Eli Leal drove down the lane against Floydada Tuesday and was fouled in the act of shooting.

He hit the floor hard and shot his free throws but was not able to play the rest of the game nor in the Dimmitt Tournament.

The rest of the team stepped up their game and the Mules defeated the Floydada Whirlwinds 70-41.

The Mules defeated the Plainview JV 42-41 in the opening game of the Dimmitt Tournament.

The Mules lost their next two games to the Water Valley Wildcats 53-47 and Littlefield 69-48.

Matt Barron led the Mules in scoring against the Floydada Whirlwinds with 21 points.

Blaine Hurtado added nine points, Nacho Elizalde dropped in eight and Blayne

UPS Driver Honored As Hero

Muleshoe United Parcel Service delivery person Raymond Robertson was recently honored country-wide as a "UPS hero" at a formal gathering in Las Vegas, Nev.

In October, Robertson was honored by the Bailey County Commissioners' Court, and the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture, for his part in saving the life of Marcus Delgado on Sept. 18.

On that fateful day, Robertson pulled Delgado from the burning cab of the semi-tractor trailer after it was struck by a train, and prior to the cab's explosion.

"You will always have a place in our hearts," Delgado's wife,

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robertson

Josephina, said during the awards presentation held in the Bailey County courtroom.

In Las Vegas, four standout UPSers — including Robertson, who were showcased as part of the UPS 'Hero' story series on UPSers.com were selected based on the positive feedback received.

Each individual was invited, along with a guest, to attend the event, according to Sara Everett of UPS.

"They received airfare, hotel, and a gift card for additional travel expenses," Everett said.

"In addition, they were able to attend the exclusive NASCAR Awards Banquet at the UPS table for a unique experience

Olton topped the area sales tax chart for December, according to the numbers released by the Texas State Comptroller's office.

This month, Earth brought up the back of the pack with a decrease of 18.44 percent, a drop of $891.26.

As for Sudan, it may have "roared" to the front of the sales tax pack in last month's percentage of increase, but it returned this month with a bit of a whimper.

The Christmas Key

By Larry Thornton
Part 5

Far to the south, Toby awakened from a nightmare. The shadow figures she'd dreamed about a week earlier had returned, only this time they seemed closer and more menacing.

For a moment, she considered getting up and going into her parents' room. It had been years since she'd sought the safety and security of their bed. And while 10 years of age might be a brave age during the middle of the day, when the darkness turned a familiar bedroom into an eerie cave and lace curtains became spider webs, something had to be done.

How she wished she'd plugged in a night light... something to chase away the shadows.

Toby braced herself, and was about to through back the covers and race to her parents' room when her bedroom door opened slowly. Toby inhaled sharply.

"Honey, it's me," Toby's mother said softly.

"I heard you wake up. Are you okay?"

Toby's near scream turned into a sigh of relief as her mother pushed the door further open, came in and sat on the edge of the bed. "What was it, honey?" her mother asked as she caressed Toby's cheek.

"Nothing," Toby said, "just a dream."

* * * * *

Toby's dream was right about one thing, the danger was getting closer.

Sophia and Porsha cackled menacingly as they flew along, unaware that the recipient of their spell, the holder of Santa's key, was no longer the crow, Darkbeak.

As the witches crossed Lake Erie, entering U.S. airspace, the sisters were unconcerned about an encounter with the military. While the radar of meteorologists across Canada and the United States would be tracking the arrival of St. Nick in his annual journey south, in just a matter of days, Sophia and Porsha — magical mistresses that they were, were undetectable to radar.

Their arrival into northern Ohio was uneventful, still as the sun's rays peaked over the horizon they landed in a stand of trees near a small brook.

"I'll get a fire going," Sophia said. "Go get some water."

If Porsha objected to the tone in her sister's voice, she ignored it as she walked down to the brook.

Sophia gathered enough branches to build a fire and set

'If You Want To Know What A Man's Like...'

I just wanted a good story, nothing especially profound, as I was reading one of J. K. Rowling's "Harry Potter" books a few years ago.

But from the mouth of one of her characters came this bit of wisdom: "If you want to know what a man's like, take a good look at how he treats his inferiors, not his equals."

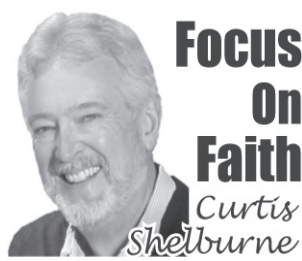

If you wonder about the quality of Pious Pete's piety, go to a restaurant with him and see if he turns into a demanding, unwilling-to-be-pleased jerk, snaps at the staff, and tip-stiffs the server.

If you want to know if the CEO of the company believes the mission statement about "valuing all employees," it might be good to notice if he knows the name of the janitor who cleans his office.

A Santa who doesn't at least make some effort to know the names of his elves' spouses and kids (and the real Santa better know 'em all!) is just a loud fat glory-hound on a sugar high.

He needs his red tail section kicked down to Central Shipping low in the Pole for a week to see how the little guys live while he's flying around in the Mark V fly-by-wire sleigh.

