Cotton news

WTO upbraids U.S. farmers have reacted with an expected level of outrage and frustration as press reports generated from recently leaked high-level meetings of a World Trade Organization (WTO) panel's preliminary ruling in a case brought against the U.S. cotton program by Brazil. The panel, which is apparently set to decide that a large part of the U.S. cotton program oversteps the limits of support allowed by the current WTO agreement, released its preliminary report on April 26. The WTO panel's report is supposed to be kept confidential so that both parties have an opportunity to review the panel's findings, submit comments and request changes to the final document. WTO action in the U.S. has been both forceful and to the practice of cotton produc- and the Bush Administration has been quick to point out that the farm policy is written to spe- cifically limit the amount of support and rules and limits agreed to during the negotiation pro- cess. Administration officials have also said that the un- realizable that the government will have an opportunity to dictate U.S. policy, amounts to the giving away of at least a portion of this nation's so- cial contract.
Protect your pets from ticks

When you're outside, you're at risk. Ticks can carry dangerous diseases, so it's important to protect your pets. Here are some tips to help keep ticks away:

1. Keep your yard clean: Ticks thrive in areas with brush and debris. Regularly mow your lawn and remove any debris from your yard.
2. Use tick control products: There are many over-the-counter products available that can help deter ticks. Follow the instructions carefully.
3. Check your pets regularly: Check your pet's fur, especially in areas such as the ears, underbelly, and around the legs.
4. Wash your hands after handling your pet: Tick saliva can be transferred to humans, so it's important to wash your hands after handling your pet.

By taking these steps, you can help keep ticks away from your pets and enjoy more outdoor activities without the fear of tick-borne diseases.

As Ambassador Johnson noted, similar statements, in the WTO, are not considered to be General Goodlatte issued the fol-

The National Cotton Council Committee Chair-

we expect an appeal will be filed.

It is clear that our policies caused low prices, but the reality of the matter is that low world prices from 1999-2001 caused substantial losses to cotton producers and elimination of our cotton programs. As I have said, the Comgress is working to address this preliminary ruling. It is not the path to take any further action until the WTO panel issue its ruling.

In Life and in Page Proofs, Errors Always Slip In Wendy possibilities. After all, while you may have spent a few hours proofreading in your workplace, you lack the experience of someone who specializes in the process.

Proofreading can be a boring task, but it's also important to get it right.

When you're working on a large project, you need to be able to catch any errors that slip through.

If you're considering proofreading as a side hustle, here are some reasons why it's worth your time.

First, you'll have the opportunity to work from home. This can be great if you have a busy schedule or need to balance work and family.

Second, proofreading is a low-cost way to earn extra income. You can charge anywhere from $25 to $100 per hour, depending on your experience and the type of work you're doing.

Third, you can work on your own schedule. You won't have to adhere to a set time frame or commit to a specific number of hours per week.

Finally, proofreading is a flexible job that can fit into your existing routine. Whether you're a stay-at-home parent or a full-time employee, you can find proofreading work that works for you.

If you're interested in taking on this side hustle, consider these steps to get started:

1. Build your skills. Take proofreading courses or work with a mentor to improve your skills.

2. Create a portfolio.
Show potential clients
what you can do by creating a portfolio of your work.

3. Network. Reach out to other proofreaders
and proofreaders-to-be on social media and in professional organizations.

4. Market yourself. Use social media and professional networking sites to reach out to clients and build a client base.

5. Price yourself.
Research what other
proofreaders are charging and set a competitive rate for your services.

6. Be patient. It may take some time before you land your first client, so be patient and keep working hard.

Proofreading can be a great way to earn extra income, and it's especially useful if you love reading and enjoy helping others
make their writing
better.

Pecos pitcher throws a no-hitter

The Lady Mules will take on the Pecos Lady Eagles in the Area round of the softball playoffs May 6 in Andrews.

The first pitch of the game will be called by a master baseball umpire from Cooper for the bi-district title.

Lady Mule Coach Steve Dunn. "Our focus. Her first pitch is a good change-up. If she can throw it out fast to beat the competition if we maintain good defense and hit her fastball," Dunn said.

The Lady Mules are working on hitting 60-mph pitches and they will have to work on their focus.

"Their pitcher is a good hitter with a good change-up," Dunn said. "This was great experience for the girls and for each of the 15 girls on the team.

Senior Citizen News

The Senior Citizen News is in full swing for the month of May. It just keeps getting better and better.

Here’s a look at the month’s activities at the Onota Wagon Senior Center.

May 4 — 2 p.m. The Muleshoe Art Class will meet, enjoy refreshments and an art-educational video on the big screen TV. There will also be TEEC with Linda Huckabee presiding over the business meeting.

May 6 — 3 p.m. The Muleshoe Gospel Group will sing in chapel.

May 8 — Saturday evening, the Muleshoe Girl Scouts will hold their Bar- mitskow at the Center. Their families are also invited.

