City Council Holds First Meeting Of The Year

City manager John Boland discussed various city functions with Cisco's council members at the first regular City council meeting of 1979 on Tuesday night.

One of the main items concerning city functions dealt with water leaks in Cisco since December 1, 1978, to the present time. There have been 60 leaks, of which, the city's two crews have fixed 49 of the leaks so far. There have also been 18 cases of backed-up sewers during that time.

Boland also reported that work is continuing on Front and 11th Streets for future repaving. Both streets have been cut for natural flow and the base rock was applied to 11th Street on Tuesday. Plans also call for a sealer to be placed on the street this week, weather permitting.

Problems have also been experienced with a number of the city's vehicles. The brakes went out on the sanitation truck Tuesday—it was hoped to be fixed on Wednesday. The power steering and radiator have gone out on the 1976 police vehicle—it was also hoped to be repaired Wednesday. Several city pickups need tune-ups and possibly some overhauls.

He also reported there was a total of 151 fire calls in 1978. The average number of calls since 1970 has been 119 per year.

A pickup for the water department has been located for under the $3,000 limit agreed upon by the council recently, according to the City Manager. Mr. Boland gave a description of the vehicle to council members. He also informed the members of the council that he and three other city employees plan to go to Austin next week to look at used Texas Department of Public Safety vehicles which are to go up for auction.

Financial reports for October and November were also presented to the council by Boland. He informed council members that a briefing of those reports would be given to the newspaper for publishing. Those briefings may be found elsewhere in today's edition of The Cisco Press.

A report was made to the council on a study of Williamson Dam made by the U. S. Army Corp of Engineers and the Texas Department of Water Resources. The study's conclusion recommended that the city pursue an engineering study on certain parts of the dam including: (1) seepage of water into the dam, (2) getting flood gates back into usable condition, and (3) install an early warning system to warn people downstream should the dam ever show signs of stress or breaking.

A list of delinquent water bills was given to council members for review, along with a list of the number of "dead meters" and meters which were covered by the recent laying of telephone cables. Council member Lucy Collier made a motion to contact the telephone company and see about a repair on damages caused by the covering up of water meters. Council member Louise Allison seconded the motion with all members voting in its favor.

Boland informed council members that the city's rates to the Eastland County Dispatch have been increased from $1,147 to $1,285.20 per month effective with the January 1979 billing. Council members seemed to be in agreement that the County Dispatch management and personnel does not seem as good as good as it should be, and the members discussed the possibility of recreating the city's own dispatch if the service does not improve. A representative of the City council is to be sent to the next Eastland County Dispatch meeting to inform it of the feelings of the local city council.

A motion to honor a 1971 letter agreement with the Cisco Country Club for its water utility bill until the present time, was made by Council member LeeRoy Witzsche. The motion also called for the city and the Country Club to negotiate on future rates, to be raised on the January billing. Council member Collier seconded the motion which was passed.

The monthly bills for December were presented to the council for review and Council member Allison stated there is a need to cut back on the bills as much as possible. Council member Dick Ward made a motion to pay the bills, second by Council member Witzsche with all voting in its favor.

A discussion of seminar and school possibilities for specific staff members was held. Boland told the council of a Municipal Election Law Seminar he was considering attending and also of a Municipal Inspector School which he would like for Danny Petree and Leon Boles to attend. The general consensus of city manager, since they felt any questions he might have concerning election laws could be answered by some other means. The council also seemed to feel that Mr. Petree and Mr. Boles would be of more benefit at the present time doing their regular work in the water department.

Council member Raymond Whitley made a motion to accept a $7,000 bid by Garl Gorr for seven acres of land recently advertised for sale by the city. Council member War seconded the motion which passed with the following Council members voting in its favor: Morgan Fleming, Witzsche, Ward and Whitley. Council member Allison voted no and Council member Collier abstained from voting.

Council member Ward made a motion to apply for a 1979 Youth Conservation Corps Grant which would allow the city to hire 18 youths for nine weeks of work at Lake Cisco Park this summer, as in the summer of 1978. Council member Witzsche seconded the motion and all members except Allison voted in its favor.

Cisco ISD Tax Rendition Forms Are Now Available

Rendition forms for the 1979 tax year are now available at the Cisco ISD tax office located at 610 Avenue D. State law requires that each local property owner render his or her property for each tax year between January 1 and April 1. Property to be rendered is both real property and personal property. Included in these categories are mobile homes which are considered real property if located on land owned by the mobile home owner, or as personal property if located on rented or leased land.

Renditions are not difficult to fill out and can usually be filled out in a few minutes.

HOWEVER, it is important for each property owner to fill one out by April 1, 1979. If then the state law requires the School District tax assessor to place a fair market value on the property and place it on an unrendered roll.

While the property owner is at the tax office, he or she should ask about the $5,000.00 homestead exemption which the school district will grant to those qualifying for 1979.

If you have any questions concerning either the renditions or the homestead exemptions, please call 442-1299 or come by the school district tax office.

Mary Philpott Admitted To Pharmacy School

Mary Philpott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Philpott, 705 West 2nd Street, Cisco, has been admitted to the Southwestern State University School of Pharmacy in Weatherford, Okla.

