

ICE FLOW — The path of flowing water was traced in ice early today at a car wash at Fourth Street and Elgin Avenue. It was icy outside, too, as freezing rain put a sheet of ice over the city.

The overnight low temperature was 17 degrees, and the high today was expected to reach only the upper 20s. (Staff Photo by Paul Moseley)

Cold, Ice Expected To Linger In Area

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Fogged in and coated with ice, all Lubbock lacked for an authentic Ice Age scene this morning was a glacier on the horizon.

Misting rain fell all night and streets had a thin but tough skin of ice over them when the 17-degree low hit this morning.

A travelers' advisory was issued for the South Plains and most of West Texas because of the dangerous driving conditions.

The forbidding weather was expected to last into Wednesday with temperatures in the upper 20s today, near 20 tonight and near 30 Wednesday.

There is a 30 percent probability of more precipitation today and a 20 percent chance tonight and Wednesday, weathermen said.

Winds will be easterly to southeasterly at 10 to 15 mph today and tonight.

The rain was light in Lubbock and over the South Plains with only a trace reported here and similar readings elsewhere in the area. But surface temperatures were so low that every drop of it stuck and froze the when it touched the ground.

Traffic around the city was hampered as residents needed extra time to scrape windshields and ease their way over treacherous streets.

Lubbock motorists apparently were taking the ice into account, however, as police reported only 19 accidents, all of them minor, between 7 p.m. Monday and daybreak today.

Buses were running into and out of Lubbock but were 45 minutes to an hour late because of the widespread icy conditions. Lubbock Bus Terminal ticket agent Jerry Edwards said.

Lubbock International Airport runways were kept deiced during the night, airport manager Marvin Coffee said, and flights were staying on schedule this morning.

The state highway department had road-salting crews out in 20 trucks during the night in an effort to keep roads in the 17-county Lubbock highway district passable today, department maintenance superintendent J. W. Gooch said.

Their task was made almost impossible, though, when the mist kept falling steadily through the night and sticking to the highways.

Four trucks were dispatched for the Lubbock area and concentrated mainly on Loop 289, Gooch said, and were able to salt Loop overpasses sufficiently for the morning traffic.

"The overpasses are in good shape, but in between the overpasses it's real slick and hazardous," he said.

Although the South Plains was hard-hit by the storm, it was only part of a huge area of Texas to be iced over Monday and today.

An ice storm warning was issued for an area along and 75 miles north of a Texarkana-to-San Angelo line, including Dallas-Fort Worth, as the front forced its way into usually warmer sections of the state.

Most of West Texas and parts of North Texas were covered with ice.

It was 10 degrees at Silvertown, 13 at Tulia and Plainview and 14 at Dimmitt

Stone's Lawyer Urges Acquittal

By JOHNNY HOLMES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

PLAINVIEW — After a morning of contradictory testimony from one of the youths in a pickup with Roxanne Casas the night she was fatally shot, defense attorney Travis Shelton asked the court for an instructed verdict of innocent in the murder trial of avowed witch Loy Stone.

District Judge John T. Boyd will rule on the request early this afternoon. Stone is accused of the Halloween 1977 shotgun slaying of the 15-year-old Dimmitt schoolgirl, who died that night after being shot while riding in a pickup near Stone's rural Castro County residence.

"If the judge grants the motion, we'll be out of here this afternoon," said Shelton, who filed the motion after his defense partner James Doores found several inconsistencies in the testimony of 20-year-old Carlos Garza, who spent the entire morning on the stand.

Garza re-created the scene as the pickup he, Roxanne and three other Dimmitt youths were in pulled into Stone's driveway after following another car to "the spook's" house.

"We sat there in the driveway about 25 seconds and a lady came out and stared at us," Garza said.

Prosecutor Jimmy Davis asked, "Did you see anything unusual?"

"She was carrying a gun," Garza said. "She started walking toward the pickup and somebody shot."

"But you told me on more than one occasion that the lady didn't have anything in her hands, didn't you?" Doores asked later.

"Yes sir, but it took so long to get the deposition," Garza said.

Doores, holding a copy of Garza's deposition taken in August 1978 in Dimmitt, said, "But in August 1978, you said she had her hands at her waist and wasn't carrying anything, isn't that right?"

"Yes sir," Garza said.

"And you told the jury this morning that the statements in that deposition

Inflation Brings Changes For Elderly

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Inflation has taken its toll on most segments of American society, but among those most affected are the elderly who are trying to make ends meet on retirement incomes.

When Bill Hamrick of Lubbock retired several years ago, he knew that his family could not survive on their Social Security incomes. So, Hamrick decided to start what he calls his "retirement business."

A former car salesman, Hamrick now operates the H&W Tackle Co., which keeps him busy repairing fishing tackle. "It's kept me out of trouble," he noted.

But even with the money from his repair business, Hamrick said that he and his wife have had to change their way of life somewhat. "We don't participate in a great many things we normally would do," he said. "You just have to discipline yourself not to spend money."

According to Hamrick, he and his wife aren't doing without any necessities, but they cannot participate in many recreational activities or buy arts and crafts they would like to have.

Hamrick said many senior citizens are hit with high bills for necessary medications, but he and his wife have been lucky in that area. However, the couple has faced heavy expenditures for the upkeep of their home, he said, noting that any type of unanticipated expense causes budget problems.

The current financial problems faced by the majority of Americans remind Hamrick of the Great Depression days in the 1930s. During the depression, most people had difficulty getting any money, he said. The big difference now, he said, is there is enough money, but the dollar

23 Feared Dead In Ship Mishap

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — With six crewmen known dead, divers today searched the shattered hull of a sunken Coast Guard cutter for 17 others missing following a nighttime collision with a tanker just outside Tampa Bay.

While 27 crewmen were rescued after the 180-foot cutter Blackthorn collided with the 605-foot oil tanker S.S. Capricorn late Monday, one was found dead shortly after the accident and divers recovered five more bodies this morning.

"As time goes by the hope grows less," Coast Guard Capt. Marshal Gilbert said at a late morning briefing. "But we still hope there may be an air pocket (inside the hull) and we might find someone alive."

Gilbert said the divers had to battle poor visibility and treacherous currents in the 50-foot-deep water where the Blackthorn went down.

"The divers are finding the situation very difficult," he said. "The Capricorn is aground nearby, there's a current and it's difficult to operate in an area where the ship is aground."

Gilbert said the cause of the accident had not been determined. He said weather on the bay at the time was "good, with visibility six to eight miles and a light wind. There was no significant weather problem."

He said the commander of the Blackthorn, Lt. Cmdr. George J. Sepel, had not discussed the collision with Coast Guard officers.

But Sepel, who was reportedly on the bridge with his executive officer at the time of the accident, issued a statement praising rescuers.

The tanker was identified as a New York-based tanker registered to the Kingston Shipping Co. Inc. of New York. The 24,000-ton ship had made frequent trips to Tampa Bay ports, officials said.

Members of the Tampa Bay Pilots Association said the ship was loaded with heavy fuel oil and was bound for a Florida Power Corp. generating station near St. Petersburg.

The Coast Guard at first said 53 crewmen were believed aboard the Blackthorn, but later revised the number to 50.

The 27 men plucked from the water immediately after the accident were taken to Tampa Bay area hospitals. Six were soon released, 18 were released this morning and three were hospitalized — two in fair condition and one, fireman apprentice Donald M. Brooks, 21, in intensive care with possible salt water in his lungs.

Divers received no response earlier when they tapped the cutter's hull from the outside.

"They're gone," said one shivering survivor at a makeshift medical center on shore. "The guys that are down there are gone."

It was not known what caused the collision.

Comic Dies At Age 86

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jimmy Durante, the brash, raspy-voiced comic who joked and sang his way to fame at the expense of a huge nose, died today. He was 86.

The death early this morning was confirmed by a nursing supervisor at St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, where Durante was admitted Jan. 7 for treatment of pneumonia, a form of pneumonia.

The famed "Schnozzola" was one of show business' most beloved personalities.

Durante's fractured song-piano-joke routines, including his trademark "Inka Dinka Doo," were a show business staple for 64 years. A stroke in November 1972 left him partially paralyzed and forced him to retire from show business. Two years later, he was honored at a tearful appearance before the Banishes in New York.

Durante artfully combined wild clowning, outrageous characterizations and pathos. He was a leading star on radio and in early television. He made nearly 30 movies, but he was most successful in those involving his old routines. He ended his radio and television performances with "Good night, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are." He once confided that he was referring to his first wife, who had died.

He remained active in show business, playing regular engagements in Las Vegas and making guest appearances on television until his stroke in 1972. He was left partially paralyzed in the left arm and left leg and was confined to a wheelchair.

After 64 years in show business, the comedian found retirement hard to accept. He remained at home with his wife, Marjorie, and their adopted daughter, Cece, rarely going out.

In April 1974, Durante went to New York for a Banishes luncheon attended by newspaper editors and publishers. He received an award from the Banishes and responded with a faltering rendition of "Inka Dinka Doo."

In one of his last interviews before his illness, Durante remarked after a Las Vegas performance, "I love it out there. It ain't work. To hear those people out there laugh and enjoy themselves ... When you're 'but there, you pray to God that it'll never end."

He was hospitalized for several weeks in May 1978 with an upper respiratory infection and complications of the earlier stroke.

Durante starred in virtually every branch of show business.

He became a headliner in the 1928 Ziegfeld show in which he had the line, "Be nice to people on the way up. They're the same you'll pass on the way down." That, he said later, "is a nice line to live by."

Canada Aids Diplomats In Escape

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six American diplomats who had been hiding in friendly embassies in Tehran since Nov. 4 have escaped with the help of the Canadian embassy there, State Department officials said today.

The diplomats were outside the embassy when it was seized and were able to hide until this past weekend, when Canada issued them false passports and got them out of Iran, said the officials, who declined use of their names.

They refused to say where all of the diplomats had hidden during their 12-week ordeal for fear that Iran would take reprisals against the embassies involved.

Canadian Prime Minister Joe Clark confirmed Canada's involvement in the escape plan but added: "I don't want to go into details of the matter because of the delicate nature of the situation with the American hostages in Iran."

Canada closed its embassy in Tehran and evacuated its small staff Monday, citing security concerns for the decision.

Some 50 American hostages remain in the hands of Iranian militants who are demanding the return of the ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in exchange for the prisoners.

Officials refused to disclose immediately the names of the diplomats who escaped, their jobs or their whereabouts.

But they said the six escapees did not account for the discrepancy between the number of hostages the State Department has said are in the embassy — 50 — and the number counted by American clergymen who visited the hostages at Christmas — 43.

Home Sales Unaffected By Schools

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A school district expert witness today testified that, to his surprise, schools are a "insignificant factor" in homebuying decisions as the latest hearing in the Lubbock public schools segregation suit went into the second day.

Dr. Karl Lynn Guntermann, associate professor of finance at Texas Tech University, said studies he has conducted in South and Southwest Lubbock show, "Schools are an insignificant factor in residential location decisions. I found that to be rather surprising."

He continued that he expected the school factor to be important because "in many cases home purchasers will state that as a reason" for locating in a particular area.

School attorneys are attempting in this trial in U.S. District Court to disprove government allegations that deliberately discriminatory school board acts influenced city housing patterns, thus preserving segregation of some schools.

Government attorneys contend that school officials have kept the white population moving to the southwest through placement of schools in those areas.

The schools maintain they have merely followed population shift trends, not created them.

Guntermann said he studied the areas surrounding Williams Elementary in Southwest Lubbock during development in the early 1970s and also the area south and southwest of Loop 289 around 1977.

Guntermann said he found that, even more than school factors, variables such as size and age of the house are important in home purchasing decisions "at least almost all the time."

"This means in spite of what people may say about its importance (school location), it doesn't come down to being that important."

However, government attorneys argued the validity of Guntermann's study, questioning whether deliberately discriminatory acts by the school board had been considered.

Guntermann acknowledged he had not addressed the factor of segregation in his studies nor the effect of segregated acts by the school board.

Expert testimony took up all of this morning's proceedings with another Tech professor testifying to the relationship between income and housing purchases.

Dr. James Jonish, chairman of economics at Tech, testified that his studies won't buy as much.

"The net result is very much the same," Hamrick added.

Another local senior citizen vividly recalls the depression days. Evela Jordan said that living through the depression taught her to conserve.

"Through our Home Demonstration Clubs, we learned to raise and preserve foods," she said. "We also learned to take the clothes we had and remake them."

Now, at the age of 79, Mrs. Jordan is still practicing the conservation lessons she learned in her youth. "At my age, I still do a lot of freezing, and I have always sewn," she said.

Mrs. Jordan views the current inflation as "a proposition you have to live with." One has to learn to be practical, she said. "If you can't do something about a certain situation, you have to accept it."

The Lubbock woman spent many years working as a salesperson and finally ended her career after working several years in a health food store. Now, she lives off the income from her small retirement fund and her Social Security checks.

"I have to have a little help along to make ends meet," Mrs. Jordan said, noting that if her medical expenses become too high, she seeks financial assistance from her son.

When she goes grocery shopping, Mrs. Jordan said that she buys only good, nourishing goods. "I don't buy any junk foods," she said, "and I've learned to get along without beef."

Her meat entrees consist chiefly of seafoods, chicken and turkey, Mrs. Jordan explained. To stretch meats, she said that she often prepares many casserole dishes.

Emphasizing the need for healthy foods, Mrs. Jordan said she also tries to buy fresh fruits and vegetables as much as possible. "And if I have the opportunity, I watch the ads for specials."

One of the things that concern Mrs. Jordan is increases in taxes, which she said contributes to the average person's problems in coping with inflation. Every-time taxes go up, her house payment increases, she said.

And when her house payment goes up, Mrs. Jordan finds she has less money to spend on other necessities.

Authorities Believe Garner

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Any TV private detective worth his prime-time slot can't get along with the police, but James Garner is happy that the authorities believed him this time.

A brother and sister were charged Monday in connection with a traffic accident two weeks ago in which Garner claims he was assaulted and robbed. The pair had claimed Garner caused the trouble.

Aubrey Leigh Williams Jr., 35, of Tujunga, faces charges of hit-and-run, assault with a deadly weapon and grand theft, while his sister, Deborah Ann, 25, of Pasadena, faces one count of grand theft, according to the district attorney's office.

Garner, star of the recently canceled NBC television series, "The Rockford Files," was hospitalized for three days after the Jan. 16 incident in which he was allegedly beaten and robbed by two people riding in a car which had bumped into his in Coldwater Canyon.

Garner told police three gold chains valued at $1,500 were stolen by his assailants.

Last Tuesday, Williams and his sister surrendered after authorities said they traced their license plate and issued warrants for their arrest.

The pair, free on $2,500 bail, denied Garner's account of the incident and claimed the actor started the fight by kicking Williams.

Garner's series was canceled when the actor said he was unable to work due to a series of illnesses, including sinusitis, an ulcer and an arthritic knee.

