

Officer Killed, Four Injured In Oklahoma Riot

IDABEL, Okla. (AP) — A night of "shooting, rioting and burning" by several hundred angry blacks left one auxiliary police officer dead and four other persons wounded in this southeastern Oklahoma town, authorities said.

But the authorities said the town was quiet again early today, as police reinforcements manned roadblocks.

The blacks were protesting after a 15-year-old black youth was found beaten to death early Sunday near a bar — patronized mainly by whites — which has been the scene of several recent racial confrontations.

A crowd of about 100 converged on the police station at midafternoon demanding action, said Mayor Rex Helms.

"Of course they gave us an ultimatum of a 7 p.m. deadline of getting something done on this or there would be bloodshed in the streets and rioting and so forth," Helms said.

Fires and gunfire broke out after nightfall and a number of stores were vandalized.

Killed in the shooting was Ruben Farmer, an auxiliary policeman.

A spokesman for the McCurtain County Memorial Hospital said the wounded included State Trooper Harry Tunnel of Hugo and Mayo Roper, Eddie Traylor, and Larry Smith, all of Idabel.

Traylor was transferred to Wadley Hospital in Texarkana, where he was listed in satisfactory condition. The other victims were treated and released.

Two suspects were in custody in connection with the shootings, authorities said. Four other persons had also been arrested in connection with disturbances and more arrests were anticipated.

Helms said that by about midnight, rain was falling and the town was quiet again.

But troopers and city police were manning roadblocks on the west side of town and about 100 law enforcement officers from eastern and southeastern Oklahoma had been called in to assist.

Helms said he called for Oklahoma Highway Patrol reinforcements when the crowd gathered at the police station to protest the investigation of the beating death of Henry Lee Johnson, 15. Helms said the crowd began threatening police.

Johnson was found dead near the Black Hat Club in predominantly black west Idabel earlier in the day. Helms said a suspect was in custody in DeQueen, Ark., today in connection with Johnson's death.

Helms said the Black Hat Club isn't patronized by blacks, but they aren't prohibited from entering. He said the club has been the scene of racial confrontations in the past. Last week, several gunshots were fired through the door of the establishment, he said.

About three hours after the confrontation outside the Idabel Police Department, "shooting, rioting and burning" erupted in the town, Helms said, and police officers had to retreat to the municipal complex.

"At that time we didn't have sufficient manpower to handle the situation because they outnumbered us quite a bit," Helms said.

Finances Stable At Hospital

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Things aren't necessarily better at Health Sciences Center Hospital, but they don't appear to have gotten any worse over the past month, according to today's financial report.

The first full report issued since the takeover of administrator Jake Henry Jr. and Charlie Trimble Jr. indicates the teaching hospital is still losing money. But hospital officials are biding their time until business office workers complete a conversion to a new computer system, which they hope will be the answer to many billing and subsequent cash problems.

Neither Trimble or Henry has been at the hospital long enough to effect any noticeable financial changes, having started at the first of the year. Trimble reported to the Lubbock County Hospital District financial committee this morning that their major concern now is to implement data processing and accounting controls before and after the conversion, scheduled for this Saturday.

Trimble reported there may be some problems with the hospital's cash flow, a source of major concern during the hospital's tight money period, until the conversion is completely ironed out. But Trimble assured committee members that his employees would not let it slide.

The hospital district's accounts receivable total — those patient bills still not paid — passed the $10 million mark over the new year, thanks to losses from the teaching hospital as well as Emergency Medical Services.

However, hospital district officials still hope to collect about half of that through a collection agency and in-house billing follow-up. Finance committee chairman C. Wayne Smith said about $4 million had already been turned over to the collection agency, producing returns of several thousand dollars.

That $10 million figure is the result of an accrual accounting system, which records all losses from the day the hospital opened in February 1978. District officials charged off about $1.5 million in bad debts last year, but don't want to charge off any more until the results of the 1979 audit are in.

The hospital reportedly is holding its own in terms of available cash, maintaining See HOSPITAL Page 14

Saudis Fear Attack By Soviets, Cubans

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Saudi Arabia has told the United States and Britain that the Soviet Union and Cuba reinforced their military presence in neighboring South Yemen in recent weeks, Arab diplomatic sources said today.

They said the Saudis told Washington and London that the alleged communist buildup might prompt them to put their entire armed forces on alert soon.

The sources said the Saudis informed the American and British governments that hundreds of Cuban troops and dozens of Soviet generals and experts have been airlifted to the South Yemen capital of Aden since the global controversy developed over the Kremlin's military intervention in Afghanistan.

Saudi government leaders told Britain's foreign secretary, Lord Carrington, during his recent tour of the Persian Gulf region that the Soviet and Cuban reinforcements were flown to South Yemen from Ethiopia, the Kremlin's major ally in the Horn of Africa.

South Yemen on the Indian Ocean is the only Marxist-governed republic in the Arabian peninsula. Along with Ethiopia on Africa's eastern coast, it controls the entrance to the Red Sea, the shortest route for crude oil shipments from the Persian Gulf to the West.

The sources said the Saudis conveyed their fears about alleged Soviet and Cuban reinforcements in a note delivered to the Carter administration through the American Embassy in Jidda, Saudi Arabia's main Red Sea port.

The sources said the Saudi government gave no specific figures about the size of the alleged reinforcements, beyond loose estimates that put the number of Cubans at "hundreds" and Soviets at "dozens."

About 500 Cuban experts are known to be working as instructors with South Yemen's militia forces. The Soviets have 2,000 experts serving with South Yemen's 20,800-strong regular armed forces.

About 1,000 Cuban air force pilots and anti-guerrilla warfare experts are said to be involved in Ethiopia's campaign.

Rights In City Essential, LP&L Tells State Panel

A-J Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Failure by the City of Lubbock to be dually certified for electric power service could be "the beginning of the end" for the city-owned electric company, Carroll McDonald warned the Public Utilities Commission today.

McDonald, sales and service director for Lubbock Power & Light, told an examiner, "All we want is the right to serve within the City of Lubbock."

The PUC hearing on Lubbock's request, which is being opposed by South Plains Electric Co-op, is expected to last three days, PUC reports.

The controversy involved recently annexed areas on the southern side of the city which have been served by the co-op.

They include the Bicentennial, High Country, Lake Ridge and Meadows additions.

McDonald began testifying as the city opened its presentation today. Attorney Don Butler questioned McDonald on a number of subjects, including the agency's organization, rates, existing capacity and future electric needs.

McDonald said the power and light company paid approximately $1.4 million for the 1978-79 fiscal year to the city in lieu of ad valorem taxes.

The company's rates, McDonald said, are comparable to those of Southwestern Public Service Co., which are lower within the City of Lubbock.

He discussed recent expansion of the Lubbock system, including the Holly Steam Plant No. 2, and reported a contract recently was signed with Pioneer Natural Gas Co. for a five-year gas supply.

McDonald said he anticipates no fuel problems for the system, but that a study is due in six months on alternative sources of fuel.

Burning trash and garbage as fuel could supply as much as 10 megawatts of power, he said.

He also reported an interconnect agreement with Southwestern would allow the city system to start taking 10 megawatts of power in the summer of 1982, with up to 100 megawatts available.

Because Southwestern has new coal burning plants with excess capacity, it will be cheaper for the Lubbock system to buy power from Southwestern rather than generate its own power at times, McDonald said.

McDonald said the dual certification to allow the city system to serve the area previously approved for service by South Plains is needed because the city system is "married to the corporate limits of Lubbock, Texas."

Because the city has been growing on its fringes, moving especially to the southwest, the city system must expand or stagnate and eventually decline, McDonald argued.

He predicted South Plains would "be a good competitor," but could not say how the market share would divide between the two systems.

McDonald's attempt to testify regarding a survey of residents in the Meadows subdivision produced objections from South Plains attorneys, with that matter undecided when the hearing took a recess.

Dallas Faces More Busing Of Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court cleared the way today for increased busing of public school pupils in Dallas, designed to provide racial balance in the nation's eighth-largest school district.

By a 6-3 vote, the court decided not to review an appeals court ruling that gave the go-ahead for busing of an estimated 20,000 students at an annual cost of $5.8 million.

Dallas school officials asked the Supreme Court to overrule the appeals court decision and reinstate a milder form of desegregation.

Today's decision reversed an earlier agreement by the Supreme Court to review the case.

The three justices who dissented today argued that the court should take the case in order to reverse the appeals court ruling.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., writing for the dissenters, said the increased busing could backfire and lead to further exodus by whites from the city's public schools. Powell noted that since 1971, the percentage of white students in Dallas schools has dropped from 69 percent to 33.5 percent last year.

He said that previous busing plans, which have involved about 15,000 students, have failed and there is no point in continuing the same course.

"The futility of administering larger doses of a remedy that has failed is self-evident," said Powell. "The court of appeals seriously erred when it remanded this case with a mandate that seems certain to accelerate the destructive trend toward resegregation."

He was joined by Justices Potter Stewart and William H. Rehnquist. Dallas schools have been involved in desegregation efforts since 1955. The suit that reached the Supreme Court was first filed in 1970 by parents of black and Mexican-American students.

In 1976, U.S. District Judge William Taylor Jr. ordered enforcement of a racial desegregation plan proposed by the Dallas Alliance Task Force on Education. The plan divided the school district's 140,000 students and 183 schools into six sub-districts, requiring that five of the sub-districts reflect the same racial makeup, within 5 percent, of the entire school district.

In 1975, the makeup was 41 percent white, 45 percent black and 14 percent Mexican-American. With the drop in the percentage of whites in the schools, the plan required adjustment for racial balance, according to proponents of further busing.

Under Taylor's plan, one sub-district remains practically all-black and about 50 schools in the other five sub-districts remain essentially one-race schools, according to the Dallas branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In 1978, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered Taylor to draw up new student assignment plans aimed at eliminating the one-race schools.

In his dissent today, Powell said, "A desegregation remedy that does not take account of the social and educational consequences of extensive student transportation can be neither fair nor effective." He said Taylor's plan "is properly sensitive both to existing demographic realities and to the likely consequences of increased busing."

Iowa Opens Torrid '80 Campaign

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — In living rooms, church basements and schoolhouses, Iowa Republicans and Democrats meet today to declare their presidential preferences in primary campaigns marked by sharp swings in public opinion polls.

official tests of the presidential campaign and a majority of the 10 Republicans and three Democrats seeking nomination campaigned hard in the state.

Three Republicans were in the state today and two of them planned to attend caucuses.

Leon Jaworski, the former Watergate special prosecutor, campaigned today with former CIA Director George Bush. Bush scheduled several appearances throughout the state and planned to return to Des Moines to attend a caucus.

Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois campaigned in central Iowa and planned to drop by caucuses in Marshalltown and Story City.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee planned to return to Washington.

Missing from the active campaigners in Iowa during the weeks prior to the caucuses was President Carter, who said the Iranian required him to remain in Washington. Instead, he sent Vice President Walter F. Mondale, members of the Cabinet, his wife Rosalynn, their children and his mother.

Tech Hosts Governor

Gov. Bill Clements said here today he has no preference between Texas Republican presidential candidates John Connally and George Bush, but said he would expect Connally to win the primary handsily if it were held now.

Clements, who arrived here at midday for a tour of Texas Tech University, refused to speculate on whether Connally must defeat Bush by a large margin in order to keep his campaign momentum after the May primary.

He noted that recent polls indicate Connally to be ahead in his home state.

Clements arrived here at 11:55 a.m. in the blue and white twin-engine airplane provided for him by the state after a weekend at home in Dallas.

He was to speak at a noon Lubbock Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the See CLEMENTS Page 14

Cold Rain Shrouds Area

A-J News Services

The freezing, rainy weather that gave Lubbock an icy weekend will hang on today and Tuesday with a 20-percent probability of more rain today and tonight and a 30-percent chance on Tuesday.

Roads in the Texas Panhandle and northwestern section of the South Plains were icy late this morning, but the mercury will rise enough during the afternoon to clear the glaze in this area, at least.

Lubbock temperatures will be in the mid-40s today, near 30 tonight and in the upper 30s Tuesday, weathermen predict.

Winds will be westerly at 5 to 10 mph today and northerly at 15 to 20 mph as more cold weather comes in late tonight. The wind will keep coming out of the north at 15 to 25 mph and gusty Tuesday.

Lubbock weather was consistent, if not very pleasant, Sunday and early today. The high Sunday was 34 degrees and the low this morning 33.

The Hub City had .07 inch of rain in an all-day Sunday drizzle for a weekend total of .17.

Sunday and weekend rain totals from around the South Plains included .19 and .64 at Dimmitt, .30 and one inch at Matar, a trace and .33 at Tulia, .02 and .14 at Tahoka, .28 and 1.55 at Paducah and .19 and .24 at Lamesa.

A travelers' advisory was issued for the Panhandle early today as light rain froze on the highways.

An ice build-up on conductors near a Southwestern Public Service Co. substation just west of Lubbock left residents in the northwestern part of the city without power for almost three hours Sunday.

A three-quarter-inch coating of ice on conductors near the SWPS Carlisle substation five miles west of the city limits caused two eight-foot crossarms to break at 2:19 p.m. Sunday, Leonard Houston, a company switching supervisor, said.

A 10-man crew with four trucks restored power to an area bounded by Fourth Street, Slide Road, Frankford Avenue and Harvard Avenue about 5 p.m. and thus avoided the wrath of football fans awaiting the telecast of the Super Bowl at 5 p.m.

Houston said the outage was not related to the breakage of some ice and tree limb-weighted power lines Sunday afternoon in the 5200 block of Eighth Street.

The cold, wet weather spread over most of the state Sunday, and Victoria in South Texas reported a weekend total of 3.48 inches of rain.

Crime Line Nets Seven Arrests

Crime Line is off to a strong start for the new year, with seven arrests made in five felonies since Jan. 1.

This week, Crime Line is offering rewards totaling $2,500 in seven cases.

A $500 reward is offered in the Jan. 17 armed robbery of Don's Grocery, 914 E. 34th St., in which $524 was taken.

Store manager John Hollins was alone in the store about 7 a.m. when a man wearing a black ski mask entered and threatened him with a small-caliber pistol.

The robber, described as a black male, 22 to 23 years old, 5 feet 11 and weighing approximately 200 pounds, ordered Hollins to hand over the money from the cash register. The man was wearing a rust-colored shirt, khaki pants and high-top black shoes, police.

The robber reportedly left the scene on a 10-speed bicycle. Also taken in the holdup was the victim's .357 magnum pistol, police said.

Crime Line is totally supported by private donations. Anyone desiring to make a tax-deductible contribution to the reward fund should mail it to Crime Line, P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock, 79457.

A $500 reward is also offered in the Jan. 6 armed robbery of Dunkin' Donuts, 317 University. A total of $111 was taken by a man who walked in the establishment about 7 p.m. and demanded that the female employee turn over all the money.

The robber reportedly told the employee to get down and not to look up or he would shoot her. The robber's means of transportation is not known.

The bandit was wearing a yellow leisure suit and sunglasses, with long black hair, the employee told police. He was 5 feet 3 to 5 feet 6 in height, and he was carrying a blue-steel automatic pistol.

A $300 reward is offered for information leading to the arrest of Lonnie Ray Booker, who has been charged with aggravated armed robbery. A warrant for his arrest has been issued by Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy.

Booker is described as a black male, 30 years old, 6 feet 2, 225 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes.

A $300 reward is also offered for information leading to the arrest of Teddy Lynn Bolinger, alias Teddy Lynn Anderson, who has been charged with probation violation.

Bolinger is described by police as a white male, 23 years old, 5 feet 6, weighing 180 pounds, with red hair and brown eyes.

Crime Line offers a $300 reward in the Jan. 14 burglary of the home of Jackie Bynum of Lubbock. Bynum told police his apartment was burglarized between 2:20 and 11:55 p.m. Goods valued at $830 were taken in the break-in, police said.

Items taken include a sound movie camera, a sound movie projector, a gold chain, a wedding ring and a piggy bank containing $30. Entry was gained by prying open a window.

A $300 reward is offered in the burglary of the home of Roberto Reyes, 602 Ave. R, in which items valued at $1,710 were taken. The break-in occurred between Jan. 11 and Jan. 14, Reyes told police.

Items taken include an RCA 19-inch black-and-white television, several pieces of furniture and assorted jewelry.

Entry was gained by breaking a window at the south side of the house. The burglar or burglars exited through the rear door, police said.

A $300 reward is offered in the $6500 burglary of a residence at 2021 16th St., which occurred between Jan. 3 and Jan. 5.

Missing from the house are a Martin guitar, an Alvarez guitar, a Gibson guitar, a Mandolin guitar, a Music Man amplifier, a Smith-Corona electric typewriter, a Zenith 12-inch color television, a Home Box Office control unit, a stereo turntable, a Sansui amplifier, two stereo speakers, a fishing pole, an Indian blanket and several items of clothing.

Anyone with information concerning any of the previously-mentioned crimes, or any felony crime, is asked to call the Crime Line at 741-1000. Informants may remain anonymous.

Dallas' Murder Rate Makes Record Jump

DALLAS (AP) — Lock the doors and bolt the windows, they're killing folks in Dallas at a bewildering rate.

Friends cut down friends, relatives kill relatives and divorce by pistol is quicker than the courts.

"This right here ain't nothing but Tombstone Territory," said Kay Smith, a 19-year-old resident of what police consider one of Dallas' deadliest neighborhoods.

There is a shadow on the Sunbelt that has left Dallas the eighth most homicidal city in the nation. Murders jumped a staggering 33 percent here in 1979, soaring to a record high 308 victims.

According to statistics compiled by the Dallas Times Herald, a Dallas resident here has a greater chance of being murdered than a resident of New York, Chicago or Detroit.

Only in Atlanta, St. Louis, Cleveland, New Orleans, Newark, Houston or Miami does a resident run a greater risk of being slain.

"For a while I was afraid to stick my head out the door, but you get used to it," said Miss Smith.

Police say 27 persons were killed last year within blocks of her apartment in a neighborhood of low-status workers, many struggling to pay their rent on minimum-wage jobs.

"But the people living around here have no hope," said Ernest Wallace, a Sunday school teacher at a nearby church.

"They see the things that money can buy. They want those things too and they can't get them with a minimum wage," said Wallace.

Bobby Brooks manages the Park South apartments where Miss Smith lives. He said the tension rises and falls there perceptibly.

Most of the violence at the apartments occurs in the rear of the complex where James Fields, 18, lives. He said residents there call it simply "the back" and that most of them carry guns.

"A lot of killings happen here and we're just trying to survive," said Fields. "This isn't a city street, man. I mean, this is 'the back.' By the time the police get here, it's all over."

Massachusetts Institute of Technology Prof. Arnold Barnett studied the murder risks in the nation's 50 largest cities. He said at the current murder rate in Dallas, 36 per 100,000 population, a child born in the city today stands a one in 40 chance of being murdered if he lives here 70 years.

Police said 18 murders occurred between spouses in 1978, but that figure jumped to 49 in 1979.

Investigators said 77 percent of murder victims here either were related or knew each other.

Police Seek Suspects In Shooting

NEW KINK TO Old TWIST—James Parker, director of the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University, checks out a problem in research project to spin short wool fiber on a machine geared for cotton fiber. Success would put the 100 per cent wool thread in another market. (Staff Photo)

New Technology Aids Production Of Wool

By GERRY BURTON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Thermostat turndown combined with use of shorter wool fibers on the cotton textile system could be the starting-point for a back-to-wool movement in the industry.

An even bigger boon would be the wool equivalent of the cotton gin, according to a spokesman for the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University.

Working out new methods and markets for Texas' natural fibers on one side and encouraging the sheep and goat raiser in creating a more marketable product on the other is the main function of the center.

Currently, TRC director James S. Parker and James M. Lambert, who heads the knitting department, are acting in an advisory capacity for the modern technology panel in the Sheep and Goat, Wool and Mohair Exhibit and Hall of Achievement to be dedicated Feb. 7 in the Food and Fiber National Institute.

A lot of the wool and mohair industry's problems with marketing, Parker said, begins with the fleece itself. Appearance directly affects salability.

Conditioning the fleece before sale like the farmer does his cotton at the gin would make wool and mohair more acceptable to manufacturers.

"A manufacturer gets a bale of cotton, opens it and its ready for use, but wool has to be washed and scoured," Parker noted.

Selling the fleece right off the sheep or goats, he added, is like selling the cotton from the trailer.

By utilizing a wool "gin," the producer could use a valuable byproduct, lanolin, to help pay for the procedure in the same manner a farmer does with his cotton seed at the gin.

A major problem with a part of the sheep industry, Parker emphasized, is the producer's feeling that wool is just something that grows on a sheep's back which has to be cut before the animal can become a meat product.

Many producers put the fiber part of the business at 10 per cent of the income and pay little attention to it. Others, like a New Mexico rancher, improve the fleece and bring fiber up to 35 per cent of the income.

The center, financed about 40 per cent by the state and the rest by private research contracts, is involved with a project to extend the wool market by adapting the longer animal fibers to the cotton system geared to short fibers.

Shortening the animal fibers, by cutting or by six-month shearings, puts wool in the category without a massive and expensive new changeover in machinery.

About 40 manufacturers around the nation already are using threads from cut wool and mohair on cotton system machines.

The center is working now with testing the quality of short wool thread to see how it can be spun with strength necessary for weaving.

A perfect solution to the short wool theory would be the six-month spread of shearing which would give the right length. Tests to ascertain the effect the interval shearing would have on the major sheep product, lambs, showed an eight per cent and more increase in lamb production.

"We do what we can to bring about more use of the three natural fibers to promote natural products," Parker said.

A monthly newsletter detailing research findings is "very factual" in what it contains for readers all over the United States, Europe, South Africa, South America and Asia.

Inquiries have come from all over the world, some from Communist countries.

Wool and cotton, Parker stressed, are the oldest fibers which have now lost a lot of appeal in the synthetic-minded society.

Police this morning were looking for two black men in connection with a shooting-car theft-abduction incident Sunday evening.

Reports indicate Jose Segovia, 19, and Jose Ramirez, 15, both of Lubbock, picked up the men at a Parkway Drive motel about 7 p.m. after the suspects told the teen-agers they would direct them to a club they were looking for in return for a ride home.

Once in the car, the two men pulled guns and demanded money, according to reports. When they got none, one man hit Segovia on the head with his pistol and the other hit him with his fist.

Segovia drove to the 2324 16th St. residence of Joe Barrera, where one of the suspects broke through a locked door, holding Segovia and demanding money.

When a visitor at the Barrera home, Joe Zuniga, 27, of 3302 Amherst Ave., went for a gun, he was shot in the left leg by one of the suspects.

Zuniga was treated and released at Health Sciences Center Hospital.

After shooting Zuniga, both suspects fled in Segovia's car — a black 1976 Lincoln Continental — with Ramirez, who was released a few blocks away.

In an unrelated incident, Kenton J. Underwood, 21, of 6509-B Ave. S, was shot in the left arm by two unknown assailants after leaving a club in the 2000-block of Fourth Street about 11 p.m. Sunday.

Underwood, who was treated and released at Methodist Hospital, told police the men followed him out of the club and began calling him names in the parking lot. When they followed him in a car after he drove away, he got out and was shot, he said.

Another scuffle outside a club in the 400-block of East 34th Street led to a stabbing about 1:30 a.m. today.

Cary D. Clark, 19, of Route 7, Box 300, Lubbock, was treated and released at Methodist Hospital for wounds he said he sustained in a fight with a man who had been staring at him inside the club.

Police this morning also were looking for the night cook at the Winchell Donut House at 5001 34th St. The cook was missing around midnight Sunday when $945 was discovered gone from the store's safe and cash register.

Reports indicate two customers called police when they noticed the store was unlocked and unattended.

In other burglaries, Bobby Gilliam Jr. of 8013 Winston St. told police someone knocked a small pane of glass out of his front door, unlocked the deadbolt and took guns, jewelry and foreign coins valued at $2,700 between 5 and 8 p.m. Sunday.

Mary Ellen Wine of 4204 Ave. R said she returned from an afternoon and evening out to find cameras, jewelry, coins, leather coats and a microwave oven gone. She did not know how much the items were worth.

Ramon Castro, who owns a used car lot at 4312 Ave. R reported someone had kicked down the back door of his office, stolen the keys to the 20 cars on his lot, and had taken a 1978 Corvette.

In a Saturday incident, James F. Dunn of 6105 Nashville Ave. told police someone broke his backdoor window and took $600 worth of guns and a television set sometime between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Police reports also indicated two incidents of criminal mischief.

Sharon Thompson, owner of a clothing store at 2421 Main St., said two plate glass windows valued at $500 were shot out with an air gun about 11 p.m. Sunday.

William E. Shriver, co-owner of the University Self Storage at 400 Ave. T, reported locks on 15 units had been either cut off or broken. He estimated damage at $400 and said he would contact renters of the storage units.

A 40-year-old man was in serious condition today at West Texas Hospital with gunshot wounds he suffered during an incident at a pool hall in the 700-block of 13th Street Saturday night.

Ruben Gonzales Mendez, address unavailable, suffered three, small-caliber gunshot wounds to the abdomen and leg.

Mendez told police that he was with his brother-in-law at the pool hall when his brother-in-law and another man became involved in an argument. Mendez said the other man then began shooting at him and that the last thing he remembered was someone placing him in a pickup truck.

A California salesman was treated and later released from Methodist Hospital Sunday with injuries he suffered in an assault in the parking lot of a club in the 4100-block of 19th Street shortly after midnight.

Tim Green reported that he was talking to a woman on the parking lot when three men walked up and began hitting and kicking him.

He said the three suspects were white males, 18 to 25, tall and heavy with brown hair. Green said two of the suspects were wearing cowboy hats.

Edward Hoffman of 4421 B 31st St. reported that burglars removed $1,240 worth of jewelry from his home sometime between 11 a.m. and 7:15 p.m. Saturday.

Walkout Called Against Amoco

TEXAS CITY, Texas (AP) — More than 500 oil field workers joined the nationwide strike by 60,000 members of the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers Union today.

The 540 hourly employees who operate wells and maintenance of Amoco Production Co. fields in East Texas and the Texas coastal area walked off their jobs. Another 750 in fields in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, however, continued on their jobs.

Their walkout had been ordered Thursday after workers rejected a "me too" clause the company offered, which would have let the field workers stay on the job but receive any wage settlement OCAW reached with other Amoco facilities.

Another 750 Amoco oil field workers in West Texas and eastern New Mexico were scheduled to leave work at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, but notified the company Saturday their walkout was canceled, according to a union spokesman.

The walkout by local 4-16 would have involved Amoco operations in Odessa, Andrews, Brownfield, Levelland and Hobbs, N.M., Miga said.

The national OCAW strike against more than 100 oil company refineries began Jan. 8.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Lance Trial Judge Errs

AN ARROGANCE of power that permeates the federal judiciary reared its ugly head again last Friday when a trial judge barred reporters from the jury selection phase of former U.S. Budget Director Bert Lance's trial in Atlanta.

Federal District Judge Charles A. Moyer Jr. ordered about a dozen newsmen from the courtroom because "we have had a request from two prospective jurors who want to be questioned outside the presence of the media."

This abuse of power by Judge Moyer, who took his cues from the current Supreme Court, represents a further tightening of a noose of oppression of which the courts are fully capable.

Ironically, his action came on the very same day that American newsmen also were being kicked out of Iran and Afghanistan.

JUDGE MOYE COMPOUNDED his error by permitting other members of the public to stay in the courtroom, thus discriminating against one segment of society.

His action represented an infringement on the First Amendment guarantee of a free press and denied all Americans except those few sitting in the courtroom at the time access to information about what should be a public trial of a public official.