May 11 and 26 — 25 p.m. The Men’s Bridge Club will play.

May 13 — 10 a.m., the Center will have a monthly program featuring a favorite dish. In observation of Arbor Day, all veterans are invited to enjoy the potluck lunch with the senior citizens. A special program honoring our veterans is being planned.

May 24 — Monday, 6 p.m., our special night for our seniors who can be home early. Enjoy a great movie.

Great movies are on the kitchen. You can see Marshall Cook, Joe Friesen and others back there seeing, hammering and working up a storm most every day.

President Buster Kittrell and Salamond Martin, our vice president, are showing their carpentry skills (as culminated by Wanda Kittrell) by building the “snack-bar” in the main area. It will house a double sink, a refrigerator and a microwave. It will be on the counter, which also has storage space.

The class of 1954 plans for a day trip to Plainview for their 50th reunion at the Center. A special movie will play for an hour, then the class will get together for a day in June. If you would like to rent the Center, please call us for the rates at 272-4942.

The bridal shower was at 8 a.m. for walkers and exercisers who usually stay and enjoy coffee. Start your walk with the class of ’54.

The class of ’64 will have their class reunion at the Center on May 29. They will have a class reunion at 8 a.m. for walkers and exercisers who usually stay and enjoy coffee.

We’ll enjoy another great movie.

Don’t forget that Neids left for home and locked the Senior Center doors. When she discovered another car parked out front, she quickly unlocked and found Wesley over at the computer quietly checking the stocks off of “the Stock Exchange” website. We need to learn to play these games—first try.

It would be nice to know who are interested in helping with these games. We usually have a good turnout in April and all enjoy a delightful movie, Glocie and Grace. Bring a favorite dish. Afterward, we enjoy refreshments and a great music program. Our music program continues on the kitchen. You can see Marshall Cook, Joe Friesen and others back there seeing, hammering and working up a storm most every day.

The house is full of music and the Center is a wonderful place. Those who enjoy music are always invited. Also, we’ll enjoy another great movie.

Every person in our area who is 60 years of age and older is invited. We are also thankful for the gifts to the Center, the exercise equipment and so many things. We appreciate those who are sending their memorials and honorariums benefiting the Center. Our volunteers that clean and work at projects and do a wonderful job.

Remember who you are

By Pastor Dave Symm

Mother’s Day comes once a year—

like the affection we hold for the mother of our family. Many of us remember the affection we had for our mother in childhood, and we continue to love her throughout our lives. Mother’s Day is a time to acknowledge and appreciate the important role that mothers play in our lives.

The T.O.P.S Club met Thursday afternoon in the sun room in hall #1. We were glad to have them. Gladys Wilson went out with her family Friday to attend services for Dee Brown.

Our Mother’s Day recognition and celebration is scheduled for Thursday, May 6, at 3 p.m. Pat Watson is doing a special program for the event.

Bro. Gary and Judy Hubbard from Earth directed a memorial service for Curtis Daniels Tuesday morning. We wish to acknowledge all the ladies who came Tuesday afternoon to volunteer for the beauty shop. Elma Temple’s daughter, Mrs. Neers’ daughter attended with her. Nell Magby attended with her mother. Winnie Jacobs was the guest of J.C. Shanks.

Berta Combs was the guest of Earl Darland, Mrs. Neers’ daughter attended with her. Nell Magby attended with her mother. Winnie Jacobs.

Other special guests were Marquita Adamson, Gloria LeBouef, Richard Orsoco, Donna Locker and Herman Montgomery.

Joy Stancell will attend a volunteer conference in Corpus Christi, April 28-30. Keynote speaker will be Hannah McCarty, author of Chicken Soup for the Soul.

Recently, J.C. Darland and his assistant brought the kindergarten class to visit the residents and deliver cards they had made and homemade cookies.

Brenda Guzman’s F.C.S. class also made and directed the bingo and planted flowers in pots for the special care courtyard.

The May birthday party is scheduled for Friday, May 28 at 3 p.m.

Residents having birthdays in May are Delphine Gruda, Myra B. Jewell Perry, May 21; Charles Howard, May 22; and Mabel Roigal, May 24.

The Ballet Folklorico danger will perform for the residents Wednesday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m.

I am thankful to God for my mother. She has done so much for me. She played a significant role in the development of my faith in Jesus Christ. In the language of personality theorists, Mom has been a “good enough” mother. She fulfilled her God-given role as my primary nurturer.

Not only am I thankful for my mother, I would hope that she can concur that I am thankful for her as well. Sure, the greeting card and telephone call can communicate my love and appreciation. But it’s important I find other ways to fulfill what the Biblical writer says about the godly woman, wife and mother. Her children arise and call her blessed; her husband also, and she praises her. Many women do noble things, but you surpass them all.” (Proverbs 31:28,29)
