

Get Animals To Market In Good Condition

COLLEGE STATION—Here is a job the producers, transporters and handlers of livestock can work on together. The solution to the problem can only come from a cooperative effort and could mean millions of dollars annually to the nation's livestock producers.

According to Roy W. Snyder, extension meats specialist of Texas A. & M. College, the 1949 annual report of the National Livestock Loss Prevention Board points out how expensive and wasteful improper transportation and handling of livestock can be. It would take a train nine miles long to haul all of the livestock that arrived dead at livestock markets in 1947. Then add to this the losses on crippled animals and from bruises and Snyder says the loss amounts to near $25 million per year. The producer bears a major part of this loss.

Preparation for safe marketing must begin on the farm. Livestock should leave for market in a strong and healthy condition, thus balanced rations that contain plenty of the needed vitamins and minerals must be used.

Snyder says that much of this waste can be prevented by just following common sense practices in handling and marketing livestock. Here are a few practices that will pay big dividends, he says. Dehorn cattle when they are young. Keep fences and barns in good repair and remember the feed lot is no place for a junk yard. Producers should remember that it is a costly practice to feed grain heavily just prior to loading.

A properly sloped loading chute should always be used. Animals should not be crowded or rushed during the loading operations. Here's where patience and care really pays off, he says. Check the inside of the truck or rail car for protruding nails or bolts and for broken boards or other objects that might cause bruises. Be sure the truck or rail car is bedded properly—bed with sand that is free from stones. In the summer time, the sand should be wet before hogs are loaded and stops should be made on the way to market to wet the bedding and drench the hogs if this is needed. Use a canvas slapper instead of a club, cane or pitchfork when handling stock. Here are a few practices truckers and railroads should be interested in eliminating, says Snyder. Overcrowding probably causes more losses than any other single factor. Transportation equipment should be loaded only to the extent of its designed capacity. Partitions should always be used when mixed shipments are made. Bulls, stags, boars, or cripples should receive special attention—never leave them loose in a car or truck. The upper decks on trucks should be high enough to give plenty of clearance for the animals on the lower deck. Careless driving—too much speed on curves, sudden braking, and fast driving—take a heavy toll of the livestock that goes to market via truck. An occasional inspection of the load while en route, would save many an animal.

Producers should remember, says Snyder, that a dead animal has only a salvage value and bruises on the carcass are trimmed off and largely wasted. Care in handling livestock will pay off at the market and it is one way that livestock producers can increase their profits.

BASS FIRESTONE HAS

Popular Food Freezer

One of the most popular home freezing units available today is the Firestone 19-foot upright freezer which has met with tremendous acceptance because of its greater capacity in a cabinet which requires a minimum of floor space. With the modern trend in home design toward the ranch style, basementless dwelling, there is considerable less floor space available for appliances. Firestone was among the first to meet this problem with its streamlined upright freezer. Extra capacity was made possible by use of the greater insulation protection and about twice as much storage space 19-foot Firestone upright food freezer is on display at the nearest Firestone (dealer) (store).

BRITISH TREND

British voters called for a halt, whether temporary or permanent remains to be seen, in their headlong plunge to socialism. It is to be hoped that a re-evaluation of the status of British folk will show that they got a better deal under the conservative enterprise philosophy than under the socialistic regime.

In America we know that there's nothing wrong with our form of government. Whatever faults are manifest are the results of failure in performance or defaults of our elected leaders and either indifference or ignorance of our people as to the country's needs. A hurried look at our creature comforts, our gadgets of convenience and service, our individual scale of living, should convince the most critical of our American people of the superiority of our economic system. We have a right to ask, "Where are the boys who under various philosophies were holding to the rainbow of great abundance of living to a troubled world in other lands?" Those nations are broke and are mendicants for American generosity.

Speaking of how we are getting along here in these United States, all of us know we have more creature comforts than the citizens of any other country. Maybe sometimes we are dissatisfied with the "uneven distribution of our country's wealth", which the private enterprise system has created. Not so in the socialistic countries — all they have to complain about is the "equal distribution of poverty."