The real tests for most of us aren't off at the North Pole or even down at the office. They come close to home.

Focus On Faith Curtis Shelburne

The guy who sits in his recliner barking orders at his wife, or gets hoarse shouting at the kids who know to avoid him in his "moods," who has never washed a dirty dish or changed a dirty diaper in his life... The gal who fancies herself more "spiritual" than most folks around her but who most folks around her are happy to avoid...

Those folks needn't wonder if they'd pass the faith-test that would come with serious persecution; faith-tests come every day, and the most important are the ones we don't recognize as tests at all, the ones that catch us by surprise.

Who do you hold the door for at the Post Office? Who do you just walk by and never "see?"

I've failed most of those tests often, I'm sure. But as I've been singing a bunch during this season, one of many surprises has been a reminder I needed.

At several events, as I've been setting up or tearing down, guess who were the only others there?

The serving staff also setting up, cleaning up, or already re-configuring the room for the next of a jillion hot-on-their-heels Christmas gatherings.

Those workers are as human and flawed as the rest of us, and I'm sure they have their share of Grinches, but I have found myself amazed at the Christmas spirit of such folks who work longer, harder, and for less return than most of the folks they serve.

I love all the "Merry Christmases" I've received this year. The words are a simple gift, and only cost a very little breath to give.

But perhaps the most precious "Merry Christmases" I've been given this year are the heartfelt wishes kindly and generously given by these hard-working folks as I'm headed out their door.

Hmm. That calls to mind another Servant. Another Gift.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. — Luke 2:7

On Dec. 11, Texas Comptroller Susan Combs said state sales tax revenue in November was $2.41 billion, up 2.8 percent compared to November 2012.

"State sales tax revenue continues to grow at a moderate pace as expected,"

Combs said. "Sales tax collections have increased for 44 consecutive months. Revenue from sectors such as wholesale trade, services industries and restaurants contributed to the most recent increase."

Combs will send cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts their December local sales tax allocations totaling $579.6 million, up 5 percent compared to December 2012.

Weather Whys: What Is Black Ice?

A: It's not really black, but it is ice that is extremely dangerous, says Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University.

Black ice is ice that appears to be very dark or even black because it is transparent — it is reflecting the color of the asphalt on the road.

"Black ice is a thin layer of ice on the road and it often looks wet, not especially icy. So it can be hard to notice from a distance, and for this reason it is dangerous to drive or walk on," McRoberts explains.

Q: Is it more dangerous than regular ice?

A: It is almost always more dangerous, McRoberts reports. "Black ice often forms at night and early in the morning, when temperatures are low but traffic is high," he adds.

"Sunlight can often melt it because it is such a thin layer of ice, but black ice can last longer on roads that are protected by shade. One study showed it to be twice as many accidents as on roads that had packed snow.

The Christmas Key... Continued From A1

them ablaze with a snap of her fingers.

Although the morning's temperature was brisk, the fire wasn't needed for warmth. Instead they needed the ashes and water to form the small reflective pool needed to more precisely locate the key.

Porsha returned from the brook with a sphere of water bound by unseen forces between her outstretched hands. When the fire had burned down, Sophia ignored the dying embers and scooped the ashes into a mound, with a depression in its center.

With this completed, Porsha gently lowered the water into the depression, releasing the forces that held it.

The water darkened the gray ash of the depression, and with a muttered incantation by Sophia, the pool was ready.

Within moments, they had the location of the key, in what appeared to be the bedroom of a home in central Ohio.

"Either somebody had 'crow pie' for supper, or Darkbeak lost the key," Sophia said. "No matter. It's as good as ours already."

Kicking the ashes and water aside, the sisters were soon airborne again... headed for Toby's bedroom and the key.

* * * * *

Toby was excited, but then all of the students in her class were excited as they watched the clock's second hand make its final sweep around to the 12... when the bell would ring and the Christmas break would finally begin.

"Have a Merry Christmas!" her teacher said a couple of seconds before the bell brought a cheer and a dash for the door. "Walk... everybody, and no pushing," the teacher added.

Toby was one of the first out the door, thanks to alphabetical seating and her last name beginning with the letter "B."

A minute later, she was through the hallway, outside, and looking for her mother's car.

There it was, on the east side of the parking lot. Grinning widely, she waved at her mother to let her know she'd seen her before adjusting her backpack and racing to the car.

"How was school?" her mother asked.

"Great! Bobby's mother brought cupcakes and Alyssia's mother brought some cookies," Toby said.

The fact that treats were present today hadn't escaped her mother's trained eye. She reached over while Toby spoke, and wiped a spot of green icing off the rose of her daughter's left cheek.

"And your class work? Do you have any homework to do over the break?" she asked.

"No homework," Toby said, she didn't bother adding that in her opinion it would take a real witch of a teacher to assign homework over the Christmas break.

As they drove home, pulled out the key she was carrying on a string around her neck.

As she held it, a loud click announced the car's automatic door locks disengaging.

"That's odd," her mother said as she hit the button to re-lock the vehicle while it as moving. The button didn't work.

"We'll have to get your father to look at it when he gets home," she added.

