New Front Races Toward Texas

STORK WINS RACE—Gerald Garst, 27, a teacher, and his wife, Theresa, 22, started from their Dumas home over a snow-slick highway to Amarillo early Wednesday when she thought her expected baby was due. They didn't make it. "I don't know exactly where we were," Garst said, "but my wife said, 'well, you'd better pull over. It's here' and it sure was." Mrs. Garst gave birth to a 6-pound boy in the couple's small foreign car. They are shown after their arrival at an Amarillo hospital. (AP Wirephoto)

AUSTIN (AP) — Stanley C. H. S. Woods, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, announced today he would be a Democratic candidate for governor against Gov. John Connally.

Woods told a news conference he has asked state Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline to join him in a "team effort" as a candidate for lieutenant governor against Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

Wounded Man Held

A burglary suspect was taken into custody at Methodist Hospital early today after a shooting at Slaton, while an Abernathy policeman wrecked a car in a 70-mile pursuit of a man from an attempted break-in there.

The wounded Slaton man arrived at the hospital about 5 a.m., attendants notified Lubbock sheriff's deputies who then called Slaton officers.

Arrested after treatment of a leg wound was Leroy Field, 21-year-old Negro, according to Slaton officers. He was in jail at Slaton this morning, pending filing of charges through the district attorney's office in Lubbock.

Slaton patrolman Don Blackerly said he discovered a burglary about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday at Kirksey's Gulf station.

"As I approached the entrance," Blackerly was quoted, "a man stuck his hand out the front door and fired a shot at me."

"I fired three shots through the door," the patrolman added, "and I thought I hit him in the leg."

Then, the burglar ducked out of sight.

Blackerly said he ran to the rear of the station to halt an escape, and heard a glass breaking at the front.

Dashing to the front, Blackerly said he saw the suspect running down the street. The patrolman fired another shot, the man fell, but got up and escaped.

Colorado Is Buried By Snow

Area Highways Are Hazardous

Snow, freezing drizzle and fog extended across the Texas Panhandle, northern New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas this morning and a dangerous coating of ice extended into the South Plains past Hale Center.

Heavy snow accumulations were reported in Colorado, with Fraser and Leadville having 16 inches on the ground. Mountain passes were snow-clogged.

The northern third of Texas had either snow or freezing drizzle late this morning.

Roads Hazardous
The Texas Highway Department reported extremely hazardous driving conditions over the Texas Panhandle and northern South Plains. Ice on bridges posed a hazard to motorists in northern sections of North Central Texas and Northeast Texas.

Temperature at Amarillo was only 25 degrees at noon today and forecasters did not expect temperatures to go above the 20's either today or Friday. Occasional snow is forecast for tonight and Friday in the Panhandle.

Lubbock had noon temperature at the freezing point, with light freezing drizzle and fog which reduced visibility to 1/2 mile. The temperature had been 32 degrees several hours. Lubbock forecasters expect minimum readings in the upper 20's tonight and maximum readings in the upper 30's Friday in Lubbock County. Occasional freezing drizzle or light snow is forecast for tonight and Friday on the South Plains.

Front Reaches Colorado
Although snowfall was light across the Texas Panhandle this morning, it came on top of snow resulting from an Arctic air invasion which crossed Northwest Texas Sunday and still lingered in Texas ahead of the new air mass.

The leading edge of the new surge of severe cold extended late this morning from northern Wisconsin to northwestern Kansas and eastern Colorado and western Montana.

The cold air already in Texas was helping hold back the front. See DANGEROUS Page 10

Test Of Apollo Craft Success
WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N. M. (AP)—A Little Joe II rocket hurled an unmanned Apollo spacecraft into space today in an apparent success in the final and most severe test of a launch safety system for astronauts.

The rocket, its engines trailing white smoke against a blue sky, roared off the launch pad at 8:17 a.m. (MST) after two brief delays.

Within seconds the rocket's first stage burned out and the second stage boosted the cone-shaped, five-ton spacecraft toward an altitude of about 15 miles, the highest yet in six tests at White Sands of the Apollo astronauts' safety system.

After escape rockets apparently pulled the spacecraft clear of the Little Joe II in a mock emergency, a ground station at White Sands reported sighting three parachutes lowering the spacecraft to the ground.

INVOLUNTARY SERVITUDE
Businessman Says Internal Revenue Owes Him $3,000

DES MOINES (AP) — D. J. Spensley, an Iowa businessman, figures the government owes him $3,000 for involuntary servitude. He aims to collect.

The dry cleaning shop owner is embarking on a crusade for himself and every other businessman who has to spend hours tolling over employe income tax withholding and social security.

"I resent being forced to collect money and make reports without compensation," said Spensley, 61.

He asked the Internal Revenue Service here Wednesday for $3,000.

He says that's a conservative estimate of what he is coming for 800 hours of work in five years computing and filing various government forms for his 21 employes.

Suspect In Robbery Is Arrested At Bar

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A bearded, tattooed robber held up the Tulsa Federal Savings and Loan Association today and fled with $5,000 handed to him by the agency's president.

A man who said he is Charles Morris, 40, of Albuquerque, N. M., was arrested 38 minutes later in a nearby bar. Detective Wayburn Cotton said Morris had a large amount of money stuffed in his pockets.

Cleo Ingle, president of Tulsa Federal, said the robber handed him a note demanding money. Ingle emptied his bilfold but was told to get more.

Both went to a teller's cage and Ingle handed over $5,000.

Life-Saving Course Tough

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (UPI)—H. Lloyd King Jr., 12, won a certificate of merit from the Boy Scouts of America Wednesday for saving his 5-year-old brother from drowning last May. Last summer, some time after the incident, Lloyd took a life-saving course from the Red Cross.

He flunked it. They said he could not swim well enough.

Hike House Term—LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson urged Congress today to approve a constitutional amendment to lengthen the terms of members of the House of Representatives from two to four years.

The President also renewed his plea for another amendment to the Constitution to abolish the Electoral College and provide a direct vote by states for president and vice president.

Both amendments will go to the Judiciary Committees of the House and Senate. In the House, the proposal to extend the terms of House members will face the prospect of a fight led by Judiciary Committee Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Would Cut Costs
Johnson said basically the same arguments for extension of the terms of House members that have been used by proponents of the measure in the past, including the President in his state of the union message.

He said a four-year term would relieve congressmen from increasing costs of election campaigns and give them more time to deal with complex legislation.

"Our Democracy cannot remain static, a prisoner to the past. If it is to enrich the lives of coming generations," Johnson said in a message to the House and Senate.

Johnson said the nation's founding fathers argued over the length of House terms and adopted two years as a compromise.

That decision — unchanged since 1789 — should be re-examined in the light of 20th century needs, he said.

The President said a four-

The Lubbock City Council set a 15-mile per hour speed zone in alleys, authorized bids on a $1.1 million paving program and cleared the way for construction of a $1 million chain motel today.

This afternoon, the council was to consider whether to make 10th, 15th and 16th Streets one-way arteries between downtown Lubbock and Texas Tech.

Before approving the new speed limit for all alleys in the city, councilmen were told there have been complaints about excessive speed by a growing number of cars using alleys. The old limit had been 30 miles per hour.

Date Set
Feb. 8 was set as the date for opening bids on the 1966 paving program, which will include about 185 blocks of streets and 25 blocks of alleys. City Engineer Sam Wahl estimated the cost at approximately $1.1 million.

Most of the streets involved are in residential areas but some traffic arteries are included, among them the south side of 50th Street between Indiana and Quaker Avenues.

The city staff was authorized to negotiate for right of way along Quirt Avenue between 34th and 50th Streets to provide for its widening to 90 feet as a major north-south artery.

One street was closed and another is to be opened to provide an enlarged site for a proposed Howard Johnson motel costing

Opening Of Apartments Was A Lulu

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP)—Oh, it was a corker of an idea, all right.

Al Levenson thought he'd announce the opening of his new apartment house by having an elephant stroll in to the lobby, toting a pretty girl and a brace of suitcases.

And to underscore the point, Levenson dreamed up some promotional lines — subtle, understated lines like: "The only reason women will leave their homes in the jungle is to live at my apartment building."

Two Zoning Pleas Fail

A request to allow parking in the front 10 feet of a C-2A local retail zone at 50th St. and Ave. T was rejected today by the City Zoning Board of Adjustment.

The board also turned down, on a split vote, a request for permission to build a church at 1608-16 44th St. Three other cases were approved and the hearing on one was continued.

Although turning down the 50th Street request, the board did assume jurisdiction over the case. It's authority to do so is disputed by city officials, who argue the board sometimes enters the field of legislation, which is the province of the City Council.

Request Rejected
Charles Cobb made the application, for Don M. Davis, for permission to park in the 10-foot strip reserved in the C-2A district for landscaping effect. Earlier requests elsewhere along the street had been approved.

Board members, however, were told the pattern for development along the street segment involved would be disrupted if they approved the request. Cobb had argued his client's building would be on the rear of the lot and that the 10-foot strip at the front was necessary to provide adequate off-street parking.

In a private conference after the public hearing, board members said they thought they had the right to consider the case but decided unanimously to reject the request.

Harder Line Is Taken In Talk

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—President Johnson today said North Viet Nam was holding up peace in Southeast Asia because of the "mistaken view" that the United States might abandon her Allies, yield to pressure and get out of the war.

Johnson, speaking at ceremonies honoring former President Harry S. Truman, added a major section to his prepared text dealing with his current peace offensive in Southeast Asia.

The addition to the text was particularly significant since it was drafted as Johnson flew from Washington to Missouri after conferring early today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who returned Wednesday night from extensive peace missions across the world.

Recognize U. S. Goal
Johnson said his two peace envoys reported this morning: "In all the capitals they visited, the government leaders recognized the United States' genuine desire for peace in the world."

"Of this I am sure," Johnson added emphatically, "... the door of peace must be kept wide open to avoid the scourge of war but the door to aggression must be kept closed and bolted if man is to survive."

Johnson gave no clue as to when he expected a definitive appraisal of the current peace efforts or whether he intends to order an end or extension of the current peace in bombing of North Viet Nam.

CRUCIAL DECISION NEAR

Possibility Of Viet Nam Peace Bid Fading Rapidly

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of early negotiations to end the Vietnamese war appears to be fading rapidly as President Johnson's public peace offensive draws to a close without any favorable response from North Viet Nam.

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman — the first of Johnson's peace emissaries to fly abroad and the last to come home — returned Wednesday night with Secretary of State Dean Rusk from the Far East.

His arrival set the stage for top level conferences on U.S. military and diplomatic strategy in the next phase of this struggle. These may be held next week. The central questions before President Johnson are whether to start bombing North Viet Nam targets again and whether to escalate the war in other respects.

Rusk and Harriman told newsmen upon their arrival at Andrews Air Force Base that nations around the world now understand the U.S. aim is to bring the war to a peaceful conclusion.

"I have the impression that the situation is much clearer to nations right around the world and the issues are there for all to see," Rusk said.

"Everyone now generally understands that the obstacle to peace in Southeast Asia is not the United States."

Agree To Help Harriman said governments in each capital "volunteered to do what they could in their own way with Moscow, Hanoi and Peking to achieve a peaceful solution."

"The decision is now up to Hanoi," he said. "I think it is fair to say that people of the world understand that the American people have the hope of bringing this to a peaceful conclusion."

If Johnson has any new public peace moves in mind, he has given no sign of them so far. Officials say, however, that secret diplomatic efforts are continuing and will go on in the future.

That intention was indicated by Johnson in a message to Congress Wednesday asking for a supplemental appropriation of $12.75 billion to help finance the war in Viet Nam.

"We are currently engaged in a major effort to open a road to a peaceful settlement," he said. "But until there is a response and until the aggression ends, we must do all that is necessary to support our allies and our own fighting forces in Viet Nam."

Channels Still Open State Department officials said many channels to North Viet Nam are still open and will remain so regardless of developments in the war. But a spokesman told a news conference the North Vietnamese "have shown no interest" in Johnson's peace campaign.

Such hope as remains that the North Vietnamese may still agree to negotiate is based on speculation among officials here that they would need time to change their position if, in fact, they had any intention of doing so.

From Saigon came press reports that top officials in the U.S. Embassy and military command there favored an increased war effort against the Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese forces fighting in the South as well as against North Viet Nam. Their view was described as being that such a strategy offers the only logical hope of getting the Communists to a conference table.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described in these dispatches as favoring resumption of air strikes against North Viet Nam targets next week following the end of the current Vietnamese New Year holiday and whatever lull it produces in the fighting.

Crucial Week One reason next week is considered a crucial week for U.S. policy making: If the Communist leadership is interested in trying to reduce the level of the war, as President Johnson suggested a week ago, their intentions would show up most clearly in what they do after the holiday ends. The general expectation is that as in the past they will return to the fight with renewed violence. Should they demonstrate instead a desire to ease off the fighting it would be considered here as an encouraging response to Johnson's proposal for scaling down the conflict even without negotiations.

Harriman was sent abroad by the President on Dec. 28. He left Washington secretly and his mission was only discovered when he arrived at his first stop, Warsaw, Poland. With that disclosure Johnson's highly publicized peace offensive began to unfold. Harriman visited other capitals in Eastern Europe and the Middle East and Asia. Other envoys dispatched by the President called on leaders in other parts of the world. The President reported that they had visited 40 countries in all.

Harriman, 74, linked up with Rusk in Southeast Asia as Rusk was returning by way of Thailand and South Viet Nam from the funeral of Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, which he attended with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Rusk conferred with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

"I'M A GENIUS"

Phony Doctor Hoodwinks Officials For 40 Years

DENVER (UPI)— A victim of his latest ruse calls "Dr." Arthur Osborne Phillips "one of the most remarkable medical phonies of all time."

And from his jail cell, "Dr." Phillips replies: "I'm a genius. I had to be a genius to do all that I did with no formal medical education."

"All" he did was hoodwink the federal government and authorities in 10 states during a 40-year-career as a phony doctor.

The 70-year-old man's latest caper was working on delicate research into the surgical use of the laser light at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver. His associates there said he "did competent work."

Phillips showed up in Colorado recently, convinced officials at the medical center he was a doctor and went to work. He made the mistake, though, of going to a convention in California at which someone recognized him.

After some inquiry, authorities in Colorado were notified and the good "doctor" was arrested 10 days ago at his home in Wheat Ridge on a charge of violating parole from a Kansas prison.

But now Kansas doesn't want him. W. C. Henry, chairman of the Kansas State Parole Board, said Phillips had completed his parole. The "wanted" apparently was a mistake.

Colorado authorities don't plan to prosecute for the medical center escapade, and State Parole Director Edward W. Groat said Phillips could go free as soon as written notification came from Kansas that he was not wanted. That could be today or Friday.

According to prison records, Phillips' career began when he worked as an orderly during World War I for a Dr. James Herman Phillips of Dora, Ala. The real Phillips died in 1920 and the phony Phillips, according to the records, took over his name, medical shingle and license.

Then began a long career that was interrupted by jail terms in California, Kansas, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Idaho, Arizona, Illinois, Washington and Colorado.

While working as a "surgeon" with the Civil Conservation Corps in Wyoming, Montana and Idaho in the 1940s, Phillips performed 22 successful appendectomies.

His worst "stretch" came about because of dirty fingerprints. In 1951, Phillips was involved in a trial of an automobile damage suit. An insurance agent noticed that he had dirty fingerprints and proved that he was not a doctor.

Phillips was sentenced to 15-20 years, not for medical law violations, but for perjury.

In 1942 the American Medical Journal described his career as "one of the most amazing stories of medical imposture that has ever appeared in the pages of this publication."

His training for that career consisted of his work as an Army orderly, a position as a drugstore clerk and a few courses in chemistry from correspondence schools.

An official at the University Medical Center, who understandably wanted to remain anonymous, described him as "one of the most remarkable medical phonies of all time."

Despite that dubious plaudet and his desire to go back into laser research, "Dr." Phillips

Two Plead Guilty Of Burglary

Two new procedures were followed this morning in 140th District Court in the joint trial of two defendants in a burglary case.

Pleading guilty were Willard Dempsey Brunson, 45, 2122-A Emory St., and Joel Thomas Brumington, 28, of Petersburg.

Both were assessed a probationary term of seven years by Judge Robert H. Bean, after a jury returned a verdict of guilty.

In accordance with the new state code of criminal procedure, effective Jan. 1, the defense had a choice of who set the penalty, judge or jury.

Not Mandatory In the past, in a jury trial, the jury also set the punishment. The jury is not mandatory for pleas of guilty in non-capital cases, but may be used by agreement of attorneys and the judge. This morning, the state declined to waive the jury. According to Asst. Dist. Atty. Bill Laubach.

It was also the first time that a defendant could receive a secondary probationary term. Brumington previously had been placed on probation in a case of failure to stop and render aid, officials said. Brunson convicted of DWI twice and had been arrested in eight other misdemeanor cases.

Surprised In Capt. Lubbock Detective Capt. L. W. Forrester testified that he was surprised the defendants during an attempted safe job Dec. 20, 1964, inside a building of Lubbock Building Products, 214 Ave. M.

Forrester, in checking the building, noticed an extra light not usually left on by the management.

Through a door glass he also noticed that the safe was gone from an office. He entered and slipped down a hall to storage area. There, he reported, he caught the suspects "red-handed," trying to pry the safe door.

Forrester said that the suspects had a cutting torch nearby to complete the job when they were arrested.

Reese Graduates Set For Major Air Commands

Seven major air commands are being assigned Class 66-E graduates of Reese Air Force Base when the young officers complete undergraduate pilot training Feb. 5.

Graduation exercises will be in the Reese base theater following a wing review in which graduates will be honored.

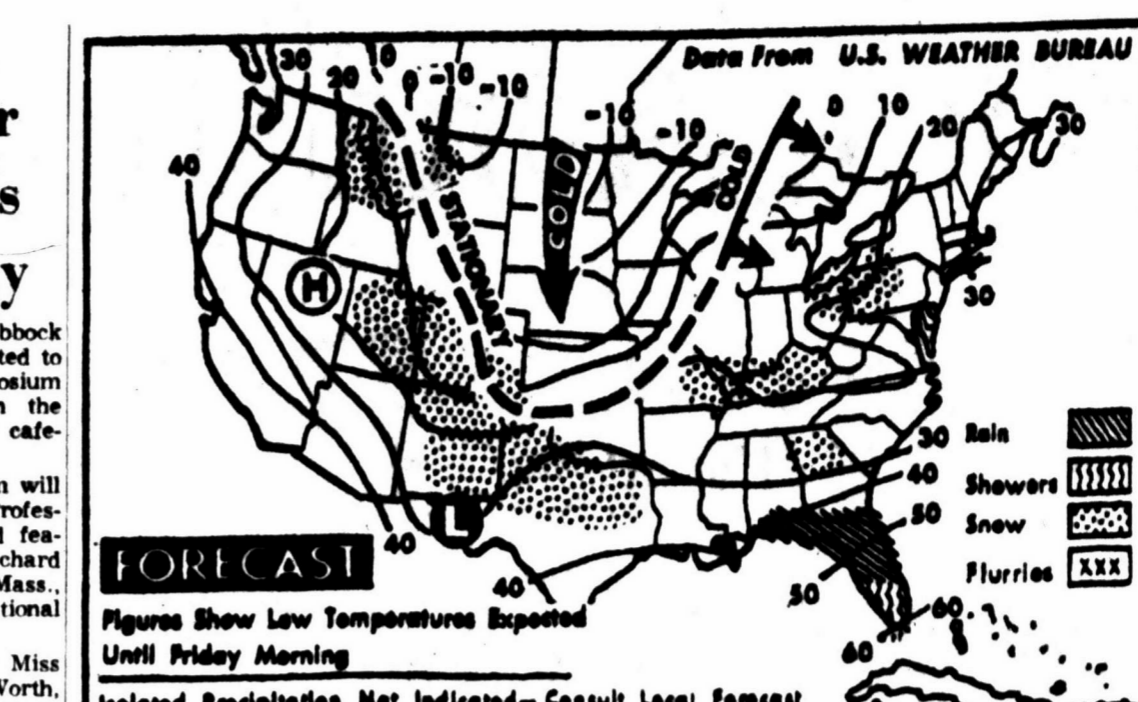

Nine of the 35 U. S. Air Force graduates will go to the U. S. Air Force in Europe, stationed in Germany. Eight are re-assigned to the Strategic Air Command and six to the Military Airlift Command, until Jan. 1 called the Military Air Transport Service.

Two Go To Pacific Two graduates go to the Pacific Air Command, four remain in the Air Training Command as instructor pilots, two are re-assigned to the Tactical Air Command and four to the Air Defense Command.

The class also includes one member of the Air National Guard, who is returning to his fighter unit in Ohio, and a member of the Air Force of Morocco, who returns home to fly for his country.

Graduation speaker will be Col. Nathan J. Adams, wing commander of Moody AFB, a veteran fighter aircraft pilot who has held numerous command and staff positions during his 24 years of active military duty.

CAR IN PIT

Two Spade Women Are Found Dead

LITTLEFIELD (Special)—Two Spade women who had been sought for 24 hours were found about noon Wednesday in the wreckage of a car about 2.8 miles east of Littlefield.

Dead are Mrs. Mary Alice Mouser, 68, and Mrs. Alice Greer, 79, both longtime residents of Spade.

Their bodies and the wreckage were discovered about 11:30 a.m. Wednesday by two Spade men who had searched for the pair after they failed to return Tuesday from a shopping trip to Littlefield.