Lance, one of the few really able persons that President Carter surrounded himself with soon after taking office, is on trial for bank fraud. He resigned his position amid charges of wrongdoing.

Barring the press from his trial, or any portion of it, has to plant seeds of doubt as to the ultimate fairness of Lance's trial, whether he be found guilty or innocent.

In a free society, government—neither executive, legislative nor judicial—should raise no barriers to the free flow of information. Otherwise, freedom dies.

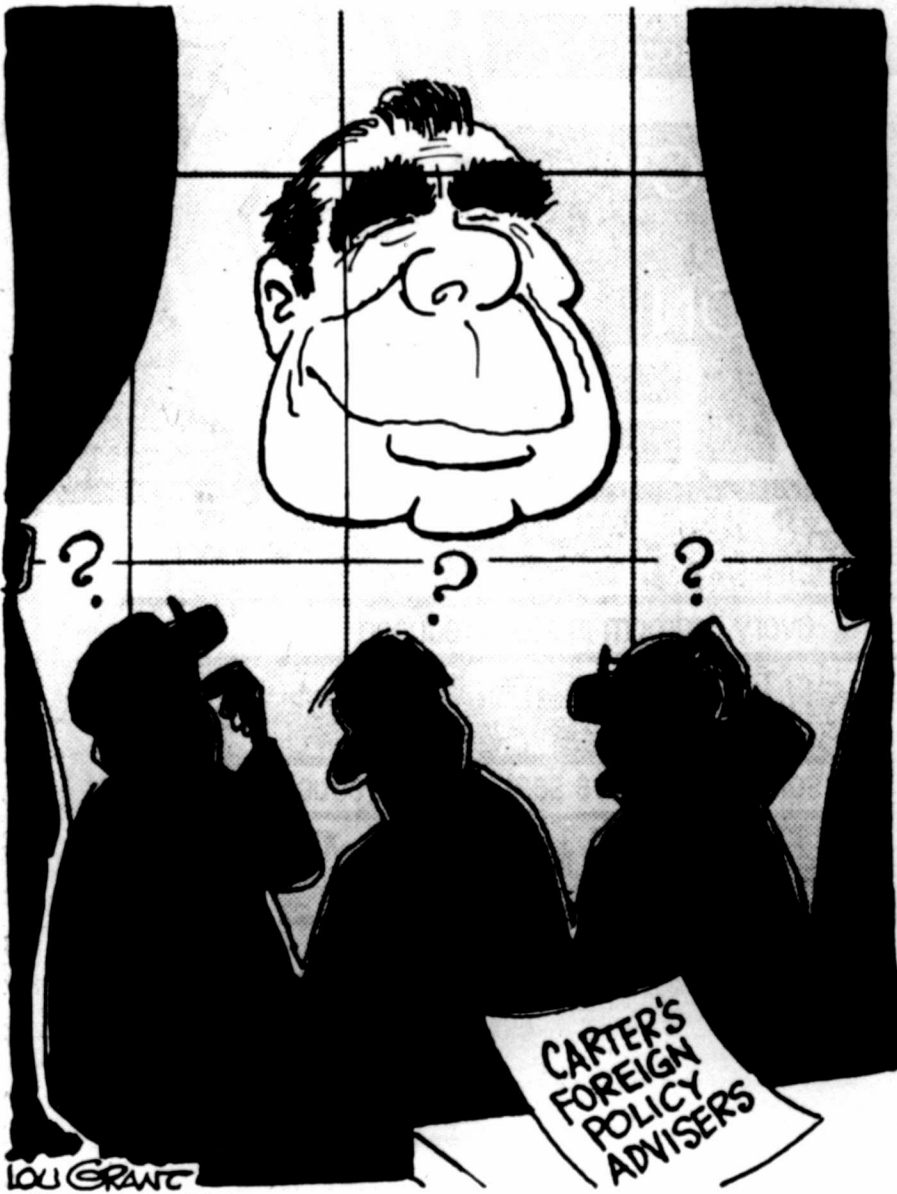

IN A PECULIAR earlier ruling, the Supreme Court held last summer that the public can be barred from judicial proceedings.

One justice rationalized that the Constitution does not give the public, but only the defendant, the right to a public trial. If he waives that right in certain proceedings, the Court said that's okay.

Apparently, Judge Moyer has now extended that sinister doctrine, in part at least, to prospective jurors.

Each year to black out court proceedings in this country establishes one more "legal precedent" for some future reign of tyranny.

Amateur Night

James J. Kilpatrick:

Air Bag Amendment Is A Gas

WASHINGTON—Just before it closed up shop last month, the House recorded a resounding vote for a free society.

The roll call came on what was known as the Stockman amendment, assuring automobile buyers of a certain freedom of choice in safety devices.

In a wholly parliamentary sense, the vote was only a gesture—but it was a gesture worth talking about.

The question before the House was an authorization bill for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

"This is the agency that has involved the federal government deeply in design standards for automobiles and trucks.

PERHAPS THE MOST controversial of the agency's requirements is its demand for installation of passive restraint systems.

For practical purposes, "passive restraint" translates into airbags. On some smaller cars, automatic seat belts are feasible, but the main issue is the airbag.

It works this way: A car smashes head-on into a solid object; sensors instantly activate a canister of gas; the gas inflates a nylon bag that shoots out from beneath the dashboard, forming a pillow between the occupant and the windshield; then the bag instantly deflates.

The NHTSA has ordered all manufacturers to phase in passive restraints beginning with 1982 models.

When the bill came on for a vote, David A.

Stockman of St. Joseph, Mich., a freshman Republican who is making quite a name for himself, offered an amendment:

"NONE OF THE funds authorized under this act may be used by the Secretary of Transportation to enforce or otherwise administer any standard or regulation which requires any passenger car to be equipped with an occupant restraint system unless"—and here is the heart of the amendment—"unless such standard or regulation also permits the purchaser to select any occupant restraint system which would comply with federal motor vehicle standards."

In brief, the Stockman amendment would let the buyer have his option—seat belts, lap and seat belts, automatic shoulder harness or the airbag. You pay your money and you take your choice.

The amendment carried by a walloping margin of 320 to 73.

A bit later, NHTSA's chief public affairs officer, Robert Boaz, sniffed that the Stockman amendment was only a "nuisance amendment."

BECAUSE THE PENDING mandatory standard would not become effective until 1982, the agency would not be enforcing or administering it in the 1980 fiscal year anyhow. Mr. Boaz was not impressed.

During the debate on Dec. 19, speakers brought up the prospective cost of an airbag installation. By one General Motors estimate, the bag could add from $300 to $360 to the cost of a new car. Proponents responded, quite plausibly, that once airbags were mandated as standard equipment in seven or eight million cars a year, the cost would come down drastically. I yield the point without objection.

It isn't the cost that matters, it's the compulsion. The bureaucratic way is to compel the purchaser to buy a passive restraint system willy-nilly, whether he wants it or not.

Stockman's way is to give the customer a reasonable choice. I will buy Stockman's approach every time.

Proponents of the airbag cited a survey showing an "overwhelming consensus on the part of the public that even if the passive restraints cost $360 vs. the $100 cost of seat belts, they would gladly pay the extra money for this additional promise of safety."

I TEND TO mistrust all "surveys" until I know their statistical methodology, but suppose this one is valid.

If there is indeed such an overwhelming demand for these devices, a free market will supply that demand—and make a profit on the deal.

This is how a free society ought to work. In some areas of course we must have compulsory laws and regulations. Believe me, there is no conservative view that favors botulism or typhoid.

But at every feasible point where a choice reasonably can be made between voluntarism or compulsion, let us choose the voluntary way.

Stockman's amendment may have no practical effect, but it provided a nice salute to a principle worth preserving.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

There's A Tide In...

NEW QUESTIONS have surfaced about whether the tide at Chappaquiddick was running in the direction Sen. Ted Kennedy said it swept him on the night his party companion drowned 10 years ago.

To say the least, the reports caused the political tide to turn against Kennedy temporarily.

Gold prices soared to new records, above $800 an ounce. Since he's been President, Jimmy Carter has sold much of the nation's gold reserves at prices ranging down to half that.

STUNG BY COMPTROLLER Bob Bullock's report that there were 2,931 more people on the state payroll in November than there were when Gov. Bill Clements took office in January, Clements has reaffirmed his goal to cut 25,000 employees during his four-year term.

He had claimed earlier that 4,000 workers already had been dismissed. Bullock's figures, based on payroll checks issued, indicated that some agencies had been eliminating budgeted positions that never had been filled anyway.

"While it is appropriate to plan for or budget a reduced number of employees, it is imperative that the actual number of employees also be reduced," the governor said in a letter to state agencies.

In other words, he doesn't want the racket he's making turned into a numbers game.

Federal auditors say the Gov't is paying

Holmes Alexander:

Bid 'Adieu' To Nonrenewables

WASHINGTON—Our paramount national problem is President Jimmy Carter's faint-heartedness which has no place in our age and scheme of things. Some other time will serve to apply this considered opinion to events abroad.

A closer crisis made a quarter-column of Page 18-A in the Washington Post. It revealed that he had signed but probably wouldn't activate a bill that directed the Energy Department to build a Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in New Mexico.

A bold President would have grabbed the authorized $3 billion and broken ground for WIPP with confidence that this would be the moral equivalent of a victorious battle in the energy war.

As a result of Carter's excessive caution, "the matter of waste disposal is now in a sort of political limbo."

I HAVE QUOTED from The New Yorker where Jeremy Bernstein does a book-length work on Hans Bethe, the 1967 Nobel Laureate in Physics.

"The situation is typical of the crisis of confidence that has troubled the nuclear-technological program," Bernstein has Bethe saying.

Central to lack of public confidence, which has stalled the American atoms-for-peace program, is the Carter timidity. He's scared that terrorists will steal radioactive waste and make bombs of it.

He's scared that Third World or Red World countries will take Plutonium. He fears that getting out of the Navy's nuclear sub program and preaching moral abstinence to foreign nations may not be good enough.

WIPP would be, at best, a late start on energy needs of the 1980s. Dr. Bethe, relying on scientific consensus and middle-ground estimates, says we are appallingly near bankruptcy in unrenewable energy resources.

OIL, NATURAL GAS, coal and uranium are running out in that order. Oil production in the U.S. peaked in 1970 (Alaska is only a temporary respite), the USSR will become a petroleum importer this year and the Arabian fields will not last far past 2000.

Natural gas with luck will flow for another 40 years. Coal we have in the hundreds of billions of tons, but with demands on it in petrochemical and fertilizer plants. Coal also has problems of transportation and pollution.

Ultimately, says Bethe, the whole industrial world must bid sad adieu to the nonrenewables which have enabled us to fight wars and enjoy peace.

We must make accommodation in order to use renewable energy sources. They are the sun, oceans, trees, winds and streams.

Bethe points out that most moving and falling water is already harnessed to hydroelectric dams, more than $24,000 a month for office space in a New York City building that it never uses.

After that disclosure of waste, chances are that what we'll get is the space being occupied by 50 bureaucrats who never do anything.

My Neighbor Twice Removed says he can't understand objections to boycotting the Olympics in Moscow. After all, with the embargo on grain, American contestants would be denied their Wheaties, Breakfast of Champions.

FRUSTRATION and anger of the type that triggered the American Revolution of 1776 were voiced in Washington, D.C., last week.

Owners and managers of small businesses were there to ask that the oppressive yoke of government be lifted from their necks.

Ralph Nader types have been taking the country back to 18th Century-like politics in which Congress and the President—like the British Parliament and King of the 1700s—impose heavy taxes, regulations and record-keeping on the citizens.

One of the wonders of the consumer protectionism movement is that such activists have been able to paint themselves as the Good Guys, the liberals favoring progress and reform, rather than be seen for what they are.

THEY, NOT THE Goldwaters, are the Neanderthal throwbacks who would turn back the clock to an earlier time when men were not free to conduct their personal and business affairs without excessive government interference.

The whole consumer protection movement is aimed at giving the government tighter, more restrictive control over the lives of the people.

Excessive taxation, which now takes about 40 percent of our national income, destroys freedom and individual human rights.

High federal tariffs, such as the windfall tax on oil that's about to be imposed, drive up the prices of life's necessities so that the politicians can redistribute the money in a way to keep themselves in power.

"We are here looking for less," the Small Businessmen said at a White House conference last week, "less interference, less harassment" by government.

ADMINISTRATION spokesmen, as usual, gave lip service to the "critical" importance of small businesses "to the economic well-being of the country" but went blithely about their work toward higher taxes, bigger budgets, continued over-regulation.

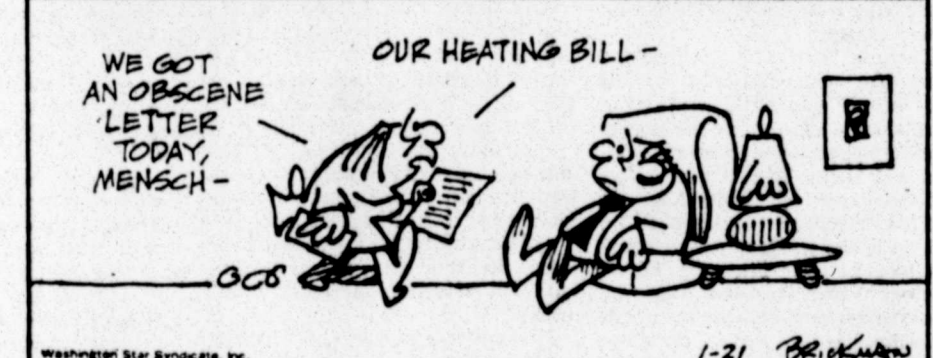

"We should not, out of a sense of frustration and anger, overthrow all government regulation," Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md., cautioned the group.

Shades of Patrick Henry! That sounds a lot like what the Tories were saying in 1775, just before the government itself was overthrown.

I hope it doesn't come to that this time. Surely we've learned something in 204 years.

and that the sun's best contribution is growing crops. Still, taken together, all these renewable sources, widely shared by the earth's populations, could conceivably give impetus to global cooperation.

Sylvia Porter: Executive Suite Open For Women With MBA

WASHINGTON—Is a Master in Business Administration degree—an MBA—the golden passkey to the executive suite for a woman?

Mounting numbers of women seeking executive jobs obviously think so, for there has been a spectacular upsurge in the total of women entering graduate schools of business administration.

During the past four years alone, the number of women graduating with degrees in business and management has jumped more than 400 percent.

This is more than twice the increase in the total of female lawyers and it won't be long before the upper educational schools in business attract more women than law.

A MERE FIVE years ago, women made up less than 10 percent of business school classes.

(When I went to New York University Graduate School of Business Administration, then down in the Wall St. area, I was the only woman and my biggest "problem" was finding a ladies room; the single one was in the basement and it was the superintendent's. He graciously permitted me to use it when essential during my 5:15 p.m.-9 p.m. classroom time.)

Today, women hold one-quarter to one-third of the seats at such major business schools as Harvard, Stanford and Wharton.

Within the next several years, Yale University's School of Organization and Management may have as many female business students as male, predicts Peter Storandt, director of admissions.

WHETHER THE MBA is the passkey so many women think has its doubters as well as supporters. Among them: John Sussman, vice president of research for Korn-Ferry International, the world's largest executive search firm.

"Women who perform well early in their careers are not hindered by the absence of an MBA," says Sussman. "They have outstanding opportunities for advancement. Due to the deluge of graduates with MBAs, the degrees are not as important as they once were, unless they come from one of the top six or eight schools."

But Sussman's cold shoulder is ignored by the upward-moving woman, eager for an MBA for a variety of reasons: instant prestige, important skills, unusual career flexibility, vital self-confidence, and, of course, the promise of a better salary.

A survey of MBA holders who graduated 10 years ago was recently completed by the Association of MBA Executives in cooperation with Egon Zander International. It showed:

(1) WOMEN MBAs 25 to 29 years old are earning average salaries of $22,500 to $25,000 a year (against the average) family income in the U.S. of about $18,000 a year.

(2) Women MBAs between the ages of 30 and 34 are pulling down $27,500 to $30,000 a year while women MBAs between 35 and 39 are drawing salaries of $25,000 to $27,500.

(The study does not explain why older female MBA holders tend to earn less than their slightly

"I think—that for the next few decades at least—nuclear power is essential to our energy needs," he says.

But the preface to this well-informed opinion must be that we have a President with the leadership quality of giving confidence to the development of nuclear technology.

No single fuel or program will get us to the era of renewable energy, but without the nuclear push we will go nowhere.

San Francisco Mayor Married

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The champagne flowed freely, the orchestra played "People" and a crowd of at least 3,500 cheered when Mayor Dianne Feinstein and her new husband, Richard Blum, cut their seven-tiered, rose-covered wedding cake.

The couple was married Sunday in the mayor's flower-bedecked City Hall office. Following the private Jewish ceremony performed by Rabbi Martin Weiner and cantor Martin Feldman, the dome-shaped City Hall rotunda was opened to about 1,000 invited guests and later to the public.

The buoyant mayor, wearing a jade-colored, knee-length silk designer dress, had invited the whole city to nibble hors d'oeuvres and sip free champagne to celebrate her marriage to Blum, a wealthy San Francisco businessman.

Some people clicked cameras, asked for autographs and handed the mayor cards and gifts while others threw specially packaged rice on the couple.

One woman walked through the rotunda with a loose tree branch used in a floral display. "I'm going to press the leaves for souvenirs," she said matter-of-factly.

"Just think what it would have been like without the Super Bowl," said Charlotte Mayliard, a friend of the couple, noting the wedding was scheduled at the same time as the popular football game.

Cabbie Loses Mayoral Bid

DALLAS (AP) — Cab driver Tom Gibbons was not elected mayor of Dallas, which is not particularly surprising since his campaign slogan was: "I don't want to win."

Gibbons invested very little time and almost no money for the election Saturday against incumbent Bob Folsom.

He still polled nearly 25 percent of the vote, surprising considering his background — which included no politics and several arrests for commercial obscenity charges.

"Most of my votes are anti-Folsom votes, rather than pro-Gibbons votes," he admitted.

Gibbons' campaign, he said, was to be a forum for airing his complaints about the judicial system.

Before he drove a cab, Gibbons worked for some Dallas peep shows and adult book stores. His arrests and convictions in connection with those activities raised his anger about the justice system.

He admits he was angry the day he filed to run against Folsom, but not angry enough to want to be mayor.

"Maybe, just maybe, if I hadn't said in the beginning I didn't want to win, I could have gotten more votes," he said.

Solon Wants Better Manners

ATLANTA (AP) — Rep. Elliott H. Levitas says he wants to do what some say is impossible — legislate manners.

"There is an effective way for the taxpayer, who pays the salaries of government employees, to treat a person who has been discourteous," the Georgia Democrat said.

Levitas is the author of the "courtesy-in-government" amendment to the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978. But obviously, some agencies aren't paying any attention to it, he said in a telephone interview from Washington on Saturday.

"One of the things that has happened to us in this last decade is our lack of concern for other people," he said. "Courtesy is the oil that keeps our society from burning up, from rubbing against each other."

Of every five persons who contact the congressman's office concerning their treatment by government employees, four of them complain about ill manners, Levitas said.

Levitas said his amendment dictates that a "pattern of discourtesy" is reason for disciplinary action against a federal employee.

Poll Says Canadians Supporting Trudeau

TORONTO (AP) — Most Canadians favor former Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's Liberals over incumbent Joe Clark's Conservatives in next month's parliamentary election, according to a poll taken by the CTV television network.

The survey, released recently, showed 57 percent of those questioned said the Liberals would win. The Conservatives got 23 percent and Ed Broadbent's New Democratic Party received 16 percent, while other factions got four percent.

The poll, taken at the mid-point in the campaign for the Feb. 18 election, showed 48 percent of those asked said they thought Trudeau was most capable of solving the country's problems, compared with 22 percent who favored Clark.

Liberal Party president Al Graham said the CTV survey confirmed the findings of two Gallup polls, a Carleton University poll and private party polls.

96th Congress To Begin New Session This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign policy and national security issues are expected to dominate the second session of the 96th Congress, which begins this week. Also competing for the lawmakers' attention, however, will be inflation and energy questions.

The House and Senate will convene at noon Tuesday, taking up where they left off Dec. 20.

Even before the opening gavel, however, members were focusing on the continuing crisis in Iran and Soviet moves in Afghanistan. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance was to meet with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a closed meeting late today.

Tuesday morning, a Senate subcommittee on international finance will hear testimony on the U.S. embargo of grain shipments to the Soviet Union. The panel's chairman, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., said a 1979 law gives Congress 30 days to veto controls on exports of farm commodities.

That afternoon, the Senate Agriculture Committee is scheduled to hear from Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland on the same subject. Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., the committee chairman, said he is considering legislation to soften the embargo's impact on farmers.

Legislation to give preferred trade status to China is scheduled for floor consideration in both houses shortly after they convene.

On Wednesday, the Senate Armed Services Committee has called Defense Secretary Harold Brown to testify about events in Iran and Afghanistan and his just-completed trip to China. Vance will report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee the same day.

Wednesday night, President Carter will deliver a State of the Union address which press secretary Jody Powell said would deal almost entirely with the Afghan and Iranian crises.

Next Monday, Carter will unveil a budget expected to call for $612 billion to $615 billion in federal spending in the 12 months beginning next Oct. 1.

For members of the House-Senate conference committee working on the "windfall" tax on the oil industry, the session began in earnest last week. They spent Thursday and Friday trying to figure out how to tax the industry about $227 billion of the extra $1 trillion that gradual decontrol of U.S. crude oil prices will cost consumers in the 1980s.

World Crises Heighten Defense Budget Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The crises in Southwest Asia make it appear likely Congress will approve the president's record defense budget, but critical questions about key programs can be expected.

Congressmen probably will take a close look at the United States' position in the world as the defense debate evolves.

The budget will be unveiled Jan. 28, and Carter is expected to seek a record $157.5 billion. Questions may arise on the proposed rapid deployment force and the MX missile, and lawmakers may press for a revival of the B-1 bomber program or, at least, active planning for a new penetration bomber.

"There are going to be a lot of questions asked," said one congressional staff aide. "The administration's defense and foreign policies are in shambles. I don't think the administration really understands what's going on in the world."

Another aide said Carter's projection of a 4.85 percent boost in military spending over the next five years "may well not be enough for what has to be done."

The Soviet intervention in Afghanistan and the Iran crisis probably will bring new questions about the situation in the area and the administration's proposed rapid deployment force.

That force would let the United States pre-position specially built ships in strategic areas, enabling the vessels to quickly help U.S. troops airlifted in during a crisis.

Rhodesian Peace Plan Depends On Trust, British Soldier Says

ASSEMBLY POINT PAPA, Rhodesia (UPI) — A British soldier with a pocket calculator figured the odds against survival in the event of a guerrilla attack at 90 to 1.

"Our lives depend on simple trust. Our guns mean nothing here," Cpl. Jessie James said as he watched a column of heavily armed Patriotic Front guerrillas march past his makeshift field clinic.

At Assembly Point Papa, a dusty army camp in the Zambezi wildlife land near the Zambian border, 24 lightly armed British soldiers attached to the Commonwealth cease-fire monitoring force are learning to live and work with 1,800 nervous and heavily armed Patriotic Front fighters.

Their job is to watch the guerrillas who have arrived at the cease-fire assembly point until new Rhodesian elections in late February. The assignment is one of the strangest in military history.

"We had no idea how the guerrillas would react or if they would work with us," said British Capt. Richard Hodson, the commander of the Papa team. "The first night was frightening."

The monitoring force teams are equipped with light personal weapons such as SLR rifles and 9mm submachine-guns. But they are not allowed to fire their weapons unless fired upon and in the case of an attack they must retreat to safety without the use of heavy defensive weapons.

Early each morning James runs his medical clinic with a 9mm Sterling sub-machine gun slung over his shoulder. The corporal's guerrilla patients carry AK-47 assault rifles, rocket-propelled grenade launchers and an array of Russian hand grenades.

"A lot of them laugh at my burp gun and point to their AK-47's. I've learned to laugh back, but sometimes it's not that funny," James said.

"Being outgunned is our basic strategy. They have the obvious military advantage and feel safe. We could never communicate with the fighters if they felt threatened," Hodson explained.

The guerrillas depend on the British troops for food, medicine, water, tents and communication with their military and political leaders.

The captain finds he is caught up in the politics of running a tent city in the bush and, as the days have stretched into weeks, he is becoming one of Africa's best rifle-toting diplomats.

He cleans his weapon alongside the guerrilla commanders and walks with guerrilla patrols when they check the defensive positions around the assembly point.

Americans Selling Items Of Sentimental Value

WASHINGTON (AP) — Granddad's broken gold pocketwatch and great aunt Tilly's gold jewelry may not look like a rainbow. But dust them off anyway. There may be a pot of cash at the bottom of your jewel box.

As the price of gold broke $800 recently and an ounce of silver exceeded $48, Americans all over the country were sifting through their valuables, weighing sentimental value against the soaring price of precious metals.

Many are finding that even sentiment has its price: They're cashing in old coins, gold watches, silverware, candlesticks, silver bowls and almost anything else that shines.

Washington jewelry store owner Jim Rosenheim paid $800 for a small gold box and $100 for a gaudy silver plate with "Northeastern University" engraved on the rim.

In Cincinnati, coin store owner Randy Sandler paid $1,800 for three silver bowls.

At the Coin Pocket stores in Denver, salesman Kenny McIntyre said a three-tooth gold bridge with gold fillings brings $16 while silver dimes, dated 1964 or before, get $1.45 or more.

"A lot of what we're buying is stuff people didn't think was valuable — broken bracelets, old bridge work and other things they had hidden away because they didn't know what to do with them," McIntyre said.

Even crusty old gold fillings are considered an investment.

"See this little bag?" said jewelry store owner Jac King, holding up a small Manila envelope filled with gold fillings he bought from a dentist. "It's worth $600, $700, and the guy just had it hanging around his office."

"Last October, a guy dressed like a bum came in with his gold bridgework. I got a hammer, banged out the teeth and gave him $100."

Other people are more willing to bargain.

As King talked, a gray-haired woman carrying a plastic shopping bag entered his store, located in Washington's fashionable Georgetown section. She produced a gold charm bracelet and a gold watch.

"At my age, near retirement, these things are less important to me," said Lucille Hawkins, a secretary who works for the Veterans Administration. "It's time to get rid of these things. And with inflation, I need the money."

King weighed the jewelry and offered her $90 for the watchband and $200 for the bracelet. Miss Hawkins refused to sell. King offered $375 for the bracelet. Again Miss Hawkins refused.

"I'll bet I can get more for them at another store," she said and walked out.

Across town, Mary Jenkins, a 50-year-old housekeeper, walked into a posh shop specializing in old coins and opened a blue scarf filled with silver coins with a face value of $36.50.

The owner offered her $513 for the coins, almost pure silver because they were minted before 1964. Mrs. Jenkins didn't sell.

"I'll sell them when I can get $1,500 to $2,000," said Mrs. Hawkins, who has eight children. "They were my father's coins and I hate to part with them. But I'd like the money to help further my children's education."

Nancy Jordan, a gold specialist for Southeast Banking Corp. in Miami, said there is no logic to the wild selling and that has her worried.

"There's just no sense to it," she said. "These people are running scared. But I'm scared, too. I just know that when it comes down, and it will, a lot of people are going to sell and (the price) will fall mighty fast."

Harry Finn, president of a Boston gold and silver jewelry business called E.B. Horn, said that in his 35 years with the company, he's never seen anything like it.