Hank Snow Meets With President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Country singer Hank Snow, who says he was himself a victim of child abuse, was one of several celebrities who met with President Carter to show support for a national child abuse campaign.

Also on hand were actress Sophia Loren, who was named to head a fund-raising drive of the National Alliance for the Prevention and Treatment of Child Abuse, and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr.

Carter praised Snow's annual benefit performances at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville for abused children.

Miss Loren, said the group will seek to awaken the world's consciousness against this sordid and persistent crime.

Katharine Hepburn Receives Award

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Katharine Hepburn has received the Screen Actors Guild Annual Award for "outstanding achievement in fostering the finest ideals of the acting profession."

Miss Hepburn, who lives in New York, accepted the actors' union highest accolade in a tape-recorded speech played at SAG's annual meeting at the Sheraton Universal Hotel.

"I am dumbfounded and at the same time I am very proud to have been chosen by the Screen Actors Guild as a good example professionally and personally," Miss Hepburn said on the tape played at the meeting Saturday.

"I still live where I grew up. I am still friends with the man with whom I won the three-legged race in 1917."

New Rhetoric On Campaign Trail

Have a what? "It's like a mini-press conference," she replied. "There are no chairs or coffee."

Draft Registration Plan Faces Uphill Struggle In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The standby draft registration proposal President Carter will put before Congress will have a difficult time winning support whether or not it includes women, several influential congressmen predict.

Furthermore, staff aides on the two committees that would take up such legislation question whether any proposal stands a better chance of winning support than the registration bill easily defeated in the House last year.

Carter does not need Congress' go-ahead to resume registration of males between the ages of 18 and 26, a move he announced during his State of the Union address Wednesday.

But he does need congressional approval of the estimated $10 million needed to implement registration, for "clean-up legislation" to streamline registration procedures abandoned in 1975, and to include women.

Unvented Heater Safeguards Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission is pondering ways to improve the safety of unvented gas space heaters.

Officials say about 70 people die annually from carbon monoxide poisoning associated with these heaters.

Because they are not vented to the outside, toxic fumes can build up around the heaters, rising to hazardous levels if the room is not well ventilated.

The commission is considering requiring new heaters to have a device called an oxygen depletion meter. The meter senses when toxic fumes are building up and will shut off the heater before the danger level arrives. Similar devices have been used successfully in Europe.

Unvented heaters are widely used in the South and Southwest.

Before deciding whether to require the meters on new heaters, the commission is seeking comment and suggestions from the public on the idea. The deadline is March 18 and letters should be sent to the Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

Carter Predicts Unemployment Rate To Increase

By OWEN ULLMANN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, who frequently boasts that he has reduced unemployment by 25 percent, will have to withdraw that claim if his new economic forecast proves correct.

Carter predicted Monday in his 1981 budget report that a mild recession will push unemployment to 7.5 percent this comes to an end. That would put the rate just above the 7.4 percent level he faced when he took office in January 1977.

At the end of 1979, the jobless rate stood at 5.9 percent, which meant that 6.1 million people who were looking for work had no jobs.

Based on Carter's new forecast, 1.7 million people will be joining unemployment lines by the end of this year, raising the total of jobless Americans to 7.8 million.

But the president's budget for fiscal 1981, which begins Oct. 1, would continue the government's public service jobs program and most other employment services at essentially current levels, except for a new program designed to help poor, illiterate teen-agers find jobs.

The budget calls for $9.7 billion in Labor Department spending for employment and training programs, up from $8.9 billion for 1980.

The new figure includes spending for 450,000 public service jobs under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) — the same number of jobs budgeted for 1980.

A new item in the budget is a request to spend up to $300 million to start up a program aimed at teaching poor youths how to read and write and how to find a job so they can avoid chronic unemployment.

The budget also seeks an additional $145 million for a Private Sector Initiative program designed to help the hard-core unemployed find jobs in private industry.

Spending for unemployment insurance programs is expected to rise by $2.5 billion to $16.5 billion in 1981, based on a forecast that an additional 900,000 people will be collecting benefits.

Unlike statements he made in his first months in office, Carter said Monday he can live with higher unemployment — even in an election year — to reduce an inflation rate running at more than 13 percent a year.

The economic report accompanying his budget forecasts a high jobless rate for the next two years, averaging 7.3 percent by late 1981.

Unemployment has fluctuated between 5.6 percent and 6.1 percent for nearly two years, a source of pride at the White House, where officials like to recall that the jobless rate was between 8 and 9 percent during much of the Ford administration.

Only last week, Carter declared in his State of the Union message to Congress that "my administration, working closely with Congress, has made significant progress in reducing the serious unemployment problems that existed three years ago."

Carter said he would consider tax cuts or expanded public jobs programs only if the economy were to "deteriorate significantly" beyond the current outlook.

On Monday, Carter's chief economic adviser, Charles L. Schultze, told reporters there is no specific unemployment

GOP Chiding President For Unbalanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are chiding President Carter for failing to balance the 1981 budget — as he once pledged — but both parties in Congress we were in 1976," Dole said. "This (1981) budget calls for levels of taxation "In 1976, President Carter ran on a promise that he would balance the federal budget by the year 1980," Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., a GOP presidential hopeful, said Monday after the spending plan was formally sent to Capitol Hill.

"Now 1980 has arrived, and we are no closer to balancing the budget than The budget office, created to advise Congress on budget matters, said the which we haven't seen here in America for more than 35 years."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Iranian Profile Ominous

THE AYATOLLAH Khomeini apparently takes literally the Koran's declaration that there awaits a mighty chastisement for the unbelieving non-Moslem world. A top secret psychological profile of Khomeini put together by American intelligence services concludes that he wants the U.S. to take some form of military action against his country.

THE FIRST STEP in the ayatollah's grand plan was accomplished with the overthrow of Shah Reza Pahlavi and Khomeini's return from self-imposed exile. The second step has proved more difficult, however. Some outside event is needed to firm up Khomeini's shaky grip on Iran and to enable him to launch his "jihad (holy war) Military action by the Zionist, imperialist United States against Khomeini's Islamic

Getting Their Hook Into It

James J. Kilpatrick:

Sitting President Rests Easier

WASHINGTON—President Carter's victory in the Iowa caucuses was surprising only in terms of its margin. Subject to certain reservations and hedges, Carter's renomination has been a sure thing all along. This is not a matter of Tuesday morning hindsight. From the beginning of his bid for a second term, the President has had three factors going for him.

FRANKLIN PIERCE OF New Hampshire, a political unknown, had been nominated by the Democrats four years earlier, but his four years in the White House had been four years of misery. The Democratic convention of 1856 dumped him without a backward glance. Except for the Republicans in 1884, when the GOP deserted the non-elected Chester Arthur, every party convention has obeyed an unwritten rule: A sitting President, if he wants renomination, will get it.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Kenneth May

Lemons 'n Onions

AUSTIN—"We're dumb, just dumb." UT-Austin Basketball Coach Abe Lemons complained after his team lost yet another game the other night. Before they realized he was talking about his players, half the state office holders in town had threatened to sue Lemons for libel.

Returning from San Antonio, Harrell Spears reported that the teaching hospital there—just like the one in Lubbock—is complaining of financial woes and saying the state ought to reimburse it for costs incurred for teaching purposes over and above patient care needs.

DOWNTOWN AUSTIN, for those who haven't been there in a while, appears to have revived considerably but the townspeople still have some concerns. Especially over the need to improve its appearance.

Wray Weddell, columnist for The Austin Citizen, wrote last week that "there's a huge question about what shape 'downtown revitalization' should take, but an enormous dose of facelift in some form or other is ever so needed."

Holmes Alexander:

Last Tango Of Death In Asia

WASHINGTON—"General Douglas MacArthur, in an April, 1961 meeting with the President, warned him against the commitment of American soldiers on the Asian mainland."—Theodore C. Sorensen.

DEFENSE SEC. HAROLD Brown's presence and utterance in Peking this January raises the grave question for Americans—is a Communist ally worse than a Communist enemy?

MUCH OF HIS life, and his father's before him, was spent in the Orient. He knew how far apart were East and West. It made him shudder to think of an American force swallowed up in the vast Asian continent by its countless and hostile populations.

IF ever we should have to fight an Asian power, in MacArthur's often-voiced opinion, we must do so by air and sea, never on the ground. Nothing that happened to us in Korea and Vietnam, or in World War I contradicted Gen. MacArthur's opinion.

YET the Asian heartland seems to command our attention like a monster with the powers of fixation in its eyes. In 1968, when he was campaigning on a promise to end the Vietnam War, I had a lengthy talk with Richard Nixon, and asked him, "How?"

NIXON said there was in the making an irrepressible conflict between the Chinese and the Russians over that Manchurian area. Both the contestants, he said, would bid for American military aid.

tor has not supported, or a single conservative proposition the senator has not opposed, it does not come readily to mind. Over the past couple of months, since he formally announced his candidacy, Kennedy has been making conservative noises. They do not impress.

Depending upon one's point of view, he is either the prisoner of his voting record or the beneficiary of it, but either way, a clear consistent record of ultra-liberalism sticks with him as closely as his shadow.

IF THE ECONOMY goes into a second-quarter tailspin, with worse inflation and more serious unemployment, the President possibly could be denied renomination. Other remote contingencies—scandal, ill health, some fearful blunder on Carter's part—would change the picture.

Sen. Kennedy may be conceded the convention votes of Massachusetts and the District of Columbia. California's Gov. Jerry Brown will have his own state delegation but little more. Otherwise, it's going to be Carter all the way to Madison Square Garden in August. Iowa was his first easy, unsurprising mile.

were razed to clear for small parking lots—also ugly. Highway-size billboards add to the depressing scene. Lubbock, with its model sign and billboard ordinance, is far ahead of Austin in that respect.

POLITICAL Intelligence—Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, 'tis speculated, has decided not only against running for re-election but is thinking in terms of returning to the Houston Post and other family enterprises rather than run for governor in '82—BUT his assistant, Don Rives, tells me "he has made no decision yet."

—House Speaker Bill Clayton, a "probable" candidate for governor in '82, will have no problem beating liberal-backed John Bryant for re-election as Speaker next January, barring unexpected upsets of conservative supporters at the polls this year. —Former Atty. Gen. John Hill, who confidently played at being governor before Bill Clements upset him in November, 1978, likely will try again for the Real Thing in '82.

—Legislative redistricting will be the hottest issue in the 1981 session. Business-backed conservative Democrats are making a coordinated effort, for the first time, to beat back liberal challengers and incumbents, knowing that redistricting will shape a lot of legislation for the next decade.

—THE GOVERNOR'S initiative and referendum proposal and tax relief ideas are given little chance of meaningful adoption in a special session, if he calls one.

—Teaching hospital districts, with those in San Antonio, Dallas and Houston joining Lubbock's in financial straits, likely will at long last get some state funding for teaching costs out of the 1981 session.

—The long-predicted end of higher education's funding heyday, dating back to Gov. John Connally, may be effected by Clements, but colleges and universities will not be severely damaged. UT and A&M, especially, have too much political clout.

Sylvia Porter: Close Medicare Gaps Before You Reach 65

(Second of two columns) WASHINGTON—If you're elderly, ill and depending on Medicare benefits, you could be blasted by devastating medical bills when your benefits stop.

In this era of galloping inflation and soaring medical costs, it's more essential than ever before for the 65-and-over to have adequate health insurance to cover the so-called Medicare gaps.

In addition to continuing your group health insurance plan after retirement or joining an HMO if you are eligible, an area to investigate prior to retirement is individual insurance.

The two popular programs include: Major Medical and Hospital Income Policy.

MAJOR MEDICAL IS a policy which frequently piggybacks on other basic group or individual health insurance coverage. With this insurance, you become a co-insurer typically of 20 percent of expenses.

The insurance company pays 80 percent after a deductible which you pay. Lifetime ceilings on coverage can be high.

An individual major medical policy that is guaranteed renewable for life can maximize your Medicare since you continue it in force after retirement.

It may provide coverage for hospital co-payments plus some of your out-of-hospital and out-of-pocket costs. Check with your insurance carrier precisely what are your benefits at age 65.

Hospital Income Policy is a limited range policy which pays benefits only when you are hospitalized.

THE BENEFITS ARE paid in cash and can be used to fill Medicare gaps; extend Medicare's range as well as pay for any expenses not covered by Medicare and other supplementary insurance.

There are several types of these policies which you should investigate with care to make sure they fit your requirements and are updated to meet rising health care costs.

After retirement, assuming you have no private health insurance, you can buy a hospital income policy or a wrap-around policy.

The wrap-around policy pays a significant part of the outlays not covered by Medicare, including out-of-hospital prescriptions, medical appliances and equipment.

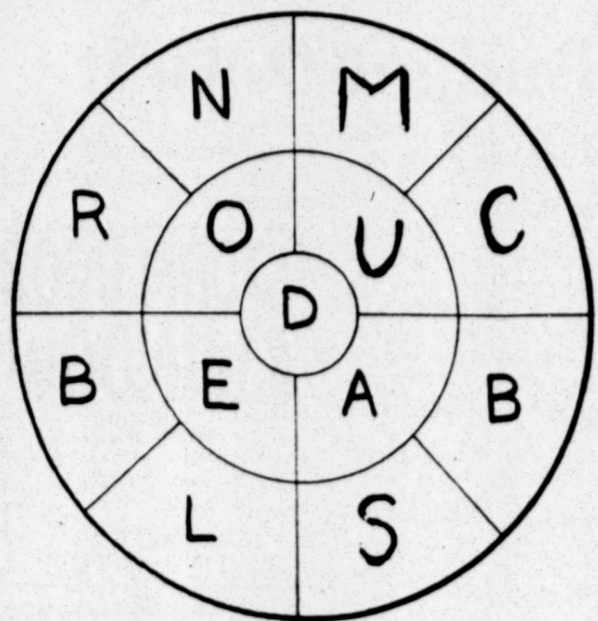

They frequently effectively extend the number of hospital days covered under Medicare as well as pay for co-payments in a skilled nursing home.

Cockneys Develop Special Language

By SHARI LEWIS

The same families lived in a certain part of London, England, for generations. They were called Cockneys (although no one knows really why), and they developed a special British accent as well as a special language. It's a very pretty speech to hear because its phrases are made up of words that rhyme. However, these phrases have no connection with the words they really mean. They invented this language so outsiders — and the police — couldn't tell what they were saying.

In the 1800s many Cockneys got in trouble with the law. Because England needed people to be pioneers, some of these Cockneys were sent to Australia instead of to jail. That's why lots of Australians speak slang as well as the Cockneys of London.

See if you can put these Cockney phrases to work in conversations with your friends. For example, instead of "boots," you'd say "daisy roots."