* * * * *

Arriving at home, Toby had a quick lunch before heading out to play.

"Don't wander off," her mother called out to her as she was pulling the front door shut. "And don't get dirty. We have to go shopping in a little while."

Outside, Toby paused for a moment, trying to decide what she wanted to do.

No snow to shovel, mud puddles to walk through or leaf piles to jump into meant there was a fairly good chance her mother's instructions to keep clean would be obeyed.

Still it was warm enough for a bike ride.

Toby went around to the side of the house, where she kept her bicycle chained to a pole. She lifted the lock, and was about to work the combination when the lock suddenly popped open.

"That's odd," she said, mimicking the tone her mother had used in the car earlier.

Setting the chain aside, Toby climbed on and kicked off for a quick tour around the block.

She had just turned the corner, remembering to obey the traffic laws she had been taught at school, which included riding with the flow of traffic, and not against it as pedestrians did, and was coming up to vacant lot where the George's house had been prior to last year's fire, when movement to her right caught her attention.

Looking to the right, and up, she saw a sight she never thought she'd see. Sure, story books tell of it, and even movies out of Hollywood, but broom-riding witches aren't the norm in suburban Ohio.

For that matter, it's probably not the norm in Big City, Ohio, or even the strangest parts of greater Los Angeles, either.

With her jaw almost resting on her handlebars, Toby watched as the witches with their wind-blown hair landed at the edge of the vacant lot.

"Give it to us," the taller of the pair demanded.

Toby didn't bother to ask what the "it" was. Instead she was about to race away. The "Stranger Danger" program at school didn't cover attacks by flying witches, but the advice to "run... don't talk," seemed appropriate.

But a crackle of energy from the shorter witch's hand knocked both Toby and her bicycle to the ground.

"Give it to us!" the witches demanded, almost in unison.

"Ggive wwhat?" Toby stammered from a combination of fear and pain.

"The key!" said the first to speak. "Give us our key!" As she spoke, both witches moved closer. Sparks flew from between their fingertips as they stepped to the side, as if to block Toby's possible paths of escape.

Toby scrambled backward as best she could, while clutching at the key dangling from around her neck.

"This key?" she asked.

The shorter witch reached out with a clutching hand, and Toby felt as if the hand was physically wrapped around her own.

"Mine!" the witch growled.

"Ours," the first witch corrected her.

"...Ours," the shorter witch parroted her, with a brief irritated look at her companion.

Toby, her face white with fear was about to release the key to the witch's grasp when all three were surprised by a man in a light blue shirt suddenly appeared at the taller witch's side and shoved her into the other, sending both to the ground.

Then turning, Mr. Whiffle, the mailman, ran to Toby's side, lifted her to her feet, and said, "Run!"

Toby ran. Mr. Whiffle wasn't far behind, his letter bag still hanging from his shoulder.

One of the witches, fired a bolt of energy at him, hitting his bag and causing Whiffle to stagger, but he kept on running.

"It's a good day for junk mail," he thought to himself as he glanced at the smoldering bag that taken the brunt of the attack.

Toby and Mr. Whiffle reached her parent's front yard, and raced for the front porch and door when a flash of light set them back on their heels.

The witches, arms extended, and eyes blazing blocked their way.

This time, there was no demand for the key.

Mr. Whiffle took Toby's arm, and pulled her behind him, shielding her as best he could with his body, and shielding himself with the letter bag.

"It's against the law to interfere with the delivery of the US mail," he said, doing his best to sound indignant.

"What care we about man's laws?" the taller witch said. "Porsha, I've got him. You get the girl and the key... and don't destroy the key."

The shorter witch nodded.

With a sweep of her arm, the taller witch began to gather the energy she needed to totally destroy the mailman, when a loud "Hoonk!" and a flurry of white feathers came to rest between the witches and their intended victims.

A large snow goose, its head nearly as high as the mailman's, looked menacingly at the witches as an elf jumped from the saddle on its back, pulling a book from the leather pouch he carried.

Before the witches could speak or react, the elf began to read from the book:

"Und sie gebar ihren ersten Sohn und wickelte ihn in Windeln und legte ihn in eine Krippe; denn sie hatten sonst keinen Raum in der Herberge. Und es waren Hirten in derselben Gegend auf dem Felde bei den Hÿrden, die hÿteten des Nachts ihre Herde. Und siehe, des HERRN Engel trat zu ihnen, und die Klarheit des HERRN leuchtete um sie; und sie fÿrchteten sich sehr," the elf read.

With a shriek, the witches disappeared with the sound of thunder, as the air filled the space they occupied a half second earlier.

"Wow!" was all Toby could say.

"Thanks for your help," Whiffle said. "You must be Sandy. The boss sent a message you would be picking it up."

Sandy nodded his acknowledgement. "And this is Elwood," he added.

"Elwoo... a name amathhing name, for an amathhing goothe," the bird said.

Toby was nearly as stunned by the large goose speaking as she was by the witches' disappearance. In the back of her mind, she remembered what her grandfather had said about crows. "Just because an animal hasn't talked to you, doesn't mean it can't."