"The big item is silver flatware," Finn said. Service for 12 — at $40 a utensil — goes for $2,000 to $3,000. "That's not including the knives. They have hollow handles. We're making 15 to 20 percent."

Jewelers say gold items such as chains and pocket watches are most valuable, but that people should realize that most jewelry is 14 karat gold, slightly more than half pure, and doesn't bring top dollar.

They add that many items, such as silver candlesticks, are filled with steel bases or rods that make them weigh more than their actual silver value.

Silver marked "sterling" means it's 92.5 percent pure, but silver-plated items have little silver content at all.

"Most people weigh what they have on a meat scale," said silver specialist Carl Martin, an owner of the Georgetown Silver Shoppe in Washington.

Chappaquiddick Follows Solon

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — All the expert testimony that can be mustered about tidal currents off Chappaquiddick Island is not going to change the political undertow on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's campaign for the White House.

For Chappaquiddick is a problem, and an issue, that won't go away. In a presidential campaign, oceanographers and admiralty lawyers don't count nearly as much as voters. And the last thing the Kennedy campaign needs right now is a new wave of reminders of the accident that killed Mary Jo Kopechne a decade ago.

Two teams of investigators now say they have unearthed information casting doubt on Kennedy's account of the accident. The reports were published by the Washington Star and the Reader's Digest, prompting the Kennedy organization to present its own experts in support of his account.

The Massachusetts senator appeared with them last week and said a report challenging his testimony about the tidal current he faced in swimming away from Chappaquiddick after the accident "is wrong, is wrong, is dead wrong."

Kennedy insisted, as he always has, that his is the true account of what happened when his car plunged from a narrow island bridge and Miss Kopechne drowned. Kennedy said that after futile attempts to rescue her, he swam back to Edgartown and battled a current that threatened to sweep him out to sea.

The new reports said that the current actually would have pushed Kennedy in the opposite direction.

The Reader's Digest also said that Kennedy was driving faster than he testified when the car went off the bridge.

Denying it, Kennedy said nothing new can come out "because the way I testified is the way it happened."

He said he knew it was going to be a campaign issue, and added it would have made no sense for him to run if there were "hidden facts, or if the tragedy happened other than the way I testified."

"The accident at Chappaquiddick occurred over 10 years ago," said Stephen Smith, Kennedy's brother-in-law and campaign manager. "It's proper that questions continue. But in that time, not a single new fact has emerged, nor do I believe any will."

But it doesn't take new facts to make the accident a problem for the senator, who wants to be president.

The woman died in his car. He left the scene of the accident and didn't report it until the next day. He pleaded guilty to leaving the scene, and got a two-month suspended sentence and a year's probation. He said afterward that he had panicked and behaved irresponsibly, but that he had suffered shock and a concussion in the accident.

Kennedy's story has been challenged in scores of investigations, some of them book-length. The senator told it under oath at an inquest, and he has never varied it.

The new challenges come as Kennedy prepares to face the voters for the first time as a presidential candidate. It is impossible to foretell the impact of the rekindled Chappaquiddick controversy on the Iowa Democratic caucuses tonight. But it certainly won't help Kennedy.

His campaign never has seemed as strong in the execution as it did in the prospect. While Carter's political ratings have climbed during two months of international crises, Kennedy's have declined.

But there also have been hints that the Carter resurgence might weaken.

Kennedy's organization is running full-tilt in Iowa. He has smoothed some of the rough edges in his own campaign style.

The new dispute about Chappaquiddick can only slow him, figuratively and literally. He was late leaving Washington for a recent campaign swing because he was with his experts, insisting that his Chappaquiddick account is the true one.

Cleveland Men Die In Gunfire Barrage

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two men were fatally shot in what Cleveland police described as gangland-style killings.

Witnesses told police that more than 50 shots were fired Sunday morning from three passing cars, with each victim hit more than a dozen times. "It appears it was some sort of a grudge thing," said homicide detective Don Ferris.

One of the victims, a black male whose face was shattered by the attack, had not yet been identified Sunday night, police said.

Afghanistan Casts Cloud Over Fair

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — U.S.-Soviet tensions over the Russian occupation of Afghanistan have put a cloud over what would have been the second-largest exhibit at an energy fair here in 1982.

S.H. Roberts, president of the group promoting Expo '82, said recently an exhibit by the Soviets, the Republic of China or another superpower is essential for drawing the 9.5 million to 13.5 million tourists needed to make the six-month fair a success.

Knoxville International Energy Exposition Inc., promoter of the $80 million fair, has not talked with Soviet representatives since Russian troops moved into Afghanistan three weeks ago, Roberts said.

"They had contacted us and we were looking at meeting in March or April on cultural programs," he said. "We sent a letter to them... but we have not received a reply."

A Russian delegation signed an option last April to lease a site near the eastern edge of the University of Tennessee campus as the location for a 40,000-square-foot, $8 million Soviet pavilion.

The only larger exhibit would be a $20 million U.S. pavilion to be built across the street from the Soviet hall.

A feasibility study of the fair in 1977 by a Washington consulting firm concluded that a major exhibit by a foreign world power was crucial to Expo's drawing power.

The report listed only the USSR and the Republic of China as fitting that description. "Inclusion of an exhibition from one of these nations," the study said, "is extremely important to the success of the fair."

Roberts said Expo officials have focused efforts on attracting the Soviets and have made only preliminary overtures to China. "We will probably step them up," he said. "If the Soviet Union does not participate, then China becomes that much more important."

Joseph Dodd, a University of Tennessee political science professor and a leading opponent of Expo, said the loss of a Soviet exhibit could be "catastrophic" for the project.

Roberts, however, said nations more aligned with the United States might consider larger exhibits to make up the difference. He said it would be almost impossible for a nation to build a major pavilion without making a firm commitment before July 1981.

"We're basically taking a wait-and-see attitude," he said. "The main thing is to have good and substantial exhibits A year ago, before their revolutions, we had commitments from Iran and Nicaragua. So those things change."

Pontiff Seeks Church Unity

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II says divisions among Roman Catholics, Protestants and Orthodox are a "scandal to the world" because they openly contradict Christ's will.

At his weekly blessing in St. Peter's Square, the pope said, "Christian unity is ever more urgent in our times so the church can carry out its mission more efficiently and give testimony of faith to the Lord and proclaim the Gospel."

"The divisions noted by the Vatican Council document on ecumenism openly contradict the will of Christ and are a scandal to the world," he said.

John Paul said he prays for unity among Christian churches every day and added he was grateful for being able to pray with Orthodox and Protestant churchmen during his trips to Turkey, Ireland and the United States last year.

The highlight of John Paul's search for Christian unity last year came during his November trip to Turkey, when he attended mass in Istanbul celebrated by Patriarch Dimitrios I, leader of the world's 150 million Greek Orthodox.

Florida Posts New Record In Tourism

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Aggressive competition by airlines boosted Florida to another record tourism year in 1979 — despite a faltering flow of road traffic into the Sunshine State, state officials report.

Uncertain economic conditions apparently haven't significantly affected the numbers of international and U.S. travelers picking Florida as a vacation spot, Florida Commerce Secretary Sidney Levin said recently.

In fact, a strong early-winter season helped the state's tourism industry recover from its mid-1978 doldrums and surpass records set in 1978, he said.

"Studies indicate that people still plan to come," Levin said in an interview. "It's a very natural growth of a phenomenon of the past four or five years — winter vacations are very popular."

Preliminary statistics compiled by the Division of Tourism indicate 35 million tourists entered Florida by car, bus, train and air during 1979 — up from the 34 million in 1978. The preliminary data indicates they spent $15 billion in the state, as compared to the $12.9 billion spent by tourists the previous year.

A division spokesman attributed the increase to an airline industry that got stronger while automobile traffic dropped from 1978 levels as fuel prices soared and gas supplies dwindled.

The airlines reacted to deregulation by significantly increasing the numbers of flights into the Sunshine State, boosting the number of air travelers to Florida by 18.7 percent during the first nine months of the year. Tourism researcher Mac Stroud said he expected the air passenger increase to approach 20 percent for 1979 once final figures are tabulated.

But the numbers of travelers using major interstate highways to enter Florida dropped slightly below 1978 levels, the statistics indicate.

Many Books On Economy Exploit Fear

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — To whom do you turn for financial advice these days? Who can you believe at times like these when the future, which we once idyllically believed was out there waiting for us — bright, shiny and beckoning — now disappears into a dark economic fog?

With world economics undergoing basic changes, with inflation beyond the control and maybe the understanding of authorities, with energy availability so unpredictable, where do you turn for direction? Judging from some of the popular sellers among books, many people turn to volumes with intriguing titles that give the reader an extreme choice between preparing for disaster or gearing up for success.

You are advised to get out of real estate by English and Cardiff in "The Coming Real Estate Collapse," and exhorted to buy it by Jake Ebach in "How To Become a Millionaire — Even in Today's Economy."

The success of Howard Ruff's best seller probably results in part from the title, "How To Prosper During the Coming Bad Years," which scares readers and then tells them they can do something about it.

Asby Bladen utilizes the same dualism in the title of his book, "How To Cope With The Developing Financial Crisis," now being promoted as a forecast of impending disaster from which you possibly might escape.

The question in many works is whether the authors have utilized more emotion and conviction than analysis, and in some productions the question gets raised of whether or not they are simply exploiting fear.

In some, what are hailed as courageous forecasts are mere recitations of what already has occurred or what obviously can occur.

"Prediction," says the advertisement for Bladen's book, "A major run on the dollar could begin any time." To which many people might reply: "Hasn't it already occurred?"

"Prediction," it continues, "Long-term interest rates, including mortgage rates, could jump by 3 or 4 percentage points to 14 percent or even higher." Well, haven't they? Isn't that history?

"Prediction," the advertisement reads, "Oil prices will soon rise again — and OPEC and other U.S. creditors could soon begin dictating U.S. economic policy." Some would say it's happening now.

"Prediction: Soaring personal, business and government debt will cause a wave of private, corporate, and municipal bankruptcies." Hardly a forecast. Personal bankruptcies already are up. Chrysler had to beg Washington for help. So did New York City. Officials are wary of the financial condition of some banks too. It's all on record.

With the future so much a question mark, the atmosphere is conducive to the exclamation mark. You can be shocked or you can be cheered — and to be fair, you can also pick up some useful tips from these and other books — but you may find it difficult to get some quiet advice.

Extreme times — cold and hot wars, economic shortages, big debts, big social problems, challenges to freedom — may demand that people be shocked if they aren't already because, psychologists will tell you, people are marvelously adjustable, so much so that the extreme can become the accepted norm.

These are extreme times, times of upheaval and change, and some people tend to slumber unaware. And so they have to be roused by shouts of fire.

But that doesn't resolve the problem of where others can get some quiet advice from someone who has studied the situation, knows some facts and can project from them.

Man Picks Bad Time To Return Merchandise

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Police say a dissatisfied marijuana customer picked the wrong time to demand a refund from his dealers. He walked into a drug bust and got himself arrested.

Harry Silcott, 39, of Hatboro, Pa., allegedly bought four ounces of marijuana from two Florida men who were selling the weed from a motel room. Narcotics detectives recently stalked out and raided the room.

Police said Jay Weiss (alias Robert Cahill), 35, of Fort Lauderdale, and Richard Gellow, 31, of Pompano Beach, had 180 pounds of marijuana stashed in the room.

While detectives were arresting Weiss and Gellow, police said Silcott walked in to return some marijuana he had bought earlier from the two men.

"That was the kicker," a police spokesman said with a laugh. "He (Silcott) came to the room just as the officers were raiding it. He asked to speak to Weiss, and the officers asked him what he wanted."

"Silcott said, 'I want to bring this stuff (marijuana) back. I don't like it.' The officers immediately confiscated it and arrested Silcott," the spokesman said.

Silcott was charged with possession with intent to deliver.

Borger Area Ravaged By Gas Refinery Explosion

BORGER (AP) — A cracking unit at a gasoline refinery exploded four miles from Borger in the second accident at the site in four months, causing widespread destruction and injuring at least 41 persons.

Flames sprouted 200 feet high Sunday following a series of four blasts that sparked the spectacular fire and demolished part of the refinery. Shock waves collapsed ceilings in nearby homes, shattered plate glass windows in Borger and were felt 30 miles away in Pampa.

"It was more like an earthquake," said Ada Westbrook who lives in a mobile home about a mile and a half from the scene.

"All the stuff on the walls just shot right off and landed on the floor," she said. "We opened the door and saw a big ball of fire."

Most of the injured were struck by falling glass, said Norman Berkley, a spokesman at the Phillips Petroleum Co. refinery.

About 200 residents in the plant-side community of Phillips were evacuated at the height of the fire. They were allowed to return late Sunday, but many opted to stay with friends rather than return to windowless homes in freezing rain and 28-degree temperatures.

The explosions started in gasoline cracking units 22 and 23, said Berkley. In October, two persons died and 13 were injured when poisonous gas escaped while they were trying to repair a gas line at unit 22.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration investigated that accident, cited Phillips for four safety violations and fined the company $15,000.

In Sunday's accident, three minor explosions triggered the bigger blast, ac-ording to residents.

"There was a 'whoof' before the explosions," said Julia Owens, who lives about 100 yards from the plant. "My husband said, 'Get out of bed ... the plant's blowing.' Just when he said that, the plant exploded."

Company officials would not give a damage estimate or a cause.

"A fire like that is so devastating that if there were any clues as to what caused it, they're all gone now," said Berkley. "Our main concern is just to get an itemized estimate of what we need to get our operation back in order."

Berkley said the interruption in gasoline refining would affect customers in Chicago, Denver, St. Louis and several cities in Texas. He could not say how severe the impact would be. The refinery's employees are not covered by the contract of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, and the facility has not been affected by the union's current nationwide strike.

Thirty-five persons were treated for minor injuries and released from a Borger hospital, Berkley said. Four were hospitalized, and two were transferred to an Amarillo hospital for further treat-

Borger firefighters brought the main blaze under control about noon Sunday, but decided to let another small fire burn through the night.

Dick Robinson, a spokesman for the Oklahoma-based company, said he did not know when the plant could resume operations.

Stone Pleads Innocent To Murder Charge

By JOHNNY HOLMES
Avalanche-Journal Staff
PLAINVIEW — Self-avowed witch Loy Stone pleaded not guilty to the 1977 murder of a 15-year-old Dimmitt girl as testimony began in Stone's trial this morning in 64th District Court.

Stone, 50, and his wife, Louise, 49, are accused of the murder of Roxanne Casas, who died that night after being struck by a shotgun blast as she rode in a pickup near the Stone's rural Castro County residence. Mrs. Stone will be tried separately.

The opening round of testimony began with 17-year-old Maria Trevino, a classmate of Miss Casas who was in the pickup and was also injured in the incident.

She told the court she saw "a large man, bigger than I had ever seen," standing outside the Stone's residence that night, but did not actually see or hear any shots fired.

"I don't remember seeing or hearing anything until we were back on Easter Road," she said. "We knew something had happened because she was full of blood. We didn't know what to tell her parents."

Mrs. Trevino testified that she and Roxanne, along with classmate Adriana Rangel and friends Arthur Herrera and Carlos Garza, had gone out in Roxanne's grandfather's pickup because "Roxanne had talked about going out to see about some witches at school that day."

Testimony began this morning after two weeks of jury selection. A panel of 35 Hale County residents was pared down to a dozen this morning.

The final jury contains seven women and five men, none of whom are Mexican-American.

The twice-delayed trial was moved from Dimmitt to Plainview after a state district judge ruled that the Stones would not get a fair trial in their hometown because of their religious background and racial tensions stirred by the incident.

Testimony was scheduled to continue throughout the afternoon.

Survivors include her husband; two daughters, Peggy Miller of Midland and Mrs. Houston McMillen of Midland; two sisters, Juanita Wilson of Odessa and Mrs. Joe Wilson of Tatum, N.M.; and two grandchildren.

Webb Infant

WOODROW (Special) — Graveside services for Gregory Shawn Webb, three-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joey Webb of Woodrow, will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Peaceful Gardens Memorial Park with Kenneth Wright, Church of Christ minister, officiating.

Services are under the direction of Rix Funeral Directors in Lubbock.

The infant died Saturday in Texas Children's Hospital in Houston. He was born in Lubbock Wednesday.

Survivors include his parents; a brother, Johnathan Lynn; grandparents, Buddy and Rae Webb and William and Gail Angerer, all of Lubbock; and great-grandparents, Mrs. Carl Webb, Lillie Bolton and Mattie Whittington, all of Lubbock.

Chief Justice Pays Tribute To Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger today paid tribute to the late Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, praising him for "involvement in countless causes relating to the improvement of the human condition."

In a brief tribute delivered from the bench at the beginning of the day's regular session, Burger said, "Comradeship and friendship overshadowed the inescapable differences that inevitably had to come" in issues before the court.

Douglas, who retired in 1975, died Saturday at the age of 81. He entered Walter Reed Army Medical Center on Christmas Eve suffering from pneumonia and subsequently was stricken by lung and kidney failure.

Burger said he last visited Douglas an hour before he entered the hospital. "There was no lessening whatever to that firm, even fierce, determination that he showed in every contest in his life. He fought to the very end," the chief justice said.

Jury Selection Begins In Trial

Attorneys this morning were questioning prospective jurors to hear the murder trial of Lawrence V. McLin.

McLin, 32, of 2605 E. Bates St. is accused of shooting to death Billy Joe Scott, Scott, 23, of 3009 E. Third St. was shot early Aug. 25 outside of a Parkway Drive club.

Ironically, Scott's death came in the midst of a "crackdown" on local clubs headed by the criminal district attorney's office. Only hours before the fatal shooting at Chilly's Bar, 1701 Parkway Drive, temporary restraining orders were delivered to 12 other city and county night-spots demanding that the businesses take steps to halt violence on the premises.

Teen's Death Ruled Suicide By Blalack

Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalack has returned a ruling of suicide in the death last Thursday of 14-year-old David Warren Null.

Null, a student at Evans Junior High School, was found hanging by his neck from a rope attached to a tree in the back yard of his parents' home at 4215 52nd St., according to Blalack.

Henderson Funeral Home, which handled funeral arrangements, said no obituary information was being released at the request of the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby D. Null.

News Briefs

Isabel Gonzales, 16, of 2122 10th St. was listed in critical condition this morning at Methodist Hospital with injuries sustained in an accident Thursday.

Joe Reyes, 6, and Rosendo Reyes, 23, both of Bovina, were in satisfactory condition today at Methodist Hospital recovering from injuries suffered Jan. 9 in an area traffic accident.

Paul Daniel Choat, 15, of 3111 Vicksburg Ave. was still in serious condition this morning at Methodist Hospital with head injuries suffered in a traffic accident at 36th St. and Ironton Saturday night.

Anita Herriage of Levelland was listed in fair condition this morning at St. Mary's Hospital with injuries suffered in a one-car accident Sunday in the 6300 block of Quaker Ave.

Elie Elgin Thurman, 42, of Plainview, was listed in critical condition this morning at Methodist Hospital with head injuries sustained in a Saturday evening motorcycle accident.

The driver of a truck escaped with apparently minor injuries when his vehicle was struck by a Santa Fe train at 11:50 a.m. today about three miles southeast of Slaton. Details of the incident were sketchy, but the Department of Public Safety reported the truck apparently stalled on the tracks at a crossing.

Device May Help Create Limitless Energy Supply

By PATRICK LAMB
LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (UPI) — Scientists at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory are making final adjustments on a device they hope will take them one step closer to development of a virtually limitless supply of new energy.

The device is a seven-foot wide, donut-shaped tube wrapped by 12 magnetic discs the size of truck tires and fed by a seemingly endless supply of electric cables. It is called simply "ZT-40."

Technically, ZT-40 is a "toroidal magnetic bottle," a device which in larger form it is hoped can be used to power fusion nuclear reactors.

Scientists throughout the world are currently working on several different approaches to achieve controlled fusion reactions.

Fusion reactions like those in the sun and other stars occur when two light elements collide, fuse under intense pressure and heat to form a heavier element, and release energy in the process. In theory, that energy would be used to heat water and then power a steam turbine to produce electricity.

Unlike the atom-splitting fission reaction used in today's nuclear power plants, nuclear fusion is considered cleaner and less dangerous.

Scientists see tremendous potential in fusion reactors. The basic elements which will be used to fuel fusion reactors are deuterium and tritium. Deuterium is a non-radioactive element found abundantly in ordinary sea water and tritium is a radioactive element that will be produced in the reaction itself.

"The potential payoff in this program is so enormous for civilization that we can't allow this possibility to go untried," said Dr. Harry Dreicer, head of the LASL Controlled Thermonuclear Research Division.

Science Today

ZT-40 is just one step in many toward development of a workable fusion generating plant. But the steps remaining toward the ultimate goal are difficult ones and best estimates are that the ultimate device won't be operating until the early part of the 21st century.

The key problem facing development is that fusion reactions only occur at extreme temperatures. To achieve a fusion reaction, the elements must be in a plasma — the fourth state of matter in which molecules have been torn apart into individual atoms and the atoms become positive ions.

Because the reaction occurs at temperatures of up to 100 million degrees centigrade, it would be impossible for the reaction to come in contact with any material known to man.

ZT-40 is an experiment to contain the reaction within a magnetic field and keep it away from the walls of the chamber where the reaction occurs.

Girl Scouts Recognize Leaders

Caprock Girl Scout Council held its annual meeting today at noon at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, electing new officers and recognizing local persons who have made significant contributions to the cause of scouting in the Lubbock area.

Named as new president of the organization was Mrs. Nolen Swain, whose experience with the Girl Scouts includes troop organizer, public relations chairman and member of the Board of Directors.

Mrs. J. Harvey Harris was elected secretary of the organization, while members-at-large of the board will be Mrs. Randy Bertrand of Floydada, Mrs. Robert Coen of Olton, Jim Douglas of Lubbock, Mrs. Merwyn Igo of Plainview, and Jerome Schuetzberg of Lubbock. Mrs. Cecil Bartlett was elected to the nominating committee and Mrs. Ted Sisco as member-at-large.

Mrs. Buster Owens, outgoing president, presided over the luncheon meeting, at which Bill Russell, chairman of the finance committee, presented a camp construction report and Clarence Priestly, member of the board of directors, spoke on council goals for the year ahead.

Dr. Harvey Joanning, chairman of Personnel Services Committee, made special recognition of local persons who have contributed to scouting. This included the "thanks" badge, the highest award given by the Girl Scouts, to Mrs. T. E. Bragg of Lubbock, bronze plaques to Mrs. Boots Muehlbrad, drama consultant and director of the annual drama workshop, Mrs. Lucille Graves, supporter of Girl Scouting for more than 20 years; Dr. J. D. Donaldson Jr. and Dr. C. L. Montgomery, doctors assisting in the day camps and council, and Myrna Smith, of the Plainview Daily Herald.

Special framed certificates were given to West Texas Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital and the Plainview Daily Herald, while certificates of appreciation and pins were given to about 123 members of Caprock council who have served in numerous capacities. Fourteen council trainers of leaders received trainer position pins. In all, 131 persons were recognized at the annual meeting.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen anything in your column about this subject. Perhaps it's not regarded as a problem by most, but I think it deserves a mention. I'll call it "Advice to parents-in-law."

Parents, when you buy gifts for your married son or daughter, don't spend more on your son or daughter than you spend on his or her spouse. Example: Christmas gifts for son: Cashmere sweater, tennis racquet, brief case, wrist watch. Christmas gifts for his wife: A pair of oven mitts, a box of dusting powder, a Monopoly game, a subscription to TV guide.

And please don't give your married child a personal gift on his birthday, and give his spouse something "for the two of you." Save the gifts "for the two of you" for their anniversary.

I realize most parents are naturally inclined to be a little more generous to their own flesh and blood, but please don't be so obvious. It's tacky. ME IN TEXAS

Club Notables

By CONNIE CHAPMAN
Family News Staff

There's just time and space to highlight a few of the club activities which deserve special "notable" mention this week.

A special report from Jane Allison of Soroptimist International of Lubbock called our attention to a meeting held Jan. 12, a Youth Seminar on Energy. In the process of this one-day meeting which explored the problems and some possible solutions to the current and future energy crunch, a youth delegate was chosen to represent this city in a similar regional event. Named to represent the Lubbock Soroptimist group was Elizabeth Drew of Monterey High School.

The Welcome Luncheon Club will meet at noon Thursday at the Lubbock Women's Club. The listing in the Club Calendar was the first by that group, according to the reporter, Berl Mayfield. Welcome to Club Calendar and Club Notables, Welcome Luncheon Club!

Lunch Bunch takes a look at the life and times of West Texas cattle king, C.C. Slaughter, during Tuesday's noon meeting in the Mahon Library. Presenting the program will be Dr. David Murrah, director of the Texas Tech Southwest Collection.

Virginia Stubbs, president of the Texas Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, will discuss "Parent Involvement in Special Education," with the Lubbock chapter of the organization. The meeting will be held today at 7 p.m. in the Oakwood United Methodist Church, 2215 58th St.

Mrs. Stubbs has also served as chairperson of the Texas Committee of Organizations for the Handicapped and of the SERT (Special Education for Regular Teachers) Task Force.

Anyone with an interest in learning disabilities is invited to attend this meeting. Anyone wanting more information about the meeting of the Lubbock chapter may call 792-1256.

Winning kudos for "Notable" topics this week are the Lubbock Humane Society, the International Interest Group of the University Women's Club and the Twentieth Century Club.

The Humane Society meets Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the civic center and will hear state legislator, E.L. Short, discuss ways of initiating legislation dealing with humane animal care.

Gita Chandra, an artist from India, will present a program on music from her country to the International Interest Group.

The Twentieth Century Club will hear Dr. Eldon Cook of LCC discuss "Agriculture's Concern for the Consumer."

THIS WEEK AT THE LUBBOCK WOMEN'S CLUB: A Friday noon meeting of the Holiday Roundtable will feature a presentation by Dr. Dudley Strain on the subject, "Speaking the Queen's English."

Friday evening will be a very special night as the members and their guests have dinner in the atmosphere of Old Virginia.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

There isn't a housewife in this world who does not like to play "Musical Furniture." It has to be the challenge of adding a table, subtracting a chair, rearranging a piano, or angling a sofa that adds a little spice to the daily, humdrum chores.

No one has to teach a woman how to play it. She's born knowing how. I know, even as a child, I found that by moving my tricycle from the back porch where it was stored to the center of the living room, my Daddy could do three flips in mid-air, touch the ceiling with his knees, and end up in a reverse wishbone in the doorway.

Men do not appreciate the game. Maybe it's because they're not good at it. Bill Milligan in Fairport, N.Y., even put his feelings into a parody of "Home on the Range."

"A home is so strange where the furniture roams

Where the spouse with the furniture plays,

Where seldom is heard a discouraging word,

And the shins grow more lumpy each day.

How often at night do I stumble and fight,

With that chair rearranged yesterday,

When loudly is heard that disparaging word,

As I kick that chair out of my way."

My husband is not nearly so poetic about it as Bill. He is struck with the absurdity of the game. Why is it a woman cannot lift a grocery bag of garbage from beside the sink to the garbage can by the door — yet can move a 2,000-pound freezer from the utility room to the garage? How come a woman cannot maneuver a simple hook and eye on the back of a blouse, yet can guide a piano through two doorways to come to rest in a niche by the bookcase?

The other night I said, "I bought new pillows today and you know what?"

He dropped his paper. "Tell me you're not going to play Musical Furniture again."