- candy — jack dandy
- Church — lean and lurch
- cop — ginger pop
- dance — kick and prance
- darlin' — briny marlin
- drink — tumble down the sink
- eyes — meat pies
- feet — plates of meat
- hands — German bands
- home — top of Rome
- jail — moan and wail
- kids — God forbids

- knees — bread and cheese
- mouth — east and south
- nose — these and those
- pistol — lady from Bristol
- shop — lollypop
- stairs — apples and pears
- suit — whistle and flute
- tea — Rosy Lee

Yesterday's Brain Twister: In each box, around the rim, I have put a consonant — a letter that isn't A, E, I, O or U. Can you put another consonant in the little circle in the center, and then a vowel (A, E, I, O, or U) in each of the four empty sections in the middle — and end up with three letter words, as you read in from the rim to the center? For example, if you put a "T" in the center circle, and an "A" in the middle section under the outer "M" and "C" you'd have MAT and CAT.

You'll get a different answer each time you play this game. I happened to put a "D" in the center circle and you can see the results!

Today's Brain Twister: Can you arrange these ten numbers so that they add up to 100? 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 0. Don't use any number more than once! (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

Chevron energy report:

1980 OIL SUPPLIES— NOT A BARREL TO SPARE.

America's energy situation is in a delicate balance between supply and consumption.

If we can maintain the balance, America should have an adequate supply of fuel for 1980. Motorists should have enough gasoline, if used carefully, truckers enough diesel fuel, and homeowners enough heating oil.

But we could lose our balance. Continuing political unrest in the Middle East could cause a reduction in our nation's oil supply. Considering our heavy dependence on foreign oil, this could cause shortages here at home.

And in 1980, we can't expect increased domestic oil production or alternate energy development to tip the balance in our favor. But we are optimistic that continuing large investments will result in new sources of domestic energy for the future.

Consumption levels could also tip the balance. An increase in oil consumption would have a very negative effect. So, strong conservation efforts, which proved effective in 1979, will be more necessary than ever this year.

Therefore, we must accelerate our efforts to find new sources of domestic energy, and continue to conserve the energy we have.

Thank you for listening.

Local Couple Joins Jury Panel

Many modern married couples often bemoan the little time they have together, but not Ray L. and Gloria Hernandez, but not Ray L. and Gloria Hernandez. Instead of being separated this week by work and other daily duties, the Lubbock couple will be spending their time together as jury members in 137th District Court. And the case they will be hearing deals with the divorce of another Lubbock couple.

Many judicial spectators noted the unusual occurrence after the pair was selected to serve on the same panel Monday afternoon, with many veteran courthouse observers adding that they cannot remember a time when a husband and wife sat on the same Lubbock County jury.

The attorneys representing the opposing parties in the divorce knew of the Hernandez's relationship before the final panel of 12 jurors was seated. Hernandez even told one attorney he "probably would go along with what she (his wife) said" during jury deliberations.

But neither husband nor wife was cut from the jury pool. One court official theorized that each attorney probably thought the other would strike one of the couple from final selection. Judge Robert C. Wright, however, made an attempt to assuage the possible fears of the respective sides.

Kent Hance Praises President For Lowering Budget Deficit

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff
U.S. Rep. Kent Hance praised President Carter's proposed budget Monday, saying that if it is followed it will bring about the lowest national deficit since 1974.

Although Hance expressed his support for Carter's version of the budget, he said he anticipates increases in defense spending will push total spending beyond the $16 billion deficit contained in the president's version.

"I think that's (the proposed budget) definitely a step in the right direction," Hance said, adding that last year's budget reached a deficit of $29 billion. Hance warned, however, that the lowered deficit can be maintained only if Congress makes budget cuts in other areas.

"I will vote to try to keep it (the deficit) at that level," he said, "but my guess would be that it will be above that."

Carter's budget does not include any tax cuts, which he claims would only fuel inflation, already projected at 10.4 percent this year. Hance interprets this position to mean that Carter also will veto any tax cut bills passed by Congress.

Hance expects attempts at tax cut legislation in the coming months, particularly by Republicans "simply to put him (Carter) in a tough position."

The first-term congressman, who announced last week his plans to run for reelection, said he does not know of any opponents to the 19th District seat.

Hance defeated George Bush Jr. in 1978 to win the post vacated when George Mahon retired.

Hance spoke Monday to the Southwest Rotary Club here, addressing many of the same issues that came up at his reelection announcement last week. He again stressed that to ease the effects of the grain embargo on the American farmer, the government should increase the loan rate and provide for diversion payments to farmers who set aside a portion of their crops.

Carter's budget proposal includes $2.8 billion to be spread over the next two years to help ease the losses faced by farmers over the embargo. That money will go toward buying up the 17 million metric tons of grain that had been earmarked by the Soviets.

The government budget would come out ahead if they increased the loan rate instead of paying for the grain, Hance said, because it would mean the farmers would have to pay the loan back. Hance speculated that consumer advocates probably advised Carter that increasing loan payments would only serve to raise the consumer price index and therefore add to inflation.

Proper Mattress Selection Vital

8-A Lubbock, Texas

Tuesday Evening, January 29, 1980

Dear Abby,

DEAR ABBY: How do I go about telling the girl our son dates to please stop buying our family expensive gifts for every occasion? It embarrasses us to accept them since we can't afford to reciprocate.

She comes from a very large family, and because she gave everyone in our family she ever said hello to a Christmas gift last year, my son felt that he had to do the same for her family. (He is still paying for them).

For Valentine's Day she gave me a present and also my husband. On Mother's Day, another one, and she's not even engaged to our son. She even found out when our birthdays were (mine and my husband's and the other children's, even the grandparents!) and the presents come.

I have no objections to her exchanging gifts with my son, but I wish she would leave the rest of his family alone. So, what should I do?

TOO MANY GIFTS

DEAR TOO MANY: Ask your son to tell the young lady that he appreciates her thoughtfulness and generosity but prefers that she discontinue the gift-giving to the members of his family.

And if that doesn't do the trick, send her thank-you cards for the gifts, and let it go at that.

DEAR ABBY: Our little boy is 8 years old and very much overweight, so our doctor put him on a strict diet. I've tried to keep him on this diet but I can't follow him around every minute because I have three other children to look after and my work to do. My next-door neighbor told me she's seen my son eat the dog food right out of her dog's dish, and also that he eats the bread she throws out for the birds. What should I do?

TROUBLED MOM

DEAR MOM: Take your son to the doctor for a thorough checkup, and tell the doctor how the boy has been supplementing his diet. And be sure to explain to the boy the dangers of eating out of the dog's dish as well as food meant for the birds.

DEAR ABBY: You suggested that it might be a good idea to invite someone who might be alone to spend Christmas with your family.

I am a widow, and my children and grandchildren all live far away and can't be here for the holidays. I work, so it's impossible for me to visit them. Being alone doesn't mean being lonely. Abby, I have received three invitations so far, and I would much rather spend Christmas Day alone than to accept any of the invitations.

Why? Well, with my limited income, I can't buy gifts for the whole family, or even for the hostess. Second, while the invitations are sincere and well-meant, nobody considers how I am to arrive at their home for the meal.

Third, the meal is usually set for late afternoon, and it is well into the dark of the evening before I can leave and I don't want to go home alone at night. (It's rude to eat and run.)

So I will decline all Christmas dinners, and spend Christmas resting up and eating what and when I want.

If some kind soul knows that an older single person is alone and lonely, transportation to and from the dinner should be provided.

STEADY READER

DEAR READER: Of course, it's too late for Christmas 1979, but it would be well to remember your words for all of those special occasions in 1980.

Smith Surname Abounds In U.S.

By ANGELE DET. GINGRAS
WASHINGTON (WNS) — A root called Smith. In the United States alone, there are 2,255,130 people named Smith. In a book called "The Book Smith" (Putnam), the author Elsdon C. Smith (naturally), also notes that if variations of the name like Schmidt, Smythe, Smutt and other such were included, the count would go up to 2,378,440. And, if those in the British Isles, Ireland, Canada and other countries were added the number would be 2,882,450. If foreign names meaning Smith, like Lefevre, Herrera, Faber, Kova, Khaddad, Haddad, Petulengro, were also added, the count would move close to double that number.

There are more Smiths in the United States, England and Scotland, than folks by any other name.

Author Smith says the importance of metal in war and peace is the reason so many people have a root called Smith.

"Most men could do their own work in the other trades, but had to go to the smith for the metal work," he says. "Consequently, there were more workers in the smith trade than in most other trades. As the smiths were respected and honored, families were glad to become known by the name of Smith."

Men called Smith were the first skilled craftsmen.

The first Smith in America was Capt. John Smith.

However, he left no descendants, so another John Smith started the John Smith family in America. He came from England in 1630, became a founder of Barnstable and Sandwich, Mass., married Susannah Hinckley, sister of Gov. Hinckley, and had 11 children.

Because it is the combo of widest use, John Smith today has become no name at all. It is used as an alias more than any other name.

For this reason some Smiths give distinctive first names to their children to set them apart from all other Smiths. Alpha and Omega and Polite Smith live in New Orleans. Major and Minor Smith reside in Cleveland, Bright and Pleasant Smith in Los Angeles and Christ Smith in both Buffalo and Toronto.

TEL AVIV PARIS LONDON NEW YORK ALBUQUERQUE

He's the highest paid lover in Beverly Hills.

NEW YORK (Special) — The last time you went to a party, you probably greeted the host, walked straight to his bedroom and threw your coat high on the pile already there. Where 60 years ago, the bedroom was the most sanctified room in the house, today, American custom has made it a dumping ground for coats.

And that's not all, according to The Better Sleep Council, an organization that distributes information about sleep. Decorating magazines boast that the bedroom has been liberated.

Where once we retreated to this private chamber to get away from it all, we are now tempted to bring it all with us. There are stereophonic systems installed in sleep entertainment centers, mattress massagers that lull us to sleep, and even tennis sneaker beds that can be laced up.

While these adornments may seem extreme to most, consider some of the bizarre uses of the bedroom as recorded in history. The Romans had banquets in bed; Fifteenth century kings conducted affairs of state from their "lits de justice"; Fantin-Lotour painted in bed, fully clothed even to top hat and overcoat to keep from freezing in his Parisian flat; Donizetti rewrote an aria in bed because he was too lazy to get up and fetch the finished draft which had blown out of reach. And, throughout history, more murders have been committed in the bedroom than in all other rooms of the house combined!

In our grandparent's day, the Council reminds us, the bedroom had a special significance. They appreciated the benefits of a room devoted to privacy and creativity. Most people were born and died there. The thought of spending their wedding night in a sterile hotel room, as current custom dictates, would have no doubt horrified them.

And babies were not the only things conceived there. The Council reports that some of the greatest works of literature, science, music and art were created in the bed. Milton's Paradise Lost, Elizabeth Barrett Browning's poems and many of Edith Wharton's works were written there, as was Charles Darwin's Origin of the Species.

— Plan to buy the foundation engineered to go with the mattress. Since mattress and foundation are designed to work together, an incompatible foundation can actually decrease the lifespan of your new mattress.

— Spend as much as you can afford. Since you'll be spending more time on your mattress than on any other piece of furniture you'll ever own, you owe it to yourself and your general well-being to get the best that you can.

A new 24 page booklet, A Guide to Better Sleep, is available by sending one dollar with your name and address to The Better Sleep Council, 1270 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY, 10020.

Bridge addicts have devoted tons of time to uncovering an infallible method of locating the queen when it can be finessed in either direction. Little progress has been made in that direction, even though players have, at times, resorted to voodoo, witchcraft and adages such as: "The queen is always over the jack."

Today's hand arose in a major championship, and various methods were tried to "cherchez la femme." At the table we watched, South entered the auction like a lamb, but went out like a lion. Others tried different routes, but a small slam in hearts was a popular contract.

Some declarers elected to play East for the queen of diamonds because he had overcalled. That is fuzzy thinking. Since East was known to be long in spades, it was probable that he was short in diamonds. Therefore, West, with the long diamonds, was more likely to hold the queen. In any event, a stray queen is not apt to be the pivotal card in a decision on whether or not to overcall.

Others elected to finesse East for the queen of diamonds because of "the queen lies over the jack" adage. When they went down one, they felt the old saw was unlucky this time.

One player hit upon an almost surefire method of making his slam—it depended only on finding East with the king of clubs, a most likely holding in view of the bidding. Declarer won the opening lead, cashed the ace of clubs, and entered dummy with a trump to the ten. He ruffed the nine of clubs, re-entered dummy with the six of trumps and led the queen of clubs. When East produced the king, declarer discarded his spade loser.

East was faced with a choice of losing plays. If he still had a club, he would have to give declarer a ruff-and-sluff. A diamond would solve declarer's problem in that suit. The king of spades would permit declarer to ruff and then discard a diamond on the queen of spades. And if East exited with a low spade, declarer would simply let it ride to the queen, disposing of his diamond loser then and there.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. For a copy and a score-pad, send $1.60 to "Goren Four Deal," P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J. 07649. Make checks payable to NEWSPAPERBOOKS.

Female Executive Claims Responsibility Misplaced

LOS ANGELES (Special) — Women are not achieving positions of responsibility in American business fast enough and some of the blame lies with the increasingly misdirected women's movement, claims Mary Roebling, chairman of New Jersey's $774 million National State Bank and the new Woman's Bank of Denver.

Mrs. Roebling's views are reported by E. Guthrie McTigue in an article entitled "This Woman's Place is at the Top" which appeared in "Mainliner," the monthly inflight magazine of United Airlines.

"I'm not sure it isn't a babble—a Babel—I hear," says Mrs. Roebling of the women's movement. "Women are not in union. They've mixed up manners and morals with equality. They bring up abortion or lesbianism or whether a man should hold a door for a woman—these things have nothing to do with it."

Equal pay for equal work and equal opportunity for advancement is where the focus belongs, declares this charming grandmother, perhaps the most influential woman in U.S. business.

To illustrate the inequities between men and women in business, Mrs. Roebling cites some startling statistics.

Women account for nearly half the work force, she notes, yet earn an average of 59 cents for every dollar paid to men. Women who graduated from college and began careers in 1976 received about $10,000 in starting salaries, she continues, while their male counterparts received more than $17,000. Among U.S. executives earning $25,000 or more per year, Mrs. Roebling points out, only 2.3 percent are women. And of the nation's 2,500 largest companies, she observes, only 15 have women as chief executive officers.

If, in the face of male resistance, women are to win more positions of real responsibility in business, Mrs. Roebling, they are going to need more than unity of purpose. Women, she believes, must change their attitudes too. "They (women) haven't developed their talents sufficiently. They hesitate to go to night school and to take those extra hours."

They're very apt to want their positions only from nine to five."

Mrs. Roebling was still in her early 20s and the mother of two small children when the death of her husband thrust her into the presidency of the family's Trenton Trust Co. She knew nothing about banking and plunged into a demanding position of study and special tutoring to augment her "on-the-job" training. Despite her wealth and position, she could not have succeeded in business without that substantial extra effort. She decided not to remarry, saying that in the late 1930s it would have been impossible for her to combine a career with marriage.