Miss Philpott had completed two years of college study before being accepted for the school's three year professional program, which leads to a bachelor of science in pharmacy degree.

Putnam Musical To Be Friday

The Putnam musical will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday, January 12, at the Putnam schoolhouse. The ladies of the community will be serving sandwiches, pies, coffee and soft drinks. An invitation is extended to area musicians.

Trustees For School District Hold Regular Meet

Trustees for the Cisco Independent School District met for their regular monthly meeting January 8, 1979. The Board took the following actions: (1) Approved the minutes for the December Board Meeting; (2) Authorized the payment of the current bills; (3) Approved the proposed Five-Year Plan to meet accreditation standards for submission to the Texas Education Agency; (4) Called for a Trustee Election to be held April 7, 1979, for the purpose of electing Trustees for Place 6 and Place 7 on the Board; (5) Appointed Mrs. Thelma Smith as Election Judge for the Trustee Election; (6) Extended the contract of the superintendent for an additional year.

The Board discussed recent tax legislation and its effect on the school district. The Board also heard reports concerning the operation of the tax office and transportation.

The Board of Trustees for the Cisco Independent School District met monthly on the second Monday of each month. Members of the Board are Charles Humphries, Emmett Rich, Shirley Evans, George Owens, Willis Parker, Donald Gorr and Johnny Cagle.

Annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale To Kick-Off On January 12

The January 12 kick-off date for the annual Girl Scout cookie sale is about a month ahead of the usual schedule for the Heart of Texas area because Girl Scouts will be taking advance orders this year.

Many Girl Scout cookie customers were disappointed last year because there were not enough cookies to go around. To solve that dilemma, Girl Scouts will take orders January 12-20 and will deliver cookies fresh from the bakery February 16-24. The pre-order period will give customers a chance to order exactly the quantity and kind of cookies they want. It is important that orders be placed in advance since very few extra cookies will be available.

The Girl Scouts want all of their customers to know that cookies should not be paid for until delivery is made. Payment is not to be made at the time cookies are ordered. The annual cookie sale allows Girl Scouts to help earn their own way for year around troop activities, for a variety of camping programs, for membership development and program services.

Rather than asking the public to contribute money to help pay for Girl Scout camp development (tents, lodges, swimming pools), the girls earn the opportunity for camp fun with cookie sale profits. Individual camp fees to attend Girl Scout camp can be held to the absolute minimum for food and other direct costs since the camp and its facilities are paid for from cookie sale profits. minimum direct-cost fees make it possible for more girls to participate in the program.

Girl Scout troops earn a commission on sales which finances year around activities and defrays costs for individuals.

The big new for the 1979 sale is the "cookie currency" bonus plan for individual girls. In past years girls were able to earn credit toward their resident camp fee from their effort in the cookie sale. Since all girls who earned camperships could not always attend camp, benefits were sometimes lost. This year girls will earn cookie currency which they may apply to a variety of program opportunities, use to purchase Girl Scout handbooks and equipment, or contribute to a fund to help other girls benefit from Girl Scouting. Earnings from the 1978 sale helped send eight girls and two adults to the Girl Scout World Center in Mexico, paid camp fees for 90 girls to attend resident camp, provide materials and audio-visual equipment for an expanded educational program, and launched a 5-year development plan at the Girl Scout camp located at Lake Brownwood State Park. The 5-year development plan calls for additions to and modifications of existing facilities to turn the property into a year around multi-purpose program center. The program center will be used by girls from a 19 county area and by adults for training and business meetings, as well as serving throughout the summer as the Girl Scout resident camp. Girl Scouts are depending upon a big sale this year to complete work now in progress at the campsite.

Resources Of Bank At All-Time High Mark

The total resources of the First National Bank in Cisco amounted to $24,084,098.53 as the new year began and this figure represented an all-time high mark for the local financial institution, according to President L.D. Woolley.

The bank's resources gained some $690,000 during the year, records showed. The gain was largely in deposits, which reflected an increase nearly $700,000 over figures published in September 1978.

The Dec. 31, 1978, statement showed deposits totalling $22,238,581.92. Loans amounted to $7,197,036.57—up about $150,000 from September. The bank statement listed capital stock of $100,000 plus an earned surplus of $150,000 and undivided profits of $100,000.

Mr. Woolley said the growth in the bank's resources could be interpreted as an indication of general progress of the community.

"We serve a fine community with diversified industry," Mr. Woolley said. "Our bank's condition probably reflects more than anything else the financial health of the community."

The bank's annual meeting of stockholders will be held late this month.

Allye Terrell And Vida Killion Have Articles Published In December, 1978

Allye Terrell and Vida Killion of Cisco both had articles published in December, 1978.

Mrs. Terrell wrote a nostalgic article entitled "Christmas 1907" which is in the Good Old Days Christmas Annual 1978, and may be purchased at the newsstands. Her article recalls Christmas in 1907 when she was a little girl. Mrs. Terrell has had many articles published, and was a first place winner in the article division of the Abilene Writers Guild Contest in 1977. She serves as secretary of the Scribes and Scribblers Club in Cisco.