"Hello, Elwood," Mr. Whiffle said, taking a moment to shake the goose's extended wing.

"Do you have the key?" Sandy asked.

"I don't, but she does," Whiffle said. "I was headed over to retrieve it when I saw the witches attacking her."

Sandy nodded again and turned to the still wide-eyed girl at the postman's side. "Hello, Tabitha," he said. "I'm Sandy."

For the first time in years, Toby didn't comment on somebody using her correct name. "Hello," she said meekly.

"I understand you have a special key," the elf said. "It belongs to Santa, and he needs it back."

"He really does exist," Toby said.

Former Sudan Instructor To Be With Honored Scholarship Fund

By Cheri Sain
Sudan Correspondent

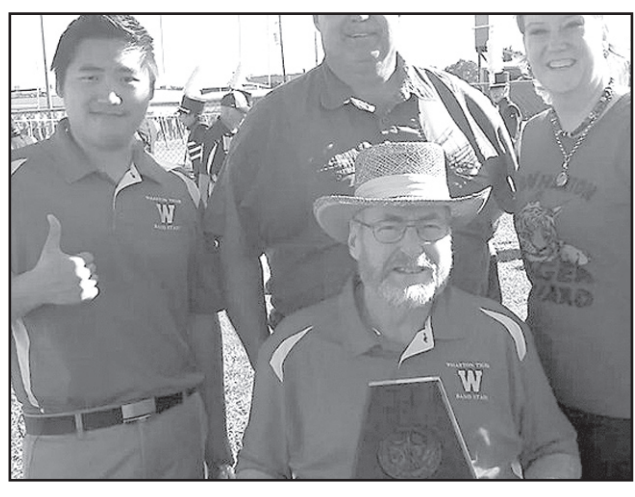

On Dec. 10, former Sudan High School band director Bruce Kenner passed away after a brief illness.

He was surrounded by his family while admitted at a hospital in The Woodlands.

Kenner was only 62 years old at the time of his passing. He was currently employed at Wharton ISD, and burial took place at Wharton's Memorial Park Cemetery on Saturday, Dec. 12.

Kenner had formerly taught at Sealy, Sudan, Floydada, Snyder, and China before working in Wharton.

During his tenure at

Former band instructor Bruce Kenner

Sudan, he brought home a state championship trophy in the early 1990's and continued to produce quality bands throughout his career.

Friends and family want to honor Kenner's dedication to high school music programs by starting the Bruce Kenner Memorial Scholarship in his honor.

Information about the scholarship can be found on the website, www.youcaring.com, and then search for Bruce Kenner's Memorial Scholarship.

The website states that Kenner taught music in small schools throughout Texas for more than 30 years.

"He truly believed in the power of music and making differences in his students' lives in and out of school," a family friend said.

The website will be a tool to help raise funds to begin the scholarship.

The purpose of this scholarship is to award it to one senior per year from a small town Texas school to help further their music education.

Family and friends said they could not think of a better way of honoring Kenner and keeping his legacy alive.

Elementary Activities Include Gingerbread Men

By Cheri Sain
Sudan Correspondent

Holiday activities will be taking place this week in the Sudan Elementary Building. From Christmas concerts to the Polar Express, it will be a busy week for the students.

The Christmas concert for Pre-Kindergarten through the fourth grade took place on Dec. 17, at 10 a.m., in the high school auditorium.

The fourth grade students performed these selections that they performed at the South Plains Mall last week.

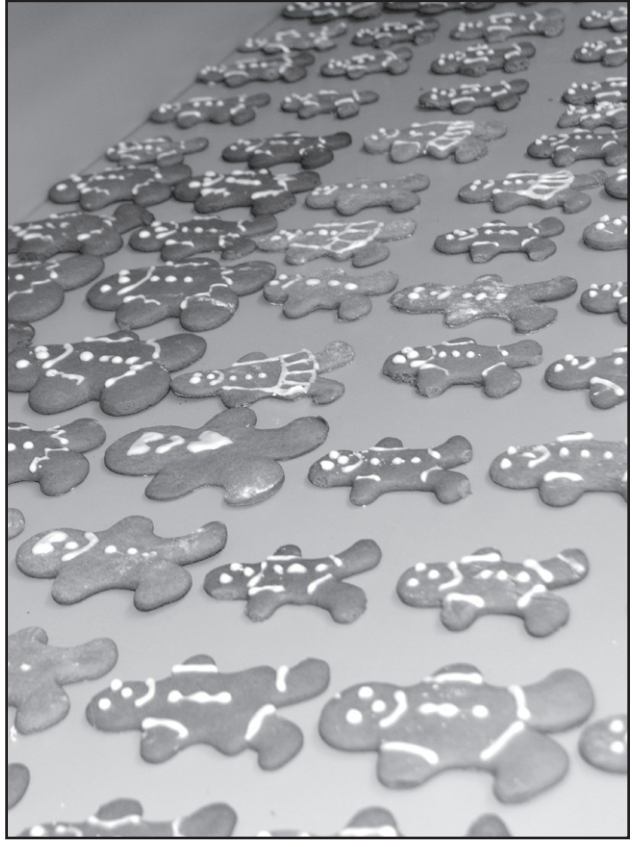

The fifth grade, and sixth and seventh grade band are to perform with the high school band on Thursday night, Dec. 19

On that same Thursday, Pre-Kindergartners through third grade students were involved with Polar Express activities throughout the day.