Aside from the issue of equality, Mrs. Roebling believes women offer special qualities that are needed at every level of management today. Women, she feels, are generally more intuitive than men, frequently perceptive in ways that men aren't, and often sensitive to a broader spectrum of problems as well.

Finally, she believes that women have a stronger sense of responsibility to present and future generations—in part because a majority are or will become mothers—and in executive positions and on boards of directors will help companies become more responsive to social needs.

"Women can," she concludes, "form a new capitalism. More one of sharing—sharing and caring."

Today's Corporate Wives Want Freedom To Choose Lifestyle

NEW YORK (Special) — The lush life of the corporate wife is the envy of many as the dream existence, but a close-up look reveals serious drawbacks.

The price for the opulent life can mean loneliness, loss of self-esteem, an unhealthy dependence on alcohol, leading to alcoholism.

But changes are in the wind, Harper's Bazaar magazine recently reported. The corporate wife is exploring new alternatives. They are doing less business entertaining and they are pursuing their own careers. And they still are finding ways to insulate their husbands from the unhealthy dangers of stress.

"Women are becoming lawyers, managers, researchers and executives," the report notes. "The new corporate wife wants her self-esteem and status to be dependent on what she does, not on whom she is married to. A profession of her own provides this self-reliance. But she may have to compromise her dreams of being the ideal mother and accept a trade-off."

Barbara Kasman, a marketing manager, found her solution in "responsible back-up at home — a trustworthy housekeeper and loving grandmother who can look in on the children when necessary."

Letitia Baldrige, social secretary to the White House during the Kennedy administration and now head of a public relations firm, says that she and her husband long have accepted "that one person can and should go out without the other if it's a business meeting." In the past, she said, "a wife was a very important part of her husband's job," but younger corporate executives recognize the wife's right to her own life.

And there are, of course, the corporate wives who believe the old ways can hold true today. Harper's Bazaar points to Gerry Martin, wife of financier R. Allen Martin, who is a full-time wife and mother because she enjoys the role of supporting her husband in his activities and raising a family. "I admire women who have careers, but I don't envy them," says Mrs. Martin. "What is good for them is not necessarily good for me. My family is the most important part of my life and it is completely fulfilling to be there when they need me."

There is a range of solutions.

Many Texans Involved In VISTA

DALLAS (Special) — A desire to help others is the primary reason for joining VISTA to 44 percent of applicants, followed by 18 percent who seek career experience and 17 percent who look for an opportunity to promote social change, according to a recent VISTA survey.

More than half of all VISTAs nationwide, and almost three-quarters in Texas, believe they are successful in helping the poor acquire the skills necessary to reduce their poverty.

Eight out of ten volunteers also rate themselves qualified for the job they do; seven percent think they may be under-qualified and nine percent that they are over-qualified.

The 500-page survey, implemented by ACTION volunteer agency, is based on responses from 2,815 volunteers throughout the nation.

Almost 4,500 Volunteers In Service To America (VISTAs) serve nationwide, about 500 of them in the region which includes Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

While this region accounts for eleven percent of the American populace, it has 15 percent of the poor and 12 percent of all VISTA volunteers. Some 150 VISTAs work in Texas.

The Census Bureau estimated in 1977 that there were about 24.7 million persons in the U.S. living at or below the poverty line. A farm family of four, earning $5,000 or less a year, is considered poor, as is a non-farm family earning $6,700 or less.

Two-thirds of all Texans served by VISTA have incomes at or below the official poverty line, and one-quarter are extremely poor. Six out of ten recipients are women, most likely 45 years old or older. Urban blacks and Hispanic Americans account for three-quarters of VISTA services recipients in Texas. Almost a quarter of all Texas VISTAs are themselves Hispanic Americans.

Two out of ten VISTAs describe themselves primarily as service providers and 27 percent see their role to be mostly that of organizer.

VISTA has an annual budget of $28 million and, like the Peace Corps overseas, is part of ACTION volunteer agency. More than 50,000 Americans have served in VISTA since 1964.

Until early 1970s, the majority of VISTAs were recruited nationally, but since 1975 seven out of ten have been recruited locally.

Eighty-four percent of all volunteers who feel they are highly effective on their jobs are local recruits, but three-fourths of them also work fewer than 40 hours a week. Most nationals work more than 40 hours weekly.

During their year-long commitment, VISTAs receive about $300 a month for housing and other expenses.

Although nine percent of volunteers have no high school education, 40 percent have bachelor's degrees and another eleven percent a master's or doctoral degree.

Persons interested in joining VISTA or the Peace Corps may call collect (214)-767-5435 or (512)-397-5925 in Austin, both ext. 23.

DR. LAMB

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I just turned 57 and I went through the menopause at age 52. I haven't had any menstrual periods for five years. For 32 years my husband and I have used birth control. What I want to know is can we forget about all that and enjoy lovemaking the way it should be? I am rather scared. It sounds foolish but I keep thinking maybe I'll get pregnant. Is it necessary for an examination at this age? Are my organs still working even though I have no menstrual periods?

that period of time, then I insist that they have a medical examination before abandoning birth control.
 Yes, the rest of your body is functioning normally. Your ovaries have just simply quit functioning but you're still forming female and male hormones from the adrenal gland. How much of each is highly variable. That's why some women need hormone support to avoid symptoms and others do not.

To give you more information about the menopause and what happens after it, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-12. Menopause. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has an ear infection. He claims and thinks I cause it. During our lovemaking, I often lick his ear and run my tongue along the inside. I have been doing this for over a year but this is the first time he has complained of an infection. However, he's had an infection in both his molars this past week and although his teeth no longer bother him, I think the infection could have spread to his ears. Is it possible for me to give him an ear infection in the way he claims?

DEAR READER — The first question is whether he really has an infection or not. He may have referred to pain from his dental problem.
 I can see no health problem from your habit other than those associated with moisture in the ears. This is not greatly different from what happens with swimmers' ears or a person who traps water in his ears from a shower. In that case, the retained moisture might allow an infection, particularly a fungus infection, to develop.

I would suggest that if he's having an ear problem he should see an ear, nose and throat doctor and let him see if he really has an infection there. If he does, it can be treated with drying agents and other measures. He may have an excess amount of ear wax that causes him to trap moisture in the ear. And, of course, if he resorts to using ear drops, you may want to change your habits.

Steel Manufacturer Reports Price Hike
 PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 6.5 percent price increase on steel used mainly in beverage and food containers has been announced by National Steel Corp., the nation's third largest producer.
 National said recently the increases on those tin-mill products, effective April 1, affect about 20 percent of the company's entire product line.
 These increases are moderate considering the very strong demand for tin-mill products and are in keeping with the government's anti-inflation program," Chairman George Stinson said.

Tight Controls Imposed On Cotton Organization

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Tighter controls have been imposed on Cotton Inc., an organization that promotes cotton sales, since the Agriculture Department released a critical audit on the corporation last summer, an industry official said.

Murray Williams, chairman of the Cotton Board, which represents cotton producers and oversees Cotton Inc., said Monday the staffs of his board and CI have been "working more closely together, more harmoniously than ever," since the audit was issued in August.

"In-house administrative changes have already been put into place," said Williams, who was in New Orleans to attend the National Cotton Council's annual meeting. "CI is reporting its procedures monthly (to the Cotton Board) and there is much more unity between the staffs."

Cotton Inc. is under contract to the board to operate a $13 million a year program to promote cotton sales and research the industry.

The USDA audit accused Cotton Inc. of questionable spending practices, special favors to some cotton producers, extra benefits for CI top management and extravagant foreign travel arrangements, including trans-Atlantic flights on the supersonic Concorde.

The audit also said CI failed to keep proper inventory records.

Accidental Baggage Exchange Results In Cocaine Arrests

By KAY BELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A mix-up last week of two similar hanging bags resulted in a Lubbock man innocently bringing an estimated $200,000 worth of cocaine into the city and led this weekend to the arrest of two men in Nashville, Tenn.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials in Nashville Monday afternoon confirmed that the accidental baggage exchange has netted two suspected cocaine-traffickers in that city. But the DEA spokesman declined further comment on the case, saying the investigation was continuing.

However, The Avalanche-Journal has learned that the inadvertent act of a weary Lubbock traveler has given drug agents a foothold in breaking what may be an extensive Southern United States narcotics trafficking operation. And sources told the A-J that more arrests in the Nashville area in connection with the confiscated cocaine and related activities are likely.

The Lubbock man responsible for investigative break now describes his unexpected help as "inconsequential."

When he arrived at Lubbock International Airport about midnight last Wednesday after spending a few days on business in Florida, the man, who wished to remain anonymous, said he basically was "disgusted" when he discovered he had the wrong hanging bag.

"I'm not exactly sure where the mix-up occurred," the Texas Tech University professor said, adding that he changed planes about four times on his trip home last week. He said when he boarded his final flight in Dallas for Lubbock, he did notice the suitcase had consistently placed in the aircraft passenger closets felt a bit heavier.

But it was not until he landed in Lubbock that he decided a closer inspection of the luggage might be in order.

"I unzipped it a little and it didn't even look like my clothes," he said. "I was disgusted."

Local narcotics agents found more than just unfamiliar clothing inside the bag. Sources told the A-J the luggage contained 100 small packets of cocaine with an estimated street sale value of $200,000.

The next day, the professor received a call from the owner of the drug-filled bag. The two men apparently had been

Hospital Reactions Mixed Toward Nursing Agencies

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Hospitals don't run on an eight-to-five schedule, and nurses who get off work at 7 a.m. will tell you that the hours are far from ideal.

Many nurses cite the less-than-convenient work hours as a major reason for quitting their hospital jobs. The resulting turnover on hospital nursing staffs is a major factor in Lubbock's nursing shortage.

"Any nurse who works in a hospital has bad hours," one RN recently complained. She solved the problem by quitting her hospital job for a position in a private physician's office.

But there's another rumor. Supplemental nursing agencies — the "Kelly Girls" of nursing — have become a booming business in an industry crying for help.

The nursing agencies are an emotional issue for hospital administrators, staff nurses and the people who work for the agencies. They often are referred to rather disparagingly as "rent-a-nurse," and the personnel accused of being less than dedicated to their work.

Interviews with nurses from Health Sciences Center Hospital, Methodist, Community and other area hospitals, brought out mixed feelings about the nurse registries. Some of the nurses admitted to feeling helpless, saying that when their hospital is far below staffing levels, the nursing registries offer the only solution to closing down beds.

Others complained that their hospitals claim they can't afford to raise the salaries of staff nurses, but can afford to pay the higher rates of registry nurses.

The agencies vary in size and the types of services they provide. Some offer home, nursing home and hospital private duty nurses, while others will provide nurses to work hospital floor duty. Registry nurses are paid by the hour and are not required to work for a specific number of hours per week or month, which allows the flexibility in schedule that regular hospital work doesn't.

To pay overhead and costs, the agency charges hospitals a higher hourly rate than what is actually paid the nurse. And the agency offers little, if anything, in the way of employment benefits.

For nurses, however, who are fed up with working the graveyard shifts associated with regular hospital work, the registry is not a bad deal.

But putting aside the resentment associated with salaries and hours, there is another issue between staff nurses and registry nurses. Many claim, rightly or wrongly, that registry nurses can't do as good a job as staff nurses because they aren't familiar with the facilities of the hospital to which they are loaned.

This is a fallacy, a spokesman for Upjohn Healthcare Services says. Lucia Waldrop, director of the Upjohn nursing registry, claims that her service tries to offer an orientation period for nurses to familiarize them with their working conditions.

The local Upjohn agency is part of the largest national nursing registry service. It has been in the business about 10 years, though the big boom in the Lubbock area has come in the last three years.

"We try to be functional — not just a body," Mrs. Waldrop said. And registry nurses eventually end up working consistently at one or two hospitals with which they are familiar and comfortable, she said.

Three hospitals in Lubbock — sometimes four during the rush periods — use Upjohn, Mrs. Waldrop said. She admitted there is resentment among hospital staff members when the registry nurses come on for a few hours and then leave, but added that most are too glad to see help to complain.

Nursing registries have brought many nurses back into the profession who would have otherwise dropped out completely, she said. "Many nurses with families just can't do the shift work (in hospitals)," she added.

"We can't offer security," Mrs. Waldrop said, explaining that working for a registry is simply an on-call operation.

But the majority of people hired through the registry don't want to work 40 hours a week, she said.

Despite the apparent benefits of the job, most of the Upjohn nurses only stay with the service for six months to a year, Mrs. Waldrop said. Surprisingly enough, they lose many nurses to the hospitals which have been hiring them.

The registries are having as hard a time finding nurses, though, as the hospitals are.

"The hospitals are all full," Mrs. Waldrop said. "And of course when they're busy, we're busy."

A recent survey of supplemental nursing agencies (registries) and hospital staff nurses indicates some of the generalizations made about registry nurses may be completely off the mark. In terms of education and work experience, there was little difference between the staff and registry nurses, shooting down the theory that registry nurses are less educated and experienced than staff nurses.

But the "uneasy balance" between hospital nurses and registry nurses is a reality, despite statistical findings.

As the shortages get worse across the state and across the country, the health care experts predict nurse registries will become an even stronger force. Other factors contribute to the shortage, such as the discrepancies between nursing school curriculum and the realities of working on a hospital floor.

Some schools are trying to incorporate more "reality training" in their nursing school programs to ease the shock between the classroom and the actual job requirements. It is often that shock that sends nurses running for the nearest exit after only a few months work.

Dallas' Parkland Hospital, plagued with financial problems similar to those of Lubbock's Health Sciences Center Hospital, relies on registry nurses to keep its doors open. San Antonio area hospitals report a need for about 600 registered nurses.

And even though the greatest demand is for RNs, the hospitals need licensed vocational nurses (LVNs) and nurses aides as well.

San Antonio hospitals may have the right idea. Instead of competing against each other for the hard-to-find nurses, they are considering jointly financing a nationwide recruitment program.

"The whole idea is simply to get nurses to move here," Bexar County Hospital's personnel director Robert Vail said recently.

TODAY'S SELECTION STOCK PRICES

Stock Mart Manages Slight Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices advanced slightly in heavy trading today as the market's early 1980 rally continued.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 1.96 to 880.46 in the first two hours.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a 6-5 margin in the broad tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

At mid-morning Big Board volume passed the one billion-share mark for January — the first time that has happened in any month in exchange history.

The market's advance today came in spite of spreading price increases by oil-exporting countries.

Analysts noted that investors lately seem to be taking such inflation news as a reason to buy stocks, instead of holding cash or fixed-income investments.

Among actively traded oil stocks, Gulf rose 1/8 to 39 1/2. Union Oil of California gained 1/4 to 54 1/2, and Exxon added 1/2 to 60 1/2, while Mobil dropped 1/4 to 56 1/2.