You're right. I'm not going to play Musical Furniture. WE are! I want the sofa bed brought out of the den because it matches the pillows, the living room sofa returned to the family room and the two chairs to the spare room. The picture grouping over the sofa goes into the hallway while the bookcases will have to go on the opposite wall which will, of course, necessitate moving the TV set and the antenna. Oh, and come with me into the bathroom. Do you know that tub has been in the same spot for 20 years?"

What do you bid now?
A.—Whatever you do, don't jump to three clubs—that would virtually exclude some other suit contract. The choice here is between one spade or a game-forcing cuebid of two hearts. Our choice would be the cue-bid. We certainly want to play in game somewhere, but partner might expect us to have greater length in the suit if we freely bid spades at the one-level.

What action do you take?
A.—You have a strong hand and must take action. However, as in the previous hand, don't eliminate other options by committing the hand to a diamond contract. Double. That will give partner the opportunity to show a heart suit, where you could make a game opposite as little as a five-card suit headed by the king. If partner bids spades instead, you have enough strength to correct to three diamonds.

Balanced Diet Advised For Athletes

ROSEMONT, Ill. (Special) — Over the years there have been many fad diets and unusual food practices including complete fasting, eating nothing but a single food (like grapefruit), protein packing, carbohydrate loading, gargling water but not swallowing it, etc., etc.

Other practices are eating steak and egg to build muscles, taking spoonful of honey for quick energy, and avoiding milk in the mistaken belief that it causes cottonmouth and cuts wind.

Practices such as these not only are useless and inaccurate but may be harmful. Steak and eggs do provide protein needed to build muscle tissue, but an extra serving or two is not going to positively affect the outcome of athletic competition. Honey, glucose or any other "quick energy" food will not necessarily improve performance. It may, in fact, hinder performance by giving a sharp rise in the insulin response which can cause premature exhaustion.

Studies have shown that cottonmouth is caused by dryness in the mouth from a decreased saliva flow brought on by one's emotional state. There is no difference in training response or performance either with or without milk in the diet.

According to the National Dairy Council (NDC), the best diet for athletes is the same as that recommended for all individuals — a wide variety of foods. A helpful guideline for choosing a wide variety of foods is the four food groups: the milk, meat, fruit-vegetable and grain groups.

In addition to the general recommendations for nutrients, athletes may need additional energy due to their calorie-consuming training programs. These extra calories can be obtained from more servings of these same basic foods, focusing on those containing carbohydrate — milk, fruit-vegetable and grain.

Water is probably the most important nutrient for athletes. During training, especially hot weather training, the intake of water is crucial to health as well as performance. A loss of water equal to one percent of body weight can cause significant changes in the pulse rate. Slightly higher losses (two percent) can also cause an elevated body temperature. With greater losses than this, health and performance are compromised.

Dehydration with rubberized sweat suits is a flagrant violation of safety and should be disavowed by coaches and trainers. For each one pound of weight lost as sweat, the athlete should be "forced" to drink two cups of fluid, preferably cool, plain water.

If water is limited especially in hot weather, great stress is placed upon the kidneys. With a diet high in protein, even greater stress is placed on the kidneys. NDC recommends that the athlete be encouraged to eat normal amounts of high quality protein — milk and meat — and to drink plenty of fluids.

Carbohydrate loading is a practice used by endurance athletes to increase the length of time they can compete at peak capacity. This practice calls for the same basic diet as mentioned earlier — milk, fruit-vegetable, and grain — but has a greater emphasis on carbohydrate foods — breads, cereals, pasta, fruits, and vegetables. With this diet the muscles can store more energy as carbohydrate (glycogen) to be used during competition. An excessive intake of carbohydrate from simple sugars (i.e., honey, sugar) is not encouraged since this will draw water from extracellular fluid into the intestines and can cause cramps, diarrhea and even dehydration.

A high-fat diet is not recommended for athletes prior to competition since it is digested slowly and may adversely affect performance. However, fats are important in the regular diet of athletes, says NDC, since they are concentrated sources of calories, a commodity much needed by the athlete in heavy training.

The consensus among those who have studied the effects of physical activity/athletics on nutrition is that the athlete's needs in terms of nutrients are the same as those of the general population.

Art Show Set

The Big Spring Art Association has issued an invitation to local and area artists to participate in the second annual Big Spring Art Association Miniature Art Show, to be held at Citizen's Federal Credit Union the week of Feb. 9.

Cash awards and ribbons will be awarded in all media. Purchase awards will also be given. Charlotte Beach Hankins of Seminole, who received her master of arts degree from Carnegie-Melon Institution in Pittsburgh, Pa., has been selected to judge this event.

Entries will be accepted between 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8, at Citizen's Federal Credit Union, 701 East FM 700, Big Spring. The fee is $2.00 per entry, with no limit on entries per artist.

No paintings will be larger than five by seven inches excluding frame and mat. Sculpture will be no larger than four by six inches.

The possibility of sales to art patrons is increased, as the show will be on display for one week.

For further information, interested persons may call Pat Klotz, 707 W. 13th, 263-0397 or Jean Hensley, 3308 Cronell, 267-6904.

Local Youth Attend Meet

Over 400 youth delegates from Amarillo, Odessa and Lubbock participated in the YMCA Youth and Government District Conference Jan. 12 at Texas Tech University. They are among 5,000 high school delegates from 180 YMCA clubs attending five district conferences across the state. Lubbock was represented by over 200 T-Hi-Y and Hi-Y members from its 28 local clubs. Eight hundred delegates from over the state will be selected on merit and performance to attend the YMCA's 33rd Texas Youth and Government Conference in Austin Feb. 28.

There were three programs to choose from at the conference. The legislative delegates wrote and presented bills in hearing committees and a mock congressional session. The judicial section used the six county court rooms and acted as judges, attorneys, witnesses and jurors in a practice trial. The news media section wrote and published a newspaper about the district conference.

Many Lubbock delegates were elected to places of responsibility. Cindy Swanson and Camille Scioli will serve on the governor's cabinet; Annette Morris — Sargent at Arms of the House; Mimi Lee — reading clerk of the Senate.

Kerri Coates and Sherry Alexander are chief justice nominees and Julie Pearson is a candidate for presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Karen Mikkelson, Julie St. Onje, Brenda Jennings, and Kelli Pettit will be appeals attorneys. Martha Odom is the district judge. Barbara Baugh and Renetta Barnett, Betsey Johson and LaDonna Marks and Dana Platt and Shelly McGill are attorney teams. Suzanne Bulch is the district editor of the newspaper.

For more than 33 years, Texas has supported the program through the YMCA and prior youth and government delegates have written more than 65 bills which were eventually enacted into state law. The program is financed through private contributions and participant fees of youth delegates.

Sailors At Norfolk Base Ponder Threat Of War

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Whenever Rick Nandony's mother calls him she asks if his Navy ship might be among those dispatched to the Mideast in response to the crises in Iran and Afghanistan.

"I tell her, 'No Mom, don't worry — no way,'" the 19-year-old sailor from Conneaut, Ohio, said over a beer at the Lancer Inn, a few blocks from the Norfolk Naval Base.

"But heck, who knows?" said Nandony, a crew member of the guided missile destroyer USS Lawrence. "My ship could become involved and I'm ready to go in and get our people out. Of course, I'm not going to tell my mother that."

Ever since Americans were taken hostage in Iran last November, the situation has been a big topic of discussion among military personnel and their families. They are concerned about the fate of the hostages and about the possibility of a naval blockade of Iran.

The Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan heightened the tension — and increased talk within the armed services about U.S. military action.

"I just hope the problems can be resolved through negotiations, not war," said a 20-year-old sailor as he knocked off foes at a Lancer Inn pool table.

"There are some guys saying we should go into Iran and there are guys saying if we go in, they're going to Canada," he said. "Me, I'd rather not get involved. But if I have to go, I'll go."

A buddy added, "I say it's time to take it to them. Iran is making us look like fools. I'm ready. But hey, don't use our names. We don't want to get into any trouble."

As of last week, there were 25 Navy ships in the Indian Ocean off Iran, including at least six based in Norfolk — the carrier Nimitz, the guided missile cruisers California and Texas, the guided missile destroyer Claude V. Ricketts and two frigates, the Glover and Ainsworth. Their crews total 16,000 men.

Those at the Lancer Inn, a favorite off-hours spot for sailors and Marines, had not been ordered over — at least not yet.

Several young servicemen, many away from home for the first time, talked tough and advocated prompt military action against Iran.

Others, more cautious, expressed hope the crisis would be resolved through talk, not muscle. But all said they were ready to serve.

"Those of us who were in Vietnam aren't looking forward to war, but we realize what we are here for," said Chief Journalist Michael Walsh, 40, whose 18 years as a sailor includes two tours of Vietnam.

"We want the hostages freed," he said. "But we realize there is no good answer and that the diplomatic maneuvering under way must go on. But we also know, if called on, we're ready."

Another veteran, a lieutenant commander who requested anonymity, said:

"As far as service veterans are concerned, I don't think you're going to find anyone who says we ought to go over there and wipe them out. But we're proud that we're in a position to contribute if called upon."

"As far as the public is concerned, I think the military is being viewed a bit different now as a result of Iran and Afghanistan," he said. "I think there is an increased awareness of the need for a strong military."

Iran Shows Alarm Over Soviet Moves

A-J News Services

Iran's foreign minister said today Soviet troops in Afghanistan now are only 19 miles from Iran's frontier and pose a "real danger" to the country's southeastern provinces. He also warned that Iran is moving toward "unrestrained communism."

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, in a Tehran radio broadcast quoted by the Kuwaiti news agency, said Iran "cannot remain silent" in the face of the Kremlin's military intervention in Afghanistan.

Another Tehran broadcast reported a presidential campaign speech in which he warned of the threat of communism in Iran.

In other developments, air traffic controllers at Tehran's airport went on (Other Iranian Stories On Page 16, Sec. C) strike today and forced the cancellation of 100 internal flights, the Iraqi news agency said.

A radio broadcast of Sunday's Super Bowl football game was delivered to Islamic militants at the U.S. Embassy today on the understanding it would be played for the American hostages, now in their 79th day of captivity.

Radio reporter Alex Paen of radio station KMPC in Los Angeles passed the militants taped cassettes of the game through the embassy's iron gates, after receiving assurances they would be given to the hostages.

The tape of Sunday's game, in which the Pittsburgh Steelers beat the Los Angeles Rams 31-19, was fed to Paen by telephone earlier in the day from the Los Angeles station.

In an interview outside the embassy gates, Paen said he was confident the tape would be passed on to the hostages. Only a handful of curious Iranians watched from outside the main embassy compound gate, where thousands used to gather to chant anti-American slogans.

"I've been told several times they would play the tapes for the hostages and the students have kept their word in the past," he said.

"If they didn't want the hostages to hear the game, they wouldn't have received the tapes." He said commercials and half-time events had been deleted.

Paen said he had also delivered several letters and Christmas cards and a personal message from the wife of one of the hostages.

The radio reporter has been in Tehran for two months. In December, he delivered some 3 million Christmas cards sent to the Americans from the United States.

Paen was granted special permission to stay in Iran and deliver the tape, although American journalists were ordered out of Iran last week. He said he plans to return home Tuesday.

The arrangements to make the taped broadcast available to the hostages came out of the Christmas Eve visit to the embassy by three American clergymen. At the time, some hostages questioned the group about developments in the National Football League results, the clergymen said on their return to the United States.

Ghotbzadeh said today Iran's "own borders are in danger" because of the presence of Russian troops in neighboring Afghanistan and pledged Iranian aid to end the Soviet intervention.

Ghotbzadeh, a candidate in Friday's presidential election, did not say what kind of aid Iran would offer.

Families In California Forced To Flee From Flooded Farms

Coastal Bend were under a flash flood watch after a weekend of steady rain that filled some creeks and rivers to near bankfull. The flood watch zone included Houston and Galveston.

The National Weather Service said rains in excess of 2 inches occurred in parts of the watch area Sunday and today with additional amounts of 2 to 4 inches possible.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the mid-20s in Northwest Texas to 72 at Brownsville. Scattered pockets of fog and drizzle were reported in Midland, Beaumont, San Angelo, Waco, Tyler, Houston and Austin.

Forecasters said colder weather is expected to lower temperatures Tuesday, bringing the freezing line to just northwest of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Freezing rain or snow was forecast on Tuesday for Wichita Falls and Abilene, and the NWS issued a stockmen's advisory for the Hill Country calling for the possibility of light sleet today or tonight.

Wet, cold weather also dominated the western section of the nation.

In the central region of California grim-faced families, their belongings piled high on pickup trucks, moved slowly from their flooded farmlands. Cattle were huddled on the highest ground they could find in chest-deep water littered with cattle carcasses.

Some of California's richest farmland disappeared under 15 feet of water. The bursting of two levees in the Sacramento-San Joaquin region Friday flooded 10,000 acres and forced the evacuation of 50 people from two islands.

West To Address Chamber Meet

SLATON (Special) — Lubbock Mayor Dirk West will be the featured speaker at Slaton's 54th Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet at 7 p.m. today in the Slaton Junior High School cafeteria.

Local citizens will be honored during the town's "Academy Awards," including a Man and Woman of the Year, Citizen of the Year and Boss of the Year.

Of West's visit, a chamber spokesman said, "We couldn't promise anything like Muleshoe, but we think we'll have a good time."

"We had asked if he would please bring his pad and pen," the spokesman added.

Chamber of Commerce officers will be installed during the program, which includes a dinner. Tickets are available at the door for $6 per person.

Carter To Disclose 'Blueprint'

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the next 10 days, President Carter will reveal to the American public his blueprint for domestic and foreign programs in the fourth and most crucial year of his term in office.

The president was to make public a 70-page statement of his domestic programs and priorities later today. He makes his State of the Union address to Congress on Wednesday, followed by his proposed 1981 budget Monday and his annual economic report early next week.

Taken together, the four documents will detail the president's goals for 1980. Carter also is expected to use them to put the best possible face on his presidency in an election year.

Looking relaxed and confident, the president started his fourth year in office Sunday by appearing on a national television program.

He later traveled to Camp David to spend the night.

Carter is thought by many of his opponents to be vulnerable in his handling of the nation's economy during the past three years. Inflation has worsened and a recession is expected to occur in 1980.

But the president made clear in his television appearance that he plans to stay on the offensive on economic issues as much as possible.

He said he had been successful in reducing unemployment, which he described as "the prime threat to the country" when he took office, and contended the worsening inflation rate was almost entirely the fault of higher oil prices decreed by oil-exporting nations.

"All of the increase in inflation, for practical purposes, since I have been in office, has been directly attributable to the increase in oil prices," Carter said.

Many economists would dispute that the rising inflation rate can be blamed totally on oil prices, however. They have singled out other causes — an increase in Social Security taxes, rising farm price supports and an increase in the minimum wage.

The nation's unemployment rate was 5.8 percent last month, down from 7.9 percent when Carter took office. Inflation, on the other hand, increased to about 13 percent last year, up from 4.8 percent in 1976, the year before Carter took office.

Carter directed some criticism at Congress, saying he had been "working with a Congress that sometimes acts too slowly."

Carter's major domestic initiative for fiscal 1981, which begins next Oct. 1, will be $5 billion program to strengthen literacy among jobless youths.

Arab Diplomats Asking Unity Against Kremlin

By The Associated Press

In closed-door meetings and hurried jet flights, Arab envoys were engaged in intensive diplomatic activity in the Middle East today that informed sources in Beirut said was aimed at forging a common front on the issue of the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan.

Afghanistan's seven rebellious Moslem factions, meanwhile, were reported trying to unite for a "holy war" against the Soviet occupation army.

Khaled to the U.A.E. and Qatar.

Radio Tehran reported that an official of the Afghan Islamic Organization in the Iranian capital told it discussions were under way among the rebel groups to form a single guerrilla front.

"The Afghan revolutionaries' duty is to expel the Soviet forces from Afghanistan through jihad (holy war), not through negotiations," the official reportedly said.

The Moslem rebels in Afghanistan are divided along tribal lines. They have been fighting their own separate wars since the first communist coup in April 1978 and were reported to control half the country or more.

Price Of Gold Reaches $850

LONDON (AP) — Gold hit $850 an ounce in London today, surpassing the record set in European trading Friday. London silver prices, riding the coattails of the bullion boom, rose to a record $50 an ounce from $49 at Friday's close.

The dollar firmed against all major European currencies, except for the strong British pound.

London's five major bullion dealers fixed the price for the afternoon trading session at $850. At midday, gold bullion was quoted at $845 in Zurich, matching the record price set Friday at Europe's main gold market.

The metal closed Friday at $840 in Zurich and $835 in London.

It hit a record high of $838.78 in Hong Kong trading today, but fell back to close at $827.78 in the Far Eastern market.

The gold price will ebb and flow, but don't discount the possibility of a gold price in four figures in 1980," said Sinclair.

The only slip by the dollar today was by one cent against the British pound, which cost $2.29 compared with $2.28 at Friday's closing.

In Tokyo, the dollar held its ground today despite Bank of Japan intervention in support of the yen. The U.S. currency closed in moderate trading at 240.175 yen, up from Friday's finish of 239.45.

Mishap Kills Area Man

ABERNATHY (Special) — Roberto Cantu Felan, 26, of Plainview was killed and three other persons were injured Sunday when Felan apparently lost control of his car and struck a utility pole about four miles north of here.

Felan was pronounced dead at the scene by Abernathy Justice of the Peace Jean Marr. The accident occurred about 1:30 a.m. at the intersection of Farm Road 37W and Farm Road 400 in Hale County.

The passengers in the 1966 Pontiac, Marina Guadalupe Guerra, 22, Joe Gonzalez, 26, and Mary Gonzalez, 22, all of Plainview, were in satisfactory condition today at Central Plains Regional Hospital in Plainview.

Department of Public Safety reports indicate that Felan was going north on Farm Road 400 when he apparently lost control of his car, went into a sideways skid and through the intersection, hitting the utility pole and rolling over on its right side.

Services for Felan, formerly of Lockney, will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Lockney Assembly of God Church with the Rev. Ruben Garza, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Lockney Cemetery under direction of Moore-Rose Funeral Home of Lockney.

A native of Lockney, he had lived in Plainview for two years, working as a welder.

Survivors include his wife, Sophia; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felan of Lockney; three sons, Freddie, Ricky and Roberto; four daughters, Patricia, Rosa Linda, Maliza and Arlenda; five sisters, Sara Luna, Olivia Torres, Estrella Castro, Gloria Villarreal and Antonia Felan, all of Lockney.

Pallbearers will be Domingo Luna, Oscar Torres, Joe Castro, George Villarreal, Junior Salas and Israel Gutierrez.

European bullion dealers said early activity today was confined mainly to inquiries. But these, along with what was described as a continuing "underlying area of good demand," was sufficient to keep prices up.

The gold price has soared by more than $640 an ounce since this time last year in a rush for the traditional haven in times of monetary uncertainty and political crises.

A New York investment advisor, James Sinclair, was quoted in The Times of London today as saying the price may reach four figures this year.

Sinclair said events in Iran and Afghanistan, as well as growing talk that the Soviet Union could invade Pakistan and Turkey, was sending "flight capital" from oil-rich Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates into gold.

Death Toll In Grandstand Collapse Reaches 162

SINCELEJO, Colombia (AP) — The death toll in the collapse of a crowded wooden grandstand in this northern Colombian city climbed to 162 today, police said. The weekend accident at a bull-running left 500 spectators injured.

The bleachers, an upward extension of the grandstand at Colombia's largest bullring, were supported by long beams sunk into the ground. Officials said recent heavy rains softened the ground and the beams gave way under the weight of the crowd. Some witnesses said that when rain started to fall, people rushing to the back of the stands where there was an overhead shelter caused the collapse.

An estimated 40,000 fans had packed the bullring Sunday afternoon. Witnesses said about 3,000 were in the five sections that crashed down.

Each of the five sections was designed to hold about 500 persons, but witnesses said there were about 700 in each. The tragedy occurred as the fans were excitedly cheering scores of youths and men in the ring running from several bulls before the start of the bullfights.

"We were at the eastern-end grandstand when suddenly I noticed that one of the sections began to fall backwards, and then the other four fell, trapping thousands of persons," said one of the spectators, Eduardo Ruiz.

Some of the victims were impaled on the splintered beams; others were trampled by panic-stricken survivors.

Many of the victims were children who were seated around the ring and hit by the falling debris.

All afternoon and through the night the sirens of ambulances and other vehicles helping with the victims wailed through Sincelejo and the neighboring towns.

The Sincelejo hospital and a local health center were unable to handle all of the casualties. Many were taken to the neighboring towns of Corozal, Cerete and Sampues.

About 300 of the injured were treated and released but 200 others were hospitalized in very serious condition, the Red Cross said.

Police cordoned off the Sincelejo hospital to keep back thousands of persons seeking information about relatives and friends. Many in the crowd were hysterical.

Public Health Minister Alfonso Jar-amillo mobilized government health personnel in the region and ordered the collection of emergency stocks of medicine and blankets.

Sincelejo, 320 miles north of Bogota, is near the Caribbean coast and the capital of Sucre Department, an agricultural state. The city has a population of about 200,000.

Italian Communists Blast Soviet Invasion

ROME (AP) — Trumpeting condemnation of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, the Italian Communist Party is waging a new campaign to prove its independence from Moscow as another Italian government crisis approaches.

Party leader Enrico Berlinguer and other top officials have been traveling up and down the peninsula criticizing the Soviet move. They also condemn the American reprisals, calling them threats to peace.

At the same time, they have been expressing an affinity with the West German Social Democrats' views on the need for detente and have taken favorable note of Pope John Paul II's recent expressions of alarm over the threats to peace.

The fate of Premier Francesco Cossiga's Christian Democratic government, appears to have been sealed when the Socialists announced three days ago they would no longer support it in parliament

They urged that the Communists be included in an "emergency" government.

The Christian Democrats will have to decide their response to the Socialists at a party congress early next month. Already, however, party president Flaminio Piccoli referred to the fears raised by the deteriorating health of President Josip Broz Tito in neighboring Yugoslavia. He said this could only heighten his party's opposition to admitting the Communists to the government.

Cossiga will be in Washington on Thursday and Friday. The new agitation for Communist participation in the government of this NATO nation will give a new dimension to his talks with President Carter, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and other leaders, all of whom are opposed to admission of the Communists to the Italian government.

Cossiga, whose minority cabinet is Italy's 38th government since the end of World War II, has come under increasing criticism for failing to stamp out terrorism and slow down inflation, which reached 20 percent last year. The Communists, who won 30 percent of the vote in parliamentary elections last June to 38 percent for the long-dominant Christian Democrats, claim the country cannot be governed without them.

Their present campaign appears aimed at removing lingering doubts among the Italians of their independence from Moscow despite their Eurocommunist course pledging adherence to Italy's parliamentary system and respect for civil liberties.

In a speech Sunday, Berlinguer said his party has always condemned violations of sovereignty and the independence of states.

"But can I say this about other Italian parties regarding interventions by powers such as the United States in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, or those to support the regime of the shah in Iran and those of the French in Africa?"

JUNE'S NAMESAKE

Authorities disagree on where the ancient Romans got the name Junius, our month of June. Perhaps from Juno, queen of their gods, possibly from juniores (youths), to whom the month was dedicated, as May was to maiores, the elders.

McCartney Offering $1 Million Reimbursement

TOKYO (UPI) — Staff members of Paul McCartney's rock band left Japan today and the jailed former Beatle offered to make good the $1 million loss sustained by Japanese promoters of a concert tour canceled by his arrest.

The Tokyo district prosecutor's office said no decision had been reached on whether to file drug charges against McCartney or deport him for trying to smuggle marijuana into Japan.

Harvey Goldsmith, manager of the Wings rock group, said the singer's Japanese lawyer, Tasuku Matsuo, went to the Tokyo detention center with vegetarian food but was turned away.

Several hundred rock fans gathered outside the Budokan Martial Arts Hall where McCartney and Wings had been scheduled to begin their 11 concert tour of Japan today.

McCartney reportedly has offered to reimburse Japanese promoters for their losses on the canceled tour, totaling about $1 million.

Takahiro Kawaguchi, vice president of the 4,000-member "Complete Beatles Fan Club," said his organization was soliciting members to sign a petition to be sent to McCartney to show their solidarity with him.

"Never give up fighting, Paul," wrote Toshihiko Kouzumi.

"I still can't believe it," said Rika Aoyama, an 18-year-old high school student when asked about McCartney's arrest Wednesday evening at Tokyo International airport.

"I'll go to either the United States or Britain to attend his concerts," said Miss Aoyama.

Despite the fans' support published reports today said the national broadcasting network NHK had banned songs by McCartney and Wings.

But a Japanese commercial radio station denied a press report that stations have stopped playing Wings records.

An official at the Tokyo Detention Center said McCartney, who has been denied requests for his guitar, spends his time reading.

The official, who declined to be named, said McCartney gets up at 6 a.m. and goes to bed at 8 p.m. as all prisoners are required normally.

"He reads books in a single cell when he is not under questioning. His daily routine includes a half-hour light exercise in his cell," he said.

McCartney's manager Harvey Goldsmith said the pop idol was "frustrated because he does not know what's going to happen."

NHK, the national broadcasting station, banned airing all Beatles and Wings songs for the time being, a spokesman said, but commercial stations continued to play the songs when requested by listeners.

"The reason of our decision is that Mr. Paul McCartney reportedly was carrying marijuana when he landed at the Tokyo International Airport at Narita," the spokesman said.

McCartney's arrest last Wednesday at the airport forced cancellation of 11 Wings' concerts, which were to have begun tonight at the huge Budokan Hall in downtown Tokyo.

The leaders of the 3,000-member Tokyo branch of the Beatles' Fan Club called the demonstration at the hall to show his fans were behind him in his confrontation with Japanese authorities.

