BOBBY BAKER No Comment On Hearing

'Not Guilty' Baker Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bobby Baker went to a U. S. District Court Monday and pleaded not guilty to a nine-count federal indictment...

Natally Dressed Baker seemed subdued, but was nattily dressed as usual in a dark blue suit with light gray shirt and a blue tie.

After the arraignment, McGuire set Baker's bond at $5,000 and freed him on "personal recognizance."

1,600 'POACHED' EGGS STROUD, England (UPI) — Police here were investigating a case of "poached eggs" Mrs. Frances Barr, a farmer's wife, said 1,600 eggs were stolen from the back of the car while she was shopping.

Tax Proposals Also Draw Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress took its first look at President Johnson's record federal budget Monday and even Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield predicted it would be cut.

Some Republicans denounced the spending program as extravagant and phony. They used such terms as "basically dishonest," "figure juggling," "a lot of misrepresentation."

The $112.8 billion total was no surprise, Johnson had said in his State of the Union message that this amount would be needed to finance the Vietnam war and provide limited increases in major Great Society programs.

Asked Tax Reforms He called for more than half of the budget, $58.3 billion to be spent on defense in the fiscal year starting July 1.

To help pay for this and to help hold down the threat of his appeal for a series of tax reforms, and warned he might have to ask for further tax increases if the Vietnam war or inflation call for it.

Disliked By Republicans Republicans served notice they didn't like the President's "one shot" tax proposals any more than they approved of some of his plans to expand the Great Society in time of war.

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford said that "Republicans are deeply concerned and will maximize our efforts to reduce non-military, non-essential spending. I find it hard to understand how the national government can ask business and labor to avoid price and wage increases which are measured in terms of millions of dollars when it is increasing non-defense spending by many millions."

Mansfield's comment as Senate Democratic leader was that, barring unforeseen Vietnam developments, "the President's budget requests will be cut somewhat to what extent and in what areas I'm not prepared to say."

The President made it clear that domestic welfare spending the backing of the car while she was shopping.

FOG BLANKETS AREA

Warmup Continues As East Texas Shivers

WINTER dealt out another gloomy day over parts of the state Monday, although a warming trend brought clearing skies and warmer temperatures during the afternoon to the South Plains.

The national weather picture continued with extremely cold temperatures as the mercury raced to a frigid 46 below zero in the upper Midwest. The massive winter storm that brought the colder temperatures to the South Plains moved out into the Atlantic, but not before whipling New England with light snow.

TEXAN WOULD SELL Oklahoma's Water Purchase Disputed

AUSTIN—A North Texas farmer says the state cannot keep him from selling water under his property to a city in Oklahoma, and a three-judge federal court must decide if it can.

C. F. Mook, whose farm north of Vernon is across the Red River from Altus, Okla., contracted in December 1964 to sell water to Altus. The Texas Legislature subsequently passed a law prohibiting the withdrawal of underground water for sale out of state without the permission of the legislature.

A property owner has an absolute property right in the water under his land, the plaintiff's lawyer, A. W. Walker Jr. of Dallas, told the court Monday.

The state Supreme Court has upheld this rule in at least two cases, he argued.

The plaintiffs sued Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr to block enforcement of the statute on the ground it violates the U.S. constitutional prohibition against restraints in interstate commerce.

Carr's first assistant, Hawthorne Phillips, argued the state's high court had not held a property owner has an absolute property right to water under his land.

Phillips contended the court held the property owner has the exclusive right "to capture" the water but that until he did capture it he did not have an absolute property right in it.

The situation is similar to the public ownership of wild game until such game is captured by the property owner in accordance with state hunting regulations, Phillips said.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled there cannot be an absolute property right in uncaptured underground water because that would mean a man der advertisement.

Walker said his clients had no argument with the state's police power to pass laws on water conservation, proration or use after withdrawal. But the laws must apply to everyone, within or without the state.

This statute, Walker said, was directed specifically at the situation in Wilbarger County (Vernon). It did not prohibit the sale of water by Mook to a Texas city, he said.

Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry and Dist. Judge Adrian Spears of Austin and D. W. Sutherland of El Paso took the case under advisement.

Defendant, Victim Bug Prosecutor

TACOMA Legal fireworks over whether the alleged victim should sit in the courtroom and hold hands with the husband accused of trying to poison her marked the trial of Dr. Robert E. Boehme Monday.

The hand-holders won, at least temporarily. "It is unfair to the prosecution to let her sit at the counsel table holding hands with the defendant," argued prosecutor John B. McCutcheon. "She's the victim."

The verbal skirmish started when Dr. Boehme, 45-year-old physician, marched into the Superior courtroom at the start of his trial on charges of first degree assault with intent to kill.

Walk Arm in Arm Mrs. Boehme, 33, walked arm and arm with him, looking at her husband and smiling. The doctor is accused of trying to kill her by injecting a toxic substance into her hip while she was in a Tacoma hospital under treatment after an accident in the family bathroom.

The couple walked to the counsel table and talked quietly with Frank August Peters, defense attorney, until the arrival of Superior Court Judge Harding B. Soule.

Okayed By Judge McCutcheon immediately moved that all witnesses, including Mrs. Boehme, be removed from the courtroom. Peters argued that Mrs. Boehme should be allowed to sit with her husband because her rights are directly involved.

Judge Soule ruled that while this case has many unusual features it would be proper for Mrs. Boehme to remain with her husband. He declined to rule until after a jury is selected whether she will have to leave her husband's side later.

This was the second time Dr. Boehme faced such a charge. He was acquitted in May, 1962, of attempting to kill his previous wife, Dorothy. She died of natural causes three months after the trial.

Boaz Pharmacy Off 19th Street Target

By PHIL HAMILTON Avalanche-Journal Staff AN immaculately dressed man in his early 30's took about $80 in cash and a small amount of narcotics from Boaz Prescription Pharmacy, 1905 Ave. X, Monday night while holding the druggist and his wife at gunpoint.

J. T. Boaz, 2814 25th St., victim of the holdup and owner of the drug store tucked into an out-of-the-way niche across the street from Porter Clinic Hospital, said the bandit was selective in the narcotics he took and left with only the "hard" narcotics after ordering Boaz and his wife to the back of the store.

Not Like "Dope Head" "He was the nicest looking fellow," Boaz said. "I can usually spot a dope head as far as I can see one, but he didn't look like one at all. His hair was combed to perfection and he had on nice looking clothes," he added.

Boaz said when the bandit entered the store, he was in the back of the small building watching television. "My wife asked if she could help him, and he asked for a tubercular syringe. She didn't understand what he wanted, and I came up to help. He asked for the syringe again and I told him we were out of them, then he pulled a gun from inside his coat and said this is a stickup, give me your money and narcotics," Boaz said.

Escape Route Unknown After Boaz had opened his narcotics cabinet, he said the robber picked out only the strong narcotics leaving behind the less potent pain killers.

Boaz said that after the bandit had cleaned out the cash register and put the narcotics in a paper sack, he told the pharmacist and his wife to get to the back of the store and "everything would be all right."

Boaz said he didn't see how the man left or in which direction he went.

Total About $130 In addition to being neatly dressed, the bandit was described as being slender, about 5 feet 9 inches tall with blonde wavy hair and wearing a black suit and overcoat with a green shirt. Boaz said he didn't attempt to hide his face and was wearing neither a hat or a mask.

Before leaving the bandit took a box of 25 needles and one syringe from the store, Boaz said.

HIGH RISE UNCHANGED

Apartments Okayed In 19th, College Areas

By KENNETH MAY Avalanche-Journal Staff RECOMMENDATION that apartment houses up to 2 1/2 stories in height be permitted in the area from 19th Street to the alley south of 20th Street between College and Boston Avenues was made Monday by the City Planning and Zoning Commission.

Excluded from the action was the tract touching the southwest corner of the 19th St.-College Ave. intersection which already has been approved for construction of a high-rise student housing facility.

Monday's decision was made at the request of the City Council, which wanted the Planning Commission's recommendation prior to the council's next meeting Feb. 10.

On that date, the council might take one more look at the high-rise project because of an involved set of circumstances which has left the facility's status somewhat clouded.

The motion for R-3 zoning, nonetheless, did not rule out the possibility of clinics and other semi-commercial uses in the two-block area, which now contains St. Mary's Hospital.

"I am torn between what appears to be the highest and best use of the property in question and what appears to be almost a

Viet Cong Peace Talks Role Urged

WASHINGTON—Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark) said Monday the Johnson administration's refusal to recognize the Viet Cong as a major party to any peace negotiations may be a stumbling block to its Viet Nam peace offensive.

He called for an indefinite continuation of the halt in bombing North Viet Nam, saying the Christmas-New Year lull now in its 32nd day has been a very short time for all parties to consider negotiations.

"Personally I feel we ought to allow a longer time," Fulbright told reporters.

