

City Council Awards Street Contracts To Contractors

Two local contractors will share street grading work under an agreement reached after bids for the work were opened Tuesday night at the semi-monthly meeting of the City Council. United Energex and Don Wallace submitted identical bids of $42 per hour to furnish men and equipment for street work.

City Manager Mike Moore reported that the Council decided to award both firms contracts to work on the streets, and each will receive approximately half of the work. United Energex held a contract for street work that expired last Dec. 31st.

In other action, the Council approved an ordinance passed at the last meeting to change the hours of operation for the City Landfill. Announcement of the new hours was made two weeks ago and became effective immediately.

The city approved an aviation lease agreement under which W.A. Hill and Sons, Inc., area Gulf consignee, took over the gasoline service at the Cisco Municipal Airport. Pride Refining Co., Abilene, has had a pump at the airport for several years, and the Gulf agency made arrangements with Pride to buy their equipment. Mr. Moore said those who have keys to the present equipment at the airport will be able to use them under the new dealer. "The service arrangement remains the same," he said.

The Council approved a resolution for the City of Cisco to continue working with the Eastland County Appraisal District for tax assessment services. The city has had the services of the county agency for the past three years, Mr. Moore said.

In his report, the city manager told the Council that the summer street improvement program got under way last week on Beech Street and that the city paving crew would be busy in East Cisco for about a month.

Mr. Moore reported that a contract has been signed and work began Tuesday on 13 more wheel chair ramps on downtown streets. The new ramps will be built mostly at alley ways in mid-block to service streets in both directions. Five ramps were built recently. The work will cost $2,400 of which the Cisco Civic League is paying $1,900. The previous project was financed by the League, Mr. Moore said. Contractors for the ramps are Bill Rucker of Rising Star and Ollie Moran of Cisco.

Several tank building firms have sets of plans and are expected to submit bids for a contract to build a new water storage facility at College Hill at the June 10th Council meeting, Mr. Moore reported. The city recently advertised for bids on the project.

City Bookkeeper Maryann Perry submitted a financial report for the month of April. It showed general fund revenues totaling $46,692. This included $9,860 in sales taxes, $11,542 in franchise taxes, $8,919 in sanitation charges, $1,847 in interest earned and $8,460 in oil and gas royalties.

Expenditures for April amounted to $60,806 from the general fund.

The utility fund had collections of $49,882 that included $36,006 in water sales, $11,107 in sewer fees, $1,288 in interest earned and $1,105 in miscellaneous revenue. Utility fund expenses amounted to $43,931 that included $34,766 for the water department, $7,149 for waste water costs, and $2,015 in billing expenses.

Mayor Joe Wheatley presided at the meeting, which began at 6 p.m. and ended in less than an hour. Commissioners present were Allen Masters, Arlie K. Whitley, Roy Dennis, Bobby Ingram and Burl Chambers. Also present were City Manager Moore and City Secretary Ginger Johnson.

County Sesquicentennial Celebration

Area County residents are being invited by their neighbors in Eastland County to join in an unusual Sesquicentennial Celebration on Saturday, June 7th "all over Eastland."

A day-long arts, crafts and entertainments will be available "on the Square" with all the towns in Eastland County sharing in the Eastland County Discovery-Fest '86 honoring the man for whom the county and city are named.

The public is invited to a free spectacle at Maverick Stadium at 7:30 p.m. where the Texas Birthday Choir, made up of church and individual singers from throughout the county, will present a patriotic concert. Climax of the day will be the presentation of an original historic drama reenacting the story of Capt. William M. Eastland, first man to draw a black bean for death in the infamous Mier Expedition during Texas' days as a Republic. The fully-staged pageant is set to original music and will feature a cast of some 150 including Sam Houston, Santa Anna and Capt. Eastland, as well as a vivid black-powder firing squad sequence.

Among the many giant features of the day's activities will be the hoisting of the locally-made 30 by 50 foot Texas flag. A 135-member band plus individual instrumentalist and soloist will be a part of the presentation to bring the historical story to entertaining life. There'll be many free gifts and surprises in Eastland throughout the first week in June.

Around Town

By Duke Dixon

Friday night was graduation. Now yesterday's juniors are today's seniors. To the senior class of 1986-87 we say, have a good year. This next school year can be the most memorable of your life. As you take your place at the top of the high school ladder, remember those in the grades below you look up to you and your leadership.

As summer begins, more and more important activities begin. On the agenda for the city is street repairs. This seems to be a never ending task, but we appreciate the fact that our streets can remain in good repair.

Don't get upset if you see paving crews working and re-routing traffic to other streets. Soon the rerouted street will be open and more passable.

I see where this year as in the past, the First Christian, First Presbyterian, and The United Methodist Churches will be holding joint Sunday evening services.

This is one of the best ways to promote Christian fellowship among different denominations.

Students of grades 7 thru 12, don't forget you may pick up your report cards the week of June 2 thru 6.

Five members of the Volunteer Fire Department will be going to the Jaws of Life school on Saturday, June 7. They will be learning the use of a very fine piece of equipment. They will be able to help the rest of the fire department members learn the use of the JofL.

Your donations and support have made it possible for them to have equipment such as this to help those in distress.

We have a soft ball tournament set for June 5, 6 and 7. Be sure to go out and support those teams as they compete.

"School's Out" - Please drive carefully.

Auditions will be Sunday, June 1 from 2-5 p.m. at the Roof Garden Theatre of the Laguna Hotel. For more information call Carol Brown at 442-2567.

All members, as well as others interested in shooting sports, are invited and encouraged to attend this important meeting.

Betty Cross Seeks

County Treasurer Job

I am seeking the office of Eastland County Treasurer in the Democratic Primary Run-Off on June 7th.

Troy and I are members of the Kokomo Baptist Church. We have three children Mrs. Bruce (Tina) Gilbert of Mineral Wells, Bryan Cross of Millsap and Nancy Pelham of Eastland. And three grandchildren, Shandy Casey and Mandy Gilbert of Mineral Wells and Jendy Pelham of Eastland.

As a graduate of Eastland High School I attended Ranger Jr. College, after which I was employed by Freyschlag Insurance Agency until Troy and I married in 1955.

While in Midland I worked as an office manager and bookkeeper and later attended

Midland Jr. College and H&R Block Tax School.

As a tax preparer I know the importance of accurate record keeping and have kept abreast the many changes that have occurred in our tax laws (by attending annual Tax Preparers Workshops, locally and at Stephenville given by Texas A&M University).

I have always been proud of being a native of Eastland County and tried to show this by participating in community activities and events that would benefit the youth or the county as a whole.

Thus, for many years I have helped with 4-H Adult Leaders Association, Livestock Shows, the Eastland County Miss Pageant and various projects. I feel my work experience, continued education and involvement in the community has given me a greater understanding of how our county offices are to run and with this, I have what the County Treasurer's Office demands to operate efficiently, effectively and to it's fullest potential.

Your vote and support in the Democratic Primary Run-Off, Saturday, June 7th will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you,
Betty Cross

Jr. And Sr. High Report Cards Issued First Week Of June

went to Washington and spent a number of years as a congressional secretary and assistant.

The author of 11 books, Mr. King's latest is entitled "None But a Blockhead," and a magazine review called it "a hilarious reflection on writing." He has turned out numerous magazine articles and three stage plays. His book "Requiem for a West Texas Town", dealing with his growing up years, is regarded as classic. His articles have included pieces about the Santa Claus Bank Robbery and other events dealing with this region and Texas.

Hugh Shrader of Scranton, president of the Scranton Exes, was to meet Mr. King at DFW Airport on Saturday and bring him "back home for the weekend".

Other officers of the association include Anita Page Webb, vice president; Robert Shrader, secretary; John Boland, program chairman; Gene Kinser and Travis Starr, program committee members. The weekend at Scranton was to begin Saturday night, May 31, with a musical at the club house.

The Sunday program will begin with registration at 9:15 a.m. A business meeting will start at 10:30 a.m., and the agenda calls for the secretary's report, election of officers for 1987, presentation of awards and others. A devotional will begin at 10:45 a.m. with Rev. Joe Ray as the speaker and music by Joe's family with Ruth Brown at the piano.

There will be a covered dish luncheon at 12 noon. Students were requested to bring salads, vegetables, meats, bread and dessert to share. Drinks, plates and so forth will be furnished.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:15 p.m. Mr. Shrader will introduce the speaker. Musical entertainment will follow the speaker.

Letters to the editor...

