

Year Ends With Price Surge At Supermarkets

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

1979 ended with a surge in supermarket prices that boosted family grocery bills to a level almost 10 percent higher than at the start of the year, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The December increase was the second largest of the year, topped only by the January rise.

The AP drew up a random list of commonly purchased food and non-food items early in 1973 and checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1. The prices have been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed that the marketbasket bill increased during December at the checklist store in 11 cities, rising an average of 3.2 percent. The bill declined in only two cities — Dallas and Philadelphia — dropping an average of 1 percent.

On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores increased 2.6 percent during December. That was more than triple the eight-tenths of a percent increase during November and was the worst monthly boost since January 1979 when the marketbasket bill went up 2.7 percent.

The AP check showed the marketbasket bill increased during nine of the 12 months of 1979; the only decreases came in February, June and October. Comparing today's totals with those at the start of the year, the AP found the average marketbasket bill at the checklist store rose 9.5 percent.

The food items on the list rose faster than the non-foods. When the non-foods were excluded from the totals, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store showed a 12 percent increase during 1979 — 2.5 percentage points larger than the boost for the foods and non-foods together.

Price fluctuations in the past year forced many Americans to change their eating habits. Beef prices soared, reflecting smaller supplies of cattle. Hog farmers, who can increase production much more quickly than cattle ranchers, boosted their output and many consumers switched from beef to pork.

Pork prices declined or remained stable during much of the year, but the demand finally caught up with supply in December. The AP survey showed that the price of pork chops increased last month at the checklist store in nine cities.

Eggs — another popular substitute for beef — also continued to increase, rising in price at the checklist store in 10 cities during December.

There appears to be little relief in sight. The Agriculture Department says food prices probably will rise at least 8 percent in 1980 and could go up by 11 percent if there are problems with the weather or if the general rate of inflation climbs faster than expected.

At this time last year, the USDA was predicting a 1979 increase in food prices of 6 percent to 10 percent. That prediction, however, was based on an overall inflation rate of 8 percent. The actual inflation rate was about 13 percent and the government now says that when all the figures are in, they will show a 1979 food-price increase of about 11 percent.

A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed more increases and fewer decreases during December than during November. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases:

	Nov.	Dec.
Up	26.4	36.3
Down	18.1	13.2
Unchanged	52.2	46.7
Unavailable	3.3	3.8

The AP survey list originally included 15 items. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1977, however, because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes were used when available. If the requested size and brand was not available on March 1, 1973, a comparable substitute was selected. Items temporarily out of stock on one of the survey dates being compared were not included in the overall total.

The AP did not try to compare actual prices from city to city — to say, for example, that eggs cost more in one area than another. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease — saying a particular item went up 10 percent in one city and 6 percent in another.

The USDA marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics. It is used to keep track of changes in the proportion of the food dollar received by the farmer, wholesaler and retailer and does not correspond to actual family spending.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Here is a city-by-city breakdown of what happened during December:

ALBUQUERQUE: The marketbasket bill went from $18.10 to $18.67, up 3.1 percent. Pork chops, coffee, frankfurters, sugar, eggs, fabric softener, tomato sauce and milk all increased; only paper towels decreased. The other five items were unchanged.

ATLANTA: The total went from $18.03 to $19.05, up 5.7 percent. Chopped chuck, pork chops, paper towels, eggs, frankfurters and sugar increased; detergent decreased; everything else stayed the same.

BOSTON: The marketbasket bill went from $18.26 to $18.67, up 2.2 percent. Milk, chopped chuck, pork chops, eggs, detergent and tomato sauce went up; orange juice, fabric softener, coffee, frankfurters, paper towels, sugar and peanut butter went down; butter was unchanged.

CHICAGO: The marketbasket total for 12 available items went from $13.75 to $15.10, up 9.8 percent. Much of the increase was due to the fact that two items — pork chops and frankfurters — which had been on sale at the beginning of December had returned to their regular, higher prices by the end of the month. Sugar, chopped chuck, and eggs also increased. Only tomato sauce declined.

Coffee and fabric softener were unavailable at the checklist store in the required size and brand. Everything else was unchanged.

DALLAS: The bill went from $19.20 to $18.98, down 1.1 percent. Increases in the price of chopped chuck, orange juice, eggs and sugar were more than offset by a sharp drop in the price of frankfurters.

Soap, Water Create Snow Fun Indoors

By SHARILEWIS

There are few things as infuriating as a blowy, snowy day. It's no fun to stand with your nose pressed against the window, watching all that beautiful snow go to waste!

Well, you can make snowballs and snow men and still stay snug and safe in the house. You can even "paint" with colored snow.

The "snow" is, of course, not real snow — it's made of soap and water, whipped to a froth. For play purposes, this is even better than the real stuff, for soap "snow" won't melt!

You will need: At least 2 cups packaged soap or detergent; water, rotary beater or electric mixer, bowls, poster paint or vegetable food coloring. Whip the mixture with a rotary beater or an electric mixer, adding more soap or water as needed.

For painting, the suds should be loose — a whipped-cream texture. Divide the suds into as many bowls as there are colors to be used. Then add poster paint or food coloring and apply with a paintbrush.

For making snowballs and snowman, whip in more soap until the mixture is like dough — if it is tough to turn a rotary beater, just stir in more soap for a good thick "batter." Then, before picking up the suds to hand mold, dip your hands into water. This will keep the doughy suds from sticking to your hands while you work. Wet your hands as often as necessary.

As this man-made (oops — person-made) snow dries, it hardens and it makes no mess. What could be easier to clean up than soap?

U.S. Bishop Calls Iran-Made Film Fake

DETROIT (UPI) — A Roman Catholic bishop who visited the occupied U.S. Embassy in Tehran has urged the American public not to misread statements made by the hostages that were critical of the United States.

The hostages were putting on "an act," says Bishop Thomas Gumbleton of Detroit, to help them cope with their captivity.

Gumbleton, one of three American clergymen who conducted Christmas services at the embassy, referred to the Iranian-made film aired Monday on U.S. television.

He said Tuesday he thought the three networks acted responsibly in airing the film, but added he was concerned over the repercussions the broadcasts might have.

There's a chance the American pubic could be fooled by this if they misread this thing or overreact to it," he said. "I think there was a clear indication it was an act."

Gumbleton said making the film was one way the four hostages could make contact with outside world after seven weeks of captivity.

They're trying to cope with the situation in the best way they can ...," the bishop said. "In this instance they were accepting a risk that perhaps by participating in this program, their participation would be exploited, but they would choose to do so anyway because they could still achieve some really important good from it ..."

The hostages "desperately need to know ... if anybody cares any more to get them out of there ... because the longer their isolation, the more likely that one or more is going to break," Gumbleton said.

Although perhaps not apparent to the average TV viewer, Gumbleton said the hostages used vocal inflections, speech hesitations and other subtle signs to indicate they did not mean what they were saying.

"I think they were giving lots of signals," he said.

Gumbleton said the scene in which one of the hostages, Sgt. Joseph Subic, handed him a bag purportedly filled with Christmas cards from the hostages was obviously faked.

GOP Raps Carter On Hostage Situation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Republican leaders have criticized President Carter's handling of the Iranian crisis and called for decisive action to free the hostages.

In the strongest GOP attack to date, Republican National Chairman Bill Brock said Carter's "policy of patience is a policy of deception" that conceals American weakness in global politics.

Sen. Robert Dole, D-Kan., a presidential candidate, said continued delay would be "high-risk strategy, gravely dangerous to the hostages."

The criticism came in separate statements Tuesday.

Brock acknowledged that a month ago he joined with John White, his Democratic counterpart, in expressing American unity and non-partisan support for the president's efforts to free the hostages.

"I do not, with this statement, rescind that commitment," Brock said. "But in light of all that has transpired in the ensuing months, in Iran and Afghanistan, it can no longer stand on its own as my position of record."

He said the unity of the American people is not in question, despite broad public support for Carter "has failed to develop a policy that would protect American interests and prestige ... and discourage a repetition elsewhere of the barbaric actions taken in Iran."

"Moreover," Brock said, "it is increasingly evident that Mr. Carter's policy of patience is a policy of deception. Its purpose seems to be to make the American people believe we have a policy appropriate to the multiple crises in the Mideast. But it only works to conceal our weakness in the world."

Iranian Crisis At A Glance

By The Associated Press WALDHEIM'S VISIT

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim began talks with Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh today but with no apparent prospects that he would secure the release of the American hostages, now in their 60th day of captivity.

"I've come to see what I can do," the secretary-general told a reporter as he arrived at the Foreign Ministry for his first meeting with Ghotbzadeh.

IRANIAN STUDENTS

The Iranian students who seized the U.S. Embassy on Nov. 4 reiterated their unchanging position — that the hostages would be freed only if President Carter returned the shah to Iran for trial. They said they would not talk with Waldheim unless the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini told them to and that Waldheim would not be allowed to see any of the captive Americans.

The shah, in an interview with a British newspaper, was quoted as saying he was "coming round to accepting that he is answerable before some form of international tribunal," possibly at the United Nations in New York.

The London Daily Mail said the deposed ruler was interviewed on the Panamanian island where he has found asylum and told its correspondent: "I would be content, happy, to be judged by what I believe was achieved during my years of reign."

Pope Warns Of Nuclear Holocaust

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II ushered in the new decade by warning that a nuclear war in which 200 of the world's 50,000 atom bombs were dropped could destroy all the major cities of the world and kill up to 200 million people.

"A future war would be a work of absolutely unimaginable destruction to human life," John Paul said in a New Year's Day homily before a congregation of 20,000 packed into St. Peter's Basilica.

The pontiff, in a grim recital of statistics, explained that there are 50,000 existing atom bombs.

"It would take only 200 of the 50,000 nuclear bombs now estimated to exist to destroy the major part of the world's greatest cities," the pope said in the latest of several warnings he has made about the consequences of a continued arms race between East and West.

He said scientists recently told him a nuclear war would result in "the death through direct or delayed action of the explosions of between 50 and 200 million people."

In an apparent reference to the turmoil in Afghanistan and Iran, the pope also told 3,000 people outside the Basilica that "international tension ... in recent weeks and days has seemed more serious, especially on the Asian continent."

Vatican sources said the papal homily describing the threat to Europe referred to the recent decision by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to install 572 Pershing II and Cruise missiles on European soil to counter the increased Soviet military buildup.

The pontiff, 59, said a nuclear war would also cause a drastic reduction in food as a result of radioactivity in a large area of the world that is used for agriculture, and also cause dangerous genetic mutations in humans, animals and vegetation.

Stressing the potential danger to Europe, the pope said, "Let us think of the cities and villages in both East and West that, through known means of destruction, could be completely reduced to rubble."

The pope said the scientists' description of "the immediate and terrible consequences of a nuclear war" meant that "we must go with a burning message to all men and all nations, above all those who live on our continent."

That message, the pontiff said, was that "the way to preserve peace is through bilateral and multilateral talks and negotiations ... to find and rebuild mutual trust."

Trust, he said, "is not acquired by force, nor by mere statements. Trust must be won through concrete actions and facts."

Carter Asks America To Become Unified

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says he views the United States in the 1980s as a "nation with growing strength economically, politically, militarily, and I hope, morally and ethically."

The forecast came in an interview taped this week for broadcast on New Year's Day by ABC. Despite his overall optimism, the president said he would like to "see the American people more unified" in the coming decade. Specifically, he said he hopes the American people will return to "a greater trust and respect for their own government, based on the fact that the government tells them the truth and does not avoid controversial issues when the people know those issues to be important."

Issues Not Resolved Between U.S., China

PEKING (AP) — After 12 months of formal diplomatic relations, Americans and Chinese treat each other more like old friends than long-time enemies — even though there have been ups and downs since last New Year's Day when Vice Premier Deng Xiaoping raised his glass to toast the new Sino-American era in California champagne.

Some major issues remain to be resolved at the official level between Washington and Peking, but 1980 is seen by both sides as a year of promise, one in which Chinese-American trade will make its delayed takeoff and the process of normalization will be brought to a conclusion.

Textile, maritime and air-travel agreements are still hanging and the Chinese are not entirely happy over Nationalist Taiwan, which they claim is theirs.

The piece which has not yet been fitted into the puzzle is the Chinese-American trade agreement. In the first flush of recognition, the two countries signed cultural, educational, science and postal agreements.

But the trade pact proved a knotty one, largely because the Chinese couldn't understand why it had to contain so much technical language. Finally, and still not quite convinced, they signed the pact in July with a U.S. promise that it would be acted upon speedily by Congress.

The new relations went through some dark days when the Carter administration held it up at the insistence of some advisers wishing to link it to the Soviet trade agreement. Each contains a vital clause which would make it more profitable to sell goods to the United States.

It took a China visit by Vice President Walter Mondale in September to clear the air. His pledge to get the bill moving in Congress, combined with a $2 billion credit, wiped the frown from Chinese faces.

One of the consequences of normalization is mad rush by thousands of Chinese to get visas for study or visits to the United States.

Chinese eager to see relatives separated for 30 or more years line up as farly as 3 a.m. at the U.S. Embassy to apply for visas. A large backlog is piling up, delaying the day of departure for many.

To alleviate the logjam, and make room for a staff doubled from 30 to 60 since January, the United States has asked the government for new buildings, or land on which to build. So far, there has been no result.

One of the lesser problems which also has stirred up a bit of heat in the new association is that of human rights. Committed to a policy of human rights, the Carter administration expressed shock at the 15-year sentence given human-rights activist Wei Jingsheng in October.

All these issues and others now are being more fully reported because of the presence of U.S. news correspondents in Peking and Chinese reporters in Washington.

There were these other happenings over the past year of renewed American-Chinese friendship:

—The advent of Madison Avenue in the People's Republic. Billboards and newspapers now advertise a wide range

Sails On Tankers Forseen

TOKYO (AP) — In the endless search for new ways to conserve oil, a Japanese shipbuilding company predicts it will have within a few years the world's first oceangoing tanker equipped with sails as well as engines.

In feasibility studies done so far, Nippon Kokan K.K. has gone to sea with a 77-ton test ship, the "Daioh," equipped with three kinds of sails.

"Our estimate now is that if we got fair winds of up to 32 miles an hour from a 90-degree heading, we could cut the engines and still keep a 20,000-ton ship moving at 15 knots," said Kazuyuki Shimizu, the shipbuilder's chief naval architect.

This would be the equivalent of 7,480 horsepower on a conventional ship, he said.

Shimizu said the basic idea would be to use sail to augment normal power and save about 10 percent of the fuel now consumed by oceangoing cargo ships.

However, he said, as oil prices go up, auxiliary sails will become increasingly valuable and "economically feasible" when fuel oil costs more than $200 a ton.

The sails themselves would not be the old clipper ship variety but, according to an artist's conception, giant rectangular sails of plastic, folded against iron masts when not in use. They would be unfurled when a shipboard computer determined that their use was called for.

There are some drawbacks, Shimizu admitted in an interview.

One is that many of Japan's shipping lanes cross the equator and sails could be of limited use in the horse latitudes where winds are often slight. Moreover, there are many bridges in the world which might prevent the entry of ships with sails as high as 180 feet from the water.

Even so, the idea of cargo ships turning back to the age of sail has been well received in some quarters of the Japan shipbuilding industry.

Department Changing Bond Designations

NEW YORK (AP) — The Treasury Department's savings bond division has made a well-publicized New Year's resolution, the better, it is said, to serve the diminishing, disgruntled bond-buying public.

It is changing the designations for its savings bonds, making Series E bonds Series EE, and Series H bonds Series HH. It is also changing the name of Series EE bonds, from U.S. Savings Bonds to U.S. Energy Savings Bonds. It is changing the denominations.

How this improves the program, from the buyer's point of view, isn't very clear. And whether the public goes for the balmy new program depends upon on some questionable assumptions.

The assumption, for example, that the public will be elated to receive 7 percent yields instead of 6 percent, when inflation runs at 13, and that they'll have to hold the new bonds only 11 years instead of five.