Eastern Airlines rose 1/4 to 9 1/2 in active trading. The company reported sharply higher fourth-quarter earnings.

The NYSE's composite index, which reached a record high on Monday, rose another 1/8 to 66.04. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 2.09 at 272.88.

Opening-hour volume on the Big Board totaled 23 million shares at noon, against 21.38 million at the same point Monday.

Rationing May Take Some Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration's standby gasoline rationing plan would take seven to 21 months to put into effect and even then, would not guarantee adequate gas all over the country, Energy Department officials say.

Providing an advance look at the rationing plan that will be submitted to Congress next month, Administrator Hazel Rollins of the Energy Regulatory Administration said Monday that rationing wouldn't necessarily mean adequate supplies.

She said the Senate Energy subcommittee that, if a rationing system becomes necessary, much of the gas purchased by motorists will double in price when the cost of so-called "white market" rationing coupons is counted in.

At least three members of the subcommittee, noting the fragility of the oil supply line to the Middle East, said gas rationing should start now.

"I think it ought to be implemented now," said Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio. Similar comments were made by Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., and Lowell Weicker, R-Conn.

Miss Rollins said her department is working on a "quickie" rationing plan intended to meet a sudden disruption in imported oil.

That would be in addition to a much more complex and expensive rationing plan which requires approval of Congress. Miss Rollins said President Carter will likely send the long-term proposal to Congress by the end of February.

OCAW Offers Counter Plan

DENVER (AP) — The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union has asked for higher wages and larger company contributions for medical and dental care in a counter proposal aimed at ending a 22-day-old strike.

The proposal, announced Monday, calls for $1-an-hour wage increase retroactive to Jan. 8, and seven weeks' vacation for 25-year employees, said Wayne Blythe, a union spokesman at a Gulf Oil plant in Cleveland, Ohio.

The proposal for medical benefits calls for $125 a month for families' medical plans, full coverage for individual policy holders and $20 per month for dental coverage, Blythe said.

Until Monday, the union had insisted on fully paid medical-dental plans as a condition for further talks on wages and benefits.

The strike, which began Jan. 8, involves 60,000 workers and 100 refineries.

The revised proposals, which were drawn up in an effort to end the strike, are being presented by the local bargaining committees to their respective employers as soon as negotiating sessions can be held, said OCAW President Robert F. Goss.

Historian Says MacArthur Illegally Took Money

BOSTON (AP) — As Japanese invaders closed in on Corregidor Island in 1942, Gen. Douglas MacArthur illegally accepted $500,000 from an ailing Philippine president facing exile, a researcher claims.

President Manuel Quezon, who died of tuberculosis in the United States in 1944, issued an executive order on Jan. 3, 1942, giving MacArthur and three of the general's aides $640,000, said Dr. Carol M. Pettilo, a Boston College historian.

In an interview Monday night, she said she uncovered a copy of the order while researching her doctoral dissertation. She also found a U.S. War Department letter to the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York claiming President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Secretary of War Henry Stimson knew of the transaction.

Based on her reading of the 1938 edition of the U.S. Army Code of Conduct forbidding U.S. officers to accept gifts, Miss Pettilo said she believed MacArthur's acceptance of the money was illegal.

According to the executive order, Quezon ordered the money transferred from the Philippine treasury to the personal bank accounts of MacArthur and his staff members "in recognition of outstanding service to the Commonwealth of the Philippines."

MacArthur died in 1964. Miss Pettilo did not name the staff members.

From 1935-41 MacArthur served as commander of the armed forces of the Philippines, then a semi-autonomous U.S. commonwealth. Roosevelt appointed MacArthur commander of U.S. forces in the Far East in July 1941, six months before Japanese attacks at Pearl Harbor and Clark Field in the Philippines plunged the United States into World War II.

The general moved his headquarters to Corregidor, a fortified island in Manila Bay, after the Japanese overran Manila on their way to conquering the Philippines. Quezon also moved to Corregidor.

MacArthur was under orders from Roosevelt to get Quezon to safety to establish a government in exile. But he initially opposed the move, claiming the 64-year-old president was too ill to make the journey.

Miss Pettilo discovered the executive order in the papers of the late Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, who was MacArthur's chief of staff. She said she had found no other explanation for the payment other than the "recognition of outstanding service" mentioned in the order.

But she noted that MacArthur decided to let Quezon leave Corregidor after the order was issued. Quezon and his family fled on a U.S. submarine in February, about the time the money transfer was confirmed by radiogram, she said.

MacArthur slipped away for Australia in March, and the remaining U.S. Philippine forces capitulated May 6.

"There are many layers to the story and to call the money a bribe would be simplistic," said Miss Pettilo. "I couldn't be sure that Quezon was conscious of such a thing. He was under a tremendous strain and suffering from tuberculosis. President Quezon could have believed he was acting in the best interests of his countrymen, as perhaps he was."

She speculated Roosevelt and others in Washington overlooked the transfer to ensure the general's cooperation in fighting the Japanese. "We needed a hero," she said.

Moslems Want Soviets Out

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Thirty-four of the world's 41 Islamic nations today demanded the immediate withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan and urged the United States and Iran to settle their differences peacefully.

They also suspended Afghanistan's membership in their organization and declared their opposition to the use of threats, force or sanctions against Iran or "any other Islamic nation."

Foreign ministers of the 34 nations plus the Palestine Liberation Organization also urged boycotting the Moscow Olympics, breaking relations with Afghanistan, solidarity with the Afghan Moslem rebels, aid to Afghan refugees and helping Afghanistan's Moslem neighbors withstand any threat to their security.

Another agreed-on resolution criticized Egypt for establishing diplomatic ties with Israel and expressed backing for the Palestine Liberation Organization in its drive to create a Palestinian nation.

Seven members of the Organization of the Islamic Conference boycotted the meeting in Islamabad: Afghanistan, Syria, South Yemen, Uganda, Upper Volta, Guinea Bissau and Egypt, which has been ostracized by most Islamic countries because of its peace treaty with Israel.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, militarily the most powerful of Islam's leaders, has endorsed the Carter Doctrine and said Egypt's "full facilities" would be available to U.S. forces if they had to defend any of the Persian Gulf countries.

The conference took no action on a proposal by President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq of Pakistan for joint defense action by the Islamic countries. Kassim Agha, the assistant secretary-general of the organization, said the suggestion needed detailed consideration before it could be debated.

The Afghanistan resolution condemned, denounced and deplored the "Soviet military aggression against the Afghan people ... as a flagrant violation of international laws, covenants, and norms." It called on "all peoples and governments throughout the world to persist in condemning this aggression and denouncing it as an aggression against human rights and a violation of the freedoms of people, which cannot be ignored."

The resolution demanded the "immediate and unconditional withdrawal of all Soviet troops stationed on Afghan territories." It also said Soviet troops should "refrain from acts of oppression and tyranny against the Afghan people and their struggling sons, until the departure of the last Soviet soldier from Afghan territory," and urged "all countries and peoples to secure the Soviet withdrawal through all possible means."

The resolution called on the Islamic countries to "envisage through appropriate parties the non-participation in Olympic Games being held in Moscow in July 1980 until the Soviet Union, in compliance with the call of the U.N. General Assembly and the Islamic Conference, withdraws all its troops forthwith from Afghanistan."

Eleven countries expressed reservations on the boycott call. They were Algeria, Iraq, Iran, the United Arab Emirates, Kuwait, Jordan, Cameroon, Guinea, Gabon, Libya and Niger.

The Olympic boycott movement is being led by President Carter, who said in his State of the Union message that America would use military force if necessary to protect the West's oil supplies from the Persian Gulf.

Iranian Radio Station Blasts President-Elect

By The Associated Press

Iranian radio and television, which is directed by the Moslem clergyman closest to the U.S. Embassy militants, fired a new shot today in its dispute with Iran's new president, accusing him of overstepping his authority when he vowed to "purge" the broadcast operation.

It was a further sign of a potential clash between President-elect Abolhasan Bani Sadr and the Moslem militants who have held some 50 American hostages at the embassy since Nov. 4. Since winning last Friday's election, Bani Sadr has made clear in his statements that he will not tolerate a rival power base in the militants.

The state radio reported new violence in restive Azerbaijan, meanwhile.

"Irresponsible armed elements" attacked an army unit marching outside the Azerbaijani city of Salmas, killing a sergeant and wounding two others, Tehran Radio said in a broadcast monitored in London.

Many ethnic Azerbaijanis in Northwest Iran oppose the all-powerful rule of revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and seek greater local autonomy. They have clashed repeatedly with the central government's forces.

After the election, Bani Sadr accused the state-run radio and TV of "malpractice, bias and enmity" toward him during the campaign.

He vowed to take "action to purge the establishment of all elements hostile to the country's values." The "establishment" apparently referred to the broadcast operation.

The chairman of the five-man radio and television commission is Mosawi Khomeini, a Moslem clergyman who has acted as the embassy militants' liaison with Khomeini.

The commission, in a broadcast monitored in Kuwait today, challenged Bani Sadr "to prove his charges against the establishment."

It admitted "some mistakes" but added that "purging the establishment is not part of the president's responsibility, but the responsibility of the new Iranian constitution."

Bani Sadr has taken a more conciliatory line than other Iranian officials on the hostage crisis, an attitude that led to his dismissal as foreign minister last November. At that time also he attacked the radio-TV system for "lies and false propaganda." It was then headed by Sad-egh Ghotbzadeh, who became foreign minister.

Bani Sadr on Monday rejected the U.S. offer of military and economic aid if the American hostages are freed, but Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance offered to work with him to secure the release of the captives.

Bani Sadr told the French newspaper Le Monde in an interview that Washington's offer of aid once the hostages are freed was "unacceptable."

"A dependent country is particularly vulnerable to the dominating power. Certainly we intend to resist Russian expansionism, but we are not going to give that to the Americans as a pretext for retaking a foothold here," he said.

Dancy Jury Deliberates Punishment

By KAY BELL

Avalanche-Journal Staff

A 99th District Court jury early this afternoon still had not decided what punishment to assess convicted murderer Maurice Eugene Dancy.

The panel members Monday afternoon deliberated for almost three hours before finding the 19-year-old Coronado High School graduate guilty of the Aug. 21, 1979, beating and stomping death of Claude Ventry Bridges.

The jury recessed for lunch about 12:15 p.m. today after almost two hours of deliberations.

Prosecutors Jim Bob Darnell and John T. Monford are seeking a life sentence for Dancy. Dancy's attorneys Tom Cannon and Mary Anne Wiley have asked the panel to return a lesser sentence within the 5- to 99-year or life punishment range.

Dancy, a former Golden Gloves boxing champion, is not eligible for probation because he currently is serving a probated sentence for a 1978 burglary conviction.

During arguments this morning, lead prosecutor Darnell referred to morning testimony from police officers that Dancy had a bad reputation in the community.

However, the first assistant criminal district attorney relied primarily on the circumstances of Bridges' death during his summation to the seven-man, five-woman panel.

"You have here a crime of extreme violence committed upon an individual who had no warning, knew nothing of what was going to happen," Darnell argued. "He (Bridges) was spending the night in his own house, but never got to see the next day."

"When you go back into that jury room, think of the future of Claude Bridges, the future he never had, as compared to the future of that man right there," Darnell urged the jury, turning to point at the defendant.

Darnell characterized the defendant as "a man who had so little regard for human life, he had to do what he did to Claude Bridges — stomp every living breath out of that man."

Monford, likewise, recounted the slaying of Bridges for the panel.

Monford agreed with defense counsel that the wide range of punishment was established to meet the individual circumstances of separate crimes. In this case, Monford argued, the life prison term is warranted.

"What more aggravating facts in the imagination of a human being than what we've unfolded here these past few days?" Monford asked rhetorically.

Referring to Dancy's probated burglary sentence, Monford said, "The law has bent over backwards to give this man a chance. How many chances do we have to offer?"

"We ask in Lubbock County there be a premium sanctity placed on the right of individuals to be protected in their own homes and their right to live."

Cannon, however, reminded the jury that a stiff prison sentence will not return Bridges to life. He asked the panel to also remember Dancy's age during their punishment deliberations.

"You know he (Dancy) is a burglar, but there is not one bit of evidence that he committed a crime of violence before," Cannon told the jurors. "And their (prosecutors) own theories argue that the defendant went to (Bridges') house to burglarize, not to kill."

After the election, Bani Sadr accused the state-run radio and TV of "malpractice, bias and enmity" toward him during the campaign.

He vowed to take "action to purge the establishment of all elements hostile to the country's values." The "establishment" apparently referred to the broadcast operation.

The chairman of the five-man radio and television commission is Mosawi Khomeini, a Moslem clergyman who has acted as the embassy militants' liaison with Khomeini.

The commission, in a broadcast monitored in Kuwait today, challenged Bani Sadr "to prove his charges against the establishment."

It admitted "some mistakes" but added that "purging the establishment is not part of the president's responsibility, but the responsibility of the new Iranian constitution."

Bani Sadr has taken a more conciliatory line than other Iranian officials on the hostage crisis, an attitude that led to his dismissal as foreign minister last November. At that time also he attacked the radio-TV system for "lies and false propaganda." It was then headed by Sad-egh Ghotbzadeh, who became foreign minister.

Bani Sadr on Monday rejected the U.S. offer of military and economic aid if the American hostages are freed, but Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance offered to work with him to secure the release of the captives.

Bani Sadr told the French newspaper Le Monde in an interview that Washington's offer of aid once the hostages are freed was "unacceptable."

"A dependent country is particularly vulnerable to the dominating power. Certainly we intend to resist Russian expansionism, but we are not going to give that to the Americans as a pretext for retaking a foothold here," he said.

The result is widespread cloudiness and intermittent precipitation.

"With surface temperatures below freezing and rain falling from warmer air above, precipitation falls in a liquid state but freezes upon impact with any object or surface that has a temperature below freezing."

"With no real change expected in the situation — warm, moist air will continue to over-run cold surface air — freezing precipitation is expected to continue intermittently through Wednesday."

The ice Monday proved treacherous to Lubbock pedestrians with about a dozen persons being treated in the Methodist Hospital emergency room for weather-related injuries including broken wrists and broken hips, hospital officials said.

Union Leaders Get Restraining Order

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal judge ruled today that union officials could not legally direct dock workers at the nation's second busiest port to refuse to load a ship chartered to carry grain to Russia.

The temporary restraining order signed by U.S. District Judge Veronica Wicker was limited to the Julia L., a Greek ship moored at the Continental Grain Co. elevator at nearby Westwego.

The order was sought by the New Orleans Steamship Association after longshoremen defied a similar ruling by third-party arbitrators.

"We have to advise members that we have no objection to loading the Julia L.," said Victor Hess, the unions' lawyer. He said, however, he must study whether the judge had directly ordered that the ship be loaded.