Dear Editor, I would like to take this opportunity to set the record straight on an article in Thursday's Abilene-Reporter News.

I believe Mr. Walter Preston was in error about some of his information. To begin with, there are no ball games played on Wednesday or Sunday and we have our games scheduled so that we are finished by 9:30 p.m. The stroke victim watches the games and even helps keep the grass mowed around the field. To Mr. Moates we would like to thank him for this.

We have close to 200 children between the ages of 4 and 18 participating in the softball program. We feel it is a good program and the children are really enjoying themselves. It also gives the parents an opportunity to get involved with their children in something that they both enjoy. This helps the parents teach their children sportsmanship and how to cope as a team member as well as an individual.

Our children are supervised and are not on other peoples' property unless they have permission. The trash at the ball park is picked up each night after the games are played and put into trash barrels. I will be the first to admit that Mr. Preston's yard is covered with trash. Mr. Preston and I both know how it got there and it was not put there by any of the children.

I can not understand people being upset about children playing baseball or any other sport. People who have children and grandchildren know what a joy it is to see a child grow up and have the opportunity to watch them be as good as they can be, if it is at sports or whatever they may be doing.

Monument Hill State Historic Site

On April 21, 1836, Texas won independence from Mexico as a result of General Sam Houston's forces winning a decisive battle at San Jacinto against the forces of General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna. Mexico, however, did not formally acknowledge the Republic of Texas. Under the law of December 19, 1836, Texas claimed the Rio Grande as its western boundary but did not have the population or military forces to exercise control over the land beyond the Nueces River, which was the prerevolutionary boundary of Texas.

After 1836, conflicts between Texans and Mexicans in the disputed Trans-Nueces area were common. For the next seventy years cattle rustling by both Anglo and Mexican outlaws disrupted ranching operations on both sides of the Rio Grande. Nevertheless, the Federalist Revolution in Mexico (1837-1840) and the war between Mexico and France (1838-1839) were two reasons why there was a relatively long interval of peace between the Texan and Mexican Governments. Once these conflicts were resolved, Mexico could once again turn its attention towards the Texas problem.

The Mexican Raids of 1842

In February 1842, General Rafael Vasquez led a group of 700 Mexican troops into Texas to attack San Antonio. On March 5, Vasquez and his troops entered San Antonio. After looting the town, Vasquez retreated on March 7. Captain John Coffee Hays, with two companies of volunteers from Fayette County under the commands of Thomas J. Rabb and Nicholas Mosby Dawson, followed Vasquez's retreat but lacked sufficient strength to risk an attack. After being certain that the Mexicans had crossed the Rio Grande, Hays returned to San Antonio. In response to the Vasquez raid, there was great public outcry in Texas for retaliatory action against Mexico. By the end of April however, any official plans for retaliation had been abandoned.

On September 10, 1842, Texan spies reported to a surprised and disbelieving San Antonio that a Mexican force under General Adrian Woll was approaching. On the 11th, this report proved to be true as Woll's army of about 950 men succeeded in capturing the town. Fifty-two Texans, who had taken up arms against the Mexican raiders, were taken prisoner and marched to Mexico. When news of the capture of San Antonio reached Gonzales on September 12, Mathew Caldwell gathered a group of Texans to march to San Antonio. On September 14, the news from San Antonio reached La Grange. There, a group of about 15 men rallied and began to ride toward San Antonio. On the way they were joined by others until their number was increased to 54. During a brief stop at Nash's Creek, Nicholas Mosby Dawson was elected captain. The group then rode on, arriving in the San Antonio area on September 18. Dawson dispatched Alsey S. Miller and Nathaniel W. Faison to determine Caldwell's position. The two spies returned with the news that the battle was already taking place. After a brief debate concerning whether to go forward or wait for reinforcements, Dawson's men voted to advance.

The Battle of Salado Creek

Arriving to within two miles of Caldwell's position on Salado Creek, Dawson and his 53 men were intercepted by 400 Mexican troops. Knowing that their exhausted horses could not outrun the Mexicans and determined to do what they had come for, the Texans prepared for battle, taking cover in a nearby mesquite grove. The Mexicans stayed out of range of the Texan rifles and soon began showering Dawson's men with deadly cannon fire. With about one-third of his men either dead or dying, Dawson raised the white flag, but when some of his men continued to fire, the Mexican cavalry charged. When the fighting ended a little more than one hour after it had started, 36 Texans had been killed, 15 taken prisoner, and only 3 managed to escape. The following morning Caldwell's men came upon Dawson's battlefield. The dead had been stripped of all clothing and many wounds had apparently been inflicted after death. After the scene was surveyed, the bodies were buried in shallow graves.

When Woll's army retreated from San Antonio on September 20, they were pursued by Caldwell and 325 men. Though one short skirmish did occur between the two forces, Caldwell was unable to maneuver his troops into an advantageous position and eventually returned to San Antonio without attacking. Woll finally recrossed the Rio Grande with the San Antonio and Dawson prisoners on October 1.

The Somervell Expedition

Upon learning of Woll's raid upon San Antonio, President Houston called for the assembling of the militias and for their marching to San Antonio to join forces under the command of Brigadier General Alexander Somervell to repel the invaders. Somervell's force of about 750 men left San Antonio on November 25. Throughout its march, Somervell's force was gradually reduced by periodic desertions. On December 8, the Texan army (which now numbered about 730 men) entered the then deserted Mexican town of Laredo. The army resumed its march on December 10. That day, recognizing the discontent of many of his men, Somervell announced that he would allow those that wished to return home to do so. By the following morning, 187 men had chosen to exercise this option. Continuing down the Rio Grande, Somervell's remaining force occupied an area outside of Guerrero on December 15, and demanded horses and other provisions from local officials. The Mexicans fulfilled only a small fraction of the demand; nevertheless, on December 19, Somervell ordered the Texan troops home. Disgusted that they had not fought the enemy nor taken in enough supplies to return home comfortable, Captains Fisher, Eastland, Cameron, Ryan and Pierson, most of the men under them, and several others, refused to obey the order. About 190 men did straggle home with Somervell, arriving in San Antonio in small groups between January 4 and January 8.

The Mier Expedition

On the evening of December 19, Captain William S. Fisher was chosen to command the 308 Texans who remained on the border. On the afternoon of Christmas Day, 1842, they attacked the Mexican town of Mier after being informed by a captured Mexican that Mier was protected by General Pedro de Ampudia with 350 men. The battle continued through the night and into the next day with Texans having the advantage. On the verge of retreat, Ampudia sent a white flag to Fisher and instructed him that there were 1700 troops in the city and 800 fresh troops nearby and "every Texan should be put to the sword" unless they surrendered. The Texans fell for the ruse and learned only after they had surrendered how close they really were to victory.

As the Texans were marched toward Mexico City, they watched for a chance to escape. Led by Captain Ewen Cameron, 188 Texans made a successful break for liberty from the Rancho Salado on February 11, 1843. Heading for the Rio Grande, about 200 miles away, the group left the road on the 12th in favor of traveling through the mountains. They located a water hole on the 15th, and being in need of food, killed their horses for meat. After this, no more water was found. Two weeks after their escape Cameron and most of his men surrendered for want of food and water. In all, 176 Texans were recaptured, 7 died in the mountains, while only 5 reached Texas.

The Black Bean Episode

The recaptured Texans were returned to the Rancho Salado on March 25, 1843, and were met with an order from Santa Anna that one-tenth of them be shot. To carry out the order 159 white beans and 17 black beans were placed in a pot. Those who drew black beans were given a chance to write home, then were bound together and shot. One man, J. L. Shepherd, survived the execution, faked death, and crept away under cover of night. He was recognized when he reached Saltillo, however, and shot in the street. While the remaining Texans were being marched towards Mexico City, Ewen Cameron, who had led the escape but drawn a white bean, was ordered shot.

The Mier prisoners reached Perote Prison, near Mexico City, on September 21, and joined the San Antonio and Dawson prisoners already there. As prisoners, about 40 of the Texans died while about 24 managed to escape. On September 12, 1844, Santa Anna issued an order for the release of all Texans. The remaining Mier men had been prisoners for 1 year 8 months and 21 days. Receiving about $10.00 each for traveling expenses, the released Texans walked from Perote to the port of Vera Cruz. On October 22, they sailed on the schooner Creole, arriving in New Orleans on November 4. From there, 76 of the men booked passage on board the steamer New York and finally arrived in Galveston on November 10, 1844.

