LUBBOCK, March 22 (U.P.)—Sheriff F. A. Lloyd, 48, of Lamb county, died in a Lubbock hospital today of bullet wound suffered Saturday night as he attempted to arrest Leroy Kelly, negro, at Littlefield. Lloyd was shot in the head and shoulders. Kelly was wounded in the arm. The negro later was captured and was brought to the jail here as a precaution against possible mob action, because of intense public feeling at Littlefield. Lloyd was the second sheriff killed in the last two weeks by negroes. Sheriff J. Alex Brown of Marion county was assassinated in the Marion county jail at Jefferson on March 10. Charley Brooks, negro jailbreaker was captured last Thursday and admitted the killing. Sam Hutson, chief deputy sheriff at Littlefield, said murder charges would be filed against Kelly after funeral services for Lloyd are held tomorrow.

LONDON, March 22 (U.P.)—A broken neck appears to have improved Henri's Choice, Britain's "miracle" horse. Two years ago the horse fell and received a broken neck at Liverpool; but the then owner, B. Warner, employed the most skilled veterinary surgeons to save the horse's life. Last year, after making an amazing recovery, Henri's Choice returned to the turf. It was not long before he won a race. Now he has won his second race over hurdles at Sandown setting the pace throughout and gaining a spectacular victory. The present owner is Graeme Whitehall, and it is believed that he paid about $10,000 for Henri's Choice.

CREW RESCUED FROM BURNING BRITISH SHIP

BERLIN, March 22 (U.P.)—An official Nazi source strongly indicated today that Pope Pius' blunt criticism of Germany's relation with the church would be seized upon to force "fundamental negotiations" regarding the future of Catholicism in Germany. The pope's encyclical alleged Germany had violated terms of the 1933 Concordance with the Holy See.

LONDON, March 22 (U.P.)—Lifeboats fought through blinding smoke today to rescue the crew of the British steamship Marie Moller, burning fiercely off Holyhead on the Welsh coast. Lifeboats took off about 40 of the crew, mostly Chinese, and returned for the rest of the 72 persons on the ship. All were taken ashore safely. The condition of the ship was considered hopeless. The ship's master wirelessly for a fireboat from Liverpool, after two explosions started a fire aboard; the flames burst high from the decks, and the ship fought its way to within two and a half miles of Holyhead, where it anchored in the moderate sea. The ship was on its way to Liverpool, 80 miles beyond Holyhead, with a cargo of peanuts.

DEWEY'S WARSHIP OF FAMOUS BATTLE IS SHORN OF GLORY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22 (U.P.)—The U.S.S. Boston, which participated in the battle of Manila Bay, is serving as breakwater for the navy docks on Yerba Buena Island in San Francisco Bay now. Once the pride of Dewey's White Squadron at Manila, and the only ship to feel the force of the Spanish fire—it was hit twice—the Boston's downward path has been long and perhaps more inglorious than that of other warships. During the World War, the Boston still had the honor of serving as a receiving ship for thousands of sailors who were recruited at that time. Many of those who served with the fleet during the World War got their preliminary training on the Boston. Unfortunately, the mud of San Francisco Bay caused the Boston's hull to deteriorate faster than the hull of a battleship. As a result of a Spanish fire at Manila Bay, as a consequence, had outlived its usefulness and it was ordered scrapped. The ship was towed to Mare Island and for that purpose. Then naval officers had a new idea. They discovered that in the Boston's absence from Yerba Buena Island, where it had formerly walled no longer there to save the wooden planking from the blows of the sea. It was decided that it would be cheaper to bring the old warship back than to build a sheltering breakwater, so the bottom and sides were scraped, the ship was given a coat of fresh navy gray paint, and it was brought back to Yerba Buena Island to serve the end of keeping the waves from breaking up the navy dock. In 1893, five years before the Boston's battle service, the ship was one of the main features of the Chicago World's Fair. The vessel also was in San Francisco Exposition of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and when the 1906 earthquake hit, bluejackets were landed from it to help maintain order. In 1939, San Francisco will have another international exposition on an artificial island that is being created in San Francisco Bay, just on the opposite side of Yerba Buena Island, from where the Boston is now doing duty of a wave breaker. If the warship still is intact on that date, it may have one more chance of glory.

