SENATE LEADER JOE ROBINSON DEAD

ARMISTICE ON COURT BATTLE THUS FORCED

WASHINGTON, July 14. (UP)—Senate Majority Leader Joseph Robinson, 65, died today and the calm of a mournful Armistice descended on the chamber where he was said to have laid down his life in the battle for President Roosevelt's judiciary bill.

Robinson died in his apartment across the street from the capitol. At 8:15 a. m. Eastern Standard time he was discovered and pronounced dead of a heart attack.

President Roosevelt heard the news in bed.

"A soldier has fallen with face to the battle," he said.

After a 44-minute session devoted entirely to tribute to the Arkansas senator, the senate adjourned in respect to Robinson until noon tomorrow.

"Thus an end was brought to the legislative day of July 6," the parliamentary device which Robinson himself had invoked as a weapon against filibustering in the judiciary fight.

The court dispute is over for a time. Perhaps a week may elapse before all senators return, and the firing can begin again. Plans were announced to send Robinson's body home tomorrow aboard a train leaving at 6 p. m. for Little Rock, Arkansas. Mr. Roosevelt will attend any services here, and Vice-President John Garner will leave Uvalde

Russians Cop All Non-Stop Flight Records

SOVIETS LAND TODAY AT 8:30 ON LITTLE GAS

SAN JACINTO, Calif., July 14. (UP)—Three weary, but happy, Soviet aviators shattered all non-stop, distance, flight records today when they landed in a cow pasture near this mountain hamlet after a 6,668-mile flight over the north pole from Moscow.

The three took off Sunday and dropped down three miles from here about 8:30 a. m. (CST) today revealed that they actually went as far south as San Diego, but were forced back north by fog.

After examining their plane, the fliers found that they still had gasoline, despite their first announcement that a gas line leak forced them down.

By their exploits, the Russians broke the world's non-stop flight record set by two Frenchmen, Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi, in 1933, 5,657 miles from New York to Syria.

Smiling, the fliers tried to explain the details of their last hours in the air.

Unable to make themselves understood, except to a Russian who had forgotten most of his native language, the fliers wrote out what they could, and gestured for emphasis.

"Sixty-two hours and thirty minutes in the air," one wrote.

Army officers said they would attempt to repair the plane and fly it to March field, 15 miles away.

"We want all women, civil servants or not, to benefit," an official said.

JAYCEES MUST TURN TO NEW LOCATION FOR CAMP LEE SAYS

The survey party representing the national recreational study of the parks board which looked over the proposed state park site for Cisco Tuesday under the direction of the Cisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, were not much interested in the canyon location after they had seen the mile-front of lake water bordering the 400-acre tract owned by the city at the west end of Lake Cisco, President Edward Lee said today.

Mr. Lee stated that either location would suit the Jaycees and H. A. Bible, representing the city commission, said the city would grant either location provided sanitation was taken care of to the complete protection of the drinking supply from the lake. The surveyors said that matter could be handled with ease and further insisted that since

Man Breaks Neck But Continues Work

HOUSTON, July 14. (UP)—John H. Stringfellow Sr., 56, railroad man, broke his neck in three places but it was four days before he decided that maybe he ought to go to a hospital.

Four minutes after physicians viewed X-ray photos they shook their heads and despaired of his life.

But Stringfellow just lay on his hospital cot and looked at them,—and lived. He hadn't survived seven semi major railroad accidents to die of a broken neck.

Working on a railroad at 16, John was in two train collisions in Alabama, one of which killed five persons. He was unhurt. Another mishap killed everybody except him.

In 1908, he was piloting a train from Commerce, Texas, to Tyler when it jumped the track. He was unhurt.

M'MURRAY HAS SOLUTION TO BLANTON CASE

AUSTIN, July 14. (UP)—Ranger Captain Bill Murray knows the solution to the mysterious disappearance of John and Luther Blanton in November, 1936. Colonel H. H. Carmichael, director of public safety said today.

"Captain McMurray has the solution, and eventually will work it out," Carmichael said. "He won't divulge it, of course, not even to me."

JUDGE MCHAREN WANTS OFFICER REMOVED

RAYMONDVILLE, July 14. (UP)—As public feeling reached high pitch today over events surrounding the disappearance of Luther and John Elanton, County Judge W. E. McCharen appealed to Governor Allred to remove Ranger Power Fenner and Game Warden George Miller from Willicy County, "for public safety and peace."