Monument Hill

In 1848, during the war between the United States and Mexico, Captain John E. Dusenberry, one of the members of the Mier expedition who drew a white bean, persuaded Major Walter P. Lane to detour to the Rancho Salado for the purpose of reclaiming the bones of the Texans who had been shot and buried there. The remains traveled by ship to Galveston and on to La Grange by wagon. In the same year, a delegation of Fayette County citizens retrieved the remains of Captain Dawson and his men from near Salado Creek and placed them in the Fayette County Courthouse in La Grange where the remains of those who drew the black beans were being stored. On September 18, 1848, the sixth anniversary of the Dawson Massacre, the remains of these men were given a military burial in a tomb on the bluff overlooking the Colorado River, just outside of La Grange. Sam Houston and a large contingent of dignitaries and citizens from all over Texas were in attendance.

In January 1849, Heinrich Ludwig Kreishe purchased the property on which the tomb was located from Carl George Willrich. In 1850, Kreishe entered into a contract with the Fayette County based Texas Monumental Committee. He agreed to deed 10 acres of land surrounding and including the tomb for $100, provided the committee would lay a corner stone for a monument within a period of 15 years. By 1865, the money had not been raised and the land reverted back to Kreishe. After Kreishe died in 1882, his children made numerous requests for the tomb to be removed from their property claiming that they were disturbed frequently by boisterous visitors and souvenir hunters who removed bones from the then cracked tomb and scattered them over the ground. In 1907, a .36 acre tract of land around and including the tomb was acquired by the state by condemnation. Damages were assessed at $350. The Daughters of the Republic of Texas provided the money but the Kreisches refused to accept it. Nothing was done at this time, however, about the deteriorated condition of the tomb.

Louis W. Kemp, a member of the Texas State Historical Association visited Monument Hill in June 1931. He was upset by the poor condition of the road leading from town to the tomb and the neglected state of the tomb itself. Returning to La Grange, Kemp told a reporter from a local newspaper that because of what he had seen he intended to try to have the remains of the Dawson and Mier men removed to the State Cemetery at Austin. Kemp's thoughts were published and almost immediately local members of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas took action. They cleared off the ground around the tomb, cemented its cracks and erected an iron fence around it. In August 1933, a contract was signed for a new granite vault to completely enclose the old one. On September 18, 1933, the 91st anniversary of the Dawson Massacre, the new tomb was dedicated. During the Texas Centennial year of 1936, the state provided for the erection of a 48 foot tall monument with a panel of sculptured colored plaster depicting the drawing of the beans and various other incidents of the Mier expedition.

In 1956, the citizens of Fayette County donated funds for the purchase of 3.58 acres which was donated to the Parks and Wildlife Department bringing the total acreage of Monument Hill State Historic Site to almost 4 acres. In 1977, the State acquired 36 additional acres on which the Kreishe home, brewery and other out-buildings are located and designated this as the Kreishe Brewery State Historic Site. Both sites are administered as a single operational unit. Facilities include a visitor center; a self-guided, wheelchair-accessible, interpretive trail which winds through both sites; picnic tables with adjacent barbecue grills; restrooms; and a nature trail.

An old DC-3, the airplane credited with pioneering airline travel, stopped at the Cisco Municipal Airport this week to pick up a huge water separator made by Burgess Manufacturing Co. here. This was made for an industrial plant in Pennsylvania, and was 30 inches in diameter, 11 ft. long, and weighed 1,230 pounds. The DC-3 left immediately after the equipment was loaded, as the plant had to shut down for the replacement.

A good crowd turned out for the Memorial Day program at Oakwood Cemetery Monday, and the weather was beautiful. Cisco Funeral Home provided a tent for visitors, and Cisco Junior College personnel took chairs and placed them under the tent. Kimbrough's Funeral Home's tent was at the Dothan Community, west of town, where folks were having a cemetery working and reunion. Dothan is a pioneer community about seven miles west of Cisco, and some of the leading citizens of the area are descended from families who lived there.

Spotlights & Sidelights

By Julia Worthy

LIFE AND IF

Did you ever notice that IFE has that big IF in it? How much time have you lost thinking, maybe saying, "If" is a very speculative word.

One of the earliest "ifs" that occurs to a suprising number of youngsters is, "What if I'm adopted?" It doesn't seem to matter whether or not the if-er actually is adopted when it comes to "what if..."

One of my earliest memories is of my mother telling me more than once, "You took so long to get here, I wanted to adopt a baby, but your daddy wouldn't hear of it." Nevertheless, there were times when I was positive I was adopted or "they" wouldn't treat me so awful! This awful treatment usually concerned chores: learning to cook, to wash and iron, to sew, and to fill the woodbox.

Gathering eggs could bring tears from my big, brown peepers. Our hens were forever bent on a populations explosion, and if one broody hen drew blood when I ran a reluctant hand under her to toss her off her chosen nest, I'll bet forty did!

If I had worn the gloves I was supposed to wear on such ventures, my hands would have remained unbloody and I would not have felt so put-upon-so "adopted."

What I still do not understand is why I accepted "adopted" as so woebegone. I did not even know anyone who was adopted until I was in the seventh grade, and his lifestyle was much more comfortable than mine.

Sometimes I departed from the adoption theory in favor of step-parent persecution—the Cinderella syndrome, I expect. "What if Papa isn't really my daddy?" "...if Mamma isn't really..."

Papa was a patient man. He expected us to behave well, be polite, make good grades and do a few chores. We bore up pretty well for the first three, but we were no balls of fire when it came to chores.

Unlike many farmers, he did not put his whole family in the fields. He tried once in a while. If it had worked out better, I might have been a pretty fair farmer myself. But it didn't work well at all. About the only place I was any real help was chopping cotton, and Papa didn't raise much cotton. I could see the difference between a cotton plant and johnson grass. When it came to feed crops, I was a disaster area. Corn, maize, and johnson grass all looked alike to me. Whack, Whack, Whack!

My sister wasn't that much help, either. For years, a hoe was bigger than she was.

I can't get away from the "Ifs" though. If I could have seen the row crops, would I have had so much time to read?

If I hadn't read well, I'd probably not have been valedictorian. Certainly, I'd not have gone to college, for college depended on if I made valedictorian.

If I hadn't gone to TWU, I'd not have become a teacher.

If I hadn't been a teacher, I'd not have gone to the coast to teach—and to meet

Sunday, June 1, 1986

Walton. If I hadn't married Walton, I definitely would not have mothered the three children we have. (The fact that I would seriously consider supporting a retroactive birth control campaign does not mean I don't love our kids!) Oh, wow! What about your "ifs?" No matter how you look at it, "life is fifty percent 'if'."

4-H NEWS

By Crystal Wilbanks, County Agent

The Eastland County 4-H Fashion Show was held recently at the Gholson Hotel in Ranger. Theme was "Putting on the Ritz" and was hosted by Ranger 4-H Club members.

Amy McDonald, chairman of the Eastland County 4-H Junior Leader's Association served as commentator. Becky Morgan, Ranger led the opening ceremonies and Chris Cockburn, of Ranger 4-H club, provided piano music for the show.

Wendy Wester, of Cisco, sang and danced to a medley of Broadway songs. The 4-H Fashion Show is the climax of the 4-H Clothing project work where 4-H'ers exhibit skills in clothing construction, fashion accessories, good grooming, and modeling skills.

High-point winning entries were: LaDawn Little, Senior Active Sportswear; Karmen Hall, Senior Tailored Daywear; Tabitha Hutton, Senior Non-tailored daywear; Stephanie Long, Senior Evening & Speciality Wear; Natalie Stevens, Sr. Ready-to-Wear Evening; Gladys Eakin, Sr. Ready-to-Wear Tailored Daywear; Amy McDonald, Sr. Ready-to-Wear Non-Tailored Daywear; Becky Morgan, Senior Ready-to-Wear Active Sportswear. Mike Nash was first runner-up in Ready-to-Wear non-tailored. Sub-junior construction winners included: Monica Harbin, Active sportswear; Christy Arther, Evening & Speciality; and Cathy Thomas, non-tailored daywear.

Ushers were Phillip Allen and Emory Kea, of the Nimrod 4-H Club. The awards were sponsored by the 4-H Eastland Co. Adult Leaders Association. The District 4-H Fashion Show will be in Salado on June 16 and 17. On June 5 at 7 p.m. at the Ranger High School, all District 4-H Fashion Show contestants are invited to attend a modeling workshop to be conducted by Beverly Massengee, a former Miss Texas. Poise, modeling and make-up hints will be taught.