He added that while the peace offensive has not been productive, a number of nonaligned countries have taken an interest in it and if bombings were resumed the feeling would be that we had given up any hope of negotiations for the foreseeable future.

White House Relations Cool Fulbright, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has come out before for a suspension of bombing of North Viet Nam to encourage the Communists there to negotiate. His relations with the White House have been on the cool side since last fall when he criticized the administration's military intervention in the Dominican Republic.

The chairman expressed belief that the Communist Viet Cong should be invited to a seat at the negotiating table after hearing Secretary of State Dean Rusk outline the administration's position at a three-hour closed committee session.

Graveling Clash Ser. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who also advocates a continuation of the bombing lull, told newsmen that Rusk underwent a grueling crossfire of questions from members who oppose and those who advocate an early resumption of bombings.

Rusk said Sunday that the real problem is not representation for the National Front for Liberation (the Viet Cong's political arm, but Communist North Viet Nam's attempt to impose Red rule on South Viet Nam by force.

As for giving the National Front for Liberation a role in South Viet Nam's Saigon government, Rusk said: "We do not believe these 200,000 or so Viet Cong have the right to be promoted to very special positions."

Police Check On Weekend's Theft Hauls

Looting of a pharmacy safe and a business office were among weekend offenses under investigation of city police Monday.

A money bag containing $200 and several checks made out for deposit was taken from Goodnight Pharmacy, 2613 34th St., according to detectives Robert Tedder and Howard Smith. Loot also included a small amount of drugs.

The break-in was through a rear door, which was pried, investigators said. A filing cabinet containing a combination safe also was opened.

Machines Missing
Police said a front door and padlock were pried at W. B. Abbott Jr. Construction Co. offices, 1610 2d St. Reported missing were an electric typewriter, adding machine, and a portable radio.

An electric heater, coats, a mule blanket and even a sled were reported stolen here Saturday night and Sunday.

Largest haul was reported at the Koko Palace where district Jaycees were holding a convention Saturday and Sunday.

Five women's coats and two men's overcoats were reported taken by thieves that were also believed to have taken the blanket, bride and halter harness off the Muleshoe Mule, a Muleshoe Jaycee mascot that was corralled outside the ballroom.

Mrs. James Lee Hunter, 4618 42nd St., told officers she looked out of the house about 2 p.m. Sunday and saw two youths in a car bearing a Texas Tech windshield sticker leaving the house.

Upon investigating she discovered a sled belonging to her children was missing.

Tracked Through Snow
G. R. Wright, 2409 E. 6th St., told officers he was moving to another house Sunday afternoon, and between loads someone broke a window out and stole an electric heater, but while weather may have prompted the theft, it also played a large part in recovering the stolen heater.

The thieves were tracked through the snow to a house where two juveniles ages 12 and 13, were taken into custody and the loot recovered.

Officers were also investigating the theft of some coffee, chocolate and flavoring from a delivery truck belonging to Dale

Court Will Rule On Voting Law Section

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed Monday to rule on the constitutionality of a section of the voting rights law which was specifically written to benefit Spanish-speaking Puerto Ricans in New York City.

There were two conflicting lower courts opinions on the provision — one declaring it unconstitutional, the other upholding it. The Supreme Court will hear arguments in the case and hand down an opinion later this term.

In other actions Monday, the court:

Watts Protest
— Declined to accept for consideration a protest that about 4,000 defendants arrested during the 1965 Watts riots in Los Angeles are not getting adequate legal help. Many of the defendants are being represented by the Los Angeles County defender because they lack funds to hire their own attorneys.

— Agreed to decide whether the strike-bound Florida East Coast Railway was entitled to change its employment practices without going through union-management procedures fixed by law. The Justice Department and the union involved, as well as the railway itself, asked that the court rule on the issue. The Florida law has been involved in a strike since Jan. 23, 1963 — the longest in railroad history.

Order Is Upheld
— Upheld a government order easing rules applied to railroad

freight charges on grain from the big markets on the Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

The Puerto Rican voter challenge stemmed from two cases. The court announced in a brief order that it will hear the Justice Department's appeal from the decision of a three-judge federal court here on Dec. 7, 1965, that the section is unconstitutional.

The same type of court in Rochester, N.Y., upheld constitutionality of the section on Dec. 8 in another case.

The department told the court all parties to today's case are ready to act speedily so arguments can be completed before the end of the current term in June.

FROM Dr. Blair's DESK ARE HEADACHES NECESSARY? Headaches come in such a variety of types that it's difficult to write about them. Some indicate a liver-gall bladder ailment. Others a bad kidney disease. While stomach or stomach are the result of nervous or emotional tension. It's advisable that you investigate persistent headaches, but to the average sufferer it's easier to reach for a sedative and forget the cause. Forget it, that is, until one day the body breaks down into a general illness to plague us for our short-sightedness. Then you come to realize that all the pills and potions only temporarily deaden the headache — they don't correct it. The commonly overlooked basic key to this entire problem is in the central nervous system which controls, correlates, and integrates all body processes, the reactions and the adaptations of the body to its environment. Therefore, if your nerves, serving as the life lines of communications in the body, suffer interferences it can cause your symptoms. For example, a married woman, age 26, needed to work to supplement her husband's income. Her new secretarial job required heavy use of her eyes. When bad migraine headaches developed her first thought was eye strain, so she had her eyes examined and glasses changed. After this failed to help and medicines brought only temporary relief, she sought our services. Chiropractic spinal tests and spinographs disclosed a nerve interference due to a misaligned spinal vertebra compressing nerve fibers, a condition which required chiropractic adjustment for correction. We rendered her our chiropractic services and within a short time her migraines became less frequent. After several months they were practically gone. We do not mean to say this should be the procedure for all headache cases, but we do contend a chiropractic spinal test and spinographic examination should be made on all headache cases not responding to other methods of treatment. As one of our patients said the other day, "The only thing I had to lose when I came to you, Doc., was bad health." (The author is Director of Blair Chiropractic Clinic, 3410 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas.)

IF INDEPENDENCE DROPPED Britain May Recognize Smith As Prime Minister

By LAURENCE MEREDITH emphasized to Beadle that the British government could not under any circumstances negotiate with Smith in his capacity as prime minister of an illegal independence and returns Crown Colony rule, informed sources said Monday night.

It was understood that Prime Minister Harold Wilson informed Rhodesian Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle of this at their final meeting late Monday.

Beadle was flying back to Salisbury Monday night. He is Smith and his government in his dual capacity of Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs' constitutional adviser and at the same time Smith's chief justice.

DIRKSEN THREATENS AGAIN Filibuster Is Possibility In Senate Fight Over 14B

WASHINGTON (AP)—The day's to begin at 11 a.m. as Senate took up the issue Monday of ending the authority of states to ban the union shop and pressure to sever the Senate's first floor fight of 1966 amid talk of filibuster.

At the outset, the fight was in the hands of 29 members of 70 years of age or over. If the Senate tried to sweat through the 16-hour day, he said, "somebody might drop over and we'd never stop apologizing for our excesses."

Dirksen and other foes of the legislation talked for 12 days last year against bringing it up for debate, and the bill was shelved.

Manfield will have to renew his motion Tuesday to bring the bill up. If he does so during the first two hours, the motion is not debatable. But if opponents fill the two hours with other matters, such as reading of Monday's journal of proceedings which includes the budget message, any motion after that can be debated.

Draft Escape Route Closed By New Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Selective Service System said Monday it has instructed local draft boards that young men under orders for induction no longer should be permitted to enlist in the National Guard or Reserves.

A spokesman said a bulletin was sent to all state draft directors and local boards last week which changes an Aug. 5 directive so as to provide for cancellation of induction orders only to permit enlistment in the regular forces.

The August directive was issued to aid in an intensified recruiting effort.

Grains Firm

CHICAGO (AP)—A little commercial buying and speculative shortly covering imparted moderate strength to the grain futures market in generally dull trading.

All commodities except rice added major fractions or more at the extreme without attracting more than scattered offerings.

Brokers said speculators seemed reluctant to liquidate or sell the market short since many analysts were expecting a mildly bullish Government report on stocks in all positions on January 1 and the soybean crushings report for December.

Dealers said cold weather over all the Midwest may have been a slightly bullish factor in food grains. Rice lost ground on profit taking.

The revision was based on a recommendation of the assistant secretary of defense for manpower.

Congress Members See Cuts For LBJ Budget

would have been even greater except for the Viet Nam war and he promised to channel more into home front programs if the elusive goal of peace is reached.

"No one can firmly predict the course of events in Southeast Asia," he declared. "They depend not only upon our own actions but upon those of our adversaries."

Says Spending Held Down
Johnson said that spending on major domestic programs "has been held below what might have been proposed in less troubled times." Spending was cut on farm, space, atomic and postal programs.

