Heavy Snow Warning Issued

One-Way Streets Stir Dispute

Plains Region Faces Threat

Area Travel Hazardous; Power Line Snaps; No Quick Letup Due

By KEN ESTES
Avalanche-Journal Staff
A BITTER winter storm, packing fresh snows of from four to six inches, is expected to hammer deep into the South Plains area early today, cloaking the region with the heaviest cover of snow and ice in the last five years and reducing traffic to a crawl on slick, hazardous roads.

The storm began sifting gradually southward from the upper Texas Panhandle Thursday afternoon, and by 10 p.m., it had intensified into the heaviest snow activity of the season in parts of the Plains region.

Driving Conditions Due To Worsen
Hazardous driving conditions existed over the northwest quarter of the state since dusk Thursday, and the Department of Public Safety reported that the conditions of the roads will continue to worsen through today.

Freezing rain and light snow which had peppered Lubbock and the South Plains during much of the afternoon and night was expected to turn into heavier snowfall today, with the heavy accumulation occurring by nightfall, the Weather Bureau warned.

At 12:30 a.m. today, heavy sleet had started falling in downtown Lubbock.

Special Bulletins Issued
Special bulletins were issued heralding the crushing storm with the heavy snow line expected to extend on a line roughly paralleling the Post-Lamesa area.

A number of accidents on the South Plains Thursday night were attributed to slippery roads and in Plainview—which began receiving moderate snowfall about 8:30 p.m.—logged four minor traffic accidents in a 30-minute period.

Power Line Snapped
A heavy accumulation of ice snapped a power line near Southland about 8:25 p.m., and the small South Plains community was blacked out for two hours until Southwestern Public Service Co. linemen were able to restore power.

The heavy snows, which are expected to end in the Lubbock area sometime tonight, were triggered by a cold air trough from New Mexico that overran the cover of moisture that had lingered over the High Plains and Eastern New Mexico since early Thursday.

The new surge of arctic air dominated the state weather picture and promised to prolong the most lengthy winter storm of the season in Texas.

Fog Covers Vast Area
Dark, murky clouds and chilly temperatures enveloped all of the state, and ground fog reduced visibility from 100 feet to one mile over a vast section of Northwest Texas.

The new surge of snow in the Panhandle, South Plains area caught weather observers by surprise. Earlier Thursday a surging Arctic cold front that was expected to influence Texas weather this weekend bogged down in northern Kansas after See HEAVY SNOW Page 10

MONDAY PRESENTATION

$112.8 Billion Budget Readied By President

(By United Press International)
WASHINGTON — President Johnson will send Congress Monday a record $112.8 billion budget that could go higher if the war in Viet Nam gets worse.

Administration officials said their "best" estimate of the cost of the war in Viet Nam, which starts July 1, is $10.5 billion. But they conceded this was a "highly uncertain" figure.

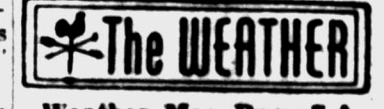

Johnson, in his State of the Union message last week, said "If the necessities of Viet Nam require it, I will not hesitate to return to the Congress for additional appropriations and additional revenues." He meant, of course, tax increases.

The Chief Executive already has asked the legislators to restore recent excise tax cuts on new automobiles and telephone service and to speed up individual and corporate tax collections to raise an additional $4.8 billion in the coming budget year.

The nation's booming economy is expected to bring in an additional $6.2 billion, which would put federal revenues at $111 billion, or $1.8 billion over current levels. This would mean a deficit of 1.5 billion. Johnson's budget estimates in billions of dollars for fiscal

1967 and fiscal 1966, which ends June 30, are:	1966	1967
Expenditures	106.4	112.8
Revenues	100	111
Deficit	6.4	1.8

FOLLOWING CRIMINAL CODE

New Trial Procedures In City Are 'Making History'

Two not so simple guilty pleas on the part of defendants in burglary charges made Lubbock County history in 140th District Court here Thursday.

The procedure, following guidelines of the new Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, was the first of its kind in district courts here. However, since the criminal jury week, almost completed in the court, is the first criminal jury week scheduled in the county since the code went into effect Jan. 1, almost any new twist will be a first.

Willard Dempsey Brunson, 45, 2122-A Emory St., and Joel Thomas Bruington, 28, of Petersburg, wound up the day with seven-year probation sentences.

It marked the first time a defendant received a second term of probation, and the first time the sentence had been taken out of the hands of the jury. Bruington had previously been placed on probation in a case of failure to stop and render aid, and Brunson had been convicted of driving while intoxicated, subsequent offense.

Judge Robert H. Bean said both men had served out their probation on the previous convictions.

A jury was seated to hear the guilty pleas when the state declined to waive the jury, but the defense, as provided by the new criminal code, elected to have the judge, rather than the jury, decide on the sentence.

Detective Testifies Lubbock Detective Capt. L. W. (Steve) Forrester testified he surprised the defendants during an attempted safe burglary Dec. 20, 1964, inside a building at 214 Ave. M.

Forrester, in checking the building, noticed an extra light not usually left on by the management.

Through a door glass, he also noticed that the safe was gone from an office. He entered and slipped down a hall to a storage area. There, he reported, he caught the suspects "red-handed," trying to pry the safe door.

Forrester said the suspects had a cutting torch nearby to complete the job when they were arrested.

LONGER TERMS FOR MISCHIEF Man Scheduled For Draft Held

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Robert A. Miller, 25, an unemployed laboratory technician scheduled to be drafted later this month, was arrested early Wednesday on a charge of malicious mischief.

Police said Miller, who was carrying a can of paint and a broom, admitted painting the word "WHY?" in four-foot letters on the front of his Selective Service office. They said he also tossed rocks through the windows.

Streets Slippery, But Wrecks Few

Traffic altered through Lubbock Thursday night over ice-glazed streets relatively without error.

Police reported mishaps about normal and far below expectations for the weather conditions. Only two injuries were recorded prior to 11 p.m., and neither was considered serious.

Floyd Nash Beatcher, 52, 615 7th St., was treated and released at Methodist Hospital after being involved in a two-car crash in the 1100-block of Avenue Q about 7:45 p.m.

Jill Hoff, 19, Texas Tech student from Victoria, was treated and released at West Texas Hospital about 9 p.m. after being hurt in an accident. No other details were available Thursday night.

Proposed 1971 Target There's an off-year election coming up in November, with all 435 House seats and 35 in the Senate at stake. In the past, the party in White House power has almost invariably yielded some congressional seats in the balancing between presidential elections.

Johnson said his proposal should not take effect before 1972. If he is re-elected, that will be his last year in the White House.

It is imperative that each member of the House have the opportunity of campaigning during a presidential year, Johnson said in a special message to Congress. He said presidential races draw more voters than off-year contests.

With Johnson at the head of the ticket, an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress was elected in 1964. The current House count: 292 Democrats, 140 Republicans.

Johnson coupled his formal call for lengthened House terms with a renewed proposal to wipe out the present Electoral College system in presidential elections.

Instead of voting for electors, who in some states can theoretically disregard the popular vote, ballots would be cast directly for the nominees for president and vice president.

But, as is the case now, each state would have one electoral vote for each of its representatives and senators, and the candidate getting the most votes would receive all the state's electoral votes.

It will take a two-thirds vote of both House and Senate to send either or both amendments to the states. Three-quarters of the states would then have to ratify the amendments to put them into effect.

FELIX GREENE

Author Sees Escalation In Viet War

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Felix Greene, British author and lecturer who has just returned from a trip to North Vietnam, says "a vast escalation of conflict" is now in prospect.

Greene said Thursday that during his three-week stay he interviewed North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh and was forced to conclude that the U.S. peace offensive has failed.

He said that the North Vietnamese anticipate an imminent bombing of Hanoi by the United States and have built many shelters, ranging from large buildings to roadside fox holes.

He said that Red China, also, "is a country which is preparing for war."

Greene made his remarks in a speech at Stanford University. He is the author of "Curtain of Ignorance" and other books on United States-Asia relations and has made several trips to Red China.

Greene declared that the continued U.S. troop buildup in Vietnam has completely nullified President Johnson's peace offensive.

He said that the protest movement in the United States against involvement in the war has played an exaggerated role in North Vietnamese thinking and has helped to strengthen the Communists' resolve.

He called upon United States leaders "to accept our errors and withdraw" American troops from Vietnam.

Only Son Of Commander In Korea Gets Viet Post

By PETER ARNETT
SANGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The only son of the late Lt. Col. Walter H. Walker, who commanded the U.S. 8th Army in Korea, assumed duty Thursday as executive officer of the 3rd Brigade of the 1st Infantry Division in Viet Nam.

He is Lt. Col. Sam S. Walker, 40.

Same Toughness
Fellow officers who knew his famous father said the young Walker has the same toughness and powerful build that gave his father the nickname Bulldog. The general was killed in the collision of a Jeep and a truck in Korea in December 1950.

Taking up his new post in Trung Lap, present operating base of the 3rd Brigade, young Walker told a newsmen: "I volunteered to come over here, like a lot of other regular officers in the U.S. Army. I've been in the Army 20 years and this is what I've been trained to do."

He was a battalion commander with the 3rd Infantry Division in Europe prior to coming to Viet Nam.

Officers Killed
A former executive officer of the 3rd Brigade was killed by a sniper in December at Lai Khe. The man Walker replaces had taken over command of a battalion that lost its commander to a sniper last week. Walker said both of the dead officers were close friends of his.

He served in Korea as a company commander in the 19th Infantry Regiment and won a Silver Star.

"The U.S. Army has a high priority on Viet Nam, and right so," he said. "If we don't solve this now, my sons, all our sons, will be over here."

"I've had four tours in the Orient and I know the Oriental understands strength."

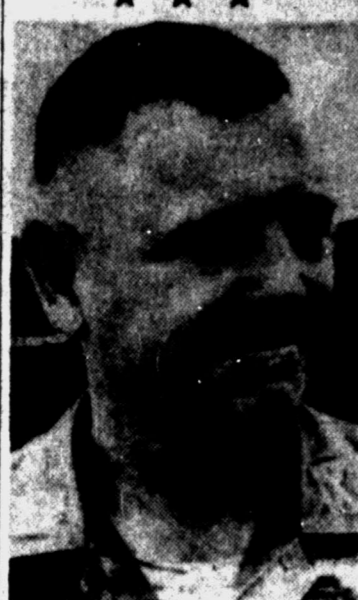

Walker said his wife did not offer too many objections to him coming to Viet Nam. They have three children.

He said his mother, who lives in Washington, D.C., "was just like any other mother with a son over here."

Fire Damage Is Set At $60,000

Plains Farming Export Acreage For Plains Set

By DUANE HOWELL
Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor

Only 16 hardy souls in Texas applied for cotton export acreage totaling 4,021 acres for 1966, a tabulation of figures supplied by the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office at College Station revealed Thursday.

Charles Johnson of the state ASCS staff told us the applications came from only eight counties, five of which are on the South Plains. Thirteen South Plains applications were filed.

Export acreage requested by South Plains counties included 1,320 acres in Cochran, 400 in Hockley, 168 in Lubbock, 52 in Terry and 1,258 in Yoakum. The five-county area total is for 3,198 acres.

There were six applications in Yoakum County and four in Cochran. All the other counties requesting export acreage in Texas had only one application each.

Counties outside the South Plains requesting export acreage included Gray, 60 acres; Reagan, 163 acres; and Roberts, 600 acres.

Eight States Involved
Only eight states in the Cotton Belt, including Texas, requested export acreage. California led the list with requests for 69,732 acres.

Export acreages requested by other states included 17,075 acres.

Study Aims To Make Indians Self-Sustaining

WASHINGTON (AP)—A study aimed at making the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation in Polk County, Tex., self-sustaining has been approved by the Economic Development Administration.

The study will be directed at the feasibility of developing tourist and recreation facilities. The project, for which EDA is making available $27,000, is a follow-up to an earlier EDA study which reported a potential market for such facilities.

This second project, the announcement said Thursday, will pertain to the development of the master plan, including a terrain model, and will provide cost estimates and recommendations.

The reservation is 17 miles from Livingston. A non-federal reservation, it is supported by the Texas Board of Hospitals.

A tourist setup, if it proves feasible, would provide work for 50 or so unemployed or underemployed men and a number of women and teen-agers, the agency said. About 360 persons live on the reservation.

