Republic Steel Re-Opens Big Canton Mills

Floating Power, Italian Style

Backing up Italy's support of the Spanish rebels is the ever growing Roman fleet, which now dominates the Mediterranean, both on sea and in the air. With a plane overhead, two of the formidable modern Italian battleships sail majestically in a parade of naval might staged for General von Blomberg, German War Minister.

ONLY FEW MEN BACK TO JOBS SINCE STRIKE

CANTON, Ohio, June 30 (U.P.)—Republic Steel Corporation reopened its big Canton mills today after the bayonets of national guardsmen had ended a picket barrage of stone in which about a dozen returning workers were injured. Carl Myers, assistant manager, announced that 1300 men had returned to the plant which normally employs about 8,000 and that 600 of 1800 workers who had been imprisoned by picket lines since the strike started had been escorted home by militia. Strike leaders asserted that less than 500 men returned to their jobs. Returning workers were stoned by a crowd of hundreds of strike-sympathizers, until guardsmen broke up the attack and arrested eight men. The strikers sent a telegram to the War Department in Washington asking an investigation of the Ohio National Guard. The telegram alleged that there had been fraudulent enlistments in the guard.

Japanese Film Star in U. S.

Very dainty in her flowered, silken costume, Setsuko Hara, Japan's favorite film actress, is pictured here as she strolled the deck of the Queen Mary on her arrival in New York. Miss Hara also has made pictures in Germany.

WORLD NEWS FLASHES ON WIRES TODAY

TOKYO, Japan, June 30 (U.P.)—The foreign office instructed the Japanese ambassador to Austria today to file a vigorous protest against an attack by Soviet gun boats in the Amur River in which one gunboat was sunk. Japan alleged that the gunboats attacked Japanese-Manchurian soldiers in the river where possession of several islands is in dispute. The official spokesman said three Russian gunboats approached the Manchurian side of the river and that the defenders sank one, damaged another and compelled a third to retreat.

WASHINGTON, June 30 (U.P.)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull revealed today that Admiral William Leahy, chief of naval operations, has apologized to the Soviet government for slighting remarks made in his speech to the graduating class of the Army Industrial College.

LOS ANGELES, June 30 (U.P.)—Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, will be subpoenaed in defense of John West Hunt, cultist on trial on Mann Act charges, it was announced today by Hugh McBeth, Hunt's negro attorney. Hunt, a wealthy white follower of Father Divine, is accused of seducing a 17-year-old girl after telling her she was a "new Virgin Mary" and that he was "Jesus, the Christ." McBeth, said Mrs. McPherson, famed preacher at Angelus Temple was being called as a "religious expert."

PARIS, France, June 30 (U.P.)—The senate late today passed the "full powers" bill giving Premier Chateaux virtually dictatorial powers to deal with the nation's financial crisis.

SOUTHPORT, England, June 30 (U.P.)—The United States Ryder golf team defeated the British squad today registering the first victory ever scored by the invading team in this professional golf series which began in America ten years ago.

WRECK OCCURS ON BAD CURVE ON HIGHWAY 80

C. K. Adams, of Dallas and R. E. and W. A. Marsh, local men, were injured last night, 6:15 when a Ford convey truck and a Chevrolet coupe came together at the turn on 16th and Avenue A on the Eastland highway overturning the convey and badly damaging the coupe.

Mr. Adams, who was driving the truck, was treated for a badly mangled little finger on the left hand and painful bruises and R. E. Marsh of Nimrod, sustained lacerated forehead and pertusions. W. A. Marsh Hickory Avenue, Cisco, has abrasions on left elbow.

It appears that the convey truck which was transporting two new Ford cars to Baird, failed to make the sharp turn at the Humble station curve and the rear end struck the Chevrolet driven by the Marshes who happened to be attempting to pass at the same time. The men were treated at the Graham hospital last night where Mr. Adams is still resting. The Marshes were dismissed and returned to their homes.

BIBLE OF 1822 USED WINGHAM, Ont. (U.P.)—A 115-year-old Bible is used to conduct services at the Masonic Hall here.