The President renewed his proposals to increase tax revenues without increasing rates, but warned that he would not hesitate to come back for tax rate increases if the war got worse or inflation threatened to get out of hand. His budget was based on the assumption that the cost of living in the next fiscal year would go up about 1.9 per cent. This is about the same as this year but somewhat higher than in recent years.

Comparison Offered
Johnson's administration budget for the 1967 fiscal year starting next July 1 looks this way, compared with the budget for the 1966 fiscal year ending June 30 (in billions of dollars):

1966	1967
Receipts	$100	$111
Spending	$106.3	$112.8
Deficit	$6.4	$11.8

The projected $11.8 billion deficit is the lowest in seven years, but it is contingent on Congress approving Johnson's already submitted tax proposals changes in the withholding schedule; a speed-up of corporate tax collections; repeal of the Jan. 1 cuts in excise levies on automobiles and telephone calls.

"Cash Budget" Surplus
In addition, the President asked Congress in his budget message to impose increased taxes on users of highways, airplanes and waterways, including a boost from 5 to 6 per cent in the federal tax airline tickets.

Johnson said that if it had not been for the Vietnamese war, the budget would have been in surplus.

The "cash budget" which takes into account all federal spending and receipts including trust funds for such programs as Social Security, Medicare and highways, actually was in surplus. It looked like this in billions of dollars:

1966	1967
Receipts	$128.2	$145.5
Spending	$135	$145
Deficit or Surplus	$6 (def.)	$5 (sur.)

Fear For Equilibrium
"Even a slight downturn in business activity could upset this delicately designed apple cart," said Rep. Frank T. Boy of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

Democrats defended the budget as "sound to the core." That was the phrase used by House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma, who also said the President's fiscal blueprint is "tough, taut, starkly honest."

Republicans generally shied away from any criticism of defense budgeting, saying they would support whatever is needed to back the war in Viet Nam. They concentrated their fire instead on Johnson's domestic programs.

Looks At Record
Referring to the President's projected deficit of only $1.8 billion, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said that in recent years the government's revenue estimates seldom have come up to expectations.

On the other hand, he said we have seen that the expenditures estimated in the budget and generally less than the ultimate costs.

All Americans are willing to make sacrifices for national defense expenditures, especially those required to support our soldiers in Viet Nam, and relieving distressed situations within our own country," Saltonstall said in a statement.

Rapped By McCormack
"But the domestic expenditures presented in the President's budget must be carefully considered by Congress."

Row said he had never seen a budget "based on more tenuous revenue assumptions. He contended the relatively small deficit estimate based on "highly uncertain assumptions regarding both revenue and proposed reductions in spending."

House Speaker John W. McCormack (D-Mass.) accused Republicans of trying to "embroider the President and the country in the phony debate of guns versus butter."

Lauded By Mahon
"The President rightly has refused to become sidetracked by this specious straw man," McCormack said.

Albert termed the budget a "masterfully balanced budget because it balances our foreign commitments against our domestic needs."

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, House Democratic whip, described it as "another major step toward a balanced budget in a balanced economy." Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) said it demonstrates fiscal and economic responsibility, and Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) of the House Appropriations Committee said it is "a remarkable achievement."

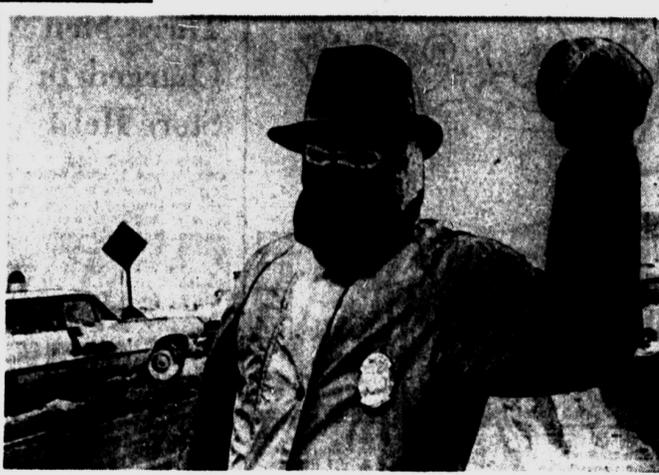

One of the most succinct comments was voiced by Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) who said: "It's big enough."

Drug Holdup

Boaz said the money from the cash register, as nearly as he could figure it, amounted to about $80, and that the narcotics—25-30 bottles—would be valued at about $50.

Asked about the gun, Boaz said he had never fired a gun and didn't know much about them, but described what might have been a .38 calibre revolver. "It looked like a cannon," Boaz said, "and I let him know he would get service."

Lubbock police Monday night had not apprehended any suspects in the holdup.

TWO AMERICANS KILLED

Viet Cong Use Big Mortars In Attack On Da Nang Base

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong trucks, a panel truck, a mobile guerrilla, using their new, big crane and an asphalt spreader 120mm. mortars, attacked the base at Every available armed helicopter in the area moved out.

The twin strikes came on the defensive perimeter the heels of lightning U.S. air hunting the mortar crews, raids that killed an estimated 200 Communists the first day of flares illuminating the after the Lunar New Year's countryside for miles around.

The mortar attack stopped and 11 wounded during the 40-minute strikes, with identical casualties among government troops. Four civilians were also wounded in the barrage.

The 120mm mortars, the biggest in the Communist arsenal, only recently were brought into South Viet Nam. Until several weeks ago, the largest known to be in the hands of the Viet Cong were 81mm mortars.

Missed Fuel Dump
At least 21 rounds landed in the Marine defensive positions south of Marble Mountain. Seven rounds hit in the area where about 2,000 U.S. Navy Seabees were sleeping.

At the huge base itself, about three miles across, against a big U.S. Army barracks at Pleiku in the Central Highlands following a Lunar New Year ceasefire.

Trucks Damaged
An estimated eight to 10 mortar rounds landed on the airbase in today's pre-dawn attack at Da Nang, but no aircraft was damaged.

There was damage reported to several trucks and other equipment however. Marine mortar crews lobbed rounds at several suspected Viet Cong positions amid both sniper and automatic weapons fire from the Communists.

Every available Marine helicopter scrambled to drive off the Communists. Transport planes dropped flares to illuminate the area.

Base Not Penetrated
Four rounds of Communist mortar dropped into a Hawk missile battalion area on the north side of the base and two others landed about 100 yards from the headquarters of Gen. Nguyen Van Thi, commander of the I Corps.

The Communists were driven off without penetrating the base, a Marine spokesman said. The last major attack on the North Viet Nam and the United States and when the Viet Cong swept into it would seem to have a proper sense of the situation would have been the Viet Cong.

He said the Viet Cong have done damage. At the same time, the Communists struck at Chu Lai and he contended they are made Airbase 60 miles to the south.

Elsewhere, Viet Nam a Mexican ground troops launched a dozen operations in South Viet Nam Monday but encountered only light contact with the Viet Cong. Ten of the operations were of battalion size, a Vietnamese military spokesman said.

President Johnson's moving ambassador W. Averell Harriman put it this way when discussing the Viet Cong in another interview Sunday.

"They are agents of North Viet Nam. They do not represent the people of the South," Harriman, who returned last Monday from a globe-trotting effort to win support for Johnson's peace offensive, said others landed about 100 yards from the headquarters of Gen. Nguyen Van Thi, commander of the I Corps.

Thomas To Seek House Election
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., has told his Houston constituency he will seek reelection this year. The filing deadline is the first week of February.

Thomas has been in poor health for years and until his weekend announcement it was a questionable whether he would seek reelection.

Only 10 men have served longer in the house than Thomas, who entered Congress Jan. 3, 1937. He is the ranking Democrat on the appropriations committee, a notch behind his Texas colleague, Rep. George Mahon. He heads the influential subcommittee on independent offices.

In recent years Thomas has undergone several stages of serious illness.

IN LUBBOCK

Detachments Are Slated For Training

An organizational meeting for two A-team detachments of Special Forces, training with the Army Reserve, was held at the Lubbock Army Reserve Center Monday night.

Under control of a detachment from Amarillo, the two teams will be composed of nine men and two officers.

Heading the detachments here will be Lt. Charles S. Skillman Jr., Lubbock, and Lt. John Tyler, Midland. The teams will be under command of the Special Forces detachment at Amarillo, commanded by Maj. Elbert V. O'Neill, a former Lubbock resident.

Lubbock coordinator for the groups will be Maj. Edgar Brannan of Lubbock.

Guerrilla Training
As members of the Special Forces, the men will be trained in guerrilla warfare tactics. Training classes, other than field training, are to take place here.

Maj. O'Neill said the teams were expected to undergo summer camp training in Alaska and immediate training plans call for parachute jump training in New Mexico during February.