Lessons, entertainment, and a few treats were shared by all the students. Sudan FCCLA members made over 550 gingerbread men for all the elementary students to enjoy on that day.

The FCCLA members also shared gingerbread men with the high school students last week.

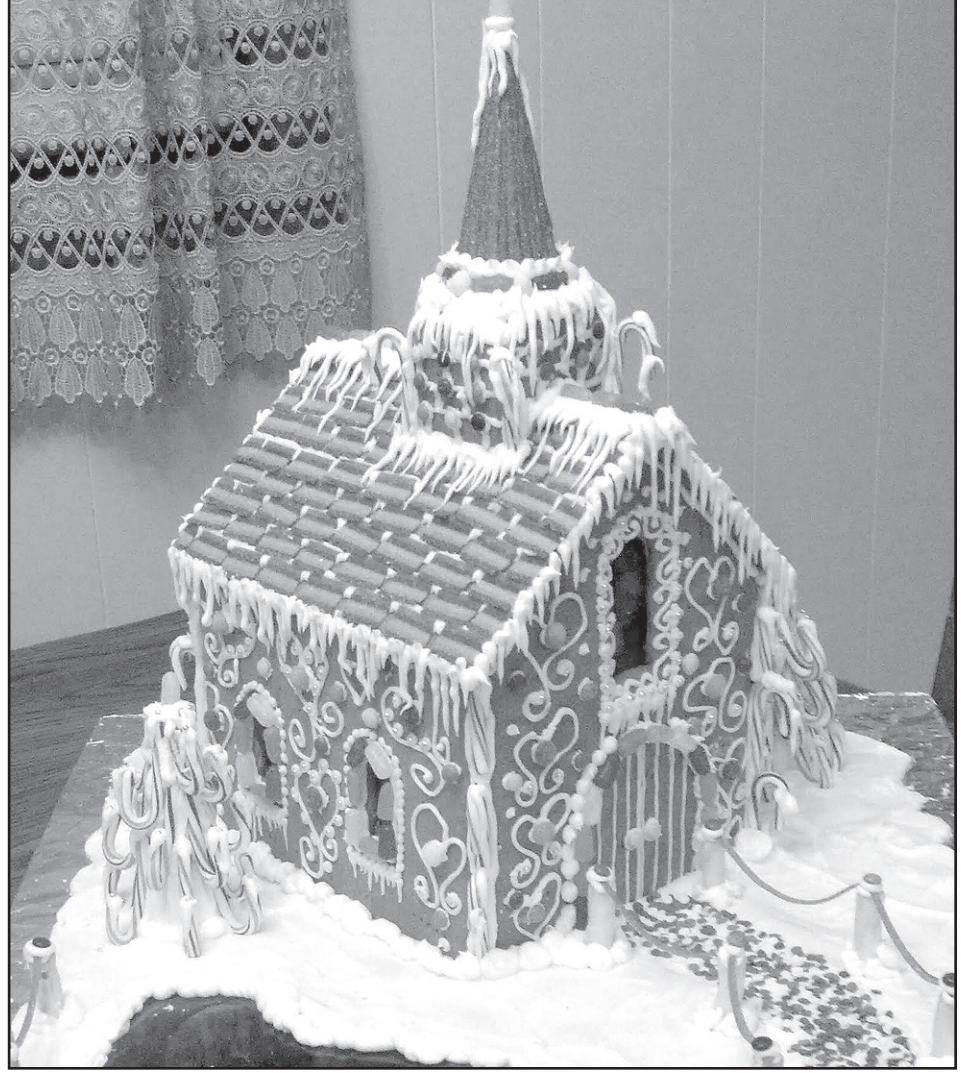

Gingerbread House Built For India Bake Sale

Art teacher Neal Kleman created this gingerbread house, pictured on the right, in the shape of a church for the Anchors for India bake sale at the Dec. 17 basketball games.

Other fundraising activities that night included bracelet sales and a paper airplane toss during the halftime of the boys varsity game.

All proceeds go to help the people of India with basic needs.

Lady Mules Defeat Floydada's Varsity

Photograph by Gabby Perez

Lady Mule Adrienne Precure drives around a Lady Wind.

By Delton Wilhite
Sportswriter

The Lady Mules spotted the Lady Winds of Floydada 10 points before Adrienne Precure finally made a free throw in the second quarter.

The Lady Mules battled back and cut the Floydada lead to 19-12 at the intermission.

The Lady Mules had gained a one-point lead by the end of the third period and added to their lead in the final eight minutes to defeat the Lady Winds 37-33.

Floydada started the third quarter like they started the game with a trey. DonAnn Rempe passed down the lane to McKenna Dunham for a short jump shot.

Sadie Sudduth hit a bucket from the elbow and A. Precure was fouled in the act of shooting.

