Truce To Start On Thursday Propaganda War Is Pushed

SAIGON (UPI)—U. S. troops were ordered today to observe a formal cease-fire during the Chinese lunar new year and officials disclosed they had launched a giant psychological warfare campaign to win Viet Cong defectors during the holiday.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U. S. forces in Viet Nam, ordered the cease-fire beginning at noon Thursday and lasting until 6 p. m. Sunday. His orders followed similar directives given South Vietnamese troops by their commanders.

The truce will be the second cease-fire in less than a month, although the 30-hour Christmas agreement was broken by the Viet Cong almost as soon as it began.

Campaign Launched
The psychological war campaign, described by U. S. officials as one of the most intense in recent history, was launched several days ago when the guerrillas began filtering into their home villages for the TET holiday.

Robert F. Delaney, 40, of Centerville, Mass., a special assistant to Brig. Gen. John N. Freund, who heads the campaign, said it is designed to ask the guerrillas: "Why go back? Why not stay home?"

Twenty specially designed planes circled over guerrilla haunts and dropped thousands of leaflets and surrendered passes and played taped messages urging the VC to defect.

Plane Crash Is Fatal To Couple

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An Oklahoma City couple was killed last night when their single-engine Beechcraft Bonanza crashed into a field just west of here during an attempted instrument landing.

It was more than two hours after the aircraft disappeared from Oklahoma City radar approach control radar before the wreckage was located, about two miles north of Mustang.

Killed in the crash were Emmett R. Morris, 54-year-old president of Morris Aviation Enterprises, Inc., and his wife, Helen. Bits of the smashed plane were found strewn over a 100-yard area in a wheat field.

RECENTLY RETIRED

Former Bank Official, Lewis C. Ellis, Dies

Lewis C. Ellis, 85, who retired Dec. 31 from 48 years' active association with the Lubbock National Bank, died at 5:40 a. m. today at his home, 1639 Main.

Services will be at 4 p. m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Andrew Junper, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in City of Lubbock Cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral Home.

In Ill Health
A Lubbock resident and community leader since 1917, Ellis had been in ill health about two months.

Mrs. Ellis died Sept. 18, 1965. The couple were married in 1908 at Haskell where Ellis operated a men's furnishing store.

The family lived at the same location, 1639 Main St., practically the full time of their Lubbock residence.

Born in Bell County, Oct. 16, 1880, Ellis moved to Lubbock in October 1917 to join his brother-in-law, the late C. E. Maedgen Sr., in the newly established bank that is now the Lubbock National Bank. He assumed position of assistant cashier, serving as teller and bookkeeper, and later became a general loan officer and farm loan officer.

SIX INJURED

Howling Winds Smash Boats Off Resort Isle

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Calif. (AP)—Gale force winds howling out of the Nevada deserts reached the Pacific, and churning giant waves before them, caught weekend sailors by surprise at this resort 20 miles seaward from Los Angeles.

Their toll Sunday: one yachtsman perhaps drowned; 14 pleasure boats smashed; six persons injured, a 1,000-foot concrete and stone seawall shattered, and at least five other craft damaged.

More To Come
"And," said the U. S. Weather Bureau, "we haven't seen the last of those winds yet."

Harbormaster Joe Scovel said his office recorded winds of 65 miles an hour. Among those rescued were actress June Lockhart and her husband, John Lindsay; and Superior Court Judge Edward Brand.

Deputies said Harry V. Orbach, 40, a Newport Beach chemist, may be lost.

His wife, Betty Jean, 40, said he was swept overboard from a power cruiser on which they and their son, Michael, 18, had sought refuge.

Mrs. Orbach suffered a fractured hip and numerous cuts and bruises. Judge Brand, who can't see, said he was rescued.

TABULATION REVEALED

Five Are Named As C. Of C. Directors

Five new members were named today to serve six-year terms as directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development.

They are: Clem Boverie, Furr's, Inc.; Wayne Finnell, Lubbock National Bank; Loyd Lanotte, T.I.M.E., Inc.; Clyde Owens, TNM&O Coaches, Inc.; and Chas. A. Guy, editor-publisher of the Avalanche-Journal.

Has 15 Members
Tabulation was completed shortly after noon today on ballots returned after their submission to chamber members on Jan. 6. Total ballots distributed exceeded 1,100, according to George W. McCleskey, president.

The board consists of 15 members, with one-third of the membership elected every two years on a staggered basis.

Twenty names, submitted by a nominating committee, were on the ballot.

To Be Installed
Retiring directors are Gene Anderson, Roy B. Davis, Parker Prouty, George C. Wilson and D. M. Wiggins.

Rebels Kidnap U.S. Official

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong kidnaped an American civilian official today outside the village of Trung Lap, about 25 miles north of Saigon, and marched him into the jungle, his hands in the air.

The missing man is Douglas Ramsey, 28, of Boulder City, Nev.

He is the assistant province representative of the U. S. mission for the area.

His driver, a South Vietnamese, came back and told American authorities they were traveling northeast from Qui Chi when they came under Viet Cong gunfire.

The driver said he stopped. He added that Ramsey got out and raised his hands in a surrendering gesture. Several Viet Cong guerrillas marched him away. The driver was wounded slightly in the first ambush fire but was able to navigate on foot.

NO FRIENDS, NO BUSINESS

Grocer Who Aided Officer Finds Himself An Outcast

NEW YORK (UPI)—A heroic little grocer who braved an angry mob to come to the aid of a surounded patrolman is an outcast in his own neighborhood today, friendless and out of business.

"My own people, my own people have turned against me," said Puerto Rican-born Enrique Negron of his recent days in the east Bronx neighborhood where eight months ago he became a "hero" for rushing to help patrolman Philip Siegel.

The new members will join the remaining board members consisting of McCleskey, president; Lennis Baker, vice president; Dr. O. Brandon Hull, vice president; W. G. McMillan Jr., treasurer; and Harold Chapman, Ray Diekmeyer Jr., R. B. (Mac) McAlister, Dr. W. M. Pearce, Kenneth Pharr and B. E. Rush-Hufstader Jr.

Members elected today will be installed at a full board meeting later this month, according to John Logan, executive vice president of the chamber.

Burglars Are Busy

City police today were investigating several burglaries and cases of vandalism, in addition to a number of weekend offenses.

A half-ton pickup truck was taken in a break-in of E. K. Hufstader Farm Equipment Co., 2202 Ave. H. Police said evidence indicated the same burglars broke into Auto Accessory Center, across the alley at 1941 Texas Ave., and loaded several wheels into the truck.

Some money in change also was missing from the latter place, police were told. The break-ins at both places were through rear doors.

At Seven-Eleven Food Store, 4409 19th St., a rear steel door was pried for entry to a stock room. Reported missing were about 150 cartons of cigarettes, some razor blades and ties.

Machines Looted
Vending machines were looted at Clayton-Carter Automatic Laundry, 2106 N. Ash St., and Jim's Drive-In Cafe, 2601 Clovis Rd.

About $20 worth of candy was taken in the break-in of a truck of Anglin Catering Service, 4503 Brownfield Hwy., but nothing was believed missing in a rear-door burglary of ABC Pharmacy, 3821 34th St.

Gladys Gaines, 702 Ave. D, reported loss of a portable record player, steam iron, and clock-radio, all valued at more than $200, from her apartment. Police said there was no sign

Drivers Warned Of Icing Of Mercury Skids To Near Zero

(By The Associated Press)
Cold air pushed deep into Texas today, bringing near-zero temperatures to the upper Panhandle and snow and the threat of freezing rain to other parts of the state.

Light snow fell from Abilene and San Angelo westward across the Pecos and from 20 miles north of Bonham to 25 miles southeast of Paris along the Red River Valley in North Central Texas before noon.

The State Highway Department said thin ice began to form on bridges in Crockett, Reagan, Glasscock, Sterling, Iran, Coke and Tom Green counties.

5 At Dalhart
Big Spring and Midland were receiving snow at 11 a. m. Scattered light snow fell at times during the morning in the Panhandle and South Plains. At 9:45 a. m., scattered light snow extended from Borger-Pampa area southward through Clarendon and Tulla to Olton vicinity.

After dropping temperatures as low as 5 degrees at Dalhart during the night, the cold air held temperatures below freezing across northern parts of Texas in late morning. The 11 a. m. temperatures included 20 at Amarillo, 24 at Dalhart, 24 at Lubbock and Childress, 26 at Midland, and 30 at Wichita Falls and Abilene.

Driving remained dangerous in the extreme upper Panhandle because of weekend snowfall.

Furries Forecast
Occasional furries are forecast through Tuesday in the Panhandle. Lubbock Weather Station forecast occasional light snow for the South Plains through Tuesday, but listed only 10 per cent probability of enough snow to measure in Lubbock County, the northern part of the area and the southwestern part, and 20 per cent in the southeastern portion.

"Another front should be along about Thursday and if the upper air low pressure system now in the Southern California area moves eastward at that time, precipitation with this system may be significant," according to the Lubbock station.

The Weather Bureau said the snow restricted visibility to one-half mile at Big Spring and to one mile at San Angelo.

Snow To Spread
The forecast was for occasional light snow in the west and spreading eastward into north portions of North Central and Northeast Texas tonight and Tuesday.

Light rain developing along the lower Rio Grande will spread over the southeastern quarter of the state by Tuesday. See ARCTIC FRONT Page 6

Weaver Given Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate confirmed today President Johnson's nomination of Robert C. Weaver, New York Negro, to join the Cabinet as secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Confirmation came by voice vote soon after the Banking Committee had voted unanimously to approve the nomination. Weaver will be the first Negro ever to serve in the Cabinet.

The Senate waived its rules to act so quickly. Ordinarily nominations are supposed to go over one day after being reported from a committee.

Confirmed also was the nomination of Prof. Robert C. Wood of Massachusetts Institute of Technology to be undersecretary of the new department.

Highrise Apartment Status 'Clouded' By Council Action

WILLIAM H. BUTLER Admits Killing Coed

Special Session Called Today To Reconsider Last Week's Approval

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche-Journal Staff
The status of a highrise apartment house or dormitory at 19th Street and College Avenue was more clouded than ever after a special City Council meeting today.

Without changing a vote, the council disapproved the project it had approved last week—but the disapproval may not stand. An earlier approval is still on the books.

Proponents and opponents, who can't even agree on what to call the proposed building, both admitted they don't know where they stand.

Until today, the council didn't know where it stood either.

Today's special session was called to reconsider action taken at an unannounced luncheon meeting last Monday. At that time, the council voted 3-3 to okay the 11-story building across from the Texas Tech campus.

City Atty. Fred Senter said today, however, that he had erred in ruling the split vote meant approval of the project.

"Owners of more than 20 per cent of the adjacent land were on record against the re-zoning," Senter said, "and it would require a four-fifths vote of the council to approve the request over those written objections."

Deciding, therefore, to reconsider the action, the council again voted 3-2 for approval—with Councilmen Jack Kastman and W. E. Medlock voting "no."

Earlier Request Approved
That means the re-zoning was rejected. On the other hand, it didn't mean that exactly. An earlier request covering much of the same property already had been approved.

The earlier approval was after a hearing on Nov. 23. The later request enlarged the proposed site.

Proponents and opponents managed to get in a few words today before being ruled out of order. The former argued the council couldn't reconsider its Jan. 10 action. The latter said it not only could but should.

"We don't know what action we'll take now," E. G. Pharr, attorney for the proponents said. "I don't know what we'll do," Hugh Anderson, attorney for a group of protesting nearby home owners, said.

City officials figured if one side didn't do anything, the other would.

The controversy started about three months ago. After rejecting a bid for a highrise apartment house at 19th Street and Boston Avenue, the council found itself faced with a new application for a similar building at 19th Street and College. See STATUS Page 6

CITES "SHAKY PAST"

Drifter Confesses To Coed's Slaying

CHICAGO (UPI)—A crew-cut ex-sailor "trying to forget a shabby past" signed a 12-page statement today in which he admitted strangling a pretty Illinois coed with her own blouse while he kissed her, police said.

William H. Butler, 23, of Jersey City, N.J., signed the statement less than 12 hours after he walked up to a policeman in a downtown bus terminal and said he was wanted for the slaying last Friday of Barbara Jean Dixon, 20, near Boise, Idaho.

Miss Dixon, of Evanston, Ill., had gone to Idaho to attend Boise College. Her body was found along a desert road near Boise Saturday.

"I don't know why I did it, but I did it," police quoted Butler. "I'm sorry," he said.

Drifting West
Authorities said Butler was drifting west to escape what he said was "a shabby past." He said he left a wife and 18-month-old child behind in Jersey City.

He met Miss Dixon on a bus in Chicago, and rode with her to Idaho. "I sort of fell in love with her," he said.

Butler said he and Miss Dixon

Mossier Trial Opens

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The tedious process of choosing a jury for the murder trial of Candace Mossier and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, began today and gave signs of turning into a week-long marathon.

Circuit Judge George Schulz indicated that he expected this when he excused one prospective juror who pleaded illness but ordered him to report back Friday.

The trial of Mrs. Mossier and Powers on an indictment charging "first degree murder by premeditated design" of her multimillionaire husband, Jacques Mossier, promises to be the most sensational in Florida in years.

Palatial Home
Mrs. Mossier, 47, flew to Miami Sunday night from the palatial Mossier home at Houston, Tex., accompanied by two of her adopted children, Chris, 11, and Eddie, 11.

Before going into court, Mrs. Mossier was dressed in a light coat and wearing her blonde hair loosely. Mrs. Mossier predicted that she would be acquitted.

"What else could they do?" she said. "I know nothing of the law." See MOSSLER Page 6

Two Found Dead In Wrecked Car

KAUFMAN, Tex. (AP)—A deputy sheriff found two Dallas men dead in their car and a third suffering from injuries and exposure on the west edge of Kaufman after dawn today.

The three had left Dallas, 33 miles northwest of here, early Sunday night en route to Athens to hunt.

Killed were Abelino Canterino Gamez, 19, and James G. Matthews, 20.

Surviving was Gamez' brother, Guadalupe Cano Gamez. Deputy Sheriff Marvin Thornton found the wreckage about 7 a. m. He said the car missed a bridge and plunged into an embankment on U.S. 175.

"COULD GO ANYTIME"

Ohio Man's Life Hinges On Transplanted Kidney

DETROIT (AP)—"I know that the kidney could go anytime, tomorrow, or one year or 10 years," said ex-sailor James Fitch.

"But we take a chance every time we get out of the door. It's up to God, not us, if he wants us to live or die. Maybe he wants me to live."

Fitch, 27, left Wayne County General Hospital for his home in Delta, Ohio Sunday. He has inside him the kidney of Bradley Van Newkirk, 7, killed in a traffic accident Dec. 26.

The kidney was transplanted after the boy's father, Dr. Karl Van Newkirk, of Plymouth, consented. The father said it was well if his dead son could help another man live.

Fifty pounds under his normal weight at 216 pounds, Fitch said he is "waiting for a horse."

Fitch, a machinist, waited 10 months for a transplant operation.

Vital Factors In Winning Guerrilla War Underscored

By ROBERT DEBS HEINL, JR.

Colonel. U.S. Marine Corps (Ret.) EDITOR'S NOTE: Col. Robert Debs Heinl, Jr. retired from the Marine Corps after 27 years of service. He was at Pearl Harbor when it was attacked in 1941 and he served during World War II in the Pacific. He also saw duty during the Korean War with the 1st Marine Division. Col. Heinl returned late in 1965 from an observation trip to Viet Nam where he got a first-hand look at the tough bitter war without rules.

DA NANG, Viet Nam. Guerrilla war is a war without rules—unlimited war with limited means. Conspiracy and treachery are the rule; quarter is neither given nor expected; laws of "civilized" warfare and international usage are meaningless.

It is this violation of rules and norms which the American soldier—and the western public in general—finds baffling and frustrating.

HEINL. Viet Nam underscores, above all, that guerrilla war is not a war of material—of air power and fire power and all the other "powers" with which Americans usually fight. We cannot win a guerrilla war by pitting technology against ideology, and thus we are still trying to do, at least in part, in Viet Nam.

The continuing buildup of troops by both the United States and North Viet Nam is only an intensification of the same kind of important resource, food. Krulak of war. There will be a struggle for direct engagements, but the more important a war still will be fought in a guerrilla environment with guerrilla will.

But popular good will can't At the supersonic jet aircraft prevail unaided against an enemy in the world won't exert much who as early as 1957 was effect in this kind of war, just as assassinating loyal South Viet village-bombing has never yet names village mayors and won a convert to our cause at a rate of 25 a month. THERE'S NO PUNCHLINE

Writer Finds Life Like The Universe--Without A Final Solution, Conclusion

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"Life is a kind of shaggy dog joke without a punchline," said the man with the brown beard.

"There is no final solution or conclusion. As the astronomers say, the universe is infinite. Everything is simply endlessly repeated."

But although life may be inconclusive it is far from unrewarding to the man with the brown beard—British author John Fowles. At 39, Fowles, former teacher at a girls' school in London, has turned the corner of literary success.

His first published novel, "The Collector," the creepy story of a young man who captures a girl as if she were a butterfly and keeps her prisoner until she dies, was made into a successful film.

Main Playing God. His latest novel, which has an even eerier treatment of the man playing God theme, is the January selection of the Literary Guild. Fowles also has sold the paperback rights for $125,000 and is doing a movie script of it.

"But there are some bad things about having money," he said. "It gives you too much freedom to buy. When you can buy anything within reason you want, it loses its desirability."

It is his qualities as a loner and a mystic that won Fowles the praise of critics. But he is a companionable man across a sea table, and his hazel eyes light up as he talks about his work.

"All writers are sick people. We have a compulsive need to have phantasmic worlds around us—to create such worlds in which we can live," he says.

"I write by instinct. If I don't feel like writing, I don't. If I do, I write as long as my body can stand it—15 or 16 hours a day. I revise and revise and revise, and occasionally throw whole chapters away."

To Fowles, the greatest problem in life is individual freedom.

"What I write about is whether people should be freer than they are, and the extent to which freedom can be a dangerous, two-edged weapon," he says.

"It is hard to generalize about how much freedom one should have. I'd say you have plenty of freedom over here. France could do with a lot more. So could Russia."

"I think freedom is necessary for the race, but not for all individuals."

"Until recently, I should have said the greatest threat to freedom was political creeds. Now I think it is the machine—including the modern city."

The city destroys individuality, requires people to function predictably. People in the country are more human."

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)— Three years ago today, Charles de Gaulle slammed the European Common Market door in Britain's face.

The crash is still echoing down diplomatic corridors but there are signs that the French president has—perhaps reluctantly—relented, and now may be ready to welcome the British into the European family.

This assumes that Britain would like to get in. At least one outstanding advocate of European union feels that the real decision lies in London, not Paris.

Linked To Troubles. Some of these advocates link the sound of that slamming door to the crisis within the Common Market, the disputes over Atlantic political planning, the stalemate in the "Kennedy Round" tariff negotiations, and controversy over the shape and role of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Echoes certainly cropped up in the recent French presidential election. More than half his countrymen voted against De Gaulle in the initial round, bringing a runoff race. De Gaulle finally won, but his European policies continued to cost him voters.