The Ranger Trail Blazers 4-H Club would like to take this opportunity to thank the following people for helping to make the Eastland County 4-H Club's Fashion Show a success.

J.R. Hunt and the Gholson Hotel - for letting use your beautiful facilities. Jim Arnold and the Dr. Pepper Company for furnishing drinks. Tony and Kathlenn Waits, Flashback Donuts for furnishing donuts. Patty Weisen, Ranger Flower Shop for furnishing balloons. Betty Cross, for furnishing paper goods.

Charlotte Adams and Kim Watson for teaching the 4-H clothing project. The people of the community and Gholson Residents who attended and helped to make our show more delightful. Miss Patty Weston of Cisco for furnishing the entertainment. Patty danced and sang and did a superb job.

Mr. Chris Cockburn for playing the piano during the modeling. Mrs. Janet Thomas, Eastland County Extension Agent in charge of making things run smoothly.

Miss Amy McDonald for being the Master of Ceremonies and writing the script for the show. A special thanks goes to each of the people who entered and did an outstanding job of modeling and showing off their creation. Thank you for being a part of the 4-H Fashion Show.

Firm Charges For Free Service

Responding to numerous inquiries, Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene, said today that firm operating in the Big Country area solicits people through direct mail. This firm is selling a service which is provided at no charge by every Social Security office.

The company obtains information from local birth records and then mails new parents an offer to get a Social Security number for their child for a $10 fee. This service can be obtained without charge at any Social Security office. In addition, the parent has to do everything for the company he or she would have to do if he or she contacted Social Security in the first place.

For a parent to obtain a Social Security number for a child, the parent needs evidence of the child's date of birth, citizenship, and identity. The parent will also need evidence of his or her own identity.

The direct mail advertisement indicates that new legislation may require that children be listed by Social Security number on the parents' tax return. There is no such legislation, Hammons said. In addition, Social Security does not provide counties with information about which children have Social Security numbers.

The Abilene Social Security office is located at 142 S. Pioneer and the telephone number is 698-1360.

Eastland County To Help Fund Local Commodities Distribution

Eastland County Commissioners held a meeting in Commissioner's Courtroom on Tuesday, May 27. Present were Richard Robinson, Pct. 1, Bill Riddell, Pct. 2, L.T. Owen, Pct. 3, and C.B. Dill, Pct. 4. County Judge Scott Bailey presided, and County Clerk Joann Johnson recorded minutes.

One of the first items on the agenda was the consideration of a County appropriation to help defray the cost of commodity distribution. The commissioners were told that the state would not have enough money to continue this program until the next fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

Richard Robinson presented figures showing that 1,799 low-income Eastland County families received surplus foodstuff in May, with a value of $23,870.93.

The Commissioners voted to pay $342.50 per month for the next four months to cover local costs for this distribution. The money will come from proceeds of the County Farm, which was willed to the county some years ago for the purpose of providing funds for the needy.

In other matters, District Attorney Emory Walton made a statement to the Court outlining his concerns about a movement underway to set up a state law enforcement training facility in Austin. Under this plan, the present training academy in Abilene would be closed.

"This type of legislation may be introduced in January, and I would like you to be aware of it," Walton said.

"This will simply create another state bureaucracy, and will be extremely expensive to the counties," the District Attorney added.

"The people of Abilene are educated and capable and they know this area and its problems.

"If this legislation is introduced it will be like a camel getting his neck under a tent...I hope the Court will study and the matter and oppose any attempt to decertify the Council of West Texas Government School in Abilene.

Another item on the agenda was to amend the District Court Budget to hire part-time assistance needed to produce statistical information now required by law. This will implement the Texas Judicial Administration Act, which requires detailed record keeping about the age of cases pending. Commissioners agreed to amend the budget and fund this work. The person hired will work under Judge Jim Wright.

County Judge Scott Bailey said that he had been working on projections for help to the indigent for the next fiscal year. This will be presented at a Budget Hearing in June.

Bailey said the county appraisal board has estimated that there will be an $80 million loss in valuation from the tax rolls this year. This will result in the County losing around $60,000 in taxes.

Judge Bailey also discussed the repair of damage in the southwest area of the Courthouse. The County has yet to hear from the Insurance Company in county cases in regard to a settlement, he said. The Commissioners voted to advertise a request for proposals on repairing this damage, which has been very apparent for about a year.

Before the meeting ended the Commissioners approved three gas pipeline crossings, all about five miles northwest of Rising Star. One is by Pronghorn Co., another by North Star Oil Co. and still another by North Ridge Corp.

The Commissioners indicated that they weren't exactly looking forward to the Budget Hearings this summer.

"I hope they are not as hard as they were last year," one of the court members was heard to say. "They will be," another replied.

Lights From The Christian World

By Josephine Cleveland

On a recent trip I visited Silver Springs near Ocala, Florida. Sitting in a glass-bottom boat I saw a spring 85 feet deep, measuring at its mouth 12' high and 65' wide. From the mouth of the spring 550 million gallons of water gushed forth a day. The water was crystal clear so that one could see the bottom plainly. Fish glided peacefully through its water. Beautiful, pastel-colored, and delicate formed coral lay on the bottom of the spring.

The guide told us that the spring never varies its flow at any season of the year. A long drought may occur but it remains the same. As the tour-guide spoke, I thought how like the spring's flow is God's kind of joy. It, too, is lasting. We welcome the joy that comes when our circumstances are pleasant and relatively free from troubles. The problem, however, is this kind of happiness can evaporate like boiling water on a hot stove. When circumstances change this happiness is gone.

God's joy gives inner happiness and peace which endures no matter what comes our way and it may ever grow stronger in adversity. Our souls seek for this kind of joy. It is undisturbed by success or failure, or it lies deep within us and gives inward peace and contentment. Christ made it possible for us to have this joy. We only allow our life to flow in harmony with His.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Cowboys and trail drives are a colorful legacy of the days when the United States was struggling to settle the western reaches of our continent. The cattle business remains very important to Texas. It's our state's largest agricultural industry and Texas leads the nation in cattle production.

Although a bit tamer now than in frontier days, the cattle business still involves considerable amounts of bone-jarring work, as well as costly supplies and feed. Usually, the profit on selling a single animal is slim, so people in the cattle business rely on volume sales to stay in business—and hope that prices don't go down.

The Department of Agriculture threw a wrench in the works of the cattle trading market on March 28 by announcing a program to sell 633,000 dairy cows before August 31. This threatened to flood the market, causing cattle prices to plummet. Investment in future cattle contracts dropped far enough to close that market for four of the next five trading days.

In that week, sales losses hit $25 million and the value of our nation's cattle inventory dropped by $2 billion.

From the week before USDA's announcement to the week of April 21, the cash price for 500- to 700-pound calves being sold to feedlot owners, for example, dropped by $4.74 per hundred pounds of weight. That's a loss of $23-$33 a head.

In the same time period, future contracts on these "feeder" calves plummeted by $8.51 per hundred-weight.

There's no excuse for the USDA announcing its dairy cow program without regard to the effect it would have on the cattle industry. A U.S. district judge agreed—when ruling on a suit by Texas cattle producers—that USDA had exceeded its authority and violated the mandate of Congress.

Before the program was made public, USDA should have had plans in place—as required by law—for export sales, orderly marketing and required USDA meat purchases.

The Agriculture Department is now putting some of these plans together. That's good, but it's too late to undo the damage that forced many cattle ranches to the brink of bankruptcy, and some beyond.

I was able to help speed one of those plans into effect by working with the Mexican Embassy in Washington and the USDA to remove an obstacle to export sales of 65,000 dairy cows to Mexico.

Two weeks after the announcement, USDA made available to Mexico $50 million in export loan guarantees for the purchase of dairy cows, but Mexican banks were able to issue letters of credit only in pesos. Because of currency exchange fluctuations and problems in converting pesos to dollars, these were not acceptable to U.S. banks.

Now letters of credit are being issued in dollars and potential Mexican buyers already have visited Texas dairies. Sales should proceed rapidly.

The Agriculture Department has also arranged to purchase some of the meat from the dairy cow sales, but that still is not enough. I will continue working with the USDA to make sure they move ahead quickly and effectively with their plans for export sales, required government meat purchases and orderly marketing procedures.

These steps should help restore U.S. cattle prices and clear the trail for our nation's cattle industry.

Transmission fluid should be reddish. If it's turned brown, replace it - and the filter.

The "eye" on many auto batteries is a hydrometer, which alerts owners to a change in the charge. If this "window" becomes dark in color, the battery needs recharging or replacement.