The case is the first legal test of the International Longshoremen's Association's boycott of Soviet vessels and Soviet-bound cargoes in retaliation for Russia's military intervention in Afghanistan.

City Man Jailed For Assaulting Officer, Workers

A 28-year-old Lubbock man was booked into county jail Monday afternoon in connection with an assault on three dockworkers and aggravated assault on a peace officer after several policemen subdued him in a warehouse in the 800-block of Avenue G.

Reports show off-duty officer Larry Barnhill was going north on Avenue G about 3 p.m. Monday when he saw the man chasing one of his victims around a parked car outside the dock area. When Barnhill got out of his marked patrol car, the man being chased yelled "help us." The angry man then ran back onto the loading dock and into the warehouse.

In his report, Barnhill said he called the police dispatcher for assistance and was advised by two of the victims not to chase the man alone because he was too dangerous.

When Barnhill questioned one of the victims about what had happened, she told him the man just starting hitting them for no apparent reason.

After another officer arrived, he and Barnhill entered the warehouse and spotted the suspect, who told them to drop their guns.

The man then reportedly attacked officer Randy Franklin with a hammer. Reports indicate Franklin pulled his service revolver and told the suspect to put the hammer down. The man reportedly told Franklin to put the gun down, before disappearing into another section of the warehouse.

After three more policemen arrived, it was learned that one of them knew the suspect personally. When he called the man's name, the suspect lunged at police, pointing the hammer at the detective who knew him.

The man told police he would talk to the detective if the other officers left the room. When this request was refused, the man reportedly ran to the back of the warehouse, picked up a metal pin with a handle and lunged at the detective, who pulled his service revolver and fired shots at the man's feet, missing him.

Reports show the man said, "You didn't hit me, I'm still standing." He was later subdued after a brief struggle and transported to the county jail.

In other activity Monday night, freezing rain and cold temperatures didn't stop burglars from breaking into a Southwest Lubbock residence Monday and taking a cache of rifles, shotguns and camera equipment reported to be worth more than $3,900.

Reports indicate the burglars broke into the home of Charles Bryan Smith of 5018 42nd St. between 7 and 8 p.m. Monday and stole the merchandise.

Among the reported missing items include a .12 gauge over and under Browning shotgun worth $500, a Colt .22 caliber semi-automatic rifle with scope worth $450, a Japanese 7.6 millimeter World War II vintage rifle worth $200, a Smith & Wesson .357 magnum pistol worth $375, a Smith & Wesson 9 mm automatic nickel-plated revolver worth $350 and a Minolta X-G 7 camera with accessories valued at $715.

The burglars also reportedly took a Remington .30-30 caliber rifle valued at $300, a Remington .16 gauge shotgun worth $250 and a gun case worth $20 from the bedroom of James Lynn Ream, who lives at the same address.

Reports show entry was gained through a rear garage door. The burglars apparently got into the living space by climbing a ladder to the attic, where they crawled along the rafters before kicking a hole through the ceiling and jumping down to the living area.

Police said they followed footprints in the snow from the garage to a back alley, where police believe the burglars entered their loot into the rear of a vehicle and sped off.

A 28-year-old Iranian woman told police Monday that her husband had hit her and threatened to kill her in a domestic scuffle Friday but refused to file charges, according to police.

The woman reportedly contacted police because of repeated assaults by her husband. Reports show the woman reportedly wants to return to Iran but her husband will not let her.

Mother Testifies In Olivas Murder Trial

By KAY BELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The mother of a 3-month-old infant allegedly beaten to death three years ago this morning told a Lubbock jury she vowed to return one day to the infant's unmarked grave in northwest Lubbock County.

Phyllis Olivas testified that after her common-law husband, Patrick, had beaten the child the night of Jan. 15, 1977, she ran from their Clovis Road motel room and began walking to Amarillo. But when she reached the intersection of a county road and North University Avenue, about one mile north of FM 1729, she realized her infant son was dead and buried him, she said.

Mrs. Olivas was the first witness called this morning as the trial of her former common-law husband entered its second day. Patrick Brito Olivas is accused of beating the couple's small son, Serapio Roman Olivas, to death that January night three years ago.

However, the alleged murder of the infant was not discovered until Feb. 19, 1979. That day, sheriff's deputies unearthed what they believed to be the infant's remains at the site Mrs. Olivas had directed them to three days before.

The 29-year-old Amarillo woman told the 140th District Court panel the evening of Jan. 15, 1977, Olivas accused her of having an affair and began striking her. During the fight at the Satellite Motel, she said, the baby began crying.

Mrs. Olivas said her husband, with whom she had lived four years, picked up the child and began slapping him. She said he then grabbed the baby's feet and began banging his back and head against the bed.

When he grabbed the child by the back of the neck and repeatedly doubled the infant's body over forward, the baby stopped crying and was "just sniffling."

"He (the baby) was conscious I think," Mrs. Olivas said. "Not too much, but a little bit."

After the child stopped crying, she said her husband then came toward her as she lay on the floor and kicked her "for the last time." She said he had struck and kicked her several times as she tried to prevent him from beating the child. When her husband left to buy cigarettes, she told lead prosecutor Mark McBride, she bundled up the child and ran from the motel.

She said she was scared of her husband and her only thought was to reach her family in Amarillo.

She slowly recounted the story of burying the child in an embankment after discovering the infant was not breathing, and he was "real white; he was cold."

"I said I'd come back some day," she added, beginning to cry softly.

After sitting at the gravesite for a while, she told the jury, she began walking back toward the paved road shortly thereafter. Mrs. Olivas said. Her husband, who apparently had come looking for her, picked her up and took her back into town.

She said he threatened to kill her if she told anyone about the beating and instructed her to tell relatives the child had died and was buried in Mexico.

She added that Olivas never showed any remorse for his acts that night. "Pat acted like it never happened," she said.

Despite an hour of rigorous cross-examination from defense counsel Pat Simmek, Mrs. Olivas refused to alter her story.

She repeatedly denied questions and implications she had accidentally injured the child and was covering her acts by blaming Olivas.

In earlier testimony, Lubbock County officers told of digging in the area and of finding an infant's sleeper and bones that appeared to be human.

Utility Testifies At PUC Hearing

A-J Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Representatives of the South Plains Electric Cooperative testified today the co-op can adequately serve an area recently annexed in Southwest Lubbock without dual certification with Lubbock Power & Light.

Frank Kilcrease, South Plains engineering services manager, said the co-op currently is providing service to the contested area from three substations and will soon begin construction of a fourth substation, which should be on line by June.

LP&L is seeking Public Utility Commission certification to serve the recently annexed area, which includes Meadows, Lakeridge, Bicentennial and High Country areas, along with South Plains.

"We (South Plains) have no need in having another electric utility to assist the cooperative in providing electric service," Kilcrease said.

Kilcrease said LP&L currently provides only street lighting in the area, but that South Plains can provide that service cheaper.

South Plains general manager W.G. Newton also said LP&L's total charge per kilowatt hour for residential customers is nearly a half a cent higher than South Plains' total charge per kilowatt hour.

LP&L attorney Don Butler asked Newton if it was his position that customers should not have a choice of which utility they wanted to provide their electricity.

Such a choice, achieved through dual certification in the area, would drive up utility costs, Newton said.

John Moss, a Lubbock accountant, was expected to testify about such costs through the afternoon.

LP&L officials were predicting the hearing, which is in its sixth day, may conclude this afternoon.

Israel Shuns Palestinian Autonomy

By The Associated Press

Israel today rejected Egypt's proposals for Palestinian autonomy, saying they were not acceptable as a basis for negotiation. U.S. officials admitted the two countries' positions were "diametrically opposed" and said America was starting to play a more active role in the talks.

Special Mideast envoy Sol Linowitz was to arrive in Israel later today for talks with Prime Minister Menachem Begin after meeting with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Cairo. There, Linowitz said he was optimistic the two countries could agree to an autonomy plan by the May deadline set under their peace treaty.

A U.S. official travelling with Linowitz cautioned that in the next few months "I predict sharp exchanges, moments when it looks like the negotiations are stuck at dead center, moments of apparent deadlock when no progress seems possible. All this is part of the game," added the official.

There were these other developments:

The Iowa native was married to J.W. Israel on Sept. 7, 1950, in Clovis, N.M. She came to Deaf Smith County in 1908 from Nebraska. She was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, John W.; a daughter, Velma Mitchell of Plainview; two sons, Melvin Loyd of Houston and Keith Loyd of Cabot, Ark.; three stepsons; three stepdaughters; 11 grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

Former Clovis City Clerk Named In Arrest Warrant

CLOVIS, N.M. (Special) — Clovis authorities today were continuing their investigation into the case of a former city clerk-treasurer charged with passing worthless checks.

A warrant issued for the arrest of Mike Taylor cites a $600 check given to bail out three massage parlor employees who were arrested in a Oct. 9, 1979, police raid.

Magistrate Ernest Trapp, who issued the warrant Monday, set bond at $2,500. Authorities believe Taylor is living in the Houston area, but no report of an arrest has been made.

The arrest warrant was issued on a complaint filed by Ninth Judicial District Attorney's office and cites the bogus $600 check, which was returned because of insufficient funds.

Chicago Teachers Stay Home For Second Day

CHICAGO (AP) — Most of Chicago's teachers turned a deaf ear to pleas to "sacrifice" and stayed home a second day today while administrators tried to keep the schools open for the few students who showed up.

With two weeks pay overdue, more than 95 percent of the 25,355 teachers stayed out of the 647 schools in protest

Monday, while less than 7 percent of the 472,452 students showed up for classes in the nation's third largest public school system.

A teachers' spokesman said today he had doubts whether all school employees would be paid all the money due them on Friday, one requirement for returning to work. The City Council is expected to meet Thursday in hopes of completing the sale of $225 million in bonds needed to pay the salaries.

"I don't think those checks are going to make it," said teachers union spokesman Chuck Burdeen. "With this school board, I'm not confident the sun is going to shine the way they've been handling it."

He said teachers planned to go to their schools today to pick up paychecks for one of the two weeks they are owed and then go home.

School Board President Catherine Rother pleaded late Monday with the teachers to return to work today and "continue to make the kind of sacrifice" they have been making in the last several weeks.

However, Chicago Teachers Union President Robert Healey said the teachers proved their patience during the past two months of the system's financial crisis when they missed three paychecks. They later received two of the checks.

Healey renewed his pledge that the teachers won't report back to classes until they receive all their money. "Our teachers won't be there all week," he said.

Mayor Jane Byrne has indicated teachers will be paid Friday, and on Monday the City Council passed an ordinance authorizing a $225 million bond issue needed to operate the system through April.

"We've done everything we could to help the Board of Education along," Mrs. Byrne said.

No Leaks Reported In Mishap

KENDLETON (UPI) — An overturned tanker truck filled with an explosive chemical was righted and its contents transferred to another truck today, allowing 200 evacuated residents to return to their homes.

No injuries resulted from the accident late Monday on U.S. 59 southwest of Houston, a Kendleton police spokeswoman said.

There was no leakage of the more than 6,000 gallons of acid aldehyde. The Service Transport Co. tanker carrying it was involved in a minor traffic accident and turned on its side, stopping traffic in the eastbound lane temporarily.

"The roadway has been cleared and the truck has been removed," the police clerk said.

Residents were warned by police that heat from a passing automobile's exhaust could ignite the liquid.

A Service Transport official said cranes lifted the truck to its wheels and the chemical, which was bound for Corpus Christi, was transferred.

Healey renewed his pledge that the teachers won't report back to classes until they receive all their money. "Our teachers won't be there all week," he said.

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Reports that Coca Cola Bottling Co. plans to substitute fructose for beet sugar in its soft drink products helped send corn futures prices higher today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Fructose is derived from corn. Wheat futures prices also got a lift from continuing reports that China was in the market for grains and might be assisted with government credits through the food for peace program since China has now attained most favored nation status. A major commercial firm also shipped out four large loads of wheat over the weekend, decreasing on hand supplies and helping to boost prices.

Spread trading between the nearby and back months also helped raise nearby wheat futures prices as traders sold off the back months after hearing favorable crop news and opting instead to trade in the nearby months where prices are more certain.

At the close, soybeans were unchanged to 1 cent higher, March $6.61 1/2, wheat was 1/4 to 8/16 cents higher, March $4.66 1/2, corn was 1/4 to 2 cents higher, March $2.72 1/2, and oats were 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher, March $1.45.

Hogs' Magic Finishes Tech

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton said it was a shame that Texas Tech had to lose — Red Raider boss Gerald Myers said essentially the same thing.

The only difference was that the pain showed clearly in Myers' eyes when he spoke.

For the third time in four years, the Hogs nipped Texas Tech at the buzzer. This time it was reserve Mike Young who hit a 20-foot jumper with one second left in overtime as Arkansas clipped the Raiders 71-69 in a heartbreaker.

The loss, Tech's second in a row, dropped the Raiders to 5-3 in Southwest Conference play (11-7 overall) while the Hogs are 7-1 and firmly entrenched in second place in the SWC standings, one game behind league-leading Texas A&M.

The Raiders got a bomb from somewhere in the bleacher seats from Kent Williams to knot the game at 61-61 with eight seconds remaining that sent the game into OT. The game was then tied three times in the extra period before the Hogs took command.

With the game knotted at 67-67, Arkansas's U.S. Reed fouled Tech's reliable David Little with 37 ticks left on the clock.

But Little, who'd connected on game-winning free throws against Rice and Baylor last week, missed the front end of his one-and-one. Ironically, Little was six-of-six from the line before that shot.

Following a Tech timeout, Arkansas worked the ball for 27 seconds before Young hit his 15-footer in the waning moments to sink the Raiders. If all this sounds familiar, it is.

Last year, Sidney Moncrief hit a shot at the buzzer to defeat the Raiders 66-65 in the Coliseum. Two years ago it was Ron Brewer who hit a big bucket at the end for a Hog win.

"Some of the greatest games I've ever coached in have been in this arena," declared Sutton. "I told Gerald after the game that I must have a rabbit's foot in here."

The 9,343 Tech fans who packed the arena didn't seem to particularly care.

"It was just a great basketball game," said Myers. "It could have gone either way. Tonight we got beat but I'm not accepting a moral victory."

"We're disappointed," added Myers, "but we're not discouraged. The last play isn't what loses a ballgame."

The difference was UA's Scott Hastings. The 6-foot-10 post man scored 23 points against Tech — the most by any individual against Tech this season.

Hastings rarely missed a shot from the field (he was 10 of 14) and every time the Raiders tried to counter, the big man drew a foul. Hastings shot 12 free throws in the game, hitting eight of them.

This one was close every step of the way. Nineteen times the game was tied and 13 times the lead changed hands. The Hogs never led by more than seven — and that came in the first half — while the Raiders could only build up a four-point lead.

Although the contest was a defensive one in every aspect, both teams shot the ball exceptionally well. The Hogs hit an amazing 66 percent from the field (29 of 44), while the Raiders were ripping the nets for a 60-percent (24 of 40) average.