TRAILER HOUSES MAY STILL TRAVEL OVER ENTIRE NATION WITHOUT TAX

DENVER, March 22 (U.P.)—Trailer owners are free to come and go throughout the United States in spite of reports to the contrary, states Joe H. Thompson, director of the Colorado Travel Bureau with national headquarters in Denver, Colorado. From a legal standpoint, they are still classed as motor car accessories, rather than dwelling places, in spite of the fact that they have many of the appointments of the modern home. Eighteen states do not even tax trailers as personal property. There have been rumors concerning possible inimical legislation pertaining to trailers, but thus far only one state has passed legislation preventing trailers from passing state borders as will, provided the owner is not engaged in gainful occupation. Georgia enacts a $3 registration fee from every non-resident trailer crossing its borders. The majority of the other states grant unlimited reciprocal privileges to non-resident trailerites who are properly registered in their home state, though ten of these do require them to procure a visitor's permit within a few days after entering the state. In most instances no fee is charged for this permit, according to Thompson. The few states with limited reciprocal privileges allow time limits of thirty, sixty, or ninety days, with some as long as six months. Mr. Thompson states that house trailers have been popular in Europe since 1923 in spite of the passport and visa nuisance which hinder free travel there, and that it is remarkable that only recently the wonderful potentialities of trailer travel in the United States have been recognized. There are some 300,000 trailers in the United States at this time, declared Thompson. The production in 1936 was about 30,000 units, and although the demand is considerably higher it will probably be impossible to manufacture more than 75,000 units in 1937. For this reason the progress of the industry will be somewhat slow, judged by the average American standard of comparison, based on recent production methods in the manufacture of motor cars which doubtless will run about 5,000,000 during this year. The largest single manufacturer of trailers, can make only about 6,000 units during any current year. These figures lend belief to the fact that trailers themselves will present no problem in this country in the next several years. Facilities for trailerites are adequate and new camps and resorts catering to trailerites are constantly being constructed.

'OIL WILL BE FLOWING IN JUST SIXTY DAYS,' SAYS CONTRACTOR

At exactly 60 days from now to the minute, the Bearman test No 1 will be flowing oil," prophesied J. S. Stephenson, drilling contractor, today as the townsite was spudded in at high noon and the big bit weighing perhaps two tons started battering its way to explore hitherto unknown and uncharted interior regions lying underneath Cisco townsite. Drilling will continue day and night, running three eight-hour shifts. The giant sign "Pa-bac" and the lights on the new steel tower will light the surrounding grounds and herald to the world that the investors expect a big pay back in liquid gold. Another new road is being made from the Rising Star highway to the well to make it still more accessible to the public who will be watching operations with increasing interest as the drill nears the pay. Drillers for the three shifts are: C. C. Clark, Walt Hart and Ernest

The Grammar boys' track and field team could not cope with the larger boys that were representatives from higher schools and were not very active in this phase of sport. Wilburn Boygett, however, was able to capture the high jump honor for the local school. His jumping brought much praise from the crowd. The boys baseball team showed an strong winning two games before losing the last one to end second in this line of event. Wilburn Boygett's pitching and batting for Grammar school was outstanding. The tennis teams fared well against their opposition. The local Grammar school is expected to make a strong showing in the County Meet that is to be held in Ranger the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd. of April.

HUGHES' LETTER SAYS PRESIDENT PLAN 'IMPAIRING'

WASHINGTON, March 22 (U.P.)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, democrat of Montana, presented to the Senate Judiciary Committee today a letter from Chief Justice Charles Evand Hughes, characterizing President Roosevelt's judiciary re-organization plan as liable to "impair" the efficiency of the supreme court. Hughes' letter expressed confidence that his views on the court plan were in agreement with those of the other members of the supreme bench. "An increase in the number of justices of the supreme court, apart from any question of policy, which I do not discuss, would not promote the efficiency of the court," Hughes' letter said.