To keep your car's finish in good shape, wash it frequently, letting plenty of water play over the surface to rinse off any abrasive dirt. Wash only with gentle car-wash detergent, rinsing constantly.

Pothole up ahead? Slow down BEFORE you get there, then let off the brake as you reach the danger spot.

SCHOOL CONTRIBUTIONS

Posters and three-d exhibits for BLACK BEAN WEEK were picked up at the ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS in CISCO, RANGER and EASTLAND this week.

They should be distributed and "On Parade!" early in the coming week. Sponsoring merchants won't have easy choices to make for their displays as the youngsters came up with productions that can be commended for creativeness or execution, or both.

When you see the work of children, be sure to notice which grade level is represented. I did not have the time (while picking them up) to really evaluate every poster or drawing, but one young'un in a second grade had executed his masterpiece in brown crayola.

It was most effective for a Texas scene. It is possible that he MEANT to use only brown, but it is equally possible that his brown crayola was the only one left...couldn't help wondering.

Materials from the schools should be back in principal's offices by June 18, possibly sooner, but some sponsors want these displays for longer than a week.

Thanks to the teachers and students for their additions to Eastland County's particular observance of Texas history.

AUDITIONS

Talked to CARROLL BROWN of CISCO JUNIOR COLLEGE about the upcoming production of "Quilters," and she mentioned auditions for a couple of summer productions, especially "Annie." The cast calls for lots of children, and auditions will be Sunday afternoon from two until five. Carroll would like for children from Cisco, Eastland, Ranger--anywhere in the county--to audition for parts. If your child thinks s/he would like to try stage-door life, this may be a good opportunity to find just how interested the tyke is. Details are in the Midweek edition of the paper. Phone number is 442-2567.

Several CISCO WRITER'S CLUB members entered the spring contest sponsored by the ABILENE WRITER'S GUILD.

CWC president, LELA LATCH LLOYD, took top place in the Texas Sesqui-centennial category. She entered the first chapter of her book about Conrad Hilton beginning his hotel empire with the purchase of the Mobley Hotel in Cisco.

VIOLA PAYNE, DULUTH and T.G. JACKSON went with Lela to the awards banquet.

They also got to see SHIRLEY STRAWN, another CWC member, take second honors in the Texas S. category with "Those Crazy Texans." Shirley usually appears on our pages around Mother's Day with a tribute to her mother.

Shirley is a member of the Abilene Writer's Guild as well as the CWC. She punches a timeclock at Abilene Christian University, so her writing comes under "Part-time." Husband FRANK STRAWN is retired; they live in Abilene, and we appreciate her driving so far to our CWC meetings.

Another traveling member of CWC rated Honorable Mention in the poetry category: ELSA TURNER of Albany. Her poem is titled "America."

Elsa writes a column, "Up and Down the Street," for THE ALBANY NEWS. She and BETTIE TOWNSEND joined CWC this year.

Bettie's record of her observations and emotions during the 1978 Albany flood appears in the current issue of CROSS TIMBERS, the CJC magazine.

Repeat invitation: Writers who want to join us are welcomed at any time. Regular meetings will resume September 9 with the awards for the CWC contest that ends August 1. It might be a good idea to enter the contest, too. Rules have been published in the paper, or you can get them through any member.

BIKE SAFETY
In a bike-safety poster contest sponsored jointly by the Ranger Police Department and the P-TO, the winners were: First, TRACY TAYLOR; Second, CATHRYN WINDHAM; Third, MANDY CUNNINGHAM; Fourth--

HARVEY BREWSTER. Thanks to the winners and to all the youngsters who participated.

BIKE-A-THON
JASON WIESEN rode the most miles in a recent Bike-a-Thon in Ranger for the benefit of St. Jude's Children's Hospital. He received a $25.00 award from Olney Savings and so did ROBBY EWING who collected the most money.

St. Jude Tote bags went to Chad Beighley, Robby Ewing, Sara Page, Cody Allen Sharp and Jason Zollinger all of whom collected $75.00, or more.

St. Jude T-shirts went to collectors of $25.00 or more. These participants who added T-shirts to their wardrobes are: Scott Adams, Carl Barker, Jeremy Barron, Chad Beighley, Ronnie Bush, Gary Cox, Angie Crawley, Anthony Elrod, Kevin Espinosa, Monica Espinosa, Robby Ewing, Ashley Harris, Elisha Jimenez, Greg Johnson, Chris Lang, Chris Miller, Sarah Page, Bryan Ratliff, Beth Robinson, Ramona Robinson, Shad Robinson, Cody Sharp, Misty Sharp, Barbara Rene Tedford, Jennifer Wayt, Lance West, Jason Wiesen, and Jason Zollinger.

MARGE RICHEY sends her thanks to all the boys and girls who took part in this effort.

Robert Moreton Receives First President's Award

Dr. Robert D. Moreton, vice president emeritus of The University of Texas System Cancer Center M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, has been honored with the first President's Award from the Texas Public Health Association.

The award was presented to Moreton at the association's 61st annual meeting in Grapevine. It recognizes Moreton for his "many years of dedicated, tireless, enthusiastic, exemplary service and outstanding contributions to improve, promote and protect the public health of the citizens of Texas."

"Dr. Moreton has been and still is an inspiration to me and many others in the public health area," said Texas Public Health Association President Lee Lane.

Throughout his career, Moreton has been active in numerous health-related organizations, both at the state and national level.

He was appointed to the Texas Board of Health in 1961 and served a record 24 years, including five years as chairman.

During this period, Moreton was instrumental in bringing the Texas Board of Health and the Texas Public Health Association together to work on health care matters of importance to Texans.

Moreton joined the UT M.D. Anderson Hospital staff in 1965 after 23 years in private practice in radiology in Dallas, Fort Worth and Temple, Texas. He held several positions at UT M.D. Anderson Hospital, including vice president for patient affairs, before retiring from full-time service in 1984 and assuming his present position.

Currently, Moreton also serves as executive vice president of the John S. Dunn Research Foundation, which provides support for medical research in Texas.

A native of Brookhaven, Mississippi, Moreton received his undergraduate degree from Millsaps College and his medical degree from the University of Tennessee.

Who says you can't undo the damage?

Believe it or not, our Chief E-Z-Liner can undo it in fact. By literally reversing the collision action, gently pulling damage out the way it went in, our revolutionary Chief E-Z-Liner actually squares and aligns your car with more accuracy and precision than it had when it was factory-new. And that's especially true of today's unibody cars.

With our expert painting and finishing service we can also undo even the worst kind of surface damage. So your car leaves our shop not only handling better than ever, but looking better than ever, too.

So who says your car will never be the same again? We say damage that's done can be undone. And we'll prove it with our E-Z-Liner!

Charles Eastland Family To Be Here June 7

Charles Eastland of Angleton, Texas, a descendant of the family of Captain William M. Eastland, hopes to be here for the Discovery-Fest June 7. This was the word the Eastland Telegram received by phone this week. Eastland, who will be accompanied by his wife and 13 yr. old son Mark, plans to arrive in town on Friday, June 6. Once here, the family will stay over for the Saturday night re-enactment of the Black Bean Drawing, in which their famous Great-great Uncle drew the black bean of death. The Eastlands are quite excited and pleased over the Eastland County Sesquicentennial plans. Mrs.

Eastland reported. They have never been in the County named for their ancestor, and are looking forward to it. The Charles Eastlands are in touch with other family members, but do not know at this time of any more who can make the trip. The father of Charles Eastland, Lewis W. Eastland, lives in Longview. A brother, Robert Eastland, lives in Houston. Each year the Eastland descendants meet in LaGrange, Texas for a family reunion. They visit the tomb on Monument Hill where Captain Eastland and other martyrs from the Texas Mexican War are buried.

New Orleans Trip To Be Given

Discover New Orleans in Discovery Fest '86. Beatty-Talley Travel Agency of Eastland has announced it will give a free trip for two to New Orleans as their grand prize of the Discovery Fest '86 celebration this week, according to Mary Beatty. Registration will begin Monday, June 2 at the agency located in Suite 1-A, Maynard Building on Highway 80 East in Eastland. Registration will continue through Saturday, June 7, and the winner will be drawn that night.

Air transportation to New Orleans will be complimentary of American Airlines. The lucky winner will spend Friday and Saturday nights, complimentary of The Monteleon Hotel. The only stipulation, according to Mrs. Beatty, is that the trip be taken before Nov. 1. Beatty-Talley Travel Agency will also give to other winners 20% off anything in the Fantastic Brochure and travel diaries. No purchase is necessary to register for the gifts.