On Strike Duty—The Sentinel

Back to work marches, labor holidays and mounting public reactions swirled in a darkening turmoil about the helmeted National guardsman as he stood.

oddly young looking, on strike duty in the Ohio plant-clustered steel area. Like an etched background were the smokeless stacks, and the troops' pup tents.

OTHER BILLS CREATING TAX ALSO SIGNED

WASHINGTON, June 30 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt has signed the $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation bill the White House announced today. Before retiring last night, Mr. Roosevelt also signed the following measures: The $630,000,000 agriculture appropriation bill, largest in history. The railroad retirement tax bill, establishing a tax on rail companies and their employees to finance pensions for retired railworkers. The nuisance tax extension bill, continuing for two years the $650,000,000 in miscellaneous levies including a three-cent postage rate. The agricultural bill carries $500,000,000 for the soil conservation and crop benefit payment plan. The bill carries $178,500,000 for highways. The extended nuisance taxes are those on gasoline, telegrams, matches, sporting goods, radio sets, chewing gum, amusements and the like, and the postage rate of 3 cents is on first class mails.

CCC SUPPLY FUNDS BILL IS APPROVED WASHINGTON, June 30 (U.P.)—The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $449,930,000 bill to supply funds for the Civilian Conservation Corps, the new railroad pension act and the joint congressional tax avoidance inquiry.

MRS. BOWMAN'S FUNERAL HELD FRIDAY, 2 P. M.

Funeral services for Mrs. Byrl Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jones, who died Sunday night will be held Friday afternoon, 2 o'clock at Green's Funeral Home, Rev. C. C. Keller of Mineral Wells officiating, assisted by Rev. M. H. Applewhite. Active pall bearers will be K. N. Greer, Nick Miller, Vance Littleton, R. C. Hayes, E. P. Crawford and Lonnie Tullos. Mrs. S. E. Hittson will be in charge at the piano. Mrs. Jones talked to Mr. Bowman in South America last night where he is enroute by plane, and he stated he would arrive in Cisco some time Thursday night.

Mrs. B. C. Metcalf has returned from a pleasant visit to Kaufman and Dallas.

YOLKLESS EGGS ARE PUZZLE ARENA, Wis. (U.P.)—George Southard's hen lays regularly—but its eggs are no bigger than a robin's. Also, Southard complained, they have no yolks.

Grasshopper Poison Available Thursday

Sodium arsenate, intended for use in grasshopper poison has not arrived. Sufficient poison to handle urgent demands has been loaned to Eastland County by Wichita County. This material is due to arrive in Eastland early Thursday morning. Farmers whose need for grasshopper poison is urgent and who have filed application for poison should call at the Cisco Chamber of Commerce or the County Agent's office Thursday and receive their allotment.

Five pounds of mash will be mixed for each acre of infested crops. A farmer who wishes to poison 20 acres of land must furnish 50 pounds of bran, ground oats, cotton seed hulls or sawdust to match the 50 pounds of bran contributed by the United States Government, making a total of 100 pounds for the 20 acres. It will also be necessary for each farmer to bring an extra empty sack for each 100 pounds of material he expects to get, as the material is bulkier after being damped with poison and water.

Two Games for Price Of One Friday Nite

A double header will be played on the Cisco lighted field Friday night with no change in admission price. The games will be between the Cisco Gas Corp and the Eastland All-Stars and two of the business men's teams of Cisco. The first game which will be between the Cisco business men will probably start about seven thirty. The double header is being played to eliminate the Sat night game so as not to interfere with the program at the lake.

LIONS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS; HEAR REV. HILBURN ON 'JAPAN'

Election of officers for the year, presentation of retiring President Grantham with a Past President pin and certificate, along with a talk on Japan by Rev. Sam Hilburn made the Lions luncheon today one of outstanding interest and importance. President Grantham handed the gavel to incoming president Horace Conley after a motion had accepted the report of the nominating committee, and the new officers had been installed by a brief ceremony with Lion Grantham, Lion Conley who is a past district governor, took the gavel and presented the retiring president with a past president's certificate and a diamond studied pin as a token of appreciation from the club.