She made both free throws.

Emily Precure passed to Dunham on the blocks for an easy bucket. A. Precure grabbed a loose ball and drove to the hoop.

She battled through a foul for two points and made the charity toss to complete the old-fashion three-point play to give the Lady Mules a 23-22 lead with 2:44 left on the clock in the third period.

Daniela Diaz drained a 3-pointer from the wing. Floydada scored the final three points of the quarter to cut the Lady Mule lead to 26-25.

A Precure converted four of six free throws and added a basket in the final period.

Diaz scored two hoops and free throw as the Lady Mules held off the Lady Winds.

Precure made 10 of 13 free throws and led the Lady Mules with 14 points. Diaz added nine points and Dunham scored six.

Nazareth used their two towering post players to defeat the Lady Mules 43-26 in the opening game of the Dimmitt Tournament.

A. Precure set the scoring pace against Nazareth with 11 points that include one trey.

Sa. Sudduth also made a trey and seven points and Rempe dropped in three.

Shanice Rosas and Dunham chipped in two points each.

The Lady Mules rained 3's on the Boys Ranch Lady Riders in their second game of the tournament.

The Lady Mules held the Riders scoreless almost the first 13 minutes of the game.

The Ladies won the game 54-13.

A. Precure made one trey and led the Lady Mules with 11 points.

Diaz made two 3-pointers and 10 points and E. Precure hit three 3-pointers in the second half for nine points.

Sydney Sudduth hit a pair of treys for six points and Dunham made all of her six points in the first period.

Rosas and Sa. Sudduth scored four points each and Rempe and Reagan Reynolds chipped in two points each.

Playing the Dimmitt Bobbies at Dimmitt is always a tall order.

The Lady Mules tangled with the Bobbies in their final game of the Dimmitt tournament and went down swinging 29-27.

But the Lady Mules led Dimmitt at the end of the first half 15-12 despite the extra help the Bobbies appeared to be getting from the score keeper.

Fouls were recorded on the wrong players and the direction arrow was not always changed after a tie ball.

Dunham was fouled out early in the fourth period even though she was only called for four fouls.

One of Rosas fouls was recorded against Dunham.

Dimmitt scored first with a pair of free throws but A. Precure grabbed an offensive rebound and put it back up and in to get the Lady Mules started.

A. Precure tied the game again with an eight-foot jump shot from the baseline.

Sy Sudduth ran through the back door and A. Precure got her the ball to put the Lady Mules on top 6-4 at the end of one quarter.

Sa. Sudduth sank a trey from the wing and the Lady Mules led 15-12 at the intermission.

Dimmitt went on an 8-0 run to start the second half.

The Lady Mules battle back and tied the game at 20-20 with just eight minutes left to play.

Sa. Sudduth picked off a Bobbie pass and drove the floor.

She drew the defense and dished to Rempe to finish the fast break to cut the Bobbie lead to 27-28.

The Bobbies added a final free throw to hold off the Lady Mules.

Precure set the scoring pace with eight points. Rempe dropped in six points in the final period and Diaz and Rosas added four points each.

Sa. Sudduth made a trey for three points and Sy. Sudduth chipped in two points.

The Lady Mules opened district in Friona against the Squaws Tuesday night and hosted the Olton Fillies Friday night.

Shipman made seven. JJ Gandara finished with six points, Dagan Dunham and Wesley Clarkson made five each.

Austin Ross finished with four points, Keagan Gonzales and Danny Compos made two each and Leal chipped in one.

Barron drove to the hoop and was fouled putting up a shot as time expired against Plainview.

The officials finally determined the shot and foul occurred prior to time expired.

Barron made his first free throw to break the 41-41 tie and give the Mules their first win in the Dimmitt Tournament.

Barron finished with 18 points.

Hurtado dropped in 11 points and Elizalde added seven.

Dunham scored four points and Campos chipped in two.

The Mules second game of the day was against Water Valley.

Barron again paced the Mules in scoring with 11 points.

Hurtado hit a pair of treys in the first period and finished with eight points.

Elizalde and Grey Johnson made six points each.

Dunham finished with five points, Campos, Shipman and Clarkson made three points each.

Ross chipped in two points. Barron made a season high 25 points against Littlefield to lead the Mules.

Hurtado and Campos added six points each and Johnson dropped in three points.

Gonzales, Ross, Shipman and Dunham chipped in two points each.

By Delton Wilhite

Angie Perez lined up a trey from the wing to cut the margin to 3-4.

Gutierrez was fouled out front and made both ends of the one-and-one free throws to end the half with the Lady Mules leading 15-14.

Gutierrez tried to jump start the Lady Mule offense in the second half with a 3-pointer but Floydada answered with a trey.

Perez made a hoop before the Lady Winds went on a 13-0 scoring run.

Gutierrez ended the quarter by putting back an offensive rebound for two points.

Freshmen Mules Dominate Tulia Hornets

By Delton Wilhite
Sportswriter

The freshmen Mules were not kind hosts Monday evening when the Tulia Hornets came for a visit.

There was no back door left on the gym when the Mules finished the game.