NEED FOR PUNISHMENT CLEAR

Hanoi Trippers' Case Real Puzzler

THE CASE of the three so-called "American citizens" who carried their anti-American campaign straight to Hanoi is a real puzzler. Staughton Lynd, revolutionist professor of Yale University, Herbert Aptheker, working Communist, and Thomas Hayden, selective service obstructionist among other things, have not been called to account although ten days have passed since their return from a "fact-finding" trip to North Viet Nam which turned out to be mostly a pro-Viet Cong-Viet Minh propaganda mission.

your country" messages to be mailed by cranks to servicemen in Viet Nam. Neither this nor the Hanoi trip is one of the "borderline" cases of treason in which the Justice Department is reluctant to act. Both were cases of deliberate subversion for which the perpetrators had every reason to expect punishment. The Hanoi expedition was exactly the kind of thing for which a $5,000 fine and five years in prison are provided. Incidentally, President Kingman Brewster, Jr., of Yale has discovered that there was a difference between Lynd's trip, which he thought forgivable, and the fact that the professor did a Radio Hanoi broadcast in which he asserted that the Johnson Administration lies to the American people and that the United States policy is immoral, illegal and anti-democratic. Brewster, who should have booted Lynd off the faculty forthwith, notes that the professor did "give aid and comfort to a government engaged in hostilities with American forces."

One For Dirksen?

SEN. EVERETT M. DIRKSEN appears to have two losers and one winner going. He is now taking on the U. S. Supreme Court on two fronts. Latest is his plan to start off in the Senate legislation straightening out the Court on the question of whether school children may pray voluntarily in classrooms. Working against him is the Congress' oft-demonstrated reluctance to use its power to overrule the Supreme Court, or to place limits on its jurisdiction. And this same reluctance is one of the reasons why the Senator appears to have another loser in his attempt to overthrow the Court's "one man-one vote" ruling on apportionment of State Legislatures. On this one Senator Dirksen has announced a drive to win public support for a constitutional amendment to nullify the ruling. The trouble here is that too much of the public is concentrated in the great urban centers in which voters' ballots have been made more potent by the ruling.

Kings As 'Openers'

IT'S A SHAME, in a way, that Columbus Day won't come along again until October. Christopher, the great Italian admiral who did his bit for Spain, is being shoved farther and farther down the list of discoverers of the New World by busy historical researchers. Cases have been made recently for the Japanese and the Etruscans as the earliest voyagers. And now a Hebrew scholar offers proof that the natives of King Solomon of Israel and King Hiram of Tyre were first, about 3,000 years ago, and that Ophir, mentioned in the Bible, was actually Peru, which the seafarers reached by sailing up the Amazon River. A few people are still to be heard from, including the Swiss, who are supposed never to have had a navy.

'A Little Longer'

ACCORDING TO the National Geographic Society, the "impossible" is always happening in science, and textbooks must be rewritten. The Society recently listed a number of ideas which once were brushed off by scientists as nonsense, but which now are accepted as demonstrated truths. Back in World War II days, there was a motto which appeared in many offices: "The difficult we do immediately, the impossible takes a little longer." The many scientific "miracles" which men have performed in recent years indicate that the motto contained much truth, as well as humor.

Make It Complete

LAND ADJACENT to the Tahoka Traffic Circle has been proposed as a site for a new $1,000,000 motel. People who have to drive that monstrosity with any degree of frequency must often get the impression that land adjacent to the Circle would also make a good site for a hospital, funeral home and cemetery—a sort of "One Stop Duzzit" operation.

ART BUCHWALD:

New Flattening And Widening Trend Calls For Investigation

WASHINGTON—Eugenia Sheppard, the New York Herald Tribune's fashion editor, who happens to be my source of information on what is happening to women these days, says that "the whole naughty business of a peek down a deep dark crevice between a girl's bosoms is about as dated as a peek at a girl's garters which, if any, have been out in the open for a long time. "Who's to worry about cleavage when so many other areas are bare? The sexy new look, though, is definitely the halter top dress, bathing suit, or whatever, cut in toward the neckline. It leaves the sides wide open and almost all of the bosoms in full view under the arms."

Trouble Is Closer

"THE DISTANCE a person has to go to borrow trouble seems to be getting shorter all the time," says a wisecrack going the rounds. Which is true. And it also might be noted that no matter how much of a tightening up of credit may occur in the business world, trouble is something that one can always borrow without signing a note or putting up any collateral.

young lady I was talking to, but pretty soon I became bored and tried to get around to the side of her. She kept turning with me, which was very annoying, and finally I said to her: "How high can you reach?" She said, "I can touch the chandelier." I challenged her and, sure enough, the young lady's bosoms were exactly where Miss Sheppard said they would be. Apparently she realized I had tricked her, because she said, "How dare you look under my arms." "I had to look somewhere," I protested. "But that was very unfair." "Look, I didn't ask you to put your bosoms under your arms. If you hadn't worn that dress, I would have looked at the chandelier." "YOU WEREN'T supposed to notice," she said. She put her arms down to the side. "I apologize," I said. "Will you drink to it?" She raised her glass and smiled—then she frowned. "You tricked me again." "I just don't know where to look anymore," I said. "If I thought there were men like you at this party, I would never have worn this dress," she said. "YOU DON'T have to worry about me," I assured her. "I can see either side of the problem." Just then my wife walked by. "Shake hands with my wife," I said. The young lady raised her hand and then she cried, "You did it to me again."

Strike Law Is 'Carrot'

WASHINGTON—Citizens should not hang by their thumbs waiting for that lower-case millennium when Lyndon Johnson will ram through a law providing emergency powers to deal with local strikes "which threaten irreparable damage to the national interest." That millennium will not occur during the current session of Congress for two reasons: First, Big Labor will fight the proposal down to the last million bucks in its Treasury. And second, Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen will refuse to cooperate to create the atmosphere in which a labor-baiting bill could be enacted.

THE BIG stumbling block is the Administration's rather low-key campaign to press repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law's Section 14-B which permits states to pass legislation banning compulsory unionism. The Senate momentarily will take up the repeal bill, which Dirksen filibustered into limbo in the last session, and the morning line says the bill again will fail to pass. Stung by such a defeat, labor is not likely to stand by idly, in an election year, while Congress enacts a law to curb strikes. In short, it seems fair to conclude that the strike proposal is merely a carrot on a stick, held out to Dirksen and Co. It is not in the Johnsonian tradition to pick fights with labor. Only once has exercised the emergency strike powers under the Taft-Hartley Act, in the East Coast longshoremen's strike in October, 1964. He has often expressed his reluctance to intervene in the collective bargaining process. And his own Secretary of Labor, Willard Wirtz, has been opposed to any new legislation dealing with strikes.

PUT BALDLY, the conclusion is inescapable that that master politician, Lyndon Johnson, is practicing his profession. As is his wont, he is working on his public image. He was not happy about charges that he cracked down on the steel and aluminum industry while seeming to find no harm in labor's position during the New York City transit strike. Now he seeks to create the impression that he favors equal slaps on the wrist for both sides. It was a happy coincidence happily managed by Lyndon Johnson that his announcement of the appointment of Robert Weaver as boss of the Department of Housing and Urban Development took place the day after the New York strike was settled. This gave him the opportunity to be "quite disturbed" at the settlement's violation of the 3.2 per cent annual increase as established by the White House's pet economists. And Gardner Ackley, the President's boss economist, promptly chipped in with a scolding comment on the "union's insistence on an inflationary settlement."

AS IT STANDS now, the Senate will take up Section 14-B against the backdrop of a Presidential pledge to do something about costly and unreasonable strikes. This could make repeal of 14-B more palatable to some of those Senators who have been enduring an agonizing appraisal of the bill's likely political consequences. Under such circumstances, the Democratic majority might scrape up enough votes to push it through. But the Senate has its cynics, too, and they will be filled with doubts. They will wonder, mostly, whether Big Labor will buy such costly quid pro quo once 14-B has been properly interred—and their political instincts will tell them so.

of the operations and decisions of the people who run and teach in the public schools and this, the NEA continues, is "harassment." In a nationwide survey held by NEA on mounting interest in recent years by the taxpaying public in school affairs, such widely separated organizations as the John Birch Society, the Parent-Teacher Association, the American Legion, and a spate of teachers unions outside NEA's own tightly organized group are listed as the busiest and bitterest of the "harassers." This is despite the fact that another part of the survey shows the JBS and the PTA as among the most helpful to the schools.

IT MIGHT be a good thing, before it goes any farther in resenting outspoken interest, critical and otherwise—in the field of public education, for the NEA to consult Mr. Webster's best seller, "Like looking up the definition of the word, 'harassment.'" According to Mister W., "harassment" means the "practice of tiring with repeated and exhaustive efforts; to weary by importunity; of laying waste; of raiding; of worrying by repeated attacks." But nowhere in the dictionary is "harassment" described as "attempting to halt questionable decisions, or curb waste," all of which are goals of some of the people and some of the organizations which have been speaking out against various public school policies and operations in recent years.

THE REASONABLE person will agree, certainly, that there is bound to have been some harassment of public school officials and teachers during the past year, the past several years even ever since public schools began operating. But the reasonable member of the National Education Association will agree, too, that there are many times when extremists of all sorts—in school administration and in the classroom—need some looking into and, if deserved, need some straightforward criticism.

The thoughtful American will say that it's better for people to be sufficiently interested in their schools to keep tabs on them, and when they deem it necessary, to speak their piece, than it is to leave everything up to those on the payroll to run this important public policy, willy-nilly, as only they see fit. Somehow or another, it's pretty difficult to accept the NEA definition of expressions of differing opinion as "harassment," especially since NEA, itself, is constantly beating its breast about "academic freedom."

After all, there should be room, too, for some "citizenship freedom" for Jones who, as always, "pays the freight."

Psychologists in Florida experimenting with monkeys, report that by the use of appropriate symbols, the simians can be taught the value of money. In this respect, a monkey can prove himself smarter than some people.

That Man on Avenue Q says for a good many people, increased leisure just provides increased opportunities to get into trouble. Of course, the world is getting smaller. A fellow doesn't have to go half as far as he used to get into trouble.

A good many of today's Americans seem to be a little mixed up about what the Constitution guarantees them. They're the ones who think they have an inalienable right to trample on the rights of others and, further, to the pursuit of a fast buck.

BELIEVE IT or not, but Texas Tech has a Police Department which is one of the largest in this area of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Currently, the Campus Cops consist of a chief, a lieutenant, two night sergeants, 10 officers, two radio operators, a relief radio operator, one secretary, two clerk-typists, three part-time clerk typists. Three radio-controlled police cars traverse the college's environs and supporting the officers is one K-9 Corps dog.

On Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche Jan. 21, 1946) TEHRAN — Ibrahim Hakimi resigned as premier of Iran, and today some informed quarters predicted his cabinet would be succeeded by one which might gain the favor of the Soviet Union. Robert Hillis, former Lubbock Hubbers outfielder, is in Lubbock visiting with relatives.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

Bobby's At It Again

SEN. ROBERT F. Kennedy, the aging "Wunderkind," mafioso-in-chief of the Kennedy legions and most lately the great silent Sphinx of the New York transit strike, has done it again. He stood detached for 12 battering days without uttering a word against the illegal strike by union leaders on whose political power he depends. Involving confederates he needs, it was, once more, the same case as his "I have no complaints against Congressman Adam Clayton Powell," the strutting rooster of Puerto Rico's bathing beaches, who calls himself "an huppable parish priest." THEN, WHEN the strike was settled, Bobby moved in to mug the TV cameras in City Hall. His seraphic smile lit up the place as he bowed his thanks to the public—having done nothing. In this "image" age, understanding all politicians' techniques is important if we're to gain the faintest idea of what's happening to us; all these hard-bitten types or prosperous performers in their grey-fannel suits know how to get in the most out of the public for themselves; men only nominally subject to the tax collector, other Government harassers and Government as a whole because they are the Government itself. WITH THEM politics is not a disease, it is a virus. And our whole country is swamped by these push-button politicians who manipulate people's emotions, beliefs and hopes in their own interests to further their ambitions. These masters of make-believe even grow blind to their own techniques and often cannot detect make-believe when practiced on themselves. Their own resistance to self-deception becomes practically nonexistent. IN BOBBY'S case, however, recognizing his techniques is especially important, not only because of the money and immense co-ordination invested to make them click but because their contrived payoff affects us all. Those who hope for good government in our country and some selflessness in our officials find themselves painted into a lulu of a corner.