Rev. Joe I. Patterson introduced Rev. Sam Hilburn, returned missionary from Japan, who said he preferred to answer questions rather than make a speech. Interrogation brought out many interesting facts about that land of the rising sun where the little bee-hive of people are busy making a modern country of their little island, not more than 800 miles long and not nearly half so wide. These people are all educated, no labor troubles, very patriotic, fol-

ROOSEVELT IS UNITED TODAY WITH DU PONT

OLD CHRISTIANA HUNDRED Delaware, June 30 (U.P.)—Ethel du Pont, daughter of one of America's greatest industrial dynasties, was married today to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., third son of the President. They stood before their families in the flower-banked Little Christ Church. Behind them on the right side of the church sat the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and members of the new deal.

Across the aisle were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene du Pont and many another du Pont whose political ideas have clashed sharply with the new deal, but all enmity was forgotten as the parents took pride in their children's romance. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edcott Peabody, head master of Grotton School, who married the President and Mrs. Roosevelt 32 years ago.

Three hundred and forty guests attended the wedding. Approximately 1,400 were to attend the reception afterwards.

Nance and Red Front Play Here Tonight

Nance and Red Front will play tonight. Nance has several new players, including a new pitcher and the Red Front will have their hand full tonight. Thursday night the Cisco girls will play the Eastland girls in Eastland.

WIFE, 14, IS MOTHER SANTA CRUZ, Cal. (U.P.)—From child brides, Santa Cruz has passed to child mothers. Mrs. Joseph A. Houser, aged 14, formerly of Tennessee is the mother of an 8-pound son.

Rev. and Mrs. Joyner Visit Powell Family

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Powell had as their guests Tuesday, Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Joyner and their daughters, Misses Emma Lona, Helene, and Pauline of Merkel. Rev. Joyner is pastor of the Baptist church at Merkel. Mrs. Joyner is a sister of C. B. Powell at this place.

Young Women Enjoy Early Morning Swim

An early morning swim and sunrise breakfast was enjoyed today at Lake Cisco by the following women: Mesdames Charles Shepard, Herbert Caudle, and Misses Ethel Mae Wilson, Velma Powell and Evelyn Halbert.

64 ENROLLED IN NURSERY SCHOOL HERE

At an interview with Mrs. Thelma Halstead, supervisor of the Cisco Emergency Nursery School, it was learned that sixty-four children between the ages of two and four were enrolled. The personnel of the school is as follows: Supervisor, Mrs. Thelma Halstead; Cook, Mrs. Homer Doyle; Maid, Maria Cruz; and teachers Mrs. C. O. Pass, Mrs. Connie Bryant, Mrs. Cynthia Tarver, and Mrs. Ona Boyd.

Although the enrollment is sixty-four, approximately forty-five, and since there has been so much sickness lately the average attendance has been less than forty-five. A daily check is kept on each child attending school. A chart program is maintained.

Niece of Myricks Dies in Oklahoma

Amos Myrick of this city received sad news from his only sister, Mrs. John O'Bryan of Konawa, Oklahoma, of the death of her only child, Rita, a bright, fifteen-year-old high school girl, who died there Friday after a two-day illness. Interment was made at Konawa Oklahoma.

EVERETT GUARDED SINCE DEATH OF HER TWO SISTERS

INGLEWOOD, Cal., June 30 (U.P.)—Police today guarded 11-year-old Olive Everett, sister of two of three little girls ravished and slain, after a man appeared at her home and attempted to lure her to a park. From the park her sisters, Melba, 9, and Madeline, 7, and their playmate, Jeanette Stephens, 8, were enticed to Baldwin Hill Saturday by a mysterious "Eddie the sailor." Both Everett and Stephens homes were guarded after Olive Everett said a man approached her. "I believe that the death of my two daughters, and little Jeanette is all revenge on the part of someone who really wanted my oldest daughter," Everett told police. Throughout Southern California more than a score of suspects were rounded up, questioned and released. Search for the "mysterious Eddie" and his battered automobile was spurred by posting of a $3,500 reward.

The Social Security Program

Officials of the Federal Treasury have announced that during the coming fiscal year, which begins on July 1, the government may be able to avoid resorting to the money market for new funds, largely because the payroll taxes under the Social Security Act will permit the treasury to borrow about $700,000,000 from the old age and unemployment reserve accounts instead of from investors in general, states the Guaranty Trust Company of New York in the current issue of The Guaranty Survey, its monthly review of business and financial conditions in the United States and abroad, which has just been published.