While 7 percent is a full percentage point more than that envisioned when the bonds were revealed a year ago, it does not, as has been suggested, double your money in that time.

It might, as most people now realize, return to the buyer twice as many dollars as were paid for the bonds. But if the coming 11 years are like the past 11, those dollars will buy only half as much.

Retention of some old features will probably please buyers as much or more. Bond "profit" continues to be free of state and local income taxes. And taxes on the accumulated interest in Series EE bonds can be deferred until the bonds are redeemed — perhaps even deferred until a person is retired and in a lower bracket than during working years.

What will the public say about having to hold Series EE bonds at least six months before redeeming them? Under the old system redemptions were allowed after only two months. Many workers on payroll deduction plans used to do that, in part because inflation bit into their paychecks.

Cambodia Courting New Relations With America

PEKING (UPI) — One of the cynics of politics is that your friend is somebody who has the same enemies you do.

On that basis, the United States has just received an invitation to friendship from a surprising source — the beleaguered communist government of Cambodia, now fighting a guerrilla war against Vietnamese troops who have occupied its country.

"All right, it's in our self-interest," says Cambodian ambassador to China Pich Cheang. "But it is in your interest, too."

Ambassador Pich mounted a diplomatic offensive around Peking this month to let the American Embassy know that the unpopular Cambodian government is looking for friends.

He also is starting to cultivate American reporters based in the Chinese capital in the hope they will pass the word to the diplomatic corps.

His moves come amid reports from Bangkok that the Cambodian Communist Party's widely unloved overlord, Premier Pol Pot, has been ousted and possibly killed.

They also may be intended to head off Cambodia's exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk. The flamboyant Sihanouk, imprisoned by Pol Pot for three years, said in Paris this month he plans a world tour to raise funds, seek arms and mobilize an army for a new liberation of Cambodia.

Selling the U.S. government and general public on friendship with a communist Cambodia may take some doing. Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge troops beat the American-backed government of General Lon Nol. They took over the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh about a month before the fall of South Vietnam in 1975. After that, Pol Pot introduced a primitive form of rural communism. He emptied Phnom Penh and other Cambodian cities and forced their inhabitants into the countryside where a million or more are believed to have died.

From 1975 until 1979 when the Vietnamese came in, Cambodia was virtually a closed country. Aside from China and North Korea, it did not seek friends.

So why should the United States care about Cambodia's friendship?

The ambassador's argument is that the Vietnamese military machine, battle tested in a long war with the United States, not only wants to take Cambodia but the whole Indochinese peninsula.

Pich said the Cambodian guerrilla forces are not looking for American arms.

One-House Veto Controversial

By WALTER R. MEARS
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year is not a promising one for the people who write federal regulations. In Congress and in the presidential campaign, the unelected bureaucratic rulemaker has become a handy target for political rhetoric.

The House has voted to send the regulators a message by curbing the authority of the activist Federal Trade Commission, and the bill awaits action in the Senate.

Under the House bill, either branch of Congress could veto any regulation the FTC proposes to apply on an industry-wide basis. The vote for that measure was overwhelming, and there is substantial support in the Senate for similar action.

Ironically, some ardent advocates of deregulation say that would be a mistake. One of them is former President Gerald R. Ford who, like every president since Franklin D. Roosevelt, opposes the legislative veto.

That procedure is now built into more than 300 federal laws. It permits Congress or, in many cases, one house of Congress, to block specific executive actions. Presidents always have argued that is an improper invasion of their authority to administer the laws.

Now, in the clamor against federal regulators, the process could be expanded so as to apply across the board to the actions of one agency or another.

Lately, the problem of unelected bureaucrats acting counter to the congressional interest has been highlighted dramatically at the FTC," said Sen. Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M. "Merely by knowing that Congress could veto a proposed rule, the FTC or any other agencies would be automatically deterred from straying outside their mandate."

"It is time to admit that, properly confined, the legislative veto's time has come," he said.

Republican Ford doesn't buy that. He says Congress should pass better laws in the first place, instead of writing into legislation a procedure to block results it decides it doesn't like.

His opposition to the congressional veto does not stop at the door of the Federal Trade Commission, even though he disagrees with the consumer activist policies of its chairman, Michael Pertschuk.

Ford says that if Congress didn't want the FTC intervening in the marketplace, the Senate shouldn't have approved Pertschuk's nomination to head the agency. The former president said Pertschuk's activism should have come as no surprise to anyone at the Capitol, since he served as counsel to the Senate Commerce Committee before President Carter named him to a seven-year term at the FTC.

Now, the same Commerce Committee is shaping legislation to rein in the agency. As an alternative to the veto plan approved by the House, its bill would require the FTC to notify Congress of any proposed rule 30 days in advance.

That way, Congress could pass a law forbidding anything it didn't want done. The House already has voted to prevent the FTC from issuing regulations over the funeral industry. The bill awaiting Senate action would bar FTC regulation of television advertising directed at children, life insurance and used car sales.

President Carter, like his predecessors, argues that the one-house veto is unconstitutional.

Burn Unit Handles Severe Cases

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The freak flash fire hadn't missed much. The searing flames spared the young Marine's feet and ankles, thanks to heavy leather combat boots. They missed most of his face and neck, desperately shielded at the cost of his arms and hands. But the rest of his body was covered in second- and third-degree burns — one of the most traumatic injuries a human body can sustain. There were also internal inhalation burns, making his chances of survival even slimmer. It was a nasty case, even by Brooke Army Medical Center standards. Infection by microscopic "bugs" would be the constant concern for Brooke's famed burn specialists in the ensuing weeks, even as the wounds were closed — first by temporary grafts of

"freeze-dried" donor skin and later by the victim's own skin. The wounds were cleansed daily and trimmed of all dead tissue, then covered only with a special infection-fighting burn cream that Brooke researchers helped develop 15 years ago. Bandages are seldom used anymore — they proved to be little more than lush breeding grounds for the bugs. If the severely burned Marine survives the bugs and the grafts, the center's social workers and physical and psychological therapists then take over to prepare the permanently scarred teen-ager for as normal a life as possible. The Marine has no name. He is simply a composite of the most serious cases Brooke specialists faced when 38 severely burned young Marines were airlifted here after a freak fire during a typhoon at their Japanese base on Oct. 19. One died en route. Col. Basil Pruitt, commander of what is one of the world's most advanced burn centers, predicted three days after the fire that more of the 19 in critical condition would die. As of Tuesday, Pruitt's prediction had been proved right — eight times. Such severe burns are the most serious injuries to the body. Not only does it destroy the skin, it affects every other system and organ in the body. The body also is weakened against infection," said Pruitt. "Inhalation injuries, which are caused by inhaling fire or toxic fumes, increase the mortality rate." Brooke's burn unit, established in 1947, has been in the forefront of the battle against such extensive injuries.

Brooke researchers were instrumental in developing the anti-infection cream, as well as the use of the "biological dressing" — temporary skin grafts. "The cream represents one of the real advances in burn care in the last 15 years. Before the creams were developed, about 60 percent of all who died from burns died of infection in the wounds," said Pruitt. "After a month, when much of the infection threat is past, the wounds are covered with sheets of donor skin flown in from a Navy tissue bank. "You literally add water," Pruitt said, displaying a small glass tube containing a rolled-up sheet of skin. "It's kind of like instant skin." The temporary grafts are replaced every five days so the body doesn't have enough time to reject the alien skin. When the supply of donor skin is exhausted, doctors turn to pig skin. The two breakthroughs have resulted in a 50 percent improvement in the survival rate of victims with burns covering 20-60 percent of their bodies. "We treat every victim as a survivor. We don't give up on anybody. There's been a significant increase in the survival rate of patients under age 60," said Pruitt. Infection, such as pneumonia, is still the main cause of death because the extensive burns suppress the patient's ability to resist infection," he added. "The next big advance in burn care will be a way to bolster the body's ability to fight infection after an extensive burn." Brooke's crack burn teams unfortunately get plenty of chances to refine their techniques. Specialists treated hundreds of cases during the Vietnam War. Fourteen victims of the 1977 crash of two jumbo jets in the Canary Islands were taken to Brooke. The center now handles about 300 cases each year.

Officials Probing Area Murder

HEREFORD — Authorities here today were looking for the killer of a 50-year-old Hereford woman who lived with her four grandchildren in a small trailer house. Lillie Mae Walker was found dead about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday in her residence by a family member. Hereford Police, Det. Dale Morgan said.

Reports indicate the woman suffered several blows to the head. However, autopsy reports, ordered by Hereford Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal, had not been completed by this morning. Though no arrest had been made early today, Morgan said, "We do have a male suspect, and we do have a warrant for him for murder." The suspect, described as a white man who reportedly stole the woman's station wagon following the murder, was thought to have been seen recently in Lubbock. The dead woman's vehicle was described as a 1974 brown Plymouth station wagon with wood-panel sidings. Hereford police would not give any details on a possible motive for the killing.

Morgan said "several" of Mrs. Walker's grandchildren apparently were at the residence when the woman was killed. However, the children were not injured, according to police.

Mrs. Walker apparently had been dead only a short time before she was discovered by an unidentified family member.

Morgan said the victim was not employed. "She just lived there and was raising her four grandchildren," he added.

New Year's Traffic Deaths Set Record

By The Associated Press Traffic accidents during the New Year's weekend claimed a record death toll for a four-day observance of the holiday and exceeded advance estimates by the National Safety Council.

day night-through-Tuesday period. "One reason we had a lower count was because of the good weather we had during the holiday period. There was no ice anywhere in the state, and we are thankful for that," DPS spokesman Richard Grimmett said today.

Highway deaths also set a record for the recent four-day Christmas weekend. Traffic accidents during the long New Year's holiday weekend killed at least 31 persons in Texas, far below pre-holiday predictions by the Department of Public Safety.

The toll of 482 surpassed the 481 recorded over New Year's weekend of 1969-70 before the speed limit on the nation's highways was lowered to 55 mph. It fell short, however, of the 564 recorded during a three-day New Year's weekend in 1965.

Famous 'Voice' Of Astronauts Found Dead

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Lt. Col. John A. "Shorty" Powers, who became familiar to Americans as the "voice of the astronauts" in the 1960s, was found dead at his home, police said. Police said they found Powers' body Tuesday night, adding that he was bearded and appeared thin. Officers said death appeared to be from natural causes but that the exact cause had not been determined.

The DPS had warned 56 persons could die on Texas roads during the Friday night-through-Tuesday period.

Twelve of the victims were killed in auto-pedestrian accidents. No one died in an accident involving a motorcycle, and there were only two double-fatality accidents. The others killed died in single-fatality mishaps.

A week ago, the traffic death toll for the Christmas weekend was 713, surpassing the record of 706 for a four-day observance of the holiday, set in 1956.

A year ago, 355 persons were killed during a three-day New Year's weekend. During a non-holiday, four-day weekend at this time of year, 480 persons could be expected to die in traffic, safety council statisticians said.

Services Held For Mrs. Tandy

FORT WORTH (AP) — A funeral for Anne Burnett Tandy, the widow of Tandy Corp. founder Charles David Tandy, was held today at the All Saints Episcopal Church here. She was 74.

Mrs. Tandy, who carried on the tradition of her West Texas pioneer family by managing the fabled 6666 Ranch in North Texas, died of cancer in her home after a long illness.

She personally supervised the 207,895-acre 6666 Ranch that surrounds Guthrie in King County, and the two Triangle Ranches in Wichita County and the Panhandle.

The ranches were founded by Mrs. Tandy's pioneer grandfather, Capt. Burk Burnett, who came to Texas from Tennessee with his family as a small child during the 19th century. The town of Burkburnett, in Wichita County, is named after him.

Mrs. Tandy was director of the First National Bank of Fort Worth, director of the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show, a trustee of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame, a trustee of the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, honorary vice president of the American Quarter-horse Association, and honorary vice president of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association.

Oscar Agado, 22, of Idalou was in critical condition this morning at Methodist Hospital with head injuries suffered Dec. 30 in a traffic accident.

James Osborn, 51, of Lubbock was in serious condition today at Methodist Hospital where he has been undergoing treatment since being overcome by gas fumes Dec. 24 at his mobile home in the Eastgate Trailer Park on the Idalou Highway.

Debra Modell Langley, 20, of Seminole was in serious condition today at Methodist Hospital with back injuries received Dec. 13 in a traffic accident in Brownfield.

Nathaniel Ray, 28, of 1715 E. Auburn St. remained in critical condition this morning at Methodist Hospital with gunshot wounds suffered Sunday morning in an incident in the 6200-block of Quetsel Street.

Alfred Burks

Services for Alfred E. Burks, 66, a Lubbock resident since 1944, are pending with Rix Funeral Directors. Burks died at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in Memorial Convalescent Center.

A native of Stephenville, he served in the South Pacific with the U.S. Navy during World War II. He served as a cook and was once assigned temporarily as chief cook on the PT boat commanded by then-Lt. John F. Kennedy.

The retired truck driver was a member of Monterey Church of Christ. Survivors include a daughter, Pat Crawford of Pasadena; a son, Alfred Burks of Pasadena; four brothers, Elmer of Uvalde, Lloyd of Stephenville, John of Mexia and Darvil of Alpine; five sisters, Urselle Carmack of Lubbock, Quata Marshall and Thelma Sikes, both of Alice, Velma Chew of Kerrville and Carmen Driver of Seminole; 13 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Laura Davis

ANDREWS (Special) — Services for Laura Wilson Davis, 81, of Andrews will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Singleton Funeral Home Chapel of the Chimes in Andrews with the Rev. Keith Wiseman, pastor of the Means Memorial United Methodist Church officiating.

Mrs. Davis died at 2 p.m. Monday in Permian General Hospital in Andrews after a brief illness. She was born in Madisonville, Ky., and moved to Texas in 1910. She lived in Shafter until 1915 when she moved to Andrews.

City Man Arrested For Attacking Elderly Landlady

A Lubbock man was arrested about 9:20 p.m. Tuesday after he allegedly broke into a house and sexually molested his 76-year-old landlady.

The elderly victim, who was listed in satisfactory condition today at Highland Hospital, told police the intruder also beat her about the face with an unknown object.

The woman said she was watching television Tuesday night when she heard a noise in the other room, but just thought it was her cats. Seconds later, the intruder draped a towel over the woman's face and began beating her, according to reports.

The victim said she recognized the suspect's voice when he told her, "Be still and I won't hurt you." While the woman screamed and struggled, the 19-year-old man began fondling her, police were told.

The woman said she got a glimpse of her attacker when the towel fell off her head. She reportedly managed to escape through her front door and run to a neighbor's apartment while the suspect fled out the back of the house.

When police arrived, the woman told them she thought her assailant was a man who rented an apartment in the back of her house.

Investigating officers confronted the man at his apartment, and he was taken into custody after the woman identified him as the intruder.

The suspect, who has rented an apartment from the woman about three weeks, was taken to the county jail and booked on suspicion of burglary with intent to commit rape.

In a separate assault, a 50-year-old man was in satisfactory condition at Health Sciences Center Hospital after reportedly being stabbed in front of a Lubbock club shortly after 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Santiago Batancot of 2101 First Place told police he suffered a stab wound in the stomach after getting into a fight with a young Mexican-American man in the parking lot of a nightclub in the 200-block of Municipal Drive.

The knife-wielding suspect, who fled the scene before police arrived, was described as short, thin and between 18 and 25.

Batancot said he was stabbed by the man after both of them walked out of the club to settle an argument which had erupted earlier in the night. A club employee said he saw the suspect leave with a small pocket knife.

An adult and six juveniles were taken into custody shortly before midnight Tuesday after they allegedly attempted to steal property from a man at an apartment complex in Southwest Lubbock.

The stolen items, including $2,000 in assorted coins, were recovered at the scene, according to police.

David John Urabel of 6402 Albany Ave., Apt. 802, said he had just returned from a trip and was attempting to find the apartment manager when he saw several persons walking from his car carrying the coins and a suitcase.