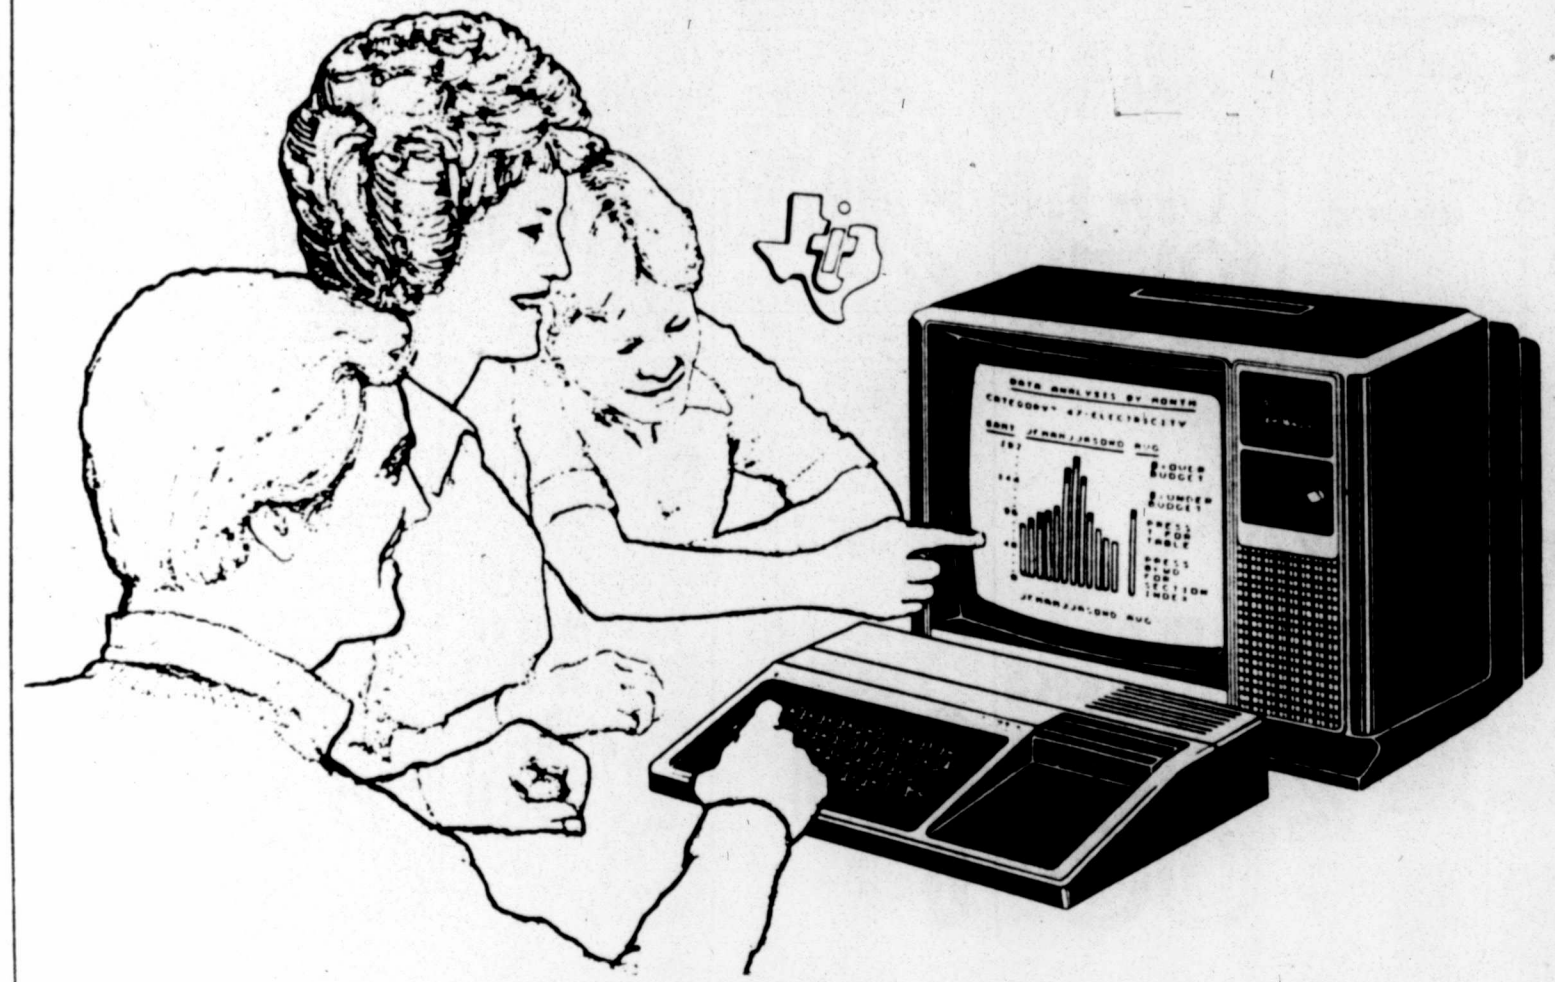

McCartney reportedly has offered to reimburse Japanese promoters for their estimated $1 million in losses on the canceled tour.

Goldsmith said all group members except McCartney and his family have left Tokyo either for the United States or Britain.

FAMILIAR NAME, ADDED FACILITY

Added Location For Customer Convenience Opened By Firm

"Yes, you were right; that was a Hufstедler truck sign that you saw at 19th and Texas!"

The fact is that Hufstедler GMC

Truck Co., at 1802 Erskine Road, is expanding, not only maintaining its present modern quarters but providing the public an added convenience with its used pickup headquarters opened at the busy and popular 19th & Texas corner.

Select at this added location for finest values in '79 pickups, '79 customized vans and for those in-demand full-time 4-wheel-drive units with the big 400 engine.

Neither the 400 engine or the full-time 4-wheel-drive is available in GMC '80 models, so if one is fortunate enough to find the vehicle of his or her choice (which we likely have) at the new headquarters for used units, an exceptional and not-to-be-repeated value awaits. Hufstедler makes it possible.

And for rugged quality 1980 models in the Jimmy, pickups or vans, see the exciting selection at Hufstедler GMC Truck Co. at its 1802 Erskine Road facility. There are lots of '80 pickups ready for delivery, and presently there are two '80 vans, and all with new '80 features that look good and perform good, with innovations and improvements as would be expected of GMC.

More about the '79 units at the new location:

All with the full-time 4-wheel drive enable control to the driver from inside the cab. There is no need to shift into or out of 4-wheel-drive or to get out to lock or unlock front free-wheeling hubs.

There never was a better time to enter into 4-wheelin' adventure... to make that dream a reality. For 4-wheeling touring or trailering, Jimmy comes through strong on dependable performance, toughness, comfort and good looks that last.

Check the plus features of every unit at the Hufstедler headquarters for used light trucks, new at 19th and Texas, or check for the '80 units at 1802 Erskine; distinctive features and values are the rule at each.

Farmer's Depot General Store Serving Rural, Urban Trade

Horse tack, gopher traps, groceries or baby chicks... where else but at a complete old-fashioned general store! Where else but Farmer's Depot!

Yes, quite a service is rendered a wide South Plains area by Farmer's Depot, North University at FM 1294, phone 746-5510. Lubbock, a customer-considering establishment providing feed, hardware, groceries, fuel, and more!

Not only is there a tremendous service afforded, but a visit there can be a most enjoyable experience, trading with home folks who know and understand area needs and preferences.

Farmer's Depot was opened in late 1978, designed, built and owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Boepple. (Darrell, here since 1964, was former manager of Mayflower in Lubbock.)

Right now, Farmer's Depot is making extensive plans for spring... such as even suggesting that one order baby chicks now to be sure of the specific breed at the specifically desired time, such as for April delivery.

Store hours are 7:30 a.m. until 7 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

Here are listed some of the products found in the big Farmer's Depot, hinting of the really comprehensive stock:

Lots of hardware, nails, turnbuckles, loose drains by the pound for chicken feed, rabbit feed, bird seed; free literature on Purina feeds, with the Purina line stocked.

Mouse traps, bear traps, the new wind-up mouse trap, nest eggs, mailboxes, yard tools;

Livestock medication supplies; cattle blocks; fence charging equipment including pullers, chargers, wires, insulators and all; hog rings, nuts and bolts;

Groceries, Wearables

A full-line grocery stock, canning supplies, hand tools, work gloves, some jackets and coats;

And livestock feeds (with prices prominently posted); hay, thousands of baby chicks in season; feeders, cattle tanks, electrical tape or windshield deicer.

Keys are made, and a bulletin board is maintained for customer convenience."

Farmer's Depot even rents stalls in the Spring to afford a real farmers' market.

Small wonder Darrell Boepple's Farmer's Depot has experienced such enthusiastic reception and growing trade; he has provided a General Store that invites reliance in every season, by farm, ranch and urban residents alike.

Magnavox January Anniversary Sale Prices Spell Savings At Smallwood's

Great news continues to be made at Smallwood's, 3019 34th St.!

Just a few months ago this versatile firm was named independent dealer for the prestigious Magnavox TV, stereo, radio and tape line in Lubbock.

The reception to the availability of this line at Smallwood's has been most, most gratifying.

Now comes announcement that one can save up $200 per unit on selected units during the Magnavox 25th Anniversary Sale continuing just a few more days (through January) at Smallwood's.

Specific Sale Savings

There are beautiful 19-in. color TV sets for just $369; and big 25-in. consoles for $599!

And video recorders for two, four or six hours.

The color TV sets of the future are here today at Smallwood's, and for just a few more days including units at very special savings! Don't overlook these values.

Steam Cleaners

Also, new at Smallwood's, are six brand new Thermax steam cleaners, and these are available for purchase or rental.

Eureka

Both the new models of the new self-propelled Eureka vacs are in stock, also.

These are advertised as the first self-propelled units with ESP (extra suction power).

Select from the single-speed or two-speed models, each with extra power to whoosh the dirt away as the vac propels itself along, guided by one's fingers on the Touch-Control handle. Both have numerous other appreciated and innovative features, such as rear-wheel drive, a Eureka "first" responding instantly to the handle, improving mobility over high-pile carpets; the Vibra-Groomer II chrome-plated steel beater bar/brush roll, driven at extra speed creating wave-action cleaning to get the ground-in dirt; and still other features that set these new models apart from "any you have ever seen or used!"

Other Products

Smallwood's versatility and its consideration of customer needs remain the rule in every season. Whether the need is a unit from the Magnavox line, a new Eureka with "ESP," a Filter Queen home sanitation system, other complete lines of vacuum cleaners, TV home entertainment systems, including the Muntz giant screen, gorgeous burl clocks, microwave ovens by Toshiba, and even sewing machines and more — Smallwood's comes through. Electroponic is another popular brand found at Smallwood's.

Accessories, parts and bags for most brands of vacuum cleaners are stocked.

"You'll like Smallwood's way of doing business; you'll appreciate the values and the personal attention of owners Mr. and Mrs. Kerr (Eugene and Evelyn); and we know you'll especially like the current Magnavox sale values and the new Eureka innovations!"

The final Fall and Winter Clearance at MoDean's begins today. And what opportunities there are! There's fashion . . . and so-attractive pricing . . . and still further excitement at MoDean's, in Sunshine Square!

Beginning today, this clearance is marked by a "first ever" offer from MoDean's.

One-Cent Offer
Select from the sale items, purchasing an item and getting another of equal value for just 1 cent! Hurry, as this limited-time offer is sure to be quite popular. And there's a "75% Off" rack, too. And Herbert Levy ultra suedes at 30 per cent reduction! Leather and suede coats are 30 per cent off during the sale.

New spring arrivals are being placed in stock daily, and selection was never greater . . . so come, take advantage of the Fall & Winter Clearance and shop the spring merchandise, too.

MoDean's, at 4515 50th St., in Sunshine Square, traditionally assures in-season perfection, and the current season is no exception, whether for ultra suedes, velour dresses and coordinates, sweaters, after-five arrivals, beautiful coats, pants, dresses, lingerie, accessories, hosiery, sleep wear, etc.

Only reliable lines and name brands to which one is accustomed at a better shop are found at MoDean's, with some selected new lines added as seen advisable.

Dress lines include such prestigious labels as Herman Marcus, Alired Werber, Nardis and Kay Windsor.

There are coordinates by Jack Winter, Donovan, Galvani, Lorch, Vincenti and Separate Thoughts By Nardis. And Bill Blass designer jeans.

MoDean Clayton is owner of the attractive and appreciated store, and the current sale and the introduction of new-season items accentuate how "we want you to discover for yourself, now, how this Sunshine Square shop is extraordinary."

Master Charge, Visa and layaway purchases are invited.

Friendly, personalized service is the rule at MoDean's, and the customer cannot but enjoy the welcome and be thrilled at the always chic selection.

Wheel & Tire Center, On 50th, Distinctive In Service, Values

Since its opening in Lubbock in mid-1979, the services, products . . . and success . . . of the Wheel & Tire Center, 1506 50th St., have been well recognized.

"In these recent months many of you have discovered the bright yellow building at 1506 50th St., home of Wheel & Tire Center, and if you have visited us you have found all operations geared to your benefit, whether in the quality, price and selection in tires, or for the facilities for mounting and balancing. Yes, balancing is one of the available services, some might not have realized.

Wheel & Tire Center in Lubbock is a second facility of the Amarillo firm of the same name, operating and serving in that region for several years.

Ray Jackson is manager of the Lubbock operation.

Michelin, Goodrich
Stocked is everything in auto and truck tires by Michelin and B.F. Goodrich, including the performance T/A Radial by Goodrich.

Also there are mag wheels by Western, Cragar, American Racing and Keystone.

As added inducement, Jackson and salesman-assistant manager Dwayne Thomas join in emphasizing that "prices on every Michelin in stock are slashed 25 per cent."

Wheel & Tire Center mounts and balances, at no charge, all tires sold there. Repair of "flats" and other services are part of the picture, too.

Master Charge and Visa purchases are welcomed, and financing is made available through Dial Finance.

Wheel & Tire Center is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

"May we have the early pleasure of meeting your tire needs, completely and economically? We believe we can aid in your new year plans and enjoyment; just check with us at the bright yellow building, 1506 50th St., phone 763-2333, in Lubbock."

Business & Industrial Review
Fully-Stocked 'Sleep Center' Holds January Storewide Sale

Storewide January Sale prices prevail at The Sleep Center, "your complete bedding store" at 4202 50th St., phone 797-5300, in Lubbock.

Not only are the lines known and respected, but selection is amazing, with the stock so much larger than some might realize.

Add to this the current savings, and one recognizes that patronage of The Sleep Center just cannot be delayed!

Among the specials this month: Springmaid sheet sets at 30 per cent off! Matching comforts, 20 per cent reduction.

A new shipment of brass and brass plated headboards is marked at 30 per cent off during January.

The famous Serta Perfect Sleeper is 30 per cent off.

And... there's a free headboard (your choice of Betsy Ross or Nightingale) upon purchase of a Perfect Sleeper set!

A special group of Serta Beauty Rest mattresses is reduced 40 per cent in price!

Voluminous Stock
As for the extensive stock at The Sleep Center, scan the following as hint of the exceptional offering:

There are long boy mattress pads and sheets, even round pads and sheets. And over 500 decorator pillows.

Down comforts, latex and foam pillows, goose-down pillows, over 600 spreads, comforts and matching drapes (with spreads and matching drapes actually in stock; and Nettle Creek decorator spreads, furnishings, etc., with the stocking prices greatly reduced on these and with custom orders welcomed.

'Flotation Sleep'
"And don't overlook the sensational Morning Surf "hybrid bed", the waterbed that requires no maintenance, no parts to go out, no expense after purchase, no heaters to malfunction, no zippers to replace... just the closest to a conventional bed with flotation sleep."

Not only does the stock excel, but special services add to the firm's enviable image.

The customer at The Sleep Center is even encouraged to take out approvals on bedspreads to assure decor harmony.

MORNING SURF AMONG FIRM'S POPULAR PRODUCTS — Glenda Bourgeois, staffmember at The Sleep Center, points out the Morning Surf, "total new concept in waterbeds, that looks like a regular bed, weighs one-third as much as ordinary waterbeds, has no exaggerated wave motion, uses standard bedding, headboard and bed-frame, and requires no heater." Other "name line" products are outlined in the accompanying report of the 50th Street center.

The Sleep Center is home owned and operated by Ray Williams, 12-year Lubbock resident, with able staff including Glenda Bourgeois and Patsy Colquitt.

The staff can coordinate and custom design in one's drapery, fabric and furnishing needs.

A large warehouse is chock full of new merchandise, and at The Sleep Center there is no waiting for delivery. Layaway is enabled on anything in stock.

Finance plans, from 90 days to 24 months, are made available.

Hours are 10 a.m. until 6:30 p.m., six days a week. Visa and Master Charge use is welcomed.

There is convenient off-street parking right at the front.

Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication Proves Worth In Convenience

"You can't beat the convenience; you cannot beat the service!"

"A lot of people discovered this past year how Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication, at 82nd Street and University Avenue, led the field as a revelation in the things that count."

"And this same service can benefit you, too."

After all, in less than 10 minutes the capable staff at Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication will (1) install up to 5 quarts of Quaker State 30HD or Havoline 30HD, (2) install new Quaker State oil filter (3) lubricate chassis, (4) check wiper blades and (5) check all fluid levels... and all for only $13.95! For just $1 more, QS 10-40 or Havoline 10-40 can be substituted. Jiffy is open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, and until 5 p.m. Saturdays; closed Sundays.

No appointment is necessary for service at the Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication, on South University and 82nd Street.

Also available and conveniently situated adjacent is Texaco self service gas, from 7 a.m. until 9:30 p.m., seven days a week.

Larry Ogle, Conley Faulkenberry, Mark Lingle and Steve Paschall, the folks serving at Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication, take pride in the personal service offered.

Expressions of "how convenient", "the cost is so reasonable", and "it is so neat and efficient that my wife even looks forward to taking her car to Jiffy" attest to the acceptance and appreciation of this modern business.

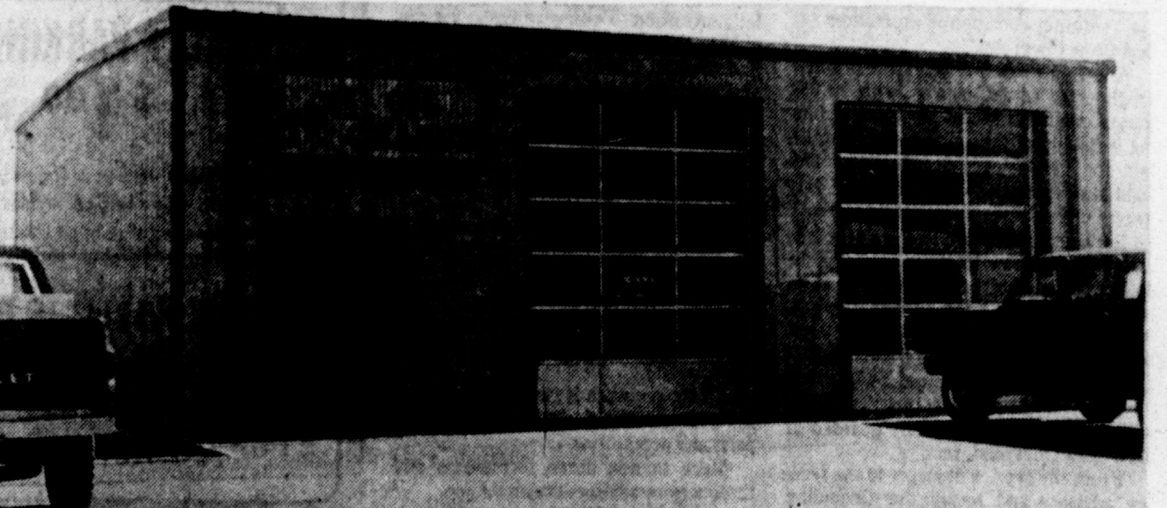

Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication is owned by longtime Lubbock resident and auto service specialist Steve Paschall who has 13 years experience in related businesses, including ownership.

Manager of Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication is Larry Ogle who formerly for several years was with a Lubbock auto dealership as a mechanic.

Larry invites old friends and new customers alike to depend upon the modern but friendly Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication, 82nd & University, phone 745-6190.

Featured at the facility are Quaker State and Texaco Havoline motor oils, Quaker State oil and air filters, Quaker State lubricants and other major brand oils.

Charge cards accepted include Texaco, Visa and Master Charge.

FOR SEWING MACHINE SALES, RENTALS, SERVICES — Susan and R. B. Young of the ABC Sewing Center in Lubbock are pictured calling attention to the "New Dimension" Elna Air Electronic model, said to be the only free arm sewing machine that fits most standard sewing machine cabinets, a flat bed machine that converts to free arm with push-button ease.

ABC Sewing Center Providing Finest In Products, Services

For White, Elna, and now Necchi sales and service, it is the ABC Sewing Center, 3104 34th St.

So very much could be said, and should be said, for the products and service advantages of this center!

In brief, however, the fact is that this home-owned and home-operated firm is thoroughly customer oriented in its every department.

The ABC Sewing Center buys, sells and trades, servicing 11 brands of machines, also maintaining a rental service.

New Models Excel

Specific attention is called to some of the great new machine models stocked, such as the Elna Model 69. It is advertised as the only free arm sewing machine that fits most standard sewing machine cabinets. And this is a big item. Likely it is the last sewing machine you'll ever need!

The "new dimension" Elna Air Electronic is available in three models, with the Air Electronic Portable machines also in three models. It is a new generation of sewing machines!

Free Instruction

Check such features as the most-wanted stitches are built into each. It is a multiple sewing program extended via interchangeable Elna discs supplied as standard equipment with every Elna Super model.

These are exciting new machines! And one year free instruction is given with purchase of every new machine at the ABC Sewing Center.

Established and actively operated by lifelong Lubbock resident Susan Young, the ABC Sewing Center is factory authorized dealer for several leading lines of machines. For White, Elna, Necchi, Brother, Dressmaker and other machines, check ABC first!

Susan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dennis, is a '66 graduate of Monterey High School and is a '73 graduate of Texas Tech.

Multiple Lines

The above explanation of the Elna models available is indicative of the fine products that are the rule at ABC. Susan is quite enthused about the White line, too, as example, a respected name in sewing machines for over 100 years.

Further Aids Cited

A five-year parts warranty and one-year service guarantee is effective on all reconitioned units.

Parsons cabinets are stocked, adaptable to all brands of machines.

Financing plans are available, together with Visa and Master Charge use.

The ABC Sewing Center is open six days a week: Mondays through Fridays from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m., and Saturday closing at 4 p.m.

Twice-a-year free White seminars are conducted to the firm, with home economists from the White factory on hand to bring latest techniques, etc. (One is invited to check regarding the summer seminar.)

More about the White line:

The Model 710 flip-top open arm model with one-step buttonholer is especially recommended. It is stocked and available in portable or cabinet models at ABC.

This top-of-the-line unit is described as "the most versatile sewing machine for today's fabrics" by the White organization, and is the second in White's series of Flip-Top models with extension flaps to convert the sewing machine from a free arm to a flat bed sewing surface at a mere twist of a knob! And as for buttonholing, the user merely dials in the desired stitch and buttonhole length, presses the foot control, and the sewing machine does the rest automatically! This new model features 26 practical stretch and decorative stitches, including 16 forward and reverse moving patterns and the one-step buttonholer!

For full information on this and other great models, for a genuine welcome and appreciation of your inquiries, a visit to the ABC Sewing Center, 3104 34th St., phone 799-0372, is invited and recommended at earliest convenience.

Don Crow Chevrolet Service Staff Prides In Factors Earning Confidence

"Prompt car servicing, a technician staff that invites comparison, pricing policies that make for customer confidence and repeat business... all these are among the factors in which Don Crow Chevrolet's Service Department takes special pride, and understandably so."

"Taking your car to a 'pro' is not just a figure of speech when applied to patronage of the Don Crow Chevrolet Service Department, Loop 289 and Slide Road in Lubbock."

After all, service technicians there have combined total of 172 years experience in the field!

Small wonder that customer satisfaction not only is a motto and pledge but is a reality at the Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc.!

Service Special

The trade accorded the Service Department is sincerely noted and appreciated, and a graphic expression of this appreciation is the still-continuing offer of oil and lube job for GM autos at just $9.95! Yes, just $9.95, and this includes up to five quarts of Quaker State HD 30 oil, AC filter, and grease.

"Of course, we welcome your business throughout the department, but we are listing this good price as indicative of the customer-considering operations at Don Crow Chevrolet."

And Don Crow still has some of those sought-after Target engines, with the 350 Target engine priced at just $995, including installation, intake gasket set and labor for Chevrolet passenger cars and light duty pickups. Cost for heavy duty trucks understandably is slightly more.

Service advisors are on the job at 7:30 a.m. at Don Crow to aid in servicing for folks en route to their work. Mini Maid service has long been appreciated gesture, and the firm also affords bus service to and from the South Plains Mall at the customers' convenience!

It all is a part of the "customer satisfaction" image carefully guarded at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc.

From the service manager to the service advisors and technicians (including five master technicians) at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., all take pride in the ultimate in customer service at a price that can be lived with.

"And don't forget Don Crow Chevrolet's invitation to compare costs; we are glad to show you the posted hourly rates and allotted Chevrolet factory time for any job, eliminating any confusion. We are aboveboard in all dealings."

Don Crow believes that it pays you to know all the facts; it pays to know and trust Don Crow Chevrolet!

"When you consider our honesty in dealing, the dedication of a professional staff with true know-how, our reputation for saving for you in dollars and cents, then why consider anything less than Don Crow Chevrolet for your every auto repair need?"

All service work is guaranteed 90 days or 4,000 miles on all General Motors parts and accessories.

More than a dozen technicians and three service advisors are on the job.

A & J Blind, Shade Shop Posts Limited-Time Price Reductions

There's a special sale underway at A & J Blind & Shade Shop, 1917 19th St., phone 762-4013!

Price reductions during the sale have been arranged on woven woods and mini blinds. Isn't this a thoughtful gesture at this particular time when one is planning the home's readiness for spring and summer, and when recovering economically from the fall and holiday demands?

Very Price Conscious
A & J Blind & Shade Shop not only takes pride in its quality and selection, but owner Julius Ysasaga likes to save money for his customers whenever possible.

Draperies are available, together with custom shutters; and shades . . . and repair services on blinds and shades, also. Venetian blind repair is a specialty.

Free Estimates
For whatever need at A & J Blind & Shade Shop, 1917 19th St., one is invited to call now for free estimates that are gladly given.

When one can secure famous-brand lines at the low sale prices, from a firm that places the emphasis on value throughout the year, then it would seem that now is a very good time to act, and save.

The shop continuously has the greatest variety in window shades one could imagine, with over 50 colors in beautiful fabrics and patterns.

The brand names at A & J are familiar and respected (such as Kirsch, with its quality unquestioned).
It is home improvement time . . . it is savings time . . . it is A & J Blind & Shade time, too, we believe you'll agree! Don't overlook the special sale underway. Select now and save.

FOR BEAUTIFICATION, SAVINGS — Margie Ysasaga, daughter of A & J Blind & Shade Shop owner Julius Ysasaga, calls attention to some of the quality items there, also disclosing some limited-time specials.

Wade Boot Shop, Formerly 'Lusk's', Carries On Tradition Of Excellence

It is a new name . . . but same location and same fine service!

It is Wade Boot Shop, formerly Lusk's Boot Shop, standard of excellence for over 30 years, at 3019 34th St., phone 763-4438.

Charlie Wade has been owner of the time-honored shop since 1977, and the new name correctly reflects this ownership. The shop was established back in 1948 by the late Willie Lusk, and the present owner carries on the traditions of quality and guaranteed satisfaction in every transaction, also taking pride in a staff "second to none."

Wade Boot Shop not only excels in custom-made boots but also specializes in (and invites) boot and shoe repair.

Repair Specialist
Ocie Franklin, marking about 22 years boot and shoe repair in Lubbock, is now with the Wade firm, devoting his time exclusively to repair.
"Next day" service on repairs can be depended upon, with "same day" service on Saturdays!

It is not by happenstance that finest handmade boots are custom made at Wade Boot Shop.

Long On Experience
The staff includes Joe McNelly, with 35 years experience; Evelyn Green, 30 years; Butch Jeffcoat, 20 years (all working with the late Willie Lusk); and newer staff member, Diane Flanagan, also a bootmaker with exceptional ability.

The "Lusk" name on a boot for decades has stood for unquestioned quality, and Wade, a 15-year Lubbock resident, assures continued value and fine workmanship.

Selection is enabled from materials to meet the preference of anyone, it is evident. Select from elk, brushed pig, calf, bull hide, sea turtle, water buffalo, pig skin, kangaroo, nylon, elephant, shark, lizard, snake, ostrich, alligator, ant eater and even eel, as example!

About six to eight weeks completion, is norm for one's personalized pair of boots, and this is considered quite a good time when the meticulous care and craftsmanship in their construction is recognized. One cannot help but admire the attention to detail, the knowledge of bootmaking and the genuine interest in customer satisfaction by the devoted staff of experts at Wade Boot Shop, only facility of its type in the region.

Whether the need is the finest boot or if seeking shoe and boot repairs as a real dollar-stretcher, Wade Boot Shop fills the bill.

And don't forget the one-day service on boots and shoe repair every Saturday.
"May we accommodate you with one or more of our several services at Wade Boot Shop, home owned and operated, at 3019 34th St.?"