Mrs. Killion's article, "Will You Miss Christmas?" was published in the Pentecostal Evangel in the December 1978 issue. She has been published frequently, and recently won a place in the Writer's Digest contest, a national contest. Her article was about how people become so wrapped up in doing things, that sometimes they tend to forget the real meaning of Christmas. The Pentecostal Evangel is not available on the newsstands, but may be ordered. Mrs. Killion serves as the publicity chairman for the Scribes and Scribblers Club.

MRS. ELLEN JUSTICE

Very Active Retiree!

By: Viola Payne

Next week a trim little woman named Ellen Justice, who lives on Ave. D in Cisco, may sleep a little later than usual.

At least she won't be getting her hair done in a beauty shop at 6 a.m., as she sometimes did during her 20 years as Treasurer of Eastland County. Nor will her car be headed on its familiar trail down old highway 80, where she always tripped up the gray marble step to her second floor offices.

For Ellen retired from her office as County Treasurer on January 1st, but has worked for a few more days to assure a smooth transition for the new Treasurer.

But a visit to her home in Cisco shows that she is not planning to retire from living after retiring from her job. For she has enough plans, projects and crafts to fill several lives.

Actually Ellen Justice has filled more than one role for a number of years. From 8:30-5:00 she held her post in the court house, keeping proper records on cash flows of county funds. She signed around million dollar in checks each year, which pay for County Government and Public Service.

There has been Ellen Justice, ranch woman, operating about 1,000 acre of grazing land north of Ranger ruining her hair-do in a stiff freeze, out checking the tanks, and, unloading bales of hay.

But equally as efficient has been Ellen Justice, mother, homemaker, who baked good meals, and kept a super-heat house and saw that her two children went to college.

Along with that part of life came the incredible dress making and quilt making, needle-point, and hand-crafts, flower and vegetable growing, and neighborly deeds.

The faithful support of Methodist Church and participation in the order of the Eastern Star, where she has served as Worthy Matron, Cisco Chapter, and the picture emerges of a lady with lots of energy and zest for living.

Ellen says her up-bringing in the LaCasa community, 10 miles north of Ranger, taught her how to cope with reality. "A ranch teaches what life is all about," she reflects.

Her parents, the Gardenhires, were past German and Irish.

She inherited their hazel eyes and golden-brown hair, plus a wider scope of experiences than some girls obtained in the World War I ERA.

She not only learn to cook, and sew, but trailed around on the ranch, learning to care for cattle.

She rode horses and became, she says, "quite a tom-boy" and physically strong.

She also learned to handle emotions. "My first cow was a Roam Durahm-a beautiful young cow. And you know, she took sick from a disease, and died on me."

Ellen became active as a 4-H worker and won a number of prizes on cooking and sewing. She was also awarded several trips.

She was named A Gold Star Girl in the early 1920's. She attended Frankell High School, where she played as an outstanding basketball team.

She remembers a teacher, Clara Siner, as being special encouragement to her.

When Ellen was 22 years old she married a young man named Rufus Justice.

He had taught school when he was 18 years old, but at the time of their marriage was working for Phillips Petroleum as a chemist and Plant Superintendent.

"We were both Methodist, but married in Breckenridge, by a Pope," Ellen chuckles. "The minister was Rev. Kenneth Pope."

Rufus had the magnificent salary of $150 per month, which would go a long way during the depression, Ellen made a pleasant home. At the various places the company stationed them.

They were transferred to Ivex, Albany, Pioneer, Crane, and came back to Ivex several times. During these years they saved money and invested it in land back in LaCasa joining with property that Ellen inherited from her family.

Two children were born to the couple-Robert Walter, and Janice Kay. Rufus began to plan for his children to attend college when they were babies.

The family decided to move to Cisco, and Rufus continued to over see the ranch until his death in 1953.

Ellen was never a person to brood over difficulty, Robert was in North Texas at Denton with Janice in Junior High, so there were things to be done. Ellen took a job in J. T. Richardson Grocery down the street in Cisco.

She continued to manage the ranch, during her "spare" time.

After 1958 several people including a county commissioner, suggested that she runs for the office of County Treasurer.

She still seems slightly surprised at winning her first four year term so easily. During all the next election she had only one opponent, and always drew a large number of votes.

"The 20 years I spent in the office seem short" she says "yet a lot of changes have taken place."

I had a good supervisor to help me get started Harle O'Brien. The work load has increased over the years, with more money coming into the treasurer's office and more having to be spent."

Ellen considered the county firm as a personal and public trust.

She, with the assistance of an auditor, made a study on how to handle the County funds so as, to obtain interest for the County on this money.

Now the current funds are arranged so they can collect a nice interest, which had never been done in the Eastland County District, before.

Ellen, never had any difficulty, in her office, but several other experiences were not so pleasant. She was present at two fatal court house shootings which, strangely enough, happened at the same place in the building, "after that second time of missing a stray bullet," she reports, "I became a little-shy."

Occasionally roads between Eastland, and Cisco would ice over, making travel difficult.

At two different times Ellen's car, while headed to Cisco, turned completely around on the ice and headed itself towards Eastland. But Ellen missed few days of office work from illness and other causes.

During these years her children finished college. Robert graduated from North Texas State, and Janice attended U. of Texas and McMurry in Abilene.