Late in the campaign—too late for many voters—De Gaulle began saying that the six-nation Common Market eventually should be extended to other countries.

De Gaulle repeated this theme in his New Year's Eve address to the nation. He said France is ready to resume negotiations on the Common Market's agricultural policy "on conditions which are equitable and reasonable, and with the hope that on such a base other neighbors will join in."

On Nov. 22, De Gaulle received Edward Heath, leader of the British Conservative party, whose nose was caught in that slaming door.

De Gaulle—according to a spokesman—later told his Cabinet that Britain had evolved and now seemed more prepared for Common Market membership. This was a marked shift from Jan. 14, 1963, when De Gaulle denounced Britain as an "angular people" unfit for a European role.

Chiefly as a result of the French elections, advocates of European union feel there will never again be a French veto against Britain. They also feel De Gaulle will never again dare to send the Common Market partners an ultimatum such as one that produced the present crisis on agricultural policy.

Recalled Delegates. This refers to De Gaulle's recall of French delegates from Brussels, Belgium, last June 30. France walked out of Common Market consultations and has boycotted them since. The foreign ministers' meeting in Luxembourg next week is designed to correct this situation. It will be the first meeting with France in attendance since June.

Some pro-Europeans even feel that as soon as the agricultural policy crisis is settled, De Gaulle would welcome British membership for three reasons:

- 1. Britain could counterbalance or offset West Germany's influence.
- 2. Britain would bolster De Gaulle's own struggle against directly caused the present Common Market deadlock on agriculture. Had Britain been inside the market, France's diplomatic leverage would have been much less at Brussels last June. If Britain had entered the community, most likely Denmark, Ireland and perhaps several other nations would have, too, leaving France just one of nine or 10 states, instead of one of the major components of six nations.

The veto also damaged the community's mutual confidence. This, of course, can be regained but it will take time.

As for Britain, businessmen who had planned continental expansion suddenly had to put these schemes on ice. But the general feeling among businessmen and politicians is that Britain eventually will join or link up with the Common Market.

While there are now no government plans for asking entry, the idea remains a serious factor in national thinking and no serious group opposes membership outright.

Impact Of Crisis. The perils of last year's sterling crisis had an effect on British thinking in an indirect way: Businessmen realized that Common Market membership would have helped force the nation to turn possibly wobbly, and this in the most important sense, the question of Britain's joining the market hinges on the direction the nation chooses for its future.

Will Britain be content to be an offshore island of Europe? Does Britain want to continue posing as a great power, or can Britain best exercise its influence on world affairs as a leading member of a European community?

These questions must be answered first, and the British people as a whole have not really made up their minds.

This is what, apparently, De Gaulle now thinks they may do.

Today, pure, original Buddhism is found only in Thailand, Ceylon and Burma.

Demand For Head Start Funds Heavy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Project Head Start for giving poor children better start-off in first grade is so popular that demand for federal grants is running far ahead of the $150 million earmarked for them.

As a result R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) has ruled that no more than one-third of the anti-poverty funds given to local communities can be used for such preschool projects.

His office also has asked applicants to try to get head start grants from the U.S. Office of Education under a 1965 law that had made $775 million available to school systems for use in poor neighborhoods.

Republican Critic A Republican critic of the OEO, Rep. Charles Goodell, N.Y., said the situation is confusing and illustrates why the Head Start program should be shifted to the Office of Education for better administration.

A spokesman for the anti-poverty agency conceded there was some mixup over the dual source of funds for projects of this type. He said it resulted from too much of a good thing.

The OEO was swamped by applications from communities seeking funds for year-round programs when President Johnson announced last September money would be allocated for them.

This followed the highly publicized summer Head Start projects that enrolled about 500,000 children at 2,300 locations at a cost of more than $85 million. The courses lasted eight weeks.

New Drink A Hot One

NEW YORK—"Jolly Joe" Levine, the bulging Bostonian who became a movie tycoon, was given an unusual tribute by his Broadway celebrity admirers at a new "in" restaurant, the Old Shanghai (1674 B'way) . . . where Toots Shor, the drinking man's drinker, added a great chapter to the Boozie Who legends.

Toots' glass was empty and guest-of-honor Levine got it refilled with brandy . . . then suddenly dumped a generous amount of English mustard into the brandy . . . and handed it to Toots without mentioning the addition.

"Ummmm, that's gooooooood boooooo." Toots sighed when he drank it. He hadn't discovered the special flavor, but liked it.

Toots now plans to drink it regularly, calling it a "Toots Shor Toddy."

SPECIAL COOKIES PREPARED Special personalized fortune cookies were prepared for Jolly Joe by the Dong Kingmans. Samples: "Jolly Joe great weight-lifter. Every morning he get up" . . . "Jolly Joe loves physical fitness. He often walk all way to his limousine."

Levine, the globe-trotter, was off to Rome to talk new pictures with Marcello Mastroianni. His wife Rosalie wasn't going along.

"Joe's only going for about a half hour," Rosalie explained.

With the "Superman" copy-right reverting back to Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster in April, National Periodical Publications may make them tremendously wealthy with a new deal due to the forthcoming B'way show, franchises, etc . . . Subways stall but not Betsy Kane, one of the trugging eye-fulls at the Metropole, who seldom stops moving.

BEAUTY RETURNS TO ACTING Stuart Levin, mgr. director of the 4 Seasons restaurant, got a lift to his chic job by school bus . . . Whereas Harold Ettus got a ride in a hearse (front seat) . . . Three men in a cab were in favor of giving a seat to a pretty female wig-wagging at them until suddenly one man shouted to the driver: "Keep going! Don't stop! I don't want to meet that woman. She's my ex-wife!"

Gisele Mackenzie's escort at Irwin Corey's opening at the Living Room was Don Ovens of Billboard . . . Nora Haydon, the beauty who's been running Our Place, will return to acting (a picture called "The Green-Eyed Elephant") and Chris Anderson, Harry Woodruff and Ken Hoeck will take over Her Place . . . Jimmy Stewart's virus forced him to cancel a NY trip to plug "The Rare Breed."

Fireman Can't Help Burning Trash Truck KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A burning trash truck made a run to Fire Station No. 35, but there was only one fireman on hand — a battalion chief — and he had only a garden hose.

The other firemen were testing their equipment at the Fire Department Academy. The garden hose was inadequate, so a pumper truck from Station No. 4 rumbled over to No. 35 and put out the fire.

Motors Up As Market Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors, aerospace issues, steels and airlines advanced as the stock market pushed further into record high ground early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The ticker tape lagged as many moderate-sized transactions combined with a variety of big blocks to pile up volume. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.90 at 991.20.

General Motors gave blue chips leadership as it spurred a couple of points following a statement by GM president James M. Roche that auto sales in 1966 will be equal to or better than the record results of 1965.

Expectations of the fifth good auto year in a row were widespread. At the same time, demand for steel from the auto industry was unexpectedly strong.

The top steelmakers displayed a string of moderate gains. Among the gainers were U.S. Steel, up nearly a point, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin and Crucible, all ahead fractionally.

In the auto group, Chrysler advanced well over a point, Ford nearly a point and Studebaker a fraction.

The increase projected for defense spending gave the aerospace defense, electronics and other defense-related groups reason for continued strength, even while some profits were taken.

Boeing gained 2. United Aircraft nearly 1. Up fractionally were General Dynamics, Douglas Aircraft, Raytheon, Sperry Rand and Radio Corp.

Eastern Air Lines gained 2. KLM about 5. American and Pan American more than 1. Up a point or so were Jersey Standard, Southern Pacific and Air Reduction.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Up 2 or more were Alloys Unlimited, Muntz TV, Novo Industrial and Valley Metallurgical.

Engineering rose nearly 2. Up about a point were O'Keefe Corp., Chromalloy and Duval. National Video sank about 3/4 while Eico and Pyle National lost a point or so. Off fractionally were Syntex and Brown Co.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Up 2 or more were Alloys Unlimited, Muntz TV, Novo Industrial and Valley Metallurgical.

Sponsor Of Longer House Terms Surprised By LBJ

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I booted that letter down to one page, and I made every word sing a song and do a dance." That was Rep. Frank Chelf's explanation of how he got President Johnson interested in a four-year term for House members.

His efforts, the Kentucky Democrat was both astounded and delighted to learn last Wednesday night, resulted in presidential endorsement of a constitutional amendment to double the present two-year tenure of House members.

Starts 22nd Year
Chelf, starting his 22nd year representing Kentucky's north-central 4th District, said in an interview that he expects the four-year term, which he has championed almost alone, to win congressional approval this year.

It still would need ratification of 38 state legislatures after approval by two-thirds majorities in both the House and Senate, but Chelf is confident that there is grass roots support for the proposal.

"Why, people in my district were telling me 20 years ago we ought to do this," the 55-year-old Lebanon, Ky., attorney said.

"The first time I went back to campaign for re-election, one of my friends said 'Merciful heavens, Frank, didn't we elect you for four years?'"

"When I told him it was for only two years, he replied that ought to go back to Washington and change it."

But it wasn't until last year that Chelf began actively campaigning for a longer House term. He started out by writing letters to his 434 House colleagues to find out if there was support for a change.

"I guess I've sent out about 8,500 letters by now," he said. Chelf continued to circulate both House and Senate members' last year seeking support and advice as he worked toward drafting an amendment for consideration by Congress.

In the course of his campaign, he decided to write the President.

"First, I wrote a four-page letter with all the research and information I had been gathering about this. Then I looked at it and said to myself 'Now, he's not going to read anything like that.'"

Decision Not Known
"So I got it down to two pages, and that was still too long. Finally, I boiled that letter down to one page and I made every word sing a song and do a dance."

Chelf said he never knew whether Johnson read the letter until the Chief Executive gave his State of the Union address.

He did get an inkling of what was coming just before the speech when Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and an opponent of the four-year term, called him over.

"He said 'Frank, I hear you have a surprise coming. I understand the President is going to plug your amendment.'"

"I told him, 'Now, Manny, stop pulling my leg. You've already got it stretched out to where the muscles are aching.'"

"Well, after the speech, I saw the President going to the elevator. He said 'You didn't think I read that letter, did you? Well I did, and I made up my mind then.'"

After a year immersed in the four-year term campaign, Chelf can argue both sides of the issue and end up with the amendment on top.

He says the strongest argument against it is that the House should be elected every two years to better reflect the wishes of the people.

Changes Stressed
"That was o.k. in 1776, but we're living in another world now," he said. "Chelf said the ease and speed with which a congressman can return to his district and with which voters can communicate their wishes to their representatives made frequent elections outmoded."

In the meantime, he said, it was costing congressmen more and more in time and money to run for office. "I'm a huge success politically, but I'm a financial flop."

Chelf said his marathon letter-writing stint of last year produced for him a clear picture of support for and opposition to the four year term. "I've got it earmarked in mind now who is for and who is against."

Chelf's latest calculations show a 30-6 margin for the four-year term on the Judiciary Committee, on which he is the third-ranked Democrat. A 1965 canvass also revealed that 254 House members favored the plan, 41 opposed and 67 were in doubt. He got no answers from 63 members.

Hopes Are High
"I expect the President's speech will give us half of the doubtfuls and a third of the opponents," he said.

Chelf also has been doing spadework in the Senate. "We could get a 435 to nothing vote in the House and be out in left field without a ballglove in the Senate."

He said that was where what he called the "Chelf gimmick" came in. Chelf added a provision to his amendment that would forbid a House member with a four-year term to run against an incumbent senator in an election that came in the midst of the longer House term.

Chelf said 67 senators who answered his inquiries, 44 supported the plan, six opposed it and 17 were in doubt.

Chelf has not even given up trying to win over Celler to the four-year term.

"Since the President has seen fit to propose it... well, Manny's a good soldier," Chelf said.

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results—here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids—without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

Opening Door For Governor Is Clarified

DOVER, Del. (AP) — A tug of war over a door handle between Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. and a House of Representatives door keeper has led to new guidelines on receiving the chief executive in the General Assembly.

Recently when Gov. Terry went to the House to address a joint session, he reached for the door knob at the same time a doorkeeper inside reached for it. They wound up tugging and pushing at the handle.

The governor's committee on protocol recommended Friday that a delegation from both houses bring the governor to the chamber. The doorkeeper will respond to their knock by asking, "Who seeks to enter?" and then opening wide the door to admit them.

Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington recently was designated as a National Historic Site.

SPLIT DECISION

Court Rules Negroes Can Use Georgia Park

By WILLIAM J. EATON WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 today that a Macon, Ga., park willed by a former Confederate soldier for the use of whites only must be open to Negroes also as long as the city plays any role in its operation.

The city relinquished controlling the park through a board of managers two years ago after Negroes were allowed to use it. Under private operation, they were barred. But the court held in today's opinion that the records show no change in city maintenance and concern.

On this basis, the opinion by Justice William O. Douglas held that any return to the "white only" policy would violate the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

Other Actions In other actions, the court: —Agreed to examine problems involved in the question of removing civil rights prosecutions from state to federal courts.

—Refused to interfere with a lower court decision which sent back for retrial a Pittsburgh widow's damage suit against the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. Her husband contracted lung cancer 10 years before his death.

—Accepted for review the government's tax evasion indictment against Hollywood entertainer Ben Blue. A federal district judge dismissed the indictment earlier this year.

—Refused to accept an appeal by New York attorney, Arnold M. Grant, who was fighting a $2 jaywalking conviction as a violation of his constitutional rights.

—Left standing Texas court decisions declaring unconstitutional a 1961 state law regulating the retail sale of liquor for export.

The court in a brief order rejected a plea by the Texas State Liquor Control Board to review the state court rulings.

Lubbock GI Seeking Gifts For Orphanage

A 22-year-old Lubbock man who has been stationed in Viet Nam since last November has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hankins, 3002 31st St., asking them to send presents for children in a Vietnamese orphanage.

Pfc. Bobby Hankins, a graduate of Monterey High School and former Texas Tech student, said his letter: "Near our base is a Vietnamese orphanage and we have adopted them (orphans) for awhile. The Vietnamese New Year is coming up the 23rd of this month, and we are trying to get some presents for the kids. I want you to get a cap and t-shirt for me and send it over. We have no place to get present here or I would not ask."

Constantly On Move "We are constantly on the move patrolling or something else. Things here are as nasty as ever, but I'm okay except for loss of weight, which is 'natural' for me. See you in '66."

The soldier is due to be discharged from the Army in November 1966.

Mrs. Hankins said today she plans to send her son the presents for the children, and she hopes other Lubbock and area persons also will send gifts.

They may be mailed to: Pfc. Bobby M. Hankins, US 5452080, HQ MACV (AG-DB), APO, San Francisco, Calif., 96243.

"We had a lot of friends. They feel bad that I helped a cop," said Negron Sunday in his halting English. With the store for which he had saved since age 10 gone, nobody in the area willing to hire him, and his savings down to $300, Negron says he probably could get welfare but "doesn't want to live off charity."

Patrolman Siegel, who has talked to Negron several times since the incident, says, "he's had it pretty rough. They just seemed to turn on the poor guy. And he's really such a nice little fellow. I should know. If it wasn't for him I'd probably be dead."

But, says Negron, "if I had to do it again, I'd do it. It's the way I am. I don't like to see anybody abused."

morning, according to forecasts. Between the rain and snow fell a band of freezing rain possibly will materialize tonight over Central Texas, the Weather Bureau said.

The snow will end over much of West Texas Tuesday, but Texans can expect to shiver for several more days.

Along the coast, small but a warnings were posted. Amarillo Has 9 Overnight temperatures included 9 at Amarillo, 12 at Pampa, 10 at Perryton, 19 at Childress, 13 at Hereford, 16 at Plainview, 17 at Morton, 18 at Floydada, 21 at Lubbock and 22 at Lamesa.

Temperatures were forecast to go no higher than the upper 20's in the Panhandle today, while the highest readings on the South Plains were forecast to range from 27 to 37 degrees. Minimum temperatures early Tuesday are forecast to be in the upper teens in the Panhandle and in the middle teens to middle 20's on the South Plains. A little warmer weather is forecast for the day-time Tuesday.

Farther northward, Garden City, Kan., had 3 below, Goodland, Kan., had 5 below, La Junta, Colo., had 1 below and Lamar, Colo., had 5 below. Three inches of snow blanketed the ground at Goodland, and 2 inches at La Junta, Garden City and Lamar.

Light snow was falling at 7 a.m. today at Clovis, N. M. Radio station KMUL Muleshoe said none had been received there.

The Weather Bureau said a huge dome of cold air centered over Minnesota was spreading cold air over most of the nation east of the Rockies. Sub-freezing readings were reported over nearly all the nation except Florida, southern Texas and parts of California.

Temperatures of 20 below or lower were common across the Dakotas. Bismarck, N. D., had 28 below.

Part of the cold air spilled over the southern Rockies and helped cause snow over northern Arizona. Winslow had three inches and Flagstaff had an inch of new snow this morning.

The Weather Bureau was forecasting showers and snow flurries from Southern California across the southern Rockies to the Texas Gulf coast.

All Of State Cold In Texas, the freezing line early today extended to near Paris, Junction and the Rio Grande in the Big Bend area.

The cold air was penetrating the immediate coastal plains at daybreak and all of the state was expected to be much colder tonight. In a five-day forecast, the Weather Bureau predicted readings 11 to 15 degrees below normal with another round of precipitation by the latter part of the week.

Occasional snow flurries were expected today in extreme Southwest Texas and rain was forecast for South Texas Tuesday.

The frigid air surged into the normally sub-tropical lower Rio Grande Valley and temperatures near freezing were forecast.

"The fruit and vegetables will be all right if we get a bit of wind and some clouds," the U. S. Weather Bureau's Citrus Forecasting Station at Brownsville, said.

The Valley's northern end was expected to get a low of around 33-34 tonight.

All roads in the Panhandle were open, although blowing snow cut visibility in the northwestern Panhandle and eastern New Mexico Sunday.

The Weather Bureau said most of Texas could expect another cold night tonight with snow flurries expected in South-

Westmoreland's directive today ordered the 190,000 American troops in Viet Nam to fire only in self defense during Tet.

The announcement followed three separate Viet Cong raids today within earshot of Saigon, all of which were repulsed by government defenders. At least 30 guerrillas were killed in one abortive raid.

VC Force Blasted The Communist assaults followed attacks Sunday by 18 U.S. planes which bombed and strafed an estimated 600 Viet Cong troops found hiding in a heavily-wooded region 20 miles west of Saigon. U.S. spokesmen said at least 40 guerrillas were killed in the six-hour barrage of bombs, rockets and 20 millimeter cannon fire.

Korean Marines today completed a successful operation in the Central Highlands credited with killing more than 500 Viet Cong during its four-week duration. U.S. Marines continued a similar sweep in the highlands south of Da Nang, which has resulted in 29 guerrillas killed in five days, while U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops reported 22 Viet Cong killed Sunday and today in a Mekong Delta operation north-west of Saigon.