Black Powder Arms Needed

Anyone who has a black powder rifle or pistol and would like to participate in the Discovery Fest '86 presentation "17 Were Chosen" have been asked to contact Bill Culpepper at 629-1726.

The original play will be presented at Maverick Stadium as the finale of a full day's activities on Saturday, June 7.

Who Was Eastland?

Part II
Four years after the execution, while the United States was at war with Mexico, Major Walter P. Lane's battalion of Texans were stationed at Zacatecas, Mexico. Lane had stationed twenty Texans at Concepcion, which was 20 miles from his encampment, to act as a picket guard. The guard applied to Major Lane for permission to go to Salado and secure the remains of the 17 men executed there. Lane refused the request but did so in such a manner the guard felt he unofficially favored it. Eleven men were chosen for the mission. Concepcion was the most advanced post of their army. Salado, their destination, was fifty leagues distant. The Texans reached Salado safely and took the Mexicans completely by surprise. In seven hours the bones of the 17 were disinterred and placed on pack horses. The question then arose as to where the remains were to be sent. It was decided that Fayette County was entitled to them by virtue of the Captain having been William Mosby Eastland, the only executed officer of the 17. Captain Nicholas Mosby Dawson (Eastland's cousin) have also been from Fayette County, it was decided to bring his and his men's remains from near San Antonio to also be buried with the Mier Men. A joint ceremony was then given as the remains of all were buried with military honors on the bluff overlooking LaGrange, Texas, September 18, 1848, the sixth anniversary of the Dawson Massacre.

This area today is known as Monument Hill. The grave is marked by a 48-foot marker of stone, bronze, and polychrome. Perhaps, Noah Smithwick, who served with William Eastland in the Texas Rangers in the 1830's best described him: "What Captain Eastland did for the country is so well known that my humble tribute can add nothing to the lustre of his name. Ever among the first to respond to the call "to arms", he fell, as brave men ever fall, with his face to the foe." End of a series

This "Old Rip" will even outlast the original. Dale Stewart, Cisco sculptor, cast this horned toad in bronze. An edition of these fine pieces is now available - just in time for the Eastland County Sesquicentennial celebration.

Bronze Sculpture of "Old Rip" Completed

Dale Stewart of Cisco has created a sculpture that will have a special meaning to people in this area - especially as the Eastland County Sesquicentennial Celebration begins. It is a bronze replica of a horned toad - a faithful and detailed life-sized piece. Stewart has titled it "Old Rip", and can customize the pieces to suit individual buyers. The first pieces of the edition have either a brown or gray patina. There are several other options on the sculptures. A plain toad without a base is expected to sell at $75, with the toad on a metal base around $110. The toad on a metal base mounted on oak with a turntable will sell for $125. Of course any of these pieces would make a great gift, or would be a nice souvenir of the Discovery-Fest Celebration. Further information on the sculptures may be obtained by calling Dale Stewart at 442-4280 in Cisco.

Sally Thomas of Ranger was a volunteer who also helped with the flag, which contains 1500 square feet of material.

Discovery-Fest '86 To Be Held In Eastland

Eastland County is inviting everyone to join in a special Sesquicentennial Celebration on Saturday, June 7th. A day-long arts and crafts fair, complete with food and entertainment will be held on the town square in Eastland. All the towns in Eastland County will be sharing in Discovery-Fest '86 honoring the man for whom the county and city are named. The highlight of the day's activities will be the presentation of an original historical drama re-enacting the story of Captain William M. Eastland, the first man to draw a black bean for death as part of the ill-fated Mier Expedition during Texas' days as a republic. The pageant is set to original music, and will feature a cast of some 150 including Sam Houston, Santa Anna and Captain Eastland, as well as a vivid black powder firing squad sequence. The presentation begins at 7:30 p.m. at Maverick Stadium and will include a patriotic concert by the Texas Birthday Choir, made up of church and individual singers from throughout the County. A 135 member band will help during the historical story to entertaining life. The climax to the program will be the unfurling of a locally made 30x50 foot Texas flag. Come to Eastland and relive a part of Texas history. For more information call the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, 817-629-2332.

Tornado Tips

Waiting for Insurance Adjustor

Usually a tornado will cause considerable damage which will keep an adjustor extremely busy. It is impossible for him to contact everyone at the same time. While waiting for your insurance adjustor, here are some of the things you can do to limit your total loss.

Immediately after a disaster, protect your property from further damage from the weather or from theft. This includes temporary patching of a roof or covering broken windows by use of plastic or other materials.

If household furnishings are open to the weather, move them to a safe location for storage.

Immediately dry out water damaged furnishings and clothing to prevent fading and deterioration. This can be done either by the owner or taken to a reliable drying establishment. This includes rugs and wall-to-wall carpeting.

After taking care of the emergency needs contact your insurance agent and report the damage. Give him your name, address, and policy number if available. Supply him with the date and time of loss. If your home is destroyed, give your agent your new address and phone number.

There are many tornado caused expense items that your insurance will cover provided you can verify the expense. Keep a list of all cleaning bills. If you are forced to move from your home, keep track of all meal and living expenses. Keep a list of all damaged items and the name of the establishment where they were taken for safe keeping or repairs. Estimate of repair costs may be used as a substitute for bills by some insurance companies.

Most people want to get their damages adjusted as soon as possible. However, late damage oftentimes appears which would be overlooked in an early estimate. It is often wise not to estimate the damage too quickly after a storm to prevent this oversight.

Glass, including spun glass insulation, can cause physical injury to hands and feet. Wear shoes and gloves during the cleaning up process, even though they get wet and muddy.

Air in basements can be dried by using a good dehumidifier. An estimate of damage is difficult to determine. Many adjustors use a major mail order catalog to determine the approximate value of household furnishings.

It may be wise to photograph the damage before making repairs. If you repair small items such as TV antennas, window coverings, or fences before the adjustor arrives, it may be difficult to prove the damage without a picture. Also, if the damage is not covered by insurance, the picture can be used as evidence to prove loss for internal revenue purposes.

When contracting to have the damage repaired, contact a reputable firm. Many times undependable workers will enter a damaged area, make cheap repairs, and leave before you know that the repairs are not adequate. If your local contractor cannot do the work for you, ask him to recommend someone to you. The door-to-door salesman is a poor risk when contracting to repair damage after a storm.

If you do not own your own home, you may want to consider insurance on your household contents. The damage to household items is often severe and insurance on your belongings will help to repay the damage.

Disaster Assistance Available

Each county has a USDA County Emergency Board formed to assist the USDA State Emergency Board. It is composed of the county ASC Committee chairman as chairman and the county agent Farmers Home Administration County supervisor and the Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist as members.

This emergency board has the responsibility of forwarding information to the state board when a disaster occurs or is about to occur. After the emergency board has made an investigation, the Secretary of Agriculture may declare the existence of an emergency area in which disaster assistance may be offered. The board also coordinates USDA disaster activities and maintains liaison with state and county governments and the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, if appropriate.

The assistance available may include (1) emergency agricultural loans, (2) emergency feed for eligible livestock, (3) temporary grazing, and (4) long-term grazing or harvesting of hay. Changes in government programs and feed supplies may cause changes in the assistance available. Check with your local ASCS Office for the latest information.

Surplus foods may be released for use in feeding needy people under emergency or disaster conditions. The food is made available to eligible groups such as Red Cross, Salvation Army, or local welfare agencies. Any organization providing emergency or disaster relief is eligible to receive surplus foods when a natural disaster occurs and emergency feeding is indicated.

The Farmers Home Administration has emergency loans available to farmers to cover physical losses from a designated disaster. Loans are made for losses not covered by insurance or otherwise. Security must be provided to protect the government's equity. Farmers may insure many crops as a self-help program to cushion the impact of crop disasters. The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation provides immediate service to insured farmers when natural disasters destroy their crops.

The Small Business Administration can provide loans of different types for individuals or business concerns. Apply to any SBA Office or bank in the area which cooperates with the SBA. The American Red Cross may provide grants of funds for emergency care and individual family rehabilitation assistance. Need, not loss, is the basis upon which assistance is given. Apply to the local Red Cross chapter.

Planning and technical assistance is available from the local county Extension office. The local county agents can request further assistance from the state Extension office.

