Swinging At The Fair

When Hemisfair '68 opens April 6, in San Antonio, Texas, visitors will note one point: this is a fair in motion. Fairgoers head from wires, riders will see a bird's-eye view of the Fair— and be able to get to any far point almost instantly.

Movers who like their action sitting lown can go to the resitting fown an go to the revolving restaurant atop the Tower of the Americas – a staggering 322 feet above the ground for a view of the South Texas landscape as well as the Fair, itself. This highest revolving restaurant in the Western Hemisphere will make one complete turn every nour.

But, perhaps the most swing-ng event at the Fair will be at the Frito-Lay Pepsi-Cola pavilwill be able to enjoy a stately gondola glide down the San Antonio river—where Victorian houses along the banks—some 100 years old—have been restored and will be used as restaurants for various nations.

For a little faster-paced action, the Swiss Skyride will fill the bill. In zars suspended overhead from wires, riders will see in a series of 32 dizzying revolutions until they reach the ground. This flying dance has been a tradition of the Totonacan Indians for centuries and will be performed exactly as it has been done in the past-with one important exception. Originally, some provision had been made for the flyers' security. But, at the Frito-Lay/Pepsi-Cola presentation, Los Voladores will be on their own.

Lovers of perpetual motion will find what they want at the Fair. For all ages, Hemisfair '68 will be a swinging event.

Boost Profits From Coastal Bermuda With Nitrogen

By: T. R. Cox, Chief Agronomist Cyanamid Agricultural Research Genter, Princeton, N. J.

Coastal Bermudagrass will yield more hay and grazing to the acre than any other permanent forage crop in the South. This is the experience of agronomists and livestock farmers in all areas where this wonderful, improved variety is adapted. The same can be said for the more cold-

11/4 tons of grazing animals. Coastal is rated the most productive perennial grass in the Mississippi Delta. NORTH CAROLINA — D

M. Buchanan of Marston feeds 200 cattle and calves and pours on the N to keep his big needs for forage satisfied. He annually fertilizes Bermuda with 400 to 500 pounds of a mixed fertilizer high in nitrogen — plus 50 pounds of nitrogen after each hay cutting. Result—2 tons of excellent hay per acre at each cutting.

SOUTH CAROLINA —

Fruitful investigation here on Bermuda has been going on for years. One study showed that 800 pounds of N per acre is the most profitable rate of applicatolerant Midland Bermuda in the cooler "upper South."

If Coastal is established right and well fertilized, you can graze two cows per acre while moisture is plentiful and one of 4 to 8 tons of hay per acre annually are now produced routinely on many dairy and beef farms in the South.

One of the strong points for Coastal is this—once a stand is well established, it is there indefinitely. There are many fields with solid stands over 10 years old with no indication of decline.

Consider some of the success with Coastal and Midland from Texas and Oklahoma east to the Atlantic

TEXAS - Research reports show that under irrigation 917 pounds of nitrogen per acre is the most profitable rate of application when N costs 10 cents to 150 pounds of beef per acre

Midland Bermuda in Texas. OKLAHOMA — Bob Landsaw, Cleveland County, established the grass for his Polled Hereford herd by starting off 4 years ago with a basic heavy application of fertilizer. He changed low-value land into rich pastures worth $250 an acre. To maintain high yields this rancher uses between 20 and 22 tons of nitrogen a year —or about 200 pounds of N to

DELTA BRANCH EXPER-IMENT STATION—Research Coastal pasture with 400 pounds N per season will carry | years old with no indication of decline.

Coastal's home state studied the yield at different rates of nitrogen. They found as the nitrogen rate goes up to 300 pounds, the acres of land required to produce 100 tons of Coastal was cut by almost two-thirds—from 37.6 to 13.4 acres.

The livestock farmer not yet producing Coastal or Midland on his place should look into success stories such as those mentioned above in his state or county or neighborhood. Sound advice on the important points in establishing Coastal or Mid-land can be obtained from your college or local extension service. There is no better source of advice than a neighbor who is now growing Coastal or Midland with success.

Several points in establishing and managing require close at-tention if Coastal is to live up to its reputation on your farm.

1. Start on limed, well-fer-tilized fields. 2. Prepare a well-cultivated soil for sprigging. Avoid heavy sods of undesired grasses. 3. Graze or harvest at fre-

3 to 4 weeks apart. A general rule is to graze every time re-growth is 4 to 6 inches high. Ask your local fertilizer dealer for help in laying out a to be set or old stands that need