Under the act as it now stands, a similar loan will be made each year, increasing steadily in magnitude until 1950. The Survey continues, "Within thirty years the aggregate amount of these loans will be sufficient to absorb the entire present sum of the direct and contingent public debt; and by 1980 the debt will have to be increased about $8,000,000,000, whether the government needs the money or not, if the provisions of the law are to be carried out. It is probable that comparatively few citizens realize the possibilities inherent in this prospect.

PREREQUISITES FOR SUCCESS

The main objective of the Social Security Act are unquestionably praiseworthy and must command universal sympathy. But the act itself should be recognized for what it is—a gigantic experiment, or set of experiments, with some palpable weaknesses that need correction and with numerous other features that must be tested by experience to be proved workable. Certainly the old age account should be abolished or drastically reduced. Both the old age and unemployment benefit plans should be adjusted toward a 'pay-as-you-go' basis, with a definite requirement that taxes collected in advance of benefit be used to reduce the public debt and not to finance extravagant schemes of expenditure. Serious consideration should be given to the possibility of financing benefit payments with taxes less likely to be destructive to business enterprise than those on payrolls. Finally, the operation of the entire program should be closely watched in an effort to determine whether the national economy is capable of bearing a financial burden of such vast magnitude without suffering ill effects so serious as to outweigh the advantages.

These considerations point, finally, to the one absolute prerequisite for the success of this or any other public benefit plan—the reestablishment of the national finances on a sound basis.

The Stupidity of War

The stupidity of war is strongly emphasized by Dr. Clarence Poe in an editorial in a farm magazine, along with

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY ROONEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It has to be reported that on the latest of at least a dozen conspicuous occasions Secretary Harold L. Ickes, the New Deal's India rubber man, has dounced back up again from what seemed to be a position on the floor.

His PWA, which was supposed to be dead, has been granted two more years of life with funds. There isn't going to be any new Department of Public Works right away, which means that Ickes won't have to make a choice between being secretary of that and his present post as secretary of Interior.

Also if the government reorganization bill is passed, the name of the Interior Department will be changed to Department of Conservation, as Ickes desires.

These assurances developed at a time when Ickes, who hasn't been well, was in the Naval Hospital here, away from the firing line here.

Few things demonstrate the quality of Ickes so well as his ability to stand above and seemingly oblivious to the constant bitter intrigue which goes on within his department and the PWA.

ICKES and others in his domain have been victims of a persistent state of jitters dating back a year or so ago to the time when he and others had pushed out Louis Glavis, chief of the Ickes investigation agency and regarded by many as the ace of American sleuths.

The specter of Glavis still pursued the Ickes crowd, especially when it became known that many items usually supposed to have been in the Glavis files, were mysteriously missing.

Presumably Ickes and his favorite chief assistant, Elbert K. Burlew—who has facetiously been known as the "oversecretary" ever since Congress created the office of undersecretary of the Interior and Roosevelt gave the job to his some definite suggestions as to what a private citizen may do to help prevent the disaster which constantly threatens us of another war. Says Dr. Poe:

"Under present conditions, war is a game in which there are no winners. All are losers. Consider the World War, waged a blood cost of 8 million lives and perhaps 20 million more victims maimed for life, and a money cost of 400 billion dollars—enough to give a $4,000 home to each and every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Belgium, Germany, and Russia. Yet no one single nation was helped by the World War. Victorious England and France were impoverished almost equally with vanquished Germany and Austria, and the whole world soon plunged into a catastrophe of financial depression and calamity.

"War today is stupid. It is more costly in life and money than ever before, while the spoils of war are less valuable than ever before. Consider Spain. Amid its ruins by the time the present struggle ends, there will not be enough left for either side to gloat over. And we must be willing to preach the stupidity of war no matter if we are called 'pacifists' or anything else—remembering that it takes ten times more real spunk and heroism to face some bully who calls himself a 'he-man' advocate of war than it does to be a docile yes man to all such braggarts.