Judge McCharen fined Fenner Miller and two other officers for contempt yesterday, for ignoring a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Louis Lamadrid, special deputy constable investigating the Blanton case.

Lamadrid, meanwhile, asserted in Austin today that he believed the Blantons had been slain and that their bodies were moved while he was in jail in Brownsville last Saturday on charges of carrying a gun unlawfully and impersonating an officer.

HOUSTON, July 14. (UP)—John H. Stringfellow Sr., 56, railroad man, broke his neck in three places but it was four days before he decided that maybe he ought to go to a hospital.

In 1908, he was piloting a train from Commerce, Texas, to Tyler when it jumped the track. He was unhurt.

Two years later he missed the foot-board of an engine at Sireveport, La., and was knocked under it. They put a silver plate in his skull and he recovered.

An obstruction swept him off a railroad car in 1917. He was thrown 20 feet through the air. Several ribs were broken but soon mended.

Accident No. 7 occurred when an engineer had to set his brakes suddenly. John was catapulted into a car of building material. He was patched up again and returned to work.

His last mishap occurred when he was out of his element. Stringfellow was astride his brown mare Lady, trying to shoe some wild ducks across a pond so his friends could shoot at them.

His horse refused to enter the water. Stringfellow put the spurs to her. He woke up in bed at home where his son, Walter, had taken him.

"Huh," he snorted, his head supported by a brace. "This rodeo stuff is out. For safety, ride the railroads."

RANGER FENNER SUSPENDED BY CARMICHAEL

"We've ordered an investigation of the entire affair," said Johnson. "Fenner's suspension will continue until the matter is cleared up and the commission meets again."

Rates Pigs Among Cleanest Animals

AMHERST, Mass. (UP)—Pigs are among the cleanest of all animals, according to Victor A. Rice, professor of animal husbandry at Massachusetts State College.

"Pigs like to roll in mud to keep themselves warm," he explains. "Pigs have no sweat glands, and this is a process of 'heat radiation' whereby the body temperature of the animal is regulated. They are far cleaner than either horses or cows."

Automobile Parking Hazards

A bulletin recently issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters points out that automobile parking on streets is becoming one of the greatest menaces to effective fire service. This is particularly true in business and manufacturing districts, and around apartment houses and theatres. The hazards of parking are evident. Ladder and rescue work may be retarded because of the inability of equipment to get near a burning building. Hydrants may be obstructed, and alarm boxes hidden from view. Increased traffic congestion may prevent fire apparatus from getting through without long delay. The chance of traffic accidents is increased. The smaller towns and cities of the nation should pay attention to this problem, as well as the metropolises. Indeed, in smaller towns double-parking and disregard of hydrant zones is usually more flagrant than in well-policed large cities. Many a fire that could have been quickly controlled, had parked cars not hampered fire fighters, has developed into a major blaze. The National Board suggests that city authorities and Chambers of Commerce consider the parking problem, study local conditions and formulate legislation. Some communities have found it necessary to completely ban parking in certain congested areas. Angle parking should never be permitted except on extremely wide streets, and double parking is a menace under any circumstance. To prevent and control fire, a long succession of corrective steps must be taken. Proper parking control is one of the most important of these steps. An adequate, strictly enforced law may save a community great loss.

Pneumonia Cure Found

Pneumonia, long one of the leading causes of death in the human race, has received a severe setback in its deadliness by the discovery of a drug which works on all types of the disease. Developed by the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research,

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

THE chemical, used on 200 Pittsburgh patients, caused a decline of 50 per cent in the expected mortality from pneumonia. The death rate from this disease is about 100 per cent greater in Pittsburgh than in other cities.

The new chemical, derived from quinine, is a refinement of one discovered three years ago. Named hydroxy-ethyl-apocupriene, it can be traced back to 1911, when it was first learned that a certain quinine derivative, optochin, had definite ability to destroy pneumonia germs. In 1930 a Japanese, Miura, evolved another chemical of similar source which had even greater powers to the same end. But both preparations, when used in sufficient quantities to combat human pneumonia, induced blindness in the patient.

Mellon workers set as their task the removal of the blinding agent from the chemical while not impairing its effectiveness as a killer of pneumonia germs. About 20,000 white mice were used in the studies before the chemical was tried on a human being. In the last two years, during the treatment of 200 cases, no effect of blindness has been discovered.