Urabel detained one of the suspects until police arrived, and the others were found in the area.

The suspects, ages 17, four 15-year-olds and two 16-year-olds were taken into custody on suspicion of felony theft.

Lubbock police chased down a 31-year-old motorist about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, but not before the man rammed his vehicle into two patrol cars, according to reports.

Police said they stopped the man near Eighth Street and Avenue W for a traffic violation. But as the officers were getting out of their unit, the suspect reportedly drove off.

During the chase, the motorist allegedly collided with patrol cars at Third Street and Vernon Avenue and at Third and Avenue Q. After the second collision, the driver was apprehended, police said.

The man was taken to the county jail after being issued 52 traffic violations, including driving without a license.

Glen Reddell, operator of Southwest Christian Counseling Center, 2315. 50th St., told police his business was burglarized between Monday and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and $3,590 in office equipment was stolen.

Reddell reported missing camera equipment, tape recorders and $20 cash.

A 17-year-old Abernathy man allegedly broke several windows out of cars parked in front of a Lubbock club about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and burglarized one of the vehicles. The man was arrested as he walked out of the club in the 500-block of the Amarillo Highway.

Numerous broken windshields, cases of public intoxication and car burglaries kept Lubbock police and sheriff's deputies busy on New Year's Eve, but no major crimes were reported during the sometimes dangerous holiday.

Two security guards prevented a possible abduction in a Methodist Hospital parking lot around midnight Monday. Reports indicate the guards heard a hospital nurse scream "rape" when a man put his arms around her as she entered her car and said, "You're going with me now."

The man fled on foot but the guards caught him. He was in custody in Lubbock County Jail Tuesday night.

Criminal mischief reports included the breaking of at least 10 windshields, valued at $120 to $150 each, by vandals throughout the city.

Two Lubbock men reported being hit with BB or pellet guns below the right knee in separate incidents Monday and early Tuesday.

Andrew C. Sanders told police he was in the front yard at 55th Street and Memphis Avenue about 3:15 p.m. Monday, when he heard "a popping noise" and saw a pickup truck drive away. He was treated and released at Health Sciences Center Hospital for a BB or pellet gun wound.

Samuel Moran of Lubbock reported he was walking in the 2400 block of Main Street about 3 a.m. Tuesday, when he "heard a bang." He also was treated and released at Health Sciences Center Hospital.

Sheriff's reports indicate Joe Henry Ybarra of Idalou was hauling cotton along U.S. Highway 62-82 at 8:10 p.m. Monday when a shot was fired at his windshield from a brown vehicle.

Though the glass was shattered, the bullet did not penetrate it, or Ybarra would have been struck in the forehead, according to reports.

In another Monday afternoon assault, Domingo Castillo reported being stabbed in the right shoulder when he answered a knock at the door of an East 4th Street club and a man asked him for money. Castillo was treated at West Texas Hospital. It was not known if any money was taken in the incident.

Fulton Walker of Lubbock told police he was beaten at a club on the Idalou Highway about 2 p.m. Monday. He sustained lacerations to his hand, stomach, head and neck when two men knocked him to the floor of the club. He was kept in Methodist Hospital for observation.

Tony Arrendondo of 2823 Cornell St. told police someone entered his house while he was gone between 6 p.m. and midnight Monday and took two television sets, cash and jewelry valued at $1,486. He said entry was gained by breaking a bedroom window.

Another burglary netted $3,750 in guns and jewelry and a television set, according to Charles K. Berg of 2427 20th St. said someone entered his house by prying open a bedroom window while he was out of town between Saturday and Monday.

Ricky Don Ellis of 1910 4th Place said someone kicked open his back door between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Monday and took $550 worth of stereo and television equipment.

Some $500 worth of pistols and jewelry was taken from Jim Walker's 1609 43rd St. residence between 6 p.m. and midnight Monday. Reports say entry was gained through a rear window.

Official Says Chrysler, UAW May Agree On New Pact Soon

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers union and Chrysler Corp. could reach tentative agreement on a new, scaled-down contract required by Congress "in a matter of a few days," one union executive says.

UAW bargainers were scheduled to meet today to determine how they can slice nearly $260 million from the three-year contract reached with Chrysler last year.

Negotiations to reopen the contract could begin as early as Thursday, said UAW Vice President Marc Stepp, director of the union's Chrysler department.

"It will depend on how much time we need to fashion a new proposal that will comply with the requirements placed on us by the Chrysler aid legislation," he said. "It's quite possible we could have a new tentative contract agreement in a matter of a few days."

Stepp met with his chief staff aides Monday to discuss possible contract concessions. Under the $3.5 billion Chrysler aid package passed by Congress last month, the UAW must renegotiate with Chrysler on an additional $259.9 million in concessions.

Those concessions will be in addition to provisions in the current UAW contract with Chrysler, which saved the ailing automaker about $203 million when compared with the economic pattern, at Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp.

A meeting of the 256-member national Chrysler Council is tentatively scheduled for Jan. 8.

The ratification process by rank-and-file workers conceivably could be completed by Jan. 20, Stepp said.

Stepp, like UAW President Douglas Fraser, said he is reluctant to make contract changes in such areas as cost-of-living, pensions and health care coverage.

Sheik's Mansion Destroyed By Fire

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Fire early today gutted the gaudy Sunset Boulevard mansion of a Saudi Arabian sheik who once shocked his neighbors by painting flesh tones on front-lawn statues of nudes.

Sheik Mohammed Al-Fassi, 25, and his 20-year-old wife, Sheika Dena Al-Fassi, were reportedly out of the country when the fire broke out at 10 p.m. PST Tuesday and raged for three hours, officials said.

Al-Fassi's father, D. Sheik Shamsuddin Al-Fassi, paid a reported $2.5 million for the four-acre estate in 1978 and estimated the value of the home at $7 million after extensive improvements and redecoration by his son and daughter-in-law. Witnesses said much of the structure as well as the controversial statues remained standing after the fire, but said the house was gutted.

"The fire kept springing back. There's a copper roof on the place that made it hard to fight the fire," one witness said.

Fred Tartuino, Beverly Hills Fire Department battalion chief, would not speculate about the cause of the blaze but said there "appeared to be two separate fires, in the attic and the northwest corner of the house." He refused further comment on the investigation.

The sun-reflecting roof that Al-Fassi installed cost an estimated $1 million.

The roof trapped the blaze inside the home, where it raged from the ground floor in the east wing, then through the second floor and attic for several hours.

A crowd of at least 500 spectators gathered to watch the fire at the mansion, located at the corner of Alpine Drive and Sunset Boulevard.

The cause of the fire was under investigation. It was battled by Beverly Hills firefighters aided by engine companies from Los Angeles.

The huge 58-room house attracted wide attention when his Al-Fassi went on a redecorating spree that sent the community into shock.

He painted the exterior green, added the sun-reflecting copper roof, planted bright plastic flowers in front and used flesh-colored paint on the nude statues in the front lawn.

It was all visible to passersby and tourists, who added the mansion to their lists of "must sees" in Southern California.

One neighbor called it "a dirty Disneyland."

Crews Prepare To Remove Chlorine Gas From Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Crews prepared to hoist 35 one-ton canisters of liquefied chlorine gas by helicopter from a barge that has been beached for two days on the rugged shore near the Golden Gate Bridge, authorities said.

Four helicopters flew in pumps and other equipment Tuesday to an area about three miles west of the bridge in the Pacific Ocean off Point Bonita in Marin County.

But dense fog delayed the arrival from Alameda Naval Air Station of heavy-duty helicopters to be used in the removal.

U.S. Coast Guard spokesman Charles Crosby said the helicopters would attempt to lift the steel cylinders containing the potentially lethal chlorine today, "weather permitting."

Crosby said two upper layers of canisters must be removed before the chlorine canisters can be taken out. Some of the containers hold cattle feed, which will be flushed into the water, he said.

The barge Agattu, one of two that broke loose from a tug that was towing the vessels to Hawaii Monday in 20-foot-seas, also held 19 tons of explosives and corrosive chemicals.

Officials from Crowley Maritime, the barges' operators, were still figuring out late Tuesday how to remove the explosive nitrocarbonate and other chemicals, Crosby said.

The explosives were described as "very difficult to detonate," by another Coast Guard spokesman. One plan to remove the chemicals under study Tuesday was the use of a tram-type device—a cable stretched from barge to shore.

Teachers Slate Vote On New Agreement

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A tentative agreement was reached today on a new contract aimed at ending an 11-week-old teachers' strike in Ohio's largest public school district.

"We will recommend ratification," Eugene G. Kolach said. "I don't know if the teachers will approve it or not, but we will recommend ratification."

Frederick M. Coleman, who last Monday ordered representatives of the CTU and Cleveland Board of Education cloistered at a downtown hotel until a contract was reached.

DEFIES JUDGE — Eugene Kolach, president of the Cleveland Teachers Union, vows Tuesday night that his organization will defy a back-to-work order. But a tentative agreement today apparently solved the problem. (AP Laserphoto)

The balloting will be held in each of the Cleveland Public School District's 146 schools, which have been closed since Nov. 6. The walkout began Oct. 18.

"We think it (the tentative agreement) is a good resolution of our problem," Coleman said at a hastily-called news conference. "We hope the union acts as expeditiously as possible ... with the expectation that teachers will return to the classrooms Jan. 4."

CTU members last week rejected a two-year, $30 million contract offer and demanded about 4 percent more than the 10 percent wage hike offered by the school board.

The judge today also said his order directing teachers back into the classrooms, effective today, would be held in abeyance until results of the balloting are known, and that schools would remain closed until the voting is completed.

"All matters will be in a holding pattern until Cleveland Teachers Union members have the opportunity to consider the proposal and ratify it," Coleman said. "The court urges favorable and positive consideration of the proposal."

Details of the new pact were not released, pending ratification, according to Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge

School Board President John Gallagher Jr. said the tentative agreement was a compromise and hinted that cutbacks would be made in order for the financially-strapped school system to meet contract specifications. He declined to elaborate.

The state does not grant the extension, Gallagher said, teachers and students would be forced to complete the current school year on a rugged and draining six-day-a-week schedule, and that would mean overtime for teachers.

Gallagher also said he and other elected officials would press the state to extend the current school year so that when schools are reopened, days missed because of the walkout could be made up with a minimum of cost.

Brooks also noted that the time limit established by the law creating the appraisal district will make it almost impossible to come up with appraisals that will be totally correct.

By 1981, all property in Texas must be assessed at 100 percent of market value, Brooks said. In the following year, the appraisal district must be fully operational and ready to appraise all property within its jurisdiction.

That means that all records on all property assessed by the various taxing authorities within the county must be made to coincide.

There's just not enough time to compensate for some very obvious errors, Brooks said.

The appraisal district does have some options in determining how to carry out the appraisal service for the county, according to Brooks.

First, the district can choose to establish an entirely separate tax appraisal office that will provide appraisals to the 23 taxing units in the county. A second option before the new district is to contract for appraisal services with an existing agency such as the City of Lubbock or Lubbock County.

The third option would be to contract with a private independent appraisal firm.

Brooks said that determining which of the three methods the appraisal will use probably will be the first decision that must be made by the board.

Board members plan to look at the pros and cons of all three methods at the next meeting scheduled for 1 p.m. Jan. 17.

New Tax Panel Ready To Act

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Members of the Lubbock County Tax Appraisal District Board were officially sworn in this morning and immediately set to work trying to determine what their new jobs will entail.

Sworn in during the mid-morning ceremony in the county commissioners' court were Mabry Brock, Mrs. Lynn Stafford, Joe Horkey, Ray Diekemper and Paul Cronoe Jr. of New Deal.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Stafford thanked those in attendance, saying that she and the other new board members have the dubious honor of being "the most unknown board" in the county.

However, we want you to know that we're here to do a job for you — not to you," she stressed.

In its first order of business, the new board elected Horkey chairman, Diekemper vice chairman and Mrs. Stafford secretary.

Two of the board's chief problems in trying to organize a district to appraise all property within the county will be a lack of funds and insufficient time to adequately determine correct appraisals for every piece of property.

According to John Brooks, tax assessor-collector for the city and Lubbock school system, the appraisal district can expect state funding of a minimum of $2,800 and a maximum of about $8,000 this year. The limited amount of state funding probably will make it necessary for the appraisal district to seek additional monies from the participating taxing authorities.

Meetings involving Thompson, Mayor Jane M. Byrne, school officials and leading bankers are scheduled through next week, but the likelihood of a complete shutdown of the schools grows with each day the crisis is unresolved.

Firefighters Return To Stations day and was scheduled to resume today with 26 firefighters to appear.

Despite increasingly heavy pressure from the city — including firings and suspensions of firefighters and talk about rebuilding the fire department — the firefighters steadily escalated the job action.

Tuesday morning, at the height of the sulkout they began Dec. 26, only 14 of the 190 firemen scheduled to work appeared. The shortage of trained firefighters left seven of the city's 32 fire stations closed New Year's Day. Seventeen were manned by police and guardsmen while five were run by battalion chiefs and guarded by police. Only two stations were manned by firefighters. Fire facilities at Kansas City International Airport were manned by a private firm.

From 6 p.m. Monday until 11 p.m. Tuesday, there were 45 fire calls, none of them major, police said.

Firemen began the job action Dec. 21 by refusing non-emergency overtime after they rejected the city's "final" wage and benefit offer of $5.1 million. The contract also included a plan to increase the work week from 40 to 48 hours. The previous contract expired May 1.

BREZHNEV'S TURN — Russian diplomats got a taste of Moslem anger Tuesday when angry crowds attacked the Soviet Embassy in Tehran, tearing down the Russian flag and clashing with Revolutionary Guardsmen. Russian, Afghan Losses In Battle Termed High KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Soviet troops are reported locked in bitter combat with Afghan rebels northwest of Kabul, Western European diplomatic sources said today.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said casualties were heavy on both sides, and that the Soviets were using sophisticated MI-24 helicopter gunships against rebel strongholds in the province of Bamian.

There also were reports the Soviets were battling regular Afghan Army units still resisting last Thursday's Kremlin-engineered coup that ousted the late president Hafizullah Amin.

The reports, however, could not be independently confirmed. Afghan officials were refusing to allow Western reporters outside the capital city of Kabul. They deported 13 journalists today.

In addition to the fighting in Bamian, rebel control for several months, sources said there was fighting north of Kabul in the western city of Herat, where at least 60 Soviet troops were killed in an uprising last March. The city was believed quiet today, however.

Asian and Western diplomatic sources said the Soviets moved into Herat by plane the same day they struck in Kabul, launching the coup installing Babrak Karmal in power.

Russian troops were airlifted Monday to Jalalabad across the border from Pakistan's Khyber Pass, to secure the strategic city, said an Afghan official who said he took part in operation.

Iranians disrupted Waldheim visit

Iah Mohammed Kazem Shariat-Madari, urging them not to harm fellow Moslems, the party members said.

Karmal, a former ambassador to Czechoslovakia with close ties to the Kremlin, appeared on television Tuesday night for the first time since the coup.

Ghoizadeh reiterated before Waldheim's arrival that he considered the secretary-general's visit a fact-finding mission only, to hear Iran's case against the United States and Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, and not one of mediation and negotiation. Although Waldheim said he had information indicating Khomeini would receive him, there was no indication from officials in Tehran that this would happen.

There had been speculation that Karmal, who had been living in Czechoslovakia following his ordered recall in July 1978, had not yet arrived in the country.

Meanwhile, the students who seized the U.S. Embassy on Nov. 4 reiterated their unchanging position — that the hostages would be freed only if President Carter returned the Shah to Iran for trial. They said they would not talk with Waldheim unless Khomeini told them to and that he would not be allowed to see any of the captive Americans.

During a half-hour speech, Karmal denounced Amin as a puppet of the United States and as a CIA agent, and he pledged sweeping liberalization of Afghan life.

The government TV service coupled its pictures of Waldheim's arrival on a split screen with an amputee and two dead children it said were victims of SAVAK, the Shah's secret police.

