Tuffy Has Hot Time On "Pad"

PLAINVIEW (AP)—Tuffy wanted to stay warm. But, man, when he went to his pad, he found it nothing but cool.

A Boston bulldog pet of the Dr. Ralph Thomas family, Tuffy received an electric heating pad as a Christmas present.

Comfortable nights in the dog house followed until last week, when the house caught fire. Dr. Thomas said apparently the pad shorted, igniting hay on the floor.

Firemen were called. The dog house was destroyed and about 10 feet of a fence damaged.

Tuffy moved indoors to sleep on his master's bed.

New York Has Tallest Buildings, Biggest Problems

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW By SHORTEN AND WHIPPLE

By MARGARET BELLOWES
United Press International
New York is America's biggest city—center of world government at the United Nations, vortex of commerce and industry, hub for 17 million people, host to another 16 million who come every year to do business, shop, or visit. It has the tallest buildings in the world—and more of them. Some say it has the tallest stack of problems and more of them. Robert F. Wagner has been mayor of this massive mess for 12 years. He has just retired. He chose not to run again and his Democratic party lost the mayoralty to Republican John Lindsay.

Wagner these days is in philosophical mood. He speaks candidly but he is optimistic about this city he loves. "Problems?" he says. "The same as other cities—just bigger. Next Layer Appears "Cities' problems are like onions. Peel off one layer and the next layer appears." "It's growing—some experts say the metropolitan area population will be 30 million 30 years—and it has vitality. Just as electricity is generated by friction, vitality is generated by density. New York is here to stay."

Many of the crises now plaguing all cities, says Wagner, will be borne in part by the federal government, which has given more attention to cities in the past four years than it has in the past 40.

Others can only be cured by the cooperation of individual citizens, business, civic groups, foundations and the government. Here is Wagner's look at New York's most pressing problems and some of its accomplishments.

FROM Dr. Blair's DESK

A New Year has now been launched and is in orbit. It is time now to place a new page in an old book—page 1966—upon which the next twelve months of your life will be recorded.

Have you set a new goal for yourself? Will your goal be possible? Will it be practical? Whether you progress in 1966 will depend on how well you chart your course.

But what of your HEALTH goals? Are you physically capable of progressing? How sturdy is your back? How steady are your nerves? How strong is your heart? How alert are you?

How will you prepare for your future health? Do you know that many times Chiropractic adds healthy years to life simply by restoring normal function?

Chiropractic doesn't claim to CURE anything—nor does any other healing art CURE. Nature does that job. Chiropractic has techniques of correcting spinal misalignment, freeing nerve pressure which is interfering with the flow of vital nerve energy, thus making it possible for Nature to once again perform her healing functions.

Coppers continued their rise on the basis of a price boost for copper abroad.

Business Heavier New York City was involved for the second day of the New Year in a transit strike but business on the New York Stock Exchange was considerably heavier today than it was yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.3 to 360.0—bettering the historic closing high made yesterday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.28 at 974.82, topping the historic closing high of 969.26 made Friday when trading ended for 1965.

Inland Steel was up nearly a point. Bethlehem and Colorado Fuel & Iron fractions despite Government displeasure with these companies because of their boost in structural steel prices.

Other steels did even better. Wheeling climbed nearly 3 points, Crucible a full point on top of yesterday's rise of 2 1/2.

Allegany Active Among lower-priced issues, Atlas Corp., Allegheny Corp. and Madison Square Garden were very active fractional gainers.

Young Negro Civil Rights Worker Slain

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI)—A white service station attendant shot and killed a young Negro early today, touching off plans for a protest demonstration at a Negro college here.

Civil rights workers said the shooting came after Young was denied permission to use the rest room at the station.

Local authorities, however, indicated they did not believe the shooting had racial implications.

An unidentified white man was held in connection with the slaying, but no charges were immediately placed against him.

March Organized The Tuskegee campus was seething with excitement over the slaying. A Negro spokesman said a demonstration march was being organized.

The march was to be aimed at the courthouse and at the county jail where a student was said to have been jailed for attaching bumper stickers advertising the "freedom party."

Authorities said Young was shot once in the head with what appeared to be a .38 caliber bullet.

City Public Safety Director A. B. Taylor said the white man being held was inn his 60s.

Taylor said there appeared to be no civil rights motive in the slaying.

"We have no eyewitnesses to determine what happened," Taylor said. "If there was civil rights activity involved, then someone else would have been there I believe. I think it was just a disagreement."

The FBI, state, city and county authorities were investigating.

A spokesman for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) disagreed with Taylor.

The SNCC said Young had been shot twice in the back with a rifle.

Budget FROM PAGE ONE

Revenue estimates for fiscal 1967 are not firm, Moyers told reporters. But they are expected to rise.

While Johnson was at his Texas ranch for a lengthy stay, there were reports that for the present fiscal year federal revenue would be about $96.5 billion.

Moyers said today this was a conservative estimate.

He said he regarded a figure of $105 billion to $107 billion for spending in the current 1966 fiscal year as valid.

Moyers said he has no assessment of what the present budgetary and financial picture might mean in terms of a tax increase. But he did say that Johnson "does not have under consideration at this moment any serious proposal involving a tax increase."

Next service of the airline will be "youth fares," Lawrence revealed, with youths between ages 12 and 21 soon to benefit from slashing of fares approximately in half, upon approval of CAB.

"I have been in and out of Lubbock for 20 years," Lawrence concluded this morning. "and I have continually been impressed with the city as an aggressive and progressive business community. Its development, far-sighted planning and even its isolation have contributed to close cooperation and achievement between Lubbock and Braniff. You have a wonderful airport here certainly an adequate one and well managed, operating on sound business principles. Lubbock should go far, just as we hope our airline will progress."

Indications are that Lawrence does know where he is going, and his progress is so rapid that it has attracted attention in industry-wide.

Russia Not Expected To Yield Ground In Arms Talks

By JOHN A. CALICOTT

GENEVA (UPI) — Although the Russians agreed to resume the 17-nation disarmament conference early this year, the chances are slim they will allow the talks to make any meaningful progress.

The conference meets again Jan. 27 in France, theoretically the 18th participant, will be ignoring it as it has done ever since the conference first began in 1961.

Preventing more nations acquiring nuclear weapons is again at the top of the agenda.

Nuclear non-proliferation is considered by both the United States and the Soviet Union to be the most vital problem facing the world. Agreement stops right there, however.

Moscow last year rejected Washington's non-proliferation proposal because of Western plans to create a NATO nuclear force. The Russians claim such a force would amount to proliferation.

Sets Conditions

Although the West now has no firm plans for any such force, Russia has made it clear she will continue to reject any non-proliferation agreement unless all talks stop of nuclear sharing arrangements within NATO.

West Germany, accused by Moscow of trying to get control over nuclear weapons, wants a larger say in NATO nuclear strategy. Washington agrees with this desire, but no one is in any hurry to work out a solution.

What Washington refuses to do is to let Moscow, in effect, dictate Western military strategy by having NATO relinquish the right to share nuclear planning among member nations if and when it wants to.

Thus, the non-proliferation issue is deadlocked even before the conference resumes and as yet no one sees a way to reach a compromise.

The other major issue is the banning of underground nuclear tests, the only ones permitted after the 1963 partial test ban agreement.