Prospective members of the groups are scheduled to take examinations for qualification this weekend. Part of the tests are to be given in Lubbock, while the remainder will be given at Amarillo.

ton is expected to help keep the warming trend over the South Plains area this week and forecasters said complete thawing here should have occurred by Thursday. The weatherman said that approximately 40 inch of moisture should be realized after thawing is complete.

Haze Cause Pinpointed
Warmer winds Monday night which were blowing a cross snowy areas northeast of here, is what weathermen said caused the dense cover of haze here which was moving to the east.

Weather officials said temperature readings should gradually rise to a high near 40 to 45, with an expected low between 15 and 20 degrees tonight.

Rain also entered the weather picture Monday, although it was light at most points. The heaviest amount of moisture fell at Lubbock, where 1.08 inches of rain was recorded. Houston and College Station received .54 of an inch, Beaumont 54 of an inch, and Victoria received .39 of an inch.

Snow In Panhandle
While East Texas was getting the ice cover, the Panhandle was still feeling a trace of snow Monday, adding to the up to four inches of snow still on the ground from last week's frigid blast.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the sleet would turn to rain in East Texas and then stop today. The thick deck of clouds which covered almost all of Texas early Monday was expected to be cleared out with the exception of the northeastern corner of the state today.

Temperatures over the state remained on a warming trend Monday and are expected to continue today. After Sunday overnight lows ranging from 7 at Dalhart to 49 at Brownsville Monday afternoon highs varied from a chilly 16 at Amarillo to the upper 40s in the southeast sections of the state.

Lubbock High 30
Lubbock recorded a high of 30 Monday after an overnight low of 20.

Meanwhile, as warming helped this area, frigid readings plagued the nation north of here.

The mercury dropped to 46 below zero in the upper Midwest Monday. A vast section of the nation from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico was chilled by some of the coldest weather of the winter.

Cold Knives South
Light snow, the remnant of a massive winter storm that moved out into the Atlantic, whipped much of New England. Snow also fell on the Great Plains and interior sections of the Pacific Northwest.

Sub-zero cold knifed as far south as Kentucky and freezing temperatures nipped much of the Gulf Coast and northern Florida. Northerly winds intensified the cold in the South. Residents of Bemidji, Minn., huffed and puffed to work in 46-below temperatures. It was 41 below at Thief River Falls, Minn., and Eau Claire, Wis.

811 Below Zero
 Fargo, N.D., entered its fifth consecutive day of sub-zero cold, days in which the mercury failed to rise above the zero mark, and it was 23 below at noon in Grand Forks, N.D.

Chicago had its coldest temperature of the winter, an official 4 below at Midway Airport and an unofficial 11 below at O'Hare International Airport.

Indianapolis 3 below was the lowest there since Feb. 4.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reported 3 inches additional accumulation of snow early Monday at Wolfboro, N.H., and Rumford, Maine. It said gales along the New England coast would subside slowly Monday night.

unanimous dissent by persons who live nearby." Chairman Edward R. Smith said.

Members stipulated that any buildings erected in the area, if the re-zoning is ratified by the City Council, would be limited to 35 feet in height. One- and one-half off-street parking spaces for each 2-bedroom unit. One unit would be permitted for each 1,000 square feet of lot area.

Traffic Problem
Members noted that this still would permit a heavy concentration of population in the neighborhood and conceded this might compound a traffic problem which already exists. They said, though, that conventional apartment houses would not represent as much a threat to the "privacy" of nearby homes as

Developers Balked
The prospective developers balked at that idea and filed an amended request, taking in a little more land. This time, the council rejected the proposal, 3-2, because the right of way would not be given. However, the earlier approval still is on the books. Thus, should the developers decide to give the right of way, they could get a building permit immediately.

In that event, they might appear before the council on Feb. 16 to ask reconsideration of the larger tract in order to handle their off-street parking more easily. On the same date, the council will have a public hearing on Monday's Planning Commission action covering surrounding land.

Arnold Marker, who became Planning Commission member after the high rise question had gone to the City Council, said Monday he thought the decision "probably was wrong because it will complicate the traffic problem."

Suggest Alternate
He added: "If the need is for student housing, then I think the area north of Broadway and east of the campus would be a better location. This would put high rises just as close to the college and wouldn't put more cars through the intersection at College Ave. and 19th St. — and the more cars we can put downtown without them going through that intersection, the better off we'll be."

Full Investigation
The autopsy was only the first step in the "full and thorough investigation" the U.S. demanded into Mott's death.

Air Force Capt. James W. Bizzell, the physician for the embassy, attended the autopsy along with consular official William T. Shinn.

Bizzell's statement on the autopsy said "a deep laceration of the throat, approximately five inches long, which cut across the windpipe and esophagus, was the apparent cause of Mr. Mott's death."

"There also were multiple lacerations of both of Mr. Mott's wrists and elbow joints, and on his abdomen and neck," the statement said.

"Bio-chemical analyses of specimens have not been completed," it said.

Instrument Unnamed
The embassy spokesman said more information was expected from the Soviets. He said there was still no indication of what instrument inflicted the fatal wound.

"A complete investigation is still going on," he said.

Bizzell said a "thorough and complete examination" of Mott's body was made.

The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Viktor E. Prazdovsky, director of the Soviet Institute of Forensic Medicine and L. N. Sternov, an official of the Soviet procurators Office.

Mott's body was brought to Moscow Sunday from Korov, 500 miles northeast of here, and taken to an undisclosed location.

Shinn and Bizzell, the first Americans ever to attend an autopsy in the Soviet Union, were called to the Foreign Ministry Monday and taken from there to the examination site.

The admission of Shinn and Bizzell to the autopsy was seen as an indication that the Kremlin, apparently embarrassed by the incident, would cooperate with the United States in the investigation.

Budget Reflects 'Troubled World'

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL. WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson presented to Congress Monday a record-shattering $112,847,000,000 budget — a vast financial blueprint for waging war, pursuing peace and promoting the "Great Society" in the year ahead.

Johnson called it a balanced, responsible, flexible "program for action." Once again, the President pledged his administration to an incessant search for peace. He called for a spending increase of $300 million on international affairs. But with a sort of wistfulness, underscored by references to costs of the Vietnam war in table after table, Johnson told Congress:

"The budget for 1967 bears the strong imprint of the troubled world we live in." The budget nevertheless manages to find extra funds for favored domestic programs, the anti-poverty campaign, war on crime, plans to help commuters get rapid transit service, expanding education and others.

Further, the President announced he would seek a tax hike to raise more money needed to combat communism in Viet Nam or to puncture unforeseen inflationary pressures. "Huge as it is, the budget dips less deeply into red ink than any in seven years. Its $111 billion in estimated federal income would come within $1.8 billion of meeting outgo."

The President confessed, though, that "it is often harder work to save money than to find productive ways to spend it." Johnson said, "The struggle in Viet Nam must be supported. The advance toward the Great Society at home must continue unabated."

"This budget provides the means for both these goals. I urged the support of Congress and all Americans for its principles and programs." The budget, he said, is grounded on these fundamental premises: "In international affairs we are determined to seek peace with every means at our command."

But we are fully prepared to meet the costs of opposing aggression. In domestic affairs we are determined to press confidently forward toward the Great Society. "But we shall do so in an orderly and responsible way, and at a pace which reflects the claims of our commitments in Southeast Asia and the nation's resources."

Major Surprises Lacking. As usual, the budget is packed into a book about the size of the Washington telephone directory — a couple of inches thick, but with bigger numbers, and dollar signs in front of them. Johnson already had drained off the totals, and much of the other information, and worked them into his State of the Union message to Congress Jan. 12. As a result, the budget generally lacked major surprises. Yet the President did come up with provisions for:

A second nuclear-powered aircraft carrier the Navy had thought might lose out in budget-trimming operations. It will cost about $400 million and be a companion to the $5,000-ton Enterprise — the "Big E." Space Program Cut. A start on purchasing the Minuteman III. This is an advanced intercontinental ballistic missile with a vastly improved warhead designed to penetrate enemy defense. The first cut in the space program since it began — from $5.6 billion to $5.3 billion. But it still reaches for the landing of a man on the moon by 1970. An increase from 5 to 6 per cent in the tax on airline tickets until Jan. 1, 1969. This is expected to cost passengers $31 million a year, if Congress goes along. Johnson also would impose a new tax of 2 per cent on air-freight charges now and another 2 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969. In monetary terms, this is the broadest sweep of the budget: First Over $100 Billion. Spending is going up $6.4 billion, from the $106.4 billion now predicted for the present fiscal year ending June 30 to $112.8 billion a year later. This is the first time a President has proposed a budget that would break the $100-billion mark. Twice in a row Johnson had managed to hold the line against topping that symbolic barrier. The budget as originally submitted just a year ago stood at $97.7 billion for the present, 1966 fiscal year. Surging costs, largely reflecting an expanding war in the Pacific, sent it surging beyond $100 billion. Of the spending in the new budget $60.5 billion is for defense. This is $4 billion over

MAHON QUOTES Appropriations Committee Gets Record Budget

WASHINGTON (Special) — The presidential budget, submitted to Congress this week, was referred to the House Appropriations Committee headed by Rep. George Mahon. In commenting on the huge request for funds, Mahon said the president used a great deal of restraint in submitting special requests to Congress. Of special interest to the 19th Congressional District is a budget estimate of $14,215,000 for the continuation of the Canadian River municipal water project and $1 million for the maintenance of the boll weevil barrier. Of interest to ranchers throughout the state was the request for $2.8 million to continue the highly successful screw worm program. The President recommended sharp reduction in many areas of government spending. Mahon said that congress would move as rapidly as possible toward evaluation of the programs and fulfilling its responsibility to determine the amount to be made available for defense and non-defense purposes. The total request of the President for appropriations, including interest on the federal debt, is approximately $121 billion.