As for me, I want our children to enjoy the fruits of their labor, even as I have enjoyed my own. I do believe that they have to work to earn those fruits and victories, and I feel there should be a direct relationship between what they earn and what they get. I want to continue to live in a land where personality is held sacred. I want the right to speak, to assemble, to confirm, to dissent on questions affecting our national welfare.

I want this country to enact laws based upon the consent of the governed; I want our government to continue to be man's servant and not his master. I recognize that I hold no bill of sale for these principles and my country's philosophies of government. I am a lease holder only. I have not paid for or earned the freedoms which I have enjoyed. There are still mortgages on my citizenship. I pray for divine guidance in my service to these United States to the end that I may do a full job in the discharge of a wise and selfless citizenship. — Ike Ashburn, in TEXAS PARADE.

RABSON DISCUSSES

Jobs For June Graduates

Babson Park, Mass., May 26— One and three-quarters million boys and girls will graduate from our schools and colleges this May and June. Their job outlook is bleak. Nearly half their number will graduate into unemployment.

REASONS FOR SCARCITY

There is already a pool of unemployment estimated roughly at 5,000,000. In addition, 500,000 college graduates will come onto the job market late this spring. Another 1,200,000 high school graduates will receive their diplomas by late June. Of these high school graduates, 240,000 will go on to college. About 200,000 of the girls will marry. The balance—760,000—will seek employment. School officials say that another 600,000 drop out of school and college each year for one reason or another. They, too, become job hunters.

There are six reasons for the gloomy outlook: (1) The war-time and post-war shortages have now been mostly filled. (2) Industries have been making careful efficiency studies to cut mounting labor costs. (3) Since most industries are no longer expanding, much hiring is on only a replacement basis. (4) Individuals are graduating from schools and colleges faster than jobs are becoming available. (5) Present workers are living longer and retaining their efficiency longer. (6) The low wages of skilled foreign labor are becoming a factor through increasing imports. Even in the best post-war years, fewer than a million new jobs a year have developed. Hence, many 1950 graduates—probably about 50% of them—will graduate into unemployment.

ANALYSIS OF JOB MARKET

There is already an oversupply of accountants, clerks, chemists, engineers, journalists, lawyers, business administration majors, and personnel workers. On the other hand, there are still good opportunities in merchandising, marketing, business research, architecture, insurance, banking, medicine, nursing, pharmacy, social work and school teaching. This latter field and salesmanship offer the best opportunities.

IMPLICATIONS FOR JOB HUNTERS

Big businesses, in their mad scramble to get college graduates when the supply was small, bid against one another for college talent. Jobs at fancy salaries were then easy to get. But the college graduate was not always prepared to move as fast as some companies moved men. Others were forgotten and not moved as rapidly as promised. Impatience set in and the graduates became job-hoppers. Many businessmen began to feel that "young graduates are in too much of a hurry to become vice-presidents!" Consequently, many employers now prefer to hire unemployed experienced workers be-

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

NEW CREATURES IN CHRIST

"... Jesus said unto them (Simon and Andrew,) Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men. And straightway they forsook their nets, and followed him." (Mark 1:17, 18.) Read Matthew 19:23-30.

St. Mark must have liked the word "straightway." He used it so often. The word has strength and depth. It connotes immediate action on the part of an individual as the direct result of making some commitment.

Simon and Andrew were shining examples of wise and quick obedience. They did not hesitate one moment to leave their chosen work. They forsook their nets and "straightway" followed Jesus.

It is good when we have a clear vision of some course worthy of our pursuit and straightway follow it. This is especially commendable when the call comes directly from God Himself. One can never turn wrong in turning from any chosen pursuit to follow the Master. If it can be done willingly and gladly, how it must please Him!

Today to every heart there comes the same pleading voice: "Come after me and I will make you to become fishers of men." The Lord needs us. Are we willing straightway to follow Him?

PRAYER

Lord God, we are so prone to daily in this business of living. We are prone to close our ears to Thy urgent call. Open our ears and our eyes to the vital meaning of "straightway" that we may become "fishers of men." In His name. Amen.

cause they have at least had some economic sense knocked into their heads the hard way.