During the summer of 1936 a new method of extraction was perfected which allows the manufacture of a sufficient quantity of the drug to afford widespread observation of its working. Research men, while stating that its use has resulted in a marked drop in the pneumonia death rate, said that it would be several years before its proper place in the treatment of pneumonia would be found.

enough—near Weaver's Needle. Through interminable canyons, she rode up and down and around, so rough was the terrain, but she knew her way. Then at last she climbed up a particularly steep slope—up where they could see the smelter smoke at the town of Superior 40 miles away and Squaw Peak in another vague distance—and stopped with them on a rocky flat no larger than a horse corral. She pointed to the base of a Boulder about head high, and said a word or two.

"It is there," the interpreter reported, simply. "You mean—the mine is under here?" Carolee was incredulous. "Yes. She says to dig. I will dig."

The youth moved many heavy stones. He loosened soil with the miner's pick he had brought. It was a slow business, and the women helped him. Once Carolee looked back, saw the men and signaled them to wait.

Waist deep in the hole they came onto wood. It was hard wood, extremely hard, and Carolee knew it was the desert ironwood that grows in Superstition. She recalled the Dutchman's story, decades before, that he had covered his mine shaft with just such logs. They would endure for centuries in so dry a region.

Ironwood grows but 15 or 20 feet tall, crooked and gnarled; and its trunks are never very thick. The longest over this mine shaft was about eight feet. But it was extremely heavy, and on hour or so elapsed before Carolee was in the open tunnel of the mine.

The tunnel was not very deep—30 feet or so, sloping gently into the bulk of the mountain. Carolee was so excited she couldn't help trembling. She picked up rocks and at once saw flecks of gold.

QUARTZ pieces, egg-sized, seemed high-lighted with the yellow metal. Near the end of the shaft she found the richest looking nuggets of all. One piece, like a pecan, seemed to be pure metal. The white girl stared at them for a long time, fingering them. Then she began softly to cry. "Oh, God," she whispered, "Help it not to make any difference. Help us to use it the right way."

employ but used in state service. The State Fish, Game and Oyster Commission, for instance, found that it cannot order tires for game warden's cars on the state tire contract. Wardens furnish their own cars and are allowed travel expense on a mileage basis for use of the cars. Threats to execute a contract for game wardens, separate from the general contract, were made.

Some amusing incidents marked the selection of candidates who will begin a training course for the State Board of Control at Camp Mabry on July 26. Citizen committees were appointed in various places to quiz the applicants after they had taken preliminary written examinations. Public Safety Commissioner W. H. Richardson, Austin, sat up at the Austin questioning.

An earnest, bronzed sturdy youth faced the committeemen. "Now," one of them said to the youth, "suppose you were a motor patrolman out on the road. Suppose a car came along going 85 miles an hour. Suppose you recognized the car number as that assigned to the governor. Suppose you recognized the driver as the governor himself. Would you stop him?" The applicant studied a minute and replied: "No."

"Why?" was the next question. "He's too big a man," was the answer. The committeeman observed Richardson turn aside and smother a laugh. He continued: Suppose W. H. Richardson came along at that same rate of speed. You recognize his car. You recognized him. You knew he was a member of the Public Safety Commission. What would you do?"

"I'd arrest him," was the prompt answer. "Why?" "The commission likely would get me on the carpet and fire me if I didn't, for neglect of duty," was the answer. "If that man makes the force (and he likely will) I'll sure drive carefully," remarked Richardson.

Saltiest yarn that resulted from the citizen-quizzing of prospective motor patrolmen, came from North Texas. One of the committeemen was arrested for a flagrant traffic violation on his way home after quizzing patrol applicants. He drove through a North Texas city that is very particular about observance of its right and left turns. He turned wrong.

A motor patrolman was on the job and handed him a ticket to appear before the judge. The committeeman offered to pay a cash fine. "We do not accept cash fines," he was told. "You will have to appear in court."

The embarrassed committeeman visioned himself telling the court before newspaper reporters that he had been arrested for traffic violation while returning from helping select traffic law enforcers. "I knew if I did that and the papers published it, I would be laughed out of the state," he confided later to the Public Safety Chairman Albert Sidney Johnson. "I took a long chance. I confessed to the patrolman and told him why I would prefer to pay a fine rather than face the court. He let me go."