IF PRESIDENT Johnson should not live until 1968 or 1972 and Hubert Humphrey does not get the Presidential nomination we might well get Bobby Kennedy. So, at least, says a Gallup poll. Thus, my respected Washington colleague, Richard Wilson, contributes to our better understanding of the dose on tap: "There can be no real comprehension of the Kennedy legend except in the light of the systematized program of the Kennedy family for the last 30 years to use successfully all public information media for its advancement. Robert Kennedy is a putative candidate for President in 1968, 1972 or any other time... and the Kennedy legend is likely to play a leading part."

ENDS AND means; means and ends. January, however, is an ill-omened month for Robert Kennedy. It is an anniversary of President Johnson's first official resentment and, abominably enough, the matter arose regarding a Federal Reserve Board appointment—an act Mr. Johnson must soon perform again. The behind-the-scenes event occurred in January, 1964, when President Johnson, immediately on taking office, declined to choose Harvard Prof. Seymour E. Harris, an all-out Kennedy favorite.

THE FAMOUS Harris is a dyed-in-the-wool Robin Hood of the Red Ink and Bobby Kennedy had told him he could have this important job. President Johnson telephoned Bobby that he couldn't appoint Harris at that moment without shattering business confidence. The thud would have been unequalled since the days of the 60,000-pound dinosaurs. Robert Kennedy, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Senator Ted—all three shoulder-to-shoulder challenged President Johnson. "You cannot do this to us," Robert Kennedy stated. "Then the three marched out of the office."

BOBBY'S KNIFING of Mr. Johnson began much earlier, of course, and continues as planned. He often conceals his hatred in the hope of favors but never forgets the grade. This Harris episode, however, was his first infuriating challenge after Mr. Johnson took over the White House. Democrat Daniel P. Moynihan, when running for New York City Council president in the primary, summed it all up: "If you understand the Kennedys, the question is not whether Bobby is in your fold but whether you are in his."

GUEST EDITORIALS:

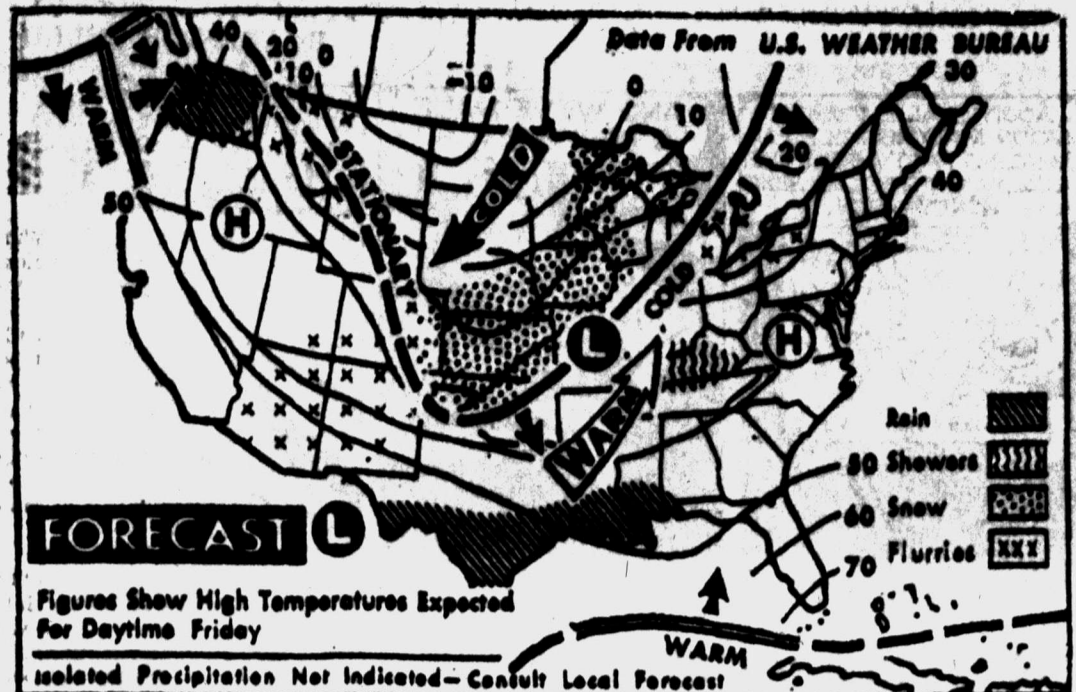

The Wage Push

PROPOSALS to increase minimum wage and extend minimum-wage coverage were among matters left over at the last session of Congress. Labor Secretary Wirtz says the Administration will give the subject high priority at the new congressional session. Mr. Wirtz doesn't indicate how much increase will be sought over the present minimum, which is $1.25 an hour. The Administration probably won't go along with the demand of organized labor that the wage floor be fixed at $2 an hour. One thing is evident: The Administration can't ask for a substantial increase in the minimum wage without going counter to its policy as expressed in its own wage-price guidelines. At a time when everyone is concerned deeply about inflationary pressures on the economy, there is a further consideration that must be weighed when an increase in the minimum wage is proposed. That is the escalating effect that such a step would have on wages in general. The unions are not likely to stand still when they see the wage floor raised without demanding proportionate increases when they bargain with employers. A differential between skilled and unskilled labor is bound to be maintained and it can't be reduced by anything Government is able to do. The higher the minimum wage the higher bargained wage rates are bound to be. Raising the wage floor is incompatible with Administration admonitions against inflationary policies by labor and management.—(Roanoke, Va., Times)

Four-Year Terms

THE BIGGEST surprise in President Johnson's State of the Union message may have been his formal proposal of a constitutional amendment to extend the term of House members to four years. The real puzzlement is why so basic and sweeping a change should have been included in a catch-all message to Congress that already was controversial enough, more or less inescapably. Judging from the applause—especially from the House side—the four-year term proposal may not be all that controversial among its intended beneficiaries. We should hope otherwise, a tid should certainly hope that it will be most controversial, indeed, among members of the Senate. The case pro and con a four-year term for House members can, and perhaps should, be argued in both houses of Congress again, as of course, it was argued in the beginning by the drafters of the Constitution. However, we can hope that the Senate, especially, would debate the proposal on its merits, or lack of them, if and when the House itself should act favorably. For the Senate is in conflict in the longer House terms purely as a bargaining gesture toward colleagues in the lower House would be to subvert the intent of the Framers in more ways than one.—(Arkansas Gazette)

Carr Upholds Plan For Health Centers — AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr upheld Thursday the constitutionality of community health centers and the use of state funds by the centers.

Dr. S. H. Frazier, commissioner of the new Texas Department of Mental Health, had requested an opinion.

Carr said he could find nothing in the state Constitution to prohibit either the creation of the centers, authorized by the legislature, or the use of state money appropriated for the department.

QUOTA SET AT 32.7 PER CENT FOR FEBRUARY

Commission Increases Oil Allowable

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission—praised, cautioned and criticized by oil men Thursday—pushed the February oil allowable for Texas up a notch over January, to 32.7 per cent of capacity.

The commission then went into a closed session with an Air Force general to talk about rising demands of the Viet Nam War on Texas' crude oil supplies.

"The demands will be a lot less than a lot of people think," said Lt. Gen. W. O. Senter, who said he expects to buy $1.3 billion of oil for the government this year in his job as director of petroleum logistics. He estimated 1966 oil purchases at $100 million over last year.

Texas' February percentage factor, raising the production ceiling for the fifth consecutive month, will provide an allowable of 3,137,864 barrels a day next month. Oil men are operating under a 32.6 per cent order this month, with an allowable of 3,116,652.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said there were "no 844 spots" in the state's crude oil stocks. However, only three of the 13 major purchasers asked for a higher allowable than last month. Alvin Hope, a San Antonio independent operator, urged the commission to move with caution.

Raising the commission "for keeping pace with the oil industry itself," Hope said. "Caution is written in these (purchasers) demands. You must use caution to prevent over-supply."

Gas Firm Plans Large Expansion

HOUSTON (AP)—Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. disclosed plans Thursday for a $200 million expansion program. This would include another major entry for natural gas into the New York metropolitan area.

Clyde McGraw, president, said this largest expansion in the history of the company also would include the start of Transcontinental's fourth main transmission line linking Gulf Coast areas with the New York City-Philadelphia-New Jersey complexes.

A petition seeking approval has been filed with the Federal Power Commission.

The three-year program would boost Transcontinental's deliveries by 480 million cubic feet a day to a total in excess of 1.4 billion cubic feet daily.

Included would be a 33-mile underwater crossing of 26-inch pipe in lower New York Bay from a point near Laurence Harbor on the New Jersey coast to a point near Long Beach, Long Island. The crossing would cost $24 million and would provide a more strategic delivery point for customers, McGraw said.

Transcontinental's first line into New York City crossed the Hudson at 134th St. in 1850. Other crossings were built later at 72nd St. and across the narrows into Brooklyn. The gas is supplied to Consolidated Edison, Brooklyn Union Gas, and Long Island Lighting.

McGraw said about $71.8 million will be spent on the projects this year.

The start of the fourth main line from the Gulf Coast will include 516 miles of 42-inch pipe, 143 miles of 36-inch and 220 miles of smaller loops.

The final increase in additional customer service planned under the expansion will be made in 1969.

Ramsey said Texas' oil stocks are 5.6 million barrels below last year's.

As the commission met, an oil man entering the governor's race asserted to a news conference "It is shocking what this commission is now doing to the mineral wealth of Texas."

Stanley Woods of Houston said, "Texas everyday is losing production to the sister State of Louisiana... It is the system that is wrong. How can three states on the commission who never had any oil experience know what to do about the oil business?"

Woods, who organized the Woods Exploration and Producing Co. in 1959, said a major issue of his campaign against the commission is to do about the oil business.

Gov. John Connally would be the position of Texas' oil and gas industry.

Heavy Snow Warning Is Issued For Plains

dropping temperatures in the Midwest to new seasonal lows.

As this front became stationary, a reinforcing mass of frigid air shouldered into parts of Montana and the Dakotas, plummeting the mercury to sub-zero readings as far south as northwestern Kansas.

Most of the nation—from the interior of the West to the Atlantic Coast—shivered in the grip of Arctic cold, and snow fell Thursday over vast areas of the Southwest, Midwest and Northeast.

Thunderstorms Hit

A 7-1/2 mile, heavy thunderstorm accompanied the sweeping cold on its path through the southern states. More than an inch of rain fell at some points in Florida Thursday.

Light drizzle also fell over the northwestern section of Texas Thursday, and by dusk it had developed into freezing rain over all of the Panhandle-South Plains area.

Two Persons

The freezing rain formed a slippery coating of ice on the roads and sidewalks in most area cities, and two South Plains residents were hospitalized in Lubbock because of falls.

Mrs. Verna Evans, 53, of Cee Vee, underwent surgery at Methodist Hospital for a broken hip, and Mrs. Leslie Bain, 68, of Slaton was admitted to Methodist after breaking her knee in a fall on the ice.

Meanwhile, a rash of accidents across the area were attributed to slick roads. An cattle trailer overturned on an overpass on U. S. Hwy. 87 south of New Deal, and a truck flipped on U. S. Hwy. 87 in Lynn County. No injuries were reported in either accident.

By late Thursday night, the heaviest snowfall on the South Plains was reported at Hereford, which had accumulated more than a foot of snow on the ground in a two-hour period.

Snow Piling Up

An inch of snow also was reported on the ground at Tulla, Dimmitt and Olton late Thursday night, and the snow fall reportedly was intensifying at Plainview, Floydada, Lockney and Muleshoe near midnight.

The snow reportedly was sticking to a cover of ice on the roads, adding to the already hazardous driving conditions.

The U. S. Weather Bureau issued a bulletin late Thursday night, asking all travelers to take extra precautions.

Traffic Is Slowed

The Dept. of Public Safety reported that traffic in Plainview had been slowed to a top speed of 30 miles per hour and less and urged motorists not to travel "unless absolutely necessary."

Light drizzle changed to freezing rain around noon in Lubbock, and the U. S. Weather Bureau Station at Municipal Airport said light snow started falling about 7 p. m.