"And if only every man and woman in America will get this spirit and act in time, future wars can be prevented.

SUPERSTITION MOUNTAIN

By Oran Arnold

Copyright, 1937 NEA SERVICE, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS CAROLEE COLTER, heroine, STUART BLAKE, heroine's father, "Duke" tourist, Carolee's lover, HENRY COLTER, proprietor, PAUL and SILAS COLTER, proprietors of the store, NINA BLAKE, Stuart's sister.

Yesterday Stuart and Carolee, after much searching, finally located the trail back to camp. Arriving there, they arranged to meet again.

CHAPTER VI

STUART BLAKE escorted Carolee back part way up the trail toward her home, after they had begged mid-afternoon lunch from the cook in Superstition Lodge. The danger over, both could laugh at their mountain adventure and enjoy the comradeship that the experience wrought.

Carolee was afraid he would suddenly call on her at her home on the high mesa. That would never do, she knew, and he ought to realize it; he had discovered her family's hostility. To forestall him she suggested meeting him on signal at the trying place. She would hang out the white sheet when she could ride.

When Stuart returned a second time to Superstition Lodge the hour was near sundown, and there was a hubbub of conversation on the front porch. One glance told him something had happened. His father was there, obviously excited. But Nina greeted Stuart.

"Dismount, buckaroo, and listen to the old scout's story," she called. "Somebody's been shooting at dad."

"Whoa. What's matter? Who's done what?"

"Mr. Blake, Sr., was serious about it, and agitated."

"Somebody shot at me this noon, up in the mountain," he explained. "Three or four times. I might have been killed. I could hear the bullets, plopping right near me."

"Stuart was incredulous for a moment."

"Are you serious, dad? Are you sure?"

"Certainly I'm sure! I was just telling the folks here about it."

"The folks" included Nina Blake and half a dozen other Lodge guests and employees who happened to be within hearing; even the old Indian women, who were eternally weaving baskets or mending pottery in the shade nearby, stopped to listen open-mouthed.

"THAT'S about all there was to the story. Mr. Blake re-told it a dozen times. He had simply squatted behind a rock for nearly an hour, badly frightened; then he had gone back to the glen where he had tied his horse, and hastened to return home. He had no idea who could have done the shooting. The bullets came from across a wide canyon, evidently at considerable range.

Stuart decided immediately that the Colter men had done the shooting. He mentioned that fact to his father, and the latter partially agreed.

Both he and his son had telephoned into Florence, the Pinal county seat, and reported the matter to Sheriff Watson, but the sheriff hadn't been very helpful. Probably some careless hunter, he had suggested; hardly worth a search. People were always reporting "mysterious" shootings up in old Superstition and he was prone to scoff at such yarns. But even at bedtime the Blake men weren't satisfied.

Soon after breakfast next morning Stuart ordered his horse saddled and—more sensibly than the day before—strapped on a gallon canteen of water and a small package of food. He didn't want to admit being lost the day before with Carolee, and wouldn't even admit to himself that he couldn't ride through the mountain alone.

The horse was tied and waiting when Stuart came out. And when he did appear, he smacked off a movie version of some terrible-tom-from-the-tall-timber. At least Nina told him so.

Stuart wore a cartridge belt, borrowed from the Lodge owner. A business-like revolver hung on one hip, too; and he carried a shiny repeating rifle that he had bought in town.

AS a matter of solemn fact, he did look rather impressive. Nina's admiration was at least partly genuine. Stuart could have been a movie hero, with luck and talent added; and he had the looks. He was masculine enough. Usually he was gay and prankish, full of banter himself, but not this morning.

"Somebody shot at dad," he announced, as if that were sufficient. Come to think of it, it was, Nina told herself.

"Then the maiden is not in distress today, I take it. It's best to let her yearn a bit anyway. Where will you go, then?"

Stuart was stuffing cartridges into his pistol.

"I don't know exactly. For one thing I'll do a little target practice. Dad traced out the route he took yesterday. He was about four miles from here. I'll go there, and learn what I can."

Nina was suddenly concerned. "Don't be a fool, Stuart. If somebody shot at dad, somebody might shoot at you. And the aim might be better today. Why don't you take a guide?"