President Plans to Visit Philippines

NEW LONDON, March 22 (U.P.)—William C. Shaw, 61, superintendent of the New London school, admitted before a military board of inquiry today that the gas which apparently exploded killing 426 persons last Thursday, was taken without permission from the pipe lines of a private company. Just before he had completed his testimony, Shaw virtually collapsed. He was assisted from the witness chair to an ante-room while additional witnesses were summoned. This testimony was given after a 16-year-old survivor of the explosion stood before the court and showed that his hair had been signed in the blast. The youth, John Dow, testified the explosion accompanied by a flash of flame, came from the sub-basement when a manual training instructor threw an electric switch to a sanding machine. Shaw, his hand bandaged and wearing new spectacles to replace those broken in the explosion, admitted that the Parade Gas company's natural gas pipe line that passed under the campus of the school was tapped without the company's permission. He also admitted that officials of the gas company from which the school board previously bought its gas, had warned him that "the board might be using a dangerous gas." He said that a United Gas company official told him that "you might get into trouble."

Who made the negotiations for taking this gas," asked Captain E. Z. Coombs, judge advocate of the military court. "No one," Shaw replied. "Did officials of the Parade company know of this connection?" the judge advocate asked. "No."

WASHINGTON, March 22 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt has tentatively plans to travel 10,000 miles toward the far east in the fall of 1937 or summer of 1938, to pay an American "good will call" on the Philippine Islands, it was reliably reported today.

No Excellence Without Great Labor

The bulldog tenacity with which the Junior Chamber of Commerce holds on to the idea of a CCC Camp and park for Cisco is commendable. Edward Lee, as president, and members of the parks committee, continue to work for the location, contacting members of the state board at Austin and Congressman Clyde Garrett at Washington. Such work is bound to bear fruit.

Frequently a job is undertaken that requires a good deal of work. The ceaseless labor becomes tiring, and we become discouraged. Almost anyone can start a project, but to finish it requires thinking power, work courage, patience, endurance, and stick-to-it-iveness. In the light of experience we realize that any situation can be overcome by the application of these six attributes; and if we keep repeating to ourselves as we struggle, "No excellencies without great labor," this little maxim of great truth will serve as an oil, lubricating the action of these other things.

You visit a flower show, and there on a card beside a beautiful bloom you see written, "Grand Champion of the Show." Behind that simple caption is a story of many years of careful growing to develop the color, vigor, shape and size that make a winner. If you are fortunate enough to talk over the story of that bloom with its owner, hear from his own lips the difficulties and disappointments that had to be overcome before this nearly perfect plant was produced, you will immediately say to yourself, "No excellencies without great labor."

Or should you visit the stock show, or the poultry show, and see the grand champions bedecked with ribbons and see the cups presented to owners, there again you will hear a story of great labor. Perhaps it had been necessary to send to England, or India, or to Australia, or to a remote part of the United States or Canada in the search for new blood and new strains from which a Grand Champion could be developed. Years were spent, and there were many failures before the goal was reached. But patience and stick-to-it-iveness finally won.

Or the setting may be a large factory where some article of benefit to the public is produced. Talk to the men in charge and hear how the patents have been improved on the production system continually bettered.

Watch the working of science in medical fields, and observe how compounds were mixed in lengthy experimentation under many conditions until one day a medicine is produced that relieves a certain ailment. Again you say, "No excellence without great labor."

In music, art, sports, every field of human endeavor, examples abound of perfection being attained through years of incessant labor.

But the goal is worth it. Grand Champions in any line are usually a tribute to one man's ability to face set-backs and discouragements, and yet persevere until his task is finished, his goal is reached.