U.S. and allied spokesmen reported on a number of operations both underway or just concluded. Among them: —Troops of the Korean Tiger Division and Korean Marines ended their month-long sweep of jungles in the Tuy Ho area of the Central Highlands. A Korean spokesman said 473 Viet Cong were killed during the sweep.

Operation Mailard, a U.S. Marine sweep 16 miles south of Da Nang, continued today. Twenty-nine Viet Cong have been killed and 12 captured during the first five days of the campaign.

Operation Big Lodge, previously unreported, was in its third day south of Da Nang. U.S. Marine forces reported light contact with the enemy but uncovered numerous tunnels, trenches, booby traps and rice caches in the region.

Operation North Zone U.S. and Vietnamese planes stayed away from Communist North Viet Nam. There were 24 combat sorties over the South Sunday and today by U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots. This included a mission at dawn Sunday by giant B52 bombers from Guam which struck suspected Communist positions along the coast about 400 miles north of Saigon.

Selection of a civil jury was to begin at 1:30 p.m. today in 99th District Court for trial of a suit on account in which Baker Brothers Co. seeks $5,587.84 judgment against Bob Clark, Simpson, Inc., and Johnny Simpson. Judge Howard C. Davison was to preside.

Jimmy Don Whitson, 22, of Brownfield, was reported in good condition today at St. Mary's Hospital. Attendants said he was in a two-car accident at Levell Sunday night.

Gene West, 2905-B 46th St., district manager of Victory Life Insurance Co., has won a trip to Stratford, Ariz., for himself and his wife for writing a greater amount of insurance than any other agent of the company during 1965. Mr. and Mrs. West will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Ray, 4916 47th St., will leave Saturday and return Feb. 1. Ray is supervisor of agencies for the company, which has its home office in Topeka, Kan.

Wayne W. Igo, 48, 4003 33rd St., died early today at the home of his son, Gilbert R. Igo, in Arlington, Tex. Igo, a veteran of World War II, was a patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Dallas. Services will be Wednesday in Wichita Falls under direction of Owens and Brumley Funeral Home. Survivors are his widow, two sons, a brother, a sister and two nephews.

Thick fog in parts of Seattle hampered air traffic at the Seattle-Tacoma Airport and Boeing Field. Buses carried several hundred outbound passengers from Seattle to Portland and Vancouver, B.C., where conditions were clear. The buses returned with Seattle-bound passengers who were diverted to these cities.

Snow flurries were reported from the Great Lakes region into the northern Appalachian mountains. Some snow was also reported in northern Minnesota and the Northern Rockies.

Winter vacationers in Florida were not disappointed, however, as Key West topped the nation with 64.

Air Force Jets Collide

ALMERIA, Spain (AP) — A U.S. B52 jet bomber and a KC135 jet tanker collided over Spain today and crashed on the Mediterranean Coast.

Five of the 11 crewmen aboard the two planes were rescued, U.S. Air Force officials said. Four of them were identified as bomber crewmen.

Headquarters of the 16th U.S. Air Force near Madrid said the B52 with a crew of seven was from the 68th Bombardment Wing at Seymour Johnson Air Base in North Carolina. It was being refueled by the tanker, carrying four crewmen. The tanker was from the 910th Air Refueling Unit at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Tex. It was temporarily stationed at Moron Airport near Seville.

No Word On Bombs Headquarters would not say if the B52 carried nuclear bombs. Rescuers continued a hunt for other survivors after some crewmen were seen parachuting from the falling planes.

The Spanish news agency Cifra said four crewmen were picked up from the sea, gravely hurt, and hospitalized at the coastal village of Aguilas. A spokesman at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base identified the missing from the B52 as Lt. Steven S. Montanus, navigator, of Springfield, Ohio; Lt. George J. Glesner, electronics warfare officer, of Belleville, Pa.; and T-Sgt. Ronald P. Snyder of Seat Pleasant, Md.

The spokesman said those missing from the plane were its commander, Capt. Charles Wendorf of Silldale, La.; the copilot, Lt. Michael L. Rooney of Charlotte, N.C.; the radar navigator, Capt. Ivon Buchanan of Bakersville, N.C.; and a passenger, Maj. Larry Messenger of Wacuchula, Fla., who is the controller for the 68th Bombardment Wing.

Three Hospitalized Messenger, Rooney and Wendorf were identified as three of those hospitalized at Aguilas. The other was not immediately identified.

Spanish police identified a fifth survivor as Capt. Ives Buchanan of the bomber crew. He was hospitalized at Vera, 45 miles northeast of here.

Spanish officials said four charred bodies were recovered from the wreckage of the two planes, which both fell near Vera.

Children on their way to school said they heard a loud explosion in the sky, then saw smoke clouds above them.

Squadrons of B52s fly into the Spanish area almost daily from the United States, refuel at high altitude from jet tankers and return to home bases without landing in Europe.

Halt To School Strike Sought TULSA (AP)—School lawyers were prepared to seek a district court restraining order today to halt a strike by non-teaching personnel which gave the city's 7,000 pupils and 2,500 teachers an unscheduled holiday.

A strike by maintenance and custodial workers and bus drivers became effective at 11 p.m. Sunday night after members of Teamsters Union voted 228-40 to stop working until the school board recognizes the union as their bargaining agent.

The School Board contends it cannot bargain with a union on personnel matters and indicated the city's 96 schools would stay closed for the duration of the strike.

Lightning Goes Up, It Seems SOCORRO, N.M. (AP)—Does lightning go up or down? Both, says a scientist at New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology. But what you are likely to see is the lightning going up.

Dr. Walter H. Evans also said that lightning gives off the same type of lights as X-rays emitted by nuclear blasts, a phenomenon which can trigger the so-called black boxes for nuclear detection.

The college's laboratory is atop a 10,640-foot mountain. Dr. Evans said that anything such as lightning which cannot be isolated in a laboratory requires that the laboratory be moved to it.

Three Hospitalized Here After Mishaps Three of four persons injured in Lubbock and the area Saturday and Sunday remained hospitalized here today.

All listed in fair condition today at Methodist Hospital were Pablo Poncio, 23, Route 2, Abernathy; Pablo Henozoa, 13, Whiteface; and David Paul Newton, 13, 4504 38th St.

Poncio was injured in a one-car turnover four miles southeast of Abernathy on a country road about 1:30 a.m. Sunday. He suffered head injuries.

The Henozoa youth was run over by a trailer in Whiteface Sunday. He underwent leg surgery.

The Newton boy was injured Saturday afternoon when his motor scooter collided with a car at 42nd Street and Salem Avenue.

Treated and released at St. Mary's Hospital after he fell out of his car at 49th Street and Salem Avenue about 1:30 p.m. Sunday was Mike Kelly, 16, 3009 56th St.

Status Of Apartment Project Now Clouded

Just a short distance away. Although recommended for rejection by the City Planning and Zoning Commission, the second project was approved by the council. Opponents called it a "dormitory," and proponents called it a "college- or oriented apartment house," on which parking requirements are not quite as high.

In approving the project, however, councilmen decided to depart from past practices and require a 40-foot dedication of right of way along College Avenue to provide for future widening of the street and, probably, an underpass at the 19th Street intersection.

Ray Chapman, spokesman for the proponents, later objected to giving the right of way. He said that if a traffic problem existed at the intersection, his project wouldn't complicate it and the city should buy the right of way.

Chapman filed a new request, adding more than four lots to the area involved. This time, the planning commission recommended approval.

When the case came before the council on Jan. 6, there were no opponents present. Anderson argued today, however, that they had understood their previous objections to the Nov. 22 case would be carried forward.

Senior Agrees Center, in recommending reconsideration of the January action, agreed with Anderson on that point.

So, as things now stand, the November re-zoning still is in effect. That action required the 40-foot dedication and off-street parking for 312 cars (the January action didn't require the dedication although it was rumored the council expected to get the right of way cheaply and it required slightly more parking exclusive of any right of way that might be obtained by any means).

"The Nov. 23 action is a valid ordinance," the city attorney said today. "Your action today means that the second case is rejected, however."

Councilman W. E. Alderson and Roland Simpson and Mayor Max Tidmore voted for approval today but Senter said four "yes" votes were necessary.

"We have to talk to the owners before we'll know what we're going to do from here," Pharr said.

Texas Insurance Program To End

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas health insurance program for elderly Texans will go out of existence midnight June 30 because Medicare has eliminated the need for it, Lewis Rietz, Texas 65 president, said today.

Rietz urged the 35,000 Texans enrolled in the program to keep their policies in force until Medicare benefits start July 1.

He said Texas 65 still will offer health insurance protection to its members until Medicare takes over.

The 1963 Legislature authorized the program, allowing 64 companies to poll risks. Since then, Rietz said, claims of more than $7.7 million have been paid to more than 42,000 Texans.

Rites For Joe Gobeas Are Scheduled Today Services for Joe P. Gobeas, 42, 603 Hub Homes, who died Friday morning at West Texas Hospital after suffering an apparent heart attack, were to be at 10 a.m. today at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Burial was to be in Peaceful Garden Cemetery under direction of Henderson Funeral Directors.

Survivors include the wife, three sons and a daughter.

'World Toughest Cop,' Johnny Broderick, Dies

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP) — John J. (Johnny) Broderick, 70, the "world's toughest cop" whose beat was Broadway and who shot it out with prohibition era gangsters with relish and ease, died quietly Sunday at his home in this Orange County community.

JOHNNY BRODERICK

Working out of the main New York City detective office, Broderick earned the respect of fellow policemen, the public and celebrities and the fear of the underworld during his 24 1/2-year career which ended in retirement in 1947.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt requested that Broderick be his special bodyguard in 1936 when he went to the city for the baseball World Series.

Dempsey Had Fringe Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, whom Broderick once served as bodyguard, said of the Irish-tenor-singing cop: "He's the only man I wouldn't want to meet in a fight outside the ring and its rules."

Broderick was dubbed the "world's toughest cop" by Jack (Legs) Diamond, then regarded as one of the world's toughest gangsters.

No New Leads To Bomb Hoax Are Found Here

No further developments were reported this morning in the bomb scare that resulted in interruption of entertainment and evacuation of Municipal Coliseum Sunday night.

Police and firemen searched the premises but found nothing in connection with the reported threat. A telephone operator relayed to police a call from someone who said a bomb would explode at the site about 9 p.m.

An estimated 3,000 persons were ushered outside the coliseum officials said. But about 20 minutes later, the show was in progress again.

The performers were James Brown, a Negro singer, and his group, the Famous Flames. Verne Byers, agent for the group, said similar incidents had been experienced by the group since Jan. 1 in California, Arizona, and on Saturday night at El Paso.

Blaze Damages Lubbock Home A more extensive survey of damages was to be made today by Lubbock firemen at the two-story frame residence of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hull, 1704 Ave. J, which was swept by flames Sunday afternoon.

An estimate of the damage had not been prepared, nor was the exact cause of the blaze determined.

No one was home at the time the fire broke out. Flames raced up the front two rooms, up a stairwell and into the attic before Lubbock firemen had the fire under control at about 4:30 p.m.

The fire heavily damaged the two front rooms and the roof. Smoke and water damage resulted elsewhere in the house.

Hull said new furniture in the living room and a new stove in the kitchen were destroyed.

He had been at a grocery store when the fire started. Mrs. Hull was visiting in Fort Worth.

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House investigators are pressing for legislation this session to give citizens more protection against big government's snooping — and a bigger opening to kibitz on Uncle Sam.

Neither measure was asked by President Johnson and one — a "Freedom of Information" bill — has drawn strong opposition from the administration.

In the Senate, Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., said his subcommittee will resume its investigation into wire tapping by government agencies within 30 days.

Long said he hopes the hearings will lead to legislation to restrict government agents' use of what he calls "an armory of electronic snooping devices."

The challenge before my subcommittee," Long said, "is to write legislation which will protect the individual's right to privacy while enduring that adequate law enforcement continues."

Meanwhile the "Freedom of Information" bill aimed at cracking the privacy of the bureaucracy is hanging fire in the House.

It's fate, one congressional source said, "will probably depend on how much outside pressure develops for it."

One form of the measure passed the Senate last year. But on the other side of Capitol Hill, Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., was unable to get his bill through his Government Operations subcommittee although he had it rewritten 10 times in unsuccessful efforts to ease administration opposition.

Justice Department lawyers said the bill was unworkable and would do violence to the theory of executive privilege — the unwritten right of the President to withhold certain records from the public or Congress.

Written Rundown Moss launched a new effort last week, giving subcommittee members a written rundown on both his and the Senate's bill — and suggesting the Senate's might be the best bet.

The legislation, urged by representatives of the nation's news media, would give any citizen a court-enforced access to records of official actions.

Certain files, of course, would be specifically excluded — those for instance dealing with national security or matter of individual privacy such as Internal Revenue records.

TO ISSUE POLL TAXES—These were four of 16 members of the Lubbock League of Women Voters who were sworn in this morning by Russell Hardin, county tax assessor-collector, to issue poll taxes in the Hub City today through Jan. 31. Variety Lists Top Money Movies Of 1965 As Part Of Anniversary Edition

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Like Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Fred Astaire and Cary Grant Variety is now in its 60's and refuses to show its age.

The show biz bible passed its 60th this month with a thick, fact-crammed anniversary edition that once more demonstrated Variety's worth to the entertainment world.

Air Of Accuracy Always an arresting feature of the anniversary edition is Variety's estimate of film grosses for the year. The figures are necessarily guesses, since film companies jealously guard their ledgers. But Variety's close watch of the theater business provides an air of accuracy.

Last year brought three films that are likely to place among the top five money makers so far this time. The figures are company rentals for the United States and Canada; a film generally carries an equal amount overseas.

Variety calculates "Mary Poppins" has already drawn $28.5 million in domestic rentals with a potential of $33 million. Since Disney is releasing the film again this summer, the amount may exceed even that.

"The Sound of Music" has attracted $20 million in only 140 roadshow engagements, and Variety pegs its potential at $35 million. No wonder Julie Andrews was selected sweetheart of the Theater Owners of America.

Still On Road The third member of the golden trio was the picture Julie Andrews didn't make — "My Fair Lady." Variety figures its domestic gross at $19 million, but won't hazard a guess on the eventual amount. Since "My Fair Lady" is still playing in roadshows, the future monies will be considerable.

The three films may soon be pushing the all-time leaders. "Champ" is still "Gone With the Wind" with $41.2 million; since it can earn added millions with each new release, the 1939 epic seems likely to hold its lead.

"Ben-Hur" (1959) ranks second with $38 million, and "The Ten Commandments" (1957) follows with $34.2 million. Further down the list are: "Around the World in 80 Days," "Cleopatra," "How the West Was Won," "West Side Story," "The Robe" and "South Pacific."

Another phenomenon of 1965 was the irrefragable "Goldfinger." The James Bond spy chase garnered almost $20 million, an amazing sum considering that it lacked the spectacular qualities of the above-mentioned films.

Other winners of last year were: "What's New Pussycat?" and "Shenandoah," both surprise winners; "The Sandlot," "Father Goose," "Von Ryan's Express," "The Yellow Rolls-Royce," "How to Murder Your Wife," "Cat Ballou," "The Sons of Katie Elder" and "Help."

Performers For Rodeo Signed

Six members of the Lubbock American Business Club (ABC) Rodeo committee returned Friday from Denver, where they attended the annual Rodeo Cowboys' Association convention and signed performers for the annual ABC rodeo slated in Lubbock March 30-April 2.

Making the trip were David Hester, L. J. Burdine, George Campbell, Jerry Fletcher, Earl Inc., Jr. and Sam Ribble Jr.

The committee arranged for Butler & Son of Oklahoma to provide livestock for the Lubbock rodeo. Also scheduled to appear at the Lubbock event are Ken Boen and his "new grey mare," Leon Adams, who Roman-rides Brahma bulls; rodeo clowns with comedy acts; and a girls' barrel racing act.

LCC Lectureship Speakers Slated

UNVEIL PLAQUE

Memorial Rites For Col. Young Held In Armory

Memorial services for the late Col. Fred E. Young, veteran of two world wars and a Lubbock attorney who was instrumental in building the Reserve Training Center and the National Guard Armory here, were held at the armory Sunday afternoon.

Concluding the hour-long tribute was the presentation of a plaque in Col. Young's honor by Maj. Gen. Miller Ainsworth, U.S. Army (ret.), of Luling, Tex.

Mrs. Bessie Young was among about 50 persons present for the unveiling of the memorial plaque which is placed permanently on the wall of the foyer at the National Guard Armory.

General Made Lubbockite Taking part in special tributes to Col. Young prior to the presentation were Gen. Ainsworth; Lewis C. Fields, Amarillo; Henry Teubel, Tulsa; Dr. S. M. Kennedy Jr., dean of arts and sciences, Texas Tech; members of the Tech Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary band fraternity; details of the Texas National Guard, and the Rev. Jack A. Welch, chaplain of Allen Brothers American Legion Post here.

At a reception following the services, Gen. Ainsworth was awarded honorary Lubbock citizenship by H. D. Woods, chairman of the memorial service arrangements committee, acting in behalf of Lubbock Mayor Max Tidmore.

Richard H. Moseley then presented the general with a lifetime membership in Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Col. Young, who died June 21, 1965, at the age of 73, was chief attorney for the Lubbock Veterans' Administration, May 26, 1946, until Sept. 30, 1961.

He received an award for outstanding service to disabled veterans by the National Rehabilitation Commission of the American Legion.

Col. Young was awarded a bronze plaque by the South Plains Lions for special work in connection with establishment of the Negro Boys' Club here.

Following retirement from the V. A. he entered private law practice here. He had also practiced law in Amarillo.

THINKING OUT LOUD

Communism was born from revolution. This revolution is no longer a rebellion against people. Incredible as it seems, it is now an all out war against God! The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party has threatened parents and church people against encouraging children to believe in God. The curriculum of every school in the Soviet, from the first grade to the highest college level is now Devil inspired. Teachers now teach atheism enthusiastically and persuasively. They have joined the cause of the Soviet salesmen of Hell; namely, all the newspapers, magazines, radio and TV. Every-one with no exception is being indoctrinated with atheism.

This is not fiction. It is already an accomplished fact. Here is a confirmed quote from a directive issued by the Communist Central Committee — "To prevent the unlawful activity of the clergy or of single religious groups, the children and the young people will be increasingly protected from the influence of church people and from their parents, should they force them to carry on religious activity."

We have many local and national problems to solve. None of these problems present the potential of the problem we face on the world scene; the problem of how to sit down at a conference table with disciples of Satan. How do you deal with the Devil? How can this agonizing thing be done? We need all the help we can get from God to illumine the minds of men, including our own. Let's not hesitate to ask for that help.

Area Residents Hurt In Wreck

Four Petersburg residents were injured, two critically, in a two-car collision 1.7 miles south of Lubbock on U.S. #7 about 12:15 a.m. today.