She later received her Master's Degree at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Robert's now an Insurance Adjuster for State Farm in Abilene, where he lives with his wife, Nancy, and daughter Marki and son Chad.

Janice is a Councilor for the school system at Smiley Wilson Junior High in Lubbock.

Both spend as much time as possible with their mother at Cisco or on the family ranch.

Ellen has tried to improve the ranch, over the years, stating that dry weather is her worst enemy.

She runs about 60 cows at the present time, all herefords. She chooses registered herd bulls from top ranches, and has a fine one at present from the Gene Pickard Ranch near Albany.

Ellen hates prickly pear and cholla cactus almost as much as dry weather.

She doesn't need to ride a horse to find her cattle. They are so tame they follow her when they hear the pick-up. "They are soothing creatures to be around," she says.

Ellen's beautiful gold-color Persian cat, Rusty, also enjoys trips to the ranch, and will remind Ellen if she doesn't turn on the car air-conditioner during hot weather.

Ellen's neighbors thinks of her as a person who bakes fresh apple cake, makes beautiful dresses, and is the one who climbs ladders including one into Lela Lloyd's tall pear tree to rescue the very best pears.

Then there was the time someone caught Ellen climbing into an attic, to run the vacuum sweeper up there.

Or how about the time she flew to help bring things under control when Lela Lloyd's water pipes froze and burst while Lela was in the Holy Lands.

All these things make-up the sum total of her life. "An important thing is to make other people happy, and try to be happy," Ellen reflects. And so she won't be sleeping too much later on these cold mornings after all.

There are too many interesting things she wants to get done!

Issues of the 1980's

To Seven Out Of 10 Americans, the most Urgent National Priority Is To Control Inflation

At the moment, the American people are obsessed with the problem of inflation. Seven out of 10 feel that "getting inflation under control" is the most urgent national priority.

It is clear that people are bewildered and frustrated by the persistence of inflation. They doubt the ability of those in power to deal with the problem effectively, and they are beginning to feel the corrosive effects of inflation on their freedom of choice, their lifestyles and their expectations for the future.

One of the consequences can be seen in the following finding from a recent Harris survey. The public was asked to choose between two economic scenarios.

The first: "An expanding economy which would give you a chance for a higher income and a higher standard of living, but would be accompanied by rising inflation and periodic recessions."

The other: "An economy with little growth which would allow for only a slow but steady increase in your standard of living and your income, but would also mean little inflation and few recessions."

By an overwhelming 81 percent, the public chose the latter scenario.

Of course, a change in the economic situation can mean a change in the way people feel about inflation. This sort of fluctuation has marked the fever chart of economic attitudes for a decade now.

But the long, wearing experience with inflation will be difficult to forget. It is part of the emotional and intellectual baggage that Americans will carry into the 1980's.

The County Will Have To Make Another Very Special Effort To Help Minorities

This is also true with the people's experience with unemployment. Long after the statistics of the professional economists show that joblessness is a dwindling problem, the public continues to project and anxiety about jobs. This is bound to continue, however buoyant the formal indicators are.

The public senses that the demand for jobs is growing at a rate that may outstrip the ability of society to provide them. New groups continue to enter the labor force (or however impatiently around the edges) and those who have jobs are reluctant to give them up.

Seventy-five percent of the people favor the law that ended mandatory retirement at 65, and only about half of those now employed say they would retire at 65, even if they had enough money to live on comfortably.

With our aging population, the jobs problem is serious.

It is reassuring to note that 67 percent of the public say they get a "great deal" of satisfaction out of the work they do. But this feeling of work satisfaction has a very special mix, and it is constantly changing.

As the work force matures and grows during the 1980's both business and labor will have to be continually sensitive to this change.

For the average American, the economic aspects of a job (salary, benefits, security) are still the most important, but very close behind is a constellation of intangibles. People want to find meaning in their jobs. They want a chance to use their minds and abilities, appreciation from their superiors and respect from their co-workers, and a feeling of personal growth. The better educated they are, the more they want these things, and the work force of the 1980's will be a highly educated group.

One of the great challenges before American business will be to foster the conditions that will satisfy these wants without sacrificing the vigor and discipline of the workplace that have made the U.S. the industrial giant it is.

Environment

Critics of the environmental movement (or of its excesses, as they would put it) are pleased to note a certain slackening of intensity, a willingness to consider the relationship between cost and cleanup. However, this should not obscure the fact that the public has a deep commitment to cleaning up the environment. People's views are more pragmatic than they were, but the basic thrust has not changed.

It should be remembered that the environmental movement is relatively new. Just as with energy, the public has been educated on the subject in a very short time. As people learn more, their views will continue to change. They may be prepared to accept a slightly greater degree of risk if the promised benefit is sufficiently great. But on the whole there will be no turning back from the goal of a clean environment.

Scientific Research

It is important to know what the American people think of scientific and technological research, if only because the public finally pays the bill for it.

People have doubts about science; they've seen its darkside. But they show a deep faith that scientific research will come up with the answers to the most pressing problems, particularly in the fields of energy and health. When asked what factors made America great, they group scientific research, rich natural resources and a hard-working people at the head of the list. When asked what factors will continue to make America great, they still put scientific research at the very top, but the other factors have dropped far behind.