Refuses Inspection

Moscow, however, still rejects any form of on-site inspection which the West says is necessary to prevent cheating.

Thus, few officials—either from the four Western participants, the eight neutrals or the five Communist states for that session will produce new agreements.

But all participants agree that it is at least one accomplishment to hold talks at all in view of the Viet Nam

War. Last year, Moscow refused to intensify Viet Nam fighting as Moscow agreed to permit a resumption until July because of Viet Nam. Instead, they convened the entire United Nations Disarmament Commission to use as a platform for anti-American propaganda.

This year despite the fact that Viet Nam fighting has intensified, Moscow agreed to resume the talks at the beginning of the year.

Western officials expect usual Soviet outbursts against American action in Viet Nam before the conference settles down.

Today In History

Today is Tuesday, January 4, the fourth day of 1966 with 361 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born today are under the sign of Capricorn.

English mathematician and philosopher, Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the Law of Gravity, was born on this day in 1642.

On this day in history:

In 1885, Dr. William Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed the first appendectomy with the patient making a complete recovery.

In 1896, Utah became the 45th state.

In 1948, Burma became an independent country.

In 1965, poet T. S. Eliot died at the age of 76.

A thought for the day: American humorist James Thurber said: "Early to rise and early to bed makes a male healthy wealthy and dead."

A woman in West Germany once did a brisk business selling stolen Manhattan phone books to Communist agents for $75 each. Spies use a directory as a coding device by designating specific listings as a key.

IN DEEP SECTION

Prospector In Lea County Tests Oil

Pennzoil Co. recovered oil on a drillstem test at No. 1 Bridges-State, wildcat 13 miles east of Maljamar in Lea County.

A section from 10,515-545 feet was tested three hours and 15 minutes. Gas came to the surface in 50 minutes in a volume too small to measure. Recovery was 270 feet of 38-gravity oil and 90 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

Initial shut-in bottomhole pressure was 2,790 pounds per square inch. Flowing pressure ranged from 60-92 pounds, and a 150-minute final shut-in pressure was 1,585 pounds.

Another drillstem test, from 10,553-624 feet, flowed gas to the surface in 10 minutes. The two-hour test flowed gas at the rate of 400,000 cubic feet per day. It reversed out eight barrels of 47.4-gravity gas-cut oil, five barrels of oil and gas-cut mud and 1 1/2 barrels of slightly gas-cut mud.

A 90-minute initial shut-in pressure was 4,832 pounds, and 120-minute final shut-in pressure was 3,777 pounds. Flowing pressure varied from 174-611 pounds.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of Section 11-17-34e. It is surrounded by production in Vacuum (San Andres) field.

Flows Oil

Texas Pacific Oil Co. No. 1-AH State, project 16 miles southeast of Caprock in Lea County, flowed oil and water on tests of perforations at 9,930-86 feet.

The operation swabbed 48 barrels of fluid. It then acidized with 500 gallons and continued swabbing. The well kicked off and flowed 40 barrels of water and 12 barrels of oil.

When all the lead had been recovered, the well flowed 128 barrels of fluid through a 12-64-inch choke in 14 hours. The fluid was two per cent water.

Gas production was rated at 327,000 cubic feet per day, and gas-oil ratio was 259-1. Tubing pressure was 800 pounds per square inch.

It later flowed 93.60 barrels of fluid, of which two per cent was basic sediment and water, through a 12-64-inch choke in 9 1/2 hours. Tubing pressure was 825 pounds.

At last report the project was shut-in for storage. Location in 1980 feet from north and west lines of Section 14-12s-34e.

Pennzoil Co. has completed an oil producer at No. 1 Gulf-State, wildcat 11 miles northeast of Maljamar in Lea County.

Perforations from 10,821-24 feet were completed to pump 216 barrels of 40-gravity oil in 24 hours. Gas-oil ratio was 811-1, and casing pressure was 50 pounds per square inch.

The potential test produced gas at the rate of 175,000 cubic feet per day. A total of 16,500 gallons of acid was used in stimulating the perforated interval.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of Section 32-16s-34e. It is 1 1/2 miles southeast of Kennnitz field, and is one mile northwest of Vacuum field.

Re-Entry Set

Tom L. Ingram of Roswell has scheduled No. 1 Betenbough as a re-entry test in the Bough (Devonian) field of Lea County, four miles northeast of Crossroads.

The project originally was drilled to 9,641 feet by Magnolia Oil Co. It will now be deepened to 12,200 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of Section 12-9s-35e.

Producer Finaled

Texasco, Inc. has completed an oil producer at No. 2-CZ State of New Mexico, project 16 miles southeast of Caprock in Lea County.

Perforations from 10,285-304 feet flowed 290 barrels of 40.2-gravity oil through a 19-64-inch choke in 24 hours. Gas-oil ratio was 883-1. The section was treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of Section 14-12s-34e.

MANNED SPACE CENTER,
 Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts look forward to the day they can stand and stretch in their spaceship, then slip on a good, hot morning cup of coffee before settling down to a busy day in space.

If man is to ever be comfortable in space, such little luxuries as hot coffee, hot food and sponge baths must be provided, says Dr. Charles A. Berry, the Gemini medical director.

Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. returned from 14 days in space aboard Gemini 7 confident man can spend any length of time he desires in space — as long as he is comfortable.

Crew Comforts
 "You have to provide the crew comforts so that people cannot only just stay up there — which really doesn't prove much — but to function up there," Borman said.

Berry echoed their feelings Monday at a news conference.

"They (Borman and Lovell) were able to get along with what they had," he said. "But now we should look at more things like being able to wash, more skin care and better food."

"For example, a hot cup of coffee in the morning. If we're going to make space a place to live and work in comfort, we're going to have to look at these things."

He spoke of a need for "larger type spacecraft where man can move around and look ahead to something like 30 days."

Borman and Lovell removed their spacesuits during their flight. Berry said he felt that if the suits had not been doffed a full 14-day flight would have been jeopardized.

INDIAN DISPUTE
Two Peace Corps Girls
Asked Back

RED CLIFF, Wis. (AP) — The Red Cliff Indians have invited back the two Peace Corps workers they cast off this remote reservation in a war over antipoverty programs.

The 5-2 vote by the Tribal Council Monday night brought little peace however, to the month-long feud over the Volunteers in Service to America — VISTA — program.

The council was asked in a petition to expel from the reservation two Indian elders who had opposed VISTA. The elders were unidentified.

May Write LBJ
 The wife of one elder threatened to write President Johnson saying the reservation's income had risen to the point that it no longer needed antipoverty aid because of increased employment.

"We need help," answered Alex Roye, a former tribal chairman of the 300-member band of Chippewas nestled on the Red Cliff reservation on the wintry shores of Lake Superior.

The two VISTA coeds, Judy Rothman, 20, University City, Mo., and Jill Hunt, 22, Kewanee, Ill., were barred in December in a dispute over the value and nature of their work. Indian spectators expressed sympathy and support Monday night as they jammed the council meeting room.

Must Reverse Vote
 VISTA officials said last month the two sociology students might be returned if the council reversed its original vote.

The dissenting votes Monday night were cast by Alex Gokee, 46, and Henry Bresseite, 50.