Oil Interest Shifts To Caddo Gas Field

EASTLAND, March 22 —Interest of Eastland county operators was partially shifted from their own activities to Stephens county, where W. T. Garrett et al No. 1 Echols, six miles north of Caddo, was tested for 17,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The well of Garrett, a former Eastland operator, and his associates, 800 feet from the east line, 400 feet from the south line of the west half of section 10, S P R R.

Oil Interest Shifts To Caddo Gas Field

survey, block 3, obtained the gas between 3,865 and 3,983 feet.

After testing the gas was killed to cement a 3-16-inch casing, preparatory to drilling in.

Ten miles northwest of Caddo, one gas well was recently completed and another is in the process of completion and is showing oil. Both are producing from the same pay.

Observers believed the strata is the same from which good wells are producing in south Young county, near South Bend.

The operation completed recently for 20,000,000 feet of gas north of Caddo, was Talbot et al No. 1 Kennedy. Being completed with approximately the same amount of gas and showing some oil is Talbot et al Kennedy No. 2, section 10, T E & L survey.

A general drilling campaign in the east quarter of Stephens county for deeper horizons may result from the showings, say observers. Thirty-two hundred feet was the lesser depth for some production in the same area.

One mile north of Eastland, in Eastland county, States Oil Corporation No. 1 Schmick, section 1, H & T C survey, block 4, was drilled below 1,250 feet.

North of Rising Star, Anderson-Drewery No. 1 Kate Grist, in an area where the company has drilled five other wells, north of Rising Star, was drilling at 220 feet in section 36, Lavaca county school land.

J. A. Bearman et al No. 1 Poe, Cisco's townsite well, had derrick up and was about ready to run. Showing some oil. C. R. Cox et al No. 1 O'Rear, east of Rising Star, was still cleaning out a bridge left when it was shot with 20 quarts in the line between 2,800 and 2,817 feet.

Southeast of Ranger, F. J. Estes No. 1 Gentry-Popejoy, west of the Durocher pool, was drilling at 2,824 feet.

Three and a half miles northeast of Carbon Gallagher-Lawson No. 1 Hearn, after losing the hole at 1,195 feet and skidding 40 feet east, was drilling at 40 feet in the new opening.

Hickok No. 2 City of Cisco, north of the town, also was cleaning out. In section 84, H & T C survey, block 4, the well recently received glycerin from 3,444 to 3,472 feet. Southeast of Eastland, Hoffmann & Page No. 1 J. S. Dodd, subdivision of 11 of the Brownson subdivision, William Van Norman survey, had progressed past 865 feet in drilling.

Also in Stephens county in the old Curry pool, southwest of Breckenridge, Snowden & McSweeney No. 12 G. P. Jones, drilling at 2,850 feet, was nearing the anticipated pay area. It is being drilled in the center of a lease in which many wells have been drilled on the edge. Previously it had been stated the well was seeking the Ellenberg at 4,200 feet, which was incorrect. It is 960 feet from the south and west of the northwest quarter, section 33, T & P R R. survey, block 4.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAPHNE BRETT loved LARRY SMITH, architect. But Daphne had refused to marry Larry until she had accumulated sufficient money to launch JENNIFER, her younger sister on a career.

Jennifer had proved the selfish sister from the start, defying Daphne at every turn. Finally Jennifer married GORDON HERZBERG, theater producer, and apparently finds her work.

Then Daphne is sent on a two-month "travels" tour. But she leaves Larry again asks her to marry him. But again she refuses, without telling him why. So Larry says goodby, assuming Daphne prefers a career to his love. The final blow comes when Daphne, returning finds Jennifer dating Larry.

So Daphne decides to play the game herself. She arranges a gorgeous party at the Club Flamingo, inviting Larry, Herzberg and others. Larry is happy to see Daphne who gives exceedingly attentive to her new gown. But Daphne is wily and gives especial attention to Herzberg, finally inviting him to have tea with her the following Sunday. Larry is puzzled.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

DAPHNE blinked until her eyes were open and studied deeper under the covers. She felt numb with lack of enough sleep. "What time is it?" she asked sleepily.