Services for Mrs. Greer will be at 2 p.m. Friday in First Baptist Church at Spade with the Rev. C. K. Tate, pastor, officiating. Mrs. Mouser's services also will be at the First Baptist Church in Spade at 2 p.m. Saturday, with the Rev. Mr. Tate, officiating. Both women will be buried in Littlefield Memorial Park Cemetery under direction of Hammans Funeral Home, Littlefield.

Cause Unknown Highway patrolmen who investigated said Johnny Gallini and Lindell Holly found the car owned by Mrs. Mouser in an excavation pit on FM 34. Officers said the auto apparently ran off the road and crashed into a ditch, but could find no apparent cause for the mishap.

Mrs. Greer had lived in Spade since 1931. Her husband is J. A. Greer, a retired blacksmith. Other survivors include three sons, Perry, Abilene; Audis, Hereford; and Joe D. Talented Young Americans Finding Germany To Be Singer's Paradise

By OTTO DOELLING
BERLIN (AP)—Lee Venora, a petite soprano from Trumbull, Conn., walked gracefully onto the stage of the West Berlin State Opera to make her debut in the title role of Madame Butterfly.

Not by coincidence, she soon fell into the arms of another American, tenor Loren Driscoll of Scottsbluff, Neb. Driscoll sang the role of Lt. Pinkerton in the Puccini opera.

Miss Venora was joining 20 other Americans in an opera company of 84 soloists. Her chances of singing opposite another American would be good in almost any major opera house in West Germany or Vienna.

GERMANY'S GAIN—A shortage of opera houses in the United States and of native singers in West Germany has brought about a migration of singers across the Atlantic. Lee Venora, from Trumbull, Conn., here singing the title role in "Madame Butterfly," is one of 21 Americans among the 84 soloists of the West Berlin State Opera. Many of the Americans remain in Europe. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

Appreciative Audiences
Talented young Americans, without an opera house back home to call their own, are finding ornamented roofs over their heads and appreciative audiences at their feet in the German-speaking part of the Continent.

The United States is turning out a bountiful crop of singers, but is still shy on opera houses. The problem in Germany is that it has many opera houses and up to 11 months season, but is short on native-bred singers. Italians, Britons, Canadians and Scandinavians, as well as Americans, supplement West German opera troupes.

"The fact is that Germany, with its 130 lyric and operetta theaters, is a singer's paradise. Here one can really make a career and money," says Maria Gray of Berkeley, Calif.

Miss Gray, who began her career in Italy in 1952, came to Germany in 1958 and sang in operas here for four years. Two years ago, she made her debut in the Metropolitan Opera.

Suggests Italy
"If I were a young American artist willing to learn a lot, I would go to Italy, as there is no better place to learn," she said. "But, if I wanted to make a career and money, I would go straight to Germany, which nowadays is the real land of the bel canto."

William Dooley, 31, a baritone from Modesto, Calif., has found Germany an ideal place to learn as well as to make a career. Dooley is in his third season with the Met, as well as being a permanent member of the West Berlin Opera. He has been singing in Europe for nine years.

"You don't make a great killing, but you do get to sing," he said. "Where can you do this in the United States? You can't start at the Met singing Don Giovanni, but you can at Heidelberg."

Charles O'Neil, a tenor from Danen, Conn., is the father of six. He came to Europe with his family three years ago because there was "just nothing for us back home" and has since become one of the stars of the Frankfurt Opera.

Happy in Germany
"I am happy over here," he said. "If there would be adequate facilities to sing, I would be home. But there is just not enough work to keep a family man going. You'd starve to death there. Here, I have learned a great deal, sing a hundred performances a year, never have to travel a distance further than from Albany to New York and back. Back home it would take 10 years to acquire this type of experience."

Vera Little of Memphis, Tenn., a Negro mezzo soprano, complained: "I found no work around New York like a rat without a head." She has been a soloist with the West Berlin Opera for the last five years.

Annabelle Bernard of New Orleans, another one of the three American Negro Sopranos in Berlin, said: "I enjoy belonging to a company. Here I sing the small and big roles. The pressure is taken off."

After his two years in Berlin, Driscoll said, "The typical thing has happened: I have been engaged to sing at the Met during the '66-67 season."

Robert L. Moulson of Atlanta, Ga., a tenor with the Bonn Opera, said: "Most Americans come to Germany as a means to an end, presumably hoping ultimately to land in the Met. But once here, you gradually get into the stride of singing in German operas, and finally you stay here."

Aims Change
Weldon Thomas of San Antonio, Tex., a bass-baritone at Bonn, remarked: "I would like to become a known singer in the United States, perhaps at the Met. That was my desire at first. But once in Germany one's aims change. The situation is, in fact, simply this: Germany is in the opera business and we in the United States are not. I am convinced that one can have just as rewarding a career in Germany as in the United States."

Judith Blegen, a coloratura from Montana, said in Nuernberg: "I hope to return again to America. My family is there and I would like very much to sing with an American opera company." She arrived last September for a year's engagement.

Patricia Cullen of Seattle,

Wash., on the other hand, says she likes performing abroad. "I have no particular hopes. I just want to sing, that is all I like to do with my family and I never think about the future."

She is married to Edmond Hursbell, a baritone, and they have two children. She is one of the eight Americans with the Cologne Opera and has won recognition for her role in Strauss' "Salome."

Some Drawbacks
Life for American singers in Europe, however, is not a complete picture of after-curtain roses especially at the beginning. They must adjust to a new way of life. In Germany, they must learn to sing practically all their roles in German because audiences here want to understand what is sung.

In Italy, American singers sometimes are confronted by overly demonstrative opera buffs.

Baritone Cornell MacNeil, 38, a Minneapolis-born former resident of Cliffside Park, N.J., scored a great success at Milan's La Scala a few years ago in Verdi's "Erani." But he ran into troubles in Parma's Teatro Regio in 1964 in Verdi's "Masked Ball."

He shouted, "Stop Idiots" at rowdy spectators and quit the stage, causing a near-riot. The theater sued him for four million lire ($6,400-damages. The case is still pending.

CRUELTY CHARGED
Police Raid Baltimore Dog Dealer
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A junk yard where State Police and United States Humane Society officials found 103 dogs destined for sale to research centers was described today as "a Dachau concentration camp for dogs."

There were two dogs crammed into a small chicken coop and they couldn't walk when we freed them," said Frank J. McMahon, director of field services for the society, who led state police on the raid Wednesday.

Lester J. Brown was arrested and charged with 28 counts of cruelty to animals. Bail was set at $1,500.

Chained in Box
"We found a dog frozen to death in a box," said State Police Capt. Thomas S. Smith. "We tried to pull him out, but he was chained in the box. It was one of the most pitiful sights I have ever seen."

McMahon said his Washington, D.C., office has been investigating Brown's operation "for the last five years."

He said Brown was a dealer in dogs, selling them to various institutions for research.

About 28 dogs were removed by the society.

Police said McMahon said the dogs had been poorly fed on chopped and frozen cattle entrails, and there was inadequate water.

Five other state troopers participated in the raid, which McMahon said was part of a nationwide crackdown on dog dealers. He said dealing in dogs for research was a $50 million annual business.

Methodists Give More For Mission Program
BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP)—Methodists gave more for missions in fiscal 1965 than ever before, a report says, but individually they contributed $3.56 a year or about seven cents a week.

Dr. H. Conwell Spoke of New York, chief financial officer of the Methodist Board of Missions, said the board had for the fiscal year a total of $36,732,064, an increase of $622,711 over fiscal 1964, the previous record year.

CLERGYMAN DIES
HOBE SOUND, Fla. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. George C. St. John, 88, headmaster of Choate boys' preparatory school in Wallingford, Conn., from 1908 until his retirement in 1947, died Wednesday.

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP)—Like a frog in a high school biology lab, a decision announced Wednesday by the Supreme Court will be thoroughly dissected.

The probing will be done by judges, law officers and thousands of men behind bars yearning for freedom. What they will be searching for is a clue as to how the court eventually will spell out its 1964 Escobedo ruling.

Those who would not have that momentous decision declared retroactive will find signs pointing their way. But so, too, could those who would have the high court make the ruling apply to convictions obtained before 1964.

Difficult Problem
All will find in Justice Potter Stewart's opinion further evidence that the court is faced with a difficult problem.

Crystal clear is this: An historic verdict handed down by the court last April cannot be used to open jail doors for thousands convicted earlier.

What the court did Wednesday—over the objection of Justices Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas—was to bar retroactive application of last April's decision prohibiting state courts from allowing the judge or prosecutor to remind the jury that the defendant did not take the stand.

If Shott's conviction in Ohio in 1961 on charges of selling a security without a license and of selling an unregistered security is upset by retroactive application of last April's ruling, California said, "hardened and dangerous criminals under long-term sentences" could win new trials.

Explanation Given
In explaining why the court decided against retroactivity Stewart dwelled on the court's concern with the administration of justice.

For one thing he noted that Ohio, California and four other states had been in agreement with a 1968 Supreme Court ruling in permitting the practice of comment to juries.

"To require all of those states now to void the conviction of every person who did not testify at his trial," Stewart said, "would have an impact upon the administration of their criminal law so devastating as to need no elaboration."

Deep Concern
But Stewart's decision reflected, too, the court's deep concern with civil liberties and guarding against the conviction of an innocent man.

Implicit in several appeals based on the Escobedo ruling is the view that interrogation in a police station without a lawyer to advise the suspect of his rights facilitates such confessions.

With its continuing concern in the matter, the court may find it difficult to turn its back on convictions that were reached before Escobedo.

The Escobedo decision, issued in 1964, for the first time extended the right to counsel to suspects in a police station. Danny Escobedo's conviction in Illinois of murdering his brother-in-law was thrown out because police did not let him see his lawyer before confessing.

If the ruling is made retroactive, Chief Justice Joseph Weintraub of the New Jersey Supreme Court has warned, it could "open the gates of prisons to thousands of convicts."

"We can't even try today's criminals, we're so busy trying old ones," Weintraub has complained.

California sounded a similar theme in the case of Cincinnati lawyer Edgar I. Shott Jr., decided Wednesday.

CANYON HORIZON

Confirmation Well Gauged In Howard

Wilburn H. Seals has completed an oil producer and one-half mile extension to production in the one-well Coronet (Canyon) pool of Howard County, one mile east of Vincent.

An open hole section from 7,433-73 feet was completed to flow 207 barrels of 45-gravity oil through an 18-64-inch choke in 24 hours. Gas-oil ratio was 290-1. Tubing pressure was 350 pounds per square inch.

The operation drilled to total depth 7,473 feet and set 5 1/2-inch casing at 7,453 feet. Location is 2,009 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of Section 5, Block 25, H&TC survey.

Project Abandoned ANDREWS — Allen K. Trobaugh has plugged and abandoned No. 1 Monaghan & Rea, project in the Stateline (Ellenburger) area of Andrews County, 27 miles southwest of Andrews.

The operation drilled to total depth 12,280 feet. It spots 660 feet from south and east lines of Section 6, Block A-31, PSL survey.

Re-Entry Wildcat STERLING — A. E. Walker Jr. of Big Spring has scheduled a re-entry wildcat, No. 1 I. W. Terry, three miles southwest of Sterling City in Sterling County.

The operations will deepen to 2,000 feet for tests of the Clear Fork inside a previously abandoned 717-foot dry hole. That test was plugged in 1956, by Cindrella Uranium and Oil Co.

Location is 467 feet from north and 2,300 feet from west lines of Section 11, Block T, T&P survey. It is on the southeast edge of the Elkay field, although separated from it by depleted wells.

New Producer Marcum Drilling Co. of Midland No. 3 E. F. McEntire has been completed as an upper Golieta producer in the multipay El Rey area of Sterling County, three miles southwest of Sterling City.

On the daily potential test it pumped 72 barrels of 29.4-gravity oil plus 35 per cent water from perforations at 1,730-26 feet which had been stimulated with 500 gallons of acid.

The location is 1,467 feet from south and 2,053 feet from west lines of Section 2, Block T, T&P survey. The operation is a workover of a former producer from the Clear Fork from perforations at 1,915-17 feet, which now is plugged back to 1,790 feet.

Test Scheduled BORDEN — Curtis A. Kinard of Houston No. 1 W. J. McAdams is projected to 8,000 feet to try for production on the east edge of the Vealmoore (Pensylvanian) pool in Borden County, 20 miles northwest of Big Spring.

The location is 560 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of Section 26, Block 32, T-S-N, T&P survey.

Producer Completed HARDEMAN — Shell Oil Co. has completed dually the No. 1 J. T. Mulkey, the third well from the Osage and Chappel sections of the Mississippi in the multipay Thrash field in Northeast Hardeman County.

The Chappel sections were perforated between 8,712 and 8,900 feet, acidized with 1,000 gallons and stimulated for a daily flow of 272 barrels of 51.2-gravity oil.

Oil Firm Given SEC Suspension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission ordered Wednesday a 10-day suspension of trading in common stock and debenture issues of Associated Oil Gas Co. of Houston.

The commission at the same time ordered its staff to develop and clarify all pertinent information respecting the firm's involvement in a company that is using a new process to extract gold from ores in western Idaho.

The SEC action followed that of the American Stock Exchange Tuesday in halting the opening of trading in Associated Oil Stock.

On Monday, Associated Oil shares rose $1.50 closing at $8.50. The SEC order also covered trading in over-the-counter markets.

Associated Oil recently acquired a substantial interest in Salmon River Mining Co., which has rights to more than 40,000 acres of mineral leases in the Riggins area of Western Idaho.

Associated Oil's president, Walter L. Maguire, was quoted Tuesday as saying that a pilot plant has been operated by Salmon River for some months, using a new recovery process to extract gold from ores which heretofore had not been considered commercially usable.

Earlier investigations, conducted for the SEC by independent mining authorities, had challenged the gold-mining potential of operations conducted by another company in the Riggins vicinity.

Big Numbers For Jackie

NEW YORK—It's box-car numbers, as they say... Jackie Gleason's new contract for 1966-67 pays him approximately $205,000-a-week, roughly $8,000, said to be the most ever guaranteed a regular 39-weeks show. Besides, Jackie's company has the right to produce his own summer replacements another 12 weeks at $90,000, adding $720,000, and bringing Jackie's bundle for the year to over $8,500,000.

About $20,000 a week will go for color from Miami Beach regularly for the first time.

HE'S A 50-50 PARTNER

When we learned that Jackie has cut his manager, Jack Philbin, in for one-half of the $205,000-a-week, Jackie said, "That's not new! He's been my 50-50 partner since we started Peekskill Productions four or five years ago." So Jack Philbin should be in for $4,250,000 in 66-67 which of course is just figures but is nevertheless nice figures. "What summer replacements will you have?" I asked Jackie, who answered: "I don't even know we'll produce them. It's just extra work." The contract's for just one year. "I won't sign for any longer," Jackie said.

FRANK SINATRA'll switch back to Ben Novak's Fountains-bureau (from the Eden Roc) for a two-week engagement next month... Mia Farrow was here visiting her mother, Senator Javits, back from Viet Nam, was at Luchow's where one could note the difference between great waiters and those who snarl. "It's not my station," I mentioned to the veteran Max, one of the greets, that I was ready to order. "I regret," he said politely, "that tonight it is not my honor to serve you..." which is "This is not my station" in the gentlemanly way.

Though they're saying in Europe that John Derek's divorcing Ursula Andress over some too-oo-oo scenes in "Blue Max," the "in" people think she's more serious about Jean Paul Belmondo, but (shock, shock) is secretly in love still with her husband, John Derek!... Secret Stuff: The New Jersey "whipping" sex scandal is said to involve 30 prominent Broadwayites and Hollywood-lans and promises to be New Jersey's Profumo Affair.

BIG CIGAR LOOKS AMBITIOUS

Bobby and Ethel Kennedy seemed to have a grand time entertaining at the Voisin. Bobby especially, as he smoked a large cigar that in his boyish face seemed very ambitious. He went around tipping handsomely afterward to all those who'd served the group, ate some of the delicious mints on the way out, even as you and I, and will be remembered affectionately by the management as one who seemed to love the food, judging by the way he attacked it.

Dorothy Kirsten, who does Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West" at the Met, in Italian rides a white American horse named "Jordan" (a very popular name nowadays, for example, Jordan Christopher). Jordan's a nervous beast who gets fed a tranquilizer at show time. Sitting on his back, Miss K. mustn't hum or he takes that as a signal and gallops on stage prematurely.

MISS YUTKA GOZ, Miss Hungary of 1960, is coming to America to outdo the Gaboris and to marry Lennie Burton, B'way publisher and producer... Mickey Rooney denies the split-up rumors which seem to start every time he goes on the road. Josh Logan's talking to Ethel Merman about doing a non-musical. He wants to present her acting talent.

Senator Dirksen's recording an album of poetry for RCA, and he's the man who can do it!... Otto Preminger's temperature hovered at 100 but he's gradually licking the infection which doctors say resulted from his scalp wound. His wife Hope has been in constant attendance.

Tammy Grimes and actor Jeremy Slate reportedly set an April date... Angela Lansbury, who subleased Jack Carter's N.Y. apt., had to move out he didn't have a sublease clause... Paul Newman wants to recreate his movie role if Leon Uris does a B'way musical version of "Exodus"... Doris Day—as a "guest villain"? That's what the "Batman" execs want her for... Rita Tushingham (of "Leather Boys") walks around N.Y. with her husband—with a limousine following behind.

YANKEE BASEBALLER Joe Pepitone gave himself a bachelor party at Tower East: he weds Diana Sandre Feb. 26... Linda Christian's sister, Adrienne Welter, is in "The Rage" (with Glenn Ford)... Martha Raye wrote from Viet Nam she wants to do a B'way show—no more cafes... Authoress Gwen Davis'll have her baby in March, same month her show, "Best Laid Plans," opens on B'way... Ann-Margret bought cattle with her loot from "Made in Paris": it's her third herd.

Draft Board Officials Accomplish Difficult Task

By HAL COOPER
NEW YORK (AP)—All over America little groups of citizens, many of them elderly, decide today which young men will be drafted into uniform—perhaps to serve in Viet Nam.

Some young men go willingly, others only after exhausting every appeal.

In February alone, the elder citizens will sift 29,400 young men out of the nation's population for induction.

Members of the 4,000 local draft boards receive no pay—and much abuse. Often they spend wearying hours at their task. Many of their decisions are agonizing. Some have qualms about the whole system.

D. A. Ghrist, 69, a banker, has been on Board 84 in Kansas City, Kan., since the original draft on Oct. 16, 1940.

Patriotic Duty

"When they asked me to serve, I thought it would be my patriotic duty," said Ghrist. "I still feel the same way. Some people conscientiously oppose the very idea of what we are doing, but it's a duty that must be fulfilled."

Another member of Board 84, who has served since early in World War II, is Otto Ziegelmeyer, 75, a retired lawyer. Drafting men who wind up in Viet Nam makes him uneasy.

"World War II concerned us all because we were in it," he said. "But you don't call this a war. Some board members, including myself, know that this has to be done, but don't heartily approve of it."

"I don't see much difference," Ghrist interjected. "We have a duty to perform. We have to take care of the needs of the military."

Entitled To Opinion

"The job has to be done," Ziegelmeyer replied. "But a man is entitled to his opinion."

Gray-haired, motherly Wilma Crane has been clerk of Board 84 since its inception more than 25 years ago.

"We have very little trouble with our boys," she said. "It's the mothers who give us the most trouble. These women write in saying they condemn us for sending their boys to be shot at."

"I inducted my own son in 1956. And then I got a Mother's Day card that really broke me up. The sender said she hoped if I ever had a son he would be killed in the Army."

The national Selective Service

System has an over-all roster of about 48,000.

Most Are Unpaid

National headquarters has a staff of 205, mostly based in Washington. About 6,000 persons are paid clerical employees on local draft boards and the rest are unpaid members of draft boards, members of appeals boards or advisors.

Local boards vary in size and from three to five members, depending on the area's population density. Members are appointed by the President on the recommendation of state governors.

There are 95 appeal boards, one for each federal judicial district.

Appeal board decisions are usually final. But decisions made by a split vote may be taken to the national Selective Service Appeal Board in Washington.

In Tough Spot

Maj. Malcolm F. Miller is head of Selective Service for Southern California.

"Board members are in a tough spot," he said. "They have quotas to fill, but they also have to protect the registrant quite right to take those boys and keep the community operating as close to normal as possible."

"They donate their time, supposedly about three hours a day, two days a month. In recent months, however, I've seen many boards sit down at 3 p.m. and not get up until midnight or later."

"Despite this, they stay on and on for years. Of 280 board members in Southern California, 35 have served for more than 20 years. I think it boils down to this: if you like people you like Selective Service work."

Criticisms Aired

Lloyd W. Waller, retired principal of Miracosta High School in Manhattan Beach, Calif., recently left his area draft board after serving as a member from the start of World War II. He said he had concluded that the present draft should be discarded in favor of a universal military service.

"For instance, I can think of a dozen or so boys who were drafted because they had certain skills the military wanted," he said. "I never thought it was fair to protect the registrant quite right to take those boys because they had skills and let the bums down the street stay home."

"I think every high school graduate or 18-year-old should be taken in for six months and given tests and put through the physical fitness program."

Take Closer Look

"At the end of six months the services would know more about the boy and what he could do and whether they wanted him. And I think at the end of that time you'd find more boys willing to stay on in the service for a couple of years."

In Florida, as in most states, draft boards are taking a closer look at youths with student deferments. Florida has 46,323 in this category.