They had kicked it open and ran through it so often against the Hornets.

The Mules dominated the Hornets 24-6 in the first half and went on to defeat Tulia 48-23.

Javy Perez led the charge for the Mules in the opening period with four hoops for eight of the Mules first 10 points.

Jesse Leal pushed the ball ahead to Beto Diaz on a fast break for the other basket.

The Mules led 10-2 after one quarter.

Noah Nikkel passed to Roland Estrada breaking to the hoop to start the second period.

Nikkel drove the base line and made a reverse lay up.

Tulia made their second basket of the game with 5:35 left in the first half.

J Perez passed across the lane to Donovan Gutierrez for a hoop. Diaz made a pair of free throws.

Jason Florez grabbed a loose ball and drove the floor for a lay up and then finished a break the next time down the floor.

J. Perez grabbed a defensive rebound and made a long pass to Diaz racing down the floor for a score.

Tulia scored to end the half trailing the Mules 24-6.

Florez poured in 12 of the Mules 19 points in the third period and led the Mules in scoring with 16 points.

J. Perez dropped in 12 points, Diaz added six points and Gutierrez made five.

Timothy Perez, Rolando Estrada and Tre Villa made two points each. Jesse Leal chipped in one point.

The Mules replaced the JV Mules in the Dimmitt JV Tournament over the weekend.

They lost their opening round game to the Littlefield JV 68-33.

Florez and Diaz led the Mules with 13 points each.

Gutierrez added three points and Nikkel and Leal chipped in two points each.

The Mules played the Dimmitt JV in the second round and lost 67-54. Florez again led the Mules with 20 points.

Villa added 17 points and Diaz dropped in seven.

J. Perez made six points, Leal and Reese Orosco chipped in two points each.

The Mules returned on Saturday to defeat the Dimmitt freshmen 39-30.

Florez finished with nine points, Diaz and Blake Parker added seven points. J. Perez dropped in six points, Mario Flores four and Villa, Orosco and Timothy Perez chipped in two points each.

"It was a good weekend for us," said Mule coach David Sturdivant.

"We got in some much needed game time and got better. The two JV scores really do not show how hard and contested those games truly were," he said.

"The game against the Dimmitt freshmen was a tough battle that showed the guys that they can play and win together as a team. I am proud of these young men," added the coach.

The Mules traveled to Abernathy Monday to play the Antelopes.

Following the Christmas break the Mules travel to Friona on Jan. 13 and return home Jan. 20 to host the Olton Mustangs.

Eighth Grade Mules Defeat Hornets

By Delton Wilhite
Sportswriter

The eighth grade Mules dominated the Tulia Hornets Monday, Dec. 9, in the opening period and raced out to an 11-2 lead to start the second period.

The Hornets made a small come back in the second quarter.

The Mules continued to increase their lead in the second half to defeat the Hornets 32-22.

Brendon Rodriguez put back an offensive rebound to start the game.

The Mules held the Hornets on the Mules' end of the floor. Coleman Preston grabbed his own rebound and put it back for two points.

Mikey Lozano grabbed a defensive rebound and drove coast-to-coast.

Lozano drove the paint for a hoop to complete an 8-0 Mule run to start the game.

Tulia scored before JoJo Rejino made a free throw and Preston put back an offensive rebound to end the first quarter with the Mules leading 11-2.

Lozano made a free throw to break a Mule run of five misses at the free throw line.

Preston cleared the offensive boards and put the ball in the hoop for a 14-2 Mule lead.

The Hornets made two free throws, a trey and a basket before

Rodriguez put back a rebound for two points.

Jacob Kettner made a free throw to end the first half with the Mules leading 17-11.

The Mules continued to add to their lead in the second half for the win.

Rodriguez led the Mules in scoring with 11 points.

Preston added 10 points and Lozano dropped in eight. Rejino made two points and Kettner chipped in one.

The Mules traveled to Abernathy Monday to play the Antelopes before starting their Christmas break.

- Rides in a sleigh pulled by reindeer. Lives at the North Pole. Children leave milk and cookies for him. (Washington, D.C.)
- Christmas gnome who lives under the floorboards. Rides a goat named Julbocker. (Stockholm)

Application of Southwestern Public Service Company to Amend a Certificate of Convenience and Necessity for a Proposed 115-kV Transmission Line within Bailey and Parmer Counties, Texas

PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION OF TEXAS DOCKET NO. 41921

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS), a subsidiary of Xcel Energy Inc., intends to amend its Certificate of Convenience and Necessity (CCN) in order to construct and operate a new 115-kilovolt (kV) transmission line within Bailey and Parmer Counties, Texas. Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) has filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission or PUC) (Docket No. 41921 -

Application of Southwestern Public Service Company to Amend a Certificate of Convenience and Necessity for a Proposed 115-kV Transmission Line within Bailey and Parmer Counties, Texas) and is requesting the approval of the Commission for this project. This transmission line is needed for reliability purposes. SPS, a subsidiary of Xcel Energy Inc., is proposing to construct and operate a single circuit, 115-kilovolt (kV) electric transmission line between the existing Bailey County Substation located in Bailey County, Texas and the existing Curry County Substation located in Curry County, New Mexico. This application addresses the project area from the Bailey County Substation in Bailey County Texas, to the Texas/New Mexico state line. The proposed transmission line was identified by the Southwest Power Pool (SPP) as needed for reliability to address low voltage violations at the Bailey County Substation during system intact conditions.