The total precipitation in Lubbock to midnight Thursday was 0.1 of an inch, and the temperature varied only five degrees from an early morning high of 31 to a low late Thursday night of 28.

Last Heavy Snow In 1961

The high today is expected to reach near 30 before dipping into the low 20s tonight.

The last heavy snowfall in the South Plains area occurred during the bitter winter of 1961, when more than six inches fell at several area points in late January.

The new storm started in the Panhandle and quickly moved south.

By sunset, visibility was cut to 100 feet in Amarillo and the Amarillo airport was shut down.

Advises Weather

The Weather Bureau said the snow would move into North Central Texas today, along with gusty northerly winds.

To Cover Entire State

For areas where the mercury does not fall enough to encourage snow, the weather bureau predicted rain. All of the state could expect rain showers or snow flurries today and Saturday.

The cultch was a cold front that stretched from the Great Lakes to Texas and back into the Rocky Mountains. The front moved to string out the severe cold snap into its second week.

Slight Variations

Temperatures varied only slightly from lows to highs. The mercury never rose above the freezing mark in the Panhandle, stalled in the 30s throughout the rest of North Texas, and was in the 40s in most of South Texas.

Forecasters said a temperature of 18 degrees could be expected in Dalhart by dawn today. Freezing temperatures were expected for the northern third of the state, and also in the Big Bend and Davis Mountain regions.

Thirty degree readings were predicted for the rest of the state Thursday night.

The extended five-day forecast said temperatures would be from 7-13 degrees below normal in North Texas and from 8-12 degrees below normal in the southern regions. Precipitation was forecast through the first part of next week—coming as snow in North Texas and rain in South Texas.

MISS AMERICA ARRIVES — Members of the Hale County March of Dimes campaign go over plans with Donna Axum, past Miss America of 1964 as she arrived Thursday night at the Lubbock airport. Accompanying her are from left: Mrs. Bob Hamilton, press chairman; Fred Shelley, dance chairman; Donna Axum, and Ken Foreman. ## Donna Axum Will Appear At Benefit In Plainview

PLAINVIEW (Special)—Miss Donna Lynn Axum, of El Dorado, Ark., Miss America of 1964 will appear at several events here today to benefit the Hale County March of Dimes.

Despite bad weather, the beauty arrived at Lubbock Municipal Airport about 7 p. m. Thursday and then continued here by car.

March of Dimes officials greeted Miss Axum at the airport.

Events Planned

She will appear today at a dance, sponsored by the Plainview Jaycees, at the Plainview Country Club, at 8:30 p. m. A dinner at which Miss Axum will sing, will be at 7:30 p. m. in Wayne's Restaurant.

Miss Axum also will sing at the dance and an autograph party is planned.

Other events scheduled include an invitational silver tea at Wayne's Restaurant, sponsored by the Plainview Delta Delta Delta Alumni Assn., and a "Mother-Daughter" style show at 4 p. m. which Miss Axum will narrate and participate in as a model.

Received Award

Miss Axum was named Miss America for 1964 at the 1963 pageant in Atlantic City.

She is a native of Arkansas and was selected "Arkansas Woman of the Year" in 1963. She received the C. E. Palmer Award, bestowed by the Arkansas Junior Chamber of Commerce, for distinguished service to the state.

McNamara FROM PAGE ONE

returned from the Far East late Wednesday night with a new fiscal 1967 budget going to Congress next Monday, representing what officials called the "best estimate of the situation as we see it developing" in Vietnam and elsewhere.

The Pentagon's spending plans, together with the new fiscal 1967 budget going to Congress next Monday, represented what officials called the "best estimate of the situation as we see it developing" in Vietnam and elsewhere.

Preparing For Worst

"We hope for the best but we are preparing for the worst," one official said.

The Marine Corps accounted for nearly half the 112,841 increase in military personnel urged by McNamara Thursday. Besides a boost of 54,994 men, the Marines also would get a number of tactical helicopters and some other air units.

The new Marine division—the fourth in the corps—was expected to be activated at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and could be used to train replacements for two Marine divisions already deployed in the Far East.

"Very High Figure"

Other service increases totaled 45,599 for the Army, 8,025 for the Navy and 4,225 for the Air Force. Altogether, the new authorized strength of the armed forces would be 3,083,109, or nearly 453,000 more men than was planned a year ago.

The latest request includes $1.7 billion for the anti-poverty program. Other reports have gone as high as $2 billion.

An increase of $5.8 billion in Viet Nam spending and $3.2 billion for the Great Society comes to $9 billion. But since the budget itself is rising only $2.6 billion, Johnson has had to cut $2.6 billion from less essential programs.

Actually, officials said they had found savings of $4.5 billion but that these have been partly offset by about $2 billion in "unavoidable" increases other than Viet Nam and the "Great Society."

Savings include $1.5 billion in defense outside of Viet Nam and $1.5 billion in civilian programs. In addition, the administration hopes to pick up $1.5 billion by selling mortgages and other government-owned assets and by getting private lenders to take over some loans now made directly from Washington.

Another windfall will be realized by reducing the silver content of half dollar and dime coins. The GOP staff report says an er in quarters, dimes and nickels. Estimates of the amount expected to be realized cut as deeply into the combat readiness of the services—particularly the ground forces—only that it will play a "quite significant" part in keeping the deficit within bounds.

The "unavoidable" spending increases include $300 million in federal pay raises, both civilian and military, $700 million more for interest on the national debt, and $1 billion in bigger work loads throughout the government.

An usual, military spending will account for about half the total budget. Including the costs of Viet Nam, the defense budget will rise from $54.2 billion in fiscal 1966 to $58.3 billion in fiscal 1967.

Continuation Of Cotton Plan Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) said Thursday he will renew his request that the Agriculture Department continue reallocations of unused acreage under the cotton acreage allotment program.

Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, referred to the release and reappointment program of previous years. This allows farmers who do not want to use any part of their allotted cotton acres to retransfer the acreage for redistribution among other farmers in their county or state.

Contents Program Ineffective

Cooley has contended the department has made the release and reappointment program ineffective, especially by small growers, by preventing release of allotted acres by certain farmers who receive payments for retiring a part of their cotton acreage.

His views came in a statement issued after the department announced that about one million acres of cotton allotment have been transferred by cotton farmers to other farmers under a new lease or purchase program in the 1965 Food and Agriculture Act.

The new authority, which permits sale or lease of allotments between farmers, Cooley said, should in no way affect the old program.

Mrs. Mouser's Rites Saturday

LITTLEFIELD (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Alice Mouser, 68, longtime Spade resident will be at the First Baptist Church in Spade at 2 p. m. Saturday. Officiating will be the Rev. C. K. Tate, pastor.

Burial will be in Littlefield Memorial Park Cemetery under direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mouser's body was found in the wreckage of a car about noon Wednesday. The one-car mishap occurred Tuesday about 2.8 miles east of Littlefield.

She moved to the Spade community in 1930 from Clinton, Okla., and lived on a farm southeast of Spade. Her husband, B. D. Mouser, died in 1963.

Survivors include five sons, Neil and Ensie, both of Irving; Leonard, Midland; Lester, Lubbock; and Donald, Odessa; three daughters, Mrs. Elaine Froy, Chicago, Ill.; and Mrs. Edith Coigner and Mrs. Elsie Poindexter, both of Dallas.

Dick Gregory Tells Canadians He'll Win

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI)—American Negro comedian Dick Gregory Thursday told Canadians he plans to run for mayor of Chicago.

When asked his chances of being elected mayor in the 1967 election, Gregory said, "I'll get 90 per cent of the Negro vote and 30 per cent of the white vote and that will be enough to win."

Gregory, one of the central figures in the Negro civil rights struggle in the U. S., said, "We'll solve the race problem in five years or it will solve us." America, as it is now will cease to exist, he said.

Two Women Sustain Injuries In Falls

Two women were admitted to Methodist Hospital here Thursday after breaking bones in falls caused by slippery footing.

Mrs. Verna Evans, 53, of Cee Vee, underwent surgery for a broken hip Thursday night and was listed in fair condition.

Mrs. Leslie Bain, 68, of Slaton, also was listed in fair condition at the hospital. She was reported to have had surgery on a broken knee Thursday.

CAT MUST KNOCK BRIGHTON, ENGLAND (UPI)

Cyril Woodcock left the door of his antique shop open to let the cat in. A thief slipped in, stole and stole $1,120 of goods. Said Woodcock, "In the future, the cat will have to learn to knock."

Two Killed In Mishap

LOVINGTON (Special)—Clyde A. Brown, 51, best-old pioneer Lea County resident who was purported to have been the first white child born on the South Plains died in a two-car collision about 30 miles east of Roswell on U. S. 380 Wednesday night.

Funeral services are pending at Turner Funeral Home in Roswell.

Browning, who lived about 10 miles north of Maljamar, was a passenger in a car driven by his son, Joe A. Browning, 50.

A Midland man, Robert L. McPherson, 34, was also killed in the crash, and two other passengers in the car driven by William H. Jetton, 37, of Midland, G. L. Shoemaker, 56, and Richard P. Bookert, 56, both of Midland, were treated for injuries at a Roswell hospital. Jetton was not injured.

Joe Browning was hospitalized with a broken leg and ribs.

Officers said the Browning car skidded on the slick highway, sideswiped the Jetton car, and overturned one and a half times coming to rest on its top. McPherson was thrown from the car.

10TH OKAYED, TWO DELAYED Plan On One-Way Streets Here Stirs New Dispute

fewer delays," Burr asserted.

Carroll Cobb, spokesman for a group of residents and businessmen along 15th and 16th Streets, didn't dispute that fact—but argued streets are supposed to provide private access as well as move people from one part of town to another.

He said property owners along the streets believe the access to their homes and buildings and their desirability would be lessened by the proposed action.

Charles Maedgen Jr., president of the Lubbock National Bank, and realtor Joe Phillips both spoke in favor of one-way streets.

"It would be a tragedy to downtown Lubbock to change Main Street back to two-way status," Maedgen said. "Making 15th and 16th one-way would help, too... as would 10th Street."

15th Change Deplorable

Maedgen said, in answer to a question by Tidmore: "I feel the change of 15th Street to two-way traffic was a mistake. It is far more congested than before. I've heard more complaints on it since then than in all the years it was one-way."

Several persons raised their hands in agreement. There was only passing reference, however, to an "experiment" now underway in which angle parking replaced parallel parking on downtown streets, creating more parking spaces but causing more congestion for moving vehicles.

"I own property on Main Street and when it was one-way everyone said it would fall apart," Phillips said. "Quite a few years later, I'm here appealing to you to keep Main Street the way it is. Almost all its development has been since it was made a one-way."

"No Sympathy" For Downtown

Wesley Read, arguing against the 15th and 16th Streets proposal, said he had "no sympathy" with the downtown area because merchants and property owners were warned 25 years ago they faced problems "and they laughed at us."

"Don't do something to help the motorist that will hurt me," Read said after explaining he owns residential property on 15th Street.

"I'll take 15 per cent less for my house the day you make 16th Street one-way than I will today," A. C. Jackson added.

Hill Baggett, speaking for the Association of Commercial Real Estate Brokers, said he backed the one-way street proposals "in their entirety."

Delay Until Feb. 10

Tidmore disagreed with businessmen who oppose one-way streets, saying, "If you put more traffic past a store, a merchant is not much of a businessman if he can't increase his business."

Councilmen, however, delayed action on 15th and 16th Streets until Feb. 10. The one-way movement on 10th Street will begin after the ordinance is passed on second reading next month.

Burr also reported to the council on a survey of parking conditions south of the Texas Tech campus. Residents of the neighborhood have complained congestion and inconvenience.

Try Parking Temporarily

The council voted to try "until June" a plan whereby parking will be limited to two hours on the south side of 19th Street and on both sides of 20th and 21st Streets between College and Flint Avenues. All parking would be prohibited on the south side of 22nd Street between those same avenues and on the east side of all north-south streets in the neighborhood.

"If that doesn't work, we can try something else," Councilman W. E. Medlock said.

Burr said a similar parking problem exists east of the Tech campus. Parking was removed earlier from one side of streets around Lubbock and Monterey high schools, he added, to help alleviate identical problems in those areas.

Animal Shelter Planned

In other action, authorization was given to the hiring of architects for a new animal shelter on "municipal hill" north of Mackenzie State Park. The project will be built on a pay-as-you-go basis, starting with $20,000 already appropriated.