"Dad wasn't armed. I am. I don't think the shooting will occur again anyway. I just want to investigate. Besides, I'm getting interested in that Lost Dutchman Mine. If it's important enough to make fools of the Colters and cause dad to be shot at, then some of those other stories about the mountain may be true."

"Undoubtedly some of them are true," Nina declared. "They are on record. The deaths, I mean. But why are you interested?"

He smiled, then, for the first time this morning. "Come out to adventure, didn't we, while dad rests? So far he's done the adventuring. I want to trace down a few clues myself. But don't go spending the treasure until I find it."

NINA leaned against a front post, a crooked ironwood log, and watched her brother mount. She couldn't help being concerned for his safety, but he did look out of place to her, out of atmosphere. She was accustomed to Stuart in full dress or a tux, or in correct city sport clothes behind the wheel of his roadster. He was strange to cowboy regalia.

"You look grand," she conceded. "If you only had a wagon train to rescue. Or a Pochontas to woo!"

He glanced at the Indian hand-workers near the porch, already weaving and mixing clay. Not one was under 40 years, nor under 180 pounds. They were just old women, tolerated there because they were picturesque.

"Sorry, sis, but you can't make a squaw man of me. So long I may lay out tonight (he was already picking up the speech of the western cowboys), so don't look for me for a day or two."

"And another thing," he flung back as he rode off, "if there's any shooting done this trip, I'm going to do some of it. Tell that to dad."

Disaster Survivors Get Scholarships

LONDON, Texas June 30 (UP)—"We will be glad to grant a scholarship worth $150 a year to be known as the London School Memorial Association scholarship to be awarded and available to any needy survivor of the disaster," writes Dr. G. I. Humphreys, president of High Point College, High Point, N. C.

In making this contribution to the living memorial in honor of the teachers and children who were killed in the school explosion, Dr. Humphreys continues, "And we would be willing to award as many as two of these scholarships annually for at least the next few years or until such time as the surviving students have reached and passed through the college age."

In addition to these two scholarships, recent offers came from Colleges in Tennessee and West Virginia. Milligan College, Tenn., has written the London School Memorial Association concerning four possible scholarships for which survivors may be recommended. Ninety-five per cent of the students in this school hold scholarships.

Davis and Elkins College, Elkins, W. Va., has offered a scholarship amounting to $75 on the tuition fee of $150 to any student who ranks in the upper third of the class as a memorial to the students who died in the March 18 explosion. The educational foundation now has 22 scholarships and loan funds available beginning the coming fall term of school.

Texas Stores Show Increase for May

WASHINGTON, June 30 (U.P.)—Retail sales of 894 independent stores in Texas showed an increase of almost 11 per cent in dollar volume for May, 1937, as compared with the corresponding month last year, the U. S. Department of Commerce reports.
 The increase was revealed in a preliminary estimate which was based on figures collected by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in cooperation with the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. It covers the larger independent stores in 21 kinds of business, 4 of which, due to an insufficient number of reports, are contained in miscellaneous or in group totals.
 When adjusted for the number of working days, but not for seasonal influences, May 1937 sales were about 9 per cent greater than for April, 1937. Without adjustment either for the number of working days or for seasonal influences, May sales were 5 per cent more than for April. There was one more working day in April than in May.
 The city of Amarillo reported the greatest gain in total sales as compared with May of last year. Amarillo showed an increase of 40 per cent followed by Austin with a gain of 33 per cent. Other changes for Texas cities ranged down to the 2 per cent increase for El Paso.

Camp Billy Gibbons Every Scout to Swim

Eagle Scout Harvey Morris of Brownwood will be in charge of the Water Front program at Camp Billy Gibbons this year. There will be under his leadership—instructions for the Scout who does not swim, practice for the beginners, tests for the advanced in Red Cross Life Saving, First Class Swimming and Swimming Merit Badge, how to handle a boat properly, and many other things taught that are necessary for the full enjoyment of one of the best sports and forms of exercise privileged to man. Ask any Scout who attended Camp last year about the swimming hole. He will tell you that it is one of the best in the state.