U.S. Faces Request For 'Compensation' After Crash Of A-Bomber In Spain

By TONY NAVARRO Jr.
PALOMARES, Spain (UPI)—The U.S. government will be asked to pay compensation for crop losses to farmers in this area where a B52 nuclear bomber crashed with unarmed nuclear bombs aboard, informed source said Monday.

The farmers have complained they are losing thousands of dollars daily because no one wants to buy their crops for fear of possible radiation contamination resulting from the crash of the bomber. One of the four nuclear devices aboard the aircraft was reported missing and a massive land, sea and air search was underway for the weapon.

It was estimated that far-bridge traffic rises PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Traffic on the Benjamin Franklin and Walt Whitman bridges between Philadelphia and New Jersey increased by more than five per cent in 1965, says the Delaware River Port Authority. The bridges carried 52,850,066 vehicles in 1965, compared with 50,208,205 in 1964.

farmers in this area produce 154,000 to 198,000 pounds of tomatoes daily for shipment to foreign markets. However, the farmers said no one has bought their products in the last four days because they are afraid they have been contaminated by radioactivity from the wreckage of the aircraft will be reconstructed in an effort to determine the exact cause of the accident.

Meanwhile, the search for the missing nuclear weapon continued unabated as frogmen probed the depths of the Mediterranean and hundreds of U.S. airmen and GIs scoured the rugged, hilly countryside for clues to its whereabouts. The remains of the B52 and the KC135 which collided in flight last Monday, killing seven of the 11 crewmen aboard the two aircraft, have been taken near the beach to be placed aboard a ship. The wreckage of the aircraft will be reconstructed in an effort to determine the exact cause of the accident.

Examining Residents In this village, doctors from the Spanish Atomic Energy

Commission have been examining 150 persons a day in the local movie house for possible radiation contamination.

The acting mayor of Palomares, Jose Manuel Gonzalez, said all the villagers have been warned not to drink milk from local cows, or each chicken, eggs or home-grown vegetables because of the possible danger of radiation contamination.

Sources said food was being shipped into Palomares for the villagers who normally rely on local products.

METEORITE DISPLAY

Visitors From Outer Space On Exhibition At Museum

By DAVE KNAPP
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A collection of meteorite specimens of little commercial value but of great scientific importance is on extended exhibition at West Texas Museum on the Texas Tech campus.

The display includes three large samples and smaller polished slabs of the interesting bodies from outer space.

Dr. F. E. Green, museum director, and Thomas E. Bridge, assistant professor of geoscience at Tech, were instrumental in arranging for the display, which will be open for public viewing in the Hall of Earth and Man from "five or six months."

Most specimens "Native" — Two of the larger specimens were loaned to the Museum for the exhibit. All except one which came from Wisconsin have fallen in the West Texas area, according to Bridge, who has studied them extensively.

One, an angular 56-pound meteorite, was found in Yoakum County by Truett F. Jones. The other, much larger and weighing 90 pounds, dipped from the heavens over Anton and was loaned by Vernon Stone.

Dr. Green said both fell within the "past two years."

Another meteorite, plainly polished showing an ablation surface, was found at Brownfield.

Varied Display — Polished slabs on display include hyperstene-olivine chondrites, pallasite, polished and etched section of iron metal, or dinary iron metal and tektite from Indochina.

"This is a real good area for meteorites," observed Bridge.

Both men agree that there are many other specimens tucked away in homes of West Texas.

They also agree that meteorite specimens should be given to the museum for "pres-

THIRD WORST SINGLE PLANE DISASTER

117 Die As Plane Crashes In Alps

New York-Bound Plane Rips Into Mt. Blanc

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—A New York-bound Air India plane crashed Monday near the peak of mist-shrouded Mont Blanc, killing all 117 persons aboard. Wreckage and bodies were scattered for miles over the snow-covered Alps in this third worst single plane disaster in aviation history. Scorched mail from the plane was found as far as five miles away on the Italian side of the peak.

Got Permission To Land — The Boeing 707, named "Kanchanjunga," crashed apparently seconds after receiving permission to land at Geneva's Cointrin Airport at 8 a.m. local time. Air India said it carried 106 passengers and a crew of 11.

The Air India office in New York announced that five Americans and a French national residing in New York were aboard the plane. It identified them as E. H. Robinson of the Union Carbide Corp.; Capt. E. W. Calloway of the Union Maritime Corp.; R. J. Homan, home address unavailable; James W. Gray of 225 E. 57th St. New York City; a space control supervisor for Air India; Miss Jacqueline Freitas, 7833 1/2 L.E. Graves South, San Gabriel, Calif., an Air India employee; and Miss Josette Bonnargent, a French national employed by Air India, 87-70 173rd St., Jamaica, N.Y.

The pilot reported the plane on course at 19,000 feet, a safe margin over the 15,781-foot Mont Blanc, tallest in Western Europe. But the plane struck 1-

$765,092 COST

Methodist Hospital To Be Enlarged

Construction of additions costing $765,092 will open this week at Methodist Hospital and preparations are being made for additional projects which will increase the amount spent on improvements during 1966 to $1,382,000, hospital officials said today.

The board of trustees announced the awarding of a contract to H. A. Padgett Jr., Lubbock, for $765,092.

Add 38 Beds — That project, scheduled for completion in January of 1967, involves the addition of 38 beds, expansion of the surgery suite, a new intensive care unit, one additional elevator and some internal renovations.

An eighth floor will be added to the east and west wings of the hospital. That floor presently consists of a north wing only. The construction also will involve extension of the south wing of the hospital on the ground floor through fourth floor.

Plans Ready — With the addition of furniture, equipment and architectural costs, that project will cost a total of $1,007,000.

Preparations have been underway for months for the construction. Preliminary plans had been described last summer at time of announcement of a grant of federal hospital construction funds to finance part of the cost.

Haynes and Kirby drew architectural plans for the additions. An additional project, unrelated to the first and estimated to cost $255,000, involves the conversion of half of the Methodist Medical Building to hospital use and renovations to one

SPEAKERS, CHAIRMAN — Richard D. Batchelder, left, president-elect of the National Education Association and Betty Buford, vice-president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, spoke Monday night at a symposium and dinner at the Lubbock Christian College cafeteria. Batchelder spoke on the subject "Free to Teach."

NEA CHIEF SPEAKS TO 500 HERE

Teacher 'Freedom' Urged

Richard Batchelder, National Education Association president-elect, told over 500 persons attending a symposium and dinner at the Lubbock Christian College cafeteria Monday night that teachers must be free "not only to teach, but to take part actively in society and politics, if maximum benefits are to be reaped from the profession."

This year's NEA project, entitled "Free to Teach", was the theme of Batchelder's talk. "Teachers must be both financially and academically free to teach, along with being freed of the burden of mass clerical work if they are to truly teach," he said.

"And they must be able to take their place in society, to lead in areas such as politics. The day of the to-be-seen-and-not-heard teacher is past, because we find continually that teaching by example is the best method," he continued. "Teachers should set an example of what an educated man should do with his time."

Batchelder was one of three guest speakers at the symposium. Miss Harriet Griffin, Fort Worth, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, and Miss Betty Buford, Plainview, vice-president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, spoke on the functions of their organizations.

Theme of the symposium was "Functions of Our Professional Organizations".

Chairman for the event was Nat Williams, superintendent of Lubbock Public Schools, and Mistress of Ceremonies was Juanita

AT TECH
Educational TV Station Expanding

A $270,660 expansion project is in the offing here for KTX-TV, Texas Tech's educational television station, with the expectation that the improvements will help the relatively young facility realize its true potential. The college's board of directors approved the expansion plans last month, and voted to seek a $173,216 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to finance part of the costs.

New Transmitter, Line — Highlights of the expansion program, according to Station Director D. M. McElroy, will include construction of a six-kilowatt transmitter and a new transmission line.