Jennifer threw a comb, brush and silver slipper into her overnight case. "Almost 11," she said. "My train leaves at noon and I haven't had any breakfast. Do you mind fixing some coffee and toast?"

Daphne stretched, sighed and threw back the covers. Her feet fumbled and found her slippers. She got into a warm robe. "It must have been 6 when we left the Hammers. Where did you go?"

"Larry said he had to get the 3 o'clock train so Douglas and I went to the station with him. Then we went to Childs for some food. Will you try and hurry that, Daph?"

Daphne put some bread in the toaster. "Anyway it was a good party, wasn't it?"

Jennifer tucking her hair under her hat, remarked, "It was all right for you. What were you and Herzberg chatting so cozily over?"

"Wahhh . . ." Daphne yawned. "This is no time to ask me. I'm too sleepy to remember. What time are you getting back tomorrow?"

"I'm not returning until Monday. I'm driving back with Grace Daphne, last night did you talk to Herzberg about my getting the part of Louise?"

"Louise?"

"Of course, Louise! Wake up, Daphne and don't act so dumb. You know I've told you all about it. That's the second lead. The part I want in Herald On Wings."

"Oh, yes, I remember, and you thought she should be played as the fiery type. But I thought that Herzberg agreed with you?"

"He did, after I did a sales job. I thought perhaps you'd tell him how superior it would be done with that interpretation."

"It's 25 of 12. Did you say your train leaves at noon?"

When Jennifer had gone, Daphne went back to bed. She wished that she could sleep forever and forget Larry as she had seen him last night. Just to see him again had been exquisite agony and to know that she would go on seeing him—with Jennifer was to twist the pain. She closed her eyes.

THE doorknob brought her back from the edge of sleep. She got into her robe and slippers again and pressed the button.

"Sign here," a messenger boy said. She signed it, gave him a coin and closed the door.

It was the play Herzberg had sent over to her. She propped herself up in bed with pillows at her back and coffee at her side. She read for three hours.

At 3 o'clock that night she put the play in a drawer of her desk and stood before the hearth with her back to it, her head raised and said, "Paul, there has been a great wrong done." She lifted her chin and there was a kind of dignity in the gesture. "It is not for you, nor for me, to judge which of us has been at fault." Proudly she stood for a moment. Then her hands fell to her side and she lowered her head before she turned slowly away.

Above her head, the small clock on the mantle tinkled five times. Gordon Herzberg put down his teacup.

The girl in the dark red velvet house gown said, "It is not for you, nor for me, to judge which of us has been at fault." She lifted her chin for a moment, then her hands fell to her sides and she lowered her head before she turned slowly away.

"But you've got it! That's exactly what I mean," Herzberg sat back in his chair, his hands folded.

"Let me pour more tea." She picked up his cup.

"I was wrong," he said slowly. "I was seeing Jennifer in the part when I agreed to the other playing. I was very wrong. You've shown me Louise."

"Oh, please, Mr. Herzberg. I'm not an actress and I didn't mean for you to . . ." She broke off prettily.

"About what?" she responded and sipped her tea.

"What would you say if I offered you the part of Louise?"

Daphne placed her cup on the table and played with her collar.

"I wouldn't know what to say. You can't mean it?"

"Why not? I know a capable actress when I see one. I gave Jennifer a part when she had had no experience."

"But Jennifer! Oh, she didn't really have a part. This is the one she wants. I couldn't do that. I couldn't do that to Jennifer."

"MY dear young lady, if you will not accept it, I will not give it to Jennifer. I shall find an actress who will play it your way. Jennifer can't do it. She's a different type."

"Will you let me think it over?" she asked, knowing what her answer was to be.

"You'll have to make up your mind by tomorrow morning. I want to open January 15. There'll be only two weeks of rehearsal."

"I'll let you know tomorrow morning," she promised.