"We don't like to take students, but it is our job to meet the needs of the military," said

FOWL COUNT DOWN

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts State Division of Fisheries and Game says its annual midwinter inventory of waterfowl shows 96,200 birds down 27 per cent from last year's record.

a draft board official. "There may be some beneficial side effects, however."

"Many students may be enrolled just to kill time or to avoid the draft. If students know they have to hit the books hard to stay in school, the results will be positive for education."

Refugees Are Problem

Florida has a special problem—the large Cuban refugee population.

Refugees qualify for the draft after six months as resident aliens. Some young refugees are hard to catch because they have no interest in exposure to any fighting that does not involve a blow at Fidel Castro.

"If it were to be a war against Cuba or directly against Castro's interests anywhere, they would volunteer en masse," remarked a draft official.

A wide variety of reasons why they should not be drafted are offered by reluctant dragons in all parts of the country. Some reasons are strange and wonderful.

Letters Humorous

"Dear Sir," read a letter to one board. "I am not going to the military service for nobody, so just let me alone. So, don't send me no more forms. The service is for somebody who has nothing else to do. I've got things to do." He's in the Army now.

Another letter, in its entirety, went like this:

"Dear Draft Board, This is to say I am now married to Shirley and have a baby."

A youth who wanted a student deferment deposed as follows:

"Dear Sirs I am writing to let you know I have enroll in college. I was suppose come by your office, but it slip my remember. So I am sorry. Now I will close, hoping to leave college with Dr. degree."

A Western draft official said suspicious hardship claims are checked out.

Stories Checked

"If the parents claim a 19-year-old boy is their sole support and we go out and find a 1966 car in the garage and a color television in the living room—well, that's one more story we don't buy," he said.

Adelaide Smith, a draft clerk in Los Angeles, said some youths who are under age register for reasons of their own.

"We get a lot of 15- and 16-year-olds who look much older," she said. "They come in and

Unpaid Volunteers In San Francisco Greet Foreign Students And Officials

By LYLE W. PRICE
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first welcoming smiles for 5,000 foreign students and leaders who arrive annually in San Francisco are from unpaid volunteer greeters with keen vision and maps.

NOT TOO DEMANDING

School In California Caters To Housewives

By JANE TGOFTZ
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three women who wanted to keep a growing intellectually but didn't at the University of Paris. Her work in a family responsibility.

Everywoman's Village in suburban Van Nuys offers a smorgasbord of language, discussion and art courses for the housewife with time on her hands and desire to keep up with the world.

These women are discovering their own worth, says Mrs. Chris Edwards, one of the founders.

Chance To Expand
"In today's society, a housewife finds that automation has given her more leisure time. We're not trying to take women away from their responsibilities, we are trying to put to good use those extra few hours a week. We want her to expand as a person."

Mrs. Edwards and her sister, Mrs. Lynn Silway, and a friend, Mrs. Diane Rosner, had tried to satisfy their intellectual interests by taking college courses.

But the pressure was too much," Mrs. Edwards says. "Running around from class to class, trying to find the time for homework, competing with primed students. The three of us were talking one afternoon and we decided that women like us should have one central place suited to our specific needs."

Start Bungalow Classes
The three founded a circle of bungalows, scraped together enough money to rent them, and began transforming them into classrooms through their own hammering, painting and shellacking.

The number of students has grown steadily in two years of operation. The organizers expect more than 1,500 students to take part in over 10 classes this fall.

Educators in the Los Angeles area have been so impressed with the housewives' school that the village has a file of 250 teaching applicants and no classes for them to teach.

Mrs. Gladys Wolf is the dean of the school who interviews applicants from faculties of UCLA, USC, and surrounding junior colleges in the San Fernando Valley.

Instructor Must Stimulate
"I'm interested in how much they know about the subject they will be teaching," she says, "but we consider it essential that the applicant be a very stimulating person. We schedule each in-

The vision helps spot newcomers such as the Russian student who wrote: "You will recognize me when I arrive. I am a card-carrying YMCA member."

The maps help guide persons such as the Ceylonese scholars who go to Los Angeles by taxi. The distance is more than 400 miles.

Act As Guides
The visitors, arriving by plane or ship from 79 lands, may be taken into tow by any of 700 Bay Area volunteers working with the International Hospitality Center of San Francisco.

The volunteer greeters include housewives, attorneys and secretaries. Typically they invite the visitors into their homes and act as personal tour guides around San Francisco. The greeters first say official hellos to all foreign students entering the United States through San Francisco. The largest group each year is bound for the University of California's Berkeley campus.

Make Friends
"We've made some very fine and wonderful friendships," said Attorney Paul Bayse of the San Francisco suburb of Burlingame as he and his wife greeted 15 arriving student nurses from the Philippines.

This time Mrs. Bayse barely had time to say "Welcome you to the United States and hope your stay is pleasant" before the nursing candidates dashed for a jet bound for Philadelphia. "We came to the United States because of its quality of nursing training," said Miss Ofelia Vasquez of Bacofod City, Philippines, who wanted to see "the nice things in America — like Disneyland."

Besides the main task of welcoming foreign students, the volunteers often welcome officially sponsored foreign leaders and specialists, at the request of agencies such as the State Department and Chamber of Commerce.

Exclude Tourists
These foreign visitors typically include teachers, engineers and physicians. They exclude ordinary tourists. Their favorite

As for the visitors, most seem to go home happy, says Miss Jennie Hartman, in charge of the center's student service. "I'll never forget this wonderful trip in my life," wrote a student from Okinawa. "In addition you are the most beautiful lady I have ever seen on this trip."

WOLVES ARE HOWLING

Icy Winter Blasts Keep Europe In Deep Freeze

By GODFREY ANDERSON LONDON (AP)—Icy blasts from the east kept most of Europe in the deep freeze today, with Britain, Scandinavia, Italy and central Europe apparently getting the worst of it.

France and Germany were among countries reporting a slight rise in temperature after two weeks of almost arctic cold. Spain was drenched by torrential rain. The two Paris airports, Orly and Le Bourget, were closed all morning because of ice on the runways.

Southward drifting ice threatened navigation in the Baltic. Some southern Norwegian fjords, normally ice-free, were freezing.

Howling wolves came down from the mountains in Italy. The southeastern corner of England took a pounding from gales which piled up snowdrifts and halted communications.

Part of Britain's motor industry froze to a halt when the nationalized gas board's big Colchester plant broke down, cutting off power and heating in hundreds of midlands factories.

The gas failure added even more to mounting demands for electricity. The central electricity generating board said that if each of 15 million domestic consumers turned off one unnecessary light at peak hours, the risk of power cuts would be eliminated.

Railroad passengers from the north complained bitterly on arrival in London that heating systems on the long-distance diesel trains were being beaten by the arctic weather.

The cold was severe in Sweden, with weathermen reporting no signs of letup. Coldest place during the night was Saerna, in Dalecarlia Province, with 29 below zero.

Poland and Yugoslavia also were gripped by cold. The Danube was frozen north of the Hungarian border and farther east, halting all navigation.

MEN OF INDIA LAUDED FOR GOOD JUDGMENT

Mrs. Gandhi's Election Delights Women

By JOY MILLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Among those American women who think their sex equal to any challenge, Indra Gandhi's election as India's prime minister was greeted today with cries of delight and sisterly pride.

Some gave a nod of approval to the men in India for showing what the women considered good judgment, and a ladylike sneer at American mates for not following suit. "Women of the world should rejoice," exclaimed Alice Paul, first chairman of the National Woman's Party in 1913 and still an active champion of women's rights. "It couldn't possibly be more exciting to have a great country—the second most populous in the world—take such a step."

Logical Step
Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels, New York University anthropologist, who knows Mrs. Gandhi and admits to a personal feeling about the election, said: "It's to be expected in India. Although Indian women received the right to participate in public life later than women in the United States, more do participate and set their dreams toward positions of prominence in the political field than do American women."

"The whole attitude of Indian men shows they respect talent and skill. And Mrs. Gandhi knows perhaps more about India than anyone else."
Another acquaintance is Dorothy Height, president of the National Council of Negro Women, who worked with Mrs. Gandhi in 1952 at a school of social work in New Delhi. "I think Mrs. Gandhi is a particularly able woman and it's a real tribute to the nation that it recognized her ability. I feel that she also should be an inspiration to women everywhere because she has worked as a volunteer as well as a public servant."

HOLDING HER BABY FOR LAST TIME—Hysterical and in tears, Mrs. Sandra Kaplan, 24, hugs her 16-month-old adopted baby Jeffrey in a Los Angeles courtroom as a court attaché, right, moves in to return him to the County Bureau of Adoptions. The court had just set aside the adoption—which was made legal in May of last year—because Mrs. Kaplan filed suit for divorce a month after the adoption. The court ruled the couple had misrepresented their "happy home" status. (AP Wirephoto)

New Simplified Tax Plan Will Go Beautifully With Yule Necktie Collection

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Well, well, well. What have we here? Why, bless my soul, it's another simplified tax plan. Just what we needed. It will go beautifully with our collection of Christmas neckties. Setting forth simplified tax plans has long been one of the favorite sports in Congress. Any number can play. During the past decade or so enough simplified tax plans have been set forth to provide every man, woman and child in the United States with a matching set. In the meantime, I believe the record will show that the tax laws have become progressively more complicated. That's what makes the game so popular. Did you ever write out big checks without signing them? Well, setting forth a simplified tax plan gives you the very same thrill. A congressman can be as generous as he likes with a simplified tax plan because he can be pretty sure it won't be enacted anyway. There is an outside chance, however, that this week's simplified tax plan may turn out differently. It comes from Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who is the new chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. This being the committee that handles tax legislation, you might say that Long is in a good position to give himself a hearing. In common with most other simplified tax plans, his plan is somewhat complex. As I understand it, it would give the taxpayer an option. In making out an income tax return, a person could use the old form, claiming Aunt Agatha as a deduction and stuff like that, or he could use a simplified new form at a reduced tax rate.

SANTO DOMINGO

Embassy Officials Transferred

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top U.S. Embassy officials stationed in Santo Domingo during last spring's crisis have been transferred quietly out of the Dominican Republic, it was learned today. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett Jr., head of the embassy team that unanimously urged the controversial U.S. intervention in the Dominican rebellion, is to be reassigned soon, sources said. President Johnson's decision to send in American troops on the advice of the embassy staff aroused widespread resentment in Latin America. Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called it a "grievous mistake." Pelled out of the Dominican Republic since the upheaval last April were the embassy's deputy chief of mission, chief of the political section, director of the information service, director of the head of the Dominican Aid Program and the economic counselor.

Credit Union Meet Slated

Annual meeting of the South Plains Federal Credit Union is scheduled Friday night in joint session with the Texas Public Employees Association, groups with essentially the same membership. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Texas Highway Department offices on Slaton Road, according to Bill Warren, Credit Union president, and Gene Bradford, TPEA president. New officers for each organization will be elected. Door prizes will be given. The credit group has membership of over 600 and assets in excess of $300,000. FHA title loans have recently been made available to members. Warren said a 4.8 per cent dividend is being paid on members' savings and a 15 per cent refund has been announced on interest paid by borrowers on loans during the past year.

Switch or Fight

Some analysts have suggested that only taxpayers who stood to gain would switch to the new form. The others would rather fight. Theoretically, that would result in reduced revenue and Congress would then have to raise taxes to make up the deficit. If Congress ever does enact a simplified tax plan, I have a feeling the net result will be the same as that embodied in the so-called Ramsey Plan, which was set forth by a journalist friend of mine. He proposed that the income tax form be reduced to just three lines, as follows: A. List the amount of your income. B. List the amount you have left. C. Send B.

Hearing Set For Lawyer Accused Of Murder Plot

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A preliminary hearing for Charles W. Hinman — arraigned on five counts of trying to arrange the murder of his wife and attorney Murray Chotiner — has been set for next Monday. Hinman, 59, who appeared for arraignment Wednesday in Malibu Justice Court, was remanded to jail without bond. Former Developer Hinman, a nonpracticing attorney and former real estate developer, is accused of soliciting men to murder his wife, Marcia, 27, and Chotiner, one-time campaign manager for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Hinman denied all charges. He was arrested Tuesday after the men he allegedly tried to hire to kill his wife and Chotiner informed authorities. Chotiner had represented Mrs. Hinman in a recent divorce suit, which Hinman is appealing.

Chinese Americans To Usher In 'Year Of The Horse' At Celebrations Tonight

By BARRY KRAMER
 NEW YORK (AP) — The Snake wriggles out and the Horse gallops in at midnight tonight, prompting the two largest Chinese communities in the United States to begin several days of noisy and colorful celebrations.

The Year of the Snake is ending. Beginning is the Year of the Horse — 4664 according to the Chinese lunar calendar — that with prompt crazy-colored paper-mache and silk dragons and lions into the streets here and in San Francisco.

Along with Chinese throughout the world, many of the San Francisco Bay area's 55,000 Chinese-Americans and the 33,000 in the New York area will crowd into Chinatown. They will be joined by thousands of non-Chinese, attracted by the special sights and sounds.

Canada To Increase Aid To Universities

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada will substantially increase its aid to universities in the 1966-67 academic year, the government says. The promise was made in the Throne speech, written by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's government and delivered this week by Georges Vanier, the governor-general.

No figure was mentioned but a report filed in October urged federal grants totaling at least $30 million the next fiscal year and rising to more than $50 million by 1970. The level now is about $80 million.

Man Gets Cozy Jail Cell The Hard Way

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — Police say Richard M. Reynolds, 60, was looking without much success for a cozy jail cell to spend the cold January nights. "Sorry," he was told, "but only criminals are allowed in here."

So, police say, Reynolds heaved a chunk of ice through a window of police headquarters. Then they gave him a cell — for 90 days.

York will be the seven is-tse, or happy Buddha lions, which will dance to the accompaniment of loud cymbals, gongs and drums. The noise is to frighten off evil spirits.

The dancing lions, with one mar in the head and another supporting the body, will accept money from local merchants through their gaping jaws. The money is turned over to charity.

In San Francisco, some 60 men will support the many sections of the long golden dragon as it undulates through downtown San Francisco and Chinatown.

Also in the parade will be Miss Chinatown U.S.A. who will be chosen in a Chinatown Chamber of Commerce beauty pageant Friday and crowned Jan. 27.

The parade, on Jan. 29, caps the San Francisco celebration.

Operas And Parties

In New York, Chinese operas and plays and several parties will help greet the new year at the Chinese Community Center on Mott Street.

Starefronts in both cities will be plastered with bright red posters carrying poems and sayings asking for wealth, happiness and good fortune in the coming year.

In a few, more traditional, homes a door will be sealed with red paper, reminiscent of the Chinese custom of sealing off the main entrance of the house, another attempt to provide good luck.

The red color of the paper is supposedly derived from an ancient Chinese new year practice of smearing lamb's blood on the door to ward off evil.

The Chinese new year is basically a family holiday, a time for visiting and exchanging gifts. A favorite gift for youngsters is money wrapped in red paper. Since the majority of America's Chinese came from Kwantung — Canton — Province, their customs reflect those of that area.

Must Be Meatless

The first meal of the year in a Cantonese home must be meatless, usually a dish called sik tza. It is served with nen gao, a bland, white cake made of wheat flour, sugar and oil. Despite ordinances in both cities, the Chinatowns will be filled with the acrid smoke and loud reports of thousands of firecrackers. Police in both cities step in only in cases of flagrant abuses.

Chinese tradition has it that the explosions terrify bad spirits, summon peace, welcome the gods and good spirits of the new year, and attract prosperity and riches.

Other customs include a week-long housecleaning prior to the new year, and the purchase of new clothes for the family.

The new year always falls on the first day of the first new moon after the sun enters Aquarius. This means it cannot fall earlier than Jan. 21 nor later than Feb. 19 in the Western calendar.

Over the din of exploding firecrackers the most popular new year greetings will be the Cantonese "gung he fat choy," — best wishes, may you prosper, or the Mandarin "gung he shin nien," best wishes for the new year.

Edyth Thornton McLeod Beauty After Forty

RECENTLY I saw a most glamorous stole worn by a very chic after-40 woman. It was beautifully knitted in a mink-brown shade of the softest yarn, and it made her costume. It had a deep sweep in back and the ends were tossed at the neckline. When asked about it, she told me she had made it.

I got all the information and I have been able to get a picture of the stole, with exact instructions in leaflet form on how to knit it. You may have it by sending me a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents in coin. The stole readers who can knit will enjoy making it. An old New England company has a complete package of the mink-brown yarn together with a picture of the stole. A sample of the yarn is attached to the leaflet. You can start on yours now and be ready by spring. The stole goes with black beautifully.

AS I HAVE recently told you, I now have a new and exciting diet—"Figure Control." This is very well done and so much research went into its creation that I'd like you to start now. I want you to keep busy, "knitting and dieting." It's a good combination and the results are fun.

Please be sure to use my correct address: Edyth Thornton McLeod, The Green Gate, 340 West 46th Street, New York, N. Y. 10036.

It is important that you use the address exactly as above. A great deal of mail comes in here and we want to be sure to receive your letter and request.

DEAR ABBY Misnomers Confuse!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very handsome (and weak) man who does not hold up very well when faced with temptation. He maintains that when a lady makes a pass at a gentleman, he should not insult her by turning her down, and has no choice other than to oblige her. I say he is out of his head, that a true gentleman would find a courteous way to decline. I would like your opinion.

S. Carolina Dear S. Carolina: Your husband should first get his terms straight. If a woman makes a pass at a man, she's not "lady." And if the man obliges her, he's not "gentleman." However, irrespective of the misnomers if your husband is practicing what he preaches, you'd better look him up before his chivalry kills him.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 17 years old and a freshman in high school. A 12-year-old junior high school girl will have a baby next June, and our son will be the baby's father. Thank God he has the courage to bring the little girl to us and tell us. The girl's parents both work, drink and run around while the child stays home days (a r. many nights) alone, with no supervision whatsoever. We went to the girl's parents and they told us they would have our boy jailed for statutory rape if we didn't give them $500 cash. My husband said he wouldn't get involved with blackmail. Then they suggested the kids get married in a state which allows kids their age to marry with parental consent. We refused. We think it would be better for want to share you with anyone.

Dear Parents: In my opinion, yes. The baby will be much better off in an adoptive home with parents who really want a child. You need a lawyer to acquaint you with your son's rights and obligations. It may be a bit late to tell you that your son's education on "the birds and bees" must have been sadly neglected. But perhaps this will serve to warn other parents that this can and does occur.

DEAR ABBY: I am a foreign student and a guest in your country attending one of your universities. A charming female student invited me to escort her to a formal dancing party sponsored by the university. I do not have an automobile but she has one and willingly provided the transportation. When we reached the ballroom she complained that the music was "crummy" and she suggested we go sit in her automobile and listen to other music on the radio. The entire evening was spent in this manner. We did not dance one dance, nor did we exchange one word with another person. Can you please tell me why it was necessary for me to rent a tuxedo to sit in the automobile all evening?

Puzzled Dear Puzzled: It wasn't the charming female probably found you so fascinating that she didn't want to share you with anyone.

Opening lead: Six of hearts South, the declarer at four spades, did not obtain maximum mileage from the dummy's assets in today's hand.

West opened the six of hearts and South won the trick with the king. A club was led to dummy's jack and East was in with the ace. He shifted to the four of diamonds. Declarer played the ace, king of diamonds and continued with the ten. West covered with the jack and North ruffed with the king of spades. East overruffed with the ace and exited with a spade.

Declarer cashed his high trumps; however, when East showed out on the second lead, West was revealed to have a trick in the ten of spades. Inasmuch as there was no way to reach the dummy, South could not avoid losing to the queen of diamonds as well, and he was obliged to concede defeat.

As it turned out, declarer could have made his contract if he had ruffed the third diamond with the four of spades. East overruffs with the seven trumps; however, when East showed out on the second lead, West was revealed to have a trick in the ten of spades. Inasmuch as there was no way to reach the dummy, South could not avoid losing to the queen of diamonds as well, and he was obliged to concede defeat.

When you discuss your baby's formula with your doctor

You may want to ask him about the Gerber Baby Formula, Modilac! This special, easy-to-digest milk formula, developed by Gerber research, is designed to give your baby all the nutrients he or she needs in the early weeks.

You add nothing to the Gerber Baby Formula except the amount of boiled water your doctor recommends. When Modilac is fed in adequate amounts, these nutrients will meet his recommended daily needs:

- Iron for its blood-building quality
- Vitamins A, C, D and important B-vitamins
- Protein to aid growth

You'll appreciate the convenience of this complete formula. And you'll find the Gerber Baby Formula, Modilac, at supermarkets and drugstores. When your baby starts on Gerber, he can stay on Gerber—cereals, strained and junior foods—until he's ready for family fare!

Dorothy E. Schaefer, "Grit"

It was Bill Shakespeare who observed that "all the world's a stage," and he could have added, "and you never know who's gonna barge into the act."

THE NATIONAL Education Association, composed of professionals in all phases of public school activity, is in somewhat of a tizzy.

Citizens in various parts of the country, says the NEA, more and more are criticizing some of the operations and decisions of the people who run and teach in the public schools and this, the NEA continues, is "harassment."

In a nationwide survey held by NEA on mounting interest in recent years by the taxpayer (public in school affairs, such widely separated organizations as the John Birch Society, the Parents-Teachers Association, the American Legion, and a state of teachers unions outside NEA's own tightly organized group are listed as the busiest and bitterest of the "harassers."