Tech's directors recognized the possibilities of educational television as early as 1956, but unavailability of funds prevented beginning of construction on KTX-TV until the spring of 1962. The station went on the air Oct. 16 of that year.

All of the station's programming was on film until July of 1963. "We received a videotape recorder from the Ford Foundation through National Educational Television, and $10,000 worth of recording tape from Minnesota Mining," McElroy said. This equipment has permitted us to make full utilization of NET programming as well as those programs produced

WOMAN TALK

Sales Fun In Spite Of The Bruises

By CELESTINE SIBLEY
Women's News Service

As polo and tap dancing have declined in popularity, a new social activity has hit the scene. I encountered it for the first time the other day and I'm here to tell you that if you haven't made one of these fiestas you might as well bow out of the space age.

It's known as the warehouse sale and it usually takes place on Saturdays starting at the crack of dawn.

You'll see hundreds of your most intimate friends there, thousands of people you'd like to know and have your toes trampled on by dozens that you neither know nor wish to know.

Warehouse sales, for the benefit of the uninitiated, usually begin at 8 a. m., a full hour and a half before the regular marts of trade open. If you live as far away as I do and as lots of the others I saw there do, you must emulate the three lithe nags who had to get up early to beat the wolf to Dover.

I left my country cabin while the moon was still shining—cold and coffee-less—because my children, who have been to many warehouse sales, assured me that if you don't get there by the time the doors open you might as well stay at home.

Warehouse sales, they tell me, are frequented by the most vigorous strain of sale goers in the world. They have apparently been training for generations, building up their wind at track meets, taking lessons in Jack and Kerrie and developing a sort of extrasensory awareness of the real give-away goodies that are going to be offered.

There's no way for a neophyte to beat them at this game, but it's fun to watch them and to emulate them as well as you can.

So early were we the other Saturday that we had time to get coffee and doughnuts at a neighboring diner, find a parking space and get in line before the warehouse doors opened.

The wind blew cold and hard and those who left their heavy wraps at home or in their parked cars to make for greater mobility once inside the warehouse somehow escaped my attention, so engrossed did I become in the customers.

Most of these warehouse fetes are staged by department stores to dispose of damaged, irregular or excess stock. I suppose I'll look new and splendid and eminently desirable to me but every time I paused to look at something, some nice, old, gray-haired lady with an elbow like a peavy book moved me.

The old ladies are the most lethal. They come in head-shoulder and fragile looking, smiling timidly at those ahead of them in line as they usurp their places.

They get first grab at the self-selection by merely looking dead and helpless and saying to some trapped man, "You don't mind do you, sir? I'm in a terrible hurry."

And if you spot something you want and take up your post beside it, you might as well give way if a nice old gray-haired lady knows any interest in it.

I don't know how they operate for sure but all the plums I saw being trundled from the warehouse on dollies or carried out in the arms of hefty porters had some nice old lady marching triumphantly beside them.

Moderation New Word From Paris

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
PARIS (AP)—White-collared girls wore neckties but that's as far as Madeleine de Rauch let the man's world influence the spring and summer collection she introduced Monday.

The manikins went barefoot in random spotted white beach coats with open sides that permitted glimpses of their black bikinis. But that's about as bawdiness the designer would allow.

The girls moved briskly through a showroom packed with fashion writers and buyers here for the first day of collection openings. The girls wore jaunty short jackets over belted, deep-pleated short skirts and dark stockings with red stripe down the outer side of each leg.

But that's as far as Mrs. De Rauch cared to carry the youth kink in this kooky fashion season. From then on the girls were all lady.

The designer believes in all things in moderation, except for the ladylike look, and she believes in that absolutely all the way.

While others have been playing geometry with pines and angles, Mrs. de Rauch has styled with curves, but not so much so that her lady type is a tramp.

With the serenity and refinement of a Princess Grace, her lady type wore hair swept neatly back to the nape of the neck and tied by a leather bow. Or a large brimmed straw hat set straight on her head and skirt primly at the knees.

This kind of lady brought back the soft dressmaker suit, with yokes, round shoulders, a defined waistline and a skirt that flared just a little.

This kind of woman also made her way through the showrooms in another artifact of fashion: the little black dress. It was back again, sometimes with a cinched-in belt, and a single diamond pin as glitter.

De Rauch was not against glitter on really graceful ball gowns, but only a touch of it. A band of rhinestones edged the hem and closing edge of a yellow floor-length dress that cross-wrapped to a close on both sides. Jeweled sleeves in another dress and bands of gold on a topper were in proper dazzling proportion.

One-shoulder gowns but not deep décolletage, in stripes but not bold Roman ones, black and white patterns but not dizzying pop art, contrasting hues but not more than a built-in belt or collar with a dress of the same hue—these are more of the vogues which De Rauch employed.

By BOB INGRAN
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (WNS)—Once upon a time a couple of generations back Texas had its "Ma" and "Pa" Ferguson, a husband and wife team which took turns occupying the governor's chair.

Alabama now threatens to follow suit with a pair of its own—George and Lurleen Wallace.

Gov. George Wallace is prohibited by his own state constitution from seeking a second consecutive term this year.

He made a bold, desperate bid in a recent special session of the Legislature to remove this ban, but for one of the few times in his political career, Wallace was soundly whipped.

To get around this barrier, he is now considering a most bizarre move—running his wife for the state's highest office in the Democratic Party primary in May.

A definite decision has not yet been made, but every indication is that she will not only run, but will be a very strong contender. Such is the popularity of her husband.

It would be an understatement to say that Mrs. Wallace is hardly the type person to be elected governor.

Five-And-Ten Clerk
She was born 39 years ago in a rural community on the outskirts of Tuscaloosa, Ala., graduated from high school (and swiftly, at the age of 15), and later attended a business college in Tuscaloosa.

During the interim she took a job as a clerk in a five-and-ten-cent store, and it was on this job that the attractive and tiny (5 feet two inches, 110 pounds) Lurleen caught the eye of George Wallace, then a senior at the University of Alabama Law School.

They were married shortly before Lurleen reached her 17th birthday. They now have four children, ranging in age from 4 to 21.

In the study of the huge antebellum Executive Mansion in Montgomery, Lurleen Wallace is the first to admit that never in her wildest dreams did she conjure up the vision of becoming Alabama's first lady governor.

Nevertheless, she is now "pretty sure" she will run and "absolutely certain" that if she runs she will win.

Mrs. Wallace makes no effort to conceal what is well understood in Alabama—if she is elected, the governor will continue to be George Wallace, while she will be governor in name only.

"I think everybody understands that," she told me in an exclusive interview. "George would be right there all the time. There would not be any change in the policies and the programs now in progress with me as governor."

Fishing, Flying
Mrs. Wallace is a First Lady who prefers fishing and flying an airplane to any of the more genteel avocations of the so-called weaker sex, has a stock answer to any and all questions of "How does she feel about integration?"

"My views are precisely the same as my husband's," she replied.

How about the civil rights demonstrations?
"My answer is the same. I like him, also feel that the entire country, not just the South, is beginning to grow weary of these demonstrations."

And so it went on all questions.

Couple Plans Vows In Hereford Church
HEREFORD (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Frank Loerwald have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Patricia Elaine Loerwald, to Albert Simmacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simmacher Jr., here.

Miss Loerwald is a 1961 graduate of Hereford High School, and was graduated in 1964 from St. Anthony's School of Nursing in Amarillo.

She is currently a 2nd Lieutenant in the United States Air Force Nurse Corps stationed at Selfridge AFB, Mich.

Simmacher was graduated from Prep High School in 1956 and from Texas Tech in 1962, and received his masters degree from Tech in August, 1965.

He is employed in the product control department of the Ralston Purina Co., St. Louis, Mo.

The couple plans to be married Feb. 19 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford.

tions posed during the interview.

For instance, asked about specific programs for the state if elected governor, Mrs. Wallace replied:

"There would be no change, no let-up, in the programs initiated by George. Stress would continue to be placed in attracting new industry to Alabama and in improving the state's educational system."

It is in these two areas where Wallace has scored heavily—Alabama has led the nation for the past two years in the acquisition of new industries (almost $1.4 billion during his administration in capital outlay), and the Wallace education program has funneled an additional $125 million a year into the classrooms.

Mrs. Wallace also made another point clear in the interview.

"George would still speak and be heard as much as he has in the past," she said. "He would speak during my campaign, and he would speak here and throughout the nation during my term in office."

During his own term Wallace has spoken far and wide, in addition to campaigning in the presidential primaries of three states (Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland) in 1964.

Critics of Wallace and of his wife's proposed candidacy insist he now has a burning ambition to run in every presidential primary in the nation in 1968, hoping for a miracle which might put him in the White House or as vice president.

Here, too, the Lurleen line is a carbon of the governor's: "What's wrong with an Alabamian being President?"

Operation
Mrs. Wallace has now passed the only hurdle that was in the way of her candidacy—an abdominal operation, which she underwent successfully just after this interview.