Daphne said her prayers. Oh, Lord, please let this be the right thing to do. I am not selfish, I am not cruel. I am not doing this for my own sake. I'm only trying to do what Father would have wanted me to do. I'm doing this for Jennifer's sake. I need Your help so badly. I don't know any other way to be strong enough to show Jennifer what she must learn. Please give me strength and Your help. Please don't let it hurt Jennifer. I don't care if she is angry if only she will see what fair play means. Some day this lesson will mean more to her than the injury. It will make her grow up and realize that other people have rights. By knowing that, she will be able to balance her values, to get more out of life.

JENNIFER leaned on the palms of her hands. Her face was white and her eyes blazed.

"Daphne, answer me, is it true that Herzberg has given you my part? It is! I can see it. Behind my back, you did this unspeakable, perfidious thing to your own sister! I hate you, Daphne Brett!"

Delivery Trucks Turn Into Hearses for Victims

Delivery trucks turned hearses for the scores of explosion victims who were hastily dug graves. The trucks were supplied by oil companies who gave generously of time and money to help recover bodies, rescue injured and dig in the debris of the shattered New London school.

Football Practice Leaves No Gloom

WACO, March 22 (UP)—End of spring football practice at Baylor University this week left no cause for gloom over the prospects for the Green and Gold next fall. Said Head Coach Morley Jennings: "Our line will be much stronger from tip to tip next season than last fall. The progress of our backfield has been rapid and we may wake up in the middle of October to find a ball-carrying unit superior to that of the '36 team."

To Be King, Queen In Pageant April 2

COLLEGE STATION, March 22 (UP)—Earl T. Duke of Claude, Texas, and M. College senior, and Miss Dorothy Ehlinger of New Braunfels, Texas State College for Women senior, will reign over a court of 300 persons as king and queen of the sixth annual cotton style show and pageant to be held here April 2. Duke was selected by the pageant sponsor, the Student Agronomy Society of A. & M. College, and Miss Ehlinger, daughter of an A. & M. graduate, was elected by the student body of her college. She is president of the student body.

TRIED, FEW CONVICTED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UP)—Albino persons were tried for the first time in New Mexico during 1936. Three were convicted and sentenced to death penalties were imposed by the Bureau of Prisons.

ATLANTIC CROSSED 70 TIMES

BOSTON—(UP)—Patrick A. McMan, of Boston, London and Cheshire, England, made his 70th Atlantic crossing to celebrate his 80th birthday anniversary here. A few days after the celebration he sailed back to England.

Officers Crowd Block; 10 Million Is Moved

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 22 (UP)—"Nope, stranger," said the man "tain't nothin' wrong. They're just moving a little money down the street." But the aspects of a city block here resembled an officers' ambush for a hurried criminal or conditions at the height of a riotous strike. A dozen deputy sheriffs and policemen stood guard with rifles over their arms. Other officers, their weapons ready for any emergency, watched from windows of nearby buildings. It was moving day for the First National Bank. A total of $10,000,000 was transferred in containers loaded on hand trucks from the bank's old building to its new home a block west.