Indian Village
 The Camping Committee of the Comanche Trail Council has completed plans to give the Scouts of the council the opportunity to learn more about Indian lore and customs, by having a regular Indian village on the camp grounds. The Scouts who participate in the Indian feature will live in a section set apart, but this section will be a part of the regular camp. The village will be made up of 18 teepees. A merit system will be used to determine who shall live in the teepees. Each Scout attending camp will be obliged to enter this contest. Hikes, swims, camp fires, good eats, nature work, advancement in Scout work, water carnivals, stunts for every camper at Camp Billy Gibbons July 26 to 27 and July 28 to August 4.

Waco Hatchery is Largest of Kind

WACO, June 30 (U.P.)—The world's largest privately owned black bass hatchery is owned by Nathan Patton, Waco attorney, about 18 miles north of Waco.
 Patton first became interested in the propagation of the large-mouthed bass 14 years ago as a hobby and it has cost him more than $25,000.
 In the hatchery are 21 spawning and rearing pools, and five fishing lakes that cover more than 135 acres. These are all fed by two large springs that discharge 750,000 gallons of 98 per cent pure water daily and maintain the output the year around. Seasonal changes or local rainfall do not change the flow of the springs, the largest of which covers an area of more than an acre.
 The ponds average about an acre each, and are so arranged that the water levels flow from pond to pond before finally going into a main lake, over a dam and into an outlet stream.
 A 1,000 foot concrete flume feeds the ponds with gravity flow. Each pond is equipped with drain gates and valves and may be drained cleaned and then refilled in a few hours without disturbing any of the others.
 With this equipment Patton can grow a pound and a half bass in nine months. Two light plants furnish lights placed near the water

Gangster Pictures Provide Problem

DALLAS, June 30 (U.P.)—Gangster pictures portraying the darker, sordid side of life in the United States are giving missionaries a real problem in Siam today, Mrs. Allen Bassett, missionary and teacher in Siam for 20 years, recently told members of a Dallas church.
 "The natives turn out in droves for this kind of picture," Mrs. Bassett said. "How can we expect to convert them to Christianity if they keep showing life in the United States it is worst?"
 Mrs. Bassett said attempts to prohibit this type of picture in Siam have failed.
 "Church officials and government men have tried to do something about this problem, but motion picture men there say they must keep this type film under the black book contract that calls for a certain number of pictures a year, no matter what kind. Then too, they

Business Men Boast An Unusual Record

MASON (U.P.)—Three local business men here boast the unusual record of having been in their different businesses a total of 153 years.
 E. J. Lemberg, Louis Schmidt and R. Grosse are in the dry goods, hardware, and lumber retailing and contracting businesses. All three are of German birth or descent. Schmidt opened a blacksmith shop here in 1878, but a year later entered the hardware business. Grosse established a lumber and contracting business in 1896 after working at a job for several years. Lemberg has been in business here for 56 years, 49 of that period being in the mercantile business.

LIVING UP TO MY AD
Giving you tops in Mileage

I know the trouble. So many oil ads yell mileage, that you can't tell one way or another. I don't want my own ads to be in that class, so I'd like you to know all I'm staking, when I personally recommend Conoco Germ Processed oil to you. In my case, you see, I'm the owner of my business. And there's nothing makes repeat customers for me like my Germ Processed oil... or I ought to say, the long mileage it gives you. The patent Germ Process makes this oil get fastened real firm to the bearings and cylinders and other parts—as if they'd been built with an actual plating of oil that can't separate... can't thin out and burn right up. Neither is it going to run down every time you stop. Then you can't make any "dry starts" with Oil-Plating, and right there is where engineers say you will end a good half of all the wear you used to get in Summer. The less wear, the less oil your engine eats. You'll get on to this yourself, from your cool quiet Oil-Plated engine. And that's how I make another good friend for my Conoco Germ Processed oil.

Waco Hatchery is Largest of Kind

Fatten recently placed 17,000 bass all over "keeping length" and 11,000 crappie in the five fishing lakes. Two new lakes with dams averaging 850 ft. in length will be permitted to fill this fall. One of the new lakes will be stocked with perch only. Many ducks winter on the lakes and some remain during the summer months.