Listed in critical condition with head injuries today at St. Mary's Hospital were Donald Eaves, 26, a bookkeeper, and his wife Ursula, 24.

The couple, however, was reported "slightly improved" at noon today. Eaves is a 1957 graduate of Petersburg High School and attended Texas Tech.

Also hospitalized at St. Mary's are Larry Alford, 25, and his wife Donetta, 24, of Route 1, Petersburg. Alford suffered back injuries and was reported in fair condition today, while Mrs. Alford, who sustained back and leg injuries, was listed in good condition.

The accident occurred when an auto driven by Eaves struck the rear of a car driven by Glenda Hobbs, Reese Village, that was pushing another vehicle, according to Highway Patrolman Ted Court, Lubbock, who investigated.

Intricate Viet Cong Tunnel Complex Stretches Distance Of Nine Miles

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An underground world of tunnels and subterranean rooms where Viet Cong eat, sleep and plot to take over South Viet Nam was uncovered and partially destroyed by allied forces under the Ho Bo Forest 20 miles northwest of Saigon last week.

The intricate complex, reaching down three levels at some places, stretched a distance of 9 miles in a straight line. Numerous subsidiary tunnels were discovered.

Some observers believe the Ho Bo tunnels are the main part of a system that stretches from Saigon to the Cambodian border.

Lot Of Work

"Wherever they go, they represent a tremendous amount of work," said Lt. Colonel A. V. Preece, commander of the Australian regiment that found the tunnels.

"There must have been millions of man hours of work put into those subterranean caverns," he said.

The U.S. and Australian forces who pushed into the tunnel region met relatively little opposition. Preece said, "We were damned lucky we got in there when the tunnels were unoccupied. If they had been occupied, we would have lost a lot more people."

As it was, the Australians lost 8 killed and 29 wounded. American casualties were listed as light.

One Australian died in bad air 30 feet down in a tunnel. Col. Preece said the soldier fainted because of the lack of oxygen. By the time they lifted him out through the narrow tunnel exit he was dead.

Defense System

The tunnels were described as a "progressive defense system," with narrow openings for machine-guns at the outer edge of the Ho Bo Forest and leading in to deeper and more heavily fortified bunkers.

In the middle of forest the Americans and Australians discovered command bunkers 7 feet underground made of concrete and reinforced with steel. These concrete rooms were up to 8 or 9 feet square.

The tunnel system which linked the rooms, the bunkers and the machine-gun holes opening into the forest measured about 2 to 2 1/4 feet in width. There was one main tunnel system, with numerous subsidiary tunnels leading from it.

Some of the underground rooms were apparently used as kitchens, others as classrooms and bedrooms. A well with a concrete cover was found underground.

The Australians found a cache of 50 weapons in one tunnel. Ammunition, food and clothing were found in other tunnels.

Familiar To Inhabitants

"These tunnels are as familiar to the inhabitants as the streets of our home towns," said Lt. Colonel John E. Tyler, commander of the 1st Battalion of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

The water level in the tunnel area was 40 feet below the ground level, and the tunnels were down to a depth of at least 30 feet. Most were eight feet to ten feet deep.

The whole area was in the process of being expanded by the enemy according to the Australian regimental commander. Work on some tunnels had not been completed.

The allied troops had difficulties in searching the tunnel area because they were too big to get through some places cut out for the smaller Vietnamese. The Australians used a dog to assist them.

The allied officers believe the tunnel system has been gradually developed for 5 to 10 years. They think that the Viet Cong were planning to man it with a major force. Probably two battalions were in there when the allies hit.

When the allies left the region they were still under occasional sniper fire.

The allied forces say they inflicted considerable damage on the tunnel system. "It will take them a long time to rebuild them," Colonel Tyler said.

THE LIGHTER SIDE Nation Has Large Number Of Problem Parents, Poll Of Children Indicates

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It has recently become a practice in some colleges for students to grade their professors.

Presumably, teachers who get low marks try to curry favor by bringing apples to the pupils. And those who receive high marks are ridiculed by the rest of the faculty as the student body's pets.

Meanwhile, McCall's magazine has been running a poll that gives children a chance to grade their parents. The early replies indicate that America has a large number of problem parents, or by being too lax with them, which also creates frustrations.

Reverse Trend Possible

Anyway, it is clear that if present conditions continue the nation soon will be beset by a rising rate of senile delinquency.

It is equally clear that this business of student grading teachers and children grading parents could be the start of a new and perhaps far-reaching trend in appraisals. Take, for example, the television rating system.

As it presently operates, a program is rated by the audience. Some critics claim this is the main reason why there are so many lousy programs on the air.

Under the new system, the situation would be reversed and the audience would be rated by the producers, directors and actors would give their opinions of the people who are watching the show.

This could be the dawning of a new day.

Any audience that received a low rating would, of course, immediately take steps to improve itself. And as the audiences improved, so would the programs. Or at least that's my theory.

Audience Cancellations Likely

It might work out in practice unless the networks found a way to cancel an audience instead of a program.

The turnout grading system also could be applied to politics.

Each year there are a number of polls to determine what people think of their congressmen. These would be dropped in favor of polls to determine what congressmen think of their constituents.

I'm not certain what that would accomplish, but if nothing else it would make a fine article for McCall's.

Until 1918, passports for foreign travel were required only in time of war.

Vehicle Demand May Exceed 11 Million By 1970

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The president of General Motors, James M. Roche, said today that the average annual demand for cars and trucks in the United States could exceed 11 million by 1970.

"Everything points to another good year ahead of us — the fifth in a row," he said. Record sales of 9.3 million cars and 1.5 million trucks were achieved in 1965.

Speaking at the annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers' Association, Roche said the demand for motor vehicles "has been increasing at a pace that few people outside the industry thought possible."

Free Competition

He said the industry had progressed because of free competition.

"Government regulation would discourage competition as we have known it," he said. "The regulatory standards would tend to become the maximum as well as the minimum. Regulation would have a severe and adverse effect upon our business."

Roche said more accurate data on the causes of accidents must be developed. He said manufacturers were exploring all phases of the problem in their laboratories.

Revolutionizes Denture Wearing

The nearest thing to having your own teeth is possible by an artificial membrane invented by chemists. This membrane connects dentures to gums and mouth surfaces just as living tissue firmly binds natural teeth. Now you can eat, speak and laugh with little worry of dentures dropping.

Fixomv classic membrane absorbs the shock of biting and chewing — protects gums from bruising. You bite harder — eat faster, without pain. You can enjoy hard-to-chew foods like steak, apples, corn-on-cob.

Fixomv helps you speak more clearly, be more at ease.

The special pencil-point dispenser permits you to spot Fixomv with precision — no oozing over. Fixomv usually lasts round-the-clock, even if you drink alcoholic beverages. Get Fixomv at all drug counters. When mouth tissues change, see your dentist.

NARCOTICS FOUND
Raids Net
More Than 30 Students

By HAL COOPER
 NEW YORK (AP) — A series of police investigations have led to the arrest of more than 30 students of a dozen U.S. colleges recently on illicit sex and narcotics charges.

No definite connection between the various incidents was claimed and only a tiny minority of undergraduates was said to be involved. But police reported evidence that professional dope pushers were operating on the fringes of a number of campuses.

Big Shipments
 In Akron and Columbus, Ohio, 22 young persons were arrested last week in marijuana raids, including at least nine students or former students of Ohio State and Kent State Universities. Police said they believed there had been big shipments of the narcotic weed into the area from Mexico.

In Norman, Okla., eight students and five former students of the University of Oklahoma were arrested on charges ranging from possession of narcotics to lewdness. The police bag in this raid on an apartment near the campus included two 18-year-old coeds.

Meanwhile, school officials said they were investigating a report that a 16-year-old girl was smuggled into an Oklahoma University athletic dormitory for a sexual orgy during the year-end holidays.

Grows in Garden
 At the University of Michigan, six students and six persons described by police as "campus hangers-on" were accused of possession or sale of narcotics. One defendant, a 29-year-old painter, was said to have grown marijuana in a home garden plot three blocks from the campus.

A Syracuse University student returning from the holidays was nabbed by detectives who said his luggage contained marijuana, heroin, pills known as goof balls and a switchblade knife. Police said the use of narcotics at the university had been under investigation since last fall.

Two University of Massachusetts sophomores were charged with possession of harmful drug pills and one was accused of selling them.

In Washington, U.S. narcotics agents acting on a tip from officials of American University arrested an 18-year-old freshman and charged him with selling marijuana.

Gas Heater Causes 6 Deaths In Family

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Gerald D. Woods, 36, still unaware that six members of his family are dead, was struggling back from the brink of death today. The deaths were attributed to an unvented gas heater in the living room of their rented home 13 miles north of Abilene.

The dead were Woods' wife, Ruth, 33; four of their children, David, 13, Diane, 11, Debbie, 9, and Donna, 7, and Mrs. Woods' father, R. L. McNutt, 58, of Fort Collins, Colo.

A fifth child, Danny Woods, 5, had stayed overnight with grandparents in Abilene.

The tragedy was discovered Saturday by a relative who stopped for a visit. Sheriff Wayne Woolverton said the deaths apparently occurred about bedtime Friday evening.

Woods, a driver for an Abilene laundry, remains in critical condition.

17 Killed
In Wrecks

(By The Associated Press)
 Traffic accidents killed at least 17 persons in Texas during the weekend. Other forms of violence took the lives of another 15 persons for a total of 32 dead.

A late Sunday night wreck in Houston caused the death of four men. Five persons were killed in a Saturday two-car collision south of Brownwood. The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and continued until midnight Sunday.

Jumped Wall
 Victims of the Houston accident were James Thornton Howard, 25; Willie Wallace, about 20; Eugene Hunt, 24, and Adolph Foley Jr. 24. Their car jumped a three-foot wall and plunged off a freeway overpass to a street below.

Other fatalities included: Arthur Phillip Leslie, 33, Seguin oil driller, died Sunday from injuries received Saturday night in a car-truck collision on Texas 37 about five miles east of Floresville.

Travis Ray Hooks, 31, and David Newman Hair, 31, were killed in Hardin County in the Loeb community when an antenna they were erecting came in contact Sunday with a high-voltage power line.

Terrell Rasberry, 32, was killed Sunday at his home east of Houston when a radio antenna he was erecting came in contact with a power line.

Shot To Death
 Leonard Brushear, manager of a Houston motel, was shot to death early Sunday by an assailant who fired through a plate glass window. Police searched for the gunman.

Mrs. Lessie Jay Dixon, 22, of Houston was shot to death Saturday night in the climax of what police called a family argument. Officers charged her husband, Lannis Dixon, 21, with murder.

E. S. Moshier, 67, who lived on a rural route out of Nacogdoches, was killed Sunday when his car went out of control, plunged into a creek 10 miles west of Lufkin and burned. A companion was slightly injured, police said.

IN OKLAHOMA

School Riot Blamed On Integration

HELENA, Okla. (AP)—"Difficulty over integration" turned into a near riot Sunday night at the State Training School for Boys located in this small town, 130 miles northwest of Oklahoma City.

Police and state troopers were called in to help quell the trouble which broke out in a cottage containing 37 inmates and spread to surrounding cottages.

No one was injured and none of the school's 150 boys were taken from the training school. "They were tearing up the place...setting fire to mattresses, breaking out windows and generally raising Cain," said Carmel Bland, school superintendent.

Some Resentment
 "It's developing into a sort of difficulty over integration," Bland said, explaining there has been some resentment since several Negro youths entered the school in recent weeks.

Trouble centered on a cottage occupied by 37 boys, one of them a Negro. Bland said the incident followed what he called earlier racial trouble. Several youths in the cottage where the outbreak occurred were denied movie privileges Saturday night as a result of the earlier trouble.

Bland called the incidents which occurred in other cottages Sunday "sympathetic stuff—but nothing serious."

"We've tried not to make an issue out of the racial thing, even to not counting noses on the number of Negroes assigned," he said. "There's been some undercurrent all along and this incident Saturday apparently set it off."

BETWEEN CASH, OBJECTS

Tax Form Calls For Clear-Cut Distinction
In Your Contributions

By RAY DE CRANE
 NEA Special Writer

Form 1040 for 1965 calls for a clear-cut distinction in your contributions between cash gifts and those other than cash. For this purpose checks and money orders are treated as cash.

Purpose of the change is to exercise greater control over claimed contributions of used clothing, furniture, appliances to welfare organizations, even over the donation of works of art, property and securities to libraries, museums and churches.

Whenever anything other than cash is contributed, a statement must be attached to the return explaining how the value of the contributed articles was arrived at, the description and date made.

Most common charitable contributions are those to your church, Community Chest, Red Cross or your college. Also properly deductible are contributions made to a nonprofit hospital, Salvation Army, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, health funds, societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.

Your contributions are generally limited to a maximum of 20 per cent of your adjusted gross income. However, an additional 10 per cent of income is allowed if the contributions were in general to churches, tax-exempt educational institutions and hospitals, for certain medical research organizations, and governmental agencies using the gifts for public purposes.

Many housewives frequently have another form of allowable charitable contributions which is generally overlooked. That is the out-of-pocket expenses they incur while performing work as a volunteer to a qualified religious, charitable, etc., organization.

Such expenses could include transportation from your home to the place where your volunteer work is performed. IRS will permit a standard rate of five cents per mile of auto use.

Also properly deductible are the cost of meals while away from home rendering his services and the initial cost and upkeep of any required uniforms which do not have any general utility.

Under no circumstances may you claim as a deduction any value placed on your time while performing such volunteer work.

Whenever such out-of-pocket volunteer expenses are claimed, an explanatory statement should be attached to your tax return.

Job Opportunity List Is Growing
At Texas Tech Placement Office

By GAYLE NOLL
 Avalanche-Journal Staff
 Soaring parallel with the enrollment at Texas Tech are the employment opportunities opening up for college graduates.

In the past year, the number of job interviewers coming to Tech to seek graduates as employees has almost doubled, according to Mrs. Jean Jenkins, placement office director.

The large increase in personnel recruiters at Tech is credited by Mrs. Jenkins to two primary factors: (1) growth and increased prestige of the school (2) changing economic activity in the nation.

Contrary to popular belief, many senior students at Tech and other colleges do not wait until their last year in school to begin searching for jobs.

During Junior Year
 Mrs. Jenkins said most students during their junior year start looking for work and have interviews with prospective employers.

The placement director expects more than 400 recruiters for more than 300 businesses to visit Tech this school year. In addition, about 400 to 500 more firms are expected to write the placement office asking college officials to announce job openings and set up interviews.

SAILS WITH S.S. HOPE

Nurse And Ship Bound For Another Mercy Mission

WASHINGTON (WNS) — As wide symbol of friendship and the SS HOPE set sail for Corinto, opening doors to adventure and Nicaragua last week, the only excitement for those aboard, veteran of all five voyages made. But Ann Roden is too busy by the great white mercy ship thinking about the next voyage was a girl — 31-year-old chief to reminisce. She was interviewed by Ann E. Roden.

Back in her home town of cartons of supplies destined for South Bend, Ind., no one could Philadelphia where the HOPE had predicted that Ann's nursing career would land her aboard. She is tall, with direct blue eyes and short wavy brown hair, which has traveled to South America. She communicates a feeling of strength. Since she was old West Africa, becoming a world-enough to talk she has wanted to be a nurse. Her hands are beautifully expressive.

Eager To Serve
Miss Roden had tucked a snapshot of a half-naked Negro child in the wall, "a little friend from Africa. His name is Abu." Abu was one of many children reared on the HOPE when she that the program may continue after HOPE steams away.

"Sometimes language can be a problem," said Miss Roden, who knows Spanish and French. "We try to select our staff at least three months in advance. Then if they are sincerely motivated they will try to learn the language before departure."

Her interests lie in pediatrics and public health and some day she is selecting the right women for her 45-nurse staff. The much-publicized nurse shortage is unknown around Project HOPE, where hundreds of applications pour in.

A nurse on the HOPE works long hours and a six-day week for relatively low pay. Physicians receive no pay at all, volunteering their services in two month rotating periods. Every doctor, dentist, surgeon, nurse and technician teaches others so that the program may continue after HOPE steams away.

"I remember our third voyage to Ecuador, working in a room area with open sewers, pig running around kitchens, an generally filthy circumstances. The community became so interested in the health facilities that they made examining tables and benches and cabinets for us."

The women even made beds. It all remained there until continued to operate.

"I remember anchoring in the summer of 1961. The situation was tense even then and we were confined to city limits."

"They told us Peru was a hotbed of communism when we went there on our second voyage. Only twenty people welcomed us, but when we left Trujillo 40,000 came to say goodbye."

Ho's Suggestion
Project HOPE began in 1958 at the suggestion of President Dwight D. Eisenhower who asked prominent Washington, D. C. heart specialist Dr. William B. Walsh to initiate a people-to-people project.

Walsh's idea was to convert a 15,000-ton hospital ship, a veteran of World War II and Korea, into the SS HOPE, sending her to distant lands where new therapies, medical texts and equipment are not available and where often there is only one doctor for every 250,000 persons.

The HOPE only visits countries where she is invited, usually remaining a year. During that time there are many opportunities to make friends.

"This is not a superficial relationship," Miss Roden said. "We get to know another people and another culture at something more than the tourist level."

Too Busy To Be Lonely
She is usually too busy to be lonely, has never been frightened, and unlike other women doesn't worry about the lack of hairdressers in foreign lands. "Generally we have one talented member on our staff," she smiled.

Project HOPE is the principal activity of the People-to-People Health Foundation, a non-profit corporation.

More than 600 U.S. physicians, dentists, nurses and auxiliary personnel have served aboard the ship. Over a million people have been examined and immunized, and 5,000 have undergone major operations aboard.

Polly's Pointers

Solution For Dilemma Given

DEAR POLLY—I asked a group of friends who wanted to give me a shower before I was married to have a recipe shower. Each guest brought a favorite recipe and a spice to go in it or some other small thing that would be needed. I got a complete assortment of spices and lots of good and different ideas without much cost to anyone.—Jolane

Girls—The guests could be asked to write the recipes on file cards and the hostess give the box of the recipes.—Polly

DEAR POLLY—My letter is for Penny. Change clean to clever, presents to presence and you have the answer to your dilemma. Being a housewife you know how often it is the little thing that makes your day run smooth. Create shower gifts that fit a predetermined budget.

Can you imagine cleaning house without a supply of rags? Is there an appliance that sews on a button or mends a seam? How about making a thread collection and decorating with an assortment of needles, pins, hooks and eyes and buttons? Conditions are required for all cooking and individually wrapped gifts make most welcome gifts. Every marriage needs an extra touch now and then. For this reason, I often make a "glamour" box filled with maraschino cherries, colorful toothpicks, birthday candles and holders, paper doilies and food coloring. An index file of your tried and true recipes for two helps a bride survive the early weeks of dividing and subtracting every recipe. Gifts like these show one thing: you cared enough to bother. Good luck.—Jane

DEAR POLLY In answer to Penny's complaint about the excessive number of showers often given for one bride, I want to pass on our nice solution. I live in a small town where practically everyone knows everyone else so we have one large shower which is in the form of a tea. It is usually in the evening and people come and go as they please.