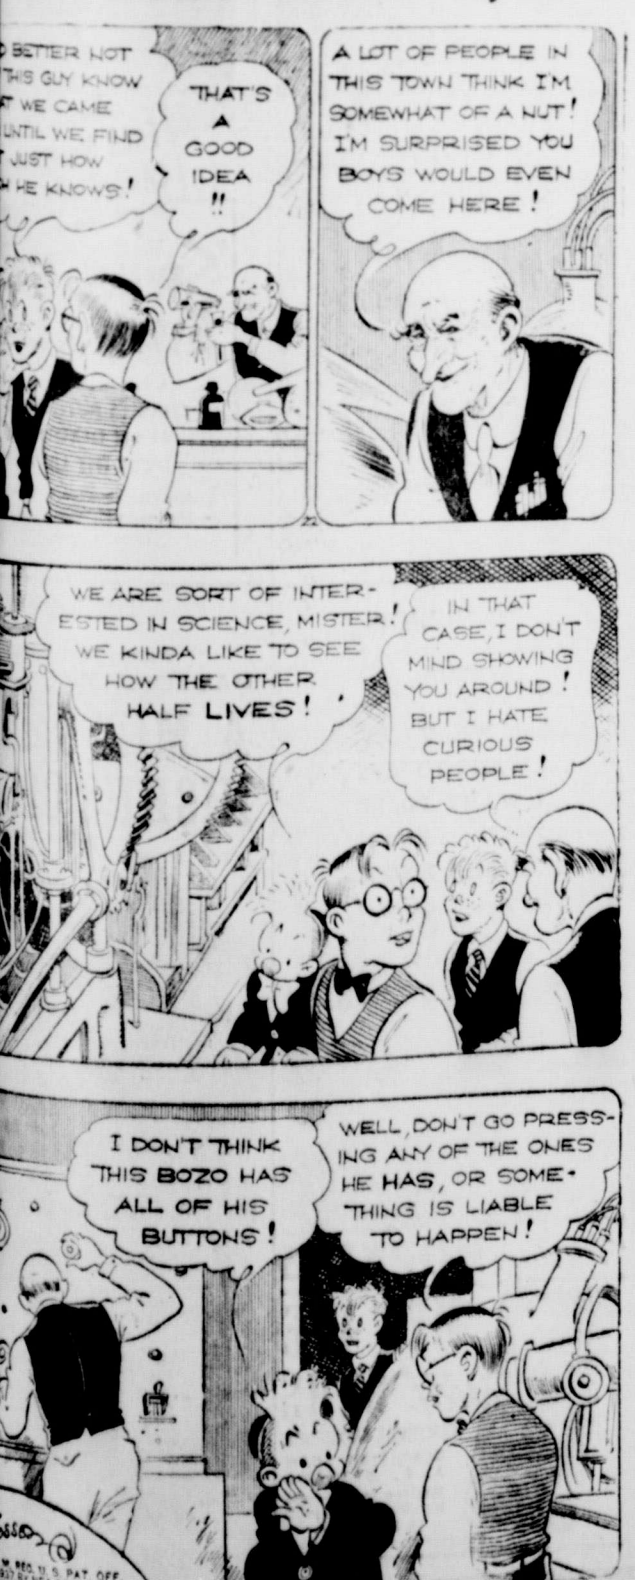

ELK BECOME RANCH PESTS

WINNIPEG, Man.—(UP)—A few years ago elk in southern Canada were scarce. The herd has increased recently, however, and new foothills ranches are faced with a real problem. Max Bradshaw, owner of a ranch, and his men have tried to drive the herd off with horses, but to no avail.

PART OF WEST STILL WILD

SALK LAKE CITY (UP)—Anyone who believes the Old West with its wildcats, mountain lions, bears and wolves is dead, needs only to check an annual census report issued by Wasatch National Forest supervisor. The report lists a total of 86 bears, 69 mountain lions and 425 wildcats.

WINKLES and His FRIENDS — By Blosser

Will Be in Shape For Baseball Team

WACO, March 22 (UP)—Boyd SoRelle will be in top condition for the opening of his last season with the Baylor University baseball team, it was indicated as the all-conference letterman from San Marcos belatedly reported for practice. SoRelle, a member of the Bear basketball squad, was kept in the indoor courts during the opening days of baseball practice due to the late close of the cage season. The senior will be aided on the mound by Mike Ducey, Waco's southpaw letterman, who in early season practice sessions is showing greater control and a new flash of speed. Recruits to the mound include Tommy Pine, sophomore from Cleburne, and Billy Patterson, Hillsboro, who last year starred in his first season of collegiate football. The Bruins open their conference championship drive at home against the Southwestern Methodist University Mustangs on March 26.