Karmal, who was introduced by a Moslem cleric, also promised to "respect the sacred principles of Islam," in a gesture of conciliation to the Moslem rebels who have declared a "holy war" against the Marxist regime.

"This is a New Year's gift offered by the TV staff on the occasion of Mr. Waldheim's arrival," the announcer said.

In Karachi, Pakistan, the English-language newspaper Dawn quoted informed sources in Islamabad, Pakistan, as saying the Soviets were on the move in mountainous northeastern Afghanistan to clear pockets of guerrilla resistance and block escape routes.

The U.N. Security Council gave Waldheim a new mandate Monday to try to win the release of the hostages — put at 50 in number by the State Department, 49 by their captors and 43 by three U.S. clergymen who visited them over Christmas. But if he fails to get them freed by Jan. 7, the council will meet then to vote on a U.S. resolution now being drafted to impose limited sanctions against Iran.

Soviet troops are engaged in a massive anti-guerrilla movement in the provinces of Nuristan and Kunar, which border the Chitral district of Pakistan and where the Soviets suspect the Moslem guerrillas are operating, the paper said.

Up to last week's Soviet-led coup in Afghanistan, the two provinces were inaccessible to Afghan government forces, the report said.

The Soviet occupation forces are using steep-climbing mechanized columns to battle the anti-government forces, which are operating from the mountainous regions with small and outdated arms, the newspaper added.

It also said the Kremlin regards this winter as crucial in its offensive against the Moslem guerrillas, who lately have gained both in numerical strength and captured territory.

Soviet troops have been reported under attack in the northern, northeastern, western and southern parts of the country since the military coup last week.

Passengers arriving in Istanbul, Turkey today aboard an Afghan Airlines plane reported hearing gunfire near Kabul until Tuesday afternoon.

Woman Saves Life Of Trooper By Holding Gun On Assailant

FORT SMITH, Ark. (UPI) — State police credit a woman passerby with saving the life of a trooper who was shot and choked by a traffic violator.

The woman spotted the men wrestling beside U.S. 64 at Altus shortly after midnight Tuesday and held a gun on the trooper's attacker until help arrived, trooper Steve Spurlock said.

"She probably actually saved his life, because the boy would have killed him," Spurlock said.

The woman would not allow her name to be released.

State trooper Bill Brashears, 52, a 22-year veteran of the force, was reported in good condition at a Fort Smith hospital. The wounded suspect was hospitalized under police guard at an Ozark hospital.

Brashears said he had stopped a weaving van and arrested the driver for driving while intoxicated. He planned to take the suspect to the police station for a breathalyzer test and was locking up the van when he was shot with a small caliber gun, he said.

"(Brashears) said at first he just thought the guy just hit him with something," Spurlock said. "It (the bullet) went in his right ear and lodged in his left cheekbone, his sinus cavity."

"He said as soon as the boy shot him, the boy jumped on him and knocked him down. They wrestled around there for a while. Then Bill got the boy off him and pulled his revolver and started shooting. He evidently shot the boy one time just below the left armpit."

"They wrestled, he said, it seemed like 10 minutes. Then a lady stopped, just passing by, and she had a gun or got a gun from one of them and held the boy off until somebody could get on the state police radio and call for help," Spurlock said.

The woman, a nurse, took Brashears to the hospital in Ozark, Spurlock said, and he was later transferred to Fort Smith.

Spurlock said the suspect, a 23-year-old from Clarksville, had not been formally charged.

Police Puzzled By Egg Theft

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Sheriff's officers are still puzzled by the New Year's Eve theft of almost 17,000 eggs from area poultry farms.

The thieves made off with seven cases of eggs from the B & B Hatchery and the Ockley No. 1 and 2 Hatcheries, both near Delphi.

Food Costs Here Show Slight Dip

cost reduction, however, shoppers would be facing higher marketbasket prices this month because at least four commonly purchased items rose substantially to start off the new decade.

Chicken, the meat many people have been using to avoid the high price of beef, has gone up a whopping 13 cents a pound, making the new price 62 cents a pound.

Breakfast foods again jumped in cost from the previous month to add to the grocery buyers' misery.

A pound of bacon, which last month had already risen 20 cents from November, has gone up another 10 cents, to bring the price to $1.69 a pound today.

And also on the breakfast menu, eggs rose even higher than bacon this month.

A dozen medium-sized eggs in December cost 72 cents, but the price now is 87 cents.

A 10-pound bag of potatoes also went up enough to make shoppers reconsider whether they really need spuds with their meals. The bag used to cost $1.29, but now comes to $1.39.

Harvard-Trained Lawyers Anger Town's Leaders

HEREFORD (UPI) — "Those no-good Harvard idiots" have inked the court dockets with lawsuits on behalf of Mexican-Americans in this Panhandle agriculture center, and civic leaders are yelling "carpetbagger."

The group of young, Harvard-trained lawyers arrived 14 months ago to establish Texas Rural Legal Aid Inc. — a legal service for the area's 30,000 migrant farm workers — and their suits have been directed at governmental bodies through-out Deaf Smith and Castro counties.

who defended TRLA's adversary role, sees it differently.

"This area has the worst wages, working and housing conditions for (migrant) farm workers in the state," he said. "It's worse here than in the Rio Grande Valley."

Local officials "have never been responsive to the exploitation by which our clients are being victimized," Beardall said. "They never pursued it before we got here. Our clients have no economic or political power and so they don't command that kind of respect and attention."

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Tom McPherson, who recently was sued by TRLA for falsely imprisoning two Mexican-Americans suspected of being illegal aliens, wrote a letter to the Hereford Brand concerning the arrests.

"I make no apologies for being a redneck, flag-waving American. I do not want illegal aliens in our country and I don't think anything will ever change my mind," McPherson said in his letter to the newspaper.

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, besieged by angry constituents, also has criticized TRLA. "Most of these legal aid lawyers, bless their hearts, don't know anything about the practice of law. Their No. 1 priority is to establish a name for themselves. They don't really care about poor people."

New Year's Baby Draws Attention

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Michelle Karen Haddad probably never will be shy.

In her first day of life, she received more attention than most people garner over a lifetime. Being a New Year's baby entails a certain amount of interest, but Michelle's new life marks the birth of a decade as well.

The rascally infant, weighing 7 pounds 10 ounces, was born to Adib and Amal Haddad in University Hospital at 2:15 a.m. Tuesday, becoming Lubbock's first baby of the New Year — and the 1980s.

Michelle is the Haddads' second child, the first being born also at University three years ago.

"This is the first time something like this has happened," Mrs. Haddad said from her hospital bed Tuesday afternoon. "It doesn't happen every day."

"She can see herself when she grows up," she said, cradling the baby in a tiny pink blanket. Despite all the attention she was getting, Michelle seemed far more interested in sleeping.

Michelle had every right to be tired, having been visited by several news media groups during the course of the day. "She's getting to be quite a celebrity," one of the hospital's nurses said.

The Haddads, both Lebanese, married in Lebanon about four years ago.

Congratulations to:

- Mr. and Mrs. Olan Moore of Dimmitt on the birth of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 13 ounces at 3:05 p.m. Monday in Methodist Hospital.

Entrepreneurs Disclose Formula To Success

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP)—Albert J. Lowry moved to the Oakland, Calif., area from Canada in the early 1960s. Raised in an orphanage, poorly educated, he sought a better life for his children.

A butcher by trade, Lowry saw his future in buying low-priced houses, fixing them, renting them and finally selling them. He borrowed inexpensively, kept expenses low and paid his bills.

"I attained complete financial independence about 1970," he says. He went on to pile one million atop another during the decade by ingenuity, hard work and an understanding of financial leverage.

His book, "How You Can Become Financially Independent by Investing in

Second In A Series

Real Estate" is a bestseller. He has earned a doctorate. His Education Advancement Institute gives seminars throughout the country, often in hotel ballrooms, at several hundred dollars a person.

Mark O. Haroldsen is known to millions, at least through his full-page newspaper and magazine advertisements. Typically, he is leaning against his Mercedes Benz, conveying the message that you too can succeed.

Haroldsen has. His experience is more incredible than Lowry's. In his mid-30s, he is enormously wealthy, a contrast with embarrassing poverty a decade ago when, he says, he had to borrow rent money.

He too succeeded by investing in income housing, at first in the Salt Lake City area, usually with little or even no money down, fixing up, renting out, sometimes selling. He now publishes a magazine and books. His Financial Freedom Institute offers hundreds of seminars each year.

Haroldsen's first book, "How To Wake Up The Financial Genius Inside You," has become a real estate classic, selling by his estimates 600,000 copies, almost all by mail-order. It followed his discovery that real estate leverage and inflation could make him a millionaire.

Lowry and Haroldsen are rarities, although others too have rode real estate dreams to the rainbow. Jake Ebach, self-described former Midwest chicken farmer, and Craig Hall, southern Michigan entrepreneur not long out of college, also became multimillionaires and authors.

What makes them noteworthy is not just their millions but their sense of the times; their discovery of the effect of easy money, hard work, leverage and inflation; their translation of it into formulas; their realization that millions of others shared their dreams and that those millions constituted a market for books, seminars and other products.

"Millionaires are not 100 times smarter than you, they just know the wealth formula," Haroldsen advertises. "My formula will provide the road map that can lead to total financial freedom," he tells readers.

In 1978 a Haroldsen ad boasted that "this offer has appeared in over half a billion pages of print since 1976." The total surely exceeds a full billion now because his campaigns have since been stepped up.

The formula involves using OPM, or other people's money. Why not, when inflation means you repay in cheaper dollars? Why not, when Uncle Sam is your partner, allowing tax deductions on interest paid?

You don't need much OPM either, because housing is a great leverager: use $10,000 wisely and you can control property worth $100,000. You can even put nothing down — Haroldsen has — but that's another story.

You have $100,000 of property producing $15,000 of rents from five apartments. The place looks awful but that's the reason you got it so inexpensively. The landlord was discouraged, a "motivated seller."

You clean, paint and upgrade it, using your own sweat and maybe that of neighborhood kids. Tenants appreciate it. You raise the rents over time to $18,000. You maintain the place. You sell it for $150,000.

Before that, however, you have paid your bills — mortgage, insurance, heat, taxes, maintenance — from rents. You've gained in four ways: rental in-

Citizens Catch Purse Thief

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — A man who snatched a woman's purse tripped and fell, knocking himself unconscious while trying to flee from a crowd of pursuers, police said.

Officers said Bruce L. Ervin, 23, approached Mary Chiado from behind Monday and took her purse as she was leaving a store.

Mrs. Chiado chased him across a parking lot and, as he ran across the street, several motorists maneuvered to block his path, police said.

Ervin dashed into another parking lot, and several drivers got out of their cars to chase him, police said. As he was running, he stumbled and struck his head on the bumper of a motor home, they said.

The suspect was still lying in the parking lot with several of the motorists around him when police officers arrived.

The purse and its contents were recovered.

come, price appreciation, equity buildup (or loan reduction), and income taxes, the latter mainly through depreciating the building.

Haroldsen realized this and with missionary zeal spread the word that with just one factor, appreciation, a return on equity of more than 100 percent a year was possible. With $10,000 down, for example, $10,000 appreciation on the total value is 100 percent.

Of course, when you sell for $150,000 you face capital gains taxes, everyone knows that. Not so, Haroldsen reminds them. You may delay payment indefinitely by trading for another, more desirable property.

But, you say, you might wait years before finding someone willing to trade. Not so, says Haroldsen. Find a new property you want, find a buyer for your existing property, have him buy the new property, then have him exchange his newly acquired property for your existing one.

Pyramiding wasn't difficult early in the 1970s, when mortgages were 8 percent, heating oil cost a quarter of what it does today, and taxes, insurance and maintenance were considerably lower. It's less easy now.

Today's $90,000 loan at 12 percent for 20 years costs $2,858 more than at 8 percent, and an oil bill that was $1,000 in 1970 is probably more than $4,000 now. In all, the building that cost $13,000 a year to run in 1970 may cost about $20,000 today.

What does Haroldsen say to that? Conceding that you have to bargain harder, he believes it represents a buying opportunity because there are so many more motivated sellers. Motivated sellers, he accurately concludes, cut their asking prices.

Water Dilemma Plagued '70s

By JOHNNY HOLMES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Throughout the 1970s, West Texas read like the back of an instant soup can: "Just Add Water And Stir."

As early as the 1960s, it became quite obvious that for West Texas to survive and prosper into the 21st Century, the area would need another major supply of water. But how and where to get that necessary water remains unsolved, and the differing ideas about how to solve the problem have caused arguments that have yet to simmer.

The basis of the West Texas water scare is the Ogallala Aquifer, a massive groundwater formation that stretches nearly the breadth of the country and supplies nearly all of the rich farming area of the South Plains with its precious water. The once-plentiful groundwater supply in the Ogallala rapidly is being depleted, though, and water experts predict the formation could be sucked dry by the turn of the century.

The water crisis was summed up at a special symposium on the Ogallala Aquifer sponsored at Texas Tech in May 1970 in which scientist John Frye, long noted as an expert on the Ogallala, noted, "Once that water is removed, it's not likely to be replaced."

The first truly serious mention of water importation into West Texas, an idea which had been mentioned several times in preceding years, came in 1974, when Brig. Gen. James Rose, Gov. Dolph Briscoe's special planning coordinator, told a Lubbock meeting of Water Inc. that "High Plains residents possibly could witness some form of water importation through the area within five to 10 years."

Rose didn't go into specifics, but his remarks were directed at tentative plans to pipe water from the Mississippi River through Louisiana into West Texas. That idea sounded good, but eventually fell through, thanks to a series of complications.

"Gov. Briscoe considers this a top-burner priority," Rose continued. He later strongly refuted a study by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation that concluded the importation of water into the area was not feasible.

The water situation began to make its presence felt in 1973 and 1974 when a drought proved that several of the area's smaller towns could face water problems as severe as the bigger cities unless something were done.

Water importation by now was implanted across West Texas as one of the primary topics of the second half of the decade. The water crisis continued to grow, as did the conflict between state and federal officials, who disagreed over the feasibility of bringing water to the Panhandle and South Plains.

"We can't allow a crisis," Rose said to a gathering of water watchers in Amarillo on Feb. 16, 1975. Two and a half years later, Rose would tell another West Texas water crowd that, "By the year 2000, all of Texas west of Dallas will face a severe water shortage unless something is done."

As the 1970s progressed, and thoughts of piping in water from the Mississippi folded, water interests began looking elsewhere and found that nearby Arkansas stood as a likely source of water. After investigating, Texans heard from engineer Bob Milwee of Little Rock, who told an enthusiastic audience that Arkansas had enough runoff water to meet the needs of a drying West Texas.

Transporting as much as 6 million acre-feet of water from Arkansas to West Texas through Texarkana was very feasible, Milwee said, but noted that routing the water through the Lone Star State was a puzzle to be deciphered through the new version of the Texas Water Plan, an all-encompassing look at the state's water situation.

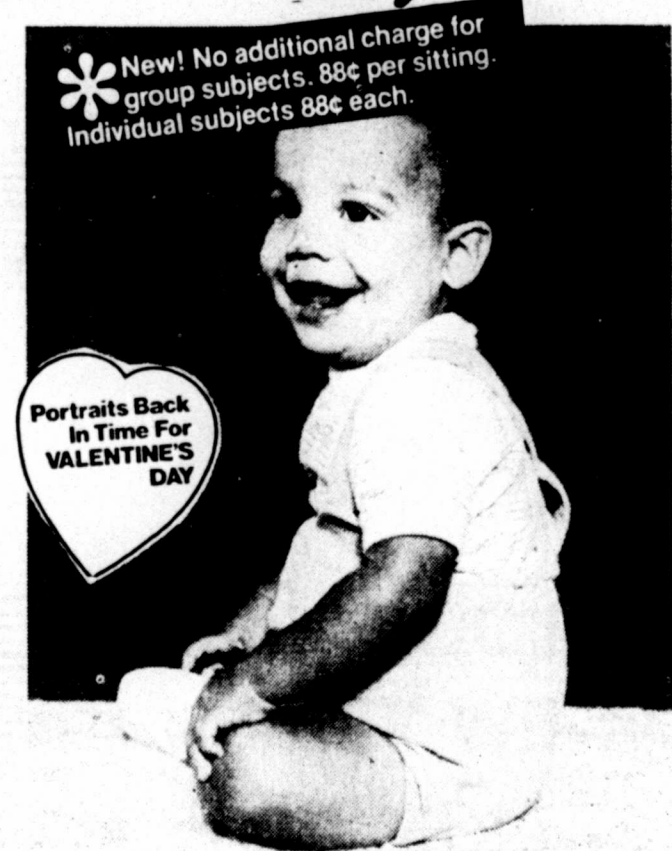

Arkansas very likely would agree to the plan, Milwee said, because of the financial rewards as well as the series of new fresh water lakes across the state that would be created by the transportation of the water.