The transmission line will be constructed utilizing primarily single-pole steel structures requiring a smaller surface area than H-frame structures and eliminating the need for guy wires for corner structures. The proposed transmission line will be constructed entirely on new right-of-way (ROW) with a proposed easement width of 70 feet. The proposed transmission line is presented with eight alternative routes consisting of a combined 79 segments and is estimated to be approximately 23-28 miles in length depending on which route is selected. All routes begin at the existing Bailey County Substation located in Bailey County, Texas, approximately 0.2 miles south of Muleshoe, Texas on County Road 214. The Bailey County Substation will be expanded to include the new 115-kV bus upgrade. Up to five acres of property may be purchased to accommodate the expansion. All routes addressed in the application end at the Texas/New Mexico state line. Depending on the route chosen, the total cost of the project in Texas, including the transmission line and substation costs, is estimated to be between approximately $17.7 million and $21.8 million.

Persons with questions about the transmission line may contact SPS's representatives Elizabeth Kirkpatrick at 303-571-7088 or James Bagley at 806-378-2868. Enclosed are a copy of a written description of the segments to be used for the alternative routes and a map of the proposed project. The same detailed routing map may be reviewed at SPS's offices at Chase Tower, 600 S. Tyler Street, Suite 2700, Amarillo, Texas, 79101. Information about the proposed project is also accessible on Xcel Energy's website Power for the Plains at <http://www.powerfortheplains.com>.

All routes and route segments included in this notice are available for selection and approval by the Commission.

Persons who are affected by the proposed transmission line and wish to intervene in the docket or comment on the applicant's application should mail the original and 10 copies of their request to intervene or their comments to:

Public Utility Commission of Texas
Central Records
Attn: Filing Clerk
1701 N. Congress Ave.
P.O. Box 13326
Austin, Texas 78711-3326
Persons who wish to intervene in the docket must also mail a copy of their request for intervention to all parties in the docket and all persons that have pending motions to intervene, at or before the time the request for intervention is mailed to the PUC. The only way to fully participate in the PUC's decision on where to locate the transmission line is to intervene in the docket. It is important for an affected person to intervene because the utility is not obligated to keep affected persons informed of the PUC's proceedings and cannot predict which route may or may not be approved by the PUC.

The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is January 27, 2014, and the PUC should receive a letter from anyone requesting intervention by that date.

The PUC has a brochure titled "Landowners and Transmission Line Cases at the PUC." Copies of the brochure are available from Elizabeth Kirkpatrick 303-571-7088 or may be downloaded from the PUC's website at www.puc.state.tx.us. To obtain additional information about this docket, you may contact the PUC's Customer Assistance Hotline at 512-936-7120 or 888-782-8477. Hearing-impaired individuals with text telephones (TTY) may contact the PUC's Customer Assistance Hotline at 512-936-7136 or toll free at 800-735-2989. In addition to the intervention deadline, other important deadlines may already exist that affect your participation in this docket. You should review the orders and other filings already made in the docket.

The Christmas Key...

"Sure he does," Mr. Whiffle said. "That's why we work with him."

The stunned expression still hadn't passed from Toby's face, so the mailman pulled out a leather wallet. "I guess you could say we're 'dual commissioned,'" he said. "I work for the United State's Postal service, but my other important work is with this group."

When the wallet was held out to her, Toby saw a small metal badge that said: Christmas Village Agent — Letter Division.

"But I thought elves were the only ones who worked for Santa," Toby said. She also remembered her attempted assault with the snowball, and wondered if the incident had been passed along to Santa Claus.

"No," Whiffle said. "Only employees of the US Postal Service can deliver the mail, and that includes 'Santa Letters.'"

"Besides," Sandy added with a laugh, "we're not tall enough for the straps on the mail bags."

"Anyway, may I have the key?" the elf asked politely. "Santa needs it for Christmas Eve."

With a nod, Toby lifted the string over her head and handed it to the elf.

"Thank you," Sandy said, carefully placing the key in the leather bag he held, along with the book.

"What did you read that frightened them away... a spell?" the mailman asked.

Sandy smile. "Only the truth," he said.

"The truth?" Sandy pulled the old, leather-bound book from the bag, opened it and read from the passage that drove Sophia and Porsha away, this time translating it from the book's German text into English"

"And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

"The Bible?" Mr. Whiffle exclaimed.

"They may dismiss man's laws, but they can't deny God's truth," Sandy said, "and the reason we celebrate Christmas."

The End

(Editor's Note: We hope you have enjoyed this Christmas story as much as we enjoyed bringing it to you.

And remember that you are the reason for the season. Because of God's love for you, he sent his only begotten son... the birth we celebrate at Christmas.)

May your Holiday be Merry, with all the joy and peace that Christmas brings.