Approval was given to the lighting of four traffic arteries at an estimated cost of $74,500. Included are: S. 11th and Broadway between 4th and 5th Streets, Avenue M between 4th and 19th Streets, Quirt Avenue and Loop 289 North and College Avenue between 60th Street and Loop 289 South.

Board appointments included Mrs. Melville R. Monte to the City-County Welfare Board, Joe Fry, Jimmy Wallace, M. M. Fry, and J. B. Joiner to the Board of Electrical Examiners, the Rev. C. N. Schindler to the Housing Authority Board, and E. W. (Bud) Smith to the South-East Lubbock Development Corp.

Exchange Program Set

Tidmore was authorized to appoint a committee to work with a similar group in Ica, Peru, for developing an exchange student program between the two cities.

On an experimental basis, the council decided to have public hearings on zone change requests at 9 a. m. Feb. 23, one day ahead of the semi-monthly meeting date. Zone change hearings normally are time consuming. A report also will be heard that day on proposals for acquiring land for new parks.

A payment of $21,395 was authorized to the auditing firm of Teague, Haynie and Co.

HE GOES FREE Extradition Is Out For Man Arrested In City

A 25-year-old Lubbock man, who had been the object of a Federal Narcotics Bureau search three years, found freedom Thursday when California officials said they would not extradite him.

Matt Jones Jr., who had been employed at Methodist Hospital here under the name of M. J. Mason, 522 E. 15th St., was arrested Wednesday afternoon at the hospital after officers were informed he was wanted on a narcotics charge in San Francisco, Calif.

Is Freed Man

Lt. John Arnold said Thursday that when they notified California that Jones was in custody officials said they would not extradite him to face charges, and Jones left city jail here a free man.

Arnold said Jones had been indicted on the narcotics charge and was awaiting trial when he fled California about three years ago.

Three 15-year-old youths were turned over to county juvenile probation officers Thursday after being charged with several breaks in Blaylock Grocery here and the Dec. 21 shooting of R. E. Paigo.

Mahon's Nephew To Seek Election

ABILENE (AP)—Eldon Mahon, 47, Abilene lawyer and former District Court judge, said Thursday he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the new 17th District.

Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson, now in his 20th year in Congress, previously announced he would seek re-election on the Democratic ticket.

The Texas Legislature created the new 17th District by adding 12 counties to the 12 in the old 17th. The congressional reapportionment statute has been approved by the federal courts.

Eldon Mahon is a nephew of Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.) veteran congressman from Colorado City and Lubbock.

Mrs. Gandhi FROM PAGE ONE

The Soviet Union has provided the major share of India's foreign aid. And although there has been a struggle for the greater influence here, both Washington and Moscow in recent years have had roughly the same objectives in ward off the economic chaos that would admit Communist Chinese influence.

America has given India more than $6.1 billion in development aid since 1951 and has shipped food worth more than $3.1 billion.

Moscow's more modest effort totals somewhat above a billion. It is probable a resumption of American development aid, cut off during the India-Pakistan war in September, is one subject Johnson wants to discuss with Mrs. Gandhi.

One school of thought in Indian officialdom holds that Mrs. Gandhi should visit the United States as soon as possible, because U.S. aid is a crucial factor in feeding India's 480 million people.

Other officials, however, said it would be best for Mrs. Gandhi to concentrate immediately on consolidating her position as prime minister and also to avoid giving the impression that the first thing a new Indian prime minister must do is fly to Washington for help.

Bowles First Caller

Kosygin made it clear in his message he is counting on Mrs. Gandhi to maintain India's non-aligned foreign policy.

Kosygin said the Soviet Union counts Mrs. Gandhi as a "great friend" and "we are convinced that a government headed by you will follow along the road of Jawaharlal Nehru and realize his ideas."

U. S. Ambassador Chester Bowles, first ambassador to call on Mrs. Gandhi after her selection, delivered Johnson's message in a 25-minute interview.

LBJ Accuses North Viet Nam Of Blocking Peace Talks

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — President Johnson accused North Viet Nam of blocking peace talks and said Thursday "if the aggressors are ready for peace, let them come to the meeting place and we will meet them there."

The door of peace must be open for all who wish to avoid the scourge of war, Johnson said, "but the door of aggression must be closed and bolted if man himself is to survive."

Johnson joined former President Harry S. Truman at a ceremony establishing the Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace. The multimillion-dollar center, financed privately, is to be erected on the campus of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

"I think every schoolboy knows that peace is not unilateral—it takes more than one to sign an agreement," Johnson said somberly. "It seems clear to all that what is holding up peace in the world today is not the United States of America."

"What is holding back peace is the mistaken view of man not abolish war on this earth, then surely, one day, war will abolish us from the earth."

Johnson was in the Truman Library for less than an hour. He talked privately with the former president for a few minutes, informing him "of our worldwide efforts to move the violence of Southeast Asia to a table of peaceful discussion."

Johnson said before leaving Washington he received a report from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman on their recent visits to various world capitals and that he would meet with Rusk and Harriman later.

He called Truman "one of the great men of peace of our time."

Truman had prepared a response, but did not deliver it.

Johnson touched, for the first time, on the moral problems of birth control.

"We will increase our efforts in the great field of human population. The hungry world cannot be fed until and unless the growth of its resources and the —A major new attack on worldwide hunger, presenting this year a new food aid program.

—We will work with those who are willing to work with us for their own progress, in the spirit of peace and understanding."

The President also voiced the first formal reaction of the U.S. government to a statement in Saigon Saturday by Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam.

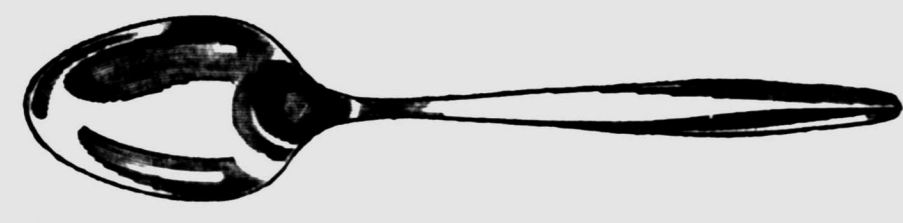

He said the prime minister pledged his country to make progress for peace while defending against aggression.

"He has spoken for progress in rural education, in housing, in land reform, and above all, of the need for progress in social revolution and in the building of democracy — by constitutional progress and by free elections," Johnson said. "All this he has said in the shadow of continuing aggression from the North. In all this he will have our full support."

TWO PLEAS ARE REFUSED

Three Zone Requests Get Board's Approval

A request to allow parking in the front 10 feet of a C-2A local retail zone at 50th St. and Ave. T was rejected Thursday by the City Zoning Board of Adjustment.

The board also turned down, on a split vote, a request for permission to build a church at 1608-16 44th St. Three other cases were approved and the hearing on one was continued.

Although turning down the 50th Street request, the board did assume jurisdiction over the case. It's authority to do so is disputed by city officials, who argue the board sometimes enters the field of legislation, which is the province of the City Council.

Request Rejected

Charles Cobb made the application, for Don M. Davis, for permission to park in the 10-foot strip reserved in the C-2A district for landscaping effect. Earlier requests elsewhere along the street had been approved.

Board members, however, were told the pattern for development along the street segment involved would be disrupted if they approved the request. Cobb had argued his client's building would be on the rear of the lot and that the 10-foot strip at the front was necessary to provide adequate off-street parking.

In a private conference after the public hearing, board members said they thought they had the right to consider the case but decided unanimously to reject the request.

Three members voted to approve a request by Jim White for the Church of God for permission to erect a building at 1600-16 44th St.—but that was one vote short of the four-fifths majority needed for approval. Chairman Harold Harriger joined.

AFTER AROUND-THE-CLOCK WORK

Coinage Crisis Passes Peak

(By Congressional Quarterly)

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Mint and the U.S. Treasury have survived the coinage crisis by the skin of their teeth.

To do so the 1,800 employes had to work around the clock and had to put into service 32 old cartridge presses belonging to the Defense Department and antique coinage presses that had been in the Nevada State Museum and the San Francisco Museum.

Thanks also must go to the Coinage Act of 1965, which permitted the minting of coins with less silver.

If the act had been delayed only a few days beyond its enactment in July, treasury and mint officials say, there would have been a shortage of quarters during the Christmas season, the annual period of peak demand for coins.

Low Coinage Stocks

Federal Reserve banks had only 15,771,000 quarters on hand Nov. 1—the start of the peak demand period when the mint rushed 178 million new silverless quarters to the banks to supplement the low coinage stocks.

Following a two-year study, Treasury Department officials last June urged action by Congress to cut back on the use of silver coins. Demand for silver was for outstripping supply.

Congress quickly responded. It authorized a "sandwich" type coin made of cupronickel, a copper-nickel alloy, to replace the 90-per cent silver quarter and dime. And it authorized a silver-copper alloy containing 40-per cent silver to replace the 90-per cent half dollar.

For the first time in modern history, the mint is contracting out much of its work. It is buying prefabricated metal stripping, including the new clad-coin stripping, from private industry. The mint does the final processing. It punches out the new coins and stamps them at its three installations in Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco.

By utilizing all of its resources...

Trade Mission Linked To Spying Activities

BONN, Germany (AP)—A Soviet spy ring active in the industrial heart of West Germany was reported Thursday to have been cracked. There was speculation it might have been after nuclear secrets.

An Interior Ministry spokesman said the group had been concerned with the collection of "scientific data in the sphere of physical microresearch."

He declined to elaborate on the term but some thought it might have to do with nuclear physics.

A leading scientist at the big Nuclear Research Center at Juelich, 23 miles west of Cologne, said the term was not known to him. The center is involved in nonmilitary nuclear research. The Interior Ministry spokesman said the spy group operated in the state of North Rhine-Westphalia, and that three of its members were attached to the Soviet trade mission in Cologne.

BLANCHARD DUE Monterey Leadership Clinic Set

Pre-registration figures for the Monterey Leadership Check-Up Clinic reached 400 late Thursday, with registration to continue through Saturday morning.

Students from 101 schools including 86 area schools have been invited to the clinic, which will open with registration at 5 p.m. today at Monterey High School and continue through Saturday.

The heavily industrialized Ruhr Valley lies in North Rhine-Westphalia. The British army has its headquarters in the town of Mosenhengladbach and garrisons throughout the state. There also are Canadian and Belgian military units there.

The spokesman said that in addition to the Soviet trade mission members, the ring was made up of a correspondent for the Soviet official news agency, Tass, a Soviet radio and television network staffer and officers of the Soviet and East German intelligence services. He would not disclose names and said no arrests had been made.

Used Blind Drop

A Tass correspondent in Bonn said he knew of no spy ring. "Counter-intelligence succeeded in proving through authentic evidence the conspirative activity of the ring," the spokesman said.

He added that West German counterespionage agents had photographed members of the spy ring as they picked up material from a blind drop.

The Foreign Ministry declined comment on the case. It indicated more details might be disclosed at Friday's regular government news conference.

"But no diplomats are involved," a spokesman said.

Last month, a member of the Soviet Embassy here had to leave the country after the federal prosecution office announced he had held "a conspira-

ANN LANDERS

Mama Becomes Mirror

Dear Ann Landers: I'll bet no other 16-year-old girl in the world has ever had my problem because nobody has a mother as kooky as mine. Don't get me wrong, I love Mom, but she does some crazy things.

We look alike to begin with, features and coloring and like that. But last night she appeared at the dinner table with her hair combed like mine—very straight, the bangs covering the eyebrows. Only she brought the bangs down to her nose to get the point across. She couldn't see, in fact. She wore my white lipstick and really went to town with the black eyeliner. My false eyelashes (which I only wear on special occasions) made her look positively goofy.

Her only comment was, "How do you like yourself?" Well, I am sure I don't look that bad and I said so. She answered, "Oh, if God the gift would give us to see ourselves as others see us."

I would like your opinion of a mother who would do a wild thing like this.—Sore

Dear Sore: I think she has a delicious sense of humor and made excellent adaptation of the quote from Robert Burns. Take the hint, Doll.

Dear Ann Landers: I need an answer because my husband and I are in sharp disagreement.

Bart and I were reared in families where grace was said every night before dinner. We have continued this custom in our home.