American Equipment & Trailer Tells Special, Other Benefits

"If your business and activities involve construction, ranching, farming, trucking, industrial enterprise or even many other fields, then American Equipment & Trailer, Inc., appreciates your business, stocking and serving accordingly. Service is our business; we can work for you as we have for others!"

Brake Special
Need a brake job for the trailer? At this time, one can get a break on a trailer brake job from American Equipment & Trailer, with the price just $295, tax included. The seven-inch lining kit consists of premium lining, rivets or bolts, felts, retainer, roller assembly, Stemco oil seals and gaskets, just $295, tax included, remember.

Need a versatile trailer for loading and hauling? Need a service body for a pickup?
Or is it a winch for pickup, four-wheel drive unit or truck that is required?

In these and other needs, American Equipment and Trailer, Inc., with over a quarter century service record, is the firm on which to depend.

American Equipment and Trailer, Inc., at 3707 Quirt Ave. in Lubbock and at 610 N. Grand in Amarillo, and at 1400 West Overland Trail in Abilene, prides its large line-up of equipment, with every item bearing a well-known and respected name.

Included are Koenig service bodies, Galion dump bodies, Midwest farm bodies, Tulsa winches, Wilson livestock and grain trailers, Great Dane refrigerated trailers, Clement dump bodies, Bendix-Westinghouse air brake equipment, Michigan and Pryor gasoline tanks, tank installation kits, Auto Crane, Dur-a-Lift, and more.

New items and lines are added in a continuous program of anticipating and meeting today's and tomorrow's needs.

Of course, American Equipment & Trailer, Inc., can help one with special requirements, too.

Starting from modest beginnings, American Equipment & Trailer, Inc., has grown and served in an ever-expanding program. It began with the idea of having trailer equipment of all kinds for all size trucks, from pickups to diesels. The firm started with a few good lines and built up its stock until now it can say it is the largest trailer service facility in the entire Panhandle-South Plains region.

The Lubbock facility is modern in every respect, built to afford exceptional service. The 12,000 sq. ft. building has multiple double-bay drive-through shop, parts department and spacious show-rooms, and is located on eight acres of land.

We are proud of our customer list, appreciating the opportunities of years past, looking forward to continuation of these opportunities and privileges for seasons to come. We appreciate your visits at any of our facilities; come on out or call us when in need of any product or service we can render. Our service department, remember, has seven double bays and long drive-through large enough to accommodate the largest tractor-trailer made.

Johnie Johnson Exxon Aiding
Every-Season Car Performance

"For safety and driving ease, for assuring that your auto can meet the demands of the season, for economy in preventative maintenance and repairs, your car deserves no less than the attention of Johnie Johnson's Exxon, 34th Street at Knoxville Avenue!"
Wheel alignment, balanced tires, properly functioning brakes, a tune-up by experts... any or all these likely are a present need for your own auto. The importance of each cannot be underestimated... for the safety and comfort of every driver and passenger.
Johnie Johnson is a specialist at each of the above operations, and he invites consideration of both the workmanship and pricing at the Johnie Johnson Exxon.

Prices Appeal
Regular wheel alignment price there is a sensible $12.50 (set caster, camber, toe-in) plus needed parts.
Balancing of all four wheels is just $15.
Disc brake jobs are $78.20.
And a tune-up is just $35. All tune-ups are done right at the facility, with Johnson on the job to assure finest service and customer appreciation.
Before opening his own business about two years ago, Johnson marked over two decades of related experience, including a 17-year stint as front end specialist and more recently as service manager of a downtown Lubbock firm. He knows front end work as probably few in the area.
For Better Ride
He knows that alignment problems cause tire wear, that vibration comes from out-of-balance tires. He can recognize the problem and do something about it, effectively and honestly.
Other features of Johnie Johnson Exxon, phone 795-5942, include:

SUGGESTS, OFFERS EXPERT CARE — Johnie Johnson, long-recognized front-end specialist, serves at his 34th Street Johnie's Exxon where tune-ups, alignment and brake work receive expert attention.
Atlas tires and batteries.
Exxon air filters and transmission oil change, two vital areas adding long life for the car.
Shocks, mufflers and tail pipes.
Numerous accessories, plus the expert shop work.
A state inspection station, Johnie Johnson Exxon is open long hours six days a week, closed Sundays.
Really huge access and parking aprons make "pulling into Johnie's" most convenient, and not only is this convenience to be appreciated, but the entire facility is attractive, clean and thoroughly geared to efficiency in customer service.

Optical Store And Boutique Stresses
New Location, 'Just One Door South'

"Don't you like the new convenience afforded by the new location of The Optical Store and Boutique?"
"Yes, response has been most gratifying to our move into a new home. Formerly familiar at 5202 Slide Road, this "Our Boutique is Unique" firm has moved just one door south, to 5204 Slide Road, into larger and easier departmentalized quarters.
Maintains Own Lab
This is just one of the several factors that place The Optical Store and Boutique at the forefront in its field. For example, with its own lab, the firm can act most speedily and efficiently. One-day service on many prescriptions is enabled.

Probably best known for its fashion frames, The Optical Store and Boutique serves in many other ways, each of which has met with gratifying response.
There is the video that is utilized in frame selection.
And another department enables purchase of live houseplants that are stocked!
It all is a part of the firm's appreciation of its friends and customers and its dedication to finest service possible.
New video tape equipment has been installed to enable one to be photographed with the various frames, then the tape is played back through a color television set to enable one to see exactly how the frames look upon him or her!

Doesn't this make sense?
"We at The Optical Store & Boutique think so, and we believe we are the first optical company in Lubbock to offer this brand new innovation to optical dispensing.
"We believe it is general knowledge that quality lines in frames and glasses are just as near The Optical Store & Boutique.
Thoroughly in keeping with the firm's consideration of the customer's welfare, the folks there emphasize:

Warp 'n Weave's Class, Workshop Schedule Set

Exciting workshops and classes are crowding the calendar at Beck's Warp 'n Weave, and one should inquire and register at earliest possible date to be sure of a place in one or more of these opportunities.
Check now, at Warp 'n Weave, 3021 34th St., phone 799-0151, for details on class content, supplies, costs, etc.
Among the classes and workshops in the Spring Schedule are:
Harness Loom, evenings, Jan. 24 — Feb. 28, and March 27 — May 1, Tom Beck instructing.
Beginning Frame Loom, evenings, Jan. 22 — Feb. 12, and May 6-7, Nancy Beck instructing.
Basketry, Coiled, Feb. 19 — March 11, and Twined & Plaited, March 25 — Apr. 15, Nancy Beck.
Cardweaving, Saturdays, March 1 and March 8, 1:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m., Virginia Riggs instructing.
Knitting, Beginning, Jan. 22 — Feb. 12, evenings, Virginia Riggs conducting; and an Intermediate Knitting class yet to be scheduled.
Beginning Tatting, Jan. 24 — Feb. 7, 2 p.m. until 4 p.m., Betty Bradford instructing, and same dates from 7 p.m.

until 9 p.m., too; and evening classes also March 25 — April 8.
Knitting is being offered for the first time, some will note, expanding the field of instruction and operation in keeping with Warp 'n Weave's policy of growth and service.
Workshops include a Lynn Haney advanced frame loom weaving session in February; exciting new possibilities in overshot, by Charlotte Funk, in March; and intermediate spinning in April, by Joan Holborn. Then in May there will be four-harness rug weaving techniques in a workshop by Ed Oppenheimer.
An incredible supply of materials in weaving and related fields is maintained at Warp 'n Weave, and customers from throughout the Southwest have expressed amazement at the shop's large but selective offering.
See the new shearing afghan kits with real lamb skin, the kits enabling R.C. Gorman oils to be reduced to needlepoint, and the Valentine-related kit of 12 designs for valentines, adaptable to pin-cushions, ornaments, etc.
And note the great Bernat and Galler lines of yarns now presented.
All this, and more, awaits at Warp 'n Weave, 3021 34th St., Lubbock.

Vertical Hollow Shaft Motors, Compressors Stocked By Smith

Compressors for every need these are just some of the key products and services of W.M. Smith Electric Co. Smith is authorized master distributor for the Campbell Hausfeld line of compressors and accessories. In related aids, the full line of parts is stocked; full service is afforded; and the firm also serves as a Campbell Hausfeld warranty station.

What a benefit to industry... of any size, of many types.

"You can depend upon W.M. Smith Electric Co., 1911 Clovis Road, in Lubbock, long servicing industry throughout West Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

The Lubbock branch of the Dallas-based company was established way back in 1952, and the growth of the firm here reflects the quality and demand of the service offered.

Other Products, Service

Smith is distributor for the complete overhead traveling bridge cranes manufactured and marketed under the trade name of SECO.

The firm is a major distributor for crane and hoist components and parts bearing the distinguished trademarks of Dresser Industries, Detroit, Wright, Demag and David Round.

Smith is authorized distributor for the revolutionary Singl/Screw compressors from Chicago Pneumatic.

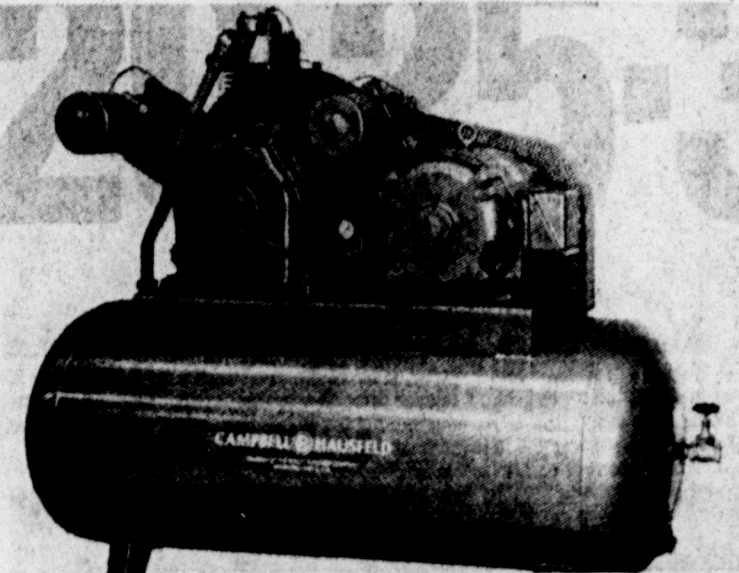

The entire Chicago Pneumatic Equipment Division compressor line is available including spread from the 40 hp 230 460 volt 3 phase, 3550 rpm motor to the big model 1180, a 250 hp 460 volt, 3 phase, 1775 rpm motor.

"Uncommon still in the technology of air compression" is the record of Chicago Pneumatic that has built its Equipment Division on innovation and excellence in industrial air compressors. From its first steam-powered unit, built over 70 years ago, to today's revolutionary Singl/Screw, these have been the Division's primary commitment. Advantages of this new compressor line include simplicity, balanced pressures, low friction, efficient oil flow without a pump, lower operating temperature, no gear to pay for or maintain, new low in quiet operation.

"Let W.M. Smith give full details and help you in your own personalized compressor needs."

Among the many products and services afforded are air compressors by Campbell Hausfeld and Gardner-Denver. They are available in both tank mounted and stationary type, and new or rebuilt ones are stocked up to 160 hp.

Smith rebuilds all makes of compressors, from the smallest to largest.

AMONG COMPRESSORS FOR EVERY NEED — FROM SMITH

Sales and service for all makes of hoists is another key segment of the business.

Motors

W.M. Smith Electric is distributor for three major lines of electric motors: General Electric, U.S., and Baldor, in all sizes, and for Louis Allis and other lines.

Furthermore, the firm has parts for everything it sells, offering service on everything sold, also.

A staff of qualified mechanics and trouble shooters is maintained at all times.

Wire-in and installation of irrigation motors is another area-appreciated service provided by the company.

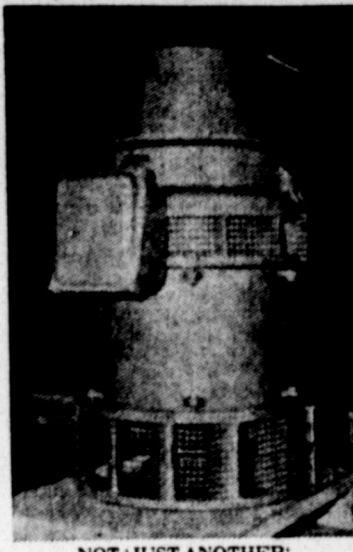

Pick-up and delivery is provided, and service men are on call day or night. Facilities on the shop enable prompt attention and repair in any emergency need.

Vertical hollow shaft motors from LeRoy Somer are now available and stocked.

Not just another "standard" motor, its features include higher thrust capacity, drip-proof enclosure with ventilating openings designed to minimize entry of rain and particles so that this type of motor is suitable for outside applications in relatively dry climates or sheltered locations.

End brackets are rigid grey iron castings machined with precision; the stator is of welded construction and consists of electric steel laminations, heat treated to improve interlaminar insulation and to reduce iron losses.

The stator winding is carried out with synthetic enamel covered wire, with the stator wire fully insulated from the core and between phases to give a true Class F system.

Consider the other superior features, too, that include 1.15 service factor, robust welded steel frame, heavy construction (compare weights), cooler motor, large double-gasketed conduit box for easy and safe connections, permanently installed lifting lugs, and extremely quiet operation.

"All of these features give you greater hp output and longer motor life" is the observation and promise of Smith Electric and Leroy-Somer.

Select from sizes of 75 hp to 200 hp, with units kept in stock at W.M. Smith Electric Co., 1911 Clovis Road.

Kirby Sales And Service, On Slide, Source For New, Reconditioned Units

"Let us prove anew, in 1980, at Kirby Sales and Service, 5410 Slide Road, that this is the place to come for a good product and a good deal!"

Not only are the new 1980 models of the Kirby Tradition (a really fine vacuum cleaner) in stock, but presently the firm has an exceptionally good selection of reconditioned units, each of the latter sold with a full one-year warranty.

"But we especially invite you to see the Kirby Tradition and learn of its multiple capabilities. The new Kirby units carry a two-year warranty."

With its dozens of different uses (more than 80, actually), the Kirby Tradition had refinements over even previous models. Disposable or regular bags can be utilized, as example; and larger wheels at the rear enable easier rolling and maneuverability.

From the availability of the finest vacuum cleaners and the Super Upkeep products to the popular maintenance special (still $7.95 for a tuneup on any Kirby vacuum cleaner, with no labor charge on fixing any Kirby unit, just a charge for parts only), with full emphasis on friendly, qualified service, the firm invites full consideration.

"Very, very liberal trade-ins on your present vacuum cleaner when purchasing any new unit at Kirby Sales and Service, 5410 Slide Road... this should help get the new season started right for you!"

Not only does this Kirby firm have a quite good selection of new cleaners (including the sensational new Kirby Tradition) but the firm is in need of trade-ins, so special deals are being made at this time. But don't delay!

Super Upkeep Line

So come on out to Kirby Sales and Service, on the way to the Mall, at 5410 Slide Road, and see the many products including the Super Upkeep line now made available there.

Super Upkeep is a carpet cleaner, stain remover and deodorizer, fully guaranteed to spot clean and completely deodorize a long list of stains on carpets, fine furniture and auto upholstery, ceramic tile, shoes and clothing, etc.

There is more to merit one's patronage of the firm:

Reasonable prices always, as example:

"The new Kirby Tradition is presently featured, a system that gives more versatility, quality, reliability and performance than in any other appliance!"

"Suppose you had to shampoo a rug, clean, sanitize, buff, wax, polish and paint — all in the same day; how many appliances would you need?"

"Just one... when that one is the Kirby Tradition System with its 80 different uses!"

Repairs, Parts

See this and the entire Kirby line at Kirby Sales & Service, open 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., six days a week, at 5410 Slide Road, phone 792-3718, in Lubbock.

The firm is essentially a family operation, with Dale Bramlett and his son-in-law Dan Wilbanks, as owners-operators, and with Sandy Everitt, daughter of Bramlett, also on the job. They assure a personal interest in every transaction.

Repairs and parts are stocked, and the skilled staffers work on any kind of vacuum cleaner.

A complete line of rebuilt Kirby units is stocked at "a price you can afford."

Rental is available on vacuum cleaners and shampoo machines.

Visa and Bank Americard are honored, and in-store financing is available.

Take a good product, represent it well, with the customer's welfare considered foremost, and you have a business worth knowing and patronizing. The business concept and everyday practices of Kirby Sales & Service, 5410 Slide Road, place it as such a business.

Candidates Keeping Expectations Low

By WALTER R. MEARS
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa's political coffee hours tonight are going to produce two winners — and about a half-dozen claims of victory in defeat.

As Jimmy Carter used to say before he became president and swore off campaigning, you can depend on it.

The two Democrats and six Republicans competing actively in the first presidential contests of 1980 all are avoiding er and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in what is really a two-man race. So the Carter people, who expect to win, are saying it's too close to call, and the Kennedy people are saying the president will suffer if he doesn't win big.

Gamesmanship works better in the crowded Republican competition.

"I'll be, I think, fortunate to run third," said former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas. Third place could be a crowded rung on the Republican ladder, since Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee and Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas are talking about finishing there, too.

The idea is to keep expectations about your own showing as low as possible, while inflating those of your opponents. That way the losers can claim satisfaction and say they're in good shape for the contests to come.

In line with that tactic, Connally and Baker have suggested that former U.N. Ambassador George Bush may beat Ronald Reagan, the pollsters' favorite, and win Iowa outright.

Bush said they're trying to set him up. "That's the oldest thing in politics," he said. "Lower your own expectations, elevate the other guy's. Then if you get clobbered, you can say, see, I told you."

Bush knows how to play the game, too. "Nobody expects me to win, that's not the consensus, thank heavens," he said. "We might do better than expected."

But he adroitly avoided saying what ought to be expected.

Reagan's state and national campaign managers have forecast victory for the former California governor. He is probably the candidate with the most to lose: the leader trying to hold his position.

Reagan has said he would be more confident if Iowa's contest was a primary election, which it is not. It is, instead, a statewide set of precinct caucuses, neighborhood political meetings at which, often over coffee and cookies, Democrats will stand up to be counted for their candidates, and Republicans will mark ballots for theirs.

The Democratic caucuses set the ratio of support for the candidates among the 50 national convention delegates Iowa will send to New York City next summer.

The Republican contest is actually a straw vote.

Kennedy played the ratings game with Carter on Sunday. "I would think the president is clearly a heavy favorite in Iowa," he said.

"I think we'll have a strong showing," Kennedy said. "I can't predict the percentages we'll have, but clearly the president has to gain 50 percent of the vote."

That's not at all clear to the Carter people, who say that the contest is close and that there could be a sizable bloc of uncommitted Democrats at the caucuses.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., the third man in the race, has told his supporters to vote uncommitted. That represents his best chance of holding delegates away from Carter and Kennedy, since it takes at least 15 percent of the vote in a caucus to gain a share of its delegates to county caucuses, which choose delegates to district and state conventions, which choose delegates to the national convention.

While they try to pump up expectations for their rivals, the candidates also are preparing their own alibis.

Carter, for example, can always say he suffered because he couldn't leave the White House to campaign with crises flaring abroad. "In a time of crisis for our country, I believe it's very important for the president not to assume in a public way the role of a partisan campaigner in a political contest," he said Sunday.

Kennedy can say that the crises boosted Carter's standing and diverted attention from the economic and energy woes on which he considers the president most vulnerable.

Brown can, and is, saying that his campaign was undermined when Carter pulled out of what was to have been a Democratic debate.

KIDS-ONLY CLUB Girl Scouts Made Car Litter Bags

By SHARI LEWIS
Hi! This is Mallory, Shari's kid. When I was a girl scout, our troop always wanted to do something to help other people, but we could never think of anything that would also be fun to do.

None of us drove, and all of the homes for old people and day-care centers for tiny kids were a good 20-minute ride away. We didn't know enough first aid to help if someone got hurt, and we quickly tired of going to parks to pick up garbage.

Finally we hit upon something that was good for our community, easy to do and fun. We made car litter bags and gave them away.

All you need are small grocery bags, pens, crayons and stencils (if you wish).

Each member of your group can design the bags any way he or she wants. Stenciling the club's name or troop number on the bags is one idea. Freehand drawing or painting is another. You might like to write a slogan on each bag.

Then you can have your club members go out in pairs and give them away. Adult clubs (such as the Elks, Lions or Hadassah) would probably take a batch, and perhaps the local gas station owner will take some to give to motorists. Two kids can go door to door, giving them away — and don't forget to plant some in your own family car.

These paper car-litter bags really do provide a service to the community. With an attractive garbage bag in the car, people will be less likely to throw trash out the window, and ashtrays will be left empty for ashes and cigarette butts, so people won't be tempted to throw them out the window either.

It's a fun way for your group to help the community and spread a little goodwill for your club around town.

Today's Brain twister: What bird can be found in your throat? (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

advance claims of victory, the better to magnify a win and play down a defeat.

Woe to the candidate who says he will win and doesn't. Better to claim that it will be a plus to run with the pack and finish in the middle.

Simultaneous TV Appearances Offer Voters Quasi-Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Channel-switching voters enjoyed a quasi-debate on the eve of the Iowa caucuses as President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy vied for the attention of national television audiences.

Appearing simultaneously on competing television networks Sunday, Carter and his main rival for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination spent half an hour answering questions.

Occasionally, the coinciding programs offered a sort of arms-length debate between the president and the Massachusetts senator, who face each other and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in Iowa's Democratic caucuses Monday.

Here are a few highlights:

— Carter, on NBC's "Meet the Press," said if Soviet troops are not removed from Afghanistan within one month, athletes should boycott the Moscow Summer Olympics or the Games should be moved to another country.

Kennedy, on ABC's "Issues and Answers," made light of boycott proposals before learning of the president's statement. Informed of Carter's stand during the broadcast, the senator said he would support a boycott but added that "I want to make it very clear that a grain embargo and a boycott of the Olympics are basically symbols, and symbols are no substitute for an effective policy."

— Carter said he feels he has "done everything possible to strengthen our own nation," morally and ethically as well as economically and militarily, during his three years in office.

Kennedy countered: "For the past three years, we've had an American foreign policy that has been lurching from crisis to crisis."

— Pakistan, which feels threatened by Soviet troops in neighboring Afghanistan, won pledges of support from both candidates. The president spoke of potential aid "involving military force if necessary." Kennedy said he would support "whatever is necessary to resist Soviet expansionism in that area."

— On domestic policy, the president disclaimed responsibility for the current 13 percent annual inflation rate, saying, "All of the increase in the inflation rate has been directly attributable to the increase in oil prices."

Kennedy said, "I think most Americans feel that enough is enough, that we have seen a tripling of interest rates, a tripling of the rates of inflation and a foreign policy that is out of control. ... That is why I am a candidate, and I'm staying in the race to debate those issues."

Facts, Figures About Iowa Caucuses

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Here are the facts and figures about the Iowa precinct caucuses tonight:

Republican and Democratic caucuses will be held in each of the state's 2,531 precincts.

Democratic caucuses begin at 9 p.m. EST. There is no prescribed hour for the Republican caucuses, but they will start at about the same time.

The caucuses are the first step in the selection of delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions. Iowa will have 50 delegate votes at the Democratic convention, 37 at the Republican. The precinct caucuses will elect delegates to county conventions. The process continues through district and state conventions, at which national convention delegates will be selected.

The Democratic caucuses will set the delegates at which President Carter, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown and "uncommitted" will share support in the Iowa delegation.

At the Democratic caucuses, participants will divide into groups supporting candidates or preferring to remain uncommitted. Then they'll be counted, and any candidate receiving at least 15 percent of a caucus vote will be entitled to at least one of its delegates to the county convention.

The Republican caucuses will not bind delegates to support any presidental candidate. To measure candidate support, the Republicans are conducting a secret-ballot straw vote at their caucuses. The most active candidates in that competition are former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, former U.N. Ambassador George Bush, former Texas Gov. John B. Connally, Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas and Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois.

Bush Downplaying Chances To Win

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — George Bush spent Sunday jogging along the Des Moines River and watching the Super Bowl — his leisurely attitude a contrast to his determination to do well in today's precinct caucuses.

Bush joined supporters for a Super Bowl party on the eve of the caucuses for which he has been campaigning since late 1978.

Today he teamed up with Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, a fellow Texan, for a final round of campaign appearances before Iowans begin the nominating process in 2,531 precincts across the state.

As the campaign has progressed, Bush has become increasingly coy about his likely performance in the caucuses.

By entering Iowa early and winning backing from much of the Republican Party hierarchy, he assembled one of the best political organizations in the state.

But as late as Sunday night Bush still suggested Ronald Reagan would win.

DR. LAMB

Low Blood Pressure

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I can't remember reading anything in your columns about a minor problem I have — low blood pressure. My pressure is 110 over 60 to 125 over 65.

I'm a 59-year-old male, 5 feet 7 and weigh 175 pounds. In 1977 I went on a diet and in 10 months I took my weight down from 246 pounds. I exercise regularly at a health club two or three times a week, lift weights, etc. I try to eat properly and do not drink or smoke. What am I doing wrong or is my low blood pressure anything to worry about? Would this low blood pressure be the cause of my cold hands and feet in the winter? I can't remember having this problem when I was a heavy drinker.

DEAR READER — There are a lot of things people don't remember when they were heavy drinkers. Alcohol does numb the senses and is an anesthetic. In fact, people who customarily have heart pain may have insufficient blood flow to the heart muscle and not have any pain if they've had a drink of alcohol. That's how they miss nature's warning that they're overdoing it.

Now the question is not what you're doing wrong but what you're doing right and it seems to me you're moving in the right direction. You don't have low blood pressure, you have normal blood pressure. Mine is usually lower than yours. When people are overweight, as you must have been, and lose weight, it's normal for their blood pressure to drop to more optimal levels. If you read my column often, you'd know that I frequently tell people who have elevated blood pressure that one of the most important things they can do is to lose weight.

So rather than telling you what you should do, I'm going to congratulate you on what you have done and tell you to keep it up.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-8, Blood Pressure. It will give you a better appreciation of the range of normal for blood pressure. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Incidentally, people with relatively low blood pressure tend to live longer, healthier lives than individuals who tend to have high normal blood pressure.

Now as far as your cold hands and feet, I notice that you're from Canada and with the cold winters there, I'm not too surprised.

Nevertheless, physical activity does help to warm the hands and feet. If your hands are cold, you can swing them round and round like skiers do to cause the blood to move to the tips of the fingers and that will usually warm the hands.

Of course, alcohol does tend to cause the blood vessels in the skin to dilate and increases blood flow through the skin. That makes a person feel warm. But it's very dangerous if you're exposed to severe cold weather. That increased blood flow through the skin causes the body to lose heat rapidly.

In survival situations alcohol will shorten the length of time you can survive cold weather rather than increase it. So giving a person who's exposed to cold a drink of alcohol may make him feel better while increasing his risk.

TODAY'S STOCK PRICES

Stock Mart Continues To Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its early-1980 rally with a broad advance today. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial climbed 5.12 to 872.27 by noon.

Gainers took a 9-5 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said little had occurred to change the news background against which the market has rallied in recent sessions on heavy volume. Last week was the busiest ever at both the New York and American stock exchanges.

The price of gold climbed to $850 an ounce at the afternoon fixing in London, up from $835 at Friday afternoon's fixing.

Among precious metals, issues, ASA rose 1/2 to 52, and Dome Mines was up 1/4 at 58 1/2, while Homestake Mining dropped 1/4 to 61 1/2.

In the copper group, Phelps Dodge was up 1 1/4 at 39 1/2, and Kennecott added 1/4 to 41 1/2, while Asarco lost 1/4 to 51 1/2.