The City of Lubbock began its own search for water in earnest in 1977, after city public works director Sam Wahl noted that, "If Lubbock continues to grow at its current pace and doesn't secure an additional water supply by the early 1990s, water restrictions could become a way of life."

The result of the city's search came in the form of a series of water wells in the Sandhills of Bailey County to the northwest of Lubbock. The multi-million dollar deal angered some residents of Bailey County who felt they were being deprived of water when the water rights to the Sandhills changed hands but

Recycling Preserves Old Buildings In City

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Recycling became the "in" thing to do in the 1970s, as Americans learned to conserve their natural resources by reusing paper, cans, clothing and even old buildings.

This tendency to recycle architectural structures caught on in Lubbock during the past decade, resulting in some interesting new uses for older buildings.

For instance, a small fast-food restaurant that once dished up chicken and potato salad to hungry customers was transformed into a haven for posies, petunias and hanging plants. It's now called the Posey Palace, located at 4620 34th St.

A modern supermarket where harried housewives once wheeled their grocery carts is now the scene for disco roller skaters. The new business is called the Skate Machine, which opened Nov. 30 at 5002 34th St.

A church located at 3400 50th St. became the new home for the West Texas Savings Association. And a drive-in restaurant at 3202 34th St. shut down its grills and reopened as The Last Book Store.

Economics has played a major role in this effort to recycle and reuse old buildings, according to Arnold Maeker of the firm Maeker and Stephens Architect and Engineer.

Maeker said that the inflationary costs being experienced in the building industry have compelled Americans to find new ways to utilize existing structures. Also to be considered, he noted, is the economic loss when a valuable building is torn down.

But there is another underlying factor in the current move to renovate and refurbish older structures. "I think it is disturbing to people to see something that was of value in the past destroyed," Maeker said. "And there is a real sense of accomplishment when we see an old building restored."

One of the most notable examples of architectural recycling in Lubbock is the building that houses First Federal Savings and Loan Association at 1300 Broadway. This structure, which stands on the site of the old Lubbock Memorial Hospital, was built in 1955 and served as the downtown location for Dunlap's until shortly after the 1970 tornado. Then, it stood empty for a number of years, standing as a solemn reminder of the ongoing move by retailers from the downtown sector to Southwest Lubbock.

In 1976, First Federal officials announced plans to renovate the building. Maeker, who worked on that project, said three different structures were analyzed before the Broadway building was selected.

As in most cases, economics played a role in the decision to renovate. Maeker explained, "They could get about twice the space in this building for about the same money as they could have gotten if they built a new building."

However, there was also an interest in revamping Lubbock's downtown area, Maeker said. By recycling the old building at Broadway and Avenue L, Maeker feels the savings and loan firm salvaged something of worth which has enhanced the city's central core.

Grains, Flours Vary

COLLEGE STATION (Special) — Texas wheat reaches today's consumer in the form of many well-liked foods — such as bread, breakfast cereals, rolls, pancakes, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti and noodles, a foods and nutrition specialist says.

But first, Texas wheat is milled into flour, explains Mary K. Sweeten with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This flour is then marketed in several forms, each suited to a particular type of baked product.

Most of today's flour is enriched — meaning that thiamin, niacin, riboflavin and iron are added to bring the amount of these nutrients within limits specified by the government. Calcium may also be added, Miss Sweeten continues.

Enriched all-purpose flour — the kind usually sold for home use — is suitable for most home baking. Generally, it is a blend of hard and soft wheat flours, but it can be milled entirely from soft wheat.

This flour contains sufficient gluten — a protein — to form an elastic framework that is delicate enough for cake-making and strong for bread-making.

Cake flour, milled from soft wheat, is lower in protein than all-purpose flour and usually is enriched.

It is very fine and uniform and makes tender, delicate cakes. It is not suitable for bread-making.

Self-rising flour is all-purpose flour with leavening ingredients and salt added. It is convenient for use in biscuits and other quick breads.

One cup of self-rising is equal to one cup enriched flour plus one and one-half teaspoons baking powder plus one teaspoon salt.

Whole-wheat or graham flour is milled from the whole kernel and contains all the B-vitamins, iron and other nutrients naturally present in wheat. Whole-grain products also provide fiber.

The volume of breads made with whole-wheat flour may be lower and the texture coarser than those of breads made with all-purpose flour because of the weaker gluten strength of the whole-wheat flour.

There are other flours available on the market made from products other than wheat, the specialist points out.

Masa flour, also known as tortilla flour, is prepared from corn treated with lime water. It is then ground and dehydrated.

Other flours, cereals, or meals such as soy flour, rice flour, rye flour, rolled cornmeal, or cornstarch, which contain little or no gluten, can be used in combination with wheat flour to make baked products.

Substitutes for allergy diets or other reasons in your favorite recipe for one cup of wheat flour are:

- one cup masa or corn flour
- ¾ cup cornmeal (coarse)
- one cup cornmeal (fine)
- ¾ cup potato starch
- ¾ cup rice flour
- one cup soy flour plus ¾ cup potato starch flour.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Let the word go out. Today is the first day of the reorganization of my stressful life. My family has insisted upon it. They say I'm a bundle of stress. They can tell by the way my muscles tighten in my neck and jaw, the frequent headaches and an occasional loss of words.

That's why I have set up a program of six goals.

First, I'm going to spend more time meditating — especially before I put a fattening lunch on my charge card which arrives at the same time as the bill for exercising it off.

I'm going to stop trying to do two or more things at a time. This includes listening to a phone conversation while taking the burrs out of my dog's rump, eating my lunch and closing the door with my foot while listening to my husband telling me why the car is knocking.

Whether it be working, eating, listening, or playing, I'm going to allow myself plenty of time to do things well and provide myself with an environment that promotes peace of mind if I have to break the door down to tell the kids to cool it with the stereo.

I'm going to take time to nourish a few of my acquaintances and friendships. This includes people who have borrowed my books and never returned them.

Another goal is to learn to spend time enjoying things such as music, reading, and hobbies. In fact, I have set a deadline for myself to read ten classics by March.

And finally, I'm going to develop a philosophy of living. I've been living a long time, but I never had a plan for it. That's why I'm going to establish life goals for myself and bring back rituals and traditions that hold meaning in my life.

Yesterday, when I told my husband that I said, "Beginning with New Year's Day, I'm going to revive a wonderful old custom my mother used to observe."

"What was that?" he asked.

"She always used to serve pickled pig's feet and sauerkraut to bring us luck."

Before my very eyes his muscles tightened in his neck and jaw, his eyes blinked in pain and he couldn't seem to think of anything to say.

I didn't realize before that stress is catching.

Choose Dentist With Caution

COLLEGE STATION (Special) — Select and become acquainted with a family dentist before an emergency arises, advises Claudi Kerbel, a consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Here are some suggestions for locating qualified dentists in your area.

Ask friends, neighbors or co-workers to recommend dentists with whom they are pleased. Check the American Dental Association Directory found in many public libraries and in all dental school libraries. If you already have a family physician, ask him to suggest a dentist.

After gathering several dentist's names, do some comparison shopping. Call the dentist's office and explain that you are trying to find a dentist and would like to ask a few questions.

Does the dentist accept new patients?

What are the dentist's office hours?

How far in advance must appointments be made?

What arrangements are made for after-hours coverage?

Does the dentist have a specialty?

What is the fee for routine office visits and for other services?

What is the billing procedure? When is payment due?

Are special payment arrangements possible?

After you have information on two or three dentists, call for an appointment with one that seems most suitable, Kerbel suggests.

When you visit the office, check on these items:

Is the general appearance of the office, dentist and his staff neat, clean and orderly?

Is the office location convenient?

Did they ask for a thorough record of information about your medical and dental history?

As you talk with the doctor, evaluate how well you can communicate.

Does he seem to take a personal interest in you and your family?

Are you comfortable with him? Do you trust him?

Is he prevention-oriented?

The ability to communicate well is one of the most important factors to consider when choosing a dentist, the specialist says.

Dear Abby,

DEAR-ABBY: A year ago, our 19-year-old daughter (I'll call her Ellen) went to work in a large office. Six months later, a woman phoned, saying Ellen and her husband (I'll call him Don) were having an affair!

Don is Ellen's boss. He is 36 and has 3 children. My husband and I were stunned.

We confronted Ellen with this. She admitted that she and Don had been seeing each other, but that he didn't love his wife, so she didn't feel responsible for breaking up his marriage.

Don moved out of his house and into an apartment. Ellen, who had been living at home, rented an apartment near his. We found out that they are living together, and Ellen only keeps her apartment for appearances sake. Don's wife told us that although her husband has had other affairs, she still loves him but has no alternatives, so she's filing for divorce.

We were heartsick about what our daughter is doing. She isn't aware that we know she is living with Don. She also doesn't know that we found out she has had a pregnancy and abortion since this affair began.

She comes home occasionally, and I know she loves us. I want to tell her to stay away, but a counselor advised us not to shut her out — that it would only drive her closer to this man. I think if we tell her we don't want to see her while she's involved with Don, she might realize that she needs her family, and that this man is just using her.

Should we tell her we know about the pregnancy, her living arrangement, etc., and not to come home until the affair is over? Or should we play dumb and be cordial to her?

We love her very much but are torn about what to do.

HEARTSICK IN TEXAS.

Dear Heartsick: Your counselor is right. If you shut your daughter out, you'll drive her closer to Don. All parents want desperately to protect their children, but some grown children must make their own mistakes and learn the hard way. (P.S. You'd gain nothing by letting Ellen know what you dug up about her private life.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a lawyer, 57, married and living with my wife. I had a couple of heart attacks in the past, but no problems in the last six years. I jog, swim and engage in many other sports. I look like I'm in good shape — which I am. I've kept to the same weight for the last 40 years.

My problem is people who, out of the clear blue sky, say, "By the way, Sam, how old are you?" Mind you, the inquiry is unrelated to our conversation, and I frankly don't give a hoot how old THEY are.

So why should they be interested in how old I am? I am not sensitive about my age, nor do I go around acting like a kid. I would like to tell them it's none of their business. Is there a tactful way to say it?

SAM

Dear Sam: There is no tactful way to tell a person that something is none of their business — even if it isn't. From your description of yourself, you must look young for your age. So why don't you accept it as a compliment and simply say, "I'm a 1922 model!" — and let it go at that?

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed CHICKEN struck a painfully responsive chord. CHICKEN was engaged to be married, the invitations had been sent and the gifts were pouring in. All the while she had a feeling that the marriage wouldn't work, but lacked the nerve to call it off.

A year and a half ago, I was engaged to a man who appeared to be "perfect" for me. Both sets of parents were overjoyed. On the surface it looked like an ideal match, but in my heart I knew there were unresolved problems. (He knew it, too, but thought marriage would solve everything.)

The closer we got to the wedding date, the more certain I was that it wouldn't work, but all the plans were made, the invitations went out, and lavish gifts started coming in. Three hundred and forty guests were coming to the wedding, and my dear mother had worked so hard to pull it all together that I didn't have the heart to call it off.

Well, we were married in front of those people, pretending that we were going to live happily ever after, when we both knew we never should have gone through with it.

The marriage lasted four months, and we are still litigating the divorce. The pain and embarrassment for my parents — and his — has been incredible. Those who sent wedding gifts felt ripped off, and everyone wonders what went wrong.

Abby, your advice to CHICKEN was right on! Cancel the wedding by telephone or telegram immediately! It will be somewhat sticky, but far better than being stuck in a bad marriage.

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN

DEAR OUT—A surprising number of readers — men as well as women — wrote to say that they... too... were 'chicken' but made the mistake of hanging in there until their goose was cooked.

Correct playing technique is like composing a symphony—you take a number of seemingly unrelated aces and blend them together into a harmonious unit. Study South's technique at his contract of four spades.

The bidding was short and reasonably standard—though three no trump would have been a superior contract on this particular hand. When South offered his partner a choice of contracts by jumping to three spades, North could not be faulted for raising spades rather than persevering with no trump. This seemed to be the prudent move in view of his heart weakness.

West made the safe lead of a trump. When dummy came down, declarer realized that he had a diamond loser, so it looked as if the fate of the hand depended on finding East with the ace of hearts. But watch how declarer improved his chances.

The spade lead was won in dummy and a club was led to the jack. Had this finesse succeeded, the contract was home—declarer would have discarded a red suit loser on the king of clubs. Unfortunately, West won the queen, and continued with another trump.

Declarer again won in dummy. He cashed the ace of clubs, ace-king of diamonds, then discarded a diamond on the king of clubs. Now he was ready to try his second chance. He ruffed a diamond and, when the suit split evenly, the contract was safe. Declarer crossed to the table with the ace of trumps and discarded a heart on the thirteenth diamond.

Note that, even had diamonds not divided 3-3, declarer would still have had time to try a third line. He would have entered dummy

Dance Theater Explodes With Electric Energy

By DOLORES BARCLAY
NEW YORK (AP) — The Alwin Nikolais Dance Theater exploded in electric energy and Day-Glo splendor at City Center recently.

It was a total multi-media display, for Nikolais blends lights, space, fabric and movement with bodies and occasional props. Dancers will appear in Day-Glo masks and tights, shimmering while they move. The stage is never empty — negative space is consumed and turned into something very special.

And that special product comes from a man who is choreographer, costumer, light designer, director, sound scorer and the heartbeat of every performance. Nikolais has presented some of the most articulate and visionary light and dance shows of the past 10 years.

They are soon replaced by the dancers heads. Then the dancers themselves become targets on the move, utilizing all the jerky turns and unpredictable falls of sitting ducks.

The excellent technique of this company was especially seen in sustained movements on monkey bars, where the dancers slither in and out of each others bodies.

The very uptempo suite from "Sanctum" closed the show.

SPEECH CONTROL
Ability to speak depends primarily on the brain's left hemisphere, according to Scientific American magazine.

The Nikolais dancers are among the most highly trained in the art. There are few quivers from cold or underworked muscles and it is rare when a step is misplaced or faulty. They operate as a tight unit — as one artistic organism.

And they will be operating in New York through Jan. 6.

Cities Studied By Videotape

DALLAS (UPI) — The city of Dallas, one of the nation's 10 largest, has become the classroom of hundreds of students studying how and why cities grow, thanks to videotape.

In an unusual use of the television medium, students in a course entitled "The Internal Structure of Cities" are seeing what their instructors are talking about because of a videotaping program being funded partially by a $25,000 National Science Foundation grant.

"The videotape will allow me to show examples exactly when the lectures call for them," said Dr. David Morgan, University of Texas at Dallas assistant professor of geography and political economy. "Students can see how cities are shaped right in their own back yard."

"It will give students the analytical ability to change the city if they don't like it."

Morgan says aerial and street-level videotaping will allow students to view downtown, high-rise buildings, housing patterns and traffic congestion.

Coaches' Fiery Locker Room Talks Remembered

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
Associated Press Writer
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — What's become of the fiery locker room speech?

You hardly ever hear of football coaches making them anymore. Unless they're orating from atop the rubbing table while the TV announcer is giving his halftime pep talk for an insurance company or telling you how Old Siwash, the game of the day college, has an atomic reactor in the basement of the field house and six Nobel Prize winners who get paid almost as much as the assistant line coach.