Gokee, Bresseite, and their wives charged in December that Misses Hunt and Rothman refused to cooperate with the Community Action Program. They said they were resigning from CAP and from the Red Cliff Housing Authority, two self-help projects awaiting $348,000 in federal aid.

Gokee's wife, Victoria, 34, said she intends to write the President and other officials, contending that Red Cliff no longer qualified for antipoverty help.

TRY BOTH METHODS
Separate Returns At Times Turn Out Best
For Married Couples

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Almost without exception a married couple will reduce their income tax by filing a joint return rather than separate returns. But since there are situations where separate returns are advantageous, a safe rule of thumb is to try both methods. Then use the one that produces the smaller tax payment or greater refund.

Here are some typical cases where saving results from the use of separate returns.
 • A young husband and wife each has a small income and standard deductions. The combined tax on separate returns frequently is a few dollars less than the tax called for on a joint return.

• A husband and wife each has income and one of them has considerable medical expense for the year. Since such expenses for taxpayers under 65 are deductible only after they exceed 3 per cent of income, a greater deduction is possible on the separate return.

• A husband and a wife each had a sizable capital loss for the year. On a joint return they would be limited to a $1,000 net capital loss. On separate returns each might be eligible for the $1,000 loss.

Or, one of the mates could have a capital gain and the other a capital loss for the year. On separate returns the gain could receive favored capital gains treatment (only one-half taxable if it was a long-term transaction) and the full $1,000 net capital loss could be claimed on the other return.

There is one cardinal rule in the filing of separate returns: Each spouse must itemize his individual deductions or each must use the 10 per cent standard or the minimum standard deduction. Of course, the standard deduction is limited to 5000 on separate returns of married persons.

A joint return may be filed even though only one of the spouses had taxable income for the year. Whenever a joint return is filed it MUST include ALL the income of each of the spouses.

Furthermore, a joint return may be filed only by a husband.

"UNESSENTIAL" WORKERS AT HOME
Bosses Running Errands During Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City's transit strike is leaving thousands of "essential" executives alone at their desks, sleeping in paper work usually done by "unessential" secretaries and clerks who stayed home.

Mayor John V. Lindsay had appealed earlier to workers to stay out of the city unless they were "essential," but he didn't say who was essential.

In many offices Monday it was a strange picture: the boss opening his own mail, running errands, getting his own coffee.

It was enough, you might say, to make an executive wonder who was essential—he or the secretary. If he was, then what was he doing opening the mail?

"Usually you get hit with something like a newstrom and the executives stay home," said one company official. "Looking around me, I see more executives than clerks."

This was the result of a selective effect. Much of the city's vast clerical population lives in Queens, the Bronx and other areas dependent upon buses and subways.

Their bosses, usually more affluent, often live in the suburbs from which trains and buses were running. Or else they live in fashionable East Side Manhattan areas within walking distance of the office.

Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor
 Cotton moved to many South Plains gins in unusually heavy volume for this time of year. Monday as South Plains farmers rushed to wrap up harvesting of the 1965 crop.

With only a week or so of good weather needed to complete all, but some scrapping of the region's third largest crop on record, some gins Monday had several hundred bales on the yard.

500,000 Bales Remain
 Cotton observers estimate that approximately a half million bales or more remain in area fields. The late, stop-and-go harvest is an estimated 75 to 80 per cent complete.

Production in the 23-county area is expected to total about 2,273,000 bales, a healthy increase over the 1964 crop of 1,913,000 bales. Much of the income from the crop is still to be "cashed in" by area farmers.

Receipts at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's classing office in Lubbock Monday totaled approximately 50,000 bales, including what accumulated over the weekend.

Classing Totals Given
 Bill Palmer, head of the central classing office here, expects daily receipts at Lubbock to run about 20,000 to 25,000 bales for the next few days if favorable harvesting weather prevails.

Classing at Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa for the season through last week, the latest tally available, totaled about 1,600,000 bales. The total at the same time a year ago stood at 1,668,000.

The Lamesa office turned out the biggest volume of the season there last week, classing 18,275 bales to bring its total to 124,545. It expects to get about 3,000 samples a day this week.

Grades Down Slightly
 Palmer said continued favorable weather probably would see receipts at Brownfield running around 8,000 to 8,000 bales a day this week. Recurring spells of adverse weather in recent weeks have resulted in sporadic harvesting.

In addition to cotton classed by USDA, an estimated 40,000 to 50,000 bales have been custom ginned and have bypassed the

Fashion Revolution Brings Feminine, Frilly Winter

By SALLY RYAN NEW YORK (AP) This is one of the most feminine, frilly winters ever. The man looking for a little bit of not much for the woman in his life will find black lace jumpsuits, saucy pale nude lace-trimmed sleep chemises, shocking pink gowns draped over one shoulder, turquoise togas slit to the waist, and lots and lots of maribou and ostrich feathers.

There has been a revolution in the lingerie industry. "Women used to put on an old robe in the morning and hate themselves," said William Burston, manager of the National Retail Merchants Association merchandising division. "Now they look like prima donnas. They become different people when they are wearing them."

"It's a rebellion against ready-to-wear," said Miss Josephine Keegan, lingerie buyer at Lord & Taylor's. "Women have to express themselves somehow — with clothes so kookie."

The rebellion is expected to give a big boost to lingerie sales. Burston estimated they would run $1 billion this year, and shoot up 10 to 15 per cent next year.

"The business had been standing still," he said. "Women were just doing a replacement job. There wasn't enough excitement. Now the industry has added a fashion note, and things definitely are beginning to stir."

"Sexiness is an added stimulus," he said. "Once straight-laced party girl comes in in modish squares, muted red plaids, splashy yellow daisies and pop art, a hamburger on one side and a bottle of ketchup on the other, or a pair of big blue eyes. There may be a polka-dotted ruffle around the leg."

Like Evening Coats. Robes look like evening coats, with mandarin collars, feathers or fur, velvet or brocade.

FOR MILD WINTER DAYS—A two-piece knitted coat and dress ensemble provides an elegant answer to the question of what to wear on the milder days of winter.

Edyth Thornton McLeod Beauty After Forty

ONE OF THE first entries in my notebook is news about the wonderful Times Squares Tower, now under construction. This is an exciting and truly a great experience. Do visit it when you come to New York, as there is so much to see in the newly designed Tower. Just now it has a great red ribbon bow on the side! It was opened by the Governor of New York and governors of several neighboring States were guests at the opening. This place is a bit of the future and should be seen by all people. I was absolutely fascinated by my visit at the opening.

Another book on my bookshelf is "Beauty After Forty" by Edyth Thornton McLeod. This is a beautiful book to give as a gift as well as a book for your bookshelf.

I AM HAPPY to report that many more women are wearing long gloves, and they're the perfect finish for the shorter sleeves of the new coats.

At the New York theatres, the simple brocade suit is seen more and more easy to slip into and so smart in appearance. Have a tiny, ruffled cap to sit on the back of your head and you are in fashion.

Another book on my bookshelf is "Don't Disturb Daddy" by Edyth Thornton McLeod. The author, who also did the illustrations, is Grace Connor, who says that her book is "an after-thought story."

Now that we have started on the New Year, I hope all of you who must reduce will get busy and make a resolution to stick to a diet and reduce.