This is despite the fact that another part of the survey shows the JBS and the PTA as among the most helpful to the schools.

IT MIGHT be a good thing, before it goes any farther in resenting outspoken interest critical and otherwise in the field of public education, for the NEA to consult Mr. Webster's best seller, "Like looking up the definition of the word, 'harassment'."

According to Mister W., "harassment" means the "practice of tiring with repeated and exhaustive efforts, to weary by importunity; of laying waste, of ridding, of worrying by repeated attacks." But nowhere in the dictionary is "harassment" described as "attempting to halt questionable decisions, or curb waste," all of which are tools of some of the people and some of the organizations which have been speaking out against various public school policies and operations in recent years.

THE REASONABLE person will agree, certainly, that there is found to have been some harassment of public school officials and teachers during the past year, the past several years, even ever since public schools began operating.

But the reasonable member of the National Education Association will agree, too, that there are many times when extremists of all sorts—in school administration and in the classroom—need some looking into and, if deserved, need some straightforward criticism.

The thoughtful American will say that it's better for people to be sufficiently interested in their schools to keep tabs on them and, when they deem it necessary, to speak their pieces. Even if it is to leave everything up to those on the ground to run this important public facility, willfully, as one of these says.

Somewhat on another, it's pretty difficult to accept the NEA definition of expressions of differing opinion as "harassment," especially since NEA, itself, is constantly beating its breast about "academic freedom."

After all, there should be room, too, for some "citizenship freedom" for Jones who, as always, "pays the freight."

Psychologists in Florida experimenting with monkeys, report that by the use of appropriate symbols, the simians can be taught the value of money.

In this respect, a monkey can prove himself smarter than some people.

That Man on Avenue Q says for a good many people, increased leisure just provides increased opportunities to get into trouble.

Of course, the world is getting smaller. A fellow doesn't have to go half as far as he used to get into trouble.

A good many of today's Americans seem to be a little mixed up about what the Constitution guarantees them.

They're the ones who think they have an inalienable right to trample on the rights of others and, further, to the pursuit of a fast buck.

BELIEVE IT or not, but Texas Tech has a Police Department which is one of the largest in its area of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Currently, the Campus Cops consist of a chief, lieutenant, two night sergeants, 10 officers, two radio operators, a relief radio operator, one secretary, two clerks, three part-time clerk typists.

Three radio-controlled police cars traverse the village's environs and supporting the officers is the K-9 Convoy dog.

This is quite a far cry from the old days some of us remember when no more than one night watchman Jack Hightower, was needed to police the campus. Most of his work was done in the vicinity of the old water tower, which, if memory serves, stood just to the South of the extension of Sixth Street to today's campus, about where the practice football field is now.

BILLY GRAHAM:
My Answer

QUESTION: I can forgive, but I can't forget. Though I hold no malice toward others, I still remember what occurred. Is it wrong to remember? H. K.

ANSWER: The Bible plainly teaches forgiveness, but I find no command that we are to forget. The mind retains all sorts of things—and it is impossible to erase certain things from the memory. God forgives and forgets, and the Bible says, "I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more." This is one of God's capabilities—to erase sin from His memory—but man does not possess this ability. We are simply told to forgive. "Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake has forgiven you." (Eph. 4:32).

When the memory brings the deed to your mind, just make sure that unkind feelings are not dredged up. If this occurs, you have not really forgiven.

Forgiveness has strange powers. When Mashepeton, a chief of the Cree Indians, was converted to Christianity, soon after his father was killed by a member of the Blackfoot tribe, Mashepeton demanded that the murderer be brought before him. "You have killed my father," he said, "now you must be my father. You shall ride my best horse, and wear my best clothes." The murderer exclaimed, "My son, you have killed me." What the man meant was: you have killed the enemy, the murderer within me—and spared me forever your friend.

ALLEN & SCOTT:
Wyszynski Visit "On"

WASHINGTON—Preparations for a visit to the U. S. by Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski are proceeding despite the Polish Communist government's refusal to allow the Catholic primate to go to Rome.

His tentative schedule calls for a stay of from "four to six weeks" in late August and September to attend celebrations in major U. S. cities commemorating the 1,000 anniversary of Christianity in Poland.

These cities will include New York, Chicago, Boston, Milwaukee and Buffalo. A stopover in the national capital for the 64-year-old Polish Cardinal to visit the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception is under consideration. No decision has been made because of the International complications involved.

U. S. CATHOLICS mapping Cardinal Wyszynski's trip indicate that an 11-week visit was originally planned but was reduced because of opposition of the Gomulka regime to a longer stay.

Although members of the U. S. Millennium Committee are still optimistic about Cardinal Wyszynski's being permitted to come to the U. S., State Department officials are less so. Privately they are of the opinion that the trip is far from certain in view of the travel ban imposed on Wyszynski.

CABLED REPORTS from Ambassador John Gronouski indicate the Rome incident may have been provoked by the Gomulka regime to test the reaction of Polish Catholics to the refusal to grant Wyszynski permission to confer with Pope Paul on the latter's proposed May visit to Poland.

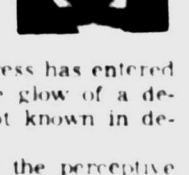

While Premier Gomulka has privately been against Wyszynski's coming to the U. S. since being informed of this late last year, the Red leader has hesitated to openly oppose it because of the possibility of a hostile explosion in Poland and adverse effect in the U. S. on trade and aid.

CARDINAL WYSZYNSKI is immensely popular throughout Poland, according to members of the Congressional delegation that visited there in December to dedicate the U. S.-financed Children's Hospital in Krakow.

Rep. Silvio Conte (R-Mass.), a key member of the House Foreign Aid Appropriations Subcommittee, is telling colleagues that when he went to hear Cardinal Wyszynski preach at Krakow, he was unable to get within a block of the church because of the huge overflow crowd.

"There were more than 10,000 persons outside the packed church just hoping for a glimpse of their spiritual leader," said Conte. "They couldn't even hear his voice because local authorities would not permit loudspeakers to be installed in the streets. The Cardinal is by far the most popular person in Poland today."

WILLIAM S. WHITE:
Hill's Image Is Improved

WASHINGTON—The 89th Congress has entered its second session warmed by the glow of a degree of public approval it had not known in decades, if ever in this century.

Recent public opinion polls by the perceptive Louis Harris give the old hangout on Capitol Hill a favorable rating by 71 per cent of the people. And 71 per cent, as the saying used to go, ain't bad. It amounts to a landslide victory in the image department for an institution which scored only 35 per cent two years ago at about the time of transition in the White House from the Kennedy to the Johnson Administration.

IT SEEMS only yesterday that battalions of political scientists were proclaiming in enfevered seminars that Congress was impossibly obstructive, hopelessly out of date, and absolutely incapable of dealing effectively with the problems of our times.

For one example, Congress was the dark scene of a "Deadlock of Democracy," to paraphrase the title of a widely discussed and brilliantly wing-headed book of attack by Prof. James McGregor Burns. Congress, in its ridiculously ineffectual state and structure, was about as unknown among its academic critics as it would be possible for anything to be.

SO WHAT has happened to change all this? Both the polls and the seat-of-the-pants intuition of some observers suggest that nothing much has happened except that Congress, in its last session fell under President Johnson's spur and dispatched a vast volume of legislation which, as it now appears, a majority of the public likes.

There was anything but a "deadlock" and nobody could possibly accuse that session of Congress of letting the dead hand of the past paralyze the present and future—and all that sort of thing.

OF COURSE, the real truth is that the popularity or unpopularity of Congress actually and rightly depends on what it does or doesn't do at a given time. If a President is strong with the people, if his programs seem to them in their interest and if his relationship with Congress is mutually productive, the sum of it all is that Congress becomes a good guy.

Given reverse factors—a slipping President, a dull and uninspiring legislative record, a sterile cat-and-dog struggle between Congress and President—then Congress becomes a bad guy.

THERE IS ONE qualification. Most of those who are quickest to criticize Congress are liberals—quickest, that is, when Congress is balky about liberal legislation. And the common run of liberals are more articulate than the common run of conservatives. Ergo, the liberal howls are not only more frequent, but also louder.

The great point is that the alleged horse-and-bugle evils of Congressional procedures, and the seniority system is the arch-villain to reform-minded critics have nothing much to do with anything at all. Earnest proposals for "reform" of Congress are no doubt consciously motivated by the conviction that something is wrong with the mechanism. In deeper truth, they are nearly always motivated by simple dislike of the bills Congress is currently passing and simple yearning for the bill it is not passing.

WHEN THE HOME team is in eighth place the fans are quick to boo the umpire, that is, the embodiment of the rules of the game. So it is with Congress. Thus, even though Congress now sits in the bright sunshine, the realistic will be unwise to assume that vast "reforms" will proceed from this newly acceptable institution in remorse for its sinful past.

For most of the rules of the game—including seniority—are there because men have found they must be. And they still will be there when the 90th Congress assembles in January, 1967—in good "image" or bad "image" as the case may then be.

Some people acquire the habit of speaking while not thinking.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:
Drug Abuse Control Pushed

THE WIDESPREAD use of tranquilizers and similar drugs by Americans has been a matter of concern for some time. Now steps are being taken to bring the sale of these drugs under stricter control.

The move was described by Jonathan Spivak in a recent article in the Wall Street Journal. Mr. Spivak notes that the Food and Drug Administration, in a significant starting step to enforce the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965, is designating a number of commonly used and widely marketed tranquilizers for strict Federal regulation.

The drug abuse amendments require manufacturers, wholesalers, drugstores and dispensing physicians to keep careful records of all barbiturates and amphetamines, as well as other drugs designated by the FDA as potentially habit-forming, or subject to abuse. The aim is to assure that these products remain in legitimate distribution channels and aren't diverted to nonmedical use. The major issue facing the FDA was the added drugs to be placed under controls.

The agency, after reviewing of police reports, and complaints it has received, is about to publish an initial list of 17 such products. In addition to three of the better known tranquilizers, the proposed list includes a number of other drugs. These include compounds frequently used to sedate heavily intoxicated persons, an anti-obesity drug, and a group of others which produce hallucinations but which aren't on the market.

The list won't take effect until the manufacturers and others have had an opportunity to comment. Some drug companies are likely to argue that serious abuse hasn't been demonstrated for their products, and several firms already have indicated informally that they will protest.

By the same token, some medical authorities are certain to argue that the list isn't inclusive enough, says Mr. Spivak.

"Some addiction experts argue that many, if not most, of these tranquilizers that affect the central nervous system have been subject to some abuse," he continues. "Congress, in passing the abuse-control amendments, made clear that the FDA doesn't have to demonstrate that a major public health hazard has occurred from the illegal use of drugs to subject them to controls. Although some evidence of abuse has to be available, the agency is expected to act to prevent larger dangers from developing."

There is no doubt that the FDA, in its move to bring these additional drugs under strict control, is on firm ground. In attempting to enforce the 1965 drug abuse amendments, the Government agency is facing a prodigious task, but the public, by and large, will lend its support to the effort. And we believe it should.

VICTOR RIESEL:
Communists Train New Youth Cadres On Isolated Farms

WASHINGTON—When revolutionist Gus Hall, the Brezhnev of the American Communist party, leaves the comforts of his big city suburbia for the crudities of a tiny Midwest farm, the odds are he's neither vacationing nor bird watching.

So it intrigued authorities to learn that some four months ago Hall went Hoosier. Secretly, he made his way to a small farm outside of Monterey, Ind., about 125 miles north of Indianapolis.

There under what the Communist Party believed to be the strictest security, Hall and several 40 young men and women eagerly awaiting to be briefed on their future in the Communist apparatus across the U. S.

THIS WAS BUT one of a series of secret training and indoctrination schools run by the Party since the Supreme Court ruled that its members need not register with the Attorney General.

The assembled youth were dedicated young people. Sex and revolution has been a favorite formula of the older Party organizers through the years.

In itself the secret training school would make a stirring story. So would the method of recruitment, selection and dispatch along "underground" routes. So would the obtaining of the farm, one of many sites of the Soviet-oriented Party has developed in the most unlikely and least proletarian sectors of the land.

BUT MORE VITAL here is the fact that for the first time the Orthodox Communist party is not having difficulty finding young people. Its membership roster has gone up some 2,000 over the static 10,000 of the past decade. And the cynics should know that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has other use for his agents and informers than to pour them into the "C. P." in such numbers.

What is important is the disclosure of a new directive to all Party organizers, whose chief was with Gus Hall on his Hoosier hegira, to build the Party to 50,000 now that it is generally believed the Russians will ally themselves with the U. S. against the Maoists during the final conflict.

HOWEVER, an analysis of Hall's "secret" indoctrination and briefing talk to the new cadre activists on the Monterey farm proves the USSR is not quite an ally of this nation.

Gus Hall is global headline news when he rides the secret circuit of Communist youth training camps, because he is the voice of Soviet theoretician Mikhail Suslov in the U. S. Hall never deviates. He is a Communist computer—a memory box into which Suslov's emissaries have programmed the line for the American Communist movement. Therefore, what Hall says is the basic Soviet catechism.

AND THE LINE, as he imparted it to the bucolic young comrades was: Neither the National Liberation Front nor the U. S. can win a military victory in Viet Nam. There is no question but that the U. S., however, will suffer a

SYLVIA PORTER:
Now Think In Trillions

THE SIZZLING statistics now streaking out of Washington herald the emergence of the U. S. as the first nation in the history of mankind to measure its economic achievements in terms of trillions of dollars.

This year our total output of goods and services will roar toward the three-quarter trillion dollar range, just about double our Gross National Product as recently as 1954.

Our personal incomes already are well over the half-trillion dollar level, will be climbing by tens of billions more in 1966. Our total personal savings are at almost $1.5 trillion, our debt-free assets are at nearly $1.2 trillion. The total of our private and public debts has crossed the $1 trillion mark. So has the total of life insurance in force.

HOW MUCH IS $1 trillion? How can I (I ask myself) grasp the meaning of a string of 12 zeroes (000,000,000,000) and pass this meaning on to you? Perhaps this way:

If you laid 1 trillion $1 bills end to end, the string would stretch 97 million miles—the distance of more than 200 round trips to the moon or of more than one one-way trip to the sun.

If you stacked 1 trillion $1 bills on top of each other, the pile would be 67,886 miles high or more than a third of the way to the moon (238,857 miles).

IF YOU LAID $1 trillion in $1,000 bills end to end, they would reach about 97,000 miles—nearly four times around the earth.

If you patched $1 trillion in $1 bills together on a single sheet, this sheet of money would cover the states of Rhode Island and Delaware and you'd have a few billions left over.

If you had $1 trillion in silver dollars, your hoard would weigh more than 29 million tons—the equivalent of 350 Queen Elizabeth steamships.

IF YOU SET out to count $1 trillion at the rate of $10,000 a minute, eight hours a day, six days a week, it would take you 667 years to finish counting.

If a $1 trillion company had been founded in the year 1 A. D. and it had done so badly that it lost $1 million a day, it still would have enough to continue losing $1 million a day for the next 775 years.

If you had $1 trillion, you could buy every American family a $20,000 home or every American adult a $9,000 luxury limousine. Or you could use the $1 trillion to pay for a four-year college education (at $2,500 a year) for 100 million students, which would work out to a college education for nearly every American who today is under 35 years of age.

IF YOU HAD this $1 trillion, you could buy a round-the-world trip for every American man, woman and child.

Enough. You can take it on from here and make your own computations, for the point is abundantly clear: a nation which can measure its economic attainments in terms of trillions and, most significantly, in terms of a currency which ranks among the most stable on the globe—is breaking far more barriers than those of outer space distances and microscopic particles.

MOREOVER, this report may give you a more comforting perspective on the financial burdens the President is now disclosing. Our administrative budget, for instance, has forever crossed the symbolic $100 billion mark, but that's a "smaller" proportionate budget against a GNP zooming into the $700 billion range than were the budgets of the late 1940s and mid-1950s against the annual Gross National Product totals of those years.

We have reached the point where a rise of $1 billion is a mere "pittance" in our economy and where a rise of $1 billion actually is becoming "modest." In this second half of the soaring '60s, get set to "think trillions."

BENNETT CERF:
Time Out To Laugh

ACCORDING TO the "Dumas Dictionary of Cuisine," toasts were first drunk during the French Revolution. The word came from the English who, when they drank to anyone's health, put a piece of toast in the bottom of the beer pot. Whoever drank last got the toast.

One day Anne Boleyn, then England's reigning beauty, was taking a bath surrounded by courtiers. She was taking a glass, dipped it in the tub, and drank to her health. All but one, that is, who was asked why he did not emulate their example.

"I am waiting for the toast," he said.

CHARLIE RICE tells a story that may make confirmed Beatles-bashers re-evaluate their stance. A reporter cornered Ringo Beate and demanded, "Don't you fellows sometimes get fed up with all those crazy young girls screaming at you?" Ringo answered amiably, "No, why should we? We scream at THEM!"

SIGNS OF THE TIMES—Please don't find golf balls until at least they've stopped rolling.

In a Village book shop: "World's greatest selection of book books."

In a window of a rundown side-street beaery: "No business, as usual, during alterations."

In a Midwestern city hall: "Our weather bureau is a non-prophet agency."

"I'M INNOCENT"

Death Row Resident Not Afraid

By MICHAEL J. DONNELLY COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — "I'm innocent," the condemned man said, looking around the room and then staring directly into my eyes, "but I'm not afraid to die."

Cleo Vernon Keaton of Dayton, a resident of the Ohio Penitentiary's death row since Nov. 9, told me about his philosophical outlook on his date with the electric chair in an interview inside the prison's stark gray walls.

He appeared calm. I was nervous. Walking into a grim, fortress-like penitentiary is an unforgettable experience—even when you know you are free to leave at will.

Keaton was sentenced to go to the chair April 22 for a slaying during a robbery. But his case is being appealed and the execution date is indefinite.

"Time goes by slowly in death row," Keaton told me. We talked in the interview room of a prison office. It was the first time he has spoken to a newsman since his arrest.

Keaton lives under the constant watch of security guards in a 7-by-7 cell equipped with a bunk, basin and toilet. He is one of 12 prisoners awaiting execution but, aside from an occasional game of chess or cards, he has little to do with the others.

He may leave the 12-block once a day for exercise in the prison courtyard, but he doesn't. "I don't care to leave my cell much," he said. "I've been to the courtyard only three times."

Take a week he is allowed to shower and a prison barber shaves him with a safety razor on Wednesdays and Fridays, leaving him with a heavy black stubble most of the time.

Keaton wears the special uniform of red stripes down the legs of his blue dungarees and on the back of his blue denim jacket and a white shirt instead of the usual prison blue work shirts.

As a condemned man, Keaton does have some privileges. He may have coffee whenever he wants it and is given 24-hour access to a radio.

"I have a set of earphones in my cell and I like to listen at night to the radio," he said.

"I've become adjusted to life here and time slowly moves on. There really aren't any days a here," he said. "I don't believe in writing notes to prison officials and asking for favors. I mind my own business and keep away from the others."

Keaton is 28, shorter than average with a medium build and a thick coat of carefully parted black wavy hair. He left home when he was 15 and has been married twice, the first time when he was 16. He had two children with each wife. His second wife, Harriet, and their children live with his parents now.

Calm, Quiet Spoken Keaton was calm and quiet during our two-hour talk. At first he was reticent but slowly he began to talk more freely about his trial and his life on death row. He smoked three cigarettes.

"I've accepted the fact I may die and am willing to do just as the others have done before me," he said.

Keaton was convicted in Pickaway County Court of Common Pleas Nov. 5 of first degree murder in the shooting of Maurice L. Francis, 27, of Williamsport, during a robbery last Nov. 12 in a rural area near Williamsport.

Dayton police also charged Keaton, a one-time inmate of the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield, with slaying Karl Bartee, 42, of New Carlisle and Ruth Sherman, 41, a Dayton waitress, during a holdup at a bar March 15.

Keaton insists he is innocent of the Francis murder and contends he was denied a fair trial because of political manipulation by the judge and prosecutor.

His attorney, Emmanuel Nadlin, has taken this appeal to the Fourth District Court of Pickaway County.

But Keaton says he is not bitter. "I have nothing against the Ohio penal system," he told me. And he said, the prison officials watching over him "are just doing their job."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fears of an increase in New York City's 15-cent subway fare have caused a run on tokens, but the Transit Authority has countered by rationing them to 10 per person.

A spokesman for the authority said if the run continues, the number of tokens per customer will be reduced to five. And further, it said, hoarders won't be able to use the 15-cent tokens if the fare is raised because the token size will be changed.

two sides to the question, then went on to give his opinion: "The House of Representatives is and should be very close to the people. For that reason, I believe a 2-year term is preferable." Mahon is chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee.

The newly elected chairman of the Texas delegation for the current session, Rep. Bob Casey of Houston, expressed a view shared by several: "I'm not enthusiastic for the 4-year proposal, although running all the time as required by the 2-year term does run into a lot of expense and is time consuming. I would probably vote to submit the issue to the states as a proposed constitutional amendment. Possibly a 3-year term would be a good compromise."

The President's own congressman, Rep. J. J. (Jake) Pickle of Austin, also would go for the 3-year term.

Valid Criticism "The criticism that the 2-year term is not realistic is a good and valid one," he said.

"You no more than finish one campaign than you have to start another. I do believe that the members of the House should stay close to the people. I wish we could have a 3-year term."