Refreshments are served and the bride opens and displays her gifts but there are none of those senseless shower games that grown women are so often subjected to playing. We have been doing this about four years and everyone seems pleased with the idea. Having it in the evening makes it easier for young mothers as their husbands can be baby sitters. Showers are for the purpose of "showing" the bride with gifts and this is easier for everyone.—Carolyn

DEAR ABBY

Fiance Asks A Question!

DEAR ABBY I met a girl this child. Am I an overprotective mother? I met her five minutes after I met her. I confided to a friend. "There is the future Mrs. K." I mention this to the just to emphasize what a great impression she made on me. I am a high school dropout through no fault of my own, but through no fault of my own, but a high school teacher with a B.A. degree, going for her M.A. I am 29 and she is 26. I sell for a living and do very well. Here's the problem:

She is trying to remake me. I don't mind criticism because I really want to improve myself, but I can't even turn around without her correcting me. "Don't talk so fast," "Don't rattle your keys in your pocket," "Stand up straight!" "Quit cracking your knuckles!" "Clean your glasses!" She even criticizes my driving. There is something wrong with everything I do. I can't even drink a cup of coffee without her telling me that I'm making too much noise. Yet I still want to marry her. Why?

Picked To Pieces
Dear W. Virginia: There must be something very special in this girl's favor that you have failed to mention.

Confidential To "Trying Hard" in San Mateo: Don't assume that all marriages are "worth saving" just because there are children involved. Unless the reason for the breach is recognized and set right, the reconciliation won't last long.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Last month our son joined the armed forces. The night before he left, many of his friends and relatives honored him with gifts of money. In a few weeks he got an honorable discharge because of an injury. Please, Abby, advise us if it is proper for him to return the money to those who gave it to him. He doesn't want to offend anyone, but he doesn't feel right keeping it.

DEAR ABBY: We have a child in our neighborhood (I'll call him Dickie), who has just turned five. Dickie has been the cause of many "accidents" involving the neighborhood children. For instance, my baby was sitting in her stroller outside when Dickie took her for a "walk" (run) into the back fence, and knocked her out. I have forbidden him to go near the baby again.

Then he took my three-year-old boy for a "ride" on his trike and my boy "fell off," cutting his forehead so badly he had to have eight stitches in it. Now my five-year-old just came home with a bump on his head the size of an egg. Dickie burlied an inner tube at him, knocking his head against a tree.

These are only a few incidents involving my own children. Dickie has been responsible for many other "accidents" involving other neighborhood children. I once complained to his mother, and she just laughed and said he was "all boy." This is fine, but I would like to see my children grow to adulthood despite

Glamorous Chiffons Highlight Collection

By KELLY SMITH
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If the girl loves to be girlish — sophisticated during the day and flirtatious after dark — James Galanos' new collection of chiffons and color are made to order.

There's more bosom, more leg, more movement and more swishing skirts than ever before. At his showing last week, Galanos termed it a "young collection for women over 30."

Sandals Are Featured
Daytime hemlines are above the knee. Shoes are low heeled sandals, and the hats look like big Japanese coolie hats, sometimes set straight on the head.

For evening, Galanos utilizes the fabric he says denotes femininity: chiffon, layers of it. Gowns are a basic dress of silk, covered by long-sleeved smocks of printed chiffons.

The huge Japanese kimono sleeve shows up in short as well as evening dresses, as do flying panels, pleats from the bust to the floor and flounces below the torso.

The waistline wanders, if it shows up at all.

Galanos crepe evening gowns have tiny straps and peek-a-boo cutouts around the waist, under the arms and down the front and back.

Equally seductive is the cover-up look of a high neck, long loose sleeves and a button down back — with several bottom buttons left unfastened.

The dress-coat combinations are slender silhouettes made mobile by deep pleats either down the back or front. Coats are sometimes collarless, sometimes not, occasionally double-breasted, and all are cut with narrow shoulders.

Scarves Enhance Dresses
One of the best received was a light wood beige worn with a turtle neck black sleeveless dress. The coat was collarless, open in front and held together

Bridge Quiz By Goren

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠AQJ64 ♥1092 ♦A42 ♣32
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
 3♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. You have the equivalent of an opening bid facing a partner who has opened and then jumped, so there are slim possibilities present. The diamonds are to show the ace of the diamonds. Any further action will devolve upon partner.

Q. 2—As South vulnerable you hold:
 ♠K87 ♥K95 ♦6432 ♣872
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1♥ Dbie. 3♥ Pass
 Pass 3♠ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. This is a pretty good hand for a partner who has under-taken a nine trick contract all by himself. The king of spades should solidify that suit but, since the king of hearts responds to a potential value only with your hand protected from the opening bid, it might prove easier to try the shorter road to game.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠J1076 ♥KQ10743 ♦6 ♣104
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1♥ 2♣ ?
 What do you bid?

A.—Pass. A bid of two hearts would be highly dangerous since it forces partner into the three level immediately with no sign of a suit that outranks partner's. A bid of two clubs would represent a hand of virtually open bid strength.

Q. 4—As South vulnerable you hold:
 ♠65 ♦AK10873 ♣AKJ106
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 Pass 1♥ Pass 4♥
 Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner has announced possession of a virtually solid heart suit with considerable strength. Your hand will prove quite suitable to him and, since a slam exists even remotely in contemplation, you should pass.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠J8 ♥J32 ♦A104 ♣AJ1085
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♠ Pass 2♣ Pass
 2♥ Pass 2NT Pass
 3♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. The you own an ace in the partnership preference suit. Partner has announced a hand of six or seven spades. A bid of three spades would have been shown as a forcing bid. A bid of two hearts is a forcing bid.

Q. 6—As South vulnerable you hold:
 ♠J8 ♥AK985 ♦AK104 ♣73
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
 2♦ Pass 2♠ Pass
 What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your opening bid has been based on a minimum in high card strength and a free rebid of two diamonds is not recommended.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠QJ4 ♥KQ1074 ♦6 ♣A942
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
 3♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your opening bid has been based on a minimum in high card strength and a free rebid of two diamonds is not recommended.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠QJ4 ♥KQ1074 ♦6 ♣A942
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
 3♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your opening bid has been based on a minimum in high card strength and a free rebid of two diamonds is not recommended.

OLD SOUTHERN STANDBY

Team Maraschino Fruited Yam Nests, Ham

OLD SOUTHERN FAVORITE—Maraschino fruited yam nests with juicy baked ham is a tantalizing new version of the long-standing southern favorite, yams and ham. Ramekins of mellow copper-colored yams are complemented with a sauce combining crunchy ruby-red maraschino cherries and chunks of golden pineapple.

Most American homemakers associate the word kiln with pottery. Webster defines kiln as "an oven, furnace, or heated enclosure used for processing a substance by burning, firing or drying." Exploring the field of food processing, however, you'll find that one of our southern vegetables... the Louisiana yam... is brought to the peak of perfection by drying in storage houses called kilns. After the harvest in the fall much of the crop is sent directly to these kilns where the temperature and humidity are kept at a constant 85° for 5 days. Then the temperature is lowered to 60° for 25 days to finish the curing. The result is an extra moist and mellow yam with additional flavor. During Louisiana Yam Super Season, from January through March, southern women team yams with ham on their menus. They bake and stuff yams with ham, coconut yam and ham specialty casseroles and skillet dishes or combine them with sauces and glazes. A delectable fruit sauce may be all that's needed to transform your favorite old standby yam-ham combination into a tantalizing new meal. Ruby-red maraschino cherries and chunks of golden pineapple blend with orange marmalade in a savory sauce for an already deserving dish. The bright, crunchy cherries with their subtle almond flavor provide appealing color and a pleasing texture contrast for both yams and ham. Why not try these luscious Maraschino Fruited Yam Nests and baked ham soon? Mashed yams mixed with butter are shaped into nests in individual ramekins. The nests are filled with cherry-pineapple sauce and the remaining sauce can be served as an accompaniment for the ham. Another superb way to serve yams is with a tempting cherry-orange glaze. Arrange sliced yams in a shallow baking dish, pour glaze over them and bake... ideal with juicy broiled ham steaks.

Edyth Thornton McLeod Beauty After Forty

"Dear Edyth Thornton McLeod" "I HAVE VERY fair skin and gray hair. I look washed out. What could I do to improve my makeup?"—Mrs. H. Try using foundation makeup and face powder of a shade darker than your skin tone. A touch of rouge to match your lipstick should change your complexion. Don't have patches in your wardrobe. Rich, deep colors will do more for you. "MY HUSBAND is going abroad, and I will accompany him. We will be entertained by his business contacts in Spain. What kind of clothes should I take?"—Reba. I assume that you will be entertained at hotels and restaurants. Wear exactly what you would wear at home. Smart after-five dresses and dinner dresses, and a little dinner hat will add smartness to your appearance. Always wear gloves. "I RECEIVED a black fox stole for Christmas. Will it be suitable to wear at church with a black wool dress?"—Reader. Certainly, and it will be so nice in the spring with any type dress. "I AM ANXIOUS to have my hair colored, but I simply am not smart enough to do a good job at home. What should I do—should I have a hairdresser do the whole job of cutting and styling?"—N. D. Of course, a professional job will give you an idea of how it is done. But insist that your hair be styled simply, so that you can arrange it yourself, and ask for the name, etc., of whatever they use for coloring. Once you have these details, you can do a good job at home. The modern color rinses are simply wonderful, and if you follow instructions I'm sure you will get good results. "I HAVE ONE bad thing: my neck looks so much older than I really am. What to do?"—K. Send for my leaflet, "How to Youthify Your Neck." The plan will help you to "recondition" your neck. To obtain a copy, send me a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and enclose ten cents in coin. Ask for the neck leaflet. Tomorrow—"The Mother Behind the Girl"

MARASCHINO FRUITED YAM NESTS (Makes 6 servings)
 1 cup orange marmalade
 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 4 teaspoons prepared mustard
 1-2 cup dry sherry or orange juice

1 can (1 - pound, 4-ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
 1/2 cup halved red maraschino cherries (about 20 cherries)
 6 medium Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and mashed, or 4 cans (1 - pound each) Louisiana yams, drained and mashed
 3 tablespoons butter or margarine melted
 Melt marmalade over very low heat; blend in brown sugar, mustard and sherry. Add pineapple chunks and maraschino cherries; heat. Mix mashed yams and butter. Using back of spoon, shape yams into nests in individual ramekins. Heat thoroughly in oven. Heap fruit into nests; spoon over a little of the sauce. Serve remaining sauce with baked ham.

Theater Lawyers Seek Ouster Of Dallas Ordinance

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Lawyers for a group of Dallas movie theaters planned to go before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals today in an effort to keep the City of Dallas from enforcing a new ordinance classifying movies. The ordinance would prohibit those under 16 from attending films the city classifies as for "adults only."

BURNING ISSUE

Temperature Of Brassiere Stumps Jury

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Scientists couldn't agree on the temperature of a woman's brassiere, so a jury rejected a suit by a suburban sunbather who claimed the metal stays in her bra got so hot they burned her. Mrs. Edward Betehia, 52, claimed she was burned and blistered while sunbathing on her porch in suburban Shorewood. She filed a $22,658 suit against Gimbel Brothers, Inc., and Suntimers, Inc., of New York City.

Fall To Agree

Two scientists and three doctors failed to agree on the bra's temperature. The trial, which began Tuesday, wound up Saturday after the jury deliberated 45 minutes.

Ridicules Claim

Attorney Max Geline, representing Suntimers, ridiculed Mrs. Betehia's complaint. "Here we have this poor little piece of steel (the stay) that has been invested with such terrible powers. It has been used by millions of women, and, as far as I know, they have been pleased with its performance. If this little stay were the villain we were asked to believe, it would be the scourge of womankind."

After the trial, Geline commented on the burning question of how it got inside a bra.

"I guess we will never find the answer to this question."

Norman Sylvester, a chemist, physicist and metallurgist, testified about thermodynamics but the best he could do was that it got to 15 degrees warmer inside a bra than the atmospheric temperature. He said the metal stays should be about the same temperature as the rest of the bra.

Miss Wanda Richardson attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing an A-line dress with puff sleeves trimmed in white.

Robin Richardson was flower girl, and Tim Richardson was ring bearer.

Alvin Simek was best man and Jim Williams and Roy Patello were ushers.

Candles were lighted by Mike Williams and Craig Hughes.

Soloist was Gayle Bowen and Mrs. Bowen was pianist.

For travel, the bride chose a blue suit with black accessories.

The couple will be at home at 4908 37th St., Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Monterey High School and is attending Jessie Lee's Hair Design Institute. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Monterey High School, and is employed by Furrs, Inc.

Williams-Richardson Vows Read In Church

The chapel of Highland Baptist Church was the scene of wedding vows read at 3 p.m. Saturday for Miss Hilda Elaine Richardson and William Dane Williams.

Officiating minister was the Rev. I. D. Walker. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Richardson Jr., 5017 58th St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Williams, 1225 52nd St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of pearl white satin with a bodice of re-embroidered lace.

The A-line empire dress featured a bodice and long tapered sleeves of lace and a short train.

She carried a bouquet of three orchids and carnations atop a white Bible. Miss Wanda Richardson attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing an A-line dress with puff sleeves trimmed in white. Robin Richardson was flower girl, and Tim Richardson was ring bearer.

Alvin Simek was best man and Jim Williams and Roy Patello were ushers.

Candles were lighted by Mike Williams and Craig Hughes.

Soloist was Gayle Bowen and Mrs. Bowen was pianist. For travel, the bride chose a blue suit with black accessories.

The couple will be at home at 4908 37th St., Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Monterey High School and is attending Jessie Lee's Hair Design Institute. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Monterey High School, and is employed by Furrs, Inc.

PRESSURE, HARASSMENT RISING

Schools Feel New "Heat"

By G. K. HODENFIELD
WASHINGTON (AP)—The public schools have been the target of increased pressure and harassment during the past three years, a commission of the National Education Association reported today.

The NEA's commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities said the John Birch Society was the No. 1 troublemaker. However, the Birch Society also appeared as No. 20 on the list of groups helpful to the schools.

per cent in 1962. The percentage of schools reporting "much damage" rose from 11 to 16 per cent in the same period.

Ninety per cent of criticism in the form of charges of communism or subversion in the schools, the report said, came from three states—California, Michigan and Ohio.

These three states also reported the greatest activity by right-wing groups in connection with book criticism and censorship, the report said.

Censorship Rises
The commission report said there has been an increase in censorship or criticism of books used in the schools since its last survey in 1962.

The report was prepared for the 18th annual conference on "Critics and the Schools." It summarized the response to a questionnaire of nearly 15,000 teachers and other educators.

The survey showed 56 per cent of the local reporting noted a damaging effect from destructive criticism, compared with 49

Without distinguishing between the types of pressure and harassment, the report listed the chief trouble-makers in this order: The John Birch Society, teachers unions (which compete bitterly with the NEA for teacher memberships), citizens' committees, Chambers of Commerce, American Legion, Dan Smoot Reports, and Parent-Teacher Associations.

However, on the list of those groups which had been most helpful, the PTAs were away out in front, followed in order by Chambers of Commerce, American Association of University Women, American Legion, business and professional women's clubs and citizens' committees.

The report said right-wing groups, parents and religious groups led the attack on school books.

First Time
Civil rights groups also emerged for the first time in the survey as book critics, particularly in regard to social studies and history books, "which do not reflect the multi-racial character of the American culture."

Books under the strongest attack were "Catcher in the Rye," "Dictionary of American Slang," "Little Black Sambo" and "Brave New World."

Other books on the list included those by Negro authors, sex education books, books about the United Nations, "To Kill a Mockingbird," "1984," "The Scarlet Letter," "Exodus," and "Another Country," as well as Time and Newsweek magazines.

Religious groups' report said, have stepped up their attacks on biology and science textbooks, particularly those dealing with evolution.

Retail Merchants Helping To Build Better Economy For Better Lubbock

A builder of economy in Lubbock. That is the Retail Merchants Association. And as the Lubbock area economy grows, so does the association.

It is through the Retail Merchants Association that better credit is built, and good credit not only helps the individual and the business, but it also improves the economy of the town.

For the individual, the association can open the doors for him economically if he has kept his credit clean and for the business, the firm keeps complete records on active credit seekers of the area within a 100-mile radius, including a credit bureau in Abertown.

not a new thing. In fact Retail Merchants Association was chartered Jan. 19, 1923. It is a non-profit corporation, governed by its members who set the policies and coordinate the activities.

The credit checks are not the only feature. Retail Merchants also operates a collection department to help merchants and businessmen with the collection of long overdue accounts. The bureau also publishes a credit guide which is a rating book similar to national ratings.

employees can look back over the tremendous number of reports given during 1965. A marked increase was shown over the 1964 figure of 165,998 reports given. During last year Lubbock and area businessmen were given 177,249 reports.

Should a person have problems with his credit, he can come to the Retail Merchants office at 902 Ave. J, where counseling services are offered. Here he will be shown how to straighten out his credit and then build it.

But association officials, for your own protection, cannot discuss credit with individuals over the telephone.

THE BEST FOR MEN, LADIES
Spring Arrives At Quality Shoes

Spring is just around the corner, and with the change of the season comes the new spring fashions in both men and women's shoes.

It is only natural for people to want top brand shoes and want them at a savings. High quality shoes with just the right fit is the customer's desire.

To find the latest in spring fashion as well as the wanted savings and quality, the place to go in Lubbock is Quality Shoes at 1209 Broadway.

The name means what it says—the best.

There is no doubt that Jerry

Jarett, manager, doesn't know portance. He says, "This marks the 45th year Quality Shoes have served Lubbock."

Quality Shoes will well serve Lubbock again this spring, Jarett says. "We are receiving new spring merchandise every day and at a savings to you—the customer."

"All the shoes are name-brand and Jarett adds, "We do not buy factory damaged shoes or any kind of seconds."

Quality shoes features men's shoes in top names including Stacy Adams, Nunn-Bush, Port-Ped and many other well-known brands. These shoes range in sizes from 5 to 16 and in widths from AAAA to EEE.

In the women's shoes, savings is a feature just as in the men's footwear and again quality in design and style is the keynote.

Women's shoes come in sizes 4 to 12 AAAA to C width.

Jarett, who use to operate the Factory Outlet, a ladies shoe store here, says he will be glad to see all his old friends and urges new customers to stop by imperfections are so small that the naked eye cannot see them.

The beauty of a diamond may not be affected, but the price of the gem is lowered by the imperfection.

Clarity In Diamonds
Is Lack Of Flaws

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clarity in a diamond refers to the absence of carbon spots, bubbles or other natural imperfections, according to gem experts.

Only diamonds that show no "bubbles" to an expert using a glass that magnifies 10 times can be rated flawless. Most imperfections are so small that the naked eye cannot see them.

The beauty of a diamond may not be affected, but the price of the gem is lowered by the imperfection.