The State Planning Board has been considering "So Big Texas" and has compiled these illustrative questions under the title "Did You Know?" That the governor of Texas rules more territory than any king or premier of Europe on the continental limits of his country, Russia alone excepted.

That Texas is so large that every man, woman and child in the world could be given an area of 65 feet square carved out of the state. That an aviator would pass over four states, a foreign country and the sea, if he should take an airline route to the five corners of Texas, and he would fly nearly as far as from New York to Los Angeles.

That Texas extends over 13 degrees of longitude and more than 10 1/2 degrees of latitude. The extent

WHEN they got home finally, bags laden with ore, they had calmed enough to watch the excitement of Mrs. Colter, to rest and to eat a bite, for it was then well past noon. Carolee, though, had no interest in eating. She mounted Chieftain again, but paused before she rode away. "I will meet all of you at the Lodge—for dinner," she told them. "Do not come with me now." She saw Silas grinning and knew that he would obey, knew that he didn't care.

She was alone when she stopped at the appointed spot down trail, their trysting place. She was holding a few of the best nuggets, but she wasn't thinking of them now. Strange calm had suffused her. The afternoon was waning. Evening colors were creeping into the cliffs. Velvety shadows were emerging from their midday lairs.

Far off to the northward she saw peaks tipped with sunset glow—iridescent western gold, elusive, vagrant but celestial. She sat very quietly. Never had the landscape been so magnificent, so exalting. Her hair waved with the breeze, and her lip trembled ever so little. Down the trail, then, she saw Stuart coming.

THE END

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, July 14 (AP)—State Capitol workers who thought they needed new tires for holiday automobile trips suffered a keen disappointment. They found holders of a new state tire contract had clamped down firmly against selling tires at state prices for use on any vehicle but a state-owned truck or car. As the discount is 50 per cent, it was a severe jolt. Some past tire contractors have not objected to orders at the state price for equipping private cars of state employes. The blow has fallen not alone on purchases by state employes for their family automobiles. It applies also to automobiles owned by the

The grasshopper poison is accepted at the County office at the rate of 3 cents per day and the poison is prepared as the request of farmers. Farmers are being furnished half the bran and sacks to hold the mixture.

Each female grasshopper can lay hundreds of eggs and if conditions are favorable these to hatch next year a much heavier infestation would be the result. Farmers are also urged to watch their feed and peanut crops for infestations of grasshoppers moving out of grassland.

The County Agent has sufficient Government bran and poison to supply all demands.

A Buzzer System Installed in Court

An electric buzzer system to notify the sheriff's department when a jury is ready to report or an escort is needed to take the group to meals has been installed with the controlling button in the 91st district court dormitory.

Previously, officials stated, the sheriff's department was notified of the needs of the jurors by their knocking or rattling of the dormitory door. The dormitory is on the fourth floor of the courthouse.

While the courthouse has two dormitories—one for 88th district court and the other for 91st district court—the latter is used almost exclusively. A fire in 88th's dormitory several years ago is the reason.

The buzzer system was used for the first time this week when May King was tried upon a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Fertilizer Triples Sudan Grass Yield

Five acres sudan fertilized early in May with T. V. A. Triple Superphosphate by J. D. Pittman of Seranton, has made three times as much growth per acre as adjoining sudan not fertilized, according to Elmo V. Cook, County Agent.

Pittman applied 100 pounds of fertilizer per acre two weeks before planting to sudan. He is demonstrating the high test phosphate fertilizer in cooperation with the Extension Service and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

A similar application of the same fertilizer made on an adjoining farm by Henry Pittman has made double the growth of untreated sudan. Soil on both of these farms is windhorst similar to 80 per cent of the soil of Eastland county.

There are twenty three farmers in Eastland county who are demonstrating T. V. A.

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (U.P.)—The Wyoming game and fish commission has announced that it will declare open season this fall on deer, elk, moose, mountain sheep, antelope, pheasants and blue grouse.

Cotton Farmers Told to Watch for Insects

R. R. Reppert, Extension Entomologist, while in Eastland county Saturday, conferring with the County Agent, advised cotton farmer to watch their crops closely for infestations of cotton flea hopper and boll weevils, and to use control measures if prospects for a good yield justify.

The cotton flea hopper is a small greenish-white insect about one eighth inch long and having wings when grown. It can be found in the terminal buds and young forms of cotton. A severe infestation results in a whip-like stalk with few side branches and few bolls set. A lighter infestation causes excessive growth of stalk without any fruiting. The small squares dry up and fall off.