Rep. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, the new vice chairman of the Texas delegation, said: "I believe, since Congress has tended to be in longer and longer sessions, that a 4-year term would be better. Originally a 2-year term was thought best suited to keep a representative in close touch with the people, but time has changed this concept."

Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, strong for retaining the 2-year term, said: "Our founding forefathers devised this means of keeping one of our legislative bodies close to the people. In England members of Parliament are elected for 5-year terms, but when the government fails to get a majority on an issue they may have to go back before the electors immediately to determine the will of the people."

Will Of Public Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth voiced this opinion: "Certainly a 4-year term would be more convenient for the lawmakers, but the system was not originally constructed to serve the convenience of the congressmen but rather the will of the public."

"I am inclined to feel that those who drafted the Constitution were wise in providing that half the national legislature should be continually fresh from the public and thus continually responsive to the public mood and responsible to the public need."

The House always has served as a stepping stone to the Senate where terms are for six years. About half the present senators once served in the House. With this in mind, Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney said: "I think a 4-year term would be a good thing for the House, but I don't think the Senate is going to let us have it. That would make it possible for a representative in an off-election year to run for the Senate and still retain his House seat."

"I personally am willing to face the voters of my district every two years."

Strikes At Roots Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa opposed the 4-year proposal, saying: "It's very bad. It strikes at the very roots of representative government."

Other comments: Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo: "I'm not enthused about it, although I'd probably vote to submit it to the people."

Rep. John Young of Corpus Christi: "I have mixed feelings about a 4-year term. These are not strong ones. I'm not tearing my shirt either way."

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, without committing himself, said the proposal would take careful consideration.

Sen. John Tower, only Republican in the Texas delegation, said the 2-year term should be kept because: "A House election only in presidential election years would become totally subservient to the executive."

their terms end? The two senators say their terms expire in November, well before the next attorney general's term begins Jan. 1.

Davis' attorney, former Congressman Joe Kilgore, contended Spears' term expires Jan. 9 and Calhoun's in 1969. Terms begin with the convening of the legislature following their election, he said.

Spears' attorney, John Cofer of Austin, said it was the intention of the framers of the state Constitution that Senate terms, as well as House terms, begin with the legislators' election.

"A man doesn't hold office by virtue of a commission or a certification. He holds office by virtue of the vote of the people of Texas," Cofer said. "After the votes are counted on election day, he can say, 'I'm senator.'"

Kilgore urged the court to consider the long-standing custom of swearing senators in on the first day of the legislative session in January.

Dan Moody Jr. of Austin, Calhoun's lawyer, argued that Calhoun's term was shortened two years by the 1965 senatorial redistricting bill, which puts all Senate seats up for grabs this year.

Kilgore said that, despite reapportionment, Calhoun was elected to serve four years.

Dr. North said patients can protect themselves from fee splitting by insisting on separate billings from the surgeon and referring doctor.

"Some insurance companies will only honor a combined bill," he said. "In that case, the surgeon should itemize what he pays his assistant and the referring doctor who took the case. We don't like that, but some insurance companies insist on it."

The college holds that the referring doctor is entitled to special remuneration if he participates as a member of the operating team, but in such cases should bill the patient directly.

If a patient uncovers evidence of fee splitting, Dr. North said, he can report it to the grievance committee of his county medical society.

"If the surgeon is a fellow of the college we will investigate any such charge," he said. "But we have no control over surgeons who are not members."

LEAVES HIGH SCHOOL BEHIND

Pianist Looks To Future

By BETTY LINN McCARTY
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Sixteen-year-old John Sumerlin, described as an "exceptional student" by Monterey High School Principal B. J. Randles, completed requirements for a high school diploma Monday and settled down to prepare for a career in music.

Sumerlin, who is one of the youngest students to ever graduate from Monterey, is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Holland, 2111 56th St.

The young pianist has already begun to build for himself a reputation as an outstanding musician, and has high hopes of becoming a performing concert artist.

Finished Semester Early
Instead of completing graduation requirements in the usual eight semesters, Sumerlin took a heavy load each semester to finish a semester early. Another year of public schooling was skipped when he went from the first grade directly into the second grade at the age of six. He had attended a private school when he was four and five, making possible his early promotion to the second grade. But in high school there was no skipping of grades, and Sumerlin had to load himself heavily to complete requirements early. This past semester he took six solids to complete requirements, the heaviest load he has taken since entering high school. In spite of the heavy load, Sumerlin held membership in the National Honor Society both last year and this year. He was enrolled in honors English classes from the ninth grade through the 11th grade, and would have taken honors English this year except for a conflict in classes. Sumerlin also took an honors biology course in the 10th grade. Earned Extra Credit

The youthful graduate attended summer school last summer where he took two courses for one credit, but the extra credit was not needed for graduation. "I had to have a credit more than necessary for insurance against this semester," he said. Sumerlin had a reason for wanting to graduate a semester early.

"To prepare for a big music conservatory, you have to compete with some students who have gone to conservatory in high school," Sumerlin said. "They have a bit of a head start. I needed a semester to practice to catch up."

Sumerlin is not only an excellent pianist, but he is equally proficient as a violinist. For two years he has played the violin in the Lubbock Symphony, and it was a hard decision to make when he had to choose between the piano and violin for advanced study.

LOOKING TO FUTURE—John Sumerlin, 16, 2111 56th St., who completed requirements for graduation at Monterey High School Monday, looks to the future when he hopes to be a performing concert artist. Sumerlin has already begun to build for himself a reputation as an outstanding musician. (Staff Photo)

FOR CITY, AREA STUDENTS

Leadership Conference Set Friday, Saturday At MHS

By DAN BIDWELL
Monterey High School Correspondent
Monterey will host a leadership conference Friday and Saturday to help leaders plan to revitalize and create new interest in their organizations. Eighty-six area schools have been invited to send delegates to the meeting.

Representatives will be guests in students' homes. Friday night arrivals will be given tickets to the Monterey-Caprock basketball game. An after-game mixer is being planned.

Meetings will begin Saturday morning. Senator H. J. (Doc) Blanchard of Lubbock will speak at the first general session. Small discussion groups, led by local students, will then be organized to study a variety of topics concerning leadership.

Five Monterey students were selected as members of the All-State Choir Jan. 8 in tryouts at Canyon.

They are Susan Goad, second soprano; Donna Smith, first alto; Reagan Uphaw, second tenor alternate; and Randy Sevens, second bass alternate.

Accessories for 1966 graduation robes have been selected by the Senior Class Council. Blue caps and gowns, used for the first time this year, will be accented by a combination red and blue tassel and a red honor stole. This six inch wide strip will go around the neck and drape in front.

College Board Tests were given to seniors Jan. 8. Approximately 165 students took the Scholastic Aptitude Tests. Other testing dates are March 5, May 7, and an undecided date in July.

TO PROMOTE SPIRIT

School Makes Own Tags

By DARLA COPELAND
Alderson Junior High School Correspondent
Alderson's Student Council has started a new project in the line of tag and ribbon sales. Instead of buying school spirit tags, they already printed, they are using a device to print them themselves.

Silk Screen printing originated from the Chinese in about 500 B.C. It is, at the present time, being put to use by Joe Rose, Alderson's Student Council President, who draws the designs for the different tags, and other members of the Student body who are printing them. Money made from the tag sales will go to the Student Council for use in other school projects.

Alderson's Future Homemakers of America are having contests to see which class may aid the most in answering a plea, made by Texas Future Homemakers, by sending cancelled stamps to Norway for a fight against Tuberculosis. These stamps are sold to aid against this disease.

All types of stamps can be used including three and four cent values. The classes will send these stamps to the area office and they will in turn send them to the Sons of Norway, an organization to help fight against Tuberculosis.

Linda Shannon, of Alderson's FHA, department, is the director of a skit called "A Backward Glance." The skit is about early marriages and their problems. The cast consists of Virginia Verner, playing Tom Smith; Jeanie Lee, playing Sue Smith; Ann Thompson, playing Sally Moore; and Linda Shannon, as Jim Collins.

"A" band members chosen to represent Alderson in the Regional Solo and Ensemble contest Feb. 19 are Joan Morgan, Ronnie Propst, Ernest Delgado, Bill Martin, Mike Ward, Jerry Wilcox and Gilea Stafford.

Students playing in ensembles will be Abigail Alva, Pat White, Charles Steward, Author Sedino, Rodney Propst, Mike Burk, Pete Olvera, Steve Dunagan, Mike Snow, Frank Zamora, Andy Chavez, Manuel Monclova, Ruben Cazares, and Jackie Dawson.

Mrs. Joe Scott of Isabel Powell's spoke to the ninth graders during fifth period recently. Mrs. Scott talked on "A Future in Hair Styling." The assembly was in conjunction with the occupational unit studied in the ninth grade English classes.

The Alderson Library placed on its shelves a number of classic and modern books for reading enjoyment throughout the year.

The Alderson Junior High Cheerleaders presented the first pep rally of the year Thursday in the boys gymnasium. The assembly featured five boys, Danny Clayton, Fred White, Sam Scott, Bobby Grabber, and Chuck Veal, who acted as Matthew cheerleaders. They did two yells for us: "Give 'em the Blue" and "Two Bits."

Our eighth grade football players were presented a trophy for winning district championship, and being second in the city. The trophy was presented by Fred Janzen, assistant principal, to the eighth and ninth grade boys physical education teacher, Coach Damaron.

The trophy, which is about a foot tall, has engraved on its side "North Zone Champion, City Runner-up, Eight grade, 1965." Both the coach and the boys are proud of it.

Alderson's Special Class, taught by Mrs. Ann Miller, special education teacher, will be working on handicrafts from now until the end of school. The students have been working on such things as recipe holders, pencil holders, and what-not-shelves, and are doing very good work.

Dante's Work Is Featured

By PAUL BOWDEN
Christ The King High School Correspondent
To promote a genuine appreciation of the tremendous literary works written by Dante, a special observance will be conducted beginning Monday and continuing through the week. A display featuring much of his literature will be in the show case in the main hall.

Also, everyone will be required to recite a famous quote from any one of his original literary masterpieces. The reason for such emphasis placed on Dante is because this forthcoming week will mark the author's 700th anniversary.

Recently, through different organizations in the Lubbock community, an interest has been expressed in the Lubbock unity. To strengthen such a movement, the students and faculty will partake in a special Church unity observance conducted under guidance of Rev. Timothy Tinnes. The service will continue through next week.

Also under the direction of Rev. Tinnes will be a skit presented by members of the Senior Class entitled "No Exit." This particular production was written by Jean Paul Sartre, with whom the Senior Religion class is concerned at the present time. Paul Devlin, Tim Hart, Cynthia Browning, and Mary Cynthia will star in the skit.

Nancy Kwan Comes Home To Perform Labor Of Love

By FORREST EDWARDS
HONG KONG (AP)—Nancy Kwan, who captivated audiences in the American films "World of Suzie Wong" and "Flower Drum Song," has come home to a labor of love.

The daughter of a Chinese father and an English mother is starring in the ultra-low budget "Lodestone," being filmed in color on an outlying Hong Kong island by the Government Information Service.

Dramatic Story
The 40-minute picture, far removed from the usual tourist promotion film, presents a dramatic story instead of a series of scenic views.

"Lodestone" has an over-all budget of $35,000.

Out of that must come costs of color film and processing, payments to owners and salaries of crews for a score of Chinese junk featured in the film, and the price of one junk which will be wrecked in a key storm-at-sea sequence.

"That," explained a spokesman, "leaves no money for a star-sized salary to an international film star of Miss Kwan's calibre."

"But that made no difference to Miss Kwan, 26. She came home to Hong Kong, from Austria where she now lives with hotelman husband Peter Pock and their son, to lend her talents for a film which will show Hong Kong to the rest of the world in a new light."

Legends Merged
Miss Kwan plays the wife of a Chinese fisherman in a story set a thousand years ago on the group of islands which eventually became Hong Kong. The script, written by Brian Salt, head of the information service's film department, weaves together two old Hong Kong area legends.

One has it that Chinese fishermen invented the compass in this area. From that comes the film's title.

The other tells of a wife who, with her baby strapped to her back, climbed a Hong Kong hill to wait for her fisherman husband lost in a storm at sea. The Chinese gods, taking pity on her, used a lightning bolt to turn her to stone so she would not grow old alone.

A rock pillar, roughly in the shape of a woman with a baby on her back, stands in Hong Kong's Shatin area—between the city and the Chinese border—and some Chinese claim it is the waiting mother and her baby.

Coupled with the scene of her husband's junk being wrecked at sea will be another of the lightning flash turning Miss Kwan to stone.

The film is expected to be completed next month and probably will have its premiere here in midyear. After that prints will be distributed for showing around the world.

Salt, writer, producer and director, hopes for a side value—a vehicle showing commercial film producers of America and Europe what the outlying islands and rural areas of Hong Kong can supply in the way of natural beauty and exotic backgrounds for full-length films.

Feature films have used Hong Kong city as a locale, but none has gone out into the countryside or used any of the small outlying islands.

Children Infected With TB Adjust To Sanatorium Life

DETROIT (AP)—Thirteen children, infected with tuberculosis by a teacher at their nursery school, were adjusting to life in a sanatorium today as health authorities worked to keep the outbreak from spreading.

Tests on other pupils continued, and Dr. Paul O'Rourke, director of Herman Kiefer Hospital's TB clinic, said he would not be surprised if other youngsters had contracted the disease in a sanatorium today as well.

The teacher, identified as a mother of two, was hospitalized Wednesday. O'Rourke said she was "very remorseful, weeping, all broken up about this."

A state legislator called for an investigation and new safety standards, and the Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta, Ga., said a nationwide program to be started next year hopefully would prevent such incidents.

The 13 youngsters, aged 3 to 6, were placed in Maybury Sanatorium near suburban Northville. All were pupils at a day nursery at nearby Garden City.

A 14th child known to be infected is being treated as an outpatient.

Former Garden City Mayor James Tierney, now a Democratic legislator, proposed creation of a special health committee as a watchdog on nurseries and other establishments.

In Atlanta, the CDC referred to the Michigan outbreak as an example of what the new program would seek to prevent.

First Grade Tests
"Tuberculin testing of first-graders will be made for the first time," said Richard Larkin of the center's information office.

"But chiefly, we hope to prevent children from being infected by others," he said. "We hope to have such an extensive program underway that all teachers—and even bus drivers—will be periodically examined."

The youngsters generally took things in stride, getting used to the high-sided beds, the white pills and vitamins and the sanatorium in which most will spend an estimated three to nine months. They will be allowed visitors only on weekends.

"I like it here pretty good," said Greg Kroups, a brown-eyed 4-year-old.

But not all the tots shared Greg's outlook. Little Jerry Bokar, hugging a fuzzy bear named Cinnamon and successfully fighting back his tears, observed: "I don't like it here. I want to see my dog Mimi. When can I go home?"

Mistrial Declared In Exposure Case Here
The trial of a Lubbock man on charges of indecent exposure to a minor ended in a mistrial here Wednesday when the jury reported they were hopelessly deadlocked.

Defendant in the trial that began Tuesday morning was Ira Ray Sullivan, 19, 2319 10th St. He was accused in connection with an incident involving a 9-year-old girl in the 2800-block of 38th St., Sept. 28.

Sullivan was arrested 30-30 minutes after the incident was reported. Police said he was identified in a lineup.

The jury deliberated about three hours Wednesday afternoon before reporting they were unable to reach a verdict. Judge Robert H. Bean then declared the mistrial.

JAVITS PROPOSES PRESIDENTIAL INTERVENTION

Call Renewed For Law To Block Walkout

By WILLIAM THEIS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — With New York's transit strike fresh in the public mind, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., today renewed his campaign for legislation to head off walkouts which imperil the public health and safety.

They key provision of the bill Javits offered today calls for presidential intervention. A special receiver would operate struck facilities and order a 30-day freeze during which both sides would negotiate on recommendations of a fact-finding board.

President Johnson urged Congress in his State of the Union message last week to consider legislation to prevent strikes that would threaten the national interest with irreparable damage.

No Details Given
Johnson gave no details on what direction such legislation would take. But one suggestion that has been received favorably by Labor Department officials and others would call for the President to invoke a cooling-off period and name a fact-finding board.

Javits' measure, first offered last year, would amend the Taft-Hartley and Railway Labor Acts. Rep. Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., was backing a similar bill in the house.

The bills would extend Taft-

Hartley provisions to disputes which affect interstate commerce and imperil health or safety of a "substantial part of the population or territory of the nation."

They also would cover employees of a state or political subdivision engaged in transportation, transmission or communication.

"The crippling New York transit strike earlier this month was only one in a series of recent labor disputes and threatened labor disputes pointing up the inadequacy of existing laws to protect the public interest," Javits said in a prepared statement.

Examples Cited
Javits said the steel labor crisis last fall "was resolved only after it brought the nation to the brink of economic disaster" and then only after presidential intervention. He added that the 1963 rail crisis, suspended by a special statute, demonstrated that an established procedure is needed.

"In my view," Javits said, "it is only a voluntary agreement which can both end a strike and also resolve the underlying controversy. It is for this reason that I believe the process of recommendations by a fact-finding board appointed by the President, with a standstill period during which these recommendations must be considered, is the best plan."

The senator said his proposal "is in no way inconsistent with the efforts of New York's mayor (John V.) Lindsay, nor the efforts of other city and state officials to develop better procedures."

Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, urged Wednesday that when Lindsay turned to Washington for help in the transit strike "the administration had no procedure it could invoke under the law."

Wurf said that a study of disputes involving his 300,000-member union showed that a strike had never occurred after such day that impartial fact-finding panels be set up to avert costly walkouts such as the New York strike.

He said the commissions should be selected by management and labor "with a mutually chosen third party in order to produce reasonable settlements."

BY JAPANESE MINISTER

Russians Reject Plea On Viet Nam

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union rejected a new non-Communist plea today that it use its influence to bring North Viet Nam to the conference table.

The plea was directed to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko by Japanese Foreign Minister Eisaburo Shina during a two-hour talk here today.

Shina told newsmen that Gromyko told him since the United States is the "aggressor" in Viet Nam it is up to Washington to promote peace talks by stopping the fighting and evacuating its troops.

Russia itself is not in a position to mediate the crisis, Gromyko told Shina.

Han's Changed Attitude
Shina's report of his meeting indicated that, despite the U.S. peace offensive and months of intensive Western pressure on the Kremlin, this nation has not changed its attitude on Viet Nam.

The Soviet policy is to give the North Vietnamese moral, economic and military support while rebuffing Western attempts to enlist them in moves toward peace talks.

The Shina-Gromyko talks, their second in two days, ranged broadly across international affairs. But 50 minutes or nearly half their meeting centered on Viet Nam.

Shina said he changed the subject when it became obvious the Soviet position was adamant.

Expressed Concern
Shina said he expressed Japan's concern over the Vietnamese fighting, urged a negotiated settlement, and asked the Soviets to use their influence with Hanoi to get peace talks going.

Shina, who met earlier this month in Tokyo with roving U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, said he reported to Gromyko that the United States is ready to stop fighting when the Communists are.

Gromyko, he said, retorted that the United States is responsible for the worsening situation, as it is the aggressor there.

Therefore, he said, the first move toward peace must be made by Washington. He suggested a unilateral American ceasefire and troop evacuation, both points long demanded by Hanoi.

Shina said he carried away the impression that the Soviet attitude toward Viet Nam and the United States role there is unchanged.

A Soviet aid mission recently went to Hanoi to sign an agreement giving more help to the Communist regime there.

Brooks To Run In New District

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., announced today he will seek re-election to represent the newly created Beaumont-Galveston district.

His announcement followed by a day one by Rep. Clark Thompson, D-Tex., that he would not seek another term.

Brooks is from Beaumont and Thompson from Galveston. Their present districts were merged under a state reapportionment act upheld in federal court earlier this month.

Commenting on the situation created by the redistricting, Brooks said: "The Texas Gulf Coast can ill afford to lose the counsel of my good friend Jack Thompson, but I would be less than frank if I didn't say that I am glad that I did not have to make the difficult decision to be his opponent under the new state redistricting law."

Rescue Squadron Given Citation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of the 38th Air Rescue Squadron had President Johnson's personal thanks today for saving 74 airmen downed by Communist anti-aircraft fire in Viet Nam.

Col. Edward Krafka of Winter Park, Fla., the squadron commander, received a presidential unit citation at the White House Wednesday in behalf of his men, whom Johnson said had joined "the honor roll of American heroes."

MAKE AMERICAN-ORIENTAL HOSPITALITY A HABIT

JOY PENROD, Food Editor

"Huen eng kung lin" and "so glad you could come" are synonymous—though centuries separate them. One is ancient Chinese, the other modern American. Both, however, are warm, happy greetings for friends invited to dinner. And since both these old and new cultures share a love of hospitality, what could be more fitting on a special occasion than an American-Oriental feast—one that offers all the exotic tradition of ancient Chinese feasts, with the ease found only in modern American convenience foods?

Sweet Fruit Soup, just as a fireworks display, starts the meal with an explosion of color. It blends fruits, the dramatic colors of Chinese silk, with the ivory tones of water chestnuts.