As a corollary, people tend to criticize both business and government for putting too little money into research. They also believe that too much of the research effort is concerned with trivial developments, rather than with the basic breakthroughs they want.

Health Care

Americans are shocked by the soaring costs of health care. They may be relatively satisfied with the quality and availability of care, but they are appalled by the price, even if the bills usually are paid by someone else.

It seems certain that a massive churning of attitudes about the health care system will be a major characteristic of the 1980's. This is suggested by the way the subject has been politicized. Indeed, the insistence with which Senator Edward Kennedy pushes his national health insurance plan in the face of evidence that his position is more extreme than the public favors suggests the powerful potential of the health care issue.

The Swearing-In Of Gov. Clements January 16 To Be Followed By Few Traditions

One Texas governor refused to wear socks to his inauguration; another wouldn't trim his shoulder-length hair.

One former chief executive had to walk alone to his swearing-in ceremonies and one refused to show up for the inauguration on principle.

When William P. Clements, Jr., places his hand January 16 on the worn Bible used to swear in Texas governors, he will be following one of the few traditions connected with gubernatorial inaugurations. Many of the state's chief executives have contributed some unique approaches to that solemn ceremony.

Jack Maguire, Executive Director of The University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, has been researching Texas governors and their inaugurations for many years. Here are some of the facts he has turned up:

When Texas joined the Union, the first gubernatorial inauguration was held on February 19, 1846 in front of the frontier structure that served as the State Capitol. As the Lone Star Flag was lowered and the American flag hoisted, President Anson Jones stepped down with the words, "The Republic of Texas is no more" and James Pickney Henderson was sworn in.

The present Capitol, completed in 1888, could proudly lay claim to being the seventh largest building in the world. The first swearing-in ceremonies in that structure took place in 1889 with the well-dressed guests filling the galleries and the House of Representatives. However, they were forced to sit on the floor because furniture was not yet installed.

One writer observed that Texas inaugurations have been "bigger'n Dallas, better'n any other and bragged on from here to Alaska."

However, Governor Sam Houston's 1861 inaugural didn't begin to live up to this reputation. Houston, opposed to secession from the Union, refused to sign the Confederacy oath of fealty. In protest to Texas' entry into the Civil War, he didn't attend his second term inaugural, so Lieutenant Governor Edward Clark stepped in and Houston returned to his Huntsville home. The first native son sworn into office was James Stephen Hogg who became governor in 1891. The event was marked with fireworks shot from the Capitol Dome.

Miriam Amanda "Ma" Ferguson became Texas' and America's first woman Governor in 1925. Although reporters dubbed the event "epoch making," they couldn't resist a thorough description of her swearing-in attire, making her the only governor so well described.

"Mrs. Ferguson wore a black silk gown trimmed with wide gray fur and gray beads. Her hat was a brown, close fitting creation with a turned down brim and black goose quills. She wore a black coat. Black satin slippers completed the costume."

The inaugurations have had humorous sides. The second governor, George T. Woods, refused to wear socks, not only at the 1847 swearing-in but throughout his term. His successor, Peter Hansbrough Bell, sported shoulder-length hair. But the standard gear of the former Texas Ranger, a Bowie knife and two pistols, stifled any snide comments.

In 1903, Governor-elect S.W. T. Lanham and family were forced to walk unescorted to his ceremonies from his hotel. In the excitement of the occasion, the inaugural committee neglected to make more seemingly travel arrangements for the state's new governor. W. L. Pappy O'Daniel, the state's 33rd governor, took the oath of office in The University of Texas Memorial Stadium with some 50,000 Texans in attendance. His second inauguration in 1941 was also a tradition-breaker with mass invitations issued through the press and all Texans in attendance were invited to stay for the barbecue on the Executive Mansion grounds. They ate some 19,000 pounds of beef, mutton and buffalo.

Inaugural balls have run the gamut from a Civil War period celebration where corn meal cake was served because of flour shortages to a square dance at Beauport Jester's Ball. John Ireland, the Governor in 1883, waltzed 22 times with his wife at his ball and still made room on his card for several other ladies. Preston Smith's inauguration was marked by country music and retiring Governor Dolph Briscoe insisted on non-alcoholic beverages at both of his inaugurations.

Austin's historic Driskill Hotel saw the inaugural Ball of the popular Governor Lawrence Sullivan Ross in 1887. High Society was in attendance but the new Governor's father kept them aware of their frontier roots.

Shapely Prince Ross, a tall, rough Indian fighter with a love for hard living and drink, was a Texas legend in his own right. In the mid-1800's he was known as the oldest Indian fighter in the State. And he played as hard as he lived. Fearing his frontier-brand of fun, a guardian was assigned the old man to keep him sober. But "Old Shap" proved the stronger willed of the two and they wove their way to the Driskill with stops at the bars lining Capitol Avenue. A hotel doorman, not recognizing the Governor's father, refused him entrance without an invitation. Not to be stopped, the crusty old frontiersman bellowed for the man to stand back or "I'll call my boy, Sul, out of there, and we'll wreck the place." h he was admitted.