Tomorrow—Dear Edyth Thornton McLeod

DEAR ABBY Helpers Get Poetic "No"

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the hostess who resented her guests' well-meaning insistence on pitching in to help her clean up the kitchen after dinner reminded me that I once had that problem. But no more. I found a little poem by Susan Sawyer, which I now have pasted on my kitchen wall. When anyone offers to "help" me, I point to the poem. It says: "Please stay away from my kitchen. From my dishwashing, cooking and such; You were kind to have offered to pitch in. But thanks, no, thank you so much! Please don't think me ungracious. When I ask that you leave me alone; For my kitchen's not any too spacious. And my routine is strictly my own. Tell you what: You stay out of my kitchen. With its soddin', but, lack-lustre lures. When you're here, stay out of my kitchen. And I promise to stay out of yours!"

I AM HAPPY to report that many more women are wearing long gloves, and they're the perfect finish for the shorter sleeves of the new coats.

PATTERNS ARE ABSTRACT Bold Colors Mark Designs

By YVETTE DE LA FONTAINE PARIS (WNS) — Pierre Dostal, the handsome young designer, who's one of the leading influences on French ready-to-wear, is an equally talented painter. And he claims one art influences the other.

"I am now going abstract in my dress designing as well as in my painting," Dostal told me over lunch at the Tour d'Argent.

The dreamy poetic styles and tender colorings of Impressionist painters like Renoir and Monet have no place in his new spring collection.

"I feel certain that the chic women of the world are ready to go abstract in their dress, just as in the paintings that they now hang in their homes," he insisted.

The cut of the new Dostal clothes is "abstract architecture." The colors are strong ones in "audacious combinations and oppositions."

If Pierre Dostal has his way (and he usually does in French ready-to-wear), four colors are going to be better than two for spring clothes.

"Why be cautious, why be drab, why be conservative?" he demanded. "The modern woman is daring, not cautious. She dares to live, and she dares to wear clothes that come alive with her."

"Come, alive dresses" are the rage of Dostal's new collection. They include a mad, four-color job that combines orange, raspberry, purple and gold.

Stop Winter Wrinkles

Use the colder months to give your skin a lovely peaches-and-cream appearance, but guard against wrinkles caused by the cold air.

Even mildly crisp air causes the skin to contract, preventing protective oils from reaching the surface. Ask your druggist for oil of Olay, and before you make-up, smooth it over your face, neck and hands, being careful to pat it generously round the eyes.

You will be amazed how quickly this beautifying moist oil will give your skin a healthy bloom even on winter days.

Learn To "Discuss" "They've been liberated, don't forget," he said. "Young French girls used to be taught mending, darning, cooking and how to say 'yes' to their husbands."

Dostal's new spring fashions have already been ordered by Loukaitz in New York, Oglivsky's in Montreal not to mention stores in Stockholm, Beirut and Abidjan.

"My abstract dresses take wings faster than my abstract paintings," sighed Dostal. "I suppose most men prefer to look at art-in-movement worn by a pretty girl rather than studying the stationary sort in a museum!"

Confronted with a somewhat erratic holding in the trump suit, South, the declarer at four hearts, set out to obtain a pleasurable, but opponents' distributor before he began his campaign.

West opened the king of spades and South played the ace. Declarer was faced with the loss of a trick in each of the black suits. In order to avoid defeat, therefore, he must not lose more than one heart. He was reluctant to breach trumps until he had obtained evidence on how best to attack the suit, and he set out to gather some data.

Declarer led the jack of spades and West was in with the queen. The shift was to a diamond and South cashed the dummy's ace and queen. A club was led to the queen. West won the trick with the ace, and then exited with the ten of clubs—North putting up the king.

The ten of spades was led and East discarded the jack of diamonds—South parting with the ten. A small spade was ruffed with the three of hearts, as East gave up a club. A small heart was led. West played the ace, and North put up the ace.

Declarer paused to review the evidence. West had shown up with the king-queen of spades, the ace of clubs and the queen of hearts. If he also had the king of hearts, he would surely have opened the bidding. South therefore reasoned that the queen of hearts was a singleton, and he proceeded on that assumption.

A club was led from dummy and declarer ruffed with the six of trumps. All hands were down to three cards. South led the king of diamonds and trumped with North's ten of hearts. East overruffed with the king and returned the ten of hearts. South put in the eight—West discarded a diamond and declarer's jack took the ruffing trick.

ADDED GOODNESS MAKES DIFFERENCE

Serve Spicy Chicken Bake For Dinner

Don't miss this! Chicken like this is no late-comer. The early bird chicken that catches up with a pancake mix makes the difference in this marvelous Spicy Chicken Bake. But, of course, this recipe is no secret and you don't have to be an early bird to make this elegant chicken dish—it takes only minutes.

Yes, there is added goodness in Sunday chicken dinners. Eating chicken with a crisp coating is a special treat and with the help of a pancake mix it's easy to get just the right crispness. The flavor of the meat itself is locked in, waiting for the moment of proof as guests take the first delicious bite. In addition, pancake flavor and wholesomeness complement that distinctive flavor of chicken.

It is a pleasure making Spicy Chicken Bake, too! All the work is taken out of making a chicken dinner. Roll the pieces of chicken in seasoned pancake mix; pop them into the oven—then relax. You know the chicken will be supreme. Serve Spicy Chicken Bake with your own specially made tomato sauce and surprise your family and guests any day of the week!

SPICY CHICKEN BAKE
Makes 4 Servings
 1/4 cup pancake mix
 1/4 teaspoon paprika
 1 1/4 teaspoons salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 One 2 1/2 to 3 lb. frying chicken, cut in pieces
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
Tomato Sauce:
 1/2 cup chopped celery
 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
 One 6-oz. can tomato paste
 One 8-oz. can tomato sauce
 1/4 cup water
 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 Heat oven to moderate (350° F.). Combine pancake mix and seasonings in paper bag. Shake chicken pieces, one at a time, in bag. Place chicken in greased baking dish; dot with butter. Bake in preheated oven (350° F.) about 1 1/2 hours. For sauce, saute celery and green pepper in oil in fry pan. Add remaining ingredients; heat thoroughly. Serve hot over baked chicken.

DELIGHTFUL DINNER—A steaming hot potato, tender green beans and chicken with a touch of fine (but easy) cuisine—a delightful chicken dinner. Try Spicy Chicken Bake, soon!

Disturbed Youngsters Can Be Spotted Early

BY RUTH WINTER
 BOSTON (WNS)—A test that acts as an "early warning system" signaling the development of emotional difficulties has been developed by two Boston researchers.

Dr. Geraldine Rickard and Dr. Haskel Cohen of Children's Hospital Medical Center, call the test "Tasks of Emotional Development" or "TED". Administered individually, it consists of photographs representing everyday situations faced by children. Some pictures represent children getting along with others of their own age; learning to trust people, controlling angry feelings.