Oil issues were strong, with Exxon up 1/2 at 55 1/4, Gulf Oil up 1/4 at 35 1/2, Texaco ahead 1 at 33 1/2, and Tesoro Petroleum up 1 at 22 1/2.

Burlington Northern, which reported sharply higher fourth quarter earnings, climbed 2 1/2 to 63 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index rose 37 to 64.31. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 2.01 at 266.47.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 20.61 million shares at noon-time.

Dancy Defense Files For Change Of Venue Attorneys this morning were arguing whether accused murderer Maurice Eugene Dancy could receive a fair trial from a Lubbock jury. Dancy, 19, of 2824 24th St. is accused of the Aug. 21, 1979 beating death of Texas Tech University graduate student Claude Tench Bridges. Bridges, 31, was found at his 2824 23rd St. residence by one of his professors. The professor had gone to Bridges' home after the education student failed to attend a crucial doctoral examination that morning. Defense counsel Tom Cannon and Mary Anne Wiley contend that because of the amount of publicity given the killing and Dancy's arrest two days later, a fair and impartial jury cannot be seated here. Opposing the motion for a change of venue are Criminal District Attorney John T. Montford and his first assistant, Jim Bob Darnell. Testifying this morning were Jack Douglas, Avalanche-Journal reporter, KCBJ news director Ralph Shelton and Rusty Jones, news director for KAMC-TV.

Brush Trucks Provided For Lubbockites' Use By SYLVIA TEAGUE, Avalanche-Journal Staff More than a year since brush pickup fell under the City Council's tax-cutting ax, city officials are meeting residents halfway in the disposal of brush and large items. A program of leaving brush trucks at nine fire stations for the disposal of Christmas trees proved so successful, the program is being tried on a year-round basis. Sanitation Superintendent Max Cunningham said the trucks will be located at fire stations at 17th Street and Utica Avenue, East 48th Street and Quirt Avenue, and 79th Street and Slide Road. A fourth truck will be placed at the pump station at 29th Drive and the Brownfield Highway. Residents can bring brush, water heaters, boxes, furniture, or other items which have been clogging city alleys since brush pickup was eliminated to the open trucks, Cunningham said. Sanitation route supervisors will check the trucks and have them emptied when they are full, he said. Cunningham said each of the nine trucks used about two weeks around Christmas had to be emptied at least three times, with one emptied four or five times. The idea of the self-service brush trucks, which originated with Public Services Director Denzel Percell, is to provide residents a place to put their brush and large items without making a trip to the landfill, Cunningham said. Placing the trucks at various locations around town costs the city "a whole lot less" than a full-scale brush pickup program, he said. Instead of reinstatement of the program, Cunningham said the complete solution to the brush pickup problem lies with "full citizen participation." "At one time we had beautiful alleys," he said. And, although the alleys are "not as bad as we would expect," Cunningham admits they are "unsightly in a lot of places." "People themselves have to decide to take care of the alleys," he said. "That includes cutting up brush to three-foot lengths so it can be placed in dumpsters and hauling large items either to the brush trucks or to the landfill, which those who pay a monthly garbage charge can use free.

'Jihad' Becomes Political Weapon For Moslems

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Centuries ago the call for jihad, or holy war, was a magic cry that electrified Moslems and sent them headlong for battle to spread the faith.

Today, with more than 700 million people embracing the Islamic religion, the cry of jihad still is heard. But it has lost much of its religious force to political motivation.

In the days of the Prophet Mohammed, who brought Islam into the world at the start of the 7th century, jihad meant a struggle to spread the faith against pagan tribes of the Arabian peninsula.

Today, people at extreme ends of the Islamic spectrum use the word for what they consider the defense of Islam, sometimes for selfish ends.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the head of Iran's revolutionary regime, considers himself locked in a jihad for the supremacy of Islam.

Yet Egypt's moderate President Anwar Sadat, a devout Moslem with the solid backing of Cairo's Al Azhar — the universally acknowledged seat of Moslem learning — calls Khomeini's actions "a crime against Islam."

When Soviet troops rolled into Islamic Afghanistan, Moslems elsewhere split decisively.

Religious leaders in countries like Pakistan and Egypt immediately called for jihad by all Moslems against the Soviets. But the predominantly Moslem pro-Soviet Syrians, South Yemeni and Palestinians found it possible to support, or at least tolerate, the Soviet intervention.

Politics make the difference between what warrants jihad and what does not.

Literally, jihad is the Arabic word for battle in the broad sense, not just military. Its religious connotation came from Mohammed's frequent use of the word to urge his followers to spread the faith.

As his following grew, Mohammed mounted six major raids and led about 20 smaller battles over a period of nine years almost immediately preceding his death in 632 A.D. at the age of 63.

Mohammed lost some battles and won others, but triumphed in the end. His largest victory came in 630 when he led an army of 1,000 to a bloodless takeover of Mecca, his native city, from which he had fled to Medina. The migration, known as the hejira, occurred in 622 and the date marks the start of the Moslem lunar calendar.

The Koran speaks in glowing terms of Mohammed's jihad to spread the faith.

"Many large armies have fought by the side of their prophet," it says. "They were never daunted by what befell them on the path of Allah. They neither weakened nor cringed abjectly..."

"Therefore Allah gave them the reward of this life, and the glorious recompense of the life to come."

Since Mohammed, Moslems have raised the banner of jihad whenever they felt their religion threatened by external or internal forces.

A jihad was called when European Christian nations launched the Crusades in the 11th century — an on-again off-again war that lasted nearly 300 years — to gain control of the Holy Land.

Moslem armies battled to keep control of Jerusalem, site of Al Aqsa mosque — Islam's third holiest shrine after the Kaaba stone at Mecca and Mohammed's tomb at Medina in what is now Saudi Arabia.

Some Moslem scholars believe this probably was the last true "holy war" because the stakes were essentially religious.

In subsequent wars, jihad was a facade for political goals, as in the case of the conquest of Saudi Arabia by the fundamentalist Wahabi sect in the 18th century. Other jihads include the Egyptian campaign against British occupation forces in the first half of this century.

"Jihad" was proclaimed in Egypt in 1956 to fight the Anglo-French-Israeli invasion of the Suez.

Mohammed preached that jihad for the faith is not confined to the battlefield, but also covers the struggle for individual righteousness. The Koran speaks of jihad as a requirement for the faithful and promises rich rewards for the "mujahid" — the maker of jihad.

It promises immortality for those killed in jihad, saying:

"You must not think that those who were slain in the cause of Allah are dead. They are alive and well provided for by their lord."

To Moslem zealots, jihad is a weapon not only against external onslaughts but against what they consider a "deviant" order established at home. One example is the Moslem Brotherhood movement, active against home governments in several Moslem countries over the last few decades.

Iranian Pilot Trainees In State Of Limbo

By PAT TEAGUE
United Press International Writer

Iranian military trainees at U.S. bases have lived in the shadows the past few weeks, due to their orders and to the more practical demands of reality.

Since Nov. 7 they have been told by Lt. Col. Alijan Sargazi, the senior Iranian officer at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, to avoid reporters and photographers.

An Air Force official said he understands Sargazi's motives:

"His people are in a no-win situation. If they are interviewed and they say 'We condemn what's going on back home,' then they can't go back home. If they say 'Khomeini is right in what he has been doing,' they'd be in trouble in this country."

Currently, 201 Iranians are undergoing training at seven U.S. Air Force bases in Texas, Mississippi, California and Colorado. (Three pilots are stationed at Reese AFB.)

Some study navigation or learn other technical military skills, but most are jet pilot trainees stationed at Air Training Command bases. The pilot trainees have had one thing in common since Nov. 23: They've been grounded.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown issued an edict restricting training to the classroom and the simulator, and since then the Iranians have been barred from the supersonic T-38s in which they had hoped to gather the 120 hours of required flight time.

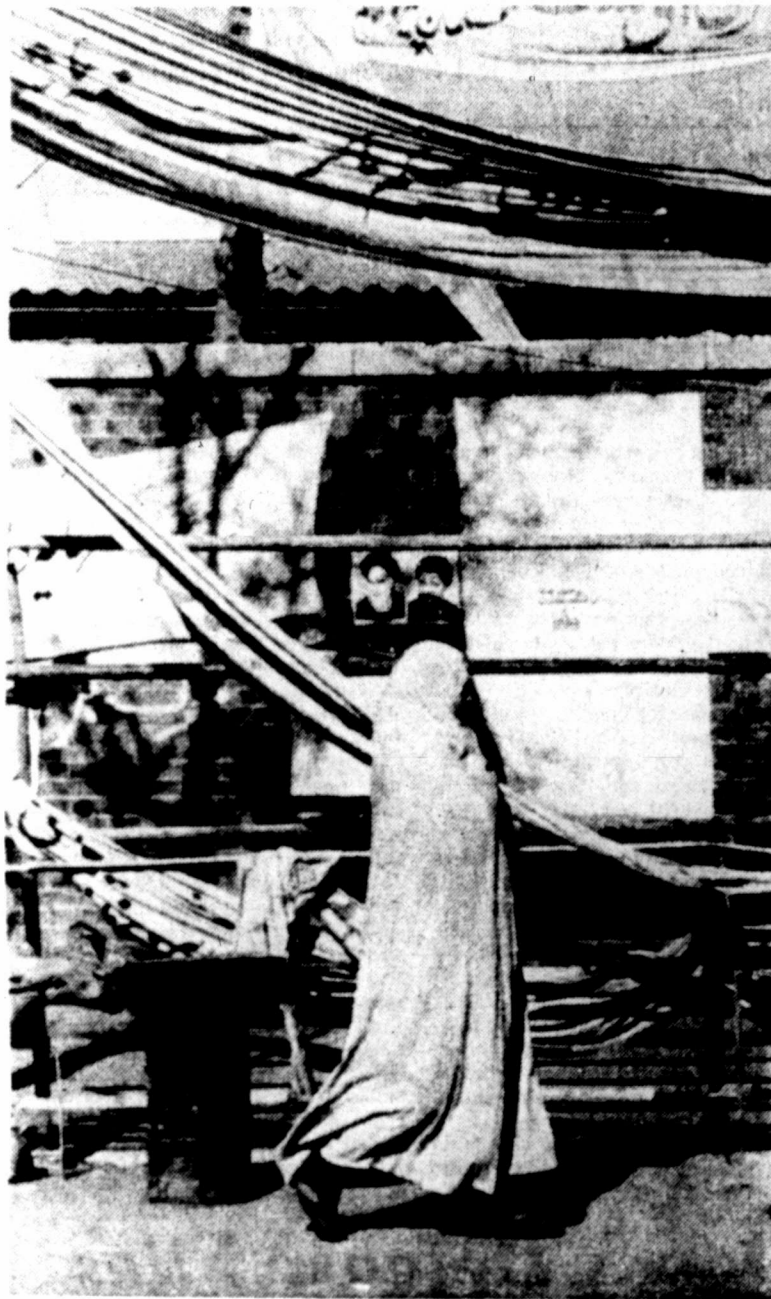

The grounding order was given after the administration received criticism from several quarters, including the offices of Texas' senators, Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower, in whose home state most of the Iranians were trained in the past.

"There is absolutely no reason for the United States to continue to train fighter pilots for a renegade government that is holding American diplomats hostage in Tehran," Bentsen declared 10 days before Brown issued his grounding order.

Since that time, trainees who entered the program under the aegis of the shah's regime have found themselves in the position of seeking pilot's wings with no real chance of gaining requisite flight time. "They are," said one Air Training

Command official last week, "in a state of limbo."

THIEVES NET HALF-MILLION
LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Thieves broke into the R. & R. Jewelry store overnight and made off with as much as a half-million dollars worth of jewelry and cash, authorities said Sunday. Police at about 1 a.m. discovered a door had been pried open and the safe and jewelry case ransacked. Police said they think it was the work of professionals, who may have been inside the store for three to four hours, breaking into the safe and scooping up rings, necklaces and other valuables from glass showcases.

Exxon plans record energy investments in 1980.

This year, Exxon plans to invest more than $6.6 billion worldwide in new energy projects.

Most of the money ($6.1 billion) will be spent to find, develop and distribute new supplies of oil and natural gas.

The remainder of more than $500 million will be spent to provide additional energy from other sources, such as coal and uranium.

For the past ten years, Exxon's worldwide energy investments have totaled 1½ times as much as its profits.

Exxon's outlook is for steadily growing expenditures in the years ahead.

Bradshaw, Steelers Lay Rams To Rest

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Something was very wrong. Terry Bradshaw just couldn't shake the feeling. The Pittsburgh Steelers were going to lose.

It was early Sunday morning, 12 hours before kickoff. The quarterback sat up in bed, suddenly wide awake after drifting off to sleep just three hours earlier.

He closed his eyes again. It did not good. The feeling was still there. He turned on the television, watched the test pattern and listened to the high-pitched whine accompanying it for the rest of the night.

The hours drifted by. Still no sleep.

"All I could think about was losing," Bradshaw recalled later — after he had chased away the demons with yet another Most Valuable Player performance in Pittsburgh's 31-19 Super Bowl victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Losing normally just doesn't accompany Bradshaw and the Steelers. Records do. Winning a Super Bowl does.

Sunday, Bradshaw threw his eighth and ninth Super Bowl touchdown passes ... a record.

Lynn Swann and John Stallworth each caught a third Super Bowl touchdown pass ... a record.

Franco Harris scored his third and fourth career Super Bowl touchdowns ... a record.

Oh, and the Steelers' Super Bowl victory was their fourth ... a record.

"It was weird. It just wasn't like me, not being able to sleep before a big game," said Bradshaw, whose 309 yards of passing (14 for 21) was within nine yards of the record he set a year ago. "Last year before Dallas (the Steelers beat the Cowboys 35-31) I didn't have any trouble. I never had any negative thoughts. I never think about losing. I had to say to myself, 'Stop that, now. Think positive.' Finally, it worked."

"That didn't surprise me a bit," Steelers' coach Chuck Noll said. "Nothing about the Rams surprised me, especially their quarterback. He's a fine one."

"I told Terry before the game that he would have to come up with the big play," Noll added.

Nuff said.

With 2:48 gone in the third period, Bradshaw went to Swann, unloading a

I never think about losing. I had to say to myself, 'Stop that, now. Think positive.' Finally, it worked."

Then there was the small matter of asserting himself with his teammates.

"I think I had more of a leadership role this time," Bradshaw said. "I really took charge and tried to juice 'em. I never do that. But I really took control of the team. Usually I just go out and play the game. But I felt I wasn't involved, and I thought 'If I'm not involved maybe they're not involved,' so I made a point of pumping 'em, getting them going, getting them excited."

When?

"At the start of the second half, after I got myself juiced up. That wasn't tough at all. I mean, 13-10 got me juiced up real good."

That was the Rams' lead, technically built on Cullen Bryant's 1-yard run and field goals of 31 and 45 yards by Frank Corral but, in fact, built on the cool passing of young quarterback Vince Ferragamo and some explosive running by Wendell Tyler.

Ferragamo was starting only his

A Steeler Dynasty

THE PITTSBURGH STEELERS won everything Sunday on the slippery turf of the Rose Bowl — Super Bowl XIV, team of the decade accolades and future Hall of Fame honors for Terry Bradshaw, Franco Harris, Lynn Swann and John Stallworth. A cast of thousands, as they used to say in Hollywood.

There's been a lot of talk about dynasties in pro football the last 20 years, but none of the top powers ever remained in the No. 1 spot long enough to really qualify for that designation. A dynasty ought to cover 10 or 15 years to be worthy of the name, it seems. The Dallas Cowboys have been around the top rung most of the last 15 years, but they have won everything only twice.

Pittsburgh, on the other hand, has not been an NFL power that long. The Steelers were 1-13 when Coach Chuck Noll was given the reins in 1969, and it took him four years to build a contender. Once at the championship level, though, the Steelers have done all right. Four Super Bowl titles in the last six years! That is really something.

WITHOUT DETRACTING IN any way from the Steelers' achievement, one must admit that Fate has been kinder to Noll than it has been to some of his opponents. A couple of other dynasties were in the making at Dallas and Miami early in the 1970s when something called the World Football League made its brief but spectacular appearance. Since Dallas and Miami were the top teams at that time, it was only natural that the new loop would go after their stars.

Miami, the records show, went to the Super Bowl three consecutive years in the early '70s, losing to Dallas in Super Bowl VI and then winning VII and VIII. The Dolphins might still be going, too, but the WFL lured Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Paul Warfield away with enormous contracts. The Dolphin offense went with them.

The Cowboys had back-to-back Super Bowls, losing to Baltimore on a field goal and then drubbing Miami, and it looked as if the 'Pokes had a dynasty building. But Duane Thomas got so temperamental that Coach Tom Landry had to trade him. Calvin Hill jumped to the WFL, ace linebacker Chuck Howley tore up a knee and Bob Lilly got old.

End of dynasty.

NOLL AND THE STEELERS have had a minimum of problems during the last decade, though. The franchise was at the bottom of the stack when Noll took over, so he got a lot of high draft choices. He used them wisely, too, picking Joe Greene, L.C. Greenwood and Jon Kolb in that initial draft.

The next year Noll hit the jackpot by taking Bradshaw No. 1 in the entire draft, which is the kind of opportunity you have when you finish 1-13. He also got Mel Blount, who patrols the secondary like Jaws does the Atlantic seaboard.

Noll added Jack Ham and Dwight White in 1971 and Franco Harris in '72 and the empire was built, although it didn't hurt when he grabbed Swann, Stallworth and Jack Lambert in 1974. That '74 Steeler draft had to be one of the best in NFL history, along with Dallas' 'crop in 1975.

All those fellows still are in Steeler uniform, too. The only departure of note was defensive tackle Ernie Holmes, who caused so many problems that he was shipped off to Tampa Bay. But the rest have stayed at home like good boys and won and won and won.

IT MAY BE SNATCHING at straws, but other NFL teams can only hope that age or complacency catch up with the Pittsburghers. The Steelers have a lot of key men entering the final phase of their grid careers, although no one can say when they will lose that step of speed or split-second reaction.

Bradshaw has been talking a bit of retirement, after 10 years under the gun, and Swann announced — prematurely, as it turned out — his retirement last summer. Without those two, Steeler foes would have a much better chance.

Harris has lugged the leather for eight seasons in the NFL, which is about as long as most running backs survive. He may play another year or two, but the end is in sight.

Then there are some other starters with a lot of years behind them, such as Rocky Bleier (11), Blount (10), Greene (11), Ham (9), Kolb (11), and Dwight White (9).

The Steelers have some very good young players, but you don't replace the Greens and the Bradshaws and the Swanns.

Other NFL teams hope that the Steelers find it impossible. Pittsburgh already owns the 1970s, but the Cowboys, Eagles, Chargers and Seahawks still have plans for the '80s.

Carter View Puts Games In Limbo

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says he expects the U.S. Olympic Committee will go along with his call for an American boycott of the Summer Olympics in Moscow if the Soviet Union has not withdrawn its troops from Afghanistan by Feb. 20.

Carter has no legal authority to dictate a boycott and the U.S. committee will meet next weekend in Colorado Springs, Colo., to consider the president's request.

Carter outlined his proposal Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press." Asked afterward if he thought the U.S. committee would abide by his request, he said, "I think so."

Carter, intensifying his attempts to punish the Soviet Union for its intervention in Afghanistan, called on the International Olympic Committee to boycott the Moscow games or transfer them to another site if Soviet troops are still in Afghanistan a month from now.

Presidential Counsel Lloyd Cutler said he anticipates that Canada, Great Britain and West Germany will support Carter's position.

Under Carter's proposal, the American boycott would take effect if the IOC ignores the president's appeal for a global boycott, as seems highly likely.

For now, the focus is on the U.S. Olympic Committee, which will attempt to poll some 10,000 prospective American Olympic athletes to help the 86 voting members of the USOC's executive board decide on Carter's proposal.

USOC president Robert Kane said he was pleased that Carter made his appeal to the IOC rather than calling for a unilateral American boycott.

Douglas F. Roby of Ypsilanti, Mich., a past president of the USOC and a U.S. representative on the international committee, told The Washington Post in reaction to the president's call: "That's it. If the Soviets aren't out of there in 30 days, we probably won't go ... We certainly have to obey the command of our government and our president. I feel I'm sure the International Olympic Committee would not accept moving the Games at this late date, or postponing them."

Lord Killanin of Ireland, president of the international committee, today called Carter's move "a hasty decision" and said the Olympic movement, not the Soviet government, would suffer from an American boycott.

"I am disappointed about this hasty decision, made without the consultation of those concerned in the Olympic movement," Killanin said from his home in Dublin.

"I am enormously encouraged by the stand the USOC has taken in the face of

Mitchell Wins First PGA Title

PHOENIX (AP) — In two weeks there have been two first-time winners on the pro golf tour.

But, said Lubbock's Jeff Mitchell, the latest man to break through, it isn't necessarily a trend.

"You'll start to see those familiar names up there pretty soon," Mitchell said after scoring a 4-stroke victory Sunday in the Phoenix Open.

He glanced over at the scoreboard, nodded toward it and continued: "Look, there aren't but a couple of strange names up there now. The old names will be coming back."

It was one of the more familiar names, 16-time tour winner Hubert Green, who had the best chance to overtake the front-running Mitchell in the final round. But Green fell back with a last-round 73, dropping out of title contention and making it relatively easy for the 25-year-old Mitchell to claim the $54,000 first prize.

That compares with the $38,032 he collected all of last season and represents a huge change in his personal and professional life.

In response to a question, he started totting up some of the things the victory will mean.

"Let's see," said the 25-year-old Mitchell, who had to survive the Monday qualifying round just to get in the tournament field. "It puts me in the Tournament of Champions and the Masters. And I'm in the PGA. And there's no more Mondays."

His solid final round of 67, which finished off a 272 total — 12 under par on the 6,726 yard Phoenix Country Club course — will enable his wife to travel with him later this year.

"My wife is working now. We figured somebody had to make a living. But now, after the baby comes (due in three months), she will be able to come out here with me."

Mitchell's nerves really weren't put to the test over the final 18 holes. He started one shot in front of Green and three in front of everyone else. No one really threatened.

"I really wasn't nervous," said the slow-talking young man from the High Plains country. "I can always tell when I'm nervous. My hands start shaking. It's a dead giveaway."

He built his lead to two shots at the turn and led by a minimum of three over the last nine holes, finishing with a birdie on the final hole. That finally cracked the blank, poker-faced expression he wore all the warm, sunny day.

"What a great feeling," he said.

Rik Massengale was equally thrilled with his second-place finish. Massengale, once one of the game's more promising young players, broke a lengthy slump with a solid, 6-under-par 65 that brought him from far back in the pack to second place at 276.

He won $32,400, which compares with the $29,000 he'd collected in the last two full years.

Mike Sullivan, Mitchell's close friend and a runnerup a week ago, had a closing 69 and was third alone at 277.

A group at 278 included Tom Kite, Bill Rogers, Jack Renner, Charles Coady and Rod Curl. Kite had a last round 66, Rogers 68, with the others shooting 70.

bomb that the lithe wide receiver caught with a leap at the 2-yard line. He tumbled into the end zone to complete the 47-yard scoring play. It put the Steelers back on top 17-13.

Undaunted, Ferragamo came back with a 50-yard bomb to Billy Waddy, then handed off to running back Lawrence McCutcheon, who pitched a 27-yard option pass to Ron Smith for a touchdown and a 19-17 Ram lead that remained that way when Corral missed the extra point. The big play, Noll had said.

With 2:56 gone in the fourth period and Swann sidelined with a concussion (he was cartwheeled by Pat Thomas in the third quarter), Bradshaw went to Stallworth, who had faked an inside route, then had taken off downfield. The bomb was perfect, Stallworth gathering it in at the Rams' 32 as Thomas lunged in vain, then going the rest of the way to complete the 73-yard play that put Pittsburgh ahead to stay.

The Steelers wrapped it up when Harris, who had gotten their first touchdown on a 1-yard sweep in the second period, bulled in from the 1 again with 1:52 to go. It came three plays after a pass interference penalty against Thomas for bumping Jim Smith in the end zone.

It was the only controversial call, and the Rams really didn't argue too loudly.

Harris' clinching touchdown came eight plays after Jack Lambert, the Steelers' middle linebacker, broke the Rams' backs by intercepting a Ferragamo pass at the Pittsburgh 14-yard line.

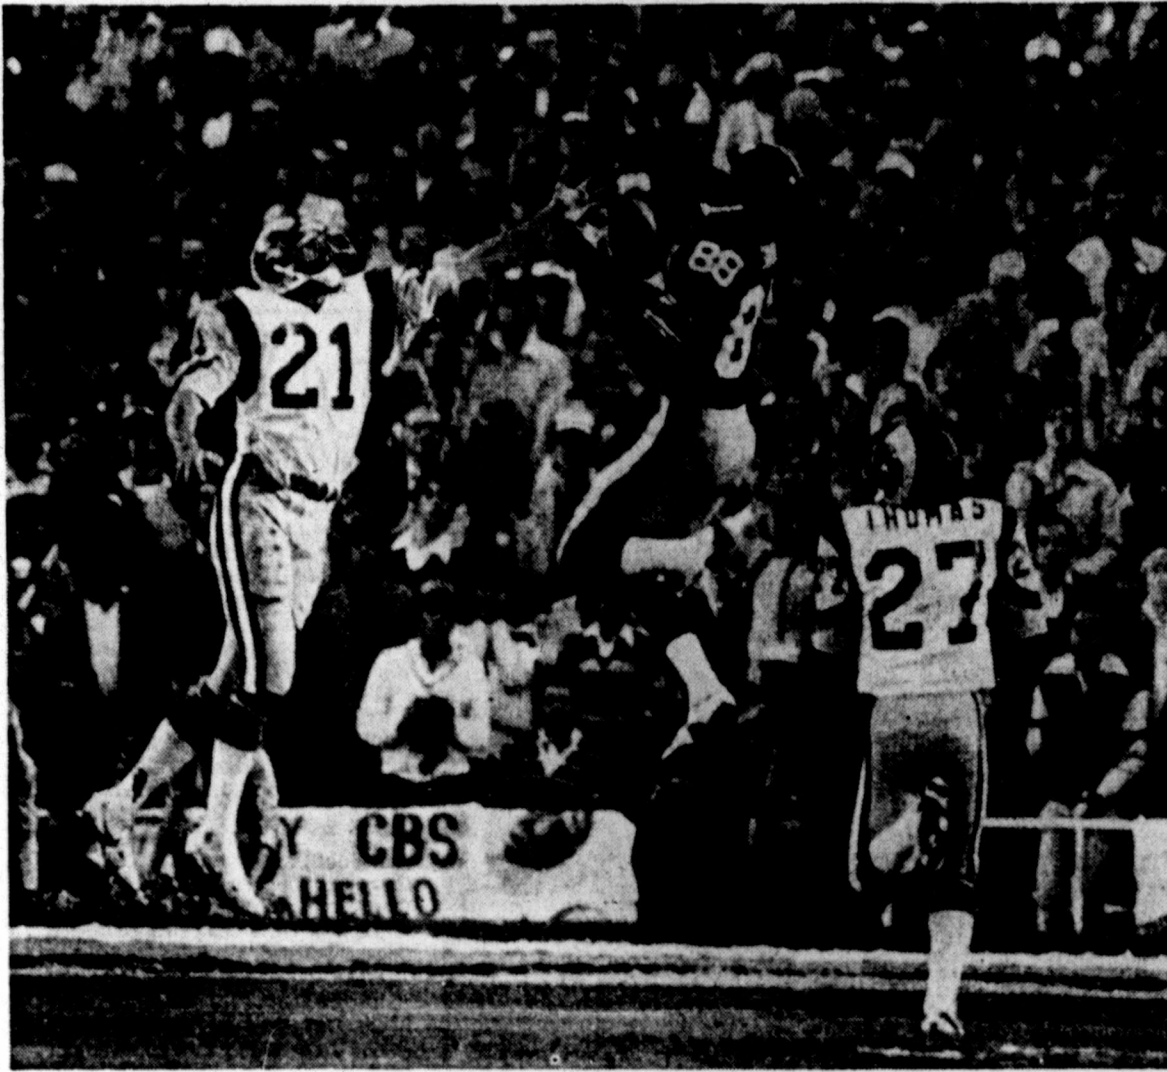

The interception and touchdown finally allowed the Steelers to breathe easily against a team which most observers felt would be blown out of the Rose Bowl long before the extravagant halftime show — complete with a giant fireworks display — blew smoke all over the San Gabriel Mountains.