Often we give dinner parties for 10 or 12 people. Some of our friends are of our faith. Others belong to a different faith. Still others have no religious beliefs at all.

Should we say our grace when we entertain? Should we select a more universal prayer?

Should we pray in our own way before the guests arrive? Or should we skip the prayer altogether when we have company?—Mrs. Q.

Dear Mrs. Q: Since grace is a part of your daily lives I see no reason to skip the prayer or to say it before the guests arrive. The best solution would be for you and your husband to bow your heads and say a silent prayer. Those who want to join you will do so. In this way each one can pray in his own way—or not at all if that is his choice.

Dear Ann Landers: Almost 49 years ago I married my first wife. The marriage lasted 13 years. I left her and our three children to chase around. Two years later I married a woman who was eight years my junior. We stayed married until 1960 when she was killed in an accident.

Several months ago I started to go with my first wife again. She remained single and has done a fine job of raising the children. I find her more attractive now than when we first met more than half a century ago.

We have both learned a lot and I am sure we could find happiness together in the years left to us. We want your answer so we can celebrate our golden wedding anniversary next year. What do you say?—Second Time Around

Dear Second: If you two want to remarry, go ahead. According to my calculations, however, you will not soon be candidates for a golden wedding celebration. You are shy about 36 years of living together, my friend.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hartwick Jr., 6904 Slide Rd., and Dr. and Mrs. McCleendon of Childress.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white wool knit street-length dress with A-line skirt, fitted long sleeves accented with lace inset and a round neckline. Her veil was of silk illusion studded with rhinestones and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dunn attended the couple. Mrs. Dunn wore a baby blue wool dress and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Ushers were Larry Hartwick, and Keith McCleendon of Houston.

Ring bearers were Danny and Sammy Hartwick. The Broadway Church of Christ Wedding chorus presented wedding selections.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

For travel, the bride chose a turquoise and blue three-piece wool knit suit and lizard accessories.

The couple will be at home at 834 1/2 E. 15th St., Abilene, where the bride is a junior at Abilene Christian College majoring in homemaking. She is a 1964 graduate of Monterey High School.

The bridegroom is a 1963 graduate of Childress High School, and has attended Lubbock Christian College. He is a senior at Abilene Christian College majoring in Bible, and is a candidate for graduation in July.

WHEN IT COMES TO CHINESE FOOD, East and West have much in common. The development of canned and frozen Chinese foods for American home use has served to make American-Oriental dishes mealtime regulars in many homes. And their versatility is unlimited.

MAKE AMERICAN-ORIENTAL HOSPITALITY A HABIT

JOY PENROD, Food Editor

"Huen eng kung lin" and "so glad you could come" are synonymous—though centuries separate them. One is ancient Chinese, the other modern American. Both, however, are warm, happy greetings for friends invited to dinner. And since both these old and new cultures share a love of hospitality, what could be more fitting on a special occasion than an American-Oriental feast—one that offers all the exotic tradition of ancient Chinese feasts, with the ease found only in modern American convenience foods?

Sweet Fruit Soup, just as a fireworks display, starts the meal with an explosion of color. It blends fruits, the dramatic colors of Chinese silk, with the ivory tones of water chestnuts.

The same convenience highlights Fried Rice with Eight Jewels. As its name implies, this main dish bestows a bowl of fried rice with eight major ingredients: ham, shrimp, chicken, bacon, green pepper, black olives, cherry tomatoes and pineapple.

Chinese desserts traditionally enhance, but never overpower a meal. Mandarin Dessert Squares, however, can be served simple or sumptuously—as is, or mounded with ice cream and mandarin orange segments. These treats exemplify the great Eastern principle of opposites.

The principle of opposites is no mystery to teenagers. The next time the gang descends, let them whip up Chop Suey Bologna Cups—a combination of Beef Chop Suey and the all-American sliced tomato and cheese.

Since there is really no legitimate reason why all good things must end, make American-Oriental foods a year-round habit with this simple-to-prepare dish, Almond Biscuit Chow Mein. Counter to the erroneous idea that "Chinese food isn't filling," this hearty casserole will satisfy the hungriest family member.

The Chinese have a word for it too. It is "ho mei" and, loosely translated, means "wonderful taste." While language still loses much in translation, neither cook nor diners lose out when American-Oriental foods become a habit.

FRIED RICE
WITH "EIGHT JEWELS"

- 6 slices bacon, cut in 1/2 inch slices
- 2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen fried rice
- 2 tablespoons water
- 4 slices (8 1/2 oz. can) canned pineapple rings, halved
- 1 green pepper, cut in strips about 1/2 inch by 2 inches
- 1/4 cup diced cooked chicken
- 1/2 pound fresh or frozen, thawed, shrimp
- 1/2 pound diced cooked ham
- 1/2 cup pitted black olives
- 10 cherry tomatoes for garnish

Saute the bacon in a large frying pan until crisp. Remove 2 tablespoons of the drippings into a large saucepan with a cover, add water and the frozen fried rice, break rice into blocks and simmer, covered, until thawed and hot (about 15 minutes).

Meanwhile in frying pan, brown the pineapple rings in the remaining bacon drippings, remove from pan; add the green pepper, chicken, shrimp, and ham and cook, stirring, until shrimp is pink and chicken and ham are slightly browned. Combine this mixture with the fried rice and turn out onto a serving platter. Garnish with the black olives, pineapple, and cherry tomatoes. Makes about 6 servings.

SWEET FRUIT SOUP
WITH WATER CHESTNUTS

- 1 1/2 cup rice
- 6 cups water
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 can (8 oz.) mandarin oranges
- 1 can (10 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and quartered
- 1 can (1 lb.) fruit cocktail, drained
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 1/2 cup maraschino cherries, halved
- 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons Muscatel or Sherry (optional)

Bring rice and water to a boil, cover and cook for 30 minutes. Stir in the honey and sugar, mandarin oranges juice and all, fruit cocktail, water chestnuts, dates, and maraschino cherries. Cook 15 minutes more. Chill.

Heat oil and add the nuts, stir until nuts are browned but not burned, about 2 minutes. Serve the fruit soup garnished with the fried nuts. Stir in the Muscatel or Sherry for added flavor.

Serves 6-8

DESSERT SQUARES

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 2 cans (3 oz. each) Chew Mein Noodles, ground
- 1 cup brown sugar, well packed
- 1 egg
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
- 1/2 cup butterscotch or chocolate chips
- 1/2 cup cream
- Mandarin oranges, canned
- Chocolate sauce

Mix the butter with the ground noodles. 2 cans ground equal 2 cups crumbs. Blend in the sugar, egg, milk and chips. Press into a well greased and floured 8 inch square pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 40 to 45 minutes. Cool 1 hour before cutting. Cut in squares. Top each with a scoop of ice cream, mandarin orange segments, and pour over chocolate sauce. Serve as dessert. To serve as a bar cookie, cut into smaller bars. Makes 9 dessert squares or 18 cookie bars.

ALMOND BISCUIT
CHOW MEIN

- 1 can (2 pounds, 11 ounces) Chicken Chow Mein, divider-pak
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup diced salami, bologna or cooked ham
- 1/2 cup chicken consommé or water
- 1/2 can (4 ounces) refrigerated baking powder biscuits*
- 6 almonds, halved

Separate the cans of Chow Mein Sauce and Vegetables. Drain vegetables; rinse with cold water. Combine vegetables and sauce with rice, diced meat and consommé. Turn into a buttered 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with the baking powder biscuits. Brush tops of the biscuits with water or milk and place 2 almond halves on top of each. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 45 minutes or until biscuits are golden. Serves 4 to 6.

*Remaining biscuits may be baked separately.

CHOP SUEY
BOLOGNA CUPS

- 8 slices bologna (about 3 1/2 inch diameter)
- 1 can (1 pound 8 ounces) Beef Chop Suey, divider-pak
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 small tomatoes, very thinly sliced
- 2 slices American cheese, cut in 1/4 inch strips

Arrange bologna slices on a flat oven-proof serving platter or cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 7 to 10 minutes or until slices curl to form cups. Meanwhile, separate cans of Chop Suey Sauce and Vegetables. Drain and rinse the vegetables under cold water. Combine vegetables and sauce; add Worcestershire sauce. Spoon chop suey into the bologna cups. Top each with a slice of tomato. Cross each tomato with two strips of the cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) until the cheese melts. Garnish with parsley and serve. Makes 8 servings.

Not one night but 15 days are devoted to the Chinese New Year Festival. And the Snake gives way to the Year of the Horse beginning January 21.

In this new year of 1966, Chinese communities around the world will sing out "Kung Ho Shin She"—that's "happy new year" and a welcome phrase in any language. In case you are partying Oriental style now or later, this information may be of interest:

Several days before the New Year, each family prepares a farewell feast for the Prince of the Oxen, or God of the Kitchen, before he leaves for Heaven to report on the behavior of the family during the past year.

Homes are festooned with paper gods on front doors. Strips of red paper with characters symbolizing happiness, wealth, good fortune, long life, etc., are placed on door posts. Tables are spread with offerings of rice, vegetables, tea, wine, incense, candles and sprays of cedar or flowers. When the arrangements are completed, firecrackers are set off in front of the house.

Six days are given the Feast of Lanterns. On the 10th day of the New Year Festival, the people begin to display paper lanterns and by the 15th day, lanterns of all shapes, sizes, patterns and colors are strung from every possible vantage point.

The Festival ends with the Parade of the Dragon. A huge shape of this mythical creature is formed of bamboo and covered with silk or paper.

TWO OTHER MOROCCANS France Issues International Arrest Orders For Oufkir

PARIS (AP) — France issued international arrest orders Thursday for Interior Minister Mohammed Oufkir of Morocco and two others believed involved in the Mehdi Ben Barka political kidnaping.

The announcement from the public prosecutor's office carried serious implications on the state of relations between France and Morocco, already strained by the incident.

French Agents Included

Oufkir has admitted he was in Paris when Ben Barka, a leftist Moroccan exile, was kidnaped Oct. 29 but declined invitations to come back to aid in the investigation.

The arrest warrant also named Maj. Ahmed Dlimi, director of the Moroccan internal security service, and another person listed only as Lardi Chitoui.

The French government is concerned because it has been established that French secret service agents assisted in the kidnaping. Ben Barka is believed to have been slain.

Only Wednesday, President Charles de Gaulle ordered a shakeup in the secret service. Gen. Paul Jacquier, the chief, was retired and the service was transferred from Premier Georges Pompidou's office to the Ministry of Defense. There have been reports a member of De Gaulle's staff and a top assistant in the Interior Ministry knew of plans for the kidnaping.

Ex-Convict Aids Investigation

Oufkir was reported by an ex-convict, now dead, to have been involved in abduction of Ben Barka from a Left Bank sidewalk.

But Oufkir has denied involvement, and the ex-convict apparently shot himself before police could talk to him.

The announcement said that an extradition request for another French ex-convict, Georges Boucheseiche, had not been honored. Boucheseiche, whose suburban home apparently was involved in a Monaco heist, was picked up by the police.

The international arrest warrant was approved within an hour after a report that a transnational plan for the French police and secret service had been ordered in view of their involvement in the case.

De Gaulle's staff announced that he has asked Leon Noel, an experienced magistrate, to head up the plan. Noel holds the title ambassador of France and is former president of the Constitutional Council.

The plan should cover the organization, composition, and functions of the country's various police services, and their relations with the court system, the announcement said.

WRONG SAFE He Didn't Know When To Quit

COMMACK, N.Y. (UPD) — The trouble with Henry Arms was he didn't know when to quit, amazed police reported Thursday.

Arms, awaiting trial for three years, last summer was arrested at his Smithtown, N.Y., home on charges of burglary, the Suffolk County police headquarters said.

Arms broke through a wall in the police station office containing the safe early Wednesday. An alarm went off and he fled, they said.

Arms came under suspicion of a robbery in the same manner at the police office earlier in the month.

WITH ESCAPE Apollo Capsule Passes Its Final Survival Test

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (UPD) — An Apollo moon capsule passed its final survival test at White Sands missile range Thursday as an escape system designed to pluck astronauts from an exploding rocket worked flawlessly.

The system now goes to Cape Kennedy, Fla., where it will be mated to a Saturn IB rocket. Suborbital unmanned flights of the Saturn IB are expected within the next 60 to 75 days. The Saturn IB also will be used for manned Apollo shots in an earth orbit, possibly late this year, but a Saturn 5 will make the actual shot for the moon.