Reflect Attitudes
 Others reflect attitudes about other people's belongings, attitudes toward separation from parents, and attitudes about school.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAR GERBER, MOTHER OF 4
 A nice doctor I know told me recently: "Of course baby care is a serious business but sometimes mothers take it too seriously. As a consequence, they often develop a kind of grim tenseness which is easily transmitted to a baby and the baby may develop a corresponding tenseness. The mothers who laugh with their babies, and at themselves occasionally, are the most successful ones."
Points to remember: Grim determination to see that baby "licks the pitter clean" may turn a naturally eager eater into a mealtimer rebel. Food served with a smile usually gets a good reception.
There'll be baby-ones to spare when the menu features a Gerber Strained or Junior High Meat Dinner. For these hearty dishes have 3 times as much condensed meat as regular combination dinner. Add to this some good vegetables and soup and you'll have a feast.

with exceptional flavor character. P.S. Apart from the eating pleasure your baby will have, Gerber High Meat Dinners are a good source of protein . . . the mighty "helping hand" of growth.
Super Supper Plan (in Gerber®)
 Veal High Meat Dinner
 Squash or Sweet Potatoes
 Chocolate Custard Fudding
 Formula or Milk
 * All the above in both strained and junior versions.
Strengthening influences. Overall butters will stay put longer if you sew them on with elastic thread. Sweater buttons will be more secure if you reinforce thread at center of buttons with clear nail polish.
Start to finish. Don't forget that baby cereals provide special nutritional benefits right through the toddler stage. Gerber Cereals are fortified with a special kind of iron, easily assimilated by babies, plus calcium and niacin. In addition, all 5 of our baby cereals are made by Gerber's Baby Foods, Best of the Best!

Claudia Cardinale Lauded For Endurance On Location

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "That girl's got more guts than a lot of men I know," said actor Robert Ryan. "Why, she's been barefoot for three months, working in 129 degree weather in Death Valley and 10 degrees in Coyote Pass. Nev. Not only did she never complain; she didn't even whimper."

Pass. Nev. Not only did she never complain; she didn't even whimper. "Oh, it wasn't so bad," said the Italian star of the rigorous location. "In fact I enjoyed it. I love the desert, because I grew up near it. My home was in Tunis, right on the edge of the Sahara, so I am accustomed to the heat and the sand."

NO ROOM FOR GLAMOR IN BADLANDS
Claudia Cardinale in "The Professionals"

Miss Cardinale is playing a Mexican marquesa in "The Professionals."

"But not a very rich marquesa, as you can see," she commented, displaying her costume. It was a skimpy length of sackcloth that scarcely covered the celebrated Cardinale form. She wears little else throughout the film.

The plot portrays her as the wife of a rich rancher, Ralph Bellamy, and she is spirited away by a Mexican bandit-soldier, Jack Palance. Bellamy hires four professional fighting men, Burt Lancaster, Lee Marvin, Ryan and Woody Strode, to rescue her, but she is unwilling.

"In order to escape, I try to seduce Burt," Claudia reported. "Incredibly, she fails."

New Challenge
Aside from the climatic extremes, Claudia found herself faced with a new challenge on the locations.

"I had to ride a horse," she reported. "I have never ridden a horse before. And on the first day I was not only supposed to ride, but gallop. How I did it, I still do not know."

Brooks reports that she did it superbly. He is also a member of the Claudia Cardinale fan club.

The company was here only for a week of interiors before embarking on another location, near Indio. Claudia paused to chat after coming out of a campfire scene in which she was nearly barbecued by an over-active gas jet.

"I can't complain about this picture," said she. "I never complain when I am working, because that is when I am happiest. It is between pictures that I am hard to live with."

Having made 28 films in her seven-year career, Claudia is seldom between pictures. She may well be the most serviceable of the international stars. Born to Italian parents in a French protectorate, she spoke French as a child, learning Italian only when she went to Rome.

She picked up English by having an American secretary, learned Spanish during films in Spain and recently acquired some Portuguese for a movie in Brazil.

Hal Boyle's Crystal Ball Reveals '66 To Be Poor Year For Rocking Boat

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Don't throw bricks in '66. As best we can make it out, 1966 will be a lean year in which to rock the boat, and a good one in which to learn the art of walking on eggs.

The road signs say, "Go slow" and "Sharp curves ahead."

Economically speaking, the world outlook is mixed. This means that in most countries the rich will get more money and the poor will get more promises.

On the international front these possibilities cannot be overlooked.

FOR PERSONAL REASONS Martha Hyer Plans To Take New Image

HOLLYWOOD (Special) — Audiences may never again see MARTHA HYER on the screen portraying a fallen woman, bathing in champagne, or running around in the semi-nude, all of which have been sort of her specialties in the past.

The reason is a highly personal one. Last summer when she visited her parents in Dallas, her three young nephews and two young nieces cornered her with this query: "Why don't our parents let us go see your movies, Auntie Marty?"

The actress hadn't thought about it before, but here in her own family was a striking example of what has been happening to the screen. More and more motion pictures with "adult" themes, and fewer designed for families as a group—the kind that youngsters and their parents and grandparents can enjoy together—are being made.

While stars don't always have the final word on the roles they portray, the lovely blonde Miss Hyer says she is going to switch or fight—and switch she does in her new picture for Paramount, "Night of the Grizzly."

An outdoor adventure drama of the early west, in which she co-stars with Clint Walker, she chose it over a host of other scripts offering her the usual provocative roles.

As a comely housewife and the mother of two small children in the film, she has a part with virtue written all over it, and she loves it.

Actor PAT HINGLE, who co-stars opposite Steve McQueen in "Nevada Smith," has no problem with billing in at least one theater where his pictures will always play.

At The Varsity Theatre in Austin, Hingle is topped on the marquee whenever his face hits the screen.

While attending the University of Texas, Hingle ushered at The Varsity from 1946 to 1949 where his top price was $50 an hour.

DEAN SMITH, former Olympic sprinter and University of Texas and Los Angeles Rams football star, will play a key role in "Eldorado," currently before the cameras in Hollywood starring John Wayne and Robert Mitchum.

In the western adventure drama Smith will portray a gun-fighter who faces co-star James Cagney in a duel. As an 18-year-old college freshman, Smith won a gold medal in the track relays of the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki, and placed third in the 100-yard dash. The athlete-turned-actor starred at halfback for the University of Texas from 1953 through 1955 and played the left end position for the Rams in 1958.

Damp, Foggy Mornings Delay Cotton Harvest

AUSTIN (AP) — Damp, foggy mornings last week delayed the Texas cotton harvest.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said Monday about 92 per cent of the 1965 cotton crop has been gathered, compared with 97 per cent at this time a year ago.

One full week of cotton stripping without any delays would about wind up the 1965 crop, the department's weekly crop report estimated.

Sorghum stubble plowing was completed on the Plains but wet soils held back land preparation in central and south Texas.

The Plains sector still needs a good soaking rain to replenish soil moisture for wheat. Leaf rust is prevalent in nearly all of the state's wheat fields.

Oat prospects continued good and flax responded to warm temperatures, making good growth.

Clear weather in the Rio Grande Valley dried fields and permitted normal harvest of winter vegetables. Untimely rains in that area, however, have caused grapefruit to "size" too rapidly, resulting in oversupply of large sized fruit, the department said.

Winter wheat on the High Plains furnished adequate grazing for livestock but dryland wheat is becoming short.

U.S. Oil Output Declines For Week

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — U.S. crude and lease condensate production declined 45,200 barrels daily last week to an average of 7,953,000 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma production dropped 41,800 barrels per day to an average of 556,100. California's increased by 1,800 to an average of 908,400. Wyoming picked up 4,900 for an average of 378,400. Production was unchanged in Louisiana at 1,719,000, New Mexico at 323,300 and Texas at 2,775,300.

