

Dr. Cook explains that though more sensitive tests are now available, cats are still not routinely screened for infection.

It is highly likely that many cats are infected but are simply not identified.

Although it is more probable for outdoor cats to come into contact with infected mosquitoes, indoor cats still have a not-insignificant chance of contracting the infection.

"As infection requires a bite from an infected mosquito, indoor cats are less at risk overall," said Dr. Cook.

"However, we do still see this disease in strictly indoor cats, most likely occurring when an infected mosquito gets inside of the house and then bites the cat." Some of the most common heartworm disease symptoms include frequent coughing, weight loss, vomiting, lethargy, and difficulty breathing.

However, since many of the symptoms mimic those of asthma and other disorders, affected patients may be misdiagnosed.

"Although some cats are diagnosed because they show some of the clinical signs and the veterinarian then performs the appropriate tests, many cats are diagnosed with heartworm disease after suddenly dying and only then finding the worms in the heart or lungs," said Dr. Cook.

"The blood tests available have substantial limitations, and we sometimes only confirm the diagnosis by visualizing a worm in the heart using echocardiography."

If a veterinarian suspects heartworm disease in a cat, he or she is likely to recommend radiographs (X-rays) of the chest, along with antigen and antibody testing.

Depending on these results, an echocardiogram (ultrasound examination of the heart) may be indicated.

Unfortunately, there are currently no approved treatments for feline heartworm disease.

Veterinarians often recommend using medications to limit clinical signs such as coughing, and starting cats on preventative medications in order to stop future infection and hasten worm death.

"In addition, an antibiotic called doxycycline may be prescribed to the cat, as it is also thought to weaken the worms and hasten their death," said Dr. Cook.

However, sometimes the death of the worm causes an acute and fatal reaction in the cat, so it is a very difficult disease for us to deal with." Indoor or outdoor, young or old, every cat is vulnerable to heartworm disease.

Since there are no available treatments for this widespread infection, preventative medications administered on a regular basis are a must for protecting your feline friend.

has truly blessed this nation.

Thomas Jefferson said, "The God who gave us life gave us liberty at the same time."

There has never been a nation that has benefited more from God's grace than this one.

With Israel's greatness came problems... problems that resulted from Israel's disobedience.

However, through the ages, God's chosen people repeatedly turned from him, and gave their lives over to idolatry and disobedience.

But many here in the United States are faced with the same problem.

In the years following World War II, the United States achieved prominence and prestige throughout the world.

But, since that time, our power and position has been on a roller coaster.

And today, many of our leaders support the passage of legislation that is in direct opposition to God's written word.

There have been great achievements in most areas of life and technology, but as great as they may be, few... if any, are leading us closer to God.

God had a centuries-old relationship with Israel, and yet God found it necessary to discipline them.

Should we then be surprised that this nation of sinners should also face God's punishment?

Doesn't the Bible tell us that God will chastise us as individuals because he loves us.

A French historian once said, "America is great because America is good. If America ever ceases to be good it will cease to be great."

Just as Israel was punished for turning its back on God, so will our nation be punished. It's not a case of "will it happen," it's a case of "when will it happen."

While Independence Day will remain as a time of celebration, it is time for us to remember that only through God's blessings were we able to accomplish it in the first place.

2 Chronicles 7:14, NIV, says "If my people who are called by my name will humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land."

If there was ever a land that need's God's healing, it is this one.

As we go forth this week, let us also keep this nation in our prayers, for only through obedience to God do we have a chance of remaining free and independent.