In the second half (including the overtime) there was a grand total of 15 missed shots — on both ends of the court.

"It was just a great offensive game in the second half," Myers stated. "We aren't a great defensive team but we aren't flat nothing either — and neither is Arkansas."

"We seemed to control the first half," countered Sutton. "But in the second half, we kept having to fight from be-

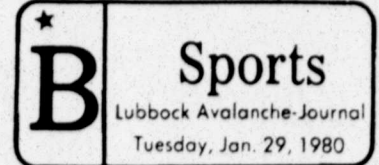

The Hogs got 15 from Brad Friess, 12 from U.S. Reed and 10 from Young — all in the second half and four in overtime.

"And, of course, Young hit the biggie. I'm glad Young got to take the shot," explained Sutton, "because at the end of regulation — after Williams hit about a 40-footer (for Tech) to tie it — I don't know if we properly explained to him what we wanted."

"He seemed hesitant," Sutton added, "then threw up a 40-footer of his own and that certainly wasn't what we wanted."

"They've beaten us here four straight years now," Myers said, "and three of them have been on clutch shots at the buzzer."

"Arkansas may have lost their triplets (Marvin Delph, Brewer and Moncrief)," he added, "but they still have their coach and he does a great job."

hind. But someone seemed to come up with a big bucket for us when we had to have it."

The Raiders got a couple of big buckets from senior Thad Sanders — who turned in possibly the best game he's had at Tech. He hit a turnaround jumper from 15 feet out to tie the game at 59-59 with 58 seconds left in regulation, scored on a layup in overtime and tipped in a missed Williams free throw to put Tech ahead 69-67 in OT.

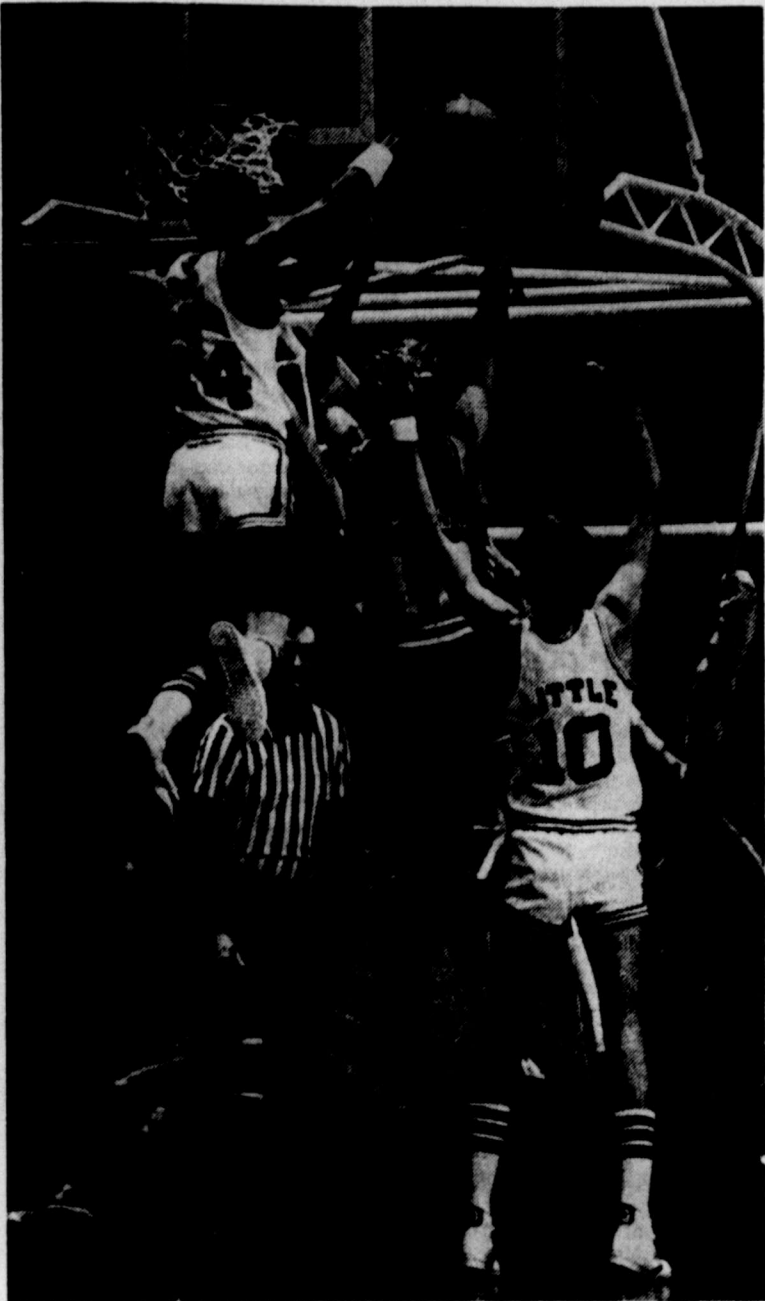

For the night, Sanders was five of five from the field for 10 points in only 15 minutes of playing time.

Ben Hill, who fouled out with 1:39 left in regulation, led the Raiders with 15 points. Jeff Taylor had 14 and Little,

Sneaky Lobos Concern Wood

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Just as the coaches have said all along, the District 1-AAA race (at least the first half of it) is going right down to the wire.

Estacado, by virtue of its win over Borger Friday night, has a one-game lead, but there are still two games remaining. Borger, despite its loss, is still in the thick of things as the Bulldogs host Dunbar tonight at 7:30, then travel to Canyon for a first-half shootout.

Tonight, Estacado hosts Levelland at 7:30 and Matador coach J.J. Wood doesn't mind saying he's worried.

"Stop and think," Wood stated. "Levelland played Borger real close. That indicates that if they're on, they can play with anybody."

The Lobos feature a strong inside game with 6-8 junior Dwight Phillips, 6-3 Jerry Birdsong and 6-2 Dennis Phillips, a returning all-district performer who has been hampered by injuries so far this year.

And, on top of that, Wood says Levelland's been known to run some, too.

"They've always pressed real well in the past, they've traditionally had a good press — that's been their bread and butter," Wood said. "Once they get cranked up, they can score some points on you. They'll just be rocking along, not doing too well, then BOOM, they score a bunch of points."

Sounds kind of like the Matadors themselves. That kind of spunky, high-pressure play is what has made Estacado 3-0 thus far in the district wars.

Even though his club holds the edge in the first-half race, Wood says the season's second half could be completely different.

"I still think everybody's going to lose one game this year," he said. "Like last year, we lost two games in the first half, then went 5-0 in the second half. I can see something like that happening."

And who would that turn-around team be this year?

"Possibly Canyon," offered Wood. "And then you need to look around the corner because of Dumas is tough. There's just something about them. Remember, they've got three home games in the second half, only two on the road. They are tough to beat at home."

If you doubt that, just ask Dunbar coach Joe McWilliams. His Panthers were blown out of the water 104-60 Friday night in Dumas. The Panthers are 0-3 in loop play now, but they haven't been beaten that badly in a long time.

"It was awful," moaned McWilliams. "They shot 43 free throws and we only got 19. Ten of those were in the last quarter, too, after it was all over. He (Dumas coach Jim Reid) didn't even pull his starters until there were three minutes left in the game."

What'd you do to make him mad, coach?

"I really don't know. I didn't do anything. He was just trying to run up the score on us. But I'll tell you what, my kids are young this year but they won't be next year. And he says he's got a senior ball club."

That almost sounds like a threat. "It is, in a roundabout way," McWilliams agreed. "I will feel no mercy for him the next time. He says the future doesn't look very bright for them, well, I'm sorry."

Tonight, the Panthers jump from the frying pan to the fire as they take on Borger, still smarting from Friday night's loss to Estacado.

In the other District 1-AAA game, Canyon travels to Dumas.

The girls' schedule is almost the same. The girls play the same people, but this is the start of the second half of their district season. Dumas won the first half by two games.

In District 2-AAA play, the boys also start the second half with Fort Stockton traveling to Odessa to play Ector and Andrews hosting Pecos.

MHS Stands Ready For First-Half Title

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
It doesn't take any kind of mathematical wizard to figure out this simple problem: Monterey plus one win over Plainview tonight equals the first-half title in the District 4-AAAA race.

So put those calculators back in your pockets.

All it takes for the Plainsmen to win the title outright is a victory against the Bulldogs tonight at 8 p.m. in Plainview. Monterey enters the contest with a 22-5 overall record and a 3-0 conference mark, while Plainview is 12-11 and 0-2 in those departments.

But head coach Joe Michalka is not fooled by Plainview's record. The Bulldogs, he pointed out, are very much able to pull off a coup d'etat if given the chance.

Plainview entered the conference race a few weeks back as one of the pre-district favorites. However, back-to-back losses to Hereford (52-48) and Coronado (69-68) have knocked the Bulldogs out of the district picture for this half.

While Plainview was reeling, Monterey was rocking to its 20th consecutive conference win by knocking off rival Coronado last week. 54-48 in a double overtime affair. The Plainsmen have not lost a district game since 1977.

Monterey was lucky to come out of the Coronado contest with that mark still intact, though. Against the Mustangs, Michalka was without the services of starters Ian Hyslop and Greg Thomason. But Gary Hodges and Billy Breedlove came off the bench to fill the gaps. Michalka said Breedlove and Hodges again will start in place of Hyslop, who's still slowed by an ankle injury, and Thomason, out with the chicken pox.

"They (Breedlove and Hodges) came off the bench and did a good job for us," said Michalka. "I'm not scared to use them. They're playing well. But it'd be nice to have all of our starters back for this one."

Perhaps the key matchup of the night will pit Plainview's Kenneth Storey against Trav Clardy of Monterey. Storey and Clardy are currently two of the top scorers in the district, averaging 22.5 and 16.2 points respectively. They also rank 1-2 in rebounding. Storey at 11.0 and Clardy at 10.5.

Also on tap tonight, the Monterey girls take on Plainview at 6 p.m.; the Coronado girls entertain Lubbock High, also at 6 p.m.; and Lubbock High's boys travel to Coronado for a 7:30 p.m. matchup.

The Monterey girls, winners of the first half, can take a big step toward claiming the second-half crown tonight by knocking off Plainview. Monterey is 23-2 for the year and 4-0 in district play. Plainview, considered the only team able to challenge MHS for the title, is 17-9 and 3-1.

Barry Arnwine's Mustangs need a victory tonight against Lubbock High if they hope to stay up with Monterey in the first-half chase. But a loss would mean the Mustangs can start making preparations for the second-half wars.

Woods, Aggies Retain Lead

By The Associated Press
Uh-oh.

As if things weren't bad enough for the also-rans behind Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference basketball race, 6-11 sophomore Rudy Woods went on a rampage Monday night.

The Texas A&M center scored a career-high 31 points and dominated the backboards as the Aggies finished the first half of league play with a perfect 8-0 record.

Texas A&M whalloped Houston 92-79 to keep its one-game edge over Arkansas, which nipped Texas Tech 71-69 on Mike Young's 16-foot jump shot with 2 seconds left in overtime.

In other SWC action Monday night, Ron Baxter's 21 points led Texas past Rice 87-76 and Terry Teagle's 24 points guided Baylor past Texas Christian 85-73.

Houston started out strong against A&M, forging an early lead behind the shooting of cousins Robert and Kenneth Williams, who finished with 22 and 20 points respectively.

But Woods took charge, and the game was tied 40-40 at the half. By then, Woods already had 10 rebounds and 17 points. The Aggies quickly took a 10-point lead in the second half and cruised in.

"This was Rudy's best game. He's an all-America," said A&M coach Shelby Metcalf. "We got hot in the second half, and all six of our players who saw action in the second half were outstanding."

Houston coach Guy Lewis bemoaned the fact his team had to resort to outside shooting after both Cougar forwards fell victim to fouls early in the second half.

"Like I've said before, you're not gonna win with outside shooting. You have to get some inside, and they (A&M) don't allow you much inside. They manhandled us like everyone else," Lewis said.

"I think there's no doubt about it. A&M is the best in the league. If I had to play it over, I don't know what we'd do differently."

Coach Benson, Tech Women Down WBC

Texas Tech women's cage coach Gay Benson readily admits she learned everything she knows about coaching during her playing days at Wayland Baptist College.

Maybe the Flying Queens taught her too well.

Saturday evening in the Municipal Gymnasium, Coach Benson and her Tech women notched their biggest victory since the school began playing roundball in 1975 by defeating WBC 75-72 in a thriller Monday night in the Municipal Coliseum. The Raider women are 16-6 and a remarkable 10-0 at the Coliseum.

"I have to say it's my biggest win since I've been at Tech," admitted an ecstatic Mrs. Benson. "You always want to do well against your alma mater. They taught me that I know."

The win was the Raiders' first ever against the powerful Queens, who had blanketed Tech in 11 previous meetings. And the Raiders did it without their leading scorer, Gwen McCray — who was out with an ankle injury.

On top of that, the Raiders had nearly everyone in early foul trouble.

"Our kids were ready," said Mrs. Benson. "and we got the lucky breaks when we needed them. But I also have to give credit to the kids who came off the bench."

The Raiders led by as many as 11 points in the second half, but the Queens came back to take a one-point lead, 68-67, with 2:58 remaining in the game.

But Louise Davis answered with a layup for Tech. WBC All-American Kathy Harston missed the front end of a one and one, and the Lady Raiders' Pam Stone connected from 10 feet out to put Tech back in command 71-68.

Tech's last four points came on a couple of clutch free throws from Lynn Webb and Miss Davis.

Miss Webb, who came off the bench for the injured Miss McCray, displayed a hot outside touch to lead Tech in scoring with 22 points. Miss Stone added 16 and Vicki Lee had 11.

Wayland was paced by Cathy Boots' 17 points. Miss Stone led both teams in rebounding with nine for the Raiders. The Tech women outshot the visitors by hitting 52 percent of their field goal attempts to Wayland's 46 percent.

Syracuse's Boeheim Charts Climb In Poll

By The Associated Press
Don't try to tell Syracuse's Jim Boeheim about life in the Top 10. He knows. It's tough enough just being there.

Boeheim, who has compiled a 91-15 record in just over three years as head coach, saw his Orangemen climb two notches to the No. 4 position in The Associated Press college basketball poll Monday behind unbeaten DePaul, Oregon State and Kentucky, respectively.

"Being in the Top 10 is really a double-edged sword whether you're No. 1 or No. 10," Boeheim said. "Since we've got there, everybody we play has been shooting for us. But being in a top position also has a way of giving our players confidence."

Confidence is something Boeheim's players have in abundance. Their 17-1 record is evidence of that.

But that's only half the struggle this season. Luck could be the deciding factor in college basketball.

"I can think of 10 teams that could win the national championship," Boeheim said, adding that Syracuse is in his list. "There's really no dominant team."