With this kind of variety Governor Clements will be hard-pressed to raise an historian's eyebrow. But given the Texas penchant for the unusual, he may just find a way.

Rep. Charles Stenholm Announces 1979 Plans

PEANUTS ...

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announces that the public has been invited to recommend price support levels and other provisions of the 1979 crop peanut program by February 5, 1979.

Among the items for which recommendations are sought are:

- the national support level for quota peanuts;
- the national support level for additional peanuts;
- sales policy for additional peanuts acquired by the government under the 1979 program and sold for export edible use.

Comments should be directed to the Acting Director, Price Support and Loan Division, ASCS, USDA Room 3741 South Building, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Legislation requires price support of not less than $420 per ton be made available on 1979 crop peanuts produced within a farm's poundage quota. It also requires price support on peanuts produced within a farm's acreage allotment but in excess of the poundage

FINANCES ...

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announces that he will introduce legislation to provide for a Constitutional amendment to balance the federal budget, except in times of war and national emergency. The newly elected Congressman is of the firm conviction that this provision is necessary in order to maintain the fiscal integrity of this Country.

Stenholm believes we should move away from the old Keynesian philosophy of "tax and spend and spend some more." We have come to the point where we must pay our bills and not defer them to another generation who will pay the price of our folly.

Congressman Stenholm believes in a conservative spending policy and will vote against unnecessary federal programs.

Texas Arbor Day To Be Jan. 19

Texas Arbor Day, the day traditionally set aside to plant trees, will be observed this year on Jan. 19.

"What better way to aid in preserving our environment than by planting a tree adapted to our area of this great state," emphasizes Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Arbor Day was once a special event in the lives of many Texas citizens. In many communities, the trees that are so admired today are the direct result of the labor and attention given so readily by children and interested adults of by-gone generations, notes Janne.

"In recent years, much has been written about the value of trees for purposes other than to provide lumber and shade. Research reports indicate that tree barriers can reduce noise levels as much as 50 percent. They also serve as giant air cleaners filtering out the dust as well as using the carbon dioxide in the air to produce the lumber and shade we need," says Janne.

"Too often we take the majestic beauty of our trees for granted; we forget the benefits they give us. As a gift to future generations, we should initiate programs in our community to plant trees in our home yards, parks, public grounds and many of the so-called waste lands, contends the landscape horticulturist.

When planting a tree, give some thought in selecting varieties and species suited to the area, advises Janne. Too frequently people are impatient and want immediate results, so weak, fast growing varieties are used. All too often the silver maple, cottonwood, Siberian elm and other rapidly growing trees grow, mature and die out in one or two generations. For permanent plantings select oak, pecan, magnolia, bald cypress, Deodar cedar and similar species.

"Remember, Texas Arbor Day occurs during the prime tree planting season. The cold, usually moist soil at this time

Homemakers With Physical Limitations Make Work Easier

Homemakers with physical limitations can make work easier by simplifying their tasks, says Linda McCormack, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Homemakers with physical limitations can use the following principles of work simplification:

- (1) Arrange a special work place for each job. Keep supplies and equipment stored in fixed work places. Pre-position tools and supplies so that they can be grasped and used

Ft. Worth Exposition And Fat Stock Show To Open Jan. 24

When the 1979 edition of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo opens Jan. 24 as part immediately.

Adjust the work-place height to the person and the job. Do not store often-used items out of reach.

(2) Select the right tools and equipment to do the job. Eliminate unnecessary motions like "smoothing" a bed.

Locate machine switches and controls within easy reach.

Select appliances with accessible controls. Change location of switches where possible, or use electric cords with their own switches.

(3) Choose equipment for multiple use.

Do not buy one-use-only appliances. Try to use multi-purpose appliances, such as electric skillet, blender, toaster-oven.

(4) Use body efficiently.

Sit to work whenever possible. Select a comfortable chair with adequate support for the back, or use a stool for short-time jobs.

Slide things instead of lifting and carrying. Slide pots from range to counter.

Use a cart or basket to carry laundry, groceries, dishes.

Use mechanical devices for holding. Too often the use of one hand is wasted in holding something which could be held mechanically.

Use suction cups, clamps, cleats or other holding devices so that both hands are free to work. Use both hands when possible.

Avoid having one hand lie idle while the other does most of the work—many tasks take half as much time if both hands are used.

of the 83rd annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, fans will be seeing a new concept in Rodeo production.

W.R. Watt Jr., Stock Show president manager said Neal Gay of Mesquite, Texas will be Fort Worth Rodeo production manager. He will have an association of seven other major stock supplying companies from the United States and Canada.

The Rodeo will be presented in 22 performances through Feb. 4 in Will Rogers Coliseum. The box office is open daily, including Sundays, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"The Stock Show Rodeo, being one of the foremost competitive events of its kind in the nation with a purse of over $150,000, draws more than 700 cowboys and the rodeo stock must be sufficiently strong in order to present an outstanding performance to the public," Watt said.

Production of a rodeo in the manner prepared for Fort Worth this year will mark another first for the rodeo business, Gay said. "Fort Worth is recognized by many as the nation's most outstanding rodeo," he added.