The flea hopper can be controlled by dusting with 12 pounds of fine powdered sulphur per acre, repeated if there is a re-infestation. Some Eastland county farmers declare that the flea hopper does them more damage than the boll weevil.

Some time ago the County Agent secured an allotment of dusting sulphur to ruse on small acreage plots of adult and 4-H Club demonstrators. Those who are using this are F. S. Boland, I. S. Echols, Joe Donaway, H. M. Gilbert, and W. L. Trimble, all adults Club boys who are dusting under instructions from the Assistant County Agent are Tom Leveridge, Vernon Bennett, J. B. Adams, George Gilbert, Neil Eaves, Gene Guy, Jarrell Johnson, Jack Walker and Burl Nicholas.

For boll weevil control Reppert recommends dusting 6 pounds of calcium arsenate per acre so that the poison will adhere to the fin hairs on the plant. This should be done when a 10 per cent infestation of weevils is indicated by examining 100 or more forms. This should be repeated as often during the growing season as necessary.

Keeping Up With The Boy Scouts

By R. N. QUIRL

All of the members of the Jamboree delegation from the Comanche Trail Council are back home today. Each of the 25 Scouts, three leaders and the Scout Executive reports having had the most wonderful experience of a lifetime, while attending the National Jamboree in Washington, D. C. June 30th to July 9th. All Scouts, Scouters and others interested in Scouting in this area have a right to be proud of this Troop that represented them at the Jamboree. They were true Scouts in every sense of the word. Much recognition was given the Troop all during their stay in Washington. Their Comanche Indian Village and Indian Costumes created wide spread interest.

CAMP BILLY GIBBONS Camp Fire

The Camp-Fire promotes fellowship, develops poise, cements friendships and gives opportunity to the Scout for self-expression and is in many ways a most valuable feature. Much preparation has been made for the Camp Fire features of this season's program. New songs will be sung, new stunts worked out and new features will be introduced that are designed to entertain, to promote fellowship and to develop the Scout for his future.

Remember the Camp dates: July 20th to July 27th—July 28th to August 4th.

the way and at one time it seemed against hopeless odds. The boys wouldn't admit they were beat and kept hustling all the way until they reached within one run of Abilene and kept on until they got a one-run margin which they held until the end of the game.
The first two innings were air fight, neither side scoring or making an error and only three men on either side faced the pitcher. In the third, Abilene got one hit and cashed in on it for a home run when it got through the Gassers' left fielder. As an example of their fight and hustle for the entire game the Gas Co team came right back and in their part of the third scored two runs. In the fourth Abilene tied the count and went on to the fifth when they broke loose and seemingly led the game away by scoring four runs to give them a total of six for the night as in the next four frames they were held scoreless. In their part of the fifth Cisco Gas Corp came right back to score three runs and come with in one run of the Abilene crew. In the seventh Cisco scored two runs and got a one run lead which they held for the remaining two innings.

The entire Cisco Gas Co team deserves a lot of credit but most of it is due to their pitcher, Otho Bevins. Bevins pitched great ball and the hard hitting Abilene team on his hip all night. Several errors were made behind Bevins on seemingly easy outs but it never seemed to ruffle the big fellow and he kept right on pitching the same masterful ball.
The game was very close all the way last night. Cisco got eight hits and Abilene got seven. Both teams made six errors each. K. E. Sherman was the umpire and called a nice game. Sherman seems to be a mighty handy man around a ball park and does a good job wherever he is needed. Sawyers Carmichael and Downie were the base umpires. Announcer for the game was Hal Dyer.

Courtesy On The Golf Course

ACCORDING to the rules as laid down by the Ancient and Honorable St. Andrew's, a threesome has no rights on a golf course. But when, as is sometimes the case on the links of Jasper Park Lodge, Jasper National Park, Alberta, a threesome of bears wants priority on the fairway even a twosome is unlikely to dispute the point and, as in the picture above, will courteously step aside to let the long-haired threesome go through. Jasper National Park, being a game reservation as well as the world's largest playground, bear, deer, elk and even mountain sheep are to be encountered on the golf course. And that, sometimes, causes a knotty problem to arise as in the case of one player when a bear took after one of his drives and chewed up his ball, leaving him with the option of dropping a new ball and losing a stroke or playing the bear.