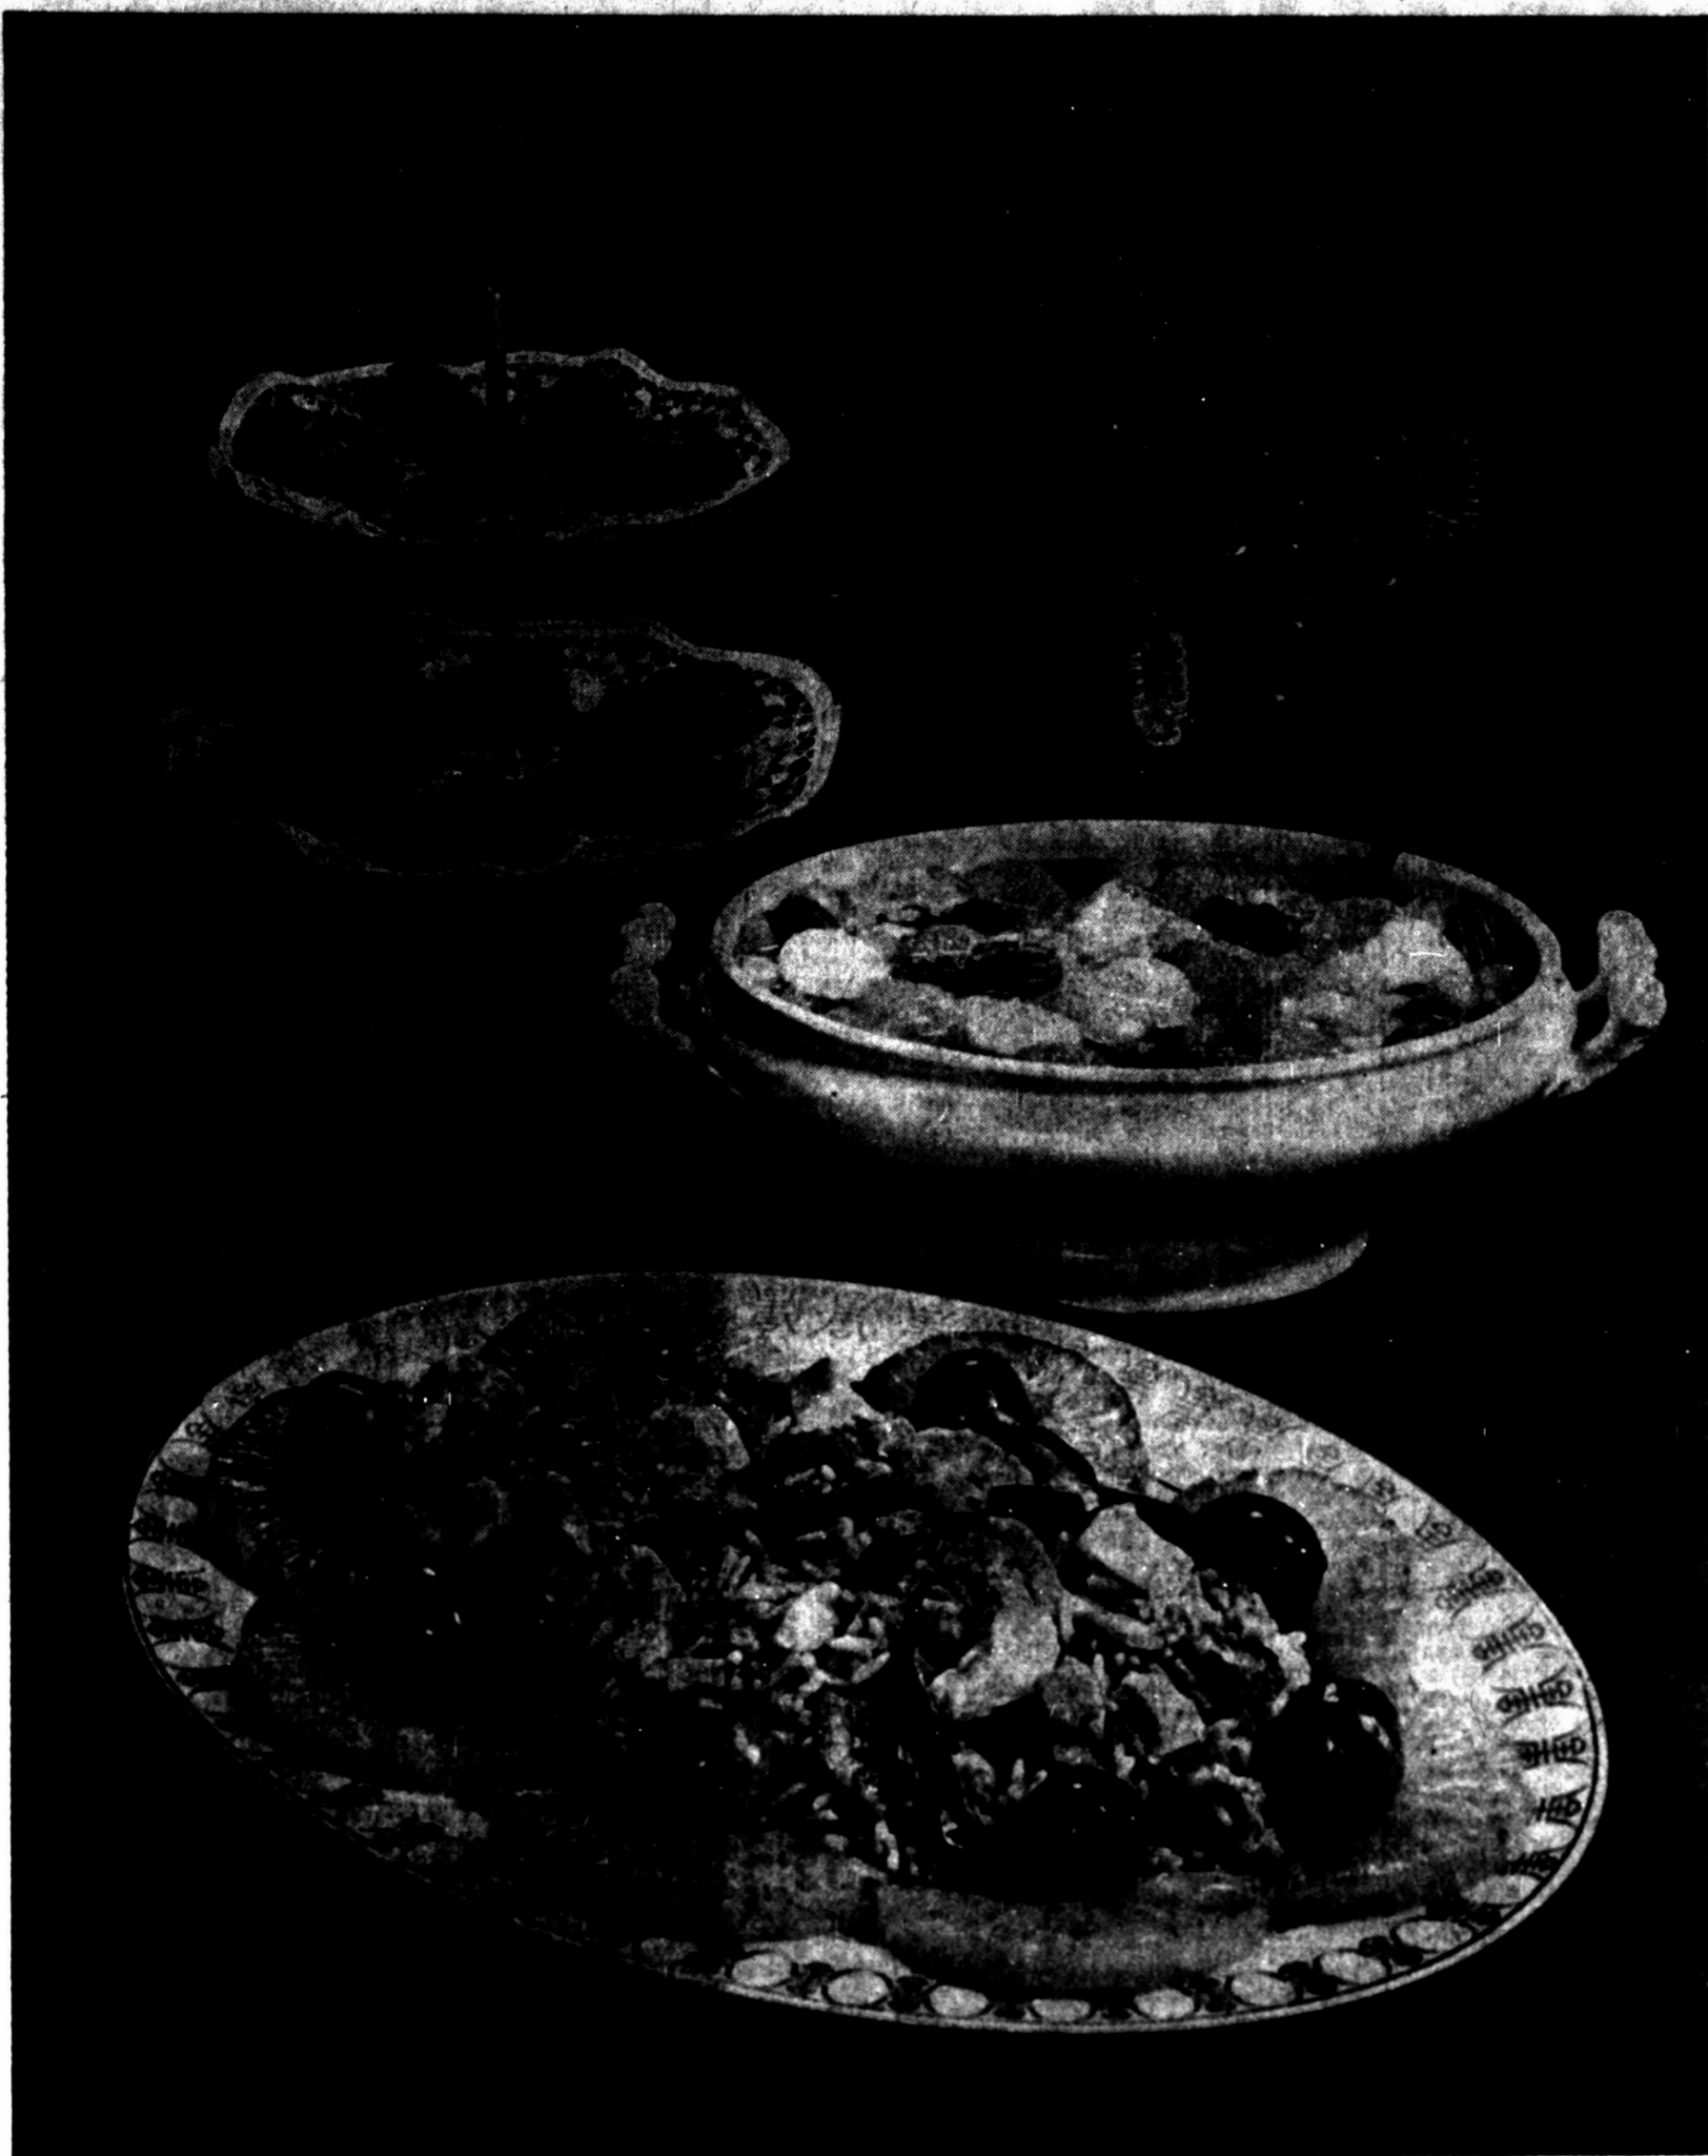

The same convenience highlights Fried Rice with Eight Jewels. As its name implies, this main dish bestrewns a bed of fried rice with eight major ingredients: ham, shrimp, chicken, bacon, green pepper, black olives, cherry tomatoes and pineapple.

Chinese desserts traditionally enhance, but never overpower a meal. Mandarin Dessert Squares, however, can be served simple or sumptuously—as is, or mounded with ice cream and mandarin orange segments. These treats exemplify the great Eastern principle of opposites.

The principle of opposites is no mystery to teenagers. The next time the gang descends, let them whip up Chop Suey Bologna Cups—a combination of Beef Chop Suey and the all-American sliced tomato and cheese.

Since there is really no legitimate reason why all good things must end, make American-Oriental foods a year-round habit with this simple-to-prepare dish, Almond Biscuit Chow Mein. Counter to the erroneous idea that "Chinese food isn't filling," this hearty casserole will satisfy the hungriest family member.

The Chinese have a word for it too. It is "ho mei" and, loosely translated, means "wonderful taste." While language still loses much in translation, neither cook nor diners lose out when American-Oriental foods become a habit.

WHEN IT COMES TO CHINESE FOOD, East and West have much in common. The development of canned and frozen Chinese foods for American home use has served to make American-Oriental dishes mealtime regulars in many homes. And their versatility is unlimited.

FRIED RICE WITH "EIGHT JEWELS"

6 slices bacon, cut in 1/2 inch slices	1 green pepper, cut in strips about 1/2 inch by 2 inches
2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen fried rice	3/4 cup diced cooked chicken
2 tablespoons water	1/2 pound fresh or frozen, thawed, shrimp
4 slices (8 1/2 oz. can) canned pineapple rings, halved	1/2 pound diced cooked ham
	1/2 cup pitted black olives
	10 cherry tomatoes for garnish

Saute the bacon in a large frying pan until crisp. Remove 2 tablespoons of the drippings into a large saucepan with a cover, add water and the frozen fried rice; break rice into blocks and simmer, covered, until thawed and hot (about 15 minutes.)

Meanwhile in frying pan, brown the pineapple rings in the remaining bacon drippings, remove from pan; add the green pepper, chicken, shrimp, and ham and cook, stirring, until shrimp is pink and chicken and ham are slightly browned. Combine this mixture with the fried rice and turn out onto a serving platter. Garnish with the black olives, pineapple, and cherry tomatoes. Makes about 6 servings.

SWEET FRUIT SOUP WITH WATER CHESTNUTS

1/2 cup rice	1 can (1 lb.) fruit cocktail, drained
6 cups water	1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup honey	1/3 cup maraschino cherries, halved
1/2 cup sugar	1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
1 can (8 oz.) mandarin oranges	1/2 cup salad oil
1 can (10 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and quartered	2 tablespoons Muscatel or Sherry (optional)

Bring rice and water to a boil; cover and cook for 30 minutes. Stir in the honey and sugar, mandarin oranges juice and all, fruit cocktail, water chestnuts, dates, and maraschino cherries. Cook 15 minutes more. Chill.

Heat oil and add the nuts, stir until nuts are browned but not burned, about 2 minutes. Serve the fruit soup garnished with the fried nuts. Stir in the Muscatel or Sherry for added flavor.

Serves 6-8

MANDARIN DESSERT SQUARES

1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted	1/2 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
2 cans (3 oz. each) Chow Mein Noodles, ground	1/2 cup butterscotch or chocolate chips
1 cup brown sugar, well packed	Ice Cream
1 egg	Mandarin oranges, canned
1/4 cup milk	Chocolate sauce

Mix the butter with the ground noodles (2 cans ground equal 2 cups crumbs). Blend in the sugar, egg, nuts, milk and chips. Press into a well greased and floured 8-inch square pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 40 to 45 minutes. Cool 1 hour before cutting. Cut in squares. Top each with a scoop of ice cream, mandarin orange segments, and pour over chocolate sauce. Serve as dessert. To serve as a bar cookie, cut into smaller bars. Makes 9 dessert squares or 18 cookie bars.

ALMOND BISCUIT CHOW MEIN

1 can (2 pounds, 11 ounces) Chicken Chow Mein, divider-pak	1/2 cup chicken consommé or water
2 cups cooked rice	1/2 can (4 ounces) refrigerated baking powder biscuits*
1 cup diced salami, bologna or cooked ham	6 almonds, halved

Separate the cans of Chow Mein Sauce and Vegetables. Drain vegetables; rinse with cold water. Combine vegetables and sauce with rice, diced meat and consommé. Turn into a buttered 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with the baking powder biscuits. Brush tops of the biscuits with water or milk and place 2 almond halves on top of each. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 45 minutes or until biscuits are golden. Serves 4 to 6.

*Remaining biscuits may be baked separately.

CHOP SUEY BOLOGNA CUPS

8 slices bologna (about 3 1/2 inch diameter)	2 small tomatoes, very thinly sliced
1 can (1 pound 8 ounces) Beef Chop Suey, divider-pak	2 slices American cheese, cut in 1/4 inch strips
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Arrange bologna slices on a flat oven-proof serving platter or cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 7 to 10 minutes or until slices curl to form cups. Meanwhile, separate cans of Chop Suey Sauce and Vegetables. Drain and rinse the vegetables under cold water. Combine vegetables and sauce; add Worcestershire sauce. Spoon chop suey into the bologna cups. Top each with a slice of tomato. Cross each tomato with two strips of the cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) until the cheese melts. Garnish with parsley and serve.

Makes 8 servings.

Not one night but 15 days are devoted to the Chinese New Year Festival. And the Snake gives way to the Year of the Horse beginning January 21.

In this new year of 4664, Chinese communities around the world will sing out "Kung Ho Shin She"—that's "happy new year" and a welcome phrase in any language. In case you are partying Oriental style now or later, this information may be of interest:

Several days before the New Year, each family prepares a farewell feast for the Prince of the Oven, or God of the Kitchen, before he leaves for Heaven to report on the behavior of the family during the past year.

Homes are festooned with paper gods on front doors. Strips of red paper with characters symbolizing happiness, wealth, good fortune, long life, etc., are placed on door posts. Tables are spread with offerings of rice, vegetables, tea, wine, incense, candles and sprays of cedar or flowers. When the arrangements are completed, firecrackers are set off in front of the house.

Six days are given the Feast of Lanterns. On the 10th day of the New Year Festival, the people begin to display paper lanterns and by the 15th day, lanterns of all shapes, sizes, patterns and colors are strung from every possible vantage point.

The Festival ends with the Parade of the Dragon. A huge shape of this mythical creature is formed of bamboo and covered with silk or paper.

Bloody Viet Nam War Forces U.S. To Take Action Against Cambodia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The road from Qui Nhon on South Viet Nam's South China sea coast moves west through mountain pass and jungled sand and scrub to Pleiku in the Central Highlands and then toward a handful of miles to Cambodia.

It was this same knowledge that led the United States to continue to speak softly even after Sihanouk broke American-Cambodian relations last May.

It was the diplomatic view and in the increasing belief that with a change in the fortunes of war, Sihanouk would change. But, with supplies, the military view took over.

RESPONSIBILITY OF COMMUNITY

Planning Of A School Budget Is Complicated, Extensive Activity

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Planning of a school budget is a complicated and extensive activity. It is an important responsibility of board members and the entire staff. It affects all aspects of the school operation as well as the staff and program.

A budget is the translation of the quality and curriculum of a school in terms of money. The superintendent of schools must obtain, discuss and evaluate proposals of staff members which he finally compiles into proposed budget for presentation to the board of education.

This may be the last step or the budget might be presented to the community for a public vote, or it may be presented to another governing group such as a city council for approval. This will depend upon the particular laws of the state.

It is a process which involves many hours of hard work and difficult decisions. Although some portions of a budget are open to change there are also parts which are required by law or contract. Such items as Social Security payments, interest and principal payments on bonds, retirement payments and many others are often not open to change.

Salaries which usually constitute the largest part of any budget are a result of several factors such as state law, competition, numbers of students, types of services and negotiation.

Citizens should not make budget decisions based upon emotion but rather with a full understanding and knowledge of the background upon which particular items have been included.

Citizens Take Part

They must consider the educational aims of the community as well as the ability

SERVED AS MENZIES' LIEUTENANT FOR YEARS

Holt Ends Wait For Aussie Leadership

By STANLEY W. STEPHENS was a foregone conclusion. He was first elected to Parliament... CANBERRA, Australia (AP) had been deputy Liberal leader in 1955.

Harold E. Holt, Australia's since 1956, federal treasurer... Like Menzies, Holt graduated... He was first elected to Parliament at the age of 27 and served in Menzies' first Cabinet, 1939-1941.

COURT ACTION MAY BAN WALKOUT

Second Rail Union Raises Threat Of National Tieup

The affairs of the world at large and of Australia in a period of rapid developments are increasing in weight and complexity," Menzies said.

Government sources said Menzies also intends to resign his parliamentary seat for the Kooragang District of Victoria State.

By NEIL GILBRIDE.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second union raised the spectre today of a major railroad strike crisis.

They've mistreated our people to such an extent... that anything could happen," said Charles Luna, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe said his attorneys would be ready to draw up court injunction papers if the trainmen threaten a strike.

Could Delay Strike

Court action could delay any strike for months. Luna's comment came the day after H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen warned that a new national railroad strike crisis loomed unless the railroads bargain on the union's terms. Both disputes involve the federal arbitration ruling under which the jobs of 17,500 firemen and nearly an equal number of trainmen were eliminated.

Both unions demand that most of the jobs be restored. In the case of the trainmen, the special two-year federal arbitration law expires Jan. 25 and in the case of the firemen, March 31.

Free To Strike

Gilbert specifically said, and Luna implied, that they believe the unions will be legally free to strike on those dates. Wolfe disagreed. "In my opinion, supported by all the lawyers with whom I have talked, the (arbitration) award continues until something takes its place," he said.

A strike by the trainmen would involve some 85 railroads in the West and the Southeast. Luna said satisfactory agreements had been reached with some 35 eastern railroads.

Rights Argued

Railroad spokesmen contend they have the right to continue eliminating jobs at least 7,000 more firemen and many thousand of brakemen even after the arbitration ruling expires. Luna's union represents the brakemen.

The union chiefs said this means they have the right to demand that all the eliminated jobs be restored.

Gilbert said at a news conference that his union definitely would consider strike action if the railroads don't come to a new agreement with the unions.