Probably in this day of coaches wired for sound and spies in the press box telephoning down enemy tactics and quarterbacks audibling (that was the sportscaster's verb last week) all over the place, the art of steam room rhetoric is in serious decline.

Knute Rockne and Vince Lombardi, of course, were masters of the sweaty genre word wizards who could move the mountains of snot arrayed before them to bust the hinges off the door in their zeal to trample the foe. The zealots of old weren't in the same league with them when it came to inflaming raw passions and inspiring slavish, suicidal obedience.

Rockne's nettlesome discourses are even more memorable than his five undefeated seasons at South Bend and his 12-year record of 105 wins, 12 losses and 5 ties. In that flat, nasal, metallic voice, issuing from a face that Westbrook Pegler said "looked like a battered oil can," he could be scolding, cajoling, ranting, pleading, even weeping, but most often acidly sarcastic.

One of his best speeches contained only two words. With favored Notre Dame trailing at halftime, Rockne didn't accompany the squad to the dressing room. They waited half-an-hour in dejected silence for the expected tirade. No Rockne. An official put his head in the door and announced, "Team on the field in two minutes." Still no Rockne. With 30 seconds to go, the door burst open.

The Rock glared his basilisk glare at each player, then spat out, with disgust and disbelief:

"Fighting Irish!"

Those two words were worth a pair of touchdowns apiece in overhauling bitter rival Nebraska.

Rockne, a born actor who became a sought-after public speaker, was shameless in his melodramatics and had the Midwest distributorship on bathos. He gave several Dying Gaul panegyrics from a wheelchair during a bout with thrombophlebitis. He once defected into the stands for the second half rather than, as he told the team, preside over "a lousy, gutless performance."

Rockne used the occasion of his baptism in the Catholic Church to scourge a Notre Dame team trailing Northwestern by 10 points with a halftime sermon that began: "Obviously this is a helluva religion I've gotten myself into: losing to a bunch of Methodists out there." Returning to the fray with renewed religious fervor, the Irish blasted the heretics 13-10.

Lombardi is from the Mark Antony school of public speaking. He comes not to praise but to bury. A Rockne acolyte, he is famous for a number of homilies on premeditated homicide to his Green Bay Packers. A man of many moods, mostly different shades of rage, he is the author of such epigrams as: "Winning is not everything. It is the only thing." "Fatigue makes cowards of us all."

Shortage Of Water Threatening Area

water began flowing into Lubbock anyway. The city also began moving toward what may become its ultimate water source — a series of reservoirs that could handle the needs of the future. After a series of exploratory tests, city officials decided to go ahead with major reservoirs near Post and Justiceburg, both to the southeast of Lubbock. Upon completion, the two reservoirs will be able to provide Lubbock with about 39 million gallons of water per day, said studies.

As the plans for pipelines from Arkansas and reservoirs in the South Plains began appearing on drawing boards, the water crunch tightened.

Among the more surprising developments of late 1978 was a special report from the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, which said that the water table under Lubbock County dropped some 1.36 feet during 1978, about 50 percent more than average. District manager Wayne Wyatt pointed up the seriousness of this finding by noting that the drop was in sharp contrast to surrounding counties, most of which reported much smaller drops in underground water supplies.

Further compounding water worries in the area was a series of statements from President Jimmy Carter aimed at farmers with water-intensive crops. "Some of those regulations (in Carter's national water policy) propose to limit or refuse loan assistance to farmers who might violate water conservation practices," Wyatt said. "The proposals discourage irrigation through measures that would result in lower crop prices or higher production costs and would disallow crop insurance for water-intensive crops in water short areas."

"We want conservation," he added. "But conserving water shouldn't put the farmer out of business."

And, although many Lubbock residents probably didn't realize it, the water crisis hit home in 1978. Early in the year, Lubbock began running out of its allotment of water from the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, an 11-member organization that shares in the water from Lake Meredith north of Amarillo. In October, Lubbock representatives persuaded the authority to up the annual allotments.

The move itself wasn't big news, but when Lubbock water spokesmen said they feared that without the additional water Lubbock residents might be forced into water rationing in the near future, some eyebrows were raised. By the end of the year, Lubbock and the 10 other CRMWA cities had got more water and Lubbock had purchased some 10 billion gallons of water from Amarillo's annual allotment.

The decade wound down with perhaps more progress than had been seen in the preceding nine years. In March, several interested parties convened in Plainview to draft a bill that would create the Ogallala Water Import Authority, an organization to oversee the importation of water into the area. A short time later, the bill, submitted to the Texas legislature by State Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo, was passed and signed by Gov. Bill Clements.

In June, Lubbock city officials estimated that the completion of a dam and pump station near Post could come in 1983, although others predicted 1986 as a target date. Another schedule called for water to be flowing from Justiceburg in 1992.

Roberts and Ochiltree counties, in the far northeastern Panhandle, have several times been mentioned as possible water sources because of their proximity to Lake Meredith and the fact that the once-mighty Canadian River flows over an area with an uncommonly rich underground water supply. That plan ultimately was shelved because the groundwater from those two counties is finite, whereas the water from the reservoirs can be replaced, Wyatt said. Other opponents to the Roberts-Ochiltree plan pointed out that it could cost up to twice as much as the $109 million reservoir plan.

In November, the Lubbock City Council initiated procedures to permit a sale of general obligation bonds worth about $6.45 million on March 1, 1980. About $5 million of that would go toward water projects — mostly the construction of a pipeline between Lubbock and the reservoirs, the purchase of right of way land, and the construction of a 500 million gallon storage facility for water from Lake Meredith and the CRMWA.

By the decade's end, Lubbock and the South Plains had made some progress toward solving the water shortages that threaten their very existence. Water from Lake Meredith, however hard and unpleasant to drink it may be, continues to flow; water from the Sandhills of Bailey County now is flowing steadily; and plans for the massive reservoir system at Post and Justiceburg are well underway to satisfy the thirsty town's need for water.

Gunman Shoots National Poster Child

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An eight-year-old girl selected as 1980 national poster child for the Easter Seals Foundation was in fair condition at a San Antonio hospital after she was shot during a New Year's celebration.

works when she was shot in the head. Alice Alvarado, 31, an aunt, was shot in the neck moments later. She was also hospitalized in fair condition today.

Homicide detectives were investigating the case today.

Police Arrest Suspect In Quebec Blaze

CHAPAIS, Quebec (AP) — A young man was arrested after a fire at a Lions Club New Year's Eve party killed at least 42 revelers. "It is definitely a criminal matter," police said.

The 21-year-old was toying with a cigarette lighter near Christmas decorations that burst into flames near the club's entrance, survivors told investigators.

The first woman state senator in the United States was Dr. Martha Hughes Cannon of Utah.

Constable Rene Fortin of the Chapais municipal police told reporters he did not know when the charges would be lodged. The suspect was not immediately identified.

Police said many of the bodies were stacked against a rear door of the club, the Opemiska, and that 50 other partygoers suffered serious burns and smoke inhalation as the fire roared through fire branch decorations.

Police said there were approximately 350 persons in the club when the fire broke out about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday. Thirty children lost parents in the blaze, and one family lost five relatives.

One of the survivors, Norman Bedard, said when the fire broke out many of the guests continued dancing. Then there was panic, and people fleeing through the blazing front door "were like walking torches as their nylon clothing burned," he said.

Another survivor, Luc Marceau, 24, said he saw several men try to put out the fire with a portable extinguisher and that when he realized they weren't going to succeed, he fled with his girlfriend.

Outside he tried to help the injured. "I saw a girl on the snow. She had no hair, no clothes on. She called, 'Luc, help me. I had to ask her name because I didn't recognize her. It was someone I had gone to school with."

Marceau's 19-year-old brother Gilles, was trapped inside the club for a while. "The smoke kept dropping down from the ceiling," he said. "I didn't know what to do."

Gilles escaped through a fire exit at the front of the room, but his clothes were on fire. His face was blistered, his hair and beard were badly singed, and his hands, chest and shoulders had to be swathed in bandages.

Bernard Coulombe was in the hotel he owns about 100 yards from the club when one of the survivors staggered in, his clothes afire, and cried for help.

"I called the police, then went outside," Coulombe said. "The flames were spreading quickly, and there were a lot of people trying to get out through one exit door at the back."

He said the man who ran to the hotel "looked like he had been burned alive — there was not much skin left on his body and his clothes were still on fire."

"When the man stumbled in, somebody started ripping away the burning clothes and I put out the flames with my hands. What skin was left was hanging from his body and all his hair had been burned off, leaving him bald."

One resident said he saw a man throwing people to safety through a window of the club's kitchen, but then the man was trapped by flames and perished.

Chapais is a town of 3,000 about 310 miles north of Montreal. The Opemiska Club was owned by Falconbridge Canada Ltd., which employs about 800 workers at its copper mine here.

The party, an annual event, was open to all Chapais residents, with proceeds to go to various children's programs. It was Canada's worst fire since 1938 when 46 persons died in an inferno at a college in St. Hyacinthe, Quebec.

DR. LAMB

Heart Causes Ear Noise

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 32-year-old mother of two boys in fairly good health. I was born with a heart murmur which was discovered when I was an infant. My parents were told the hole in my heart would close on its own by the time I reached 10. Nothing was ever said about it again.

All this time I thought my murmur had corrected itself but about five years ago my heart began to beat in my left ear very loudly. I thought it was my hearing so I went to an ear specialist but he said no. I went to a general practitioner, who confirmed that I still had the murmur but said not to worry about it because if I went to a heart specialist the first thing he'd want to do would be to operate.

I've tried living with the noise but it's very loud and I think it's louder than it was a few years ago. Not only do I hear the heartbeat but there's a loud rushing sound like blood rushing through my head rapidly. It interferes with my hearing, especially on the phone and I have to ask people to repeat what they're saying. If I press against the left side of my neck, which I do sometimes in order to hear well, the noise stops.

Dr. Lamb, I sometimes think this noise will drive me insane. I get tired of hearing it day and night. Is there the slightest chance this could be corrected without open heart surgery? I hate to think that I'll have to hear this the rest of my life.

DEAR READER — There are many causes for ear noise but it can come from the circulation. Some people who have disease in the arteries in their neck can have such sounds as you describe. It's true that if you press on the artery in the neck in such cases that the noise may stop. I don't advise this because pressing on those arteries in the neck sometimes triggers very strong reflexes that can cause people to faint and can create other problems.

There is no way your problem can be resolved without a very complete proper diagnostic study. You can have a sound from your heart, called a heart murmur, without having heart disease. Usually they're not that loud. From your description I think you ought to see a heart specialist as soon as possible. After all, they're trained in disorders of the heart and are best able to give you good advice. If you still do have a mechanical defect in your heart or the major arteries next to the heart, the probabilities are that it can be corrected.

It's perfectly true that some holes in the heart will close spontaneously. That's why heart specialists don't always rush in to close such defects noted in infancy.

If you do not happen to have heart trouble, the noise in your ear is caused by something else and also deserves attention. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 12-10. Help for Tinnitus: Noise or Ringing In The Ear. Other readers who have ear noises from any cause and want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Guerrilla Violence Threatens Rhodesian Cease-Fire

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — A resurgence of rural violence by defiant black guerrillas threatened the 5-day-old cease-fire negotiated to lead to elections for a black majority government.

Fears for the cease-fire were heightened Tuesday with more than 60 incidents ranging from killings and setting of land mines to armed robberies and cattle rustling around the country.

Police said at least 14 people died in clashes and that one young white man on a mercy mission disappeared after being kidnapped by guerrillas.

British Governor Lord Soames responded by broadcasting a new appeal to the black guerrillas to quit fighting and report to the reception centers set up by British Commonwealth monitoring forces, where they are scheduled to remain until national elections in February to install a black majority government.

The violence came as the British announced that the number of guerrillas in the Commonwealth outposts tripled overnight to 2,100 men, leaving an estimated 12,000 guerrillas in the bush. Out of the 39 reception camps set up to receive them, 22 were empty of guerrillas.

British sources blamed the surge of violence in the countryside to banditry rather than any guerrilla policy to defy the truce arrangements.

"Some (guerrilla) bands are taking advantage of the disengagement to engage in crime," one source said. "There is a general problem of law and order as distinguished from the cease-fire."

Among the incidents Tuesday was a land mine explosion that caused the first Commonwealth combat casualty, a British corporal whose leg was broken.

Guerrillas in the northwest kidnapped 25-year-old Francis Gianville when he used his car as a hearse to take the body of a black child, who died of natural causes, into a tribal trust land for burial.

In the far south, another band dragged a 68-year-old Catholic priest from his car and threatened to kill him for being white during a rough 90-minute lecture on black power.

The people killed around the country included a 37-year-old mother of three children who died in a land mine blast, a Rhodesian soldier, 11 guerrillas and a cattle rustler.

British spokesmen said another guerrilla was killed and one wounded in a Commonwealth outpost when a grenade they were playing with exploded.

Among the guerrillas killed were eight in a gang of 40 who fought a running gunfight with police after they tried to ambush a farmer driving on his farm in Rhodesia's northwest.

British Steelworkers Set Up Pickets

LONDON (AP) — Picket lines were set up at steel plants all across the country this morning as more than 100,000 steelworkers began Britain's first national steel strike in 54 years.

It was also the first major strike to face Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's Conservative government, which came to power in elections May 3 after a winter of crippling strikes against the Labor government.

State-owned car giant British Leyland, food canning plants and other major industries faced a steel famine that could lead to factory closures across the country within weeks.

British Steel Corp. Chairman, Sir Charles Villiers, said "the door is still open" for further negotiations, but warned the strike was likely to last weeks rather than days.

The strikers — 90,000 in the Iron and Steel Trades Confederation and 13,000 blastfurnacemen — began striking at

Foreigner Shot By Israeli

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — A Norwegian civilian working with U.N. troops in the Sinai Desert was shot and killed in the northern resort town of Nahariya by an Israeli who thought he was a Palestinian terrorist or a thief.

A U.N. spokesman said the Norwegian, Jans Lund, 30, was on vacation and was trying to find a friend's apartment in the coastal town five miles south of the Lebanese border where Palestinian terrorists attacked an apartment building last April and killed four Israelis.

Local newspapers gave this account of the shooting, which occurred shortly before midnight Tuesday:

Lund tried to enter a second-floor apartment occupied by an Israeli. The occupant, thinking the intruder was a terrorist or a thief, shouted at him and then opened the door and saw a man running down the stairs. He shouted at him to stop and when he didn't he opened fire with a submachine gun, killing the Norwegian.

midnight over a BSC pay offer of six percent, plus the prospect of local productivity deals.

The unions want a 16-percent boost. Average weekly pay in the industry is now 75 pounds, or $166.50.

Any more money would have to come from the already burdened British taxpayer as BSC has cost the public $8.8 billion in subsidies over the past six years and is still deeply in the red.

BSC executives were meeting today to discuss their next move, but strike leader

Bill Sims of the Iron and Steel Trades Confederation, said: "Unless there is more money on the table, there is nothing to talk about."

The two British railway unions have pledged to back the strike by preventing movement of alternative steel supplies imported from abroad.

Industry Minister Sir Keith Joseph urged steelworkers to accept the pay and productivity deals or face the further decline of the debt-ridden, overmanned British steel industry.

Glad You Asked That!

Q: Will "Golden Boy" Stallone marry his constant love-in, "Golden Girl" star Susan Anton? And was the millionaire actor-boxer really considered a "backward boy" who also had an impediment in his speech? — N.P.D., Miami.

A: As "Rocky's" mother, Jacqueline (a bright, quick-witted personality herself) told us: "Sly was something else to bring up. He still has a slight impediment in his speech caused by forceps a doctor had to use when my son was born in a charity clinic — that's how broke we were."

"Beneath that outward image was a man who went to the University of Miami for two years, also to a Swiss university, and who wrote, acted in and produced two of the most successful films in history, the two 'Rockys.'"