Effects of Medicine
On Handwriting Cited

NEW YORK (UPI)—Not the doctor's handwriting, but the patient's—after he takes medicine, is what concerns Capt. David J. Purtell, of the Chicago Police Crime Laboratory.

Medicine at Work
A publication for doctors, reports that Purtell and other doc-policar examiners have noticed peculiar changes in handwriting among patients taking medication. They've found patients suffering from depression have a tendency to write smaller than they normally do. With the use of stimulants, as depression lifts, the writing becomes larger.

Business & Industrial Review

OF LUBBOCK

IN SIX LOCATIONS

Blue Bonnet Laundry Is Growing With Lubbock

Everything needs to grow, people, plants, even inanimate things like cities.

And in a growing city, businesses need to grow to keep up with a growing public demand and to extend courtesy and convenience to the city's residents.

Blue Bonnet Laundry and Dry Cleaners is proud of its ability to grow and keep up with the expansion of Lubbock.

Now, with six locations scattered throughout the city, Bluebonnet Laundry and Dry Cleaners feels it can satisfy the needs of Lubbock residents by offering speedy service and a location near each customer's home.

Blue Bonnet's main office is at 2107 19th St., across from Lubbock High School. Then there's the handy drive-in location at 24th St. and Ave. Q. The Blue Bonnet coin-operated laundry and dry-cleaning establishment is located at 34th St. and Boston Ave. If you don't care to do your laundry and dry-cleaning on the premises, you can leave your clothes to be picked up for fine Blue Bonnet service.

The other Blue Bonnet locations are at 13th St. and Ave. G; 50th St. and Quaker Ave., and 809 College Ave.

No matter which Blue Bonnet location you choose, you'll get that money-saving 15 per cent discount for cash and carry work at its six locations.

Blue Bonnet features a night deposit window for added convenience.

You can be sure that your laundry and dry cleaning will be clean and fresh when left at the Blue Bonnet, because excellence in work is a trademark of Blue Bonnet Laundry and Dry Cleaners.

Ralph Bumpass has spent many years developing and continuing a type of business his customers can depend on and appreciate.

Blue Bonnet is growing with Lubbock—building convenience for Lubbock residents and adding a little extra care that everyone looks for and seldom finds.

So, drop by at one of the five convenient locations and see for yourself. It's not just a laundry and dry cleaning establishment—it's part of a growing Lubbock.

Skills Abound At McBrayer

Knowledge can make music. Now that is a rather odd statement, but true it is at McBrayer Piano Co., 4219 34th St., where pianos and organs become a work of art through the many services offered by the Lubbock firm.

Completeness in services, sales and repair is a keynote for the workers and the owners, Darrell, J. D. and J. E. McBrayer.

What knowledge does it take for the business to be the outstanding firm it is?

Since the company has products to sell, the first knowledge would be of selling. Knowledge is used in the selling of pianos and organs and even more recently for Baldwin Guitars and amplifiers.

But looking deeper into the knowledge found at McBrayer there is certainly know how in the repair department. McBrayer is one of the few businesses of its kind in this area equipped to do a complete repair of rebuilding job on any piano or organ. The firm also does custom refinishing, including antique finishes and complete re-styling of older models using the finest finishing materials available.

A piano or organ can make beautiful music, but without the person to play the instrument it may well sit idle. So what does McBrayer do?

McBrayer knowledge is transferred to students of the instruments in teaching studios where three qualified piano and organ teachers are on duty constantly, teaching in private studios.

And McBrayer often clears the floor of its spacious showroom, sets in chairs and loans the area free of charge to music teachers for recitals. The space is capable of accommodating up to 300 persons and McBrayer serves refreshments too.

McBrayer doesn't want the music of the piano and organ to be just a local thing.

So, McBrayer Piano Co. has a huge display van for taking pianos and organs to outlying communities for display and sales purposes, giving residents of the area a chance to shop without traveling miles to see the display.

Now, just what more could one ask for in the way of knowledge? You ask about the electronic end of the business.

Well, McBrayer has an electronic engineer, equipped to work on any electronic pieces of equipment, including church or school speaker systems.

There is one bit of knowledge that is always high in the minds of the customers—savings. McBrayer also adds this extra.

ON COSMETICS

Merle Hopkins Wins National Beauty Awards

Expert advice on cosmetics and beauty can be obtained from Merle Hopkins of Merle Hopkins Cosmetics, 4901 42nd St.

The reason it is expert advice, she has recently been recognized nationally as one of the top cosmeticians for the Vivian Woodard Cosmetics line, with which she has been associated the past three years of her 18 years in the business.

She has won several awards from the company, one of which entitled her to attend the annual achievement banquet in St. Louis Mo. She was among the top 20 directors and won a silver service coffee set. At the Vivian Woodard conference in Dallas in January Mrs. Hopkins was presented the directors pin by Lee Fein, vice president in charge of sales for Vivian Woodard.

Lynn Bump, vice president of the Southwestern division also was present at the meeting.

With her expert knowledge and the complete line of cosmetics offered by Vivian Woodard, Mrs. Hopkins can create the "natural look," — the trend today.

Merle Hopkins Cosmetics also is seeking women to spread over the area the line that is endorsed by many top Hollywood makeup artists and stars.

Mrs. Hopkins says, "We are seeking women in the area to join us as consultants to learn and teach professional makeup techniques. We also are seeking

The firm doesn't have commissioned salesmen. The owners along with R. C. Mathoney and David Howell make a complete selling force. They do their own selling rebuilding, delivery, tuning and other services, therefore no commissions are paid out, passing on the savings to the customer.

There's built-in stereo sound to enhance your shopping pleasure.

McBrayer displays about 160 units of pianos and organs on the floor. The firm has organs all the way from small spinets to the great Baldwin Theater organ. It has church organs from a small chapel organ to the Baldwin Model 12, 360-watt full church organ. McBrayer has spinet pianos and console pianos in Howard and Acrosonic lines, all made by Baldwin. There's the famous Hamilton Studio piano and Baldwin Grand pianos in all sizes.

McBrayer has been serving Texas 56 years under one name. The prime reason for opening in Lubbock was that McBrayer felt a complete rebuilding shop was needed in the area.

All work is done with pride at McBrayer. Refinishing is done in any style or color and to fit any decor.

So for a firm with the know how and for a complete job that place to go is McBrayer. Call McBrayer Piano Co., SW5-9313; James people who would like to have a Vivian Woodard franchise.

The work with the cosmetics is a rewarding field and is lucrative because of the flexible hours. Each girl seeking training receives a free personal beauty analysis.

Also at Merle Hopkins one can learn makeup application and corrective makeup.

Vivian Woodard makeup is advertised in all the leading magazines. You can get it by calling Merle Hopkins, SW5-4125, or going by 4901 42nd St.

NEW MORTAR COLORING AVAILABLE

Western Brick Features Steel Overhead Doors

If it is residential, commercial or industrial overhead doors the customer is seeking the place to buy is Western Brick and Supply at 410 34th St.

This is also true for many other construction materials, including fine lines of brick and a new line of coloring for concrete, mortar or stucco mixes.

Western Brick and Supply, operated by Mac McClelland, features Morrison Roly-Doors, a steel sectional overhead door that has many outstanding features.

Should the customer also want either wood or fiberglass overhead doors, these can be found in the Raynor line for commercial, industrial, service station, hangars or residential purposes.

In Roly-Doors, Morrison offers an all-steel door of welded construction that minimizes the number and weight of component parts, therefore making for a quieter and smoother operating door.

Sagging, warping and rotting so often becomes a problem in overhead doors, but not the Roly-Doors at Western Brick and Supply, as they cannot absorb moisture.

Protection against all the weather elements is insured by the "S" shaped seal at each section joint. Roly-Doors also stay firmly seated when closed because of inclined vertical tracks and beveled stops which creates a wedged action.

These doors are available at Western Brick and Supply with or without windows. The doors come in standard sizes from 8 to 20 feet wide and from 7 feet, 6 inches through 14 feet high. Custom sizes can also be obtained from 8 feet, 1 inch through 24 feet wide in one inch increments and 7 feet, 6 inches through 18 feet high in 6-inch increments.

The newest product at Western Brick and Supply is Sonobrite, which is integral pigments that add permanent, rich, non-fading colors to cement toppings, mortar and stucco.

Not only are the above products available at Western Brick and Supply, but the firm also installs, services and repairs overhead doors.

To find out more about these and many other products including inside doors, window frames and many other construction needs, call SH4-4501.

Standard colors include brown, green, tile red and buff and these come in five and fifty-pound bags at Western Brick and Supply. Custom colors are available in orders of 2,000 pounds or more.

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says you rarely ever find a person with an infectious smile, an agile tongue and wavy hair who has oorns on his hands.

"Dead Man Killed While Crossing Street," reads a headline in a New Mexico newspaper. He should have stayed in the graveyard where he was relatively safe.

BECAUSE HE IS an excellent showman and a master politician, Mr. Johnson has made a big thing out of "emancipating the American woman" and, especially, in trumpeting long and loud every time he appoints one to a Federal job. For this he cannot be criticized. It's part and parcel of the time-honored—or, better stated, time-worn—American political system.

Yet the fact remains that women in large numbers already were in Washington public life, before the President was even the Vice President. Although it has been getting away with his claim of being "a gal's best political friend," the "Great Society" has merely been a part of a continuation of a trend which began long before the trick phrase was dreamed of, let alone ballyhooed.

CAST AN EYE: Way back in the early part of 1955, there were 650 women in Federal jobs. Eighty-five of them had been named by President Eisenhower, alone, to top positions in bureaus, departments and commissions and 17 were serving in the Congress.

In other public posts, some under Democrats, some under Republicans, there were 6,000 women (not clerks, stenographers, etc., but in full appointive jobs) in State Government; 308 were members of State Legislatures; 150 were on judicial benches, 18,000 held county office; 10,000 held city office—and 50 of them were serving as mayors!

All this was going on, mind you, when an employer who wanted to hire a man, or a woman, instead of taking what came along, could do so without arousing the displeasure of our fatherly Washington caretakers!

East vs. West: In Russia, thrift is looked upon as being not only offensive, but also, criminal. In the U.S., it is regarded as something practiced only by odd-balls.

That Man on Avenue Q says the reason some people are accident-prone is because they mistakenly believe they are accident-proof.

EVERYONE IN this enlightened age well knows, of course, that science is big and science is grand and science is wonderful. However, it is quite probable that very few of us—maybe none save a handful of intellectuals—realize the scope of science in this jet age; understand the lengths which science and scientists go to keep abreast of all knowledge.

In recent days, an article torn from a magazine called "Cavalier" has been going the rounds locally, passed from hand to hand by delighted males. The article, titled "Those Who Write on Bathroom Walls" and written by one Robert Reiser, details the drawings and the messages every man has seen at one time or another on the walls of a public restroom and, from what Mr. Reiser says, most every woman, too.

Seems like writing and drawing on restroom walls is a favorite indoor sport of a lot of people, assuming, of course, that Mr. Reiser's exhaustive, scientific attack on the subject has come up with the right dope.

ACCORDING TO Mr. Reiser—or maybe it's Doctor Reiser—who has given much time and labor to checking on the efforts of the lavatory Rembrandts and Socrates, certain types of individuals are frustrated over not being asked to leave their handprints in the cement in front of a famous Hollywood theater. So they compensate for their loss by leaving records of their brief forays into public toilets. A knowledgeable guy in the restroom wall field, indeed, Mr. Reiser even went so far in his scientific search to brave the sacred confines of female powder rooms where, he deposes, he finds art work and literature not only to a lesser degree than in male restrooms, but, also, to be of a purer and finer sort.

This is interesting information to have at least for people who may be fascinated by the subject.

IN HIS CAREFUL treatise on the subject heretofore largely, if not entirely, overlooked by the popular press, Mr. Reiser documents much of his information by quoting from the findings of other researchers of the multiple-plumbed areas of the land and this gives his article an air of complete authenticity. It appears from the credits given others in the piece that there is a small army of searchers after truth in the field, meticulously gathering, first, exhibits, and, second, interpreting them for one and all. It's too bad that their findings are so generally reserved—as they seem to be—to dusty papers read at meetings of psychiatrists, psychologists, and, mayhap, conventions of the International Brotherhood of Washroom Attendants.

In all fairness, however, those of us who may, in some straitened way, eventually benefit from this latest quirk of science should know that a deep study of the matter is going relentlessly on. It is reassuring to learn that researchers are toiling night and day, and like the Persian messengers of old, permit neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor darkness to obstruct their speed on their allotted rounds.

Science not only probes the heavens, the depths of the sea, or the core of the earth. It labors everywhere, leaving no stone, no seat, unturned; no door—including those with the dime slots on them—unopened.

Like peace, it's wonderful!

BILLY GRAHAM: My Answer

QUESTION: The universe is so big, in fact, scientists are finding that it is limitless. How can we be sure that God is concerned for us little, insignificant creatures on a small dot in space, called the earth?H.J.

ANSWER: When Henry Norris Russell, Princeton astronomer, had concluded a lecture on the Milky Way, a woman asked him a question similar to yours. "If our world is so little, and the universe so great, how can we believe that God pays any attention to us?" The astronomer replied, "That depends, madam, entirely on how big a God you believe in."

We are always inclined to think of God in terms of our own limitations. But the Bible says: "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are his ways higher than our ways." The Creator is certainly greater than His creation, and therefore is capable of managing it, and being concerned for it.

ALLEN & SCOTT: Bill Moyers Wants Out

WASHINGTON—For the third time in little more than two years in office, President Johnson is again looking for a press secretary.

In this instance it is the incumbent who "wants out." Bill Moyers apparently has had enough of the high-pressure job and has asked to be shifted to less hectic work.

The press post was abruptly thrust on Moyers last July when hefty George Reedy had to be replaced because of his urgent need for surgery for long-painful "hammer toes." Although without active press experience, Moyers has been a marked improvement over his predecessor and is generally well regarded by newsmen.

IN CONSIDERING possibilities as Moyers' successor, the President has sounded out veteran correspondents he has known for a long time. Foremost among them are:

William Lawrence, former member of the Washington staff of the New York Times, and ABC White House correspondent since 1961.

Raymond Scherer, long-time member of NBC's Washington bureau, with extensive White House experience.

IN SEEKING to be relieved as press secretary, Moyers is credited by White House insiders with two aspirations:

(1) Taking over the Peace Corps from Sargent Shriver, who has headed it since its establishment in the first year of the Kennedy Administration. Moyers has a strong attachment for the corps, which he helped organize. Under his reputed plan, the corps would be put directly under the White House. It is now a State Department agency. Presumably, Shriver would devote all his time to directing the hotly-embattled anti-poverty program.

(2) Reverting to his one-time function as a top member of the President's speech-writing and research staff. Before becoming press secretary, Moyers acted as "co-ordinator" of this group.

THE COAL industry wants the Government to provide an export subsidy to induce Japan to stop buying large quantities of coal from North Viet Nam and to use U.S. coal instead.

Industry leaders proposed this as a war measure to Vice President Humphrey following his recent visit to Japan. They pointed out such an export subsidy would not be unprecedented as it already exists on grain and other commodities.

JAPAN IMPORTS one-third of its coal from North Viet Nam—an estimated 50 million tons a year. American producers say all or most of this can be supplied by the U.S. with an export subsidy to make up the cost difference between the North Vietnamese and U.S. coal.

The producers contend North Viet Nam's loss of the Japanese market would be a double-barreled gain for the U.S.: It would deprive North Viet Nam of much-needed foreign currency and thus hamper its warring; and it would directly stimulate mining in depressed U.S. areas, particularly in the West.

At Humphrey's urging, the producers are taking up the proposed export subsidy with Secretary McNamara and Rusk.

WILLIAM S. WHITE: GOP Guide: Going Easy

WASHINGTON — The reassembled Congress offers opportunity and danger to the minority Republicans in about equal proportions.

They begin with an undoubtedly strong chance for picking up a good many seats from the Democrats in next November's Congressional elections.

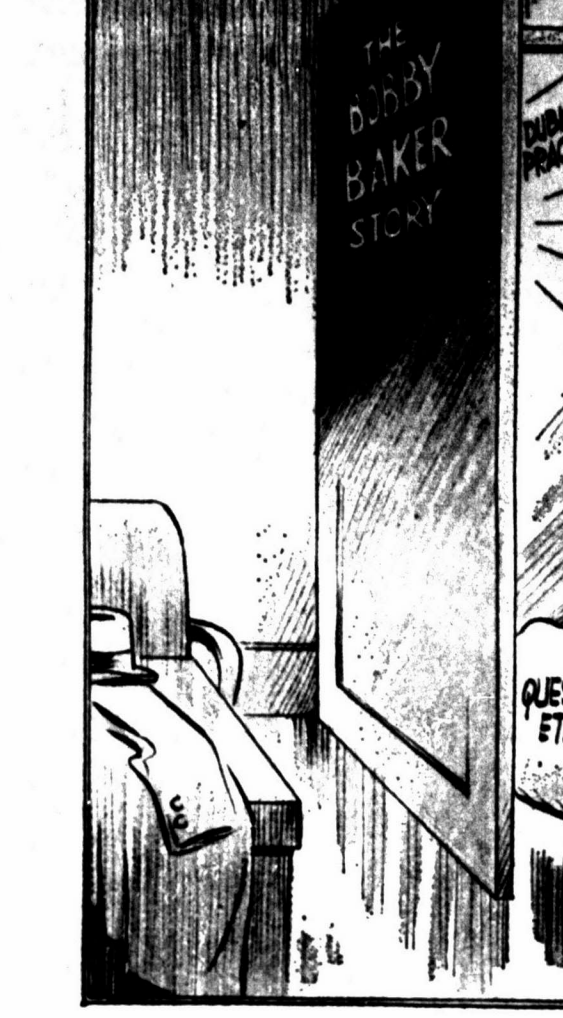

They set off, too, with the plain possibility of seeing a substantial cutback in the welfare programs of the Johnson Great Society which the last session authorized under the President's tireless persuasion.

GIVEN THE BEST of circumstances in the best of all possible worlds, the Democrats could not in any event hope to score so vastly in Senate and House races this year as they scored in 1964 in the unexampled landslide victory of President Johnson.

History itself establishes that power at the White House tends to lose some ground in off-year elections. There is, moreover, the important added circumstance that some 30 to 40 Democratic House seats and perhaps two or three in the Senate would have been highly vulnerable this year wholly apart from the factor of historical reality.

FOR, TO PUT the matter with unkind bluntness, some of the Democratic fellows who came to Washington in 1964 on the Johnsonian coat-tails not only did nothing significant to get here but have done nothing significant since.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL: War On Crime Can Be Won

AMERICANS ARE worried about the war in Viet Nam, and rightfully so; the slow progress being made in that conflict prompts a sense of frustration. Yet the vast majority of people apparently are in favor of seeing it pushed to a successful conclusion.

But there is another war going on in this country which baffles citizens, too, because of the slow progress in winning it. It is the war against crime.