Gay said the group in the contract combine is possibly the largest contingent on the North American Continent for a single rodeo aside from the National Finals. "Our concept was created this year to assure Fort Worth Rodeo fans they will be seeing the best rodeo stock available Gay said.

On hand to give cowboy contestants still competition will be Sippin Velvet, voted bareback horse of the year for 1978 by members of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. The horse is owned by Bernis Johnson of B Bar J Rodeo Co., and gave only one qualified ride in 38 times out in 1978.

Saddle bronc of the year for 1978, a registered Quarter Horse mare named Angel Sings, is also in the line-up.

Putnam News

By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

The new year really came in with a bang! Ice, snow and cold. The .07 degree temperature left lots of people with frozen water pipes. We are just thankful that our telephone and electric lines did not break. Just now the sun is peeping out (Sunday p.m.). How good it will be to be able to get out of the house once more.

A lot of our people have had the flu and virus. Mrs. George Weeks entered the West Texas Medical Center Thursday. She will undergo tests and possible surgery. Due to the cold and the ice on roads there has been very little visiting or coming and going the past week.

Mr. Butch Petty and boys of Eastland visited his parents, the John Pettys Saturday and got wood for the fireplace.

Mrs. John Petty and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fry of Cisco went to Abilene Friday morning and brought a birthday cake to the Baird Nursing home. The Putnam Study Club was to host a birthday party for Mrs. Laura Jobe on her 104th birthday Friday. The roads were so bad none of the club members were able to attend. Mrs. Jobe has lived in Putnam many years before going to the nursing home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Borson of Houston visited her mother, Maxie Solomon and Jack Ramsey one day this week.

Bobby Voight of Baird spent the weekend with Ronald Green.

Miss Karen Pierce of Abilene spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Green and Buford.

Having New Year's dinner with the Greens were Mr. and Mrs. James Isenhower and family of Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Isenhower and Donald Isenhower and a friend from Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle Isenhower and Laura and Martin spent last weekend at Fort Worth with Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Team. They intended to come home on Sunday but were iced in and had to stay until Tuesday.

THE DEATH OF Mr. Conrad Hilton at age 91 last week in San Monica, Calif., is cause for sadness for a few folks in Cisco and this region of Texas. As noted in national news telecasts and papers the noted hotel man got his start in Cisco.

The news told how the young WWI veteran from New Mexico came to Cisco in 1919 with $5,000 that represented his life savings. He came to buy a bank. He

WILLIAM HUNTER HOLT Billy and Debbie Holt of Breckenridge announce the birth of a son, William Hunter Holt, born Sunday, December 31, in Eastland Memorial Hospital. He weighed eight pounds and seven ounces. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Sullivan of Euless. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Avery Holt of Cisco.

Graveside Rites Held Monday For Ruth Norman

Graveside services for Ruth Englet Norman, 78, of Cisco, were at 11 a.m. Monday in Corinth Cemetery, directed by Holly-Rhine Funeral Home. The Rev. Buddy Sipe, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated.

She died at 3:30 p.m. Friday at the E. L. Graham Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

She was born November 14, 1900, in Texas. She was a long-time Cisco resident.

Survivors include several nephews.

was staying at the Mobley Hotel while negotiations were taking place with the bank. When the bank deal blew up, he used his $5,000 to buy the Mobley. His business career from that day is told in a book he wrote--Be My Guest by Conrad Hilton.

A YEAR OR so ago, Mr. Lee Lieske of our town was at the old Mobley Hotel. A big car stopped and distinguished looking man got out of a back seat. He spoke to Mr. LL and spent some time looking around...enjoying, perhaps, moments of nostalgia. Before leaving, he introduced himself to Mr. LL. And as he departed, Mr. Hilton remarked "I may buy this old hotel some day."

Some months later, the old Mobley was purchased by a Houston Trust who declined to say who it represented. A local attorney believes the agent was representing the Hilton family. The old Mobley has not been in use now for several years. Mr. Lieske kept on eye on it while it was owned for some time by a Mr. Martindale of Seattle.

Local civic leaders have been hopeful that the Hilton Hotel people would indeed take over the old Mobley and, perhaps, turn it into a deluxe hotel museum for the collection of Conrad Hilton mementoes, which must be significant and valuable.

ERIS RITCHIE, local public relations man, visited with Mr. Hilton several times during the past few years. Mr. Hilton always enjoyed talking with Eris about Cisco and gave him a large picture that was framed and may be seen in the Corral Room at the Hotel Annex (the old Victor Hotel).

Some 25 years ago, we wrote Mr. Hilton a letter to inquire as to whether a tract of land owned by Mr. Hilton's late mother near Scranton was for sale. It was, and we bought it in partnership with the late Austin Flint, local realtor and businessman. Today, that tract is owned by Bill Gattis of the Scranton Community.

Let's hope that a fitting memorial to one of the world's most notable innkeepers will be restoration of the old-Mobley as a center for his mementoes...A sign

Mr. Hilton's body was buried in Dallas.

THE ICE AND snow that spent a week or more with us could be a lot worse, reports City Manager John Boland. While vacationing on the ski slopes near Denver during the holiday season, the Bolands got up one morning with the temperature 25 degrees below zero. And the north wind reduced the chill factor to around 75 degrees below zero.