Your Tornado Shelter in the Nuclear Age

Your tornado shelter may be the answer to your survival in a nuclear disaster. The underground shelter can save your life if a tornado strikes your home. It can protect you from the radiation that accompanies fallout after a nuclear blast. A few minor changes may make it an excellent fallout shelter.

In considering radiation protection, shielding or total weight of material between you and the radiation is important. The type of material is not as important as total weight. Earth, brick, or concrete make good, economical protection materials.

Remodeling Your Shelter If you plan to remodel your tornado shelter for a fallout shelter, here are things to remember:

* Provide a minimum of 60 square feet of space.

* Allow at least 10 square feet of space per person.

* Be prepared to stock shelter with food and water.

* Provide a cover for doors. An entrance with a horizontal or partially horizontal door should have a cover over it to prevent fallout from landing on the door. A piece of canvas can be placed on the posts before entering the shelter. The canvas should be removed as soon as possible after fallout material has ceased falling. The canvas will not stop the radiation, but it will keep the fallout material up above the entrance to radiation cannot directly enter the shelter.

Building a New Shelter

One of the cheapest ways to build your tornado and fallout shelter is to build it when a new home is constructed. This shelter can be built beneath the garage or in the basement of a new home. The added expense is very small.

If you are building or remodeling a shelter, plan to make the entrance at right angles to the shelter. Radiation will not be able to enter the shelter directly and the protection of the shelter is increased considerably. Plans for this type of shelter are available at your county Extension office or see your county Emergency Preparedness Coordinator.

Shelter Supplies

Most tornado shelters offer adequate protection from windstorms and fallout. Because tornadoes are of such short duration, most shelters are not stocked with supplies to last for any period of time. If there is a nuclear attack on this country, you may have to stay in a shelter for at least two weeks.

The nature of radiation is such that it decays rapidly. About two days after an atomic burst, only one percent of the original radiation is left. If you are well protected during these first two days, you may be able to leave the shelter and go into the main part of the house for short intervals and get additional food, water and other supplies.

For additional information on emergency preparedness, contact your county Extension agent or Emergency Preparedness Coordinator.

Proposed Cost Reduction Measures At Cisco Junior College

Cost reduction measures will be discussed at the next regular meeting of the Cisco Junior College Board of Regents. Colleges and universities throughout the state are facing similar problems in budget preparations for the coming year.

In response to an executive order issued February 18 by Governor Mark White, Stewart McLaurin, president of the Texas Public Community/Junior College Association wrote the following letter to Governor White:

teacher-student intensive. Among our statutory missions, one of the most important is to attract and educate the state's under-prepared but promising students, many of whom are of ethnic background. Our experience is that small classes and close, structured faculty-student interaction are crucial to success with these students. We feel we simply must guard this important principle, even in the face of economic hard times.

Please find attached a summary of the cost reduction measures already in force and planned by community colleges. The reduction plans vary from college to college, and the list grows as each board adopts its 1986-87 budget.

On April 10, 1986, following two prolonged and intense meetings, the Texas Public Community/Junior College Association passed a significant resolution, recommending that their local boards implement actions to produce savings of approximately $50 million over the biennium. A copy of the resolution is attached. May I emphasize that this figure represents our best estimate at the effects of these actions, and that authority for taking action at each college rests solely with its board. I need to point out that in order to absorb these cuts, programs are being eliminated and some personnel have been released.

In summary, Governor, the two-year college presidents acknowledge responsibility for shouldering their part in the financial burdens facing Texas, and we willingly cooperate and support your efforts to control our state's budget during these difficult times. We accept the fact that these temporary measures are necessary, but we must point out that further and recurring cuts put community colleges and their students at risk. In view of the prominent role community colleges have in putting Texans to work and furthering their education, we believe the effect of further cuts would be counter productive.

Sincerely yours,
Stewart McLaurin,
President

Dear Governor White:

When your Executive Order of February 18, 1986 was issued, community colleges were not mentioned in the order, and some are neither state agencies nor universities. The Texas Public Community Junior College Association requested a meeting with your budget director, Mr. Bill Hamilton, to discuss the intent of the order and volunteered our cooperation. This correspondence will address the outcome of our work together:

1. A summary of meetings held with Mr. Hamilton and staff of the Lt. Gov., Speaker, and Legislative Budget Board offices.
2. A summary of spending reductions and controls in force and planned by the colleges.
3. A report to you of action taken by our Association regarding target expenditure reductions by the 49 community college districts.

Our first meeting with Mr. Hamilton was held on February 28. Subsequent meetings were conducted on March 10, March 12, and March 18, 1986. Mr. Hamilton, Tom Scott, Daryl Dorsey, Jim Oliver and several of our Presidents have been involved in the meetings. The Texas Public Community/Junior College Association, including as it does the presidents/chancellors of the 49 public two-year colleges exercises substantial influence and persuasion, but legal control over the colleges is statutorily vested in the locally elected board of each district.

Our meetings identified several powerful forces constraining the college's efforts to cut spending: (1) State funds cover only about 65% of the operating budget of community colleges; the balance is derived from local funds, primarily ad valorem taxes; moreover, (2) state money is restricted by law to be spent only for instructional costs; about 80% is devoted to faculty salaries and classroom/laboratory supplies; (3) buildings, grounds, maintenance, utilities, security, etc. are solely a local responsibility; (4) the lion's share of colleges local tax base "pie" is eaten up by other taxing jurisdictions -- schools, cities, counties and special tax jurisdictions -- and locally elected trustees are under mounting pressure to hold fast against additional tax increases; and (5) funding of the state's portion of community colleges has been reduced significantly.

In view of the above circumstances, you will be interested to know that in 1985-86 most community college boards again increased the local tax "draw" up to the maximum permitted without triggering roll-back procedures, many levied even high taxes. In addition, most colleges doubled tuition rates last fall.

In summary on point #1, our financial environment has been tightening for some time, and it's worsening.

Our Association recently surveyed the two-year colleges to determine on-going and planned measures for reducing spending. Many of these measures were already underway, prior even to concluding our work with state budget officers. They have been accelerated in the present climate.

Of primary concern to our colleges in taking these measures is the issue of keeping up quality in our educational programs. For example, our colleges are have full loads and overloads if feasible.

- *Defer physical plant maintenance wherever possible.
- *Freeze and critical review of all vacancies, with presidential or board authorization required and only positions essential to mission of college filled.
- *Cut supplies and services 15% in every department.
- *Consolidate approval for any equipment purchases in the financial office, and eliminate replacement or initial purchase of equipment unless essential to a vital function of the college.
- *Free all out of state travel and reduce in state travel by one-third (1/3) to one-half (1/2).
- *Consolidate classes in fewer buildings whenever possible and turn-off heating and air conditioning for extended periods in entire buildings.
- *Centralize air conditioning controls.
- *Install air conditioning sensors throughout the campus and computerize the controls.
- *Raise air conditioning thermostat 2-4 degrees in summer, and lower heating 4 degrees in winter.
- *Lengthen Monday through Thursday schedule and close Friday, Saturday and Sunday during summer.
- *Eliminate leased space contracts upon expiration, unless essential.
- *If new program added, phase-out existing program.

ACTON of the Texas Public Community/Junior College Association in response to GOVERNOR WHITE'S EXECUTIVE ORDER TO REDUCE SPENDING.

The President of the Association will send a letter to the Governor summarizing the cost reduction measures that the community colleges have enforce. It is the recommendation of this Association to locally elected boards of trustees that the contingency measures be continued by community-junior colleges throughout the biennium. It is projected that these actions will result in savings of approximately 50 million dollars by the 49 community college districts for the biennium.

At the April 28th called meeting of the college board, a sub-committee was named to develop proposals on ways to reduce spending while at the same time making few changes in activities. Information was compiled through in-depth budget analysis, input from the student body, faculty, staff, administration and Board of Regents to determine those areas where budgets could be reduced rather than deleted entirely.

Activities that will be continued include: Parents Day/Homecoming, the year book, drill team competition, Phi Theta Kappa, Drive-In Band Cmap, student programs (dance, movies, etc.), graduation reception, employee reception, employee Christmas dinner, Ranch Day, basketball camps, band festivals, Cross Timbers Review (literary publication), summer theatre (must be self-supporting), Awards Night, Blue Jackets, student government travel, and employee appreciation dinner.

Proposed deletions include: Tri-College Sports Day, opera, Junior Miss competition, Abilene/Clyde faculty dinner, band and belles pre-school camps, Christmas dinner for board members, Washington trip and miscellaneous receptions.

Proposals are subject to Board approval. The next regular meeting of the Cisco Junior College Board of Regents will be held June 9, 1986 at 6:30 p.m.