DePaul might be the exception.

The Blue Demons walked away with the top spot in this week's poll, collecting all 61 first-place votes and a perfect score of 1,220 points in the voting by a nationwide panel of sport writers and broadcasters in easily outdistancing runnerup Oregon State.

But DePaul also had its problems last week. The Blue Demons struggled to a 57-54 victory over Alabama-Birmingham and prevailed in a high-scoring 105-94 triumph over Evansville.

Oregon State, second on almost every ballot, piled up 1,144 points to maintain the No. 2 spot while Kentucky, ranked fifth a week ago, replaced Duke in the No. 3 spot this week with 988 points.

Syracuse was next with 911 points — seven more than No. 5 Duke and 11 more than No. 6 Ohio State.

Louisville, Notre Dame and St. John's, N.Y., maintained the Nos. 7, 8 and 9 positions. The Cardinals picked up 887 points, the Irish got 855 and the Redmen 805 in this week's voting.

Louisiana State rounded out the Top 10 with 543 points.

North Carolina, which posted victories over Atlantic Coast Conference rivals Wake Forest and Clemson last week, headed the Second 10.

Maryland, which jumped three spots despite a one-point loss to Notre Dame on national television, was No. 12 followed by Virginia, Missouri, Weber State, Clemson, Purdue, Indiana, Brigham Young and Kansas State, the only newcomer to this week's poll.

Last week, the Second Ten was Louisiana State, Clemson, North Carolina, Purdue, Maryland, Indiana, Virginia, Weber State, Tennessee and Brigham Young.

Tennessee, ranked 19th last week but upset by both Georgia and Alabama, was the only team to fall out of the Top 20.

Chaps Bomb Lobos As Streak Continues

ALPINE (Special) — The Lubbock Christian College men's basketball team used a balanced scoring attack to win its sixth consecutive game Monday night 86-68 over Sul Ross.

The game was also the Chaps' seventh road victory this season, which ties an LCC record.

The Chaps, now 14-12 this season and 4-1 in Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association play, had four players in double figures. Sul Ross had three.

Kevin Wharton, who hit eight of 13 field goal attempts and was perfect in

LCC Women Beat Sul Ross 66-50

ALPINE (Special) — Sherry Williams scored 21 points to lead the Lubbock Christian College girls to a 66-50 win over Sul Ross in Alpine Monday night.

The lead changed hands six times throughout the game after LCC jumped to a 8-0 head start. Sul Ross led at halftime 30-29, but couldn't hold on to the advantage during the final half.

Aleta Stinson sparked final period scoring for LCC, coming off the bench to hit four of five field goals and three of five free shots in the last 14 minutes of play.

The win puts the Chaparral women at 5-12 on the season, and 3-3 in TIAA play. Sul Ross is 1-11 overall, and 1-14 in league play.

free throw tries, led all scorers with 19 points. Keith Gardner hit eight of 12 field goals for 16 points.

Bill McGee also scored 16 points, making seven of 12 field goal attempts and hitting two of three from the charity line.

The victory gives LCC a share of the TIAA lead. The winner of the game between Austin College and McMurry will share the front spot with the Chaps, with McMurry and LCC scheduled to square off Saturday. That game will be a rematch of an earlier 62-61 win by LCC. The game will start at 2 p.m. in Lubbock.

The score was tied 2-2 and 4-4 before the Chaps took control of the game in the first half. The LCC lead slowly increased from 21-12 at the 8:03 mark, to 33-22 at the intermission.

In the second half, the Chap lead continually increased. At the 14:23 mark, the LCC lead was 15 points, with the score 47-32. Then, with 7:27 remaining in the game, the Chaps had their biggest lead — 20 points — with a 65-45 difference.

Sul Ross was the 10th straight opponent the Chaps held to 72 points or less, and on offense, LCC shot a net-burning 60 percent from the floor. The Chaps hit 15 of 26 field goal attempts for 58 percent in the first half and got better in the second half, hitting 21 of 34 outside shots for 62 percent.

The Lobo loss dropped Sul Ross to 7-11 this season and 2-3 in conference play.

Cyclone Cage Coach Approaches Exit

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State's Lynn Nance, who started the season full of optimism, apparently has coached his last basketball game for the Cyclones.

The Iowa State Athletic Council called a special meeting for today to hear a report from an ad hoc committee that has been studying the basketball situation. The committee reportedly will recommend that Nance be dismissed.

Sources told the Associated Press that Nance was told on Friday that he is being relieved of his coaching duties. Nance, in his fourth year with the Cyclones, has a record of 41-58 and only one winning season.

The Ames Daily Tribune reported in a copyrighted story Monday that Nance told his team Saturday's 69-60 victory over Oklahoma State was his last as Iowa State's coach.

Nance, who is paid approximately $35,000 annually, has two years left on his contract. The university reportedly has reached a settlement with Nance to compensate him for the remaining two years.

Senate May Pass Resolution; Boycott Push Wanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — All Americans, not just athletes, may be asked to boycott the 1980 Summer Olympic Games in Moscow under a resolution widely supported in the Senate.

The resolution, tying an Olympic boycott to continued presence of Soviet troops in Afghanistan, was expected to be approved by the full Senate today following unanimous approval by the Foreign Relations Committee Monday.

The resolution offers an alternative to a boycott by urging the International Olympic Committee to cancel, postpone or transfer the games — a request IOC members have already indicated they will reject.

The key paragraph specifically urges "that should the International Olympic Committee fail to remove the 1980 Summer Olympic Games from the Soviet Union while Soviet troops continue to occupy Afghanistan, no American team should participate in those games and no Americans should attend them in any capacity."

It also proposes that the IOC consider creating permanent homes for the Summer Games in Greece and the Winter Games in a neutral country.

Unlike a version adopted by the House last week, the Senate resolution does not specifically tie action on the Games to an arbitrary Feb. 20th deadline set by President Carter for Soviet withdrawal.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the committee chairman, said this was done because "no one could reasonably believe the Russians would withdraw their forces by the deadline."

Nonetheless, he said there is wide agreement that Soviet actions in Afghanistan and the intensified repression of internal dissent represented by the internal exile given Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov "cannot go unremarked and unpunished."

One of the few senators to voice opposition to the resolution was acting Republican leader Ted Stevens of Alaska, who said he spoke in his capacity as a former member of the President's Commission on the Olympics.

Stevens accused President Carter of playing domestic politics with the international Olympic movement.

"It is appalling that we are going to assassinate the Olympic movement in order to have a backdrop for the president of the United States to look like he can stand up to the Russians," Stevens said.

It is the National Olympic Committees — 140 of them, in countries big and small around the world — which will ultimately decide whether to send athletes to Moscow or boycott the games. Thus far not one of them has said it will withdraw.

The U.S. Olympic Committee walks a delicate tightrope between patriotic duty and loyalty to the Olympic movement, which traditionally is completely non-political and independent of all government interference.

Lord Killanin, Irish president of the International Olympic Committee, a shrewd diplomat who hopes to ward off the threat of a boycott and see the Games through undisturbed, keeps a low profile and says little. But the signs are the initial campaign for a boycott is losing some of its impetus.

"The National Olympic Committees and the 25 Olympic sports federations are solidly with us," Killanin said from his Dublin home this weekend. He has been in daily contact with Col. F. Donald Miller, secretary general of the USOC, since the crisis began.

That was before the USOC executive board met at Colorado Springs and decided to go along part of the way with Carter.

It agreed unanimously to convey Carter's views to the IOC — that the Games should be moved from Moscow, postponed or canceled if Russian troops are not withdrawn from Afghanistan by next month.

It is little more than a gesture and a patriotic duty. Killanin has said the Games cannot be taken from Moscow. The USOC, as a well-educated member of the Olympic family, knows there is no more chance of moving the Games than of transferring the World Series to Peking.

The IOC has a contract with Moscow. The Olympics are international and belong as much to the Russians as to the West. The Russians have always obeyed Olympic rules. The non-political IOC, under the Olympic Charter which the late Avery Brundage fought tooth and nail to defend during his 30 years as president, has no reason to move the Games. Moreover, no other city would be able to fit six months notice to prepare facilities, house 10,000 athletes and sports officials and recruit and train the thousands of workers needed to staff the Games.

The USOC clearly is playing for time. It has until May to decide whether to enter athletes. It will continue to prepare and select a team and will wait to see what the 89-strong IOC does when it meets at Lake Placid, N.Y. in two weeks' time.

The future of the Games depends on U.S. participation. Without a U.S. team there would be no U.S. television coverage, and the money paid by the American networks for the screening rights help to pay for the costliest of all sports festivals.

NBC and ABC between them have paid $85 million to Moscow and $25 million to Lake Placid. And ABC has agreed to pay $225 million for the Los Angeles Games and reportedly between $80 and $90 million for Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, where the Winter Games of 1984 are due to be staged.

Despite the weight of public opinion behind a boycott, the response from athletes has been cool. The Athletes' Advisory Council of the USOC came out more than three to one in favor of sending a U.S. team. A U.S. amateur boxing squad resisted pressures and is in the Soviet Union.

Some nations, including France, Italy, Belgium and Mexico, have said firmly they will not be dictated to by politicians and will definitely send teams.

Officials of Chile and Taiwan have joined President Carter's bandwagon to move the Summer Olympics from Moscow, and Norway seems a strong possibility to hop aboard, too.

Beavers' Composure Beats Stanford's Slowdown

By The Associated Press

The Oregon State basketball team got caught with its points down ... but still managed to keep from getting embarrassed.

Facing a pesky Stanford slowdown game, the nation's second-ranked team only scored 18 points Monday night. But Stanford scored only 16, so it was all right for the Beavers.

"I didn't really expect them to come out with this type of game," said Oregon State coach Ralph Miller, "but you play the best way you can to win. If it works, fine. I was pleased with our performance. It was our first experience with this ... our defense played well and I thought we adjusted well."

According to Stanford coach Dick DiBiase, the slowdown was determined by the Cardinals' position as "last-place team in the Pacific-10 Conference" and Oregon's standing as "the second-best team in the nation."

"It was our goal to have the game come down to the final two minutes," said DiBiase. "Our strategy was to stay in the delay even if we were down by as many as six to eight points. I think this game is why we should not have a clock in college basketball. Sure, it was a low score, but it was a great game and it gave a struggling team like Stanford a chance to beat the No. 2-ranked team."

In another of the night's top games, 10th-ranked Louisiana State defeated third-ranked Kentucky 65-60 in a battle of Southeastern Conference powers. Two other Top Twenty teams were in action and both won with relative ease — No. 1 DePaul beating Creighton 84-73 and No. 9 St. John's blasting Niagara 87-63.

LSU used a 21-point performance by DeWayne Scales and a slowdown offense to beat Kentucky at the Wildcats' intimidating Rupp Arena in Lexington. Scales scored 13 of his points in the second half, including four backdoor baskets off the Tigers' delay offense.

"The game plan was not to press Kentucky, but play them with a straight two-three zone," said LSU coach Dale Brown. "Another thing we had to do was to control tempo. We had confidence that we could hold the ball."

Mark Aguirre scored 20 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead DePaul over Creighton, the 18th straight victory for the nation's only unbeaten major college basketball team.

"It was a major hurdle, but it wasn't a good 40 minutes of basketball," said DePaul coach Jay Meyer after the road victory.

The nation's No. 1 team led only by 32-30 at the half.

Mariners' Bochte Says Players May Strike

SEATTLE (AP) — Baseball players may go on strike, delaying the opening of the season, unless a new basic agreement is reached with owners, says the player representative of the Seattle Mariners.

"If push comes to shove, the ball players will vote to strike," Bruce Bochte said Monday after returning from a meeting of the Players Association in Houston.

Players are pushing in a new collective bargaining agreement for a pro-rata share of major league baseball's new $185 million, four-year network television contract.

"That contract has doubled from the $92.9 million baseball received from national TV in the past four seasons," Bochte said. During that time, about 37 percent of the television money was funneled into pension, medical and other benefit plans for the players.

"I told him to rebound tonight, so he gets 12. He does exactly what you ask of him."

Freshman forward David Russell led five St. John's players in double figures with 16 points as the Redmen routed Niagara for their 16th straight victory. "He's a starter from the bench," St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca said of Russell, a svelte, 6-foot-6 forward.

Elsewhere, Antoine Carr scored 22 points to lead Wichita State over Drake 83-70. Alabama-Birmingham stopped North Carolina-Charlotte 84-76 as Keith McCord scored 24 points and Clarence James' 19 points helped Tulane beat Cincinnati 69-64.

Missouri Valley Considers Expansion, Problems

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The Missouri Valley conference, which dates back to 1907 in its long history, is facing organizational problems this year, largely a result of Title IX, NCAA classifications and the high cost of traveling.

The principal questions are whether to expand from its present nine members and whether schools will qualify for Division IA football competition.

Contacts have been made with possible new members but the conference won't name the schools. North Texas State University and Central Illinois have been mentioned publicly from other sources, however.

All the questions may be settled at the annual meeting of conference officials here May 20-23.

To qualify for the top-ranked Division IA, a school must either compete in at least 12 sports or compete in eight sports and have a stadium seating capacity of at least 30,000 with an average annual attendance of 17,000 per game once in the last four years.

Commissioner David Price says that five schools are apparently committed: the University of Tulsa, New Mexico State University, Wichita State University, Southern Illinois and Indiana State. Most will have to add some competitive sports and New Mexico State will need to increase its seating.

Creighton and Bradley are not affected because they do not compete in football. Drake has not said publicly whether it will go for Division IA or not.

Still looming over the planning is the federal Title IX program. Presumably it schools added competition for men they will be required to do the same for women — and that runs the costs up.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Think things out as you go.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let people draw you into situations tomorrow where they want to keep things from others. You don't need their brand of intrigue.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll want things done your way tomorrow because you feel your way is right. However, allow others the same latitude so they, too, can do a good job without interference.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) What you hope to accomplish tomorrow may not come off smoothly on the first try. Things will work out with a good second (or even third) effort.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Unless you stay on top of things tomorrow your financial affairs could get out of order. Keep everything in balance by not spending more than you take in.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Sticky situations can be resolved tomorrow through diplomacy. Count to 10 so that you won't say things that you shouldn't.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your initial appraisal of matters tomorrow could be a trifle negative. After studying everything more closely, you'll find your early fears were paper dragons.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Overall conditions tend to favor you tomorrow. The one exception: You could be a trifle careless or extravagant in handling your resources.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Without proper motivation you're not likely to be an achiever tomorrow. But if there is something you strongly desire to do, success will be easy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Study things carefully today without letting thoughts become your aim. Being too introspective will retard your progress and keep you from doing that which is necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Arrange your schedule tomorrow so that the most important matters are tended to first. Eliminate any time wasters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An indirect approach rather than a straightforward attack may be the most efficient method to reach your goals tomorrow. Don't be pushy.

Your Birthday