The Boland enjoyed skiing several days. Returning home they did not have road ice problems until they got to Childress where they had to stop for a night and part of a day.

WALKING ON ice can be treacherous. Mr. C.P. (Doc) Everett fell at their home on West 9th Street and was taken to the hospital for treatment of a head injury... Three local CPAs went to Dallas last week for a three-day seminar on what's new in income tax rules and regulations. Making the trip were Charles Clark, Bobby Smith and Vic Verrett. The seminar was sponsored by the Texas Certified Public Accountants Association.

SENOR S. LOPEZ tells us that there's going to be a policeman in his family. Son Jammie leaves college as of mid-term to enroll Jan. 9th at the Texas Highway Patrol Academy in Austin. Upon graduation in three months or so, he'll be assigned duties as a highway patrolman in some Texas County. Jammie is a graduate of Cisco High School, attended CJC and has been at Texas Tech...Mrs. Ray Judia of our town is reported as doing nicely after undergoing eye surgery over in an Abilene hospital last week. Her son, Frank, of Memphis, Tenn., was delayed in arriving for a visit by icy highways...Program Chairman Jerry Pruitt asked Lions Club members to tell "Where I'd like to be in this icy weather" when the scheduled speaker was unable to attend their luncheon last Wednesday noon...And Cisco Rotarians heard a talk by an official of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, Abilene, at their Thursday noon luncheon.

CITY WORKERS had a lot to do this past week as the temperatures in the teens caused water lines to burst at several places, including one in the alley near the bank's drive-in window...A sign posted at the vacant plot across from the Exxon Service Station just before you go under IH-20 says "Future Home of Super Six Convenience Store." The lot was owned at one time by the Phillips Oil Company. BURGLARS WHO broke into the offices Dr. Robert Blackstock, local dentist, and Dr. C.M. Cleveland, optometrist, got a small amount of money from Dr.

RB and nothing from Dr. CMC, they told us...If it takes 72 hours of continuous freezing temperatures to kill the bugs that eat fruit and beans, our areas should be all set for a good crop in 1979. We've had something like 150 hours of continuous below freezing weather since the seige began. See by the papers, that Amarillo had 265 hours as of early Tuesday.

And built into this Amana:

- Exclusive Amana 3-position Energy Saver Control.
- "Refrigerator-within-a-refrigerator" keeps meat fresh longer than ordinary meat pans because super cold air surrounds the outside without drying the meat.
- Five half-width cantilever shelves, four of which adjust in height.
- Convertible doors let you change from right- to left-hand door opening anytime.
- Add an automatic ice maker anytime you choose (optional at extra cost).
- Two automatic cold controls. One for the freezer. One for the refrigerator. Set one independently of the other.

The Good Word from the Bible

a weekly inspirational message for today's life-styles...

And Jesus, walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. And he saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

St. Matthew 4:18-15

We must wonder what it was about Jesus so compelling that men would give up family, job and friends and follow merely because they were asked.

For what cause would any of us give up security, the life that we know, for an uncertain future? Most of us consider the pros and cons before we change jobs or buy a new home or automobile.

We are, in many ways, so concerned with the process of continually building security into our lives that we fail to see that Jesus, through a life upon earth, and through the message passed down through the centuries, said to all men, "Follow me."

Make Learning Rewarding To Children

Make learning real and rewarding for children, then talk with them about these learning experiences.

Every year thousands of youths drop out of school because they are failing or bored with school, a family life education specialist reports.

Most of them are of average or even high intelligence. Yet, learning has little value to them. Patricia Lamson says.

Ms. Lamson is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

To a young child, even more than an older child or a college student, learning must be real, and it must be rewarding.

MAKE LEARNING REAL
Learning must relate to the child's own world and to what has meaning to him.

For example, happenings within the family are important and real to children.

They love to tell friends and teachers about them.

Celebrations, birthdays and holidays are real learning experiences, but they can be much more, the specialist explains.

These happy experiences can help children grow emotionally mature.

Celebrations also provide an opportunity to develop and continue family customs and traditions.

Also, take time to listen to what children have to say about experiences which occur outside the family, she adds.

MAKE LEARNING REWARDING

Little children need parents and teachers to respond to their discoveries and appreciate what they create.

Everyone likes to feel pride in personal accomplishments--children feel the same.

A smile, a nod and a few words of praise are usually enough to make a young child try hard. Ms. Lamson points out.

This is a time in a child's life when he responds most to adult interest.

As the child grows older, peer acceptance becomes more important to him, but in the early years, a child thrives on adult approval.

This is also the time when many attitudes toward learning are formed.

Once a child has decided that there is nothing worth learning, it is too late to encourage him with smiles and praises, she cautions.

TALK WITH CHILDREN

It is important to talk with children about learning experiences.

Communications provides many opportunities to help children develop a foundation for understanding and learning words, numbers, time and measurement concepts as well as encourages them to express themselves.

Also, neighborhood walks can become learning experiences if parents take the time to point out nature happenings, street and traffic signs, colors, shapes and numbers or objects in familiar surroundings.

It also enables the child to begin to acquire a sense of space and skills necessary for learning a sense of distance and direction, the specialist adds.

In addition, stimulate their