Proposed deletions include: Parents Day/Homecoming, the year book, drill team competition, Phi Theta Kappa, Drive-In Band Cmap, student programs (dance, movies, etc.), graduation reception, employee reception, employee Christmas dinner, Ranch Day, basketball camps, band festivals, Cross Timbers Review (literary publication), summer theatre (must be self-supporting), Awards Night, Blue Jackets, student government travel, and employee appreciation dinner.

The Happy Times

By Lillian Cogburn Price

PAPA DID THE PLOWING
Papa got up early, fed the mules, ate breakfast, filled up the water jug - which he hung on the plow, hitched Tobe and Kit to the plow, and away they went to finish the job they started the day before.

He put the water jug with several thicknesses of wet towssacking around it, in the shade of a tree or beneath a small bush at the end of the row. Every so often he stopped and rested awhile and drank the pure, cool water. A gallon every day.

Papa never worked very late except during harvest time. He said the team needed rest. At the end of the day during work season we would feed the mules, eat supper, and go to bed early. Of course, Papa got up very early EVERY morning, ready for a new day's work. Slowly and surely he always got the plowing done in the allotted time; then he was ready for another field job waiting to be done.

Papa worked Tobe and Kit, the mules, for years and years. He was kind and gentle with them and they all worked together as a team. Early in the spring the land was plowed with a turning plow - good and deep. This was so the rain would soak in. Later the rows were laid off and planted in cotton, corn, and other kinds of grain.

The rhythm of the seasons, repeated year after year, seemed so natural to us children. It never occurred to us that the whole world did not sleep in soft feather beds, and awaken to the song of Mockingbirds.

Dr. E.E. Addy Presents Program To Lions Club

Picture slides made of Inca Indian ruins in Peru and of Indian culture and scenic places in Ecuador were shown by Dr. E. E. Addy as the program feature at the weekly luncheon of the Cisco Lions Club last Wednesday noon at the Colony Restaurant.

Dr. and Mrs. Addy visited Peru during a tour of South America. Their stay in Lima was highlighted by touring the famous gold museum there.

In Quito, Ecuador, the visited Indian market places and points of interest along the equator.

President Jerry McBeth announced that the annual state convention of Lions Clubs will be held at South Padre Island June 5-8 and that the annual convention of Lions International will be held in New Orleans July 9-12.

City Police Not To Use Radar On Highway

City Manager Mike Moore said the Council, in a unanimous decision, decided not to allow city police to use radar equipment to work traffic on the highway through town. The police chief had requested that authority recently.

Mr. Moore stated that the Council was not waiving any of the city's rights of jurisdiction over traffic on the three-mile route across the city. "The Council does not wish to use radar to clock motor vehicle speed," he added.

In another decision, the Council told the City manager to proceed with work on a budget that will not require more than a shortage of money for the 1986-87 budget but the need will not be met with the use of radar to detect speeding motorist for arrest on I-20 through town, it was decided at a special meeting of City Council last Thursday afternoon.

three per cent increase in taxes. A three per cent increase would bring in some $8,800.

To hold down budget requirements, the Council also decided there will be no cost-of-living pay hike for city employees next fiscal year. Also, employees hired after June 1 will pay for dependents' insurance, it was decided. The increasing cost of insurance and loss of revenues made this decision necessary, it was pointed out.

There will be no revenue sharing funds from the federal government next year and this will virtually eliminate funds for capital improvements, Mr. Moore reported.

The Council discussed the need for one additional city policeman to enable the city to have two men on duty at all times. How to pay for the additional man was not resolved and Councilmen indicated that they would like to hear from citizens about the matter.

THE CONTRACTOR for the Mobley Hilton Restoration Project expects to complete his work in another week or so. That's an informal report by President Eris Ritchie of the old hotel's board of directors. The finishing touches are being applied by various subcontractors.

The Hilton board planned a meeting at 8 p.m. Friday to take care of a few detail matters.

CofC Manager Don Shepard, who is looking after hooking up the Mobley water well, expects to have the well on pump by mid-week. Electricity was due to be ready this weekend. Plans call for pumping the well a couple of days to clean it out before hooking it into the watering system.

A GOOD TIME was had by one and all 154 persons who turned out last Monday afternoon for a scramble golf tournament and hamburger party at the Cisco Country Club. The occasion was an outing for every employee and their family members of the Cisco Public School System.

Buddy and Carolyn Sipe donned high hats and did the cooking so the school people wouldn't have to work at their party. . . . Sixty-two of the group took part in the golf scramble, which was won by teams captained by Chuck Lawrence, Russell McLeskey and Vandell Weathers with identical scores of one-under par. There was no playoff - one tie, all tie! . . . Best man-wife amateur couple in the scramble was Royce and Shirley Darr, our scouts report.

THINGS ARE shaping up for Cisco's two-hour contribution to the program for the county Sesquicentennial program on the courthouse square on Saturday, June 7th - election day. The Cisco part will take place from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., reports CofC Manager Don Shepard.

Local entertainers will include Al Anderson and his C&W band, the CHS School Quartet, Miss Claudia Waite and the Senior Citizens Band. . . . Mayor Joe Wheatley will speak during the program. . . . There will be an announcement about the entire day's program very soon.

BACK ON THE job this week is Dr. Kenneth Breeze, pastor of the First Christian Church. The Breezes have been on vacation for the past two weeks, and they enjoyed several days in the hill country around Kerrville and Fredericksburg.

At Kerrville, the Breezes attended an arts and crafts fair and he displayed and sold some of the wooden train whistles that come from his wood working shop. Dr. Breeze has sold 200 or more of the whistles.

IF YOU HAVE any arthritis pains in your hands or limbs, perhaps you can benefit from the experience of Mr. W.E. (Dizzy) Dean of our town.

A few days ago, Diz was in his work shop. He reached for something on a shelf that was a foot or so higher than his head. While his hand was there, a wasp latched on and gave him a first class sting. The pain was pretty severe in the area of the middle knuckles for several hours.

Diz finally used an ice pack to ease the pain. His hand swelled considerably. Next morning, the swelling was gone and so was arthritis stiffness and pain when he moved fingers. The wasp sting had done it, Diz was told by a doctor friend.

If you want to try the remedy, Diz will let you in his work shop to expose yourself to a wasp.

BACK HOME after a week or so at their ranch near Marble Falls are Mr. and Mrs. Sutton Crofts. . . . Mark Heidenheimer's new job with a big law firm in Austin promises to give him full-time work, reports his dad. Mark goes to work before 8 a.m. and never gets away from the office until after 6 p.m. He was home last weekend to complete gathering up his things in the move from Abilene to Austin via Cisco. . . . The open house at the new dental clinic of Dr. Gary Harris was a good success last Tuesday. His wife Marty showed us through.

CITY BOOKKEEPER Maryann Perry has been tuning up her golf game for coming ladies tournaments. She shot nine holes in two over par the other day. Her "best ever" score was two under. . . . Mr. J.V. Heyser took his golf clubs out the other afternoon and shot nine consecutive bogies (one over par). Guess you could say that J.V. is a bogie shooter. . . . Abilene TV Weatherman Charlie Jordan will be the program speaker at the Cisco Lions Club luncheon next Wednesday noon.

DRIVING ON I-20 in the Putnam area you'll notice that the old oil tank just east of town there is being painted white. It belongs to Mr. Ruel Reynolds of Abilene, retired Putnam superintendent of schools who bought the tank years ago from Exxon and turned it into a flea market. Mr. RR's sons, Roddy and Roger, are doing the painting on the rusty old tank.

When he opened the flea market some years ago, Mr. RR painted "FLEAMK" on the tank. He had planned to paint "FLEA MKT" but when he found his mistake, it was too late. The mistake was to pay dividends for a writer for the New York Times saw it and wrote about it, and a Dallas newspaper writer was attracted, calling it "unslick, unspan and unbeatiful, rising like a rusting layer cake out of the rolling prairie."

The flea market thrived during the 1970s. Understand the Reynolds have no plans for the old tank and hope to sell it.

VISITING in Cisco last Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Bart Frazier of Stamford. They lived here back in the 1950s and operated a chicken farm out on Beech Street. He has been retired for six years. He told us that when they left Cisco, he went to work for a firm that had 36,000 laying hens at Plainview.

Mr. Frazier spent the last dozen years before retirement working for a U.S. Mail trucking firm at Lubbock. They were in Eastland to attend a funeral and visited old friends in Cisco en route home.