The implications for the 1950 job hunters are obvious: (1) He must first of all know himself,—his abilities, his vocational interests, his character, and his personality traits. (2) He must have some general idea of how he can utilize his interests and abilities to the maximum and thereby develop into an efficient, highly productive worker for his employer. This means approaching his prospective employer with an attitude of "What can I do for you?" instead of "What can you do for me?" (3) He should expend the energy necessary before a job interview to learn something about a company's products, and where he might best fit into the scheme of Job seekers of 1950 who are too lazy to do these three things may find themselves graduating into unemployment. As one who employs many hundreds myself, I can tell you that on the other hand, there will always be good opportunities for trained men of character, energy and fighting qualities. I always employ all the "red-heads" I can find when they do not think too much of salary.

Do you know the meaning of a flashing red or flashing yellow beacon and the purpose for which they are used? If you do not know you are not in a class by yourself. There are many motorists in this "don't-know-class" who should graduate to a higher knowledge of flashing beacons. By doing so, they could help to insure their own safety, as well as the safety of others. They could perhaps save themselves the sad experience of some day having to explain a traffic violation to the judge.

When the beacon shows flashing red, be ready to stop; when it shows flashing yellow, be alert and ready for any emergency that might confront you.

Fresh Berries And Cookies

College Station, May 31—It is berry picking time in many areas of Texas. Of course, that means homemakers will be busy making jellies and jams and a lot of other things to eat that can be made from berries. Too, some will be frozen and stored in the home freezer or locker box and others will be canned for later use, but don't forget to serve them to the family fresh. They're tops.

A novel way to serve fresh berries is with cookies. According to Louis Mason, extension foods and nutrition specialist off Texas A. and M. College, pretty scalloped cookie shell cups filled with fresh strawberries, blackberries or dewberries topped with whipped cream makes a mighty good and appreciated dessert.

She says to use your favorite rolled cookie dough to make the cups. The dough will be easier to roll if it is chilled. Roll out the dough to a thickness of about a two inch cookie cutter. Line greased three inch muffin cups with four cookies each and overlap the edges of the cookies about half an inch. She suggests placing a small bit of dough in the bottom to cover the open space. Bake the shells in a moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees F.) for 10 to 15 min. Just before serving, fill the shells with fresh berries that have been lightly sweetened and top with whipped cream, and adds Miss Mason, it is just as good as it sounds.

Have you ever tried filled cookies on the family? They are easy to prepare. Roll the cookie dough pretty thin - about an eighth of an inch thick and cut with a two and a half inch cookie cutter. Dot the center of the cookie with apple butter, preserves or your favorite jelly or jam. Next fold each cookie in half and seal the edges. Press a whole pecan or candied

Swisher County Is Forming New Water Conservation District

Swisher County is joining Lamb, Hockley and Dallam underground water conservation districts under provisions of House Bill 162, according to cherry into the sealed edge to make a pretty fastening. Bake the cookies on an ungreased baking sheet and in a moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes. They are particularly good served with milk, iced coffee or tea.

Just in case you have plain cookies that get a little too dry for eating save them by making them into sweet crusts for pies. Place the cookies in a paper sack and crush with the rolling pin. Miss Mason says to combine the crumbs with butter or margarine about one third cup of butter or margarine to one and a third cups cookie crumbs makes a good mixture. Press the mixture into a pie pan and fill with chifton custard or cream fillings. If meringue is used, brown it slightly in the oven at about 300 degrees F.

a report by the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association.

The announcement came following a meeting in Tulsa May 25 held under auspices of the Swisher County Farm Bureau. Speakers included Clyde Bradford of Happy, president of the Swisher County Water Users Association; Perry Bowser of Kress, member of the executive committee of the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association; and Miss Salla Rodman of Littlefield, information director of the High Plains group. Starting in mid-June, the Swisher County Water Users Association will hold a series of meetings through which they hope to reach every water user and submit the proposal for a district, Bradford said.

Fifteen members attended the Farm Bureau meeting and round-table forum. They were unanimous in expressing the opinion that a district could be formed as soon as possible.