Paper Clothes May Be Rival of Linen

BOSTON, March 22 (UP)—Paper clothes, woven of yarn spun under water from wood fiber, soon may compete with linen finery. The new yarn proved in tests to be stronger wet than dry and neither stretched nor shrank with laundering or dry cleaning according to bulletin of Arthur D. Little, Inc., industrial chemists. In appearance it most closely approximates linen, and this property has been a principal factor in present uses in shoe coverings, hand bags and the newer sports suits. Continued improvement may make this paper product a significant addition to the present range of textile fibers, it is believed. The fibers are less than three-hundredths of an inch long, as compared with individual cotton fibers which may be an inch long and wool, linen and silk, which may be much longer. Thus, to make the short fibers of the paper product into strong yarn requires special methods and machinery and is actually spun under water. Cisco Daily News want ads are a vestment. Phone 80. SHELTER STRIPS OF TREES GROW DESPITE DROUGHT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19 (UP)—An average of 550 trees per acre in 3,743 acres of farm windbreaks planted in the Prairie states in 1935 survived the 1936 drought, the U. S. Forest Service has reported. The average number of trees planted per acre along the 1,277 miles of shelter strips was 740, although the number varied from 550 to 1,000. Pocket gophers and jackrabbits caused more damage in some sections than the drought. Trees which made the best growth were green ash, cottonwood, Chinese elm, red cedar and Ponderosa pine. Trees which were 18 inches high when planted in the Spring of 1935 have grown to 15 to 16 feet high in many regions, the service said.

They never jangle the bell—they don't take up your whole day trying to get your attention. Instead, they do it in a way that is most considerate of your privacy and your confidence. They advertise in your newspaper! In this way you have only to listen to those you know at a glance have something that interests you. They make it short, too, so you can gather quickly just what you want to know. You can receive and hear them all without noise or confusion in a very few minutes. In fairness to yourself look over all the advertisements. The smallest and the largest— you never can be sure which one will tell something you really want to know.'

Zone Societies Met At Twelfth St. Church

About one hundred persons assembled at the 12th Street Methodist church Friday, March 19th, on the occasion of the first North Zone meeting of the year. Each Missionary Society in the North Zone was well represented.

Words of welcome were extended by Mrs. R. L. Farmer, and a response given by the Zone Leader, Mrs. Gadia of Scranton. After the devotional in the morning service, Mrs. Gadia asked congregation to bow in silent prayer for the stricken ones in New London. The District Secretary, Mrs. Sheard of Dublin, brought a message emphasizing the responsibilities of our auxiliaries, and said the presence of so many members gave evidence of splendid cooperation.

Thirty women took part in answering 32 questions taken from the woman's Magazine World Outlook. Time and study had gone into the work of preparing these answers, and each one knew them so well it was repeated there was a scramble as to who would get to give the answers to the questions.

At noon a covered dish luncheon was served.

The afternoon meetings was opened with an inspiring devotional, after the District Secretary urged the officers of the Missionary Society to perform their duties as outlined in the handbook. She also gave suggestions as to the World Outlook insisting that each member should and take subscriptions and not depend altogether on the World Outlook agent.

North Zone meeting of Women's Missionary Society will meet in Breckenridge some time next Fall, date to be selected later.

Signs That Never Fail—It MUST Be Spring

A crocus can make a mistake about the season. Boys and girls doff their coats to roller skate and play marbles at the slightest provocation. Even those new Easter parade outfits make premature appearances here and there. But when you add to these phenomena that unaccountable yawning feeling, old men drowsing in the sun, and young couples with far away looks in their eyes trying to appear casual when seated close together on the greenward—well, you can reach only one conclusion—Spring has come. If you need any other proof, look at the calendar. Today IS the first day of Spring.

KINGSTON, Ont., March 22 (AP)—Co-eds of Queen's University, who are residents of Ben Rish Hall, can kiss their escorts good night from now on, if they feel like it, but only in the hall foyer.

The ruling was decided upon by the Hall council, composed of 12 co-eds, after a heated discussion which the "liberals" won.

Mrs. Sam G. Hines, daughter of Judge and Mrs. D. K. Scott, and her daughters, Mrs. T. A. Bleakley, Mrs. A. Cole Stephens and Miss June Hines of Dallas, are Cisco visitors this weekend. Also a guest in the Scott home is Tommy Bleakley, only grandchild of Judge and Mrs. Scott.