Only difficulties encountered in Thursday's test were with range telemetry systems which caused two short pre-launch holds for a total of 13 minutes. Another telemetry system blanked out shortly after launch.

The telemetry failure left both National Space and Aeronautics Administration officials and observers in a quandary for a few minutes as to the success or failure of the mission. But observers uprange shortly affirmed Apollo had been plucked from the rocket and floated gently back to earth beneath three parachutes.

Bay Study Gets Approval Of Water Pollution Board

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Pollution Control board has approved Thursday a four-year study of Galveston Bay, the state's largest tidal estuary and the one whose surrounding population will rise from 1.4 million to 6.5 million by the year 2020.

There is danger that too much water from the bay's fresh-water sources, the Trinity and San Jacinto rivers, will be diverted by proposed water development plans in the state, the board said.

Nursery Grounds. This "tidal" water is necessary to maintain a delicate balance of water quality that today provides nursery grounds for more than 80 per cent of the poultage of fish products from the Gulf of Mexico.

The board also said it was concerned about the area of the bay to be added millions of people expected in the area for boating, swimming, water skiing and other recreational uses. The board has been making a limited study of the problem since 1962.

BY LEASING

More Military Housing Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara this week proposed government leasing of an additional 6,075 private housing units for military families while construction of new quarters is delayed by the Vietnamese war.

The Pentagon chief last Dec. 21 ordered postponement of $620 million in military construction, including 8,500 housing units that would have cost $160 million. The step was criticized in Congress.

In an announcement at the Pentagon McNamara said he will ask Congress to authorize leasing of 11,075 privately owned housing units. This would nearly double existing quarters.

McNamara said the 6,075 additional units "are the equivalent of approximately $100 million in new construction."

Soviet fishermen and scientists "will also fish experimentally in tropical waters for mackerel, sardines and other fish and will prepare recommendations for large-scale fishing at that area," Tass said.

The expedition, led by the refrigerated trawler Orlan, will remain in the Gulf's international waters for five or six months, Tass said. It reached the area after a month of sailing from the Sea of Japan.

CAPT. STINSON

Area Helps
In Rescue

A Plainview native and grandson of Lubbock residents, Capt. Thomas W. Stinson of St. Joseph, Mich., played an active role in the dramatic rescue of a fellow pilot whose plane was downed in Viet Nam recently.

Capt. Stinson, 35, and another pilot were responsible for silencing one .300 caliber gun emplacement and drawing the fire of another so that an Army helicopter crew could rescue the Albuquerque pilot, Capt. Carl M. Schlick, 30.

Relatives In Area
 Stinson is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Banks, 218 Ave. W. Auto who live in this area are Mrs. Carl Jenkins, 4920 17th Place, and Mrs. Eunice Johnson, Plainview.

Stinson's father, Tom, is a former Plainview man who now lives in Hollywood.

The 20-minute rescue involved several persons. During an air attack Dec. 20, one of three F-100 Super-sabre pilots from the 416 Tactical Fighter Squadron, attached to Tan Son Nhut Air Force Base, was shot down 15 miles west of Saigon.

Reds Nearby
 The pilot, Capt. Schlick, crashed and landed in a field. He crawled to a wooded area, with Viet Cong on either side of him.

Following the rescue, Capt. Schlick praised the Army helicopter crew, which "came in despite heavy fire and slowed down," and also 1st Lt. David H. Pinsky, forward air controller from Taneok, N. J., Capt. Stinson and Capt. James J. Simms, Leavenworth, Kan.

The two pilots on my flight, Capt. Simms and Stinson, under the direction of Lt. Pinsky, rolled in and landed one of the 30s which helped the situation considerably, but it was still touchy," the rescued pilot said. "I'm grateful to Lt. Pinsky, the Army chopper crew and my fellow pilots for their successful efforts."

Capt. Stinson served in Viet Nam from March to July last year and was ordered back for another year in November.

He and his wife have five children—Kathy, David, Susan, Tom and Karen. The family resides in St. Joseph.

New Chaplain
Arrives At
Reese AFB

Major Asa Hunt III, Air Force chaplain the past eight years, this week became chief chaplain at Reese Air Force Base, moving from a similar post at James Connally AFB, Waco.

Chaplain Hunt became an Air Force chaplain in July 1958, serving at Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, prior to going to Anderson AFB, Guam, for two years. He returned to James Connally three years ago.

Mr. Hunt is a graduate of Baylor University and the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. He was pastor of churches in Joplin, Ark., and a suburb of Detroit, Mich., following graduation from seminary in 1957.

He plans to make the Air Force his career.

A resident of Dallas, he is married to the former Mayella Morgan of that city. They have five sons, Asa IV, 11, David, 9, John, 8, Mark, 6, and Matthew, 5. The Hunts are living at 241 Harmon Drive and their sons are enrolling in the Reese Elementary School.

Wetzel Named
Top Instructor

Capt. James C. Wetzel has been selected as outstanding instructor of November in the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron at Reese Air Force Base.

He was credited with being an exceptional instructor pilot, with more than 2,400 hours of instruction experience giving him "superior competence."

Capt. Wetzel was credited with ability to analyze weaknesses of students. He devotes much time to briefings which did these students to conquer difficulties.

The letter of recommendation said the captain noted conflicts in synthetic trainer scheduling and worked out new schedules which brought advantages to the squadron and synthetic trainer section, at the same time giving students ample time to perform link duties.

During November, it was said, he re-accomplished all in-service training records, streamlining records and winning favorable comment from the standardization/evaluation board.

Lt. Col. Howard P. Mann, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron commander, also commended work of Capt. Wetzel.

The art of pottery-making spread slowly in Stone Age Europe, requiring about 400 years for each 100 miles it traveled.

BLOCKER HAS 70, TWO SHOTS BACK

Geiberger One Stroke Ahead

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Slim Al Geiberger dropped a 25-foot putt and two more from 15 feet Thursday while fashioning a three-under-par 68 and the first round lead in Bing Crosby's $104,500 golf tournament.

Geiberger, eighth among the pro money winners in 1965, played the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, one of three in use in this event.

He held a one-stroke lead over four others, who toured the same course on a sunny, chilly day.

Bracketed at 69 were Californians Ken Towns of San Jose, Paul Bondeson of Palm Springs, and Lee Raymond of Redwood City, along with Vossler.

Most of the big name golfers and celebrity amateurs played might have helped me. It woke me up at Cypress Point, a tougher me up course which drew the great majority of the opening day record throng of 25,000.

Arnold Palmer, who won the recent Los Angeles Open, and 1964 Crosby champion Tony Lema stamped themselves top contenders with two-under-par 70s at the Cypress Point course.

Billy Casper, twice winner of this tournament and the recent San Diego Open, had a 71 at Cypress as he came home with a 32 on the back nine after a 38 on the first.

Jack Nicklaus, last year's leading money winner, made his 1966 debut with 73, going over-par on two of the final three holes.

The 28-year-old Geiberger started each nine by slipping, but he three-putted the first hole from 15 feet and said, "That and celebrity amateurs played might have helped me. It woke me up at Cypress Point, a tougher me up course which drew the great two feet at the third hole, 15 at the fifth and two feet at the ninth. He missed the green at the 10th and went over par and then sank another 15-footer at the 12th and a 25-footer at the 14th for his 34-31 68.

Towns shot a 35-34 69, Bondeson 34-35, Raymond 34-35 and Vossler 33-36.

In the 70 group with Palmer and Lema were Chris Blocker, the former Texas Tech golfer, Rex Baxter and Don Massengale. The latter played Cypress Point and the other two at Monterey.

The pros are aiming at two amateur Jim Magoney; at Beselink and Los Angeles Dodger at the end of pitcher Don Drysdale; Vossler and Bill Higgins of Lafayette, Calif.; and George Archer with Los Angeles sports writer Nelson Cullenward. The latter team tied last year but a fourth place finish in 1964 has been his top showing in the Crosby.

Many scores soared. Doug Ford, the 1962 champion, shot a 78 at Pebble Beach, the toughest of the three which also will be the scene of the final round. Defending champion Bruce Crampton had a 72 at Monterey.

Gay Brewer and Dale Morey, High Point, N. C., amateur, led the pro-amateur team competition with a best ball 60. Morey played with a five-stroke handicap and on his handicap holes he recorded four pars and a birdie, thus helping by six strokes.

Four teams were tied at 62 net pro Joe Carr and Hollywood

Each of the pro-am teams will play each of the three courses once.

Those who played Cypress Point on Thursday, go to Monterey for their second round. Geiberger and the four 69 shooters move to rugged Pebble Beach, a course 6,747 yards in length with much of it along the Pacific and playing par 36-36-72.

Monterey Tackles Caprock Tonight

By CARLTON STOWERS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The high riding Monterey Plainsmen, who barely averted disasterous stumble against the insured Palo Duro Dons in their last trip out, host Caprock's unpredictable Longhorns tonight at 8 p. m., hoping to get a strong foothold on the leadership of District 3-AAA.

Coach Gerald Myers' troops will enter the Municipal Coliseum flying all the pomp and color of a 24 second round record has to offer against a team which has won but one league start in 10 attempts. The Longhorns nipped cross-town rival Tascosa, 58-53, in the initial round of loop play.

Beat Tascosa
And therein lies the reason for those worried looks on Myers' face. It was none other than Tascosa that forced the Plainsmen into a double overtime affair before finally giving way to defeat at the hands of the senior-laden MHS five. Another quick look shows that the Horns held powerful first half champ Amarillo at bay for three quarters before falling, 49-36.

Thus, Coach Cliff Mehrtens' Amarillo-based forces are not to be taken lightly.

The Plainsmen, however, have already conquered tonight's foe once this year, scoring a 55-37 win in Amarillo during the first round of action.

Caprock now 0-2 in the second half has fallen to Amarillo and Plainsmen while Monterey has defeated Borger and Palo Duro en route to its 2-0 ledger.

Williams Is Happy About New Honor

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, one of baseball's all-time hitting greats, welcomed election to the Hall of Fame Thursday with the enthusiasm of a kid hitting a grand slam homer.

"This is a wonderful day for me," the former Boston Red Sox slugger said. "I can't think of anything a ballplayer would want more."

Williams was on hand at Fenway Park home of some of his greatest triumphs, as his election was announced by Hy Hurwitz, secretary-treasurer of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

He listened intently as he was named a landslide winner with 282 votes, an all-time high, in balloting by 10-year BBWAA members, including many with whom he had feuded during his stormy career.

Williams was left off only 20 ballots, polling 93.3 per cent of the total vote. Only Ty Cobb registered a higher percentage of eligible voters, being named on 227 of 236 ballots in 1936.

Red Ruffing, who won 273 games in 22 seasons with the Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox, suffered a second straight disappointment. Ruffing, runner-up to Luke Appling in a runoff election in 1964, received 208 votes, 18 short of the 75 per cent required.

Roy Campanella was third with 197 votes, followed by Joe Medwick with 187, Lou Bourdreau with 115, Al Lopez with 109 and Enos Slaughter with 100.

Tieless and wearing a sports shirt, Williams was a serious speaker as television crews and photographers trained cameras on him.

"I can't begin to tell you how pleased I am to have been elected to the Hall of Fame," he said without emotion. "I've always known how lucky I've been to be connected with Tom Yawkey and the Red Sox."

"I'm also convinced I was just as lucky to be in a town with such rabid fans. As I look over the list of these other fellows who were new elected, I am sorry they won't be with me."

"I also want to thank the writers for making all this possible — the chance of getting in my first year as an eligible. I am very proud of that. This is a wonderful day for me."

The emotion broke loose and Williams grinned, waved his arms as if swinging a bat and joked in his friendliest fashion.

"I just can't say how pleased I am," he said. "I'm darn happy."

Elysian Fields Disqualified For District Honors

AUSTIN (AP) — The state executive committee of the Interscholastic League announced Thursday the disqualification of Elysian Fields High School for district honors in football for 1966-67 and 1967-68.

Elysian Fields is 16 miles southeast of Marshall in East Texas.

The school was disqualified because of "mistreatment of game officials."

The committee said it has been investigating since November an incident following Elysian Fields' loss, 40-8, to Mount Enterprise last Sept. 17.

An Elysian Fields fan approached Joe A. Collier, Longview, a game official, and "said something to him in an abusive tone," the committee said.