"I never thought that," Noll insisted. "I knew we'd be in for a tough time. The Rams are a very good defensive team. The only reason we scored what we did was a few big plays. Without them, we wouldn't have beaten them."

The Steelers, playing nearly a continent away from home, solidified their claim as the greatest team in the game. "I don't have to say it," Noll said when someone asked if his Steelers were, indeed, the greatest. "The facts speak for themselves."

Bradshaw wasn't quite so hesitant. But in answering the question, he set yet another goal for his team. "The greatest? This year? Yeah. The decade? No question. Ever? Well, Green Bay's got five championships. We've got four. The Packers are the best. We're second best."

For now.

Maligned Rams Give Impressive Account

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — "We had the chance to be great and we didn't quite make it," said Los Angeles Rams defensive end Fred Dryer. "The Steelers are the champs, great champs, and I respect them."

"But they know it could have been us instead of them."

The Rams, longshots even to make it to Super Bowl XIV and longshots to beat the three-time champion Pittsburgh Steelers when they did get there, almost reached football's pinnacle after struggling uphill all season.

But when it was over Sunday in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, the heavily favored Steelers had ended the Rams' hopes of once again overcoming great odds, as Pittsburgh came from behind for a 31-19 victory over Los Angeles.

Following the game, which they led most of the way until the fourth quarter, the Rams players were extremely weary and most spoke in low tones. But they were proud.

"We went out and played as well as we could play, as hard as we could, and that's what it's all about," said safety Dave Elmendorf, who had one of Los Angeles' three interceptions of Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Offensive tackle Doug France said, "I hope the way we played made people realize that we really are a good team. It'll depend on what the reporters write about the game since fans tend to believe what they read, I guess."

"But I know the players and coaches from both sides thought it was a hell of a game. There was some kind of hitting out there. I'm more tired than I've ever been after a game."

Two key plays for Pittsburgh were a pair of long touchdown passes by Bradshaw, one of 47 yards to Lynn Swann in the third period, and another of 73 yards to John Stallworth in the fourth to give the Steelers a 24-19 lead. Rams cornerback Rod Perry was the defender on both plays.

"On the pass to Swann, I jumped, but just didn't get high enough," said Perry, who at 5-foot-9 is three inches shorter than Swann. "On the Stallworth touchdown, there was a bust in our coverage. I was supposed to get help and I didn't."

Two Rams, who had played almost error-free football for the first three periods, made two costly mistakes in the closing moments. The first came when quarterback Vince Ferragamo threw an interception that stopped a drive in Steeler territory, the second when cornerback Pat Thomas was called for pass interference in the end zone to set up Pittsburgh's final score.

"We could have won if I hadn't thrown that interception," said Ferragamo, who completed 15 of 25 passes for 212 yards and suffered just the one interception.

Of the pass interference call, Rams' coach Ray Malavasi said: "It was just a bad call. I could see it clearly from the sidelines, and Thomas did not interfere."

Thomas, who tangled with Pittsburgh receiver Jim Smith on the play, would say only, "It was a sorry call."

political pressure," he added. "It is the USOC that has to decide whether American athletes will take part in the Games, not the U.S. government."

After the president announced his proposal, Moscow Radio called Carter's proposal "futile" and accused him of trying to revive the Cold War.

Carter's television appearance was dominated by questions about the impact of the Afghanistan situation. He said many responsible Iranian officials now see the Soviet action in a neighboring country as a "major threat to Iran's security."

Killanin, meanwhile, has reaffirmed his insistence that the 1980 Summer Olympic Games cannot be shifted from Moscow.

"There is no question of their being moved to another venue," Killanin was quoted today in The Times of London. "This is a time for cool heads and quiet voices."

He again said, as he did last week, that the 1980 Games were awarded to the Soviet Union in 1974, and unless the Soviets break the terms of that binding agreement, the Games cannot legally be moved.

In a related development, the Soviet Union's national sports newspaper, Sovetskoy Sport, denounced as a "slandorous fabrication" speculation that Russia would boycott the Lake Placid Olympics. The newspaper also expressed confidence that America's efforts to undermine the Summer Games would fail.

Meanwhile, Egypt officially underscored its unhappiness with the Soviet Union and considered a possible Olympic pullout, if the situation demanded it.

Dr. Abdelhamid Hassan, the Egyptian state minister for youth and sports, said Sunday that his country's decision on whether to attend the Summer Games hinges on the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan, and the consequences of their presence there.

Even if the Soviets withdraw," he told reporters at a news conference, "our decision will depend on what they did in Afghanistan — they may leave it a desert. Our choice will be made in the favor of the Afghan people and basic human rights."

In America, there was no fence-straddling the issue among the nation's athletes. They were either strongly opposed or passionately behind the President's stand.

Among the angriest and most outspoken against Carter were Anita DeFrantz, a bronze medalist in rowing in the 1976 Olympics and Steve Lundquist, a member of the U.S. Olympic swimming team.

"Carter said 'we' are going to boycott the Olympics," said Miss DeFrantz, who took a leave from a law practice to train for this year's Olympics. "I don't understand the 'we.' Where was he when I was out there freezing my butt off? I rowed all of last year except when the river was frozen."

Mike Grinski and Gene Banks, two members of the Duke basketball team, were among those standing behind Carter.

"I feel I have to support the President's action," said Grinski.

SWC Weaklings Play Tech Tough

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

In the final analysis, all that matters is under what heading you can file the game away: W or L.

And the Red Raiders notched a couple for the W column this week and in the process ran their Southwest Conference mark to 5-1 — behind only Texas A & M and Arkansas.

But the Raiders, with little more than the bat of an eye, could have emerged from last week's cage wars with a 3-3 league mark.

On Tuesday the Raiders nipped Rice 62-59 in overtime and on Saturday they tripped the Baylor Bears 69-67 in the final seconds. And in both games it was some clutch free-throw shooting by sophomore David Little that provided the margin of victory.

Little, although he didn't pile up the point totals he has at times this year, emerged as an iceman during the Raiders' two wins last week. Against Rice he was four-of-four at the line in the final 18 seconds and against the Bears he hit both ends of a one-and-one with 10 seconds remaining to cinch the win.

The Raiders get a little time off to recuperate this week — but beginning Saturday it's back to the grind. The Raiders are idle until then when they travel to Dallas to tangle with the troubled SMU Mustangs in Moody Coliseum. The Ponies, after a loss to TCU Saturday, are 1-5 in league play.

On the Tuesday following the SMU contest, Tech will close out the first half of SWC action with their biggest test yet — Arkansas. The Raiders will stand either 6-1 or 5-2 going into the tilt, while the Hogs could be no worse than 5-2 and possibly 7-0 when the two meet in the Municipal Coliseum on Jan. 28.

But first, the Raiders must concentrate on SMU. Twice last week, Tech proved that the opposition's record can mean very little — both Baylor and Rice boast only one SWC win apiece.

"I hate to have to say all the same things again," said Tech coach Gerald Myers after the Raiders' win over Baylor, "but this game was just so much like the Rice game. Again, we were fortunate to win."

To put it plainly, the Raider cagers have been unpredictable this season. Although they proved last week that they can play on an even level with the league's lower division teams, they also proved that they can stay with the leaders step for step.

Remember that Tech defeated the Texas Longhorns on the road, and lost to the Aggies only in the final moments of a heated battle in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

But what has sparked the Raiders in conference action so far has been a remarkable scoring balance. And that was never illustrated more clearly than on Saturday night.

All five starters finished in double figures and only six points separated Tech's high-point man from the rest of the starters.

Kent Williams, who hit a big bucket against Baylor to tie the game at 67-67, and Ben Hill, led the way with 16 points each. Ralph Brewster added 15 points and seven rebounds, Little had 12 tallies and Taylor added 10.

The Raiders' early-season shooting has cooled off a bit in the last two games but Tech still leads the conference in field goal percentage. Against the Bears they connected on 49 percent of their efforts. More importantly, they were 13 of 24 in the second half.

"The game could've gone either way," admitted Myers, of the Baylor tilt, "but I'm not taking anything away from our guys. They kept their poise at the end and enabled us to win it."

Smiling Whitefaces Build District Momentum

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Coach Bob Decker wasn't just listening to himself talk when he commented, "I think we've got a shot at the District 4-AAAA title. I really believe that."

The only thing is: Decker expected Hereford to mount a charge in the second half of conference play, not the first go-around.

"Our best chance is in the second half," noted Decker. "That's when we have our best schedule."

And, Decker added, the Whitefaces still need a little more time to "get the football out of our system. We have a lot of kids that played football that are playing basketball, too. They need some more time to work. That's why I like our chances in the second half, more so, let's say, than in the first half."

But a strange thing happened to Hereford on its way to the final four games of the year. On Friday night, the Whitefaces upped and pulled the rug out from under Plainview, a team some loop coaches felt might challenge pre-district favorite Monterey for the crown. Hereford won the affair, in the HHS gym, 52-48.

The win leaves the Decker-coached crew with a 1-0 conference mark and atop the District 4-AAAA, along with Monterey, a 70-50 winner over Lubbock High.

But the perfect mark will have to fall beside the court, Tuesday night since Monterey and Hereford square off in a battle of the unbeaten. The contest, set for a 7:30 p.m. start, takes place in the Plainsmen gym.

Also on tap for Tuesday night in conference play is another key matchup, pit-

Unpredictable AAA Races Unfold

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

District 1-AAA opened its boys' basketball play Friday night and, if you didn't believe the loop coaches when they said how tight the race would be, take a look at the first night's results.

One game will suffice. Borger, 23-2 and ranked third in the state, beat Levelland, at 6-10, the worst team in the league, by only eight points, 66-58.

Toss in a couple more cliffhangers: Canyon edging Dunbar 58-55 in Lubbock and Estacado hanging on to a 77-67 win over Dumas in Lubbock, and it looks like it should be a heck of a season in District 1-AAA.

The big game this week will be Friday night's Borger-Estacado clash here in Lubbock.

After Friday night's game, the Matadors are 14-8 on the year and are in pretty good shape, having won seven of their last eight games.

The same cannot be said for Dunbar, now 9-11. The Panthers' loss at home to Canyon (a team Estacado beat 66-52 in the Caprock Tournament), makes this week's games all the more important. Tuesday night Dunbar hosts Levelland and Friday night it travels to Dumas.

Friday night's the night also in District 2-AAA as Odessa Ector and Andrews knock heads. Andrews is 3-0 in loop play and 21-2 overall. Ector, only 12-8 overall, stands 2-0 in district.

And the Eagles have some impressive wins under their belts. The teams share two common district opponents. Ector beat Fort Stockton 92-66 (Andrews also won 71-59) and then the Eagles dismantled Pecos 86-45 (Andrews won that one 88-69).

Ector travels to Monahans (1-1 and 8-11) Tuesday night in a warmup while Andrews relaxes on a night off.

Snyder has yet to start conference play, so District 3-AAA is a fog. But the Tigers' 17-4 record makes them a force to be reckoned with.

Winning their loop opener Friday night were Lamesa (14-5) and Brownfield (11-8).

Snyder opens its district play Tuesday night at home against Sweetwater (0-1 and 6-14). The Tigers then take on Lake View (0-1 and 10-6) in San Angelo.

Brownfield, meanwhile, is set for a matchup with Lamesa on the road Friday night.

In the girls' half of District 1-AAA, it looks like Dumas is going to be the whole story. 19-1 and ranked third in the state, the Demon girls blitzed Estacado 70-51 Friday night.

Canyon and Levelland are tied for second place in the district with one loss each, but Dumas has already beaten both of them.

Ector and Monahans are both 2-0 in District 2-AAA, and tonight's showdown in Monahans is a big key to that conference's first-half standings.

The Odessa team has taken a pair of lopsided wins in its first two outings, whipping Ft. Stockton (0-2 and 2-17) 60-33 Tuesday night and then beating Pecos (0-3 and 9-11) even worse, 63-29, Thursday night.

Monahans, meanwhile, topped Pecos a week ago and whopped Andrews (2-1 and 10-9) 69-53 Thursday night.

Another conference-deciding game tips off Tuesday night between Sweetwater and Snyder. The clash, in Snyder, should have a lot to do with the 3-AAA finish.

Sweetwater is 3-0 with wins over Lake View (1-1 and 16-5), Lamesa (0-3 and 4-15) and Brownfield (0-1 and 6-10).

LSU Defies Demons' Pitchfork Despite Obstacles

By The Associated Press
Dale Brown didn't like the odds, but he didn't mind the final score ... even though he lost. In his eyes, it was a moral victory in the classic sense.

"We lost our leading scorer and rebounder just as the game started," pointed out the Louisiana State coach. "Then our big man fouled out early in the second half. Our next-leading scorer played the rest of the way with four fouls and we got only five free throws to try."

On top of all that, LSU had to play in what Brown called "one of the worst gyms in the country." DePaul's intimidating Alumni Hall.

"And we still didn't lose until the final 50 seconds ... I would have to say that would give us a psychological advantage if we happen to meet DePaul again," said Brown, obviously thinking of a possible shot at the Blue Demons in the NCAA tournament.

All this happened Sunday in what Brown called a "gutsy, gutsy effort," a 78-73 loss to the nation's top-ranked college basketball team.

Starting with the disadvantage of playing in DePaul's gym, Brown's Tigers lost top scorer Durand Macklin to injury no more than 22 seconds into the game. Early in the second half, both 7-foot Rick Mattick and 6-9 DeWayne Scales of LSU drew their fourth fouls, with Mattick leaving the game with his fifth at 15:57 to play.

Scales stayed on to finish with 26 points, 18 of them in the second half and 16 in the final 10 minutes. DePaul held several 10-point leads in the second half, but couldn't put the 14th-ranked Tigers away until Clyde Bradshaw converted three free throws in the final seconds. Mark Aguirre scored 31 points for the winners, including 13 of 14 from the foul line.

"What more do you want from a ballplayer?" asked DePaul coach Ray Meyer of Aguirre. "When you go to the free throw line 14 times, that shows me something. It shows you're not just standing around."

The Maryland Terps weren't standing around, either, Sunday, taking the measure of ninth-ranked North Carolina 92-86 in one of many upsets over the weekend.

Second-ranked Ohio State, No. 3 Syracuse, No. 11 Purdue, No. 12 Virginia and No. 13 Iowa all lost Saturday. Ohio State was beaten by Michigan 75-74 in overtime. Syracuse lost a 68-67 heartbreaker to Old Dominion; Purdue dropped a 67-61 decision to Minnesota; Virginia suffered an 88-68 loss to No. 18 Clemson and Iowa was beaten 75-67 by Michigan State.

Elsewhere, No. 4 Oregon State beat Washington 89-84; No. 5 Duke stopped No. 16 North Carolina State 76-56; No. 6 Kentucky routed Vanderbilt 106-90; No. 7 Louisville defeated Tulane 76-59; No. 8 Notre Dame turned back UCLA 80-73; No. 10 St. John's edged Georgetown 71-69; No. 14 LSU nipped No. 20 Tennessee 75-74; No. 15 Missouri trimmed Oklahoma State 69-64; No. 18 Brigham Young routed Colorado State 104-82 and No. 19 Indiana defeated Northwestern 81-72.

Albert King's 28 points led Maryland past North Carolina in a tense Atlantic Coast Conference game. King, Buck Williams, who scored 19 points, and Ernest Graham, who added 17, teamed up to control the offensive boards and shut off the inside lanes to the Tar Heels.

Thad Garner scored four of his 19 points in overtime to help Michigan beat Ohio State, the first defeat in six Big Ten games for the Buckeyes.

"We didn't have anyone with more than five rebounds," said Ohio State coach Eldon Miller, underscoring one of the keys to the game. "Really, what we have to do is congratulate Michigan because they worked harder than we did and deserved to win."

Old Dominion overcame an 11-point deficit in the last 4 1/2 minutes to beat Syracuse. The Monarchs finally won the game on Bobby Vaughn's tip-in basket at the buzzer following three other last-gasp shots. Trent Tucker scored 19 points and Darryl Mitchell hit two clutch free throws with 17 seconds left, leading Minnesota over Purdue.

John Campbell and Larry Nance collected 12 rebounds apiece and teamed for 42 points to trigger Clemson over Virginia. The Cavaliers were hurt by foul trouble to center Ralph Sampson, who played only 14 minutes and recorded merely 10 points and seven rebounds.

Kevin Smith's 23 points paced Michigan State over Iowa. Ronnie Lester, the Hawkeyes' star guard, played for the first time since injuring his knee in a Christmas tournament and was obviously hampered, scoring only two points.

Ray Blume, Mark Radford and Dwayne Allen made clutch field goals in the final 31 seconds to help Oregon State beat Washington.

Vince Taylor's 18 points and Gene Banks' 18 rebounds paced Duke over North Carolina State. Kentucky beat Vanderbilt as Kyle Macy scored 18 points. Darrell Griffith keyed a 13-5 Louisville spurt early in the second half, leading the Cardinals over Tulane. Kelly Tripucka scored 17 points in the second half after a scoreless first half to lead Notre Dame past UCLA.

Reggie Carter's three-point play in the last five seconds lifted St. John's over Georgetown. LSU beat Tennessee Saturday as Scales scored 22 points.

Winters' Maneuver Works

By The Associated Press
When Brian Winters saw that the play the Milwaukee Bucks had designed wasn't going to work, he designed his own.

The clock was ticking toward zero and his teammates were covered Sunday when Winters, dribbling at the top of the key, motioned for Richard Washington to set a pick. Winters then stepped behind Washington and made a 20-foot basket with four seconds to play, giving the Bucks an 89-88 National Basketball Association victory over Portland.

"Sometimes, you just have to do it on your own in this game, and that was one of those times," Winters said.

The Bucks not only broke a three-game losing streak, but did it at the expense of one of the teams they may have to beat out for a playoff spot.

SuperSonics 108, Celtics 106
Dennis Johnson got off a three-point field goal that tied the game for Seattle at the buzzer ending regulation play, and the SuperSonics went on to beat the Celtics 108-106 in double overtime.

After Johnson's heroics before a packed Garden crowd of 15,320 and a national television audience, Gus Williams scored 12 of his game-high 29 points in the two overtime periods and the Sonics handed Boston only its third loss in 23 home starts this season. The Celtics were led by guard Chris Ford, who scored 26 points including five three-pointers.

By PETER J. BOYER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The researchers wanted to know what kids thought about science: "I would not like to be a scientist," wrote one 11-year-old boy in his essay. "They get up early in the morning... I can't get up that early in the morning." Reasonable lad.

An 11-year-old girl, of practical nature, wrote: "I would like to be a scientist... I would invent a lot of things, like a dish wiper so I wouldn't have to wipe dishes after my mom washed them."

If he were a scientist, one 9-year-old fancied, "I may discover a new cure for cancer by catching it. But if I was a different kind of scientist, I might discover an explosive."

From these responses and those from 8,000 other children across the country, researchers from the Children's Television Workshop surmised that kids felt science was generally a good idea, but dangerous and demanding, and therefore, best left to others.

CTW was asking the questions because it wanted to make a kids' show about science, hoping to match the success of CTW's "Sesame Street" and "Electric Company." Their surveys allowed the children themselves to shape the program.

Kids watched television programs on a computerized device that allowed them to judge the program by pressing buttons when they were bored or interested. The results showed that children liked strong role models, human involvement, and visual as opposed to audio stimulation.

The target audience was the 8-12 age group, chosen by CTW's advising staff of psychologists, educators and industry leaders because youngsters of that age are beginning to think systematically and to organize "objects and events along the dimensions of time, space and function."

One study showed CTW that girls and minority students were the least interested in science (25 percent of boys, but only 3 percent of girls said they wanted a career in science). So, the kid hosts chosen for the new show are a white girl (Lisa), black boy (Mark) and a Puerto Rican girl (Trini) — a bright and engaging trio.

The result: "3-2-1 Contact," a daily half-hour show that is absolutely something to cheer. It's not "Mr. Wizard," with test tubes and experiments and such; in fact, the science stuff just sort of slips in among the fun stuff.

For example, the theme of opening week last week was "Noisy and Quiet." Mark and Lisa were shown talking to each other through a pair of tin cans connected by a string (a means of communication used by every kid at least once); then Trini called them over to listen to an amazing fellow who imitates sounds — creaking doors, trains and the like.

BLACK DECREE
Gondolas once glided along the canals on Venice in colorful trappings as nobles vied in display. But edicts in 1562 and later decreed: "Henceforth one color for all," and to this day the craft cruise undorned, hulls painted black.

Writer Says Children's Science Show Also Fun For 'Big Kids'

Somewhere along the way, someone mentioned that "the reason you hear something is because it vibrates." That's an effective, inoffensive method of teaching. The sugar-pill theory: If the youngsters don't know it's good for them, they can sit back and enjoy it.

My favorite part of the show is a little feature called "The Bloodhound Gang," a Monday-Thursday detective show aimed at demonstrating reasoning and deduction as the kid detectives take on swindlers of sundry sort.

This week's theme is forces. Kids can watch roller-coasters, gliders, Frisbees and baseball, and along the way, learn that force changes motion. It's fun, even for us big kids.

Councilmen Want Part-Time Work

CLEVELAND (AP) — At $18,000 a year, members of the Cleveland City Council aren't likely to get rich on just their city salaries. In fact, some say they are having trouble making ends meet.

So Council President George L. Forbes is trying to help them line up part-time jobs to supplement their incomes. He's told some members to prepare resumes so he can give them to prospective employers. "I've gone out and talked to certain people," Forbes said.

In recent years, more councilmen have been full-time legislators, finding it difficult to hold outside jobs since the council holds committee meetings during business hours.

Lower Tax Rate Helps Take Sting Out Of Filing

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a series of five articles entitled "Coming With Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1979 tax returns.

By GLENN RITT
WASHINGTON (AP) — When you finally buckle down and face those income tax forms, you'll find what appears to be welcome news, a lower tax rate.

The government not only cut the rate this year by widening tax brackets, but it is allowing you to take a larger personal exemption than ever before.

But, don't cheer too loudly. Because of inflation, you may wind up paying more than you did last year.

Those who received a cost-of-living raise had cause for celebration, particularly with expenses rising so fast. So did those who received extra interest on savings and investments. But, here's the catch: The greater your income, the higher percentage of it Uncle Sam wants.

"That shocks a lot of people," said George Ross, a Treasury spokesman. "People are making more money, but they're not prepared psychologically to pay more taxes."

Of course, it would be worse without the reduction in tax rates, he noted.

This year's forms contain major changes, reflecting the 1978 Tax Reform Act, which cut individual income taxes by $13 billion.

The standard deduction (now called the zero bracket amount in legal taxes) has increased from $2,200 to $2,300 for an individual and from $3,200 to $3,400 for married couples.

SHOT KILLS BOY

PASADENA (AP) — A autopsy has been scheduled in the death of a 2-year-old boy killed when a rifle bullet fired by his mother passed through her body and struck the child, authorities said. The mother, 33-year-old Katherine Wright, was in critical condition in a Houston hospital. Police said she shot herself with a 30-06 rifle. The victim, Danon Nathan Wright, was standing in the kitchen of his home about noon Saturday when the slug struck and killed him, police said.

In addition, the personal exemption has gone from $750 to $1,000.

However, the general tax credit cannot be claimed this year.

Not counting the effect of inflation, a taxpayer earning under $5,000 a year will have his or her taxes cut, on average, by 36 percent. For those earning between $5,000 and $10,000, taxes will be reduced, on average, by 19 percent. For higher income brackets, the cuts will range from about 5 percent upwards, the Treasury Department says.

provides tax payments to many low-income people to discourage them from taking welfare, has been liberalized.

The maximum credit has increased from $400 to $500, and people can get advances on that money to give them more take home pay. In addition, people now qualify for the credit if their income is $10,000 or less. Last year's ceiling was $8,000.

People who itemize can no longer claim a deduction for political contributions. But the maximum tax credit for such contributions has been doubled to $50 for single taxpayers and $100 for married couples filing a joint return. The tax forms themselves again try to read as simply as possible, say IRS officials. That helps the agency as well as the taxpayer.

The IRS includes separate instructions in its tax booklet for each line of the return. The expanded tax tables, adopted in 1977, have been retained so that people can rely more on the 1040a short form.

As a result, more people are preparing their own taxes, the IRS says. In 1976, about 47 percent of all taxpayers sought outside help. Last year, that figure dropped to 39 percent.

"Last year, we had an error rate about the same as the year before, which itself showed a marked drop," said Robert Brauer, chairman of the IRS' tax form committee.

Despite this improvement, the IRS still is concerned that their forms are too complicated. It is spending $1.2 million to study ways to improve the tax package.

Brauer said the study is asking: "Can we get the right forms more effectively into the hands of the right people? Can we set up specific forms for special segments of the population, for example, the elderly or the handicapped? Can we cut back some of the information in our general tax booklet?"

This year's forms were mailed out beginning in late December and must be returned, of course, by April 15. As always, taxpayers who file early will get refunds faster than those who wait. If you file in January, your refund could arrive within four weeks. If you wait until April, the check won't arrive for eight weeks, the IRS advises.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be tactful, yet don't beat about the bush tomorrow if there is something you've been wanting to tell another. Your straightforwardness will be appreciated.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Without being selfish assert yourself tomorrow in areas offering personal gain. You can reap a harvest if you're willing to put out the effort.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be at your best tomorrow when you are able to do things the way you feel they should be done. Avoid restrictive situations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you see someone you're fond of in need of assistance tomorrow, don't wait for them to ask for help. Jump in at the first sign of trouble.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Tomorrow will be a good day to launch new projects or ventures. Take the necessary steps to get things rolling at once.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Challenges or competitive situations should prove stimulating for you tomorrow. Hurdles or oppositions will spur you on to greater efforts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you have a choice tomorrow between mental or physical labor, tackle the task where you can use your mind, rather than your brawn.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There are some subtle changes beginning to stir where your work is concerned. Don't be disturbed by shifting conditions. They could work to your benefit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your spirit of cooperation will be contagious tomorrow. Associates will find this appealing and they'll be encouraged to act in a like manner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Tomorrow should be a rewarding day for you. You'll take pride in your work, and whatever you do you'll not be ashamed to put your signature on it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take the time tomorrow to do things you thoroughly enjoy. Having fun will serve to recharge your batteries and prepare you to face the rest of the week.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Before attempting anything new, use your hours tomorrow to finish up matters which you have left hanging. You'll operate better after the decks are cleared.

Your Birthday

Jan. 22, 1980

This coming year you are likely to do more traveling than you have for quite some time. The trips may not be of long duration, but they should prove very pleasant.

Travel, resources, romance, luck, possible pitfalls and career for the months ahead are all discussed in your new Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth date.