Both Bradford and Bowser attacked the idea of state control of underground water use. They told of a fight carried on by High Plains farmers in which two state-control bills were defeated in the Texas Legislature, and of passage in 1949 of a farmer-sponsored "local option" bill. Recently, they reported, the Texas Water Code Committee has heard attacks on the present law and suggestions that a state agency similar to the railroad Commission be set up to control drilling and pumping of irrigation wells.

Proponents of the state-control bills argue that House Bill 162, which provides for the creation of locally controlled independent water districts, is unworkable, Bowser said. He declared that organization of one or more water districts would prove this charge to be untrue.

Both Bradford and Bowser agreed that some sort of regulation is desirable, to insure proper spacing of new wells, to prevent waste and to carry out a re-charge program. Water districts, they pointed out, have authority to carry out such a program under the present law.

Miss Rodman explained provisions of the present law in regard to forming districts and told of progress in Dallam, Hockley and Lamb counties towards organizing districts.

KOPPLIN IMPROVED
Condition of F. A. Kopplin, of Litchfield, Minn., is improved, but he is still a patient in the hospital, according to word received from his son, Edwin, by Mr. and Mrs. Ike Robinson, of Muleshoe, good friends of the Kopplins. Mr. Kopplin suffered a stroke last winter. He owns land in this county and usually spends much of the spring and winter here, but had to forego his trip here this year.

Rotary Charter Banquet June 13

The charter night banquet of the new Rotary club in Muleshoe has been set for the evening of Tuesday, June 13, and will be held in Fellowship Hall, with the Methodist ladies serving the meal. Members of the local club are making preparations to entertain visitors from many of the 30 clubs in this district. The district governor, Elmo Wasson, of Midland, will deliver the charter.

A committee to make all banquet arrangements was appointed at the noon luncheon Friday by President Ray Keeling, and is composed of the following: Arnold Morris, chairman; Edward Hicks, vice-chairman; J. M. Forbes, Hoyt Morgan, W. H. Thompson, Bob Gregory, and Myron Pool. The Lubbock Rotary club, sponsors of the Muleshoe club, will have charge of the program.

Meeting day of the local club has been changed by majority vote to Tuesday because Friday conflicted with the meeting day of the Sudan Club.

Rotarians Gus Shaw and Mitch Stokes, of the Littlefield club; and J. E. Loveless, of the Stamford club, were guests. Another guest was Dee Brown, Muleshoe. Shaw invited local members to attend the inner-city meeting of the Lit-

Corn Earworm Control Tested

COLLEGE STATION, May 31—That pest of the roasting ear patch the corn earworm can be successfully controlled. The use of a new method of control may make it possible for farmers to grow crops of high-value sweet corn in many areas of the country where the earworms have in the past made the crops unprofitable. This has been especially true in the South.

According to J. A. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College, the method has been field tested for three years in four states, including Texas, and earworms were controlled in every instance when the sprays were applied properly.

Spray applications of an emulsion containing DDT, mineral oil and water to the silks and husks of the developing ears, when applied at the right time, kills the worm before they have a chance to ruin the corn. The commercial grower who uses a power sprayer with fixed nozzles should use three quarts of 25 percent DDT emulsifiable concentrate and two and one-half gallons of white

Spinose Ear Ticks Trouble Makers

College Station, May 31—The spinose ear tick was formerly found only in the Edwards Plateau region of Texas, but today it is a well recognized livestock parasite in mineral oil, diluted with water to make 25 gallons of the solution. This amount is sufficient to spray one acre of sweet corn.

For the small growers who will be using a knapsack sprayer, paint spray gun or a small power sprayer and where the solution will be applied to the individual ear the amount of mineral oil should be increased to six gallons, says Deer. The mixture, he says, must be kept agitated to keep the mineral oil from separating.

He says the DDT emulsion should not have a kerosene odor and that not more than one-fourth teaspoonful per ear should be applied after the ears have been fertilized. In the case of the small grower where the individual ear is treated, one application is usually considered sufficient. The application should be made when 75 to 85 percent of the silks have wilted and have begun to turn brown at the tip.

With the commercial grower, it is a little different, says Deer. Two to three applications are necessary. The first should be made the day when the first silks appear. Other applications should follow at two day intervals. The use of mineral oil in the emulsion, says Deer, makes the difference between only fair and excellent results.