"Because we kept moving," his mother Jackie continued, "Sly kept skipping from one school to another and, as he told Barbara Walters, one of his teachers said he'd most likely end up in the electric chair!" Getting back to your first question, when Barbara bluntly asked Sylvester if he and Susan Anton were going to wed, he sighed and said, "There's a strong possibility we will marry."

IMPERSONAL POSTCARDS: How many times did Dolphin all-pro back Larry Csonka break his nose running over football people? The answer is 10 times! Off the field, he's a gentle gentleman, college-cultured... Since Khomeini took over Iran, the legal age for marriage is now down to 13 for girls, 15 for boys, or thereabouts. Note: A recent edict in Khomeiniland forbids women to become judges "because they're considered to be too compassionate."

What is the hochoy-koochy singing star Charo's full name? The ex-Mrs. Xavier Cugat was born Maria Rosario Pilar Martinez Melina Baeza (and that's for short!)... Did you know that Big John Connally, candidate No. 1,537 for his party's presidential nomination, once worked for LBJ's radio station in Austin? And before that was Sen. Johnson's secretary? Here's another Orben Grabber: Ronald Reagan, former actor, has one sticky problem if he's elected to succeed Jimmy Carter. He'd like his name above the title!

Sentimental Henry Youngman (in his early 70s) will be a bar mitzvah boy again during his appearance at Resorts International in Atlantic City. "I've got my reasons," he explained to us: "It will make me feel young again... too young to play the fiddle at my own confirmation, maybe get my first band together again. We called it 'The Brooklyn Bums' long before the Dodgers thought of giving their team that name."

Sean Connery, once won the title of "Mr. America," reader Robert Ruddy of Pittsburgh writes. How come a Britisher who became famous as James Bond can suddenly become American? Our answer, str. is that you've made a couple of mistakes. No. 1 is that Connery competed for the title "Mr. Universe," not Mr. America. Also that he was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. His newest film is "Cuba" with youngster Brooke Adams playing his lover.

Wonderful Willie Starcell, voted MVP of the '79 World Series, reveals he heard a lot about the games but never saw them. So now, whenever he travels, he watches the play-by-play over video cassettes.

Oh, here's Henry Youngman again with a nifty quickey: "Two Bronx housewives met on the Grand Concourse. 'Do you see what's happening in Iran?' one asked. 'I don't see a thing,' her companion answered, 'I live in the back!'"

Cougars Shock Nebraska

By NORVAL POLLARD
Executive Sports Editor

DALLAS — Last New Year's Day, the Houston Cougars were severely scalded by Notre Dame in the closing seconds of the Cotton Bowl. The Fighting Irish rallied for 23 points in the final eight minutes of the fourth quarter to post a miraculous 35-34 victory over the unbelieving Cougars.

Tuesday, the Cougars did the burning. Houston ushered in the decade of the 80s with a fiery ending of its own in the 44th Cotton Bowl Classic. And this time, the Nebraska Cornhuskers and their many fans were left shaking their heads.

Junior quarterback Terry Elston, who replaced an ineffective Delrick Brown early in the second quarter, marched the Cougars 66 yards in the final 3:49 of play and capped the drive with a six-yard, fourth-and-goal pass to junior flanker Eric Herring with only 12 seconds showing on the clock to lift Houston to a stunning 17-14 win over the Huskers.

Herring made a stabbing catch of Elston's desperation pass, thrown between Nebraska defensive backs Ric Lindquist and Russell Gary in the end zone. The ball appeared to bounce off the arm of Lindquist, but Herring was there to make the grab for the winning touchdown.

"I saw him juggling the ball in the end zone and I didn't know what happened on the winning touchdown," declared Houston's Bill Yeoman. "But I knew it was something good when everybody around me started jumping up and down."

Only minutes earlier, it was the Nebraska bench that was jumping for joy.

John Newhouse's second fumble of the game at the Houston 31-yard line — recovered by defensive tackle Bill Barnett — allowed Nebraska to erase a 10-7 Cougar lead and take a four-point, 14-10, advantage with only 4:01 left in the contest.

The Huskers picked up a first down at the Houston 10 on a 13-yard pass from junior 1-back Jarvis Redwine to quarterback Jeff Quinn in a display of razzle-dazzle on the part of Husker head coach Tom Osborne.

On third-and-goal from the Cougar six, the Huskers tried another bit of trickery and it worked... until an illegal procedure call nullified a six-yard touchdown scamper by Redwine.

The disallowed TD play was simply a quick snap that caught the Houston defensive off guard. Most of the Nebraska corner of the end zone for the go-ahead score. Dean Sukup added the point after kick to push Nebraska on top 14-10.

"I thought, the way the defense had been playing, that 14-10 would be enough to win it for us," stated Finn, a junior reserve tight end. "But Houston came back and I give them credit."

It was Elston, a 6-3, 210-pounder from Oxford, Ala., who turned the game around for the Cougars. The reserve signal-caller, who rescued victory from the jaws of defeat on three previous occasions during the 1979 season, led the Cougars to their seventh-come-from-behind win of the year. The seventh-ranked Cougars ended the season with an 11-1 mark.

Elston carried the football 22 times for 87 yards and one touchdown, a nine-yard jaunt in the second quarter that knotted the score at 7-7, and completed nine of 16 passes for 119 yards and another score, his first career scoring pass. For his efforts, Elston was named the Cotton Bowl's MVP.

"Elston? He's a great player, a great runner," acknowledged Osborne, the man who guided Nebraska to a 10-2 record, following the contest. "He's just an average passer, but he gets the job done, and that's what counts. He's big and strong. We had good pressure on him, but he's strong enough and big enough to elude the pressure."

The Cougars, representing the Southwest Conference, presented the Cornhuskers with the first big break of the game on the first play from scrimmage when Newhouse fumbled at the Cougar 25-yard line and defensive end Lawrence Cole pounced on the loose ball.

Quinn directed the Husker offense to a first down at the Houston 14, but the drive died at the six-yard line and on fourth and two. Sukup attempted a 23-yard field goal. Sukup sliced the ball and it sailed wide right and the Cougars dodged the first shot of the game.

Houston managed to move 15 yards on its second possession, but had to surrender the football and the Huskers took over at their 15. From there, Redwine and tight end Junior Miller picked up key first downs as the Huskers drove 85 yards in 14 plays for the game's first score.

It was Redwine who did the scoring honors for Nebraska, taking a pitch from Quinn and cutting left for nine yards and six points. Sukup tacked on the point after kick to give the Cornhuskers a 7-0 lead with 5:19 left in the opening stanza.

The Houston attack was helpless with Brown at the controls. He could not escape the reach of the quick Nebraska defense when he tried to run the football and most of his passes were either overthrown or way off target. Yeoman stayed with his senior field general for five series; but when the second quarter rolled around, it was Elston who was calling the shots.

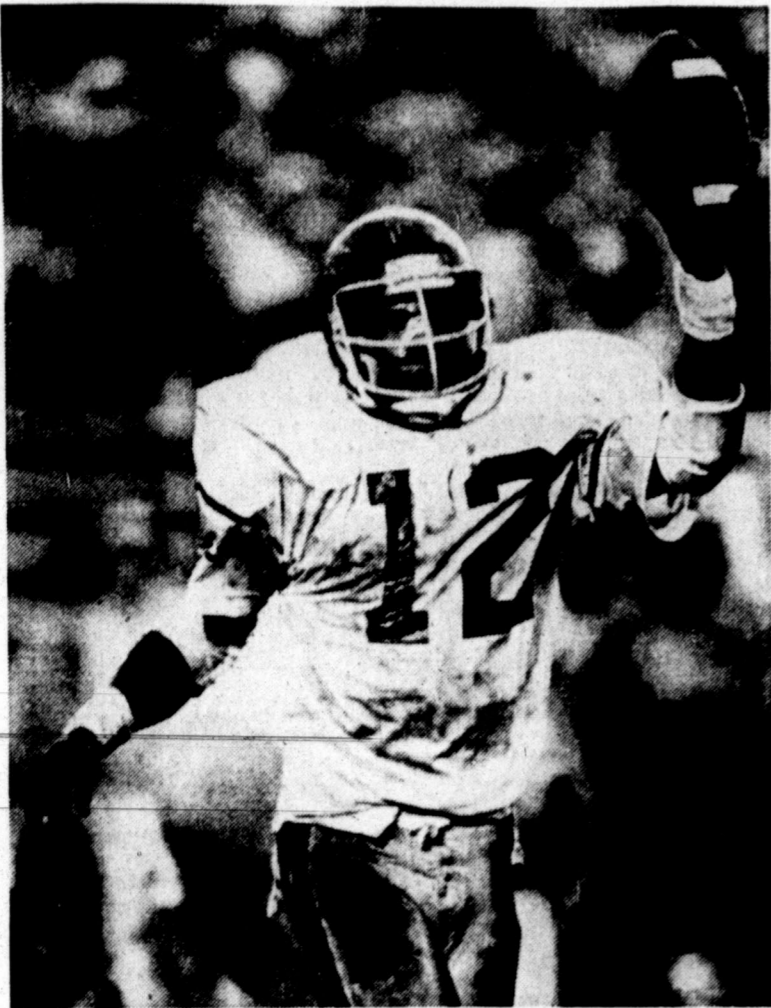

Elston entered the game with 14:19 remaining in the second quarter and had the Cougars on the scoreboard in two minutes. His first running attempt netted nine yards and a 15-yard face mask penalty added to give Houston a first down at the Nebraska 47. Three plays later, Elston hit sophomore flanker Lionel Phea with a perfect pass across the middle for a gain of 27 yards and another first down, this one at the Husker 15.

Elston went to the eight-yard line on first down and rolled left on second down and sprinted into the endzone. Kenny Hatfield was on target with the PAT and with 12:22 remaining in the first half, it was dead-even at 7-7.

Defensive play highlighted the remainder of the first half and much of the third and fourth quarters. Houston tried a 50-yard field goal attempt midway through the second period, but Hatfield's kick was considerably short.

Elvis Bradley gave the Cougars the ball on the following play when he picked off a Quinn pass intended for Miller at

USC WORKHORSE — Charles White, Southern California's Heisman Trophy winning tailback, holds up the football after scoring a touchdown late in the fourth quarter of Tuesday's Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, Cal. The touchdown tied the score at 16-16 and moments later Eric Hipp booted the extra point to lift the Trojans to a dramatic 17-16 victory over Ohio State. (AP Laserphoto)

White, Trojans Trip Buckeyes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Southern Cal coach John Robinson was flinging superlatives around with abandon, calling the game one of the greatest, Charles White the best football player he's ever seen, and the class of Trojan senior players the finest in the history of the school.

Robinson would not, however, call his Rose Bowl-winning Trojans the best college football team in the land.

"We deserve consideration for No. 1," Robinson said Tuesday after third-ranked Southern Cal's dramatic 17-16 victory over top-rated Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. "Alabama deserves consideration. We are two great football teams."

Ohio State coach Earle Bruce, who saw a perfect season and a possible national championship fade away when the White-led Trojans scored the winning touchdown with 1:32 remaining in the contest, remarked: "I said all along that the winner of this game should be the national champion."

Buckeye quarterback Art Schlichter, who turned in an outstanding performance in the losing effort, said, "I can't vote in the poll, but USC played a great game and deserves to be No. 1."

White, the Trojans' Heisman Trophy winning tailback who gained 247 yards and scored Southern Cal's final touchdown on a 1-yard dive, said diplomatically, "I hope we're No. 1. I'll just wait and see. I don't want to say anymore because it will just show up in the paper."

"All the players on the team feel that we're No. 1," said Trojan quarterback Paul McDonald, who provided Southern Cal's other touchdown with a 53-yard scoring pass to Kevin Williams. "We've come back so many times against adversity and that's the sign of a champion."

The Associated Press national poll of sports writers and sportscasters will be tabulated today and released Thursday.

Wherever the 11-0-1 Trojans finish in the final poll, they must surely rank at the top as far as confidence goes. Down 16-10 to the 7 1/2-point underdog Buckeyes with just 5:21 remaining in the game, Southern Cal took the ball at its own 17-yard line and marched coolly down the field for the winning score.

White began the decisive drive with a 32-yard burst, ran for another 28 yards on the next play, then finally capped the thrust by somersaulting into the end zone. Eric Hipp then kicked the point-after for the winning margin.

"I didn't feel like I was carrying the load on the last drive," said White, who had a total of 39 carries in the contest, with both that and his rushing yardage Rose Bowl records. "If they were going to stop us, they were going to have to stop 11 of us."

"That's our game, to wear the other guy down. Although we were six points behind, we were still very confident."

"We've been in that situation before," said McDonald, who completed 11

Hogs Convinced Alabama Best Squad

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — For the third year in a row, Alabama is sweating out the vote in The Associated Press college football poll.

Alabama's defense was the best in the country, and coming out, we feel the same way. They are everything you want in a No. 1 football team. I don't think there is anybody in the country who can beat Alabama.

EVERYBODY WANT THE QUARTERBACK — Alabama quarterback Steadman Shealy (10) tosses the football as Arkansas players Jim Howard (54) tears his shirt and Randy Wessinger (17) goes after him during third-quarter action at the Sugar Bowl Tuesday in New Orleans, Alabama defeated the Razorbacks 24-9. (AP Laserphoto)

Alabama's Don McNeal fumbled the opening kickoff away at his own 25, but Arkansas had to settle for Ish Ordonez 34-yard field goal. For the most part after that it was all Alabama. Major Ogilvie, named the game's outstanding player, scored on runs of 22 yards and 1 yard in the first period and set up Alan McElroy's 25-yard field goal with a 50-yard punt return late in the second quarter. Ogilvie's first touchdown capped an 82-yard drive and the second, less than three minutes later, came after linebacker Thomas Boyd recovered a fumble by Scanlon at the Arkansas 22.

Arkansas controlled the third quarter, scoring on Scanlon's 3-yard pass to Robert Farrell to end an 80-yard drive following the kickoff, but Alabama stormed right back with a magnificent 98-yard, nine-play drive in the final period, ending in Steve Whitman's 12-yard touchdown run.

All Alabama can do now is await the result of The AP poll at 5:30 p.m. CST, to see if the Crimson Tide has won its second consecutive national championship. If not, they will have to be content with a 12-0 record — Alabama's first perfect mark since 1966 — and a 21-game winning streak, longest in the nation as well as an Alabama record.

Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz was convinced. "Little did I realize that the best football team in the country would play an almost perfect game," he said. "Alabama just made the big play. They are a big, strong, physical football team. They run many different defenses. We were a little confused and we had some missed assignments, but that is a credit to Alabama."

White Too Much For Buckeyes

(Continued From Page One) of 24 passes for 234 yards. "We put together a drive that will be remembered for a long time by a lot of people. Our only real concern at the last was getting the ball back with enough time to make the drive."

Schlichter, the outstanding sophomore who completed 11 of his 21 passes for 297 yards against the Trojans, reflected the Buckeyes' disappointment following the loss.

"It's a big letdown," said Schlichter, who connected with Gary Williams on a 67-yard scoring pass to even the game at 10-10 just before halftime. "We had a shot at the national championship and we didn't get it."

our hearts. This team fought all year long. I'm disappointed." "It's tough when you're only defeat of the year is a one-point loss," said Bruce, whose Buckeyes finished with an 11-1-0 record. "But you have to accept that and we will because it's part of the game."

"It's an excellent football game for us, except for their last drive. USC is a very explosive football team; they are everything people said they were."

The victory by Southern Cal extended the Pacific-10 Conference's dominance over Big Ten representatives in the Rose Bowl.

"We had all the momentum going for us," Jordan said. "It's hard to describe what happened. When you get behind, you try all that much harder and make mistakes. You start pressing. I know I did."

Another Sooner senior — star running back Billy Sims — also ended his career appropriately. He gained 164 yards on 24 carries, and took a pitch from Watts 22 yards for the final touchdown.