The official turned to walk away and the fan allegedly struck him in the back. According to the committee the fan later said he hit Collier with his finger.

Collier said it was not a hard blow.

The home team is held strictly responsible for the safety of officials, the committee said, and any other rule would lead to chaos.

The disqualification applies only to football. All opponents of Elysian Fields must count their victories, defeats or ties against the Class B team, but the games do not count for Elysian Fields.

Dunbar Takes On Floydada Cagers

FLOYDADA (Special) — Coach Curtis Gipson and his Dunbar Panthers meet Della Plains here at 8 p. m. today in a non-conference basketball outing.

The Panthers from Lubbock took an earlier victory over the host squad, 64-56. Dunbar is 17-6 for the season, 5-0 in District 3-AAA (Negro) action.

Gipson plans to start James Gary, Jimmy Gary, Buford Wiley, Larry Blaylock and James Johnson against Della Plains. The home crew will open with Tom Collins, Leon Collins, Ray Chapman, Jack Lovis and Willy Simon.

The Panther B-team will meet the Della Plains B in a 6:30 p.m. skirmish.

PLAINSMEN STARTER — Chuck Lewis, a 6-2, 170-pound senior, will be in the starting lineup tonight when the Monterey High Plainsmen play host to the Caprock Longhorns in a District 3-AAA cage battle. Lewis is averaging 14.8 points per-game in league action. (Staff Photo)

Jack Spikes Doesn't Care Where He Plays

JACK SPIKES IS one of those pro football players who doesn't care whether he's playing these days, just as long as he has a suit that will fit him.

The Loveland businessman returned home a little over two weeks ago after his first year with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, and his last.

The six-year veteran was one of the players drafted by the newest member of the circuit, Miami, but even Jack is doubtful he'll be on their roster come next summer.

"I hear they took a lot of veterans just to have someone to trade for the players they really want. I may be traded two or three times before next summer rolls around," he said Thursday when a nosy reporter called him at home during supper-time.

"But right now, I have mixed emotions about the setup and actually, football is the furthest thing from my mind. I've spent six months working at pro ball and now I'm trying to forget it for awhile," he added.

Handled Oilers Kickoff Chores

JACK HANDED THE KICKOFF chores for the Oilers this year and was the backup man for veteran George Blonda on extra points and field goals.

He started out at fullback behind Charley Tolar, but when Sid Blanks was injured early in the year, he was switched to fullback behind Ole Hummel, the team's top rusher. But he says there's little difference between fullback and fullback with the Oilers.

"I haven't heard a word from Miami since all this happened and I don't know what I read in the papers. Every January I feel like I'm going to retire, but then when July rolls around I don't want for this season to start. Right now, I'm hoping my business is dead over here that I won't be able to play next year," he laughed.

Jack signed his first contract with the Oilers in 1960. He played for the Oilers for two years, then for the Dallas Texans for two years, then for the Houston Oilers for two years, and finally for the Oilers this year.

"I think that the Oilers are a good team, but I don't know how they'll do this year. I think they'll be a contender for the championship, but I don't know for sure. I'll just wait and see what happens."

"NATURALLY, I WAS proud when I read about it. I was drafted by Miami, but it's not like I'm going to Miami. I think I would like to play for the Oilers."

But in this business, a player has to be happy wherever he plays. He can't just know from one day to the next what he'll be playing, he added.

This is the third time that Jack has been associated with kind of a kick in the league. If he didn't count that two week stint on the west coast when he was trying to make the San Diego team.

The former star for High and Tech, another started up with the Dallas Texans and went with them to Kansas City. Last year he was the favorite of all to be traded and he was traded to the Oilers. Jack received his first year with the Oilers all though he was a free agent.

He has had the greatest thrill of the season when he was traded to the Oilers. He said that he was traded to the Oilers because they were the only team that was willing to take him.

A lot of players when they are traded, give up the game because they don't want to play for the Oilers. He said that he didn't give up the game because he likes to play for the Oilers.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Austin, the last man interviewed for the job, was given a three-year contract Thursday as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Thomas Elected At Raymondville

RAYMONDVILLE (AP) — Luke Thomas, school teacher and coach, was elected head football coach of the Raymondville High School football team.

Thomas is assistant coach at Harlingen. He played college football at Rice and Auburn. He was assistant to Harlingen Coach Carl Swenson for two years.

Nothing was said about resigning the present staff, but Dan Rooney, Steeler vice president and son of Art, remarked at a news conference that Austin "has to have a staff that coaches football the way he believes it should be."

"Bill has his work cut out for him. He is just starting his career as a head coach which we think will be a long tenure," Dan Rooney added.

Salary terms were not disclosed.

Austin joined the Rams last season after six years with the Green Bay Packers under Coach Vince Lombardi. Dan Rooney said Austin's selection was based heavily on Lombardi's recommendation.

Before joining Green Bay, Austin was line coach at Wichita University in 1958. He played guard with the New York Giants in 1949 and 1950 and spent two years in the service, returning to the Giants in 1953 and remaining until 1957.

He played college ball at Oregon State.

Several men had been mentioned as possible successors to Nixon. Austin was not.

Steeler executives said they talked with a number of top coaches in college and professional football before narrowing their choice this week to five.

Dan Rooney said almost every assistant coach in the league was interested in the job. He said Austin's name always was at the top of the list but the convincing factor was the interview and his background.

"The biggest thing," Art Rooney said, "is to have a man who can get the most out of his players, and he (Austin) impressed us as this man."

Sixteen other assistant coaches were selected to discuss the team last Sept. 8 after the resignation of Raymondville Coach Dan Rooney.

IN BATTLES AT ABERNATHY, HALE CENTER

3-AA, 3-A Leads On Line Tonight

By BILL HART
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Outright possession of first place in two area basketball games off the pace, but they will be on the line tonight at Abernathy and Hale Center.

Happy, the 4-B leader, takes Meadow vs. Sundown.

All of the Class B districts have outright leaders and each loop has only one club undefeated.

The winners of these tilts will have the inside track to the championship as their play nears the end of the first round.

Three Share Lead District 4-A has three teams tied for the league lead and there's a good chance they'll stay this way after tonight.

Petersburg, Lorenzo and Crossett share the top spot in 4-A and tonight, Idolou is at Lorenzo, Rossvelt goes to Petersburg and Falls is at Crossett in the first games of the second round.

Loveland and Lamesa are tied for the 3-AAA lead and both are in action tonight. Winless Littlefield goes to Loveland while Lamesa plays host to Sweetwater in the final games of the first half.

Andrews has a two-game lead over the field in 3-AAA but the Mustangs must go to Monahans tonight. Fator, Kormit and Semmes are all two games off the pace and Lovelock will stay there.

The Los Lobos are playing Game in a non-loop affair tonight. Semmes plays host to tough Pleasanton while Fator travels to Texas down in the lower loop.

Stanton goes to Denver City in the first game of 4-AA. The Tigers must win this one to stay in the race since it has a 11 record. Defending champion Denver City is 1-0.

Post Plays Morton Post, tied for the league lead with the Mustangs, goes to Morton tonight. Getting ready for the showdown next week with the number one team, Stanton still holds a game lead.

PALMER HAS 70

Geiberger Leader In Crosby Tourney

Bill Ogden, a veteran pro 74 best-ball score. The pro who plays out of Tucson, Ariz., recorded a 75 on his own ball, and Chicago, shot a hole-in-one the Dodger reliever, even with Thursday in the first round of his handicap of 15, helped him the Bing Crosby Golf Tourney by only one stroke.

His tee shot with a No. 6 iron was said, "I had doubles with the bit one foot in front of the 150-yard, and the sand and the yard third hole on the Monterey course."

Draydsdale contributed two birdies, on the second and eighth holes. Since he had a handicap stroke on each hole, they went on the scorecards as eagles.

That's the way the pro-amateur division of the tournament works. On any given hole, the lower score of the pro or the amateur is recorded and the handicaps are taken into consideration.

The pitchers and their partners were among early starters in the opening round of the tourney, which includes a $4,000 prize for the pro member of the winning pro-amateur team.

Scorers of the Koufax and Draydsdale teams left them among the leaders.

Terry Dill of Muleshoe, playing at Pebble Beach, had a 39-87, while Blaker had a 34-36 for his 70. Steve Spray, former Eastern New Mexico golfer, did not qualify for the tourney.

By Saturday or Sunday when only the hard core is left in contention, the boys may cut loose. (Lambert the booze oasis it was one of the winter tour. A purse of $10,000 stooled that. The pros want no drinking partners at those parties.)

On the putting green at Cypress Point, most of the auto-graph boards converted on Dean and Andy Williams.

After the signing was over, Dean announced to the large gallery.

Andy Williams is the finest singer in the country.

Andy smiled and then laughed sort of hysterically when Dean added.

But he sounds lousy in the city.

A lady with kelly green hair really asked Dean for an autograph.

"Lady," said Dean, "I know something like you would show up the minute I quit drinking."

Evans then dramatized how much this tournament means to amateurs around the country.

I know a guy up in San Francisco who lost his business, his house and his wife within the last three months. He never got upset until he was turned down for the Crosby tournament. So help me it's a true story.

Ray Bolger showed up wearing knickers and old-fashioned Tambo-Shanter.

Quipped Bing.

With a get-up like that, the least you could do is sing a couple of choruses of "Button up Your Overcoat."

Nicklaus' Inactivity Is Costly

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) Top money winner Jack Nicklaus had a ball in tournament competition, a member and it cost him Thursday in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

Off form just enough to get what started out as a fine round, he boobyied himself into a one-over-par 71 in his opening round.

Nicklaus took his season initial effort in stride, neither blaming his long layoff or anything else.

Playing over the breezy, somewhat damp Cypress Point course, he fouled the front nine in two-under-par 35 but on the back side he had a couple of missed putts and a few minor mishaps topped by a missed 14-inch putt on the 18th hole.

Boogey on Nos. 11 and 16 had a lot to do with his comparatively erratic scoring on the back side.

"I haven't played since December," he said. "Last tournament I played was in the four-ball Florida. I don't practice except when I am in competition."

"I didn't play very well today. My driving was only fair and my putting was off."

Nicklaus goes on the Monterey Peninsula Country Club for his second round Friday.

Slatonite Is Charged In Burglary

Burglary charges were filed Thursday against Leroy Field, 21, of Slaton, who was arrested after being treated for gunshot wounds in the leg at Methodist Hospital early Thursday morning.

Field, arrested at the hospital about 3:30 a.m., was believed to be the same man who was surprised by a Slaton policeman during a burglary about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Then, the burglar ducked out of sight. Blackler said he ran to the rear of the station to halt an escape, and heard a glass breaking at the front.

Dashing to the front, Blackler said he saw the suspect running down the street. The patrolman fired another shot, the man fell, but got up and escaped.

At Abernathy, Police Chief John Murdock said Patrolman Randy Neville surprised a man trying to break into the rear door of Struve Merchandise Store about 1 a.m. Thursday.

The suspect fled down the alley and yelled at the driver of a getaway car, about a half block away, to stop. The driver apparently had seen the patrolman and was pulling away.

The chase was on, as the cars sped westward on FM Road 597. Three shots were fired at the patrolman, Chief Murdock said this morning that he recovered a bullet from the grille of the patrol car.

Neville reported he reached a speed of 80 miles an hour at one time. But fog and icy road conditions kept the speed much lower most of the time.

Neville's car skidded off the road, hit a post, and ran into a field. But he got back onto the pavement and continued pursuit.

$2,568 In Damages Awarded City Man

A jury in 99th District Court Thursday awarded Lard W. Carlee of Lubbock $2,568 damages in his suit against Pinkies Liquor Stores of Odessa, Inc.

Carlee had asked $4,000 for alleged injuries suffered June 8, 1963, when an automatic door at the company's store on the Tahoka Highway here allegedly closed rapidly as he was walking through.

Testimony in the suit was completed Wednesday afternoon and final arguments were heard Thursday morning. Judge Howard C. Davidson, presided.

It May Take James Bond To Find Thief
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Goldfinger painted them and spectre agents preyed on them, but few have beaten secret agent James Bond out of his grips, somebody did Wednesday.

A classified advertisement offered a reward for information leading to the arrest of whoever stole a picture of one of Bond's slightly clad girls from the marquee of a local Theater.