Now that she has emerged in good health, the name of Mrs. George C. Wallace will very probably be on the ballot for governor in May.

While no woman has ever run for governor in Alabama, this state has surprisingly led the nation in electing women to state office.

Women presently serve as secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, associate commissioner of the Public Service Commission, and presiding judge of the Court of Appeals.

Still another woman is expected to run for attorney general this year, another for the U.S. Senate, and a third—Mrs. Yolande Betzebe Fox—Miss America of 1951, is being mentioned as a candidate for Congress from Alabama.

If they all win, along with Lurleen, Alabama will have emphatically branded as a lie all that bunk about the weaker sex.

ANN LANDERS

Bribery Try Shameful

Dear Ann Landers: My in-laws just left and I am sick to my stomach. Yesterday their only daughter gave birth to her fourth son and they are so unhappy you would think somebody in the family had died.

My husband and I have three fine boys (6, 4, and 2) and frankly, we are satisfied with things as they are. We wouldn't trade one of our sons for a million dollars but we wouldn't give two cents for a fourth one.

Tonight my father-in-law took me aside and said it is up to me to have a girl. He insists that the law of averages will take care of me — that out of eight grandchildren one has to be a girl. He offered to pay all medical expenses and give us $5,000 if I will have another baby.

I asked him what he would do if I had another boy. He replied, "It can't happen." I am so mixed up I am half sick. Please advise me.—Edith

Dear Edith: It is outrageous that your in-laws regard you as a baby machine — and would stoop to bribery in an attempt to feed their sick egos. Insist that your husband silence his parents permanently.

Dear Ann Landers: My father reads your column every day and says you are a woman with a good head on your shoulders. He is a very stubborn person and will not listen to anybody, not even my mother. You are my last hope.

I am 17 and a high school senior. My father says I cannot go with Rick any more because he is "physically unfit." Rick was turned down by the Navy because he has a weak heart. According to my father, if I marry Rick I will have to support him for the rest of my life.

I was not attracted to Rick for physical reasons. He is the kindest and most considerate person I have ever known. I have no plans to get married until I am 21, at least. And when I marry it won't be for looks, or physique or any such nonsense. Furthermore I may not even marry Rick. I just want to go with him.

Please print my letter and your answer.—Seen Not Heard

Dear Seen: Your father's reasoning is faulty.

Many young men who are rejected by the services for physical defects will lead active lives and live to a ripe old age. By the same token, it is not uncommon for a man who had always been in excellent health, to suddenly develop a heart attack or even drop dead of a heart attack.

Please tell your dad that the woman with the good head on her shoulders hopes he will reconsider.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently my husband and I invited two couples to join us in celebrating my birthday. We decided to have dinner out and go night-clubbing.

Mrs. X telephoned me and said, "Vincent had to leave town. I hope you four don't mind taking a spare woman along. I've really been looking forward to tonight."

Well, we four did mind, and told her so. She has been very cool to us ever since. Were we wrong?—Q. T. X.

Dear Q. T. X.: Yes, you were wrong. The fifth wheel should have regretted both for herself and her husband and taken you off the hook. Since she did not, however, you should have put up with her — and graciously.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I am a small-town doctor, and have set three broken limbs this week — all caused from slipping on throw rugs.

All such rugs should be treated to prevent such skidding. Please caution your readers concerning this hazard.

Also, thin pliofilm bags (from the drycleaner) may be slightly crumpled and placed under throw rugs to keep them from slipping. They are free, too! (Remember folks — the cautions on pliofilm bags.)

W. H. Davis, M.D. I certainly agree with you, Doctor.

Most supermarkets sell non-skid sprays to apply to the backs of throw rugs.

Fresh shellac — when thinned down, can be brushed on rug backings with a paint brush. Let it dry thoroughly before replacing rugs on the floor.

HELOISE

This point must also be allowed to dry thoroughly before the rugs are put into use. Thanks, Doctor, for bringing this to our attention.

Dear Heloise: My children love to have something to play with while taking their baths.

So I give them some of those empty plastic liquid soap bottles in place of bath toys. Not only do the kids find them intriguing, but they're free, too.

Pat Crofoot

Dear Heloise: How's this for cooling cake layers?

After many years and many cakes, I found I could remove my second oven rack before heating my oven, and I could use it for cooling cake layers.

I place a cloth over the rack, and turn the layers of cake on this.

Makes a good cooling system for other goodies, too. Mrs. Jack Grilblie

Dear Heloise:

Whether you know it or not, sensitive plastic playing cards should never be used on a card table unless it is covered. It ruins the cards — so say the manufacturers.

I made the cutest card table cover with a little over a yard of black velvet (my furniture is ebony), and put a four-inch square of waterproof material on the top of each corner for coffee cups, etc.

The cards scoot across the lovely velvet which looks so expensive — but wasn't I so glad so many compliments on my cover, just thought I should pass the hint along.

Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise: If you're like me, you have to guard bath towels from the men.

NEARING CENTURY MARK — Mrs. Harriet Louise Adams, still healthy and active, celebrates her 98th birthday here today.

SHE'S 98 TODAY

City Woman Cites Bible Verse As Long Life Clue

By LELAND BOYD, Avalanche-Journal Staff

Mrs. Harriet Louise (Eliza) Adams, 1917 25th St., is 98 today, another milestone in a life she describes as ordinary, but filled with good health and sustained strength.

"I only use glasses to read, don't need a hearing aid, and try to keep ahead of things that are happening," she says.

To celebrate the birthday she and relatives who live in Lubbock plan to eat out at a cafeteria. After the meal they'll return home for visiting and games.

Through the years she remembers the development of the automobile, she was past 30 years old when she first saw a car, the airplane, and the conveniences of living today.

Millions Of Americans May Use Short Income Tax Form

EDITOR'S NOTE — Basic information for income tax returns is contained in the W-2 withholding slip which employers are supposed to distribute to employees by Feb. 1. The following article discusses W-2 forms and other paper work involved in filing out the returns.

By ADREN COOPER, Associated Press Staff Writer

Millions of Americans are eligible to file their income tax money the easy way — by using Form 1040A, a punchboard no bigger than a check.

If you had income of less than $10,000 and it was in the form of wages which were subject to withholding, and no more than $200 income from dividends, interest and other wages, you may use this short-cut method.

All you need is your W-2 form, provided by your employer, and a tax table or a tax schedule to compute your income.

If you had other wages, dividends, interests, or other income which amounted to more than $200, you must use the larger Form 1040. Even if you are eligible to file the short form, you might want to use Form 1040 in order to take advantage of one or more special tax provisions.

You might be able to save money by filing the longer form. The longer form must be used if you wish to itemize your deductions, claim credit for retirement income, claim an adjustment for sick pay, or apply the special rates available to persons who qualify as "head of household" or "surviving spouse."

If your 1965 income was less than $5,000, you can even avoid all arithmetic by providing the W-2 form with the short return and omitting lines 8, 10, and 11. The IRS will complete the form and mail you a tax bill or a refund.

Standard Deduction Taxpayers with incomes of $5,000 or less who wish to use the standard deduction, must use the tax tables in computing their tax. Find the tax table which applies to you — Table A is for single persons, Table B is for married persons filing joint returns and Table C is for married persons filing separate returns.

Also, some widows, widowers and some single persons who qualify as "heads of household" may use Table B, which gives a lower tax.

In using the appropriate table simply find the line in the first column which fits your income and then read across until you reach the column that matches the number of your personal exemptions.

The amount listed in that column will be your tax. Tables A and B automatically allow for personal exemptions and give you the benefit of either the standard deduction or the minimum standard deduction, whichever is lower.

Separate Returns In Table C, to be used by married persons filing separately, you will find the tax given under two headings: "Minimum" and "10 per cent." One column gives you the benefit of the minimum standard deduction; the other allows for the standard deduction. You may use the column showing the lower tax; but both husband and wife must use the same column.

The tax rate schedules are for those who compute their own tax on Form 1040 or 1040A. These schedules show the rates that should be applied after subtracting $50 for each exemption and the amount of your standard or minimum deduction or other amounts up to $200 or more.

Watch Your Language, Men

-THERE'S A LADY PRESENT!

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK:

Warm Seat Policy Used

WASHINGTON—On Jan. 4 in the exclusive Recess Club in Manhattan, well-heeled Republican businessmen heard an appeal for campaign funds from Steven Derouian, a Goldwaterite Republican Congressman from Long Island who was swept out in the 1964 election and is now trying to get his old job back.

In his pitch for funds, Derouian had one solid piece of ammunition, a personal letter from Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference a year earlier had he been elected. It pointed out the little-known fact that the House Republican Conference a year earlier had quietly established a warm-seat policy for defeated Congressmen.