Sooners Confident Before Game

MIAMI (AP) — The Oklahoma Sooners kept saying all week long that they were worried about fourth-ranked Florida State, but after their convincing 24-7 Orange Bowl victory, the Sooners admitted they were just being diplomatic.

"I didn't want to go into it during the last week, because I knew the media would take it and play it up the wrong way, but we felt sure that Florida State couldn't beat us," quarterback J.C. Watts said.

"We felt the only way we would lose would be if we beat ourselves — making mistakes, putting the ball on the ground," he said.

"Man for man, they were better than we were," agreed FSU's All-American nose guard, Ron Simmons. "Their offense is extra tough, especially when you have excellent athletes like Billy Sims and Watts."

The Sooners, 11-0 and playing in their first New Year's Day bowl, opened a 7-0 lead and had the ball at the Oklahoma 2 early in the second quarter before the Sooners erupted.

"I felt like we were just kind of dead through the first quarter. We knew we could move the ball against them. Over on the bench, I said, 'Let's get it going,'" said Watts, the game's most valuable offensive player after gaining 127 of the Sooners' 411 rushing yards.

The Sooners, their jitters evident, had their early momentum deflated by a string of mistakes.

Two delay-of-game penalties moved them from the Oklahoma 2 back to the 12, and then holder Rick Stockstill muffed the snap from center on a field goal attempt. Watts followed a 25-yard Sims run with a 61-yard touchdown jaunt to tie the game at 7-7, and safety Bud Hebert returned his interception of a Jimmy Jordan pass 25 yards to the FSU 10 on the next series.

That set up Stanley Wilson's 5-yard touchdown run, and after FSU's Rohn Stark shanked a 14-yard punt, the Sooners tacked on a 24-yard Michael Keeling field goal for a 10-point lead that was never threatened.

"When we jumped out to that 17-7 lead, that took the sting out of them," Watts said.

"If we had scored and had a 10-0 or 14-0 lead, I think it would have given us the momentum to have made a difference," said coach Bobby Bowden, disappointed that the fourth year of his remarkable turnaround of the once-lowly FSU program ended sourly.

"I was very disappointed in the outcome because I thought we were more ready than we were going to be. I thought we'd beat them, because I thought we would take it more seriously than they did," Bowden said.

FSU went five straight possessions without a first down. Wally Woodham replaced starter Jimmy Jordan at quarterback late in the second quarter, but missed on his first five passes. After Woodham finally got the Sooners moving in the third quarter, Hebert, who later added another interception of Jordan, made a diving grab of a Woodham pass at his own 22 to stop the drive.

Hebert, a senior, made only his second start at free safety. "Just a super day in the secondary," Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer said. "Hebert probably should have been playing at the free safety position all along."

Hebert, who was moved from cornerback when Darrol Ray was hurt before the Nebraska game, said his three-interception game, an Orange Bowl record, helped ease a frustrating year.

"This is a good way to end," he said. "It's been a long year for me, not playing as much as I wanted."
Hebert and his defensive teammates held the Jordan-Woodham passing tandem, which combined for over 2,000 yards in each of the last two seasons, to only eight completions and 100 yards.

"They stopped the pass and their defensive line was good enough to stop us up front," Woodham said. "They had an excellent scheme."

"We had all the momentum going for us," Jordan said. "It's hard to describe what happened. When you get behind, you try all that much harder and make mistakes. You start pressing. I know I did."

Another Sooner senior — star running back Billy Sims — also ended his career appropriately. He gained 164 yards on 24 carries, and took a pitch from Watts 22 yards for the final touchdown.

"Billy Sims had another great game," Switzer said. "We're going to miss that. But we've got nine offensive starters returning next year, including J.C."

The fifth-ranked Sooners, playing their fourth Orange Bowl in the last five years (they won three), finished at 11-1.

better than they did today and, if they can, I don't want to be on the same field with them. Alabama can get you in so many ways — kicking game, offense, defense.

"Going in, we felt Alabama was the best football team in the country, and coming out, we feel the same way. They are everything you want in a No. 1 football team. I don't think there is anybody in the country who can beat Alabama."

Well, now, that all depends. Jim Bunch, Alabama's All-American tackle, allowed as how there's a possibility we could play the Pittsburgh Steelers and they'd come out on top. Other than that, there's no doubt in my mind that we're the best team in college football."

Blue Devils, 'Cats Grab Top Rankings

By The Associated Press

If you think life at the top is easy, you haven't talked to Duke's Bill Foster or Kentucky's Joe Hall.

"I can't believe the number of situations we've been in this season," Foster said after watching his top-ranked Blue Devils post an 87-75 overtime victory over Cincinnati in the championship of the Iron Duke Classic last Saturday. It was Duke's third overtime win this season, including one over second-ranked Kentucky, and another over Boston College.

"Nothing comes easy these days, Foster added. "College basketball is getting closer and closer... tighter and tighter."

The only thing that seems to come easy to Duke these days is being named No. 1 in the Associated Press college basketball poll. The Blue Devils were tabbed No. 1 on 44 of 57 first-place votes and received 1,125 points out of a possible 1,140 points in balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters Tuesday.

Kentucky also had no problem in maintaining its No. 2 ranking. The Wildcats collected 10 first-place votes and 1,083 points. But the Wildcats had more than their share of woes last week.

First, starting forward Dwight Anderson quit the team for personal reasons. Then Hall, knowing that Notre Dame — ranked third last week — was coming to town, suspended starting center Sam Bowie and reserve guard Dirk Minniefield for unspecified training rules violations.

Remarkably, Kentucky defeated the Irish 86-80.

"I think discipline is more important than athletic ability, more important than anything else," Hall said. "It hurt to have those two players out for a game like this, but I had to do it."

A pair of unbeaten teams — DePaul and Louisiana State — both moved up a notch, taking over the number 3 and 4 positions. The Blue Demons got the final three first-place votes and 960 points while the Tigers collected 921 points.

Once-beaten Ohio State moved up two pegs and took over the No. 5 position with 840 — 16 more than North Carolina, which held onto the No. 6 position. Then came Notre Dame with 742 points. Purdue, 694, and Syracuse, 671, remained in the eighth and ninth positions while unbeaten Iowa, which got 614 points, replaced Indiana as the final member of the Top 10.

Preseason favorite Indiana, which fell out the Top 10 for the first time this season, headed the Second 10. Missouri was 12th, followed by Virginia; Oregon State; Louisville; UCLA; St. John's; Georgetown, D.C.; Brigham Young and Illinois, the first new member of the Top 20 in the past three weeks.

The Second 10 last week was Iowa, Louisville, Missouri, Virginia, St. John's, UCLA, Georgetown, Oregon State, Arkansas and Brigham Young.

Arkansas, ranked 19th last week but riding a three-game losing streak, dropped out of the Top 20.

Rams Welcome Tampa Rematch

By The Associated Press

Fourteen Sundays ago, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers recorded a 21-6 victory over the Los Angeles Rams. It was just another game on the National Football League schedule, raising the Bucs' record to 4-0 and dropping the Rams to 2-2; but football players, like most athletes, have remarkably long memories.

Los Angeles cornerback Pat Thomas, for example. He looked ahead to Sunday's National Football Conference title game against the Buccaneers and said, "I'm glad to be going back to play those guys after what they did to us."

That's just what bothers Tampa Bay linebacker Dewey Selmon.

"You have to take that team very seriously the next time around," Selmon said Tuesday. "They will be fired up. They will want revenge against you. And you tend to gear yourself for a harder battle."

The Rams, who upended Dallas to reach the NFC title match, promise that tougher battle — though they have been in five such championship games in the last seven years — and lost every one of them.

"Everybody's aware we've never gotten past the second (playoff) game," said center Rich Saul, a member of all seven Los Angeles NFC West champions. "You can't worry about the past, though."

But Selmon can look to the future.

"We can't relax against them for two reasons," he said. "One, we played them before. And two, we beat them."

A third reason would be that the winner of the NFC clash will advance to the annual gala called the Super Bowl against the winner of the American Conference title game between the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Houston Oilers.

"This time, they're hungry," said Selmon, referring to the Rams. "They want it. So do we. We're both shooting for the same thing."

"Los Angeles is an experienced team. They have a lot more to gain — not only a shot at the Super Bowl, but revenge against us."

The Oilers didn't have to wait as long for revenge against the Steelers. Houston answered its 38-7 loss at Pittsburgh with a 20-17 home triumph on Dec. 10, and Steelers coach Chuck Noll hasn't forgotten that, either.

"We have a great deal of respect for Houston," said Noll, who watched the Oilers beat San Diego last Saturday in the AFC semifinal. "We had it before they beat San Diego, after and still."

Along with respect, the Steelers have six consecutive AFC Central crowns.

Young Boxer Succumbs

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — A 20-year-old boxer who died from head injuries he received in the ring "wanted to be a fighter and he went out a fighter," his manager said.

Tony Thomas of Spartanburg, S.C., died Tuesday afternoon, a week and a half after he was stopped in the fourth round of a bout, went to his dressing room and collapsed.

The cause of death was acute subdural hematoma, or a blood clot on the brain, according to Spartanburg County Deputy Coroner Smith Thomas. Coroner Roger Smith said no inquest is planned.

Thomas underwent emergency surgery at Spartanburg General Hospital after his collapse Dec. 22. He never regained consciousness.

"I feel real bad that he's dead," said Don White, local boxing promoter and Thomas' manager, after hearing of Thomas' death. But he added, "He wasn't a quitter and I'm not giving up or quitting either."

White said he is planning a benefit fight to help Thomas' family.

"I've talked to some fighters, and they've said they would fight for free. The fight community wanted to show that we were behind Tony," White said Tuesday night.

In the Dec. 22 fight against Sammy Horne, 21, of Anderson, S.C., Thomas had been given a standing eight-count late in the third round. The referee stopped the fight with 1:10 remaining in the fourth round, naming Horne the winner.

the Houston 17. The Cougars, led by Elston, moved deep inside Nebraska territory, to the 31, before junior running back Terald Clark fumbled and strong safety Mark LeRoy recovered to stop the Cougars' march.

The highlight of the third quarter was a 40-yard punt return by Nebraska's Dave Liegl — from his own 12 to the Houston 48. It gave Quinn and Company excellent field position, but the Cornhusker offense moved only six yards in three tries and had to punt the ball back to Houston.

With 8:28 remaining in the game, Hatfield booted a 41-yard field goal to give Houston a short-lived 10-7 lead. The scoring drive began at the Cougar 17 and was stopped at the Nebraska 24. Elston was responsible for three first downs during the drive and Newhouse picked up two more.

Backcourt Paces Knicks' Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's nice to be the league leader in assists and steals," says New York Knicks guard Michael Ray Richardson. "but I'm not worried about individual statistics. I just want to help us win. There's no way we should be under 500."

The Knicks, led by their blossoming backcourt of Richardson and Ray Williams, played two superb quarters Tuesday night, and it was enough to beat the defenseless San Antonio Spurs 128-120. It was the Knicks' fifth victory in the last six games and brought them within one step of the break-even point at 20-21 as they reached the midpoint of their National Basketball Association schedule.

Richardson had 21 points, 17 assists and four steals while Williams tied rookie center Bill Cartwright for team scoring honors with 27 points. Forward Toby Knight chipped in 21 points to offset San Antonio's high-scoring backcourt of James Silas and George Gervin, who had 34 and 33 points, respectively.

In the only other NBA game Tuesday night, the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Washington Bullets 109-99.

For years the Spurs have been criticized for playing ineffective defense, and now coach Doug Moe says the critics are right. At least when the Spurs are on the road. The Spurs, who lead the league in scoring but also allow the most points, have lost six of their last seven road starts. For the season the defending Central Division champions are 7-15 away from home and just 19-20 overall.

"Every road game we get blitzed," said Moe. "It's a lack of intensity and effort on defense, and it's happening every game now. We fell behind by 34 to Denver and by 30 to Utah. We were behind LA 18-0 before we started playing. We fight back and get into it, but you just can't fall behind like that, especially on the road."

"We're a zero defensive team on the road right now."

The Knicks blitzed the Spurs for their biggest opening period of the season. Richardson's three-pointer at the buzzer giving New York a 43-32 lead. The Spurs trailed by 17 early in the second period before they came back behind high-scoring guards George Gervin and James Silas to pull even at 67-67 early in the third quarter.

New York then unleashed its second superb burst, outrunning the run-and-gun Spurs behind Richardson and Williams, their No. 1 draft picks in 1978 and 1977, respectively. Richardson handed out a team-record 10 assists in the quarter and Williams scored 17 points as the Knicks built a 99-81 lead and then coasted home.

Blazers 109, Bullets 99 — The Bullets blew a 15-point third quarter lead and were outscored by Portland 40-17 in the final period as the Blazers snapped a three-game losing streak.

Forwards Maurice Lucas and Abdul Jeelani led the Portland surge. Lucas scored 16 of his game-high 30 points in the fourth quarter and Jeelani came off the bench to score 12 of his 14 points in the final period.

SMALLEST WINNER

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — The tiny Tasmanian sloop Screw Loose became the smallest yacht to ever win the Sydney to Hobart yacht race Monday. A 30-foot Ron Holland-designed half-tonner, Screw Loose skippered by Rob Cumming, sprinted over the final leg into Hobart with the aid of a stiff 40-knot southeasterly to snatch provisional victory on corrected time.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Dodging difficult decisions will not be the way to go tomorrow. Problems which require solutions should be attended to promptly, even if it's painful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Co-workers will expect you to shoulder your share of the burdens tomorrow. Pitch in wherever you see you are needed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Bonds can be strengthened tomorrow with someone close to your heart. This person will see you as placing his or her interests above your own.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Just because a task isn't to your liking is not a good enough reason to put it off tomorrow. Meet your duties, head on. You'll find they aren't that tough.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be satisfied with small gains tomorrow, rather than trying to make a big killing. Pennies have a way of adding up to dollars.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be a reluctant leader tomorrow. Once you make a commitment, go all out. Don't wait for others to get things rolling.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) View situations realistically tomorrow, but don't take things so seriously that you lose your sense of humor. A little of each is needed for success.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try not to make those you help tomorrow feel obligated to you in some manner. Be charitable. Handle matters so there are no strings attached.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Stand firmly behind a friend who may require your support tomorrow. Let him or her know that you can be relied upon when needed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will have the ability tomorrow to overcome challenging situations. Don't be intimidated by events where the odds appear to be stacked against you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A pal you're fond of can profit from your experience. Normally it's not wise to offer unsolicited advice, but tomorrow could be an exception.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec 21) Do not postpone changing something important tomorrow that has an effect upon your reputation or finances. Muster your courage and get it done.

Report Claims Inflation Aids State Finances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Surprisingly, inflation has been helping the finances of state governments, a government report says.

The Census Bureau said recently state government revenues in fiscal year 1978 amounted to $225 billion, a 10 percent increase over the previous year.

State expenditures were $203.8 billion, the report said, a 6.6 percent increase.

One reason, according to the report, is that state tax revenues rise with inflation faster than expenditures, which are partially restrained by budget controls.

In addition, it said, unemployment fell during this period, resulting in a 14 percent decline in unemployment compensation payments from the previous year.

Even so, the report said, state debt rose to a new high of $102.6 billion at the end of the fiscal year, compared with $91.6 billion in 1977.

The figures are based on the fiscal years of states, most of which ended June 30, 1978.

Other highlights of the report: — Taxes provided $113.3 billion, or 59.9 percent of total state revenues, up 12 percent from the year before.

— Lotteries, operating in 13 states, provided $1.6 billion in gross revenue (before paying prizes and overhead). Michigan grossed the greatest amount with $326.9 million, followed by Maryland with $281.2 million, New Jersey with $225 million and New York with $201.6 million.

— Revenues of liquor stores, which 17 states operate, exceeded expenditures by $397 million.

— All 50 states continued to spend more on education than any other function. This expenditure totaled $69.7 billion in 1978, an 8.8 percent increase over 1977.

The present Republic of Italy was established by a national plebiscite on June 2, 1946.