Luna, who has made no previous public comment on his union's plans, strongly implied his union would also be ready to strike if necessary. "A barking dog doesn't bite," Luna said in an interview.

Ad Executive Says Newspaper Bigger, Better

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The president of the International Newspaper Advertising Executives Association said today American newspapers are bigger, better, more prosperous and face a brighter future than ever before.

Carl P. Flynn, advertising director of the Tulsa (Okla.) World-Tribune, made the statement in a speech to the opening session of the INEA's 6th annual sales conference. About 1,000 newspaper advertisers are attending the conference, which will run through Saturday.

He denounced critics of the modern press, mostly members of the industry themselves. "We are not behind the times, we are not uncooperative, we are not standing still, and we are not ready to roll over and play dead," he said.

He said newspapers are the major influence in moving more than $250 billion in retail sales and services.

"In every individual market there is some difference in the living habits of people," he said. "The daily newspaper maintains a dialogue with these people that no other medium can produce. There is an intimate relationship between the opinion-maker, the opinion-observer and the common, everyday opinion-holder that exists nowhere else, certainly not in network TV or mass magazines."

Woman Who Killed Husband Committed

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Oliver Fountain, 60, who told officers she shot her husband and then attempted suicide, was committed to the Terrell State Hospital Wednesday.

A county grand jury declined to indict her Monday.

Her husband, 71, a lawyer, was fatally shot while sleeping the night of Jan. 3. Police said Mrs. Fountain shot herself four times.

Officers said she killed her husband for fear she might die before he did and there would be no one to care for him.

He was first elected to Parliament at the age of 27 and served in Menzies' first Cabinet, 1939-1941.

Holt had prematurely gray hair which in recent years turned white. His good looks and well tailored clothes earned him the label "matinee idol of Parliament."

His father was a theater manager, an aunt was on the British stage, and after Holt's mother died his father married Lola Thring, an Australian theater and radio personality.

Holt married his university sweetheart, Zara, in 1946 after her first marriage ended in divorce. She has three sons by her first marriage.

They live in Toorak, an exclusive Melbourne suburb, and have a vacation cottage near the sea at Portsea. He is an amateur fruit grower and is an enthusiastic water skier, spear fisherman and underwater swimmer.

As prime minister, Holt will head a coalition of the Liberal and Country parties. He told a news conference following a meeting with Country party leader John McEwen that the two could see no problems in continuing the good relations between the two parties.

No threat is expected from the opposition Labor party, at least until the general election late this year. The Labor party is sorely troubled by internal strife.

Holt is expected to continue Menzies' policies of close ties with Britain and the United States, including Australia's commitment in Viet Nam where its troops are fighting alongside U.S. forces.

Holt became a minister again when Menzies was re-elected in 1949 and has headed the labor and treasury portfolios.

As the Menzies era moved well into its second decade, it began to look as if he would never retire. But while Holt waited, such potential rivals as Sir Percy Spender and Sir Garfield Barwick moved from the political arena to the judiciary.

Holt never appeared to become impatient and probably never was, so intense was his admiration and loyalty for Menzies. He also had the comfortable knowledge that the prime minister regarded him as his heir apparent.

CAPT. STINSON Pilot From Area Helps In Rescue

A Plainview native and grandson of Lubbock residents, Capt. Thomas W. Stinson of St. Joseph, Mich., played an active role in the dramatic rescue of a fellow pilot whose plane was downed in Viet Nam recently.

Capt. Stinson, 35, and another pilot were responsible for silencing one 300-caliber gun emplacement and drawing the fire of another so that an Army helicopter crew could rescue the Albuquerque pilot, Capt. Carl M. Schlick, 30.

Relatives In Area

Stinson is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Banks, 318 Ave. W. Aunts who live in this area are Mrs. Carl Jenkins, 4920 15th Place, and Mrs. Eunice Johnson, Plainview.

Stinson's father, Tom, is a former Plainview man who now lives in Hollywood.

The 20-minute rescue involved several persons. During an air attack Dec. 29, one of three F-100 Super-sabre pilots from the 416 Tactical Fighter Squadron, attached to Tan Son Nhut Air Force Base, was shot down 15 miles west of Saigon.

Reels Nearby

The pilot, Capt. Schlick, ejected and landed in a field. He crawled to a wooded area, with Viet Cong on either side of him.

Following the rescue, Capt. Schlick praised the Army helicopter crew, which "came in despite heavy fire and slowed down" and also Lt. David H. Pinsky, forward air controller from Teaneck, N. J., Capt. Stinson and Capt. James J. Simms, Leavenworth, Kan.

"The two pilots on my flight, (Capts. Simms and Stinson) under the direction of Lt. Pinsky, rolled in and silenced one of the 30s which helped the situation considerably, but it was still touchy," the rescued pilot said. "and I'm grateful to Lt. Pinsky, the Army chopper crew and my fellow pilots for their successful efforts."

Capt. Stinson served in Viet Nam from March to July last year and was ordered back for another year in November.

He and his wife have five children—Kathy, David, Susan, Tom and Karen. The family resides in St. Joseph.

Texan Summoned To Mossler Trial

PASADENA, Tex. (AP)—The Pasadena, Tex., News Citizen reported today that a man charged with robbery in Houston has been summoned as a witness in the Miami, Fla., murder trial of Mrs. Candace Mossler and Melvin Lane Powers.

Carl C. Martin, 32, was released under bond and left Houston Wednesday en route to Florida, the newspaper said in a copyrighted story. It gave these details:

Martin was arrested early Monday by South Houston officers and accused of driving a getaway car for three other men. He also faces two armed robbery charges in Houston and a charge of serious threat to take a life.

The Houston man testified at a preliminary hearing July 12 in Miami that Powers offered him money to kill Mossler but he declined the offer.

He said that while he was employed by Powers he saw Powers and Mrs. Mossler "hugging and kissing" and told of overhearing a telephone conversation between the two.

'Pirate' Ship Run Aground By Storm

LONDON (AP) — A North Sea storm drove Britain's pioneer radio pirate ship on to British territory today. But the government said it wouldn't seize Radio Caroline unless she started broadcasting.

Rescue teams brought five disc jockeys and two technicians ashore by breeches buoy through heavy seas. The Dutch skipper and his crew stayed aboard.

At dawn they could have walked ashore. The receding tide left Radio Caroline listing on the beach at Frinton, an East Coast resort.

First Radio Pirate
Caroline, based on a converted sailing ship, was the first of the radio pirates to take to the seas to beat the British ban on commercial radio. Anchored outside territorial waters and broadcasting pop records between the commercials, her operators claim that in two years she has attracted daily audiences of up to 30 million in Britain and Western Europe.

The Pirate started dragging her anchor Wednesday night soon after she went off the air for the night. The Coast Guard noticed she was in danger and for three hours tried in vain to call her on the emergency radio net. People ashore tried to signal by flashing auto headlights.

Caroline went aground within 50 yards of Frinton's cliffs. The Coast Guard rescue squad was waiting to fire a rocket carrying the breeches buoy line.

Felt Ship Bumping
Graham Webb, one of the first disc jockeys ashore, reported: "We felt the ship bumping about, but it has been so rough lately that no one took any notice."

"The sea was very rough and the winds very high, but we went on watching television. It wasn't until the wrestling was on that we realized we were in trouble."

Once she was inside the three-mile limit, Caroline was within the reach of British law. But the Post Office, which controls broadcasting, said: "Provided they don't broadcast no action will be taken."

WRONG COURT

Defendant Wins Acquittal In Art Theft Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The first defendant was acquitted Wednesday in a half million dollar art theft case that the presiding judge says should have been tried in another court.

U.S. Dist. Judge William Swigert acquitted Martin Winthal, 25, of San Francisco, who was charged with transporting the stolen art across state lines.

Two Van Goghs, one Renoir and one Vlaminck were stolen last March 20 from the Hillsborough, Calif., estate housing the art collection of the late W. W. Crocker.

The paintings were recovered last April 24 in a Houston, Tex., warehouse.

Failed To Make Case
Judge Swigert, trying the case without a jury, said the prosecution failed to make its case and added:

"So far as the evidence is concerned I do not think it unreasonable to think that the paintings were stolen by someone else and taken to Texas . . ."

"Instead of a prosecution in a state court for possession of stolen goods the government, for some reason, unfortunately brought this case in here with a total lack of investigation on the point of transportation."

Swigert then opened the trial of the acquitted defendant's brother, Joseph Winthal, 21, of San Francisco, on the identical charge of transporting stolen goods across state lines. His case also will be heard without a jury.

Trial of a third defendant, Solomon Marquez of San Francisco, was delayed pending psychiatric evaluation.

Prosecutors charged that Martin Winthal tried to sell the stolen paintings for $100,000 to the company insuring the art.

Judge Swigert said this allegation didn't prove the defendant stole the paintings, adding that he could have been a middleman.

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Opposition political parties indicated today that India's new prime minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, will come under heavy attack soon.

Despite her Congress Party's overwhelming majority in Parliament, a serious political attack would greatly complicate her task of seeking solutions for India's immense economic and foreign policy problems.

Of all the opposition groups, only the pro-Moscow Communists published the customary congratulations on Mrs. Gandhi's election Wednesday to succeed the late Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

Openly Bitter
Other political factions were openly bitter that the governing Congress party had given the nod to Jawaharlal Nehru's 48-year-old daughter.

Socialist leader Ram Manohar Lohia declared: "We will have a pretty face for a time and she will be burdened with the weight of her father's and Mr. Shastri's misdeeds. To that we can safely add the burden of her own misdeeds."

M. R. Masani, leader of the right-wing Swatantra party said Congress party leaders had shown a "ghastly and complete contempt" for the democratic process by running roughshod over Mrs. Gandhi's opposition within her own party.

Backed by party king makers, Mrs. Gandhi defeated rightist Morarji Desai 350-168 when Congress party members of Parliament elected a new majority leader. She was automatically asked to form a new government and will be sworn in as prime minister on Monday.

Party To Be Watching
The conservative Praja Socialist party warned Mrs. Gandhi it will be watching her selection of cabinet ministers because "much will depend on the colleagues she chooses."

Some opposition leaders said Mrs. Gandhi will be controlled by the politicians who put her in office. V. R. Pandit, Bombay leader of the Hindu rightist Jan Sangh party said she would make a "glamorous but weak and vulnerable prime minister."

Much of the opposition's fire was directed at Shastri's last foreign policy move — and Mrs. Gandhi's promise to defend that move.

This is the Tashkent declaration Shastri signed Jan. 10, the day before he died, with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. They pledged to seek a peaceful solution to the differences which have taken their two countries to war twice since 1947.

Attack Agreements
Right-wing Hindu groups especially attacked the agreement, calling it a danger to India's security and an infringement upon its honor.

In her first news conference after the election, she said she would continue the policies of nonalignment and socialism her father established for India.

"Mr. Shastri was continuing the basic policies of my father and the accepted policies of the Congress party," she said. "I cannot naturally deviate from the policies which have been passed by our party."

"We should try to create what my father called a climate of peace. We should encourage the spirit of Tashkent and see that we have peace at home and also abroad, if possible."

Mrs. Gandhi said she favors

President Johnson's Viet Nam peace offensive since she supports any move for peace anywhere. There was speculation in Washington that Johnson would invite her to the United States soon, and Bill D. Moyers, White House secretary, indicated to newsmen that the possibility of a meeting between the two was raised in the congratulatory cable the President sent her. Shastri had been scheduled to visit Johnson next month.

Crosby Meet Starts Today

Palmer, Casper Rated As Favorites In Event

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A bulky field of 137 pros, each with an amateur partner, opened fire today in the silver anniversary edition of Bing Crosby's golf tournament, an event started for fun which now will reward the low scorers with $104,500.

Jack Nicklaus, the leading money winner of 1965 with $140,752.14 in official money, makes his 1966 debut here. His final practice rounds were disappointing as he shot only a 74 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course on Wednesday.

He toured the layout with Arnold Palmer and lost to him by four in the warm-up over the course with a par 71.

Billy Casper Hot Palmer snapped out of his slump to win the Los Angeles Open two weeks ago and could also snap the slump which has left the Crosby one of the major titles to elude him.

Still, if there can be a favorite here, it should be Billy Casper, holder of the tournament record for 72 holes with a 277 in 1958 and also winner in 1963 with a 285.

Casper is fresh off a victory last Sunday in the San Diego Open when he shot a closing seven-under-par 64 in cold, windy weather, reminiscent of windy days in past Crosby tournaments.

Nicklaus won the 1961 United States amateur title at Pebble Beach, placed second to Casper in Crosby's 1963 event and tied for third last year when Bruce Crampton of Australia became the only foreigner ever to win the Crosby when he posted a 284.

Sports

Weather conditions so far this week have been ideal. Should they continue, Casper's record will be in jeopardy. Still, all followers of golf on this picturesque Monterey Peninsula, bordering the Pacific Ocean, know that wind and rain could create additional hazards for the golfers.

Most of the big names, including Palmer, Nicklaus and Casper, toured the Cypress Point course today. On Friday, they'll play Monterey Peninsula Country Club and then come to Pebble Beach.

Ted Williams On Eve Of Biggest Honor

FORMER BOSTON STAR HONORED

Ted Williams Is Named To Baseball's Hall Of Fame

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams, one of the most feared sluggers in the history of baseball, was named today to the baseball Hall of Fame.

The former Boston Red Sox outfielder, who will be 48 Aug. 20, was elected to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., in his first year of eligibility.

His election by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America, including many with whom he had feuded during a tempestuous, colorful career, was announced by Hy Hurwitz, association secretary-treasurer, at a news conference in Fenway Park.

Williams dominated the balloting in which 71 players were eligible, including 41 former major league players listed for the first time after spending the required minimum of five years in retirement from the field.

Makinen, Easter Are Monte Carlo Champs

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Time Makinen of Finland and Paul Easter of Britain in a British Mini Cooper emerged today as the apparent winners of the 5th Monte Carlo auto rally.

Ratmo Aaltonen and Tony Ambrose, another Finnish-British driving team, in a BMC Mini, were in second place in the unofficial standings.

The two cars led 40 arrivals this morning in the final rally test, a 200-mile run through the mountains near this Riviera resort.

Despite two hitches of duty as a Marine Corps flier in World War II and the Korean War, Williams played 19 seasons for the Red Sox. He belted 521 homers, ranking behind only Babe Ruth's 714 and Jimmy Foxx with 534, and compiled a lifetime batting mark of .344, placing him tied for ninth among baseball's all-time great hitters.

"GOOD GUY" AWARD
NEW YORK (UPI)—Dick Sisler, fired as Cincinnati Reds manager after a fourth place finish in 1965, has been named recipient of the annual Good Guy Award by the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Herschel Jacobs, 175½, White Plains, stopped Ronnie Geofron, 173½, Mineola, N.Y., in the second round of an eight-round heavyweight from Grand Rapids, Mich., had his seventh straight victory today but he'll have to wait a while before going after No. 8 because of a cut over his left eye.

The undefeated, 266-pound blimp floored Mike Bruce with a right in the fourth round before stopping the 205-pounder from Springfield, Mass., in 1:21 of the fifth round of a six-rounder at the County Center.

Buster Mathis Cut During Seventh Win

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Buster Mathis, the young-

Air Thin In Mexico City

LONDON (AP)—British athletes will need at least one month's acclimatization in Mexico City for the 1968 Olympic games, a medical survey team reported Wednesday.

Sir Arthur Porritt, chairman of the Medical Advisory Committee of the British Olympic Association, told of tests and trials on six British middle distance runners in Mexico last year at an 8,000 feet altitude.

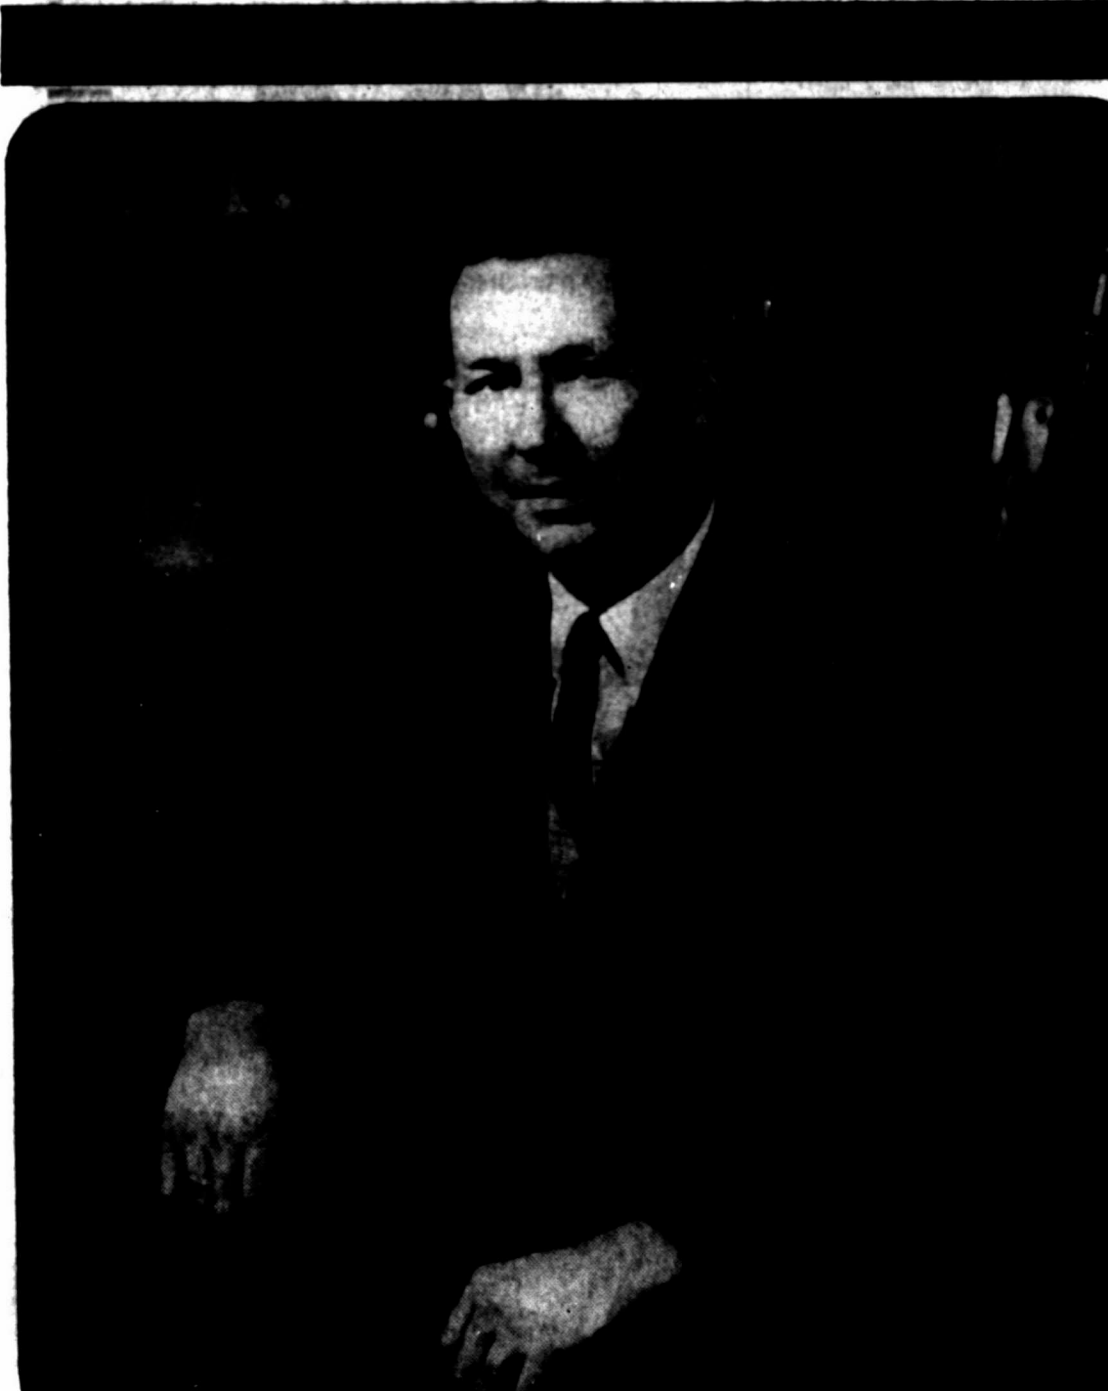

The report emphasized, however, that there was no evidence of any danger element to competitors at this altitude.

Mexico City has a 1½-mile altitude.

Improving St. John's Clouts Strong Hawks

Braves Lose To Bearcats

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. John's University Redmen of New York appear certain to be invited to defend their NIT championship in college basketball when tournament time arrives in March.

The Redmen, improving with each start, whipped the third-ranked St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia 82-72 Wednesday night. They now have won four in a row for an over-all 10-3 mark.

Lou Carnesecca, in his first year as head coach at St. John's, was a happy man in the dressing room. "We played our best game of the season," he beamed.

Al Swartz Praised
Carnesecca, who succeeded the retired Joe Lapchick, praised little 5-foot-10 Al Swartz, who came off the bench and sparked the Redmen to a second half rally with a superb exhibition of floor generalship. "He was fantastic," Carnesecca said.

Bradley, seventh-ranked in The Associated Press poll, also was a casualty in Wednesday night's action. Playing on the road, the Braves absorbed an 85-69 thumping from the Cincinnati Bearcats.

In other games, Louisville whacked Dayton 94-77. Detroit defeated Villanova 101-94 and Los Angeles Loyola handed Notre Dame its 10th straight defeat 96-86.