Chief UN Observer In Kashmir Dies

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Lt. Gen. Robert H. Nimmo of Australia, the chief U.N. military observer in Kashmir, died in Rawalpindi today.

Nimmo's body was found in his hotel room by a servant. Officials said the general died of a heart attack. He was 75.

Nimmo had headed the U.N. military observers' team in the disputed Himalayas state for 17 years. He returned Monday from a trip abroad.

Smathers To Leave Senate In 1968—Doctors' Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers, who once said he had never been forced to do anything, "except by my sweet wife, Rosemary, and the U.S. Marines" will leave the Senate in 1968 — on doctors' orders.

Smathers, 52, a Florida Democrat, is the third senator to announce his retirement. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., and Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., are bowing out this year. Wide open scrambles for all three seats are expected.

Producing Candidates
The start of the 1968 election year is already producing candidates for other offices, too. Former Republican congressman Robert Taft Jr. says he will seek an Ohio seat in Congress this fall, and actor Ronald Reagan is due to announce today that he will battle for the Republican nomination for governor of California.

Smathers plans to stay in the Senate until his term expires but said he was announcing his intention to retire because his doctors' orders would not permit him to prepare a re-election campaign.

He did not disclose the nature of his illness, but said he had been advised to enter the hospital within a week.

Smathers was elected to the Senate in 1950 after serving in the House and holds high-ranking positions on two legislative committees as well as a part leadership post as secretary of the Democratic Conference.

At the Democratic National Convention in 1964 Smathers was quoted as saying he had seconded the nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey as vice president because an aide of President Johnson told him he "had to."

Later he issued a statement denying it and declaring "I have never been forced to do anything except by my sweet wife, Rosemary, and the U.S. Marines."

Smathers served in the Pacific theater with the 1st Marine Bomber Squadron rising to the rank of major. Tall and handsome, he was a star basketball player in high school and college and still looks it. Reports of his ill health have been widespread for a year.

Rep. Charles E. Bennett, a Jacksonville, Fla., Democrat who has served 18 years in the House, immediately announced his intention to try for Smathers' seat. He is expected to have plenty of competition before 1968 rolls around.

GOP Interested
Florida Republicans also are eyeing the seat. Veteran GOP Rep. William C. Cramer of St. Petersburg said the absence of an incumbent in 1968 will give the Republicans a chance to enter the race on a solid competitive basis, and indicated he might be interested. So is Florida's other Republican House member, Edward J. Gurney of Winter Park.

In Ohio, Taft said he will try a comeback in the Cincinnati district now represented by freshman Democrat John J. Gilligan, an upset winner in the 1964 Democratic landslide in which Taft lost his bid to unseat Sen. Stephen M. Young. Taft gave up his seat as Ohio's congressman-at-large to run against Young.

Writer Finds Human Body Able To Tolerate Almost Nine Hours Of Football

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All of the medical tests haven't been completed yet but the preliminary report is encouraging.

Apparently the human body is able to tolerate almost 9 hours of football without any permanent detrimental effects, except possibly a divorce.

This amazing endurance factor was demonstrated on New Year's Day, when subject W sat down at 2 p.m. (EST) and remained there until 10:30 p.m. with time out only during commercials.

During the period, subject witnessed three bowl games in their entirety and caught the end of a fourth.

Out of Socket
At one point in the Orange Bowl game, the last of the day, subject W's eyes began doing roll-overs, rather than staying in the socket, or socket.

The condition, however, corrected itself before the start of the professional championship game the next day. Otherwise, the only major difficulty noted was a temporary loss of wife. (See footnote 1.)

A slight alienation of children also took place, but was not viewed as a serious problem. (See footnote 2.)

Evidence that the human body can endure lengthy exposure to football without physiological damage is expected to influence network planning for the coming season.

Already a stepup has been announced. There will be several night games, games shown in "blackout" areas, and a number of doubleheaders.

polio," started up what was now a dead-end street, was ordered by police around the Piazza Di Spagna, turned right in a narrow street, turned left in another narrow street and right again to enter a street where a projecting cogner prevented speeding buses from seeing him until the last second.

He was one block from where he had started, and as far as ever from the Piazza Del Popolo.

Almost daily, experimental changes in the limits of the pedestrian island and in the direction of one-way streets made driving a hazard for whoever had failed to read a newspaper carefully before going out.

The one pleasant surprise for the motorist who made his way through the labyrinth was finding some parking space — the other just did not know how to get there.

The owners of the pedestrian island's 2,000 shops whom the reform had been supposed to help, howled when their exclusive clientele simply failed to show up. After all, you can't expect a contessa to go shopping by foot or elbow her way into a bus.

So, the end of the experiment today seemed likely to be greeted by everyone with a sigh of relief.

Perhaps the most relieved of all will be socialist traffic assessor Antonio Pala, the most criticized man in Rome for the last nine days. Newspapers and independent experts said he bungled badly by cutting the heavy flow of traffic through the Piazza Di Spagna instead of confining the traffic ban to the side streets and thus spoiling what could have been a good idea.

The real answer to the traffic problem, according to the independent experts, is the one contemplated in Rome's new zoning plan — move government ministries and other offices from the walled city to a new office space belt on the east and south of Rome, leaving the old center to the tourists. New subway lines, underpasses and underground parking lots would also help in a city which will issue license plate number 900,000 this week.

But to those who know Italian red tape, that is science fiction. Building Rome's first subway line took 20 years and construction of a second one on the outskirts of the city is proceeding at snail's pace and, of course, causing a traffic jam.

By H. P. LEIFERMANN
FLORENCE, S.C. (UPI) — Soft-spoken Rep. John L. McMillan, the South Carolina Democrat who wields a big stick over District of Columbia affairs, predicts the drive for self-government there will lose again this year.

Upset Precedent
The House last September upset precedent, however, and by passing McMillan's force through the little-used discharge petition method.

McMillan said he is just as opposed now as he always has been. Since 1949, the Senate has passed five home rule bills only to see them die in McMillan's committee.

In an interview with UPI, McMillan said he is just as opposed now as he always has been. Since 1949, the Senate has passed five home rule bills only to see them die in McMillan's committee.

He said the press should give more coverage to the amount of money spent on urban renewal and schools and on the difficulties of Washington policemen, claims, are "handicuffed" by Supreme Court decisions.

He said he would like to see the House pass a measure sponsored by B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., which was called a "home rule bill" but bore little resemblance to the Senate version, and "home rule" opponents claimed victory.

Home rule supporters said they would try again early this year.

McMillan said that he opposes home rule not because of a large number of Negroes in Washington but "because the city was created to be governed by Congress."

He also thinks that there is a better sprinkling of "Communist sympathizers" behind the drive for self-government.

Lot Of Good People
"Don't get me wrong," he said. "There's a lot of good people in it, but a lot of people would just like to take the nation's capital over. Some of these are known to be Communist sympathizers."

"We've spent more on schools in Washington than in any city in the nation," he said. "The press hasn't given fair play to that. Most of the money's been for school buildings."