All of us are aware that the criminal, whether he operates on a major or minor scale, is an enemy of society. And we have been told that the crime rate in the U.S. is increasing about six times as fast as the population.

In a recent editorial, the Dallas News drew an interesting analogy between the war on crime and the struggle in Viet Nam.

Discussing the difficulty of studying crime and arriving at a conclusion as to the best way to combat it, the News says:

"But we cannot answer this vital question completely and with any certainty: Why is the crime rate increasing?"

"This adds up to a single proposition: We are fighting an unknown enemy that can (and does) strike any of us at any minute. It is much like the problem facing our troops in Viet Nam: They are fighting an enemy that lives off the people; if they can win the support of the people, they can win the war."

"In the meantime," continues the Dallas newspaper, "the quicker the accused can be tried, the better. The police force should be increased to that level termed adequately protective by impartial investigation. The citizen should be willing, at any time, to serve on juries and should insist that public enforcing agencies do everything to meet the emergency."

"The criminal prospers on public indifference; he suffers when a community is aroused to the proper measures of discipline."

The News was discussing the crime situation in Dallas, but the suggestions it makes for dealing with it will apply anywhere. Close observers of the current scene have cited public apathy as one reason for the trend toward lawlessness. And others, including the nation's top lawman, FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, have emphasized the role an aroused citizenry can take in combatting crime. This war can be won, but it will require the co-operation of all Americans who believe in law and order to accomplish it.

SYLVIA PORTER: $110 Million Given Last Year To Variety Of Charity Rackets

LAST YEAR YOU, the generous American, gave over $11 billion to worthy causes ranging from health research to rehabilitation of the handicapped. Last year you, the gullible giver, also poured an estimated $110 million into the coffers of a sickening array of fake charities, phony fund-raisers, name-dropping swindlers.

Charity rackets now rank among the top four of the nation's swindles, according to a just-completed survey of 125 local Better Business Bureaus by the National Better Business Bureau. Although many of the old-time charity hucksters have disappeared from the American scene in recent years, "Enough are still out in sufficient force," says a spokesman for the NBBB, "to be a major embarrassment to legitimate charities."

AT NO TIME in U.S. history have we dug so deeply into our earnings for the benefit of others. For every $1 you earn today as an individual, you are giving a record 2½ cents to some charity. Just in the past quarter-century, corporate philanthropy has leaped twelvefold—three times the rate of rise in profits in this period.

The fact that the amount of this giving which is wasted is up to $110 million a year is, therefore, a national problem. What are today's leading areas of concern?

ONE IS THE promoter parading under the name of—or implying connections with—a well-known organization, charity or big-name foundation. An operator, recently convicted for fraudulent use of the mails, conducted an advertising drive for a magazine article on "child safety" which he claimed would appear in a special issue of a Seattle religious journal. Both the article

HOLMES ALEXANDER: The Invalid Needs Help

WASHINGTON—The sick man Capitol Hill—Congress itself—is back in town. It suffers a temporary disorder from having eaten more last session than it could digest. It also suffers an extended decline in health and spirits because of occupational frustration.

Forced from the White House and rendered pretty toothless by reduction of opposition, the 89th Congress last year ingested: a whole new executive department of Housing and Urban Development, a second helping of the Poverty program, a new Civil Rights Act on voting, a military budget with a deficiency of iron in it, an undercooked Immigration Bill, a swollen Appalachian project, as well as numerous public works, including spicy items of beautification and culture.

NOT UNNATURALLY, the butterflies of inflation are being felt in the Congressional stomach. Of the eminent diagnostician, Rep. Gerald Ford (R., Mich.), puts it in formal language:

"Congress has an obligation to assess the present and future costs of domestic legislation enacted last year . . . the nonessential domestic spending must be reduced."

While members of the 89th, including both parties, are examining ways of undoing the over-indulgence of 1965, outsiders are concerned with the loss of strength which Congress has been suffering over the past several years. Eleven consultants, brought together by the American Enterprise Institute, have issued a series of bulletins upon causes and cures.

PROFESSOR KENNETH Janda of Northwestern University finds that Congress just isn't getting enough information about the nation and the world to do its work. Its committees and staffs, let alone its individual members, cannot match the administrative branch of government in collecting facts and ideas. Janda proposes a $306 million informational computer system with no less than 574 outlets.

These would provide instant enlightenment for Congress as a whole, the House and Senate separately, the 36 standing committees and the 535 individual members.

PROFESSOR CHARLES Dechert of Purdue feels that Congress, with improved information, might regain its initiative. It might not have to rely on the humiliating practice of waiting till one of its ideas is snatched up by the White House. For example, Rep. Henry Reuss (D., Wis.), proposed the Peace Corps concept in 1959, but Ted Sorensen, JFK's idea man, grabbed it as a campaign jigger. President Kennedy made the Peace Corps a part of the State Department by executive order.

Six months later, Congress finally rubber-stamped its own inspiration.

PROFESSOR CORNELIUS Cotter of Wichita State University seems to say—at least he does to me—that Congress needs nothing so much as a few victories over the White House and Supreme Court. As a legislative mill, Congress is performing only half of its duty. The other half calls for keeping watch—overseeing—the other two branches of government.

As part of its investigative function, Congress holds the mightiest weapon of them all—the power of impeachment and dismissal of the President, Vice President and members of the Federal Judiciary. By way of example, if Congress wanted to throw its weight around, it could call for President Johnson's impeachment (in the House) and a trial (in the Senate) for the way Sargent Shriver has been running the Poverty Program.

THIS EXTREME measure isn't suggested, but Cotter more than hints that Congress should live up to its image by cracking down on the Supreme Court. "At the very least," he writes, "Congress should have the power to reverse Supreme Court determinations which—according to its statutes—are unconstitutional."

Many other proposals are in the air for revitalizing the invalid of Capitol Hill. The sinking strength of the legislative partner recalls old fears of "caesarism," which the Founding Fathers saw in the Presidency. "It squints at monarchy," Patrick Henry cried out at the Constitutional Convention, "your President may easily become a King."

J. C. Metcalfe: Portraits . . .

DREAMS OF OLD While the world tonight is sleeping . . . Underneath the heaven's blue . . . I am sitting sad and lonely . . . Dreaming, dear, of you . . . I am dreaming in the moonlight . . . Of the days that used to be . . . When your eyes so soft and gentle . . . Always smiled on me . . . I am dreaming of a garden . . . And its winding paths of sand . . . Where we spoke in satin whispers . . . While I held your hand . . . I am dreaming of the shadows . . . On a hill so far away . . . Where at twilight golden sunbeams . . . In your hair would play . . . While the world tonight is sleeping . . . And the stars appear so near . . . In these dreams my heart is weeping . . . Like the wind, my dear.

RUTH MILLETT: We—The Women

IF YOUR TEEN-AGER "never tells you anything" it could be your fault, not his. Maybe he learned years ago that what he talked over with you privately got repeated to your friends. Just one experience of that kind is enough to make any son or daughter clam up.

Maybe you are a scatter-brained listener, always breaking in to change the subject. So telling you anything of importance is an uphill job.

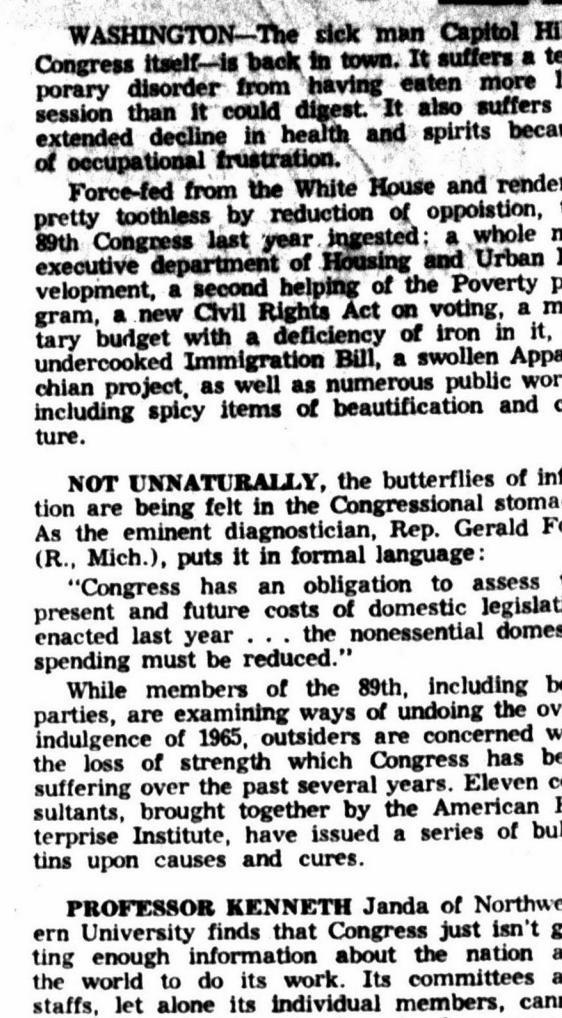

MAYBE YOU are a worrier who meets any confidence with so many anxious remarks and prying questions that your teen-ager tells you as little as possible about his business, figuring there is no use getting you all stirred up over nothing.

Maybe there's little chance for your teen-ager to confide in you, if you are always rushing from one place to another and if the television set is always blaring forth when you are at home. If you want to know what your children are thinking you have to make quiet conversations easy and comfortable.

MAYBE YOU are so critical of your own teen-ager and teen-agers in general that your child is actually afraid to confide in you. Or maybe you dismiss all youthful problems as being minor, instead of seeing that they are every bit as important to the young person facing them as your own problems are to you.

Many a teen-ager is blamed by his parents for never telling them anything when the fault is with the parents who, for one reason or another, aren't easy or safe to confide in.

NOT UNNATURALLY, the butterflies of inflation are being felt in the Congressional stomach. Of the eminent diagnostician, Rep. Gerald Ford (R., Mich.), puts it in formal language:

"Congress has an obligation to assess the present and future costs of domestic legislation enacted last year . . . the nonessential domestic spending must be reduced."

While members of the 89th, including both parties, are examining ways of undoing the over-indulgence of 1965, outsiders are concerned with the loss of strength which Congress has been suffering over the past several years. Eleven consultants, brought together by the American Enterprise Institute, have issued a series of bulletins upon causes and cures.

PROFESSOR KENNETH Janda of Northwestern University finds that Congress just isn't getting enough information about the nation and the world to do its work. Its committees and staffs, let alone its individual members, cannot match the administrative branch of government in collecting facts and ideas. Janda proposes a $306 million informational computer system with no less than 574 outlets.

These would provide instant enlightenment for Congress as a whole, the House and Senate separately, the 36 standing committees and the 535 individual members.

PROFESSOR CHARLES Dechert of Purdue feels that Congress, with improved information, might regain its initiative. It might not have to rely on the humiliating practice of waiting till one of its ideas is snatched up by the White House. For example, Rep. Henry Reuss (D., Wis.), proposed the Peace Corps concept in 1959, but Ted Sorensen, JFK's idea man, grabbed it as a campaign jigger. President Kennedy made the Peace Corps a part of the State Department by executive order.

Six months later, Congress finally rubber-stamped its own inspiration.

PROFESSOR CORNELIUS Cotter of Wichita State University seems to say—at least he does to me—that Congress needs nothing so much as a few victories over the White House and Supreme Court. As a legislative mill, Congress is performing only half of its duty. The other half calls for keeping watch—overseeing—the other two branches of government.

As part of its investigative function, Congress holds the mightiest weapon of them all—the power of impeachment and dismissal of the President, Vice President and members of the Federal Judiciary. By way of example, if Congress wanted to throw its weight around, it could call for President Johnson's impeachment (in the House) and a trial (in the Senate) for the way Sargent Shriver has been running the Poverty Program.

THIS EXTREME measure isn't suggested, but Cotter more than hints that Congress should live up to its image by cracking down on the Supreme Court. "At the very least," he writes, "Congress should have the power to reverse Supreme Court determinations which—according to its statutes—are unconstitutional."

Many other proposals are in the air for revitalizing the invalid of Capitol Hill. The sinking strength of the legislative partner recalls old fears of "caesarism," which the Founding Fathers saw in the Presidency. "It squints at monarchy," Patrick Henry cried out at the Constitutional Convention, "your President may easily become a King."

RUTH MILLETT: We—The Women

IF YOUR TEEN-AGER "never tells you anything" it could be your fault, not his. Maybe he learned years ago that what he talked over with you privately got repeated to your friends. Just one experience of that kind is enough to make any son or daughter clam up.

Maybe you are a scatter-brained listener, always breaking in to change the subject. So telling you anything of importance is an uphill job.

MAYBE YOU are a worrier who meets any confidence with so many anxious remarks and prying questions that your teen-ager tells you as little as possible about his business, figuring there is no use getting you all stirred up over nothing.

Maybe there's little chance for your teen-ager to confide in you, if you are always rushing from one place to another and if the television set is always blaring forth when you are at home. If you want to know what your children are thinking you have to make quiet conversations easy and comfortable.

MAYBE YOU are so critical of your own teen-ager and teen-agers in general that your child is actually afraid to confide in you. Or maybe you dismiss all youthful problems as being minor, instead of seeing that they are every bit as important to the young person facing them as your own problems are to you.

Many a teen-ager is blamed by his parents for never telling them anything when the fault is with the parents who, for one reason or another, aren't easy or safe to confide in.

Johnson Renews Call For Political Donation Reforms

By WALTER E. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has renewed a call for political fund-raising reforms urged upon Congress four years ago by President John F. Kennedy.

The subject is one Johnson had not pressed since moving to the White House. After two years of silence on the matter, he welded the reform proposals into his State of the Union message.

"As the process of election becomes more complex and costly," he said, "we must make it possible for those without personal wealth to enter public life without being obligated to a few large contributors."

To do that, Johnson proposed a tax break for people who make political contributions.

Boon To Republicans
Given today's fund raising pattern, a tax break for the small donor could be a boon to Republicans. The GOP reports increasing success with small givers.

Democrats, on the other hand, have become more dependent on big contributions.

In the last presidential election, the Democrats raised $1 million more from $1,000-and-up contributors than did the Republicans. Johnson said he wants to broaden the participation of the people, and stimulate small contributions.

He coupled that proposal with a call for stern new laws to guarantee full disclosure of political money and its sources.

Past Congresses have shown little zest for this undertaking, even though present federal law requires reports on only a slender fraction of the contributions and costs involved in television elections.

Candidates for House and Senate are required to report their campaign spending—but some successful contenders have filed accountings which show no outlays at all.

Current Law
Current law has been interpreted as requiring an accounting only of contributions and spending by the candidate himself. In fact, most campaign spending is handled by state or congressional district committees in behalf of the candidate.

That means campaign spending filed in Washington may show only a tiny slice of the actual expenses involved in a House or Senate race.

Johnson said he wants local and state campaign committees brought under the federal disclosure law.

At the same time, he promised legislation to change what he called unrealistic limits on contributions. There is a $3 million ceiling on fund raising and expenditures by a single, national political committee, and a $5,000 limit on the amount anyone can donate to a single candidate or political committee.

Multiple Committees
In practice, this has led to multiple committees and to contributions channeled through state and local organizations.

In the last presidential race, the Republicans raised and spent their money through nine separate campaign committees, the democrats through 16.

Each was entitled to raise as much as $3 million.

Johnson said he wants to "prohibit the endless proliferation of committees."

Republican leaders have urged the same course, in calling for repeal of the $3 million limit.

Doctors Say:

"Shrinking Hemorrhoids is Not Enough"

MEDICAL REPORT—Latest medical research proves that infection is the predominant cause of anorectal disease, including (piles) hemorrhoids. Clinical studies show that merely "shrinking" hemorrhoids does not cause the infection to disappear, and to aid correction of the condition the medication should fight the infection.

A product prescribed and used by doctors for over twenty-five years to fight the infection that causes hemorrhoids is now available at drug counters without a prescription. This product is packaged as PRO-ANAL Rectal Treatment and is available in convenient single dose units.

PRO-ANAL Rectal Treatment was tested in clinical cases in leading university hospitals for five years. The remarkable results obtained through use of this formula have been published in leading medical journals, confirming the facts in up-to-date medical text books that infection must be treated if hemorrhoidal conditions are to be corrected. No matter what you have used in the past, try PRO-ANAL Rectal Treatment and see what a truly professional medication can do for you. PRO-ANAL Rectal Treatment is the only formula for hemorrhoids, now available without a prescription, that has been used by doctors to treat hemorrhoids, and other anorectal diseases, for over 25 years. PRO-ANAL Rectal Treatment is packaged in individual, disposable applicators—each in a plastic bag. Use it, and if not completely satisfied your money will be refunded by The R-P Company, Inc., Tulsa, Oklahoma. Ad.

Tech Office

tween 6,000 and 7,000 job opportunities just in the business and industrial areas and "many, many more in teaching field" will be processed through the Tech office this school year.

"It is not unusual for us to have as many as 400 public schools at once that are wanting teachers," Mrs. Jenkins said.

Types of companies that come to Tech looking for employees include: retailing, oil, mining, manufacturing, processing, gas transmission, paper, food distributors, fertilizer, farm equipment and heavy industry.

Mrs. Jenkins says, "The federal government agencies, such as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Bureau of Roads and Corps of Engineers, make up about one-third of the job offers in our office."

Three Opportunity Areas
The three job opportunity areas, in order of their demand, at Tech are: (1) teachers (2) engineers (3) business administration graduates.

"Also, many agricultural industry companies are showing interest in our students. They used to think our agriculture students just wanted to go back home to farms and ranches, but now these companies are realizing this isn't always true," Mrs. Jenkins says.

"Also, many companies that have recruited our engineers for a number of years used to think our schools of arts and sciences and business administration were very small and insignificant. Now they've learned our school of business administration officially ranks fourth in the nation in size. So, many of these same companies that used to recruit only our engineers are coming back to recruit in new areas."

In addition to these job openings, there are hundreds of positions for students with graduate degrees on college staffs throughout the country that are reported through the Tech placement office each year.

Salaries offers in many fields average going up about 5 per cent each year, Mrs. Jenkins says.

But she points out that in the "creative fields, such as journalism and the arts, graduates must serve what Mrs. Jenkins calls an "internship" and "salaries start lower."

Throughout U.S.
Companies from throughout the United States come to Tech looking for workers.

"It would cost a single student thousands of dollars to go for interviews with all the companies that send representatives to the campus. So, naturally, we hope the students will take advantage of the opportunity to talk to these recruiters when they are at Tech," Mrs. Jenkins says. Each student receiving a degree at Tech must file a data sheet in the placement office. Mrs. Jenkins estimates about three-fourths of the students who graduate from Tech make use of the placement office.

These are numerous ways a student can "use" the office other than just for job interviews. Students can just walk in the office and file through volumes of records listing hundreds of job offers in various fields.

Also, office personnel aid students in getting fellowships and summer and part-time employment. From September 1964 to August 1965, there were 4,374 part-time job openings reported through the office, while 2,356 students registered as needing part-time work, and 1,051 students were reported to have obtained such jobs through the office.