Christian Church Revival Is Set To Begin Sunday In Muleshoe

The members of the Christian Church in Muleshoe and vicinity will hold two weeks revival services starting Sunday, June 14 at 10:45 a. m. and each evening during the two weeks at 8 p. m.

Services will be held in the building belonging to Mrs. Nellie Dean on Avenue D, just off Main Street, two doors from Muleshoe Food Locker. All members and the public are cordially invited.

The purpose of the meeting is looking forward to establishing a Christian Church in Muleshoe.

most every section of the state. This tick is found inside the ears of cattle. In addition to the irritation caused by its presence, it is responsible for many cases of deafness, secondary infections of the ears and severe screwworm infections in cattle, says J. A. Deer, of Texas A. and M. College.

The adult tick, it does not feed, lays its eggs in and about the salt boxes, feed troughs and water tanks. The eggs hatch and the larvae crawl onto the noses of the animals when they feed or drink. The tick finds their way into the ears where they feed for up to 21 days, then they shed their skins. The young ticks shed twice more before reaching maturity, and continues to feed within the ear of the animal until they drop to the ground for the final molt.

Control says Deer is best accomplished by eliminating the ticks from the salt boxes, feed troughs and water tanks and the areas surrounding them. He says the salt boxes and feed troughs should be cleaned out periodically and painted with creosote, crude oil or a solution of toxaphene or chlordane.

He says the recommended treatment for controlling the ticks once they are on the animals consists of swabbing out the ears with smear 1029. He also states that many ranchmen are reporting good results from pouring a five tenths percent chlordane solution into the ears of infested animals. A squirt type oil can is used to get the solution into the animals ears.

JAMES BOWEN OF MULESHOE GETS DEGREE AT TECH

James Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bowen of Muleshoe graduated from Texas Tech on the 22nd of May.

of this year over the same period last year was reported by Mr. Gardner to be $960.52, amounting to 12.5 per cent.

Since postal receipt figures are usually taken as a business condition indicator, it appears that business has been good in the Muleshoe country since the first of the year.

He started to Tech in the spring semester of 1947 after being discharged from the Army in December of 1946.

He received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree majoring in finance. On the same day he was sworn in as a second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve Corps. Received this by taking courses in air ROTC for the past two years and was honored as being a Distinguished Military Student and Graduate.

Mr. Bowen starts to work for the Southwestern investment Co. in Amarillo on June first.

MULESHOE VISITOR

Miss Betty Jo Arnold of Turkey is visiting in the home of her aunt Mrs. Woodie Lambert and family this week.

The American Cancer Society has awarded 102 fellowships to young scientists in the last five years.

More than 1,000,000 persons have joined the American Cancer Society as volunteer cancer fighters.

Money given the American Cancer Society in the last five years has financed 324 research grants.

REV. L. C. REECE

Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Reece, of Fort Worth, will serve as the evangelists.

They are regularly engaged in evangelistic work and they recently spent two weeks visiting in the home of their daughter, Mrs. R. (Bud) Holton. While here they made a number of acquaintances, so will not be entirely strangers and they hope to make the acquaintance of all the people of Muleshoe while here.

Postal Receipts Show Nice Gain

Lubbock did NOT have the largest increase of postoffice receipts in April over March, A. J. Gardner, postmaster of Muleshoe, declares. He reports the local office had a gain of 43.7 per cent.

(The Lubbock Avalanche last Thursday reported that Lubbock had the largest gain for April over March, 18.9 per cent, of any of the Texas cities, and Mr. Gardner said they failed to consider Muleshoe a city, and of course it is not quite as large as the cities the Lubbock paper had in mind.)

Anyway, Mr. Gardner is right proud of the gain. Receipts in March 1950, were $1,739.57; and in April, $2,499.76. In dollars and cents the gain was $760.19.

Likewise, the first quarter of the current year gave the local office a nice gain over the same quarter in 1949. Receipts for the quarter this year were $6,066.69; and for last year the first quarter receipts were $5,780.67, making a gain of $286.01.

Gain for the first four months