A supporter of additional low-cost housing for non-government workers in Washington, McMillan has no plans for new legislation along this line but says non-government workers "need it."

Raiders, Bears Launch SWC Campaign Here Tonight

By BURLE PETTIT
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Tech tests the weight of its burden here tonight when the Red Raiders toss their favorite role on the SWC scales for the first time this season.

So comes the use of closed-circuit television to take the pressure off demands for Coliseum seats. Tonight's game—just as was the case last year—will be piped into the adjoining auditorium and projected on a 10x20 foot screen, with KFYO's radio broadcast furnishing the commentary.

Tickets to the Auditorium are priced at $1.50 and 75 cents and may be purchased at the athletic ticket office after 8 a.m. today and at 9:30 p.m. at the Coliseum boxoffice. Any general admission seats available will go on sale at the Coliseum after 7:30 p.m.

Whether Coach Gene Gibson's charges can live up to the lofty billing handed them by sports writers around the conference could become quite evident here tonight.

"We're certainly not hurting for incentive," Gibson said Monday. "In fact, our main worry may be in getting too high, being too tight to play well."

Baylor does not bring into the contest an impressive record; however, the Bears have four starters averaging in the double digits and should be able to match the Raiders in both height and speed.

Gibson has altered his opening lineup "for defensive purposes," and will be starting a team considerably shorter than the usual Raider quintet.

Shelby Says Aggies Could Enter Race

TONIGHT'S A BIG night in the life of Shelby Metcalf, master of arts both in witticisms and basketball. His Texas Aggies could break the Southwest Conference race wide open in the first league game of the season, and the chances are they'll do just that.

Southern Methodist University, mentioned along with Tech as the teams to beat in the scramble that gets underway with a full head of steam just a few hours from now, invades Aggieland tonight. And nobody knows better than Shelby himself what vast possibilities surround that contest.

THE AGGIES, WHO'VE now lost four games in a row—thanks to a rough week in the All-College Basketball Tournament—may appear to be catching the touted Mustangs at an inopportune time. But Shelby doesn't see it that way.

"The schedule? Shoot, I can't see how it makes any difference. You've got to play 'em all twice, anyway. Don't know how the arrangement makes any difference. Besides, I can think of enough tangible things to worry about without having to concern myself with things you can't control."

Metcalf thinks the Aggie slump of late was due to an extended vacation. "I let 'em off too long," he said. "Sent 'em home for nine days, and they got their minds on things other than basketball. But we had a good workout today (Monday), and I think we'll be ready."

THE SWC RACE, as picked by sports writers for The Avalanche-Journal before the non-conference slate began, looks about the same to Metcalf today.

"It looks like to me that nothin' has changed. Tech and SMU, they have the best people, and they'll be very hard to beat. Then there's Texas and Arkansas that've both been playing good ball. And TCU. Shoot, it looks like to me it'll be a heckuva race."

The Aggies have been playing perhaps above the anticipated gait, but Metcalf isn't ready to project his team into the race.

"WE CAME BACK from that tournament, and we've been working awfully hard. We've had some good workouts, and I think we're going to play some good ball."

"I'm not ready to say we're in the race; in fact, I'm not going to suggest it. But if we beat SMU tomorrow night, you can say Texas A&M is in the running, and you can say 'ol' Shelby told you to say it."

Momentum is an important thing. You take any of several teams in the conference, give them four or five big wins in a row, and they'd be tough to handle.

"What we're needing right now—more than anything else—is a victory. If we beat SMU down here tomorrow night, we'd get a tremendous uplift."

Dick Lytle Earns Berth in Tourney
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dick Lytle, a little known sophomore professional from Chula Vista, Calif., led qualifiers Monday for 20 available places in the Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament which opens Thursday.

About 100 leading members of the pro tour did not have to qualify, but 250 tried Monday for the 20 vacancies at several different courses.

Lytle came in with a 68 in the par-71 Palos Verdes course. Three men shot 69s. They were Japanese Open Champion Mistutaka Kohno, and Hunter of Pacific Palisades, Calif., both at Hillcrest and Jim Ferrier, at Palos Verdes.

Top Aide Promoted To Spoc Vacated By Akers

By CARLTON STOWERS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Gerald Lambert, who has served as first assistant under Akers for the past two and one-half years, was named Monday by the Lubbock school board as the new football coach at Lubbock High School.

The 23-year-old McAllen native replaces Akers, who resigned last week to accept the offensive backfield coaching job at the University of Texas.

Today's move marks the initial step in a head coaching position for Lambert. "The school board is excited about it," said Akers. "I'm pleased to fill the vacancy."

His promotion marked a major turning point in what had appeared to be a policy on hiring new head coaches.

Lambert's salary will be $9,000 a year, earning $7,361 as an assistant. The board voiced its consent to his elevation.

"Glad," said public schools Director Pete Ragus, "that many of the ingredients needed for a head coach as one of our best people."

Lytle earned a berth in the par-71 Palos Verdes course. Three men shot 69s. They were Japanese Open Champion Mistutaka Kohno, and Hunter of Pacific Palisades, Calif., both at Hillcrest and Jim Ferrier, at Palos Verdes.

While an assistant under Akers, Lambert served as head line coach. He will assume his new duties immediately.

THE SUCCESS it enjoyed this past season. Action Gratifying. It had been over 10 years since the board had stayed within the system in replacing a head coach.

"That, to me, is probably the most important thing," pointed out Lambert. "The fact that the school board decided to stay within the system is most gratifying. We feel as though we have a good thing going now and see no reason why we can't keep it up."

Oilers To Offer Blanda, Hennigan For Chargers' Star

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Oilers, stunned at the rookie signing table this year, turned today to the trade possibilities, including a $100,000 deal for Oakland's great tackle Ernie Ladd of San Diego. The AFL Oilers lost their three top draft choices this season to the rival National Football League.

League. Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis signed with Atlanta, Texas Tech's Donny Anderson signed with Green Bay and Mississippi guard Stan Hindman decided to go with the San Francisco 49ers. The Houston club managed to salvage something out of the wreckage when they outbid the Chicago Bears for LSU tackle

George Rice, and also inked a 1964 redshirt selection, tackle Glen Hines of Arkansas. Adams said Monday he would offer four men, including the Oilers' top passer and catcher of years past, to the Chargers for Ladd, 315-pound native of Orange, Tex., who is playing out his option with San Diego this season.

"We'll make the Chargers an offer they can't refuse," Adams said Monday. The offer will include quarterback George Blanda, 37, flanker Charlie Hennigan and middle linebacker Doug Cline. The fourth player was not named but is a recent signer to Houston's roster, Adams said. He would propose the deal next week to Charger Owner Barron Hilton when the American Football League meets in Houston. Blanda's contract says he cannot be traded without his permission, but Adams said he thinks he would not mind, in view of San Diego's recent success.

A lay-up by Hardin tied things at 15-all with 2:18 left and Coleman got inside for two to knot things at 17-17. Mudroch then hit on a tip to move Tascosa into a two point lead before Reed hit on a 15-footer with six seconds left to tie things at intermission. (Continued From Page One) Lambert joined Akers at Ed-Edinburg, where he remained for a year and a half before moving to Lubbock last January when Akers' replacement Carl Spoonmore as head coach of the Westerners. In his two-year relationship with Akers, Lambert has, in addition to being the No. 1 assistant, helped in the formulation of the policies under which the entire football program at Lubbock High now operates. In addition to impressive coaching credentials, Lambert has a football background which has been filled with honors since his prep days at McAllen. Before his 1955 high school graduation, Lambert was all-district, Most Valuable AAA player in the Rio Grande Valley District, and was named to the Class AAA All-State team. He served as co-captain of both the football and track squads while in high school.