Numerous Teaching Jobs
Also, during the 1964-65 academic year, the Tech office had reports of 6,426 teaching positions in secondary and elementary schools, 1,722 jobs on college staffs, and 7,766 jobs open in business, industry and government fields.

During this time there were approximately 3,885 companies, not including public schools or colleges, contacting the Tech office about employees.

And there were approximately 1,600 undergraduate and 288

Five persons were killed Saturday evening in a two-car collision five miles south of Brownwood. The victims were Buford Earl Bible, 35; his wife, Mildred, 36; and their daughter, Karen, 5, all of Brownwood; Mrs. Esperanza E. Bill, 44, and her son, Jesse C. Bill, 19, both of Comanche.

Car-Truck Crash
Cory Benson Butler, 67, of Tucumcari, N.M., was killed Friday in a car-truck crash nine miles east of Floydada.

Three persons were killed on U.S. 290 about 10 miles east of Austin. The victims were Douglas L. Morgan, 32, Lloyd Washington, 35, and Johnny Roy Harrison, all of Austin.

Susie Lopez, 19, of San Antonio, was killed Friday night when she was struck by a car in the edge of downtown San Antonio.

S. F. Colvin, 59, of Houston, died early Saturday of wounds he suffered from a gunman in a parking lot at a Houston shopping center.

Charles Trimble, 61, of Ladonia, was found hanged early Saturday in a pasture near Ladonia. A verdict of suicide was returned.

Two Lampasas County youths were found dead in their automobile Saturday afternoon, apparent victims of carbon monoxide poisoning. The victims were Donald Ray Ragsdale, 14, and Elton Segler, also about 14, both of the Kemper area. The youths were on an early-morning hunting trip and apparently climbed into the car to get warm. The motor was still running when the bodies were found.

Suicide Victim
Ralph D. Fuller, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fuller, was found shot to death Sunday near Comroe following an intensive search that started when the boy was reported missing late Saturday. A shotgun was found beside the body. Justice of the Peace Bobby Yancey issued a verdict of suicide.

Teresa Zapata, nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Zapata, was fatally injured Saturday in a fall from a bed at her home in San Antonio.

Mrs. Corrie Peppers, 93, burned to death when fire swept her home at Terrell early Sunday. Investigators blamed a heater for the fire.

Two children burned to death when fire destroyed a home at Cameron late Saturday night. The victims were identified as a nine-year-old son and an eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ruth Harris. Investigators said the first apparently was caused by an overloaded electrical circuit.

LaRue Haynes, 28, of Vidor died Sunday night in Beaumont of a gunshot wound in the head.

graduate student receiving degrees at Tech that school year, so there was quite an "abundance" of job offers in certain fields.

Mrs. Jenkins says more and more students with undergraduate degrees are going to graduate school, but she doesn't think the increase in the military draft has had much effect on the number of male students doing graduate work.

The placement director believes that the most important thing a student can have—even more important than his skills—is a good attitude.

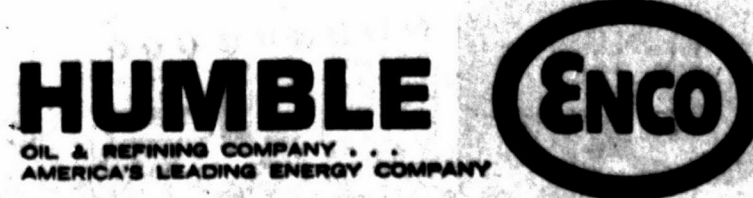

"The one thing all the companies that come here to interview are looking for is an employee who is willing to give of himself to that organization," Mrs. Jenkins asserts. "Not a student who says, 'What's in it for me?'"

Casper Takes Title At San Diego

Blocker In 10th Place

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Billy Casper, one of golf's all-time big money-winners, carries a lot of weight in this hometown of his today even though he's lost 35 pounds on his 5-foot-10-inch frame.

In his 14th try he finally won the San Diego Open, by firing seven-under-par 64 Sunday in the last round of the 72-hole, $20,000 event—second of the year on the PGA annual run for the riches.

Reared In Area
Casper, born and reared here and a resident of nearby Escondido, went into the final round trailing leaders Tom Aaron and Don January by four strokes. He more than made up the difference and won by exactly four strokes to pull down first prize of $5,800.

His rounds of 70-66-68-64 totaled 268-14 under par for the Stardust Country Club course which is considered a relatively easy flat layout of 6,772 yards.

Aaron, slipped to a final-round 72, one over par and had a 72-hole total of 272. He shared this niche with Tom Weiskopf, a young Ivy League type from Columbus, Ohio. They each won $3,100.

Blocker Wins $1,400
In a tie for fourth at 273—good for $2,150—were January, the 26-year-old Texan, and Paul Bondeson, a young fellow from Palm Springs, Calif., who led at the halfway mark.

Right behind at 274 was Bob Zimmerman, 24-year-old sophomore pro from Dayton, Ohio, who had a final 72 and won $1,800. He had a 64 in the next-to-last round on Saturday.

At 276 worth $1,600 were Dave Hill, Ronnie Reif, and Charles Coody.

Chris Blocker, a 26-year-old pro from Jal, N.M., who was second by one stroke in Bondeson midway in the tournament, finished with 277 which brought him a check for $1,400.

Casper, who is not exactly an introvert, was a mighty happy man after his Sunday victory.

"I've always wanted to win at home," he said.

TALLIES 20 AGAINST INDIANA

Minnesota's Lou Hudson Is Star Even With One Hand

By LEW FERGUSON
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's Big Ten opponents may be amazed, considering the fact that Hudson's right hand is missing, that he is shooting a 64 in the final round of the Minnesota State Open. Hudson is carrying a left-handed handicap.

Hudson's current handicap is all but very short passes with a two-pound cast on his right hand, stretching from the fingers to the elbow. The cast is the greatest one-handed player there to protect a hand.

Hudson broke Dec. 18 against Creighton. "I'll remain at least four more weeks," he said.

Returns To Action
He returned to action after missing seven games Saturday night and as Minnesota's Indiana night and as Minnesota's Indiana night and as Minnesota's Indiana night and as Minnesota's Indiana night.

Twisting and squaring is another player in the country whose defense for who could have done what I saw in close-in shots, helping lead Hudson do it.

He hit eight of 16 shots from the field, but had to shoot his field throws left-handed and the little 6-foot-5 North Carolina made only four of 10.

John Kundla may remedy that situation before Saturday's game at Michigan, however, by having Hudson shoot the old under-hand, scoop way.

HOUSTON (UPI)—American Football League team owners met behind closed doors today with expansion and a proposal for relocation of two clubs foremost on the agenda.

The owners also will listen to San Diego coach Sid Gillman's charge against Houston Oilers owner K. S. (Bud) Adams.

Moves Favored
New York Jets owner Sonny Werblin wants the Denver and Kansas City franchises moved to Anaheim, Calif., and Chicago, respectively. But owners of the teams involved are against it.

Zone Deployed
"We never have used the zone at Kentucky and never intend to," he said, his tongue firmly planted in his cheek. "That was no zone. It was simply a stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid."

Zone or Paraboloid
The 64-year-old Rupp, the winningest active coach in college basketball, devised his 1-3-1 defense two years ago. But since he always abhorred the term zone defense, Rupp denied that it was a zone.

Duke Extended
Duke extended its winning streak to 12, crushing Wake Forest 101-81 behind the 36-point performance of Jack Martin.

A SMALL JOINT THAT PLAYS A BIG PART

ONE OF THE STRONGEST POINTS OF ANY GOLF SWING IS THE SMALL JOINT OF THE LITTLE FINGER OF THE LEFT HAND. IT WOULD BE PRETTY HARD TO TRY TO GRIP THE CLUB IF THIS FINGER WERE NOT THERE.

THAT THIS IS A KEY FINGER CAN BE DEMONSTRATED BY THE FIRMNESS PROVIDED WHEN IT ALONE GRIPS THE CLUB.

THE TWO ADJOINING OR MIDDLE FINGERS ALSO PLAY A BIG ROLE IN FIRM GRIPPING, BUT UNLESS THE LITTLE FINGER FORMS A TIGHT GRASP, IT IS VERY DIFFICULT FOR THEM TO GAIN AND MAINTAIN A STRONG HOLD.

SECOND ROUND OF 3-4-4

Sandies, MHS In Impressive Wins

By CARLTON STOWERS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Coach John Ethridge's Amarillo Sandies, unbeaten in the first round of District 3-AAAA action, gave notice Friday night that they would again be the team to reckon on with as the second chapter of League Action '66 got underway.

The Sandies bowled over offensive-minded Palo Duro, 81-68, to make it nine in a row against loop loes and improved their season record to a healthy 17-1 for the year.

Munerey, having its most prolific offensive showing of the season, jumped all over hapless Borger for an 80-50 win, launching their second round bid on an impressive note. Tascosa and Plainview were the other two league winners, downing Lubbock High and Caprock respectively.

The Rebels avenged an earlier loss to the Westerners with a 46-43 win over Coach Max O'Banion's LHS crew. Lubbock High, having now lost three games in a row, is 14-5 for the year. Monterey ranks second in season standings with a 17-2 mark and Pampa, which downed Phillips in a non-district game Saturday, is currently 16-4, good enough for third place.

Lubbock and Pampa clash in Harvester Gym Tuesday night in what should prove to be the most interesting game on tap. Monterey visits Palo Duro, Tascosa goes to Borger and Caprock travels across town to take on the AHS Sandies.

Wells Leading
Amarillo's Charlie Wells remains atop the District scoring ladder, having hit for 149 points and a big 16.3 average through nine games. Caprock's Danny McDuff is second with 138 points.

Monterey's Kenny Coleman, with 102, and David Reed, with 101, are eighth and ninth respectively as no less than 11 loop performers have managed to reach the century mark in league play.

Amarillo posted a perfect 8-0 mark to win first round honors with Monterey second at 7-1. Lubbock was third at 6-2, Pampa fourth with 5-3, Tascosa and Palo Duro each finished at 5-5, Plainview, 2-6, and Borger and Caprock, 1-7.

See Wee Reese, former all-star shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, played on six losing teams in the World Series.

The Sports Scene:

East Is East, And Now West Knows It

By EARL SCUDDAY

IT'S GOING TO BE tough, fellers. Stiff upper lip and all that. Life goes on, in spite of tragedy. We must face adversity with courage and dignity, come what may.

But the enormity of it overwhelms us. Five whole months. Five long, weary months without football. Five months until June rolls around and brings with it the annual All-America grid classic.

Not that the intervening months will be entirely wasted. There will be spring training, of course, and the hiring and firing of a few coaches. Then there'll be a flurry of academic failures to keep the pot bubbling.

But spring training, to the true football fanatic, is just a taste. Tempting and tantalizing, but not satisfying. The real moment of truth comes only in September, when they kick off for gold and glory.

Anything else falls short, and phooey on whatever the women say about football season lasting too long.

West's Superiority Fades

THE FINAL SHOTS of the long, long '65 season were fired at Los Angeles Sunday in the NFL all-star classic known as the Pro Bowl. And although it was too one-sided to be rated as spectacular entertainment for the average fan, the game did prove a couple of things.

First, it is apparent the Eastern Division of the National Football League has just as many super-stars as the vaunted Western Division. Despite the fact that Green Bay beat Cleveland for the world championship recently, and Baltimore of the West caught the Dallas Cowboys on an off day in the playoff Bowl at Miami, the Eastern All-Stars looked just as good — man for man — as the West.

In fact, on the basis of Sunday's tussle at Los Angeles, the East looked about 30 points better. But that's just as misleading as the score in the Baltimore-Dallas game. If the East and West played every day for a week, they probably would break about even.

ANOTHER THING THAT the Pro Bowl game proved was that any fears about the quality of performance in the National League during the next five to 10 years are unfounded.

There has been some speculation that talent in the pro ranks is getting spread very thin, with 24 clubs now battling for players. That is true, to a certain extent, but mainly from a standpoint of depth. The days probably are over when a club, like Green Bay, will have not only outstanding players at every starting position, but outstanding replacements for them as well.

For sheer brilliance of individual performance, however, it would be difficult to recall a year when the National Football League had a better group of rookies than in the just-ended season.

Five of them were on the field Sunday, including Gale Sayers and Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears, Bobby Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys, Tucker Frederickson of the New York Giants and Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers.

Then there were a host of spectacular second-year pros, including Tech's Dave Parks, Mel Renfro of Oregon and the Dallas Cowboys, and Charley Taylor, NFL rookie of the year with the Washington Redskins in 1964.

With those young men coming along, the NFL doesn't need to worry.

Dave Parks Top Receiver

SPEAKING OF PARKS, even from a distance of 1,000 miles or so it seemed reasonably obvious that the ex-Raider great was the most dangerous receiver on the field Sunday. Hayes had more sheer speed, and Tommy McDonald had more moves.

But put everything together, and you come up with Parks. He has enough of everything physically, plus intelligence and that unbeatable competitive spirit that took him from Ahlens High School to the top echelon of the play-for-pay ranks.

Dave was loose a number of times against the East, but the West quarterbacks were rushed and unable to get the ball to him enough to change the pattern of the game. But Dave made some catches that were great and he posed an all-the-way threat every time he went deep.

EVEN THOSE DOWN-HEARTED Dallas Cowboy fans, who have been moping ever since the 'Pokes dropped dead against the Colts a week ago at Miami, can take courage from the Pro Bowl showing.

That rugged Eastern defense, which held the West scoreless most of the game, included five—that's right, FIVE—Dallas players much of the time.

Bob Lilly and George Andrie, the 260-pound terrors of the defensive line, never looked better than they did against the West Sunday. And Mel Renfro showed the crowd of 60,000 how he made the All-Pro team in just two seasons.

A couple of Cowboys not so widely known, linebacker Chuck Howley and defensive halfback Cornell Green, also turned in outstanding jobs, including a couple of key pass interceptions.

Lilly, Andrie, Renfro, Howley, Green, Hays—all blue chips in Tom Landry's big building program. We may even live to see it.

AT COLISEUM

Goose Tatum And Co. Play Tonight

Fresh from another successful appearance in Dallas Saturday night, Reece (Goose) Tatum, the Clown Prince of Basketball, brings his cage circus to Lubbock tonight.

Tatum's Harlem Roadkings will go against the New York Olympians at Lubbock Municipal Coliseum at 8:15 p.m. In what should be the funniest basketball game of the season in Lubbock.

A crowd of 7,000 saw Tatum score 42 points and keep the fans in stitches at SMU Coliseum in Dallas Saturday night. The Golden Goose, playing the entire game, proved he has lost none of his touch to make the spectators laugh, or to score points.

Time and time again, Tatum performed his famous back hand hook shot as he scored close to half of his team's 112 points. The Olympians were able to come up with 79 points, despite the fact Tatum took up quite a bit of time with his entertaining antics.

Giving his father a helping hand with 20 points was Goose Tatum, Jr., who, along with Showboat Buckner, Booker T. Washington, Bryce Vann, John Farley and Moose Montgomery will be back in the lineup tonight when the Goose Tatum Basketball Show invades Lubbock.

Members of the New York Olympians will include Norman Seales, Tex Jordan, Bill Powell, Walter Brown and Red Fox. All are former college stars. Tickets will remain on sale.

NO CHANGE IN RULES

Platoon Football Is Here To Stay

By BEN THOMAS
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Two platoon football colleges is here to stay—at least for another year, that is.

The NCAA Football Rules Committee decided Sunday against placing any proposals to change substitution rules on the agenda for action at today's closing session.

The committee felt the present rule was satisfactory and it acted in the interest of stabilization," said NCAA spokesman Wiles Hallock.

It will be the first time in 13 years that the substitution rule was not changed at an annual meeting of the Rules Committee, currently headed by Ivy Williamson, athletic director at Wisconsin.

The Rules Committee had a mandate from the entire NCAA to leave the sub rule alone. Last week at the NCAA convention in Washington, a resolution favoring a return to tighter substitution rules was tabled on a voice vote.

The same resolution, from the University of New Mexico, was given consideration by the

Grelle Is Set For Final Try

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Jim Grelle, who has run 18 sub-four-minute miles, says this probably will be his last competitive season.

Grelle, 29, a Portland business man, will run in the Jan. 22 Los Angeles Times meet and the Jan. 29 Oregon Invitational meet in Portland.

"I doubt if I'll compete beyond this year, and it's hard to tell how much running I'll do in 1966," he says.

Currently, for conditioning, Grelle averages 10 to 15 miles of running daily. But, he says, "It's hard to tell if I've had enough training or am in proper condition right now."

Grelle's record includes victories over such runners as New Zealand's Peter Snell and Oregon's Dyrrol Burleson.

He says he never defeated Herb Elliott or Ireland's Ron Delaney, but adds, "Nobody beat Elliott at the mile before he retired."

Grelle has run in five United States meets with Russia. He has won three times against the Russians, and none of them beat him.

HARLEM ROADKINGS vs. NEW YORK OLYMPIANS
1830 19th Street

CHICAGO (AP)—It took three ballots before Detroit gained a simple majority edge over Los Angeles to win the honor of being the U. S. city to bid at the international level for the 1972 Summer Olympic Games.

Salt Lake City was designated on the first ballot to bid for the 1972 Winter Olympiad.

The action came Saturday in a vote of 42 members of the U. S. Olympic Committee meeting in Chicago.

Throughout the day, impressive presentations were made by delegations from Detroit, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Chicago and Philadelphia, wanting the 1972 Summer Olympics and from Salt Lake City, Lake Placid, N.Y., and Anchorage, Alaska, seeking the bid for the Winter Games.

"It is the sentiment of the committee that this needs to be studied," said Hallock.

On the first round, Detroit received 18 votes to 15 for Los Angeles, eight for St. Louis, one for Chicago and a surprising none for Philadelphia. With Chicago and Philadelphia dropping out, the second round balloting brought 21 for Detroit, 16 for Los Angeles and 5 for St. Louis.

With St. Louis out, the final vote was Detroit 25 and Los Angeles 17.

For the eighth time the Motor City will be bidding for the Summer Games, never having won them. In 1964, Detroit finished second to Mexico City when the International Olympic Committee awarded the 1968 site. For the 1972 Winter Olympics, Salt Lake City received 36 votes while Lake Placid had six and Anchorage none.

The 1968 Winter Games will be at Grenoble France after Lake Placid was far outdistanced in the final showdown.

The last time the Summer Olympics were held in the United States was 1932 in Los Angeles.

Roby. "But right now I would have to say that Detroit cannot be considered a favorite for the 1972 Summer Games in view that the 1968 Olympiad is on this continent in Mexico City."

Bidding against Detroit will be Montreal, Munich, Germany and probably Madrid-Barcelona. The Banff area in Calgary, around Lake Louise in Canada, again is bidding for the Winter Games after making a strong showing in trying to land them for 1968. Another strong entry is Sapporo, Japan.

"I think the Canadian, Japanese and Utah bids probably will be hotly contested," said