Redmen Stage Rally
A sellout 6,128 at Alumni Hall on the St. John's campus saw the Redmen behind 74-72 at halftime pull away in the second half to win decisively.

"They just beat us in all departments," said Jack Ramsay, coach of St. Joseph's.

A three-point play by Bob McIntyre on a pass from Swartz broke a 39-39 tie and put the Redmen ahead for good. Sonny Dove finished high scorer for the Redmen with 28 points while McIntyre got 25. Cliff Anderson's 24 topped the Hawks.

It was St. John's 13th straight victory on their home court and St. Joseph's third defeat of the season, all suffered on the road.

The Hawks have won 12. A 13-point burst after Mike Rolfe's tip had put them ahead at 19-18 sewed up Cincinnati's romp over Bradley. Don Rolfe's 21 points and John Howard's 20 paced the Bearcats as they kept on the heels of first place Tulsa in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Louisville Wins
A hometown turnout of 11,264 cheered as Louisville whacked Dayton behind 24 points by Fred Holden and 23 by Joe Leitke. Don May, Dayton soph, pitched in 33 points for a losing cause.

Notre Dame took a 10-1 lead over Loyola, but couldn't hold it at South Bend. Ahead 53-52, Loyola broke the game open with an 11-point spree, including three straight baskets by Bob Burns. Rick Adelman paced the winners with 27 points while Burns finished with 26.

Dorie Murray's basket put Detroit ahead for good at 83-81 in the "Titans" home court triumph over Villanova. Lou Hyatt, with 33 points, and Murray, with 29, combined for 62 points for Detroit. Bernie Schaffer's 27 points topped Villanova.

The Redskins of Miami of Ohio tightened their hold on first place in the Mid-American Conference by whipping Western Michigan 88-70 at Oxford, Ohio. In other home court triumphs, Harvard defeated Dartmouth 74-70 in an Ivy League tussle and Georgia Tech whipped Georgia 89-56.

Cornell, Tennessee Tech, MIT and Southern Illinois won on the road. Cornell walloped Colgate 98-83. Tech clouted Chattanooga 90-68, MIT downed New Hampshire 83-66 and Southern Illinois, No. 1 in the AP small college poll, defeated Evansville, the defending national NCAA small college champs, 79-65.

McIntire, Austin To Clash In Doherty

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Former U.S. amateur champion Barbara McIntire takes on Debbie Austin of Oxnard, N.Y., today as mats play gets under way in the Doherty Golf Tournament.

The Colorado Springs, Colo. amateur and a Canadian teenager, Sandra Post of Toronto, paced qualifiers Wednesday with three-under-par 73s on the 6,059-yard Coral Ridge Country Club.

Defending champion Marlene Streit of Toronto, who trailed the leaders by a stroke, plays Mrs. A. E. Johnston of Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., who shot an 82 in the qualifying round.

Russell Subs As Coach To Lead Celtics Over Bullets

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's big Bill Russell insists he isn't interested in coaching, but he does a pretty good job every time he's forced to fill in for boss Red Auerbach.

Russell was drafted as coach again after Auerbach was ejected Wednesday night and led the Celtics to a 129-89 romp over the Baltimore Bullets in a National Basketball Association double-header. Philadelphia rolled over Detroit 110-93 in the opener.

Boston's sixth straight victory over Baltimore enabled the Celtics to hike their slim lead over idle Cincinnati to nine points. A showdown for the Eastern Division lead is set for Boston Garden Friday night.

Auerbach drew two technical fouls and was ejected for arguing a call at 5:15 of the opening period. Then Russell, a $100,000-a-year veteran often mentioned as Auerbach's successor, took command.

Honor Goes To Stengel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Casey Stengel, now retired after more than 50 years in baseball, will receive the Walter Judge Award for meritorious service to baseball from the San Francisco Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America, the group announced Wednesday.

The 75-year-old Stengel will accept the award in person at the third annual San Francisco baseball banquet Sunday, Feb. 13, at the Mark Hopkins Hotel, the chapter said Wednesday.

The award is named for a late San Francisco baseball writer. Stengel started a 21-year playing career with Kankakee of the old Northern Association in 1910. In 1925, he became manager at Worcester of the Eastern League and later went on to manage 10 American League pennant winning New York Yankee teams in 12 years.

Stengel finished his career last year, his fourth season with the 10th place New York Mets of the National League.

He Was Born To Play The Game

IT'S BASKETBALL AS only Municipal Coliseum can provide it. The game is barely underway, and the crowd sits in an intoxicating state of anticipation. An electrifying murmur furnishes appropriate background music to the rhythmic thump, thump, thump of basketball against hardwood.

The dashing youngster with the ball comes to the top of the key, slows down, then drives down the lane to combine a fantastic move with a spectacular shot while 10,000 persons scream their approval.

DUB MALAISE Launches Career At Age 4

The last dish had been washed and placed into the cabinet. She wiped her hands on her apron and crossed through the kitchen toward the room providing this familiar noise.

The picture was no more unusual than the smile that beamed across the face of the four-year-old lad standing just inside the doorway, clad proudly in a black warmup suit that once had been a pair of kiddie pajamas.

Dub Malaise looked up at the lady, smiled a snappy, "Hi, Mom," and turned back to the task of thump, thump, thumping a regulation basketball that was half his own size.

COMPOSURE RETURNED to Mrs. John Malaise, as she watched the black warmups while the lettering "Big Spring Steers" faded away and became a sharp, white vest that said, "Texas Tech." The small "23" on the left sleeve was again a large "22," and Mrs. Malaise was once again in Municipal Coliseum and the calendar had regained its current reading.

But one thing remained unchanged completely. She was still watching Dub and listening while he sparked a basketball with something resembling perpetual motion.

"I DON'T REMEMBER when it all began," Mrs. Malaise now says. "When Dub learned to walk, John rolled a basketball to him and it seems he's had one with him ever since."

If ever a cage star was born into the game, John W. Malaise Jr., certainly was. His father, John Malaise Sr., had built his own life around the game, first as a star player for North Texas State and later as a successful schoolboy coach.

He wanted no more than to give Dub an opportunity to learn the game. It seldom occurred to John Malaise that someday his son not only would learn the art, but master it well.

"I KNEW HE seemed to have good co-ordination," John recalls, "even when he was four or five years old. I thought he had the makings of a good athlete."

The father in John Malaise is offset nicely by the fact he also spent nearly a lifetime as a coach. And he still often sounds more like the latter than the former.

His interest in Dub is very keen—so much, in fact, that when the youngster graduated from high school to pursue a college career, John gave up coaching in order to be able to attend the Tech home games. But, unlike many fathers whose sons have superior talent, you won't catch John Malaise in any chest-thumping, proud-papa routines.

THERE ARE FOLKS in Odessa, in fact, who will tell you that John was the last to know just how great Dub was. At least, they say, he was the last to admit it. John coached Dub all through high school, and despite public opinion, he kept him out of the starting lineup much of his sophomore season. And talent at Odessa High that year just wasn't that abundant.

Dub came into high school the same year Permian opened. The division of school districts stripped the elder Malaise of much of his returning talent.

"EVERYBODY IN TOWN but John seemed to know that Dub was the best player on the Odessa squad," a former Odessa newspaperman said recently, "but John wouldn't play him."

"Anytime you have your own son playing for you," John now explains, "he had better be very good. Otherwise, you can run into all sorts of problems."

And, Dub might add, anytime you play for your own father, you can be faced with an equal number of similar obstacles.

"I didn't start Dub at all early in the season that year," John says, speaking of his son's sophomore campaign. "In fact, through the first 10 games, I doubt that he played as much as a half in any of them."

"Then when we played in the Odessa tournament, I started him. He made the all-tournament team thumbs down, and I suppose he thought he'd earned his spurs."

But we had an out-of-town game the next Tuesday night, and I didn't start him. He didn't say anything all the way back to Odessa, but when we got home I guess he'd stood it as long as he could.

"Dad, why didn't you start me?" he asked. And I guess I unloaded on him. "I think I know how to run this ball team," I said, and he didn't say another word.

"Well, that Friday night, I started him, and he opened every game for me from then on."

DUB MALAISE HAS already established himself as one of the SWC's all-time greats. His shooting, ball-handling wizardry and pleasant manner have made him one of the most popular figures in West Texas.

His current significance, however, is hard for his mother to grasp. Perhaps she'll always think of him as a knee-high lad in black home-made warmups, bouncing a basketball and wanting very, very much to follow in the footsteps of his father.

MALAISE IS FOURTH Dub Malaise's 11th point—of 26—against Midwestern moved him to fourth place among Texas Tech's all-time basketball scorers. Harold Denney, who graduated last year after scoring 1,103, was fourth. Malaise has amassed 1,119 points. Leading the list are Jim Reed with 3,673 (in four seasons: 1,382 in three), Del Ray Mounds, 1,346, and Don Groves, 1,223 (parts of four). This season Malaise also has moved past Eugene Carpenter, 1,035, and Leon (Pod) Hill, 1,058.

WON 9 OUT OF LAST 10 GAMES IN RUGGED NFL Chicago Bears Credited For Comeback

By BEN OLAN Associated Press Sports Writer The Chicago Bears, who rallied from three straight losses at the season's start to win nine of their next 10 games in the hotly competitive National Football League, made the outstanding comeback in sports in 1965.

Seventy-six of the 299 sports writers and sportscasters participating in The Associated Press comeback of the year poll listed the Bears as their No. 1 choice.

On a basis of three points for a first place vote, two for second and one for third, the Bears collected 420 points. Vernon Law, Pittsburgh's right-handed pitcher, was second with 73 first place votes and 348 points. The Los Angeles Dodgers, participating in The Associated Press comeback of the year poll, were third with 336 points, followed by Frank Howard, Washington's slugging outfielder, 135 points.

The Bears, led by Gayle Sayers, their brilliant rookie half-back, and quarterback Rudy Bukich, finished third in the NFL's Western Conference with a 9-5 record last season. They lost to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Green Bay in their first three games, then won nine of their next 10 before bowing to the Minnesota Vikings in their season finale.

Slipped To Sixth In 1963, the Bears captured the Western Conference crown with an 11-1 record and defeated the New York Giants 14-10 in the championship playoff. The following year, though, they dropped to sixth place, winning Karate & Body Building Classes Now Being Formed baseball's World Series winners, only five and losing nine games. Law, 35 years old, had a 17-9 won-lost mark and the third best earned run average, 2.15, in the National League last year. He had been troubled by an ailing pitching arm for several seasons after helping Pittsburgh win the pennant in 1960 by recording 20 victories.

The Dodgers, who finished in a sixth-place tie in 1964, rallied for 13 straight victories in a late-season drive that enabled them to win the '65 NL flag.

The tall, husky Howard, obtained from the Dodgers in a six-player deal, batted .289 with 21 homers for Washington. His average for Los Angeles in 1964 was .226.

Adolph Rupp Says Soph Center Responsible For Surge Of Kentucky Quintet

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Few things surprise a basketball master like Adolph Frederick Rupp, the winningest active coach in the college game today. With 35½ years under the belt of his famed brown suit, he talks almost glibly of his four NCAA titles, his 21 Southeastern Conference championships, his 732-150 record and the All-American players he's coached. But he admits his current team, undefeated and ranked No. 2 in the nation, has shocked him just a little. "We just found this boy we didn't know would develop like he did," Rupp said, referring to sophomore center Thad Jaracz. "He has made our ball club."

Jaracz, whose name rhymes with Harris, replaced the graduated John Adams in Rupp's starting line-up. The Baron's other four starters returned from last season. At 6-foot-5, Jaracz is two inches shorter than Adams, but in the first dozen games, he is averaging about five points and a rebound better than Kentucky's big man last year. He also has a 48.3 shooting percentage from the field and can hit from anywhere on the floor, while Adams was more of an under-the-basket shooter. This has given more openings to the rest of the Wildcats' hot handed shooters, and they haven't muffed many of them. As a team, Kentucky is hitting 46.9

per cent, and the other four starters have cashed nearly 49 per cent. But this doesn't surprise Rupp. "I talked with Louie Dampier before the season started and told him he'd have to average about five points better than last year," Rupp said, very business like.

Dampier is exactly 5.5 points a game better than last season. "And I told Pat Riley the same thing," Rupp continued. Riley is 5.5 points a game better, too. "On top of that, this team handles the ball as well as any in the country and makes fewer mistakes than any I've had," Rupp said. "They are fast, too.

We just out-ran Vanderbilt." Kentucky lost five of its first 12 games last season, and Rupp looked more tired, meaner and older than he really is. With 12 straight victories this time around, he looks fresher, more pleasant and younger. He even gave his starters three days off this week.

Luis Aparicio Discards Retirement Plans

Baltimore Vet Signs Contract For $32,000

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Luis Aparicio has ended his voluntary retirement, but Ruben Amaro still awaits the end of his forced vacation.

Aparicio, Baltimore's veteran shortstop, returned his signed 1966 contract Wednesday about three months after he announced his retirement.

At the same time, Amaro, traded to the New York Yankees from Philadelphia in November, explained why he is spending a winter without baseball.

To Get $32,000
After returning to his home in Venezuela last October, the 31-year-old Aparicio said he was quitting, adding: "I'm going to devote my time to teaching young players." He also said he wanted to set up a sporting goods business and look after the education of his four children.

But at the time Orioles' coach Billy Hunter said, "He'll be back. It's kinda tough to turn down the contract he's getting."

Apparently Aparicio found it "kinda tough."

His 1966 contract calls for an estimated $32,000, a cut of about $2,000. But Aparicio said in a letter enclosed with the signed contract.

"Let me express my gratitude and thanks for the consideration given me. I want to take this opportunity to mention that at the present time my physical conditions are exceptionally good."

Bats Only .225
The shortstop's short-lived retirement came after he batted only .225 and failed to win the American League base-stealing crown for the first time in 10 years.

But while Aparicio has been improving his batting eye in the Venezuelan winter league, Amaro has been unable to help him in the Mexican league.

Amaro wanted to play with the Obregon team of Sonora because he felt he hadn't played enough with the Phillies last year. The 30-year-old shortstop even was willing to accept a low salary.

But salary is what placed him on vacation.

Howard Signs
Mexican rules dictate that a major league player must be paid at the same rate as in the United States.

"That did it," Amaro explained. "My team couldn't possibly pay me by league rules. The team's entire budget for the season was 72,000 pesos, or approximately $6,000. So I didn't play winter ball in my own country."

Among other players signing contracts Wednesday were catcher Elston Howard of the New York Yankees, third baseman Pete Ward of the Chicago White Sox and pitcher Roy Face of Pittsburgh.

Aussie Tennis Players Choose Pan American

EDINBURG (AP) — Two highly rated Australian tennis players will enroll in Pan American College for the spring semester.

Tennis Coach Don Russell said Wednesday that Ray Keldie and Chris Bovett of Sydney, Australia, are the new players. He said Keldie is the fourth-ranked junior in Australia and Bovett sixth rated in Australia's 2.

The Edinburg school's teams have won five consecutive NATA National Tennis Championships. Colombia, 7-5, 6-2.

BREAK TIME—A National Hockey League game without a good brawl just wouldn't be right. Here, the New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens engage in a quick exchange of fists, gloves and even shirts.

BOULTON LOOKS FOR FAST PITCH—New York Yankee pitcher Jim Bouton studies a pamphlet in a New York real estate and insurance school Wednesday night, as he prepares himself for a career as a real estate salesman. The Yankee right-hander is taking a course in the school. (AP Wirephoto)

BUD ADAMS RAPPED

Big Player Swap Is Voided By Foss

HOUSTON (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss, in voiding the trade involving San Diego's Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison, took the fourth and final step in a get tough policy that figures to give the American Football League a more sophisticated image.

Using his sweeping power, Foss completed a series of moves Wednesday that firmly established his iron rule and likely put an end to the controversial statements that have been made to the press by various AFL personnel in recent weeks.

As a matter of fact, when the phone rang in press headquarters following Foss' latest announcement, an official taking the call jokingly answered: "AFL press headquarters. No comment."

While it may have been a joke in press headquarters, it certainly was no joke to K. S. (Bud) Adams Jr., the Houston owner who always seems to have a Texas-sized announcement for the press.

But Foss' image changing decisions also undoubtedly will clamp down on other outspoken owners such as New York's Sonny Werblin, who had been quoted recently on the subject of franchise shifting.

Foss took the first step toward establishing the new image concept when he firmly denied his rumored removal. Then he withheld approval of the controversial trade. He then called Boston linebacker Nick Buoniconti on the carpet for statements he said were detrimental to the league, and, finally, Foss turned thumbs down on the Ladd-Faison deal.

Foss, in announcing the decision to void the trade, after personally investigating the various allegations, said he "concluded

AT DUNBAR BANQUET

Hutchinson Honored

Guard-linebacker Norvell Hutchinson was honored Tuesday night as Dunbar's Outstanding Performer at a banquet held in honor of the Panther football team.

A capacity crowd was on hand at the Plains Co-op Oil Mill to hear Gene Mayfield, head football coach at Odessa Permian, deliver the principal speech.

James Hillyer, head football coach at Dunbar, was toastmaster for the affair. Assistant Louis Kelley introduced the Panther football team, and Prentis Williams introduced Mayfield.

Hutchinson, an offensive guard and defensive linebacker, served as co-captain of the 1965 Dunbar football team. He was cited for his outstanding scholarship, leadership, morale and football ability.

Mayfield, whose Permian Panthers copped the state Class AAAA title the past season, spoke on the values of athletics to the individual.

New Hampshire Park Given 54 Race Days

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Rockingham Park has been granted 54 days of racing by the New Hampshire Racing Commission, a track spokesman said Wednesday.

The meet will run from July 5 to Sept. 5 inclusive.

There will be two New Hampshire sweepstakes with the first based on the July 18 running of the $75,000-added Rockingham

GOLD SKATE ENTRANTS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Keith Miller, Debra McCurdy and Mary Anne Fecteau, three of Canada's best young skaters, are included in the field for the World Gold Skate Classic at Bakersfield, Calif., Feb. 5-6.

Three world champions previously announced their plans to enter.

The meet will run from July 5 to Sept. 5 inclusive.

On Sept. 3 the $250,000 New Hampshire Sweepstakes Classic will be staged as the second of the sweepstakes competitions.

Crosby

ble Beach for the national telecast on Saturday.

The leading 50 pro-am teams and the pros still in the money play the final 18 at Pebble Beach on Sunday.

Capable Mason Rudolph, generally among the top money contenders, has played all three courses in practice and termed them first-rate. Then, looking toward the sky, he added, "... if this nice weather holds up."

Nicklaus carded only a 38 on his first nine, two over par, and then matched Palmer's 36 on the final nine. Arnie dropped birdie putts of three, four and five feet on the first nine, with only one bogey for his 34.

Tennessee Ernie Ford, one of the celebrity amateurs from the fields of entertainment, business, professions and other sports, shot a practice round 81 at Cypress Point and was ecstatic. For he plays with a 13 handicap and the handicaps are figured in the pro-amateur scoring.

Tony Lema, the 1964 Crosby champion, had a gallery following him at Cypress Point during the practice, but didn't keep score.

This tournament marks the first 1966 start for Crampton whose father died shortly before the Los Angeles Open began early this month.

Domed Stadium Planned

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city announced Wednesday it is scrapping its present design for a new all purpose sports stadium and starting from scratch on a new design, this time to include plans for a dome.

The original stadium design, with a rectangular ground plan and no provision for an all-weather dome, was rejected by the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team, who — along with the Philadelphia Eagles pro football team — are expected to be major tenants.

Following a 2½-hour meeting, City Managing Director Fred T. Corleto said both the Eagles and the Phillies have agreed to accept a final stadium design to be drawn up by an independent architect of national stature, to be selected by the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

He said the chapter would meet Friday to make its choice and that the final decision of the architect would be binding on both the Phillies and Eagles.

New Board Chairman Is Named

DALLAS (Special)—Directors and stockholders of Southwestern Public Service Company Wednesday elected Don D. Loden, chairman of the board of the electric company's directors. The meeting was held at the company's financial offices here. Operating offices are in Amarillo.

Loden replaces Neely Landrum who resigned as chairman but remains as a director. New Board Member.

Loden, who has been financial vice president since 1964, joined Southwestern Public Service in 1926. He was named vice president and secretary of the company in 1957 and a member of the board in 1965.

Charles A. Meyer, a vice president and director of Sears-Roebuck and Company, was named to the board during the Wednesday meeting.

Two-For-One Split

Wednesday also marked the effective date for the two-for-one split of Southwestern's common stock. The split had been announced earlier and was approved by the directors last October. New shares will be mailed to stockholders Feb. 1.

An initial quarterly dividend of 16 cents per share was declared on the new stock, payable March 1 to holders of record on Feb. 15. The new rate is equivalent of $1.28 per share annually as compared to the $1.20 dividend which was paid prior to the split.

OCS Training Open To Ready Reservist

The Department of the Army announced recently that members of the Ready Mobilization Reinforcement Pool (reservists not assigned to units) may apply for Officer Candidate School on the same basis as assigned reservists.

To apply, a reservist must have completed basic training with one of the military services and have one year of satisfactory Army Reserve service or have served six months active duty which included Army basic training.

Some college graduates and others who have exhibited exceptional ability may be accepted without active duty.

Further information is available at the Army Reserve Training Center, 2819 4th St.

Mary Ann Evans was the real name of George Eliot, the writer. She married a Mr. Cross the year before she died.