Looking toward his first venture as top man, Lambert viewed the future thusly: "We made a lot of improvements last year and feel like we have a good system going. It's going to take hard work and long hours on the part of the coaches as well as the boys if we are to continue to make progress, but we feel as though we have the caliber people to do so." "I've worked in three different Class AAA systems and can honestly say that I haven't seen a stronger more united and dedicated staff than the one we have at Lubbock High right now. And, in order for us to continue to improve, dedication is a must," he pointed out. Gerald and wife Sue Ann have two children, Robert, five and

Cowboys, Colts Clash Sunday

MIAMI (UPI)—The Baltimore Colts relived the cold afternoon of Dec. 26 in Green Bay when the Packers eliminated them from the National Football League Western Division title race. Coach Don Shula and his Colts gathered in the tropical warmth for the first time since losing the championship playoff to Green Bay, 13-10, to see the game films. The second feature was the Dallas Cowboy's in action. The Colts and Cowboys meet Sunday in the Orange Bowl in the annual NFL Playoff Bowl, the consolation contest for the second-best of the two divisions. Sunday in the Orange Bowl will be the last game of the long season for the Colts, and Shula still will have to work out an offense built around flanker Tom Matte, replacing injured quarterbacks Johnny Unitas and Gary Cuozzo. The Cowboys were not due in town until later today.

Texas Tech Skids Out Of Top 10 In AP Poll

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer Alabama's Crimson Tide, overwhelming victor over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, was named the national collegiate football champion for the second straight year today in The Associated Press final poll of the season.

The verdict of a nationwide panel of 57 sports writers and sportscasters made it three titles in five years for Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, and gives 'Bama permanent possession of the big, silver AP trophy. Ironically, when the Tide won last year, the poll was taken at the close of the regular season and 'Bama went on to lose to Texas in the Orange Bowl.

Taken After Bowls This year the final poll of the season was conducted after the New Year's bowl games—the first time it had been held until after the bowls—because the six top teams were in action New Year's Day.

And it was the unprecedented defeat of three hitherto unbeaten teams in the bowl games that vaulted Alabama to the national title. Alabama, with an 8-1-1 record, was ranked fourth behind unbeaten Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska going into the New Year's games.

Spartans Upset Top-ranked Michigan State was upset by UCLA 14-12 in the Rose Bowl. No. 2 Arkansas' 22-game winning string was halted 14-7 by Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama crushed No. 3 Nebraska 38-28 in the Orange Bowl.

Michigan State slipped to second and Arkansas to third in the final rankings. UCLA moved up from fifth to fourth and Nebraska dropped to fifth.

Following in order were Missouri, 20-18 winner over Florida in the Sugar Bowl, Tennessee, 27-6 winner over Tulsa in the Bluebonnet Bowl, LSU, Notre Dame and Southern California. Texas Tech, ranked 10th at the end of the regular season but upset 31-21 by Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl, dropped out of the Top Ten and was replaced by Louisiana State.

Remarkable Comeback Alabama polled 37 of the 57 first-place votes and piled up 537 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third etc. Michigan State collected 18 first-place votes and 479 points while Arkansas and UCLA both were named first on one ballot. Arkansas received 413 points, UCLA 391 and Nebraska 258. Alabama's Orange Bowl victory capped a remarkable comeback for the Crimson Tide, beaten by Georgia 18-17 in the season opener and tied by Tennessee 7-7 in the fifth game.

"Our offense started clicking in the Tennessee game," Bryant said. "When we beat Louisiana State, South Carolina and Auburn as we did, I felt we had a team that could score and beat anybody." "I think the Nebraska game proved it."

Against Nebraska, 'Bama stormed out to a 24-7 halftime lead and took it from there. The passing combination of Steve Sloan and Ray Perkins was the key, hitting on two long touchdown drives, setting up two other touchdowns and producing a two-point conversion. In addition to LSU, South Carolina and Auburn—(Ziegler) three games on 'Bama's schedule—the Tide also scored regular season victories over Mississippi, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State, Florida State and Tulane, the last two by shutouts.

NO QUICK OKAY LIKELY

Indian-Pakistani Talks May Drag

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States would be surprised if there were any quick agreement between India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan on the Soviet-sponsored peace talks beginning today in Tashkent.

U.S. officials closely following the situation were of the opinion that any tangible progress between the two nations in their dispute over the fate of Kashmir would have to be laboriously hammered out. Fighting, which broke out three months ago, has been suspended under a cease-fire agreement, although both sides have charged violations.

The official U.S. attitude is to wish the negotiators well, but to keep hands off and not raise expectations of any quick resumption of U.S. economic or military assistance to either disputant.

Necessary Step
The United States has made known to both Ayub and Shastri that an agreement between the two countries which would begin to carry out the United Nations Security Council resolution calling for a withdrawal of the opposing forces from Kashmir would be necessary for further help.

This does not include the supply of American surplus food to India or Pakistan. Officials said that the United States would not use food to help speed a settlement of political differences when India is faced by a potential famine.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin personally arranged the Ayub-Shastri talks, in the central Asian city and it was agreed here that neither the United States nor the Soviet Union would like to see Chinese Communist influence increase in South Asia.

At the same time it was recognized that the Soviets would not mind seeing U.S. influence dashed in both India and Pakistan, and Washington would not be upset if the Soviet mediation effort tarnished the Russian image in both countries.

More To Lose
The United States has more to lose, it was conceded, than the Soviets because Pakistan has been a U.S. military ally on the southern frontier of the Soviet Union. The Russians have wooed Pakistan with the argument that if Pakistan no longer felt threatened by the Soviet Union, China or India, it would have no need for an alliance with the United States.

Thus it is realized that there are high diplomatic stakes being played in the Tashkent talks.
But while the United States is not present, the $345 million in economic assistance to India, in addition to food supplies, and the $250 million which the United States has been expected to provide to Pakistan for economic development, are powerful cards for Uncle Sam — the absent player at the conference table.

NAACP Says Membership Is Declining

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has a new president and a report that it is losing members and money.
Kevie Kaplan, 61, a retired Boston industrialist, was elected unanimously Monday night by the NAACP board of directors. He succeeds Arthur B. Spingarn, 87, a New York lawyer, who had held the post for 26 years.

Kaplan is white, as have been all the NAACP presidents. The presidency is largely a ceremonial post more closely connected with fund raising than with policy making.
Wilkins Re-Elected
Roy Wilkins, a Negro, who was re-elected executive director, reported that the 57-year-old civil rights organization has had a decline in members and funds.

Among the reasons for decreased membership, he said, is the widespread mistaken belief that the battle for civil rights is over.
Wilkins said the group needs more members and more money to meet "the next phase of civil rights."

He said membership is 440,150, down nearly 25,000 from the previous year. The year before the group lost 45,000 members. The NAACP has an unadjusted deficit of more than $200,000, Wilkins said.