The conference decided that any Republican Congressman returning to his job would have automatic first call on any vacancy on his old committee. For Steve Derouian this was exciting news. It means he probably would work right back into his old seat on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, which has power over dollars-and-cents matters vitally important to New York money interests.

ANDREW TULLY:

Choice Plan Has Faults

WASHINGTON—A case can be made for the premise that it is not in the interests of Negro children to mix with some of the inmates of segregated white Southern schools. But that is merely one of the relevancies ignored by the Supreme Court's ruling that segregation is not only a sin, but illegal.

It is comforting to note, therefore, that Attorney General Katzenbach has taken time off from those fun people parties to call for a Federal Court order scrapping the free-choice plan unless it goes honest. Katzenbach's vehicle is a lawsuit in Raleigh, N.C., against Franklin County, but it is also aimed at another North Carolina school district and Tipton County, Tenn.

I am still not convinced that local education is any of Washington's business unless Federal money is involved on account of I have read the Constitutional clauses leaving the three R's to the states. But all three areas involved in the Raleigh suit snagged Federal education grants after getting their desegregation plans okayed by the Office of Education. Katzenbach may find the sliding barrier in his complaints against three additional school districts which have not obtained Federal funds, but that is not presently material.

THE STRATEGY of these six Southern champions of education is simple. It is to scare Negro children away from white schools by making it clear that they don't know what's good for them. When Negro pupils apply for transfers to white schools, county school officials arranged to have their names and addresses published in a local newspaper. Thereafter, according to Katzenbach's complaint, the pupils and their families are "threatened and intimidated by various means, including cross burnings and the shooting of firearms at homes of Negroes."

IT IS PERHAPS beside the point to comment on the psychopathic mentality of grownups who would threaten children, but since it will do my soul good I will digress to call them cowardly bums. That being done, the matter at issue remains a question of simple law breaking. The Civil Rights Act forbids such discrimination and intimidation. Corruption of the "free-choice" system is just as much against the law as murder, although perhaps the comparison would be meaningless in some Dixie courtrooms. The fact that some of the offenders often wear neckties and speak a kind of English does not bestow even the Mississippi brand of legality on their acts.

Sometimes I wonder why the average Negro, with his sense of humor and his inherent benignity, wants to associate with such trash. The atmosphere is so much cleaner in his own honest slum. But the law says he has a right to do so, and though in some cases this becomes a kind of penalty, his inclination should be protected. Besides, some of the good Negro's goodness might rub off on this bunch.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

Cease-Fire Tricky Goal

WHILE PRESIDENT Johnson appeals for a cease-fire in South Viet Nam, who has ever heard of Brig. Gen. George Deltell? Well, he's the man who signed the last one. Or the second-to-last one, rather.

At 3:42 a.m. on July 21, 1954, in Geneva, Switzerland, North Vietnamese Defense Minister Ta Quang Bui, a Peking-trained tarantula, agreed to stop the fighting.

I heard him speak of "peaceful coexistence." But he sat there like a man hypnotized by absolute power and you could hear the true fanatic in Bui's shrill, defiant scream.

In the cease-fire agreement with the French the Communists guaranteed to withdraw all Red forces north of the 17th Parallel within 100 days.

THEY NEVER withdrew any. The talks had gone on for three months while the Communists dug in deeper and deeper.

The cease-fire established a buffer zone. But the Reds refused "on site" inspection exactly as they did later in Cuba and in the limited nuclear test treaty. And they never got out of the buffer zone.

North and South Viet Nam, which resulted from the agreement, must both forego military alliances. The Communists did not need an alliance. They were, as today, an integral part of the Red plunge into Southeast Asia.

EACH MUST halt the import of foreign arms. The Reds merely hid their ammunition in the thatched walls, their plastic bombs in the booby-trapped barns, their bazookas in the village wells. They did not even pause in practice of chopping off a finger of a hostage for ransom and sending it to his family to prove they had him.

Free elections must unite the nation by July, 1956. They would be supervised by Polish, Indian and Canadian observers. Five months from now this date will be 10 years overdue.

Britain, the Soviet Union and Red China all participated in the cease-fire conference and all endorsed the document.

NOT ONE of the provisions was ever carried out.

Instead, the Communists next mounted a full-blown offensive in the wet-green overland area that became Laos, attacking like the troops of monkeys that run up and down the trees and screech crazily from bough to bough.

When that area felt the first heavy breaches of the cease-fire President Kennedy stirred our country by his Telstar TV defiance of the violation, announcing that the United States would never permit a Red-dominated Laos.

HE POINTED out, correctly, that Laos flanks Viet Nam, that a Red Laos would open the door to a Red Viet Nam, probably a Red Cambodia and Thailand as well, and most of Southeast Asia. Mr. Kennedy summoned America and the whole free world to rally to his words. We must repel this aggression. We must not allow the Red aggressor a sanctuary in Laos.

But we were Humpty-Dumpty. We arranged another cease-fire conference, the previous cease-fire one not having ceased the fire. Presidential Representative Averell Harriman brought 14 countries into these talks, again at Geneva, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew there to sign the accord as if an agreement were not already in existence.

THE PROTOCOL "guaranteed" Laos' independence and neutrality. But it was so apparent that it did nothing of the sort that at the end Mr. Harriman even stated in Geneva "Laos isn't too important, after all."

Yet then, as now, no military man alive knew or knows how we can contain the Communists in Viet Nam without likewise fighting in Laos which we are now doing.

When Brig. Gen. George Deltell and Ta Quang Bui scrawled their names Red China Premier Chou En-Lai pronounced the cease-fire agreement "a tremendous success." So did Ho Chi Minh.

WHEN THE re-agreement was signed they both said the same thing, all over again. And of course they were right, both times.

President Johnson's problem, which is our nation's problem, is not how to get still another cease-fire agreement. The problem is to have it mean anything. All comment that avoids this point merely drowns the problem in confusion.

Surface Life

THERE ARE few people in the world who are not aware of the threat of extinction that hangs over the human race because of the development of nuclear weapons. This very awareness offers some hope that somehow atomic extermination will be avoided.

There is, however, another danger which may be even greater because it is less spectacular and more insidious, and fewer people appear to be aware of its seriousness. It is that the surface of the earth will be made uninhabitable in terms of generations, this possibility may not be as remote as some people would like to think.

HUMAN BEINGS are resourceful and adaptable creatures, however, and it is possible that they may be able to survive either on both dangers by going underground or returning to the sea where all life is supposed to have originated.

In any event, it is somewhat reassuring to know that government officials and men of learning are giving some serious study to ways of preventing the necessity of a change of environment. It was announced in Saint Louis a few days ago that the United States Public Health Service has made a grant of $4 million to Washington University to help find a way for life to remain on the surface of the earth.

This will be the research and science center established under a new Public Health Service program and its specific assignment will be to find out just how seriously man already has contaminated his environment and what can be done about it.

DR BARRY COMMONER, who will head the center, listed as problems that could make the earth unsuitable to support life if unchecked the wide use of insecticides and other new synthetic chemicals, increasing urbanization, overpopulation, and radioactivity from nuclear weapons testing and other sources.

He cited some of the consequences already are beginning to be felt as a result of uncontrolled use of the human environment, particularly those resulting from pollution of the air and water, both of which are essential to human life.

THERE WAS A TIME when nobody had to pay much attention to this pollution because only a very small part of the man's environment was involved. "But now," Dr. Commoner observed, "man must understand what he is doing, because his activities are large enough to affect the entire earth."

Soil is also essential to the sustenance of human life, of course. Man must depend upon it for his food and clothing if not his shelter. Population growth is putting an increasing strain upon this natural resource. But air and water pollution can result in contamination of the soil, making it impossible for it to supply the food and fiber that an ever-expanding population must have.

Prevention of water and air pollution is something more, therefore, than an immediate health hazard. If allowed to proceed unchecked, it conceivably could destroy all life on the planet eventually.—(Houston Post)

DISUNITY WEAKENS U.S. POSITION

Time To 'Shape Up' On Viet Nam

IT IS DIFFICULT to see how U.S. policymakers on the Viet Nam war can avoid, this week, a "shaping up" in their thinking and in their methods of operating against the enemy.

The extent of the disagreements and the uncertainty on the highest military and diplomatic levels has been particularly obvious during recent days.

It was significant that Sen. Richard B. Russell, a notably responsible participant in debates on the conflict, made public his criticism by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, of the long lull in the bombing of North Viet Nam. The criticism came in testimony last week before the Senate Armed Services Committee and an Appropriations subcommittee studying Administration requests for $12.7 billion more for Viet Nam operations.

Prison Job Study

A STUDY of the possibility of allowing inmates of the Texas Prison System to hold outside jobs to help support their families appears to be worthwhile.

Such a study has been approved by the Legislative Budget Board, on motion of Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, who has been impressed by the trial given the plan by North Carolina.

The twin purposes of imprisonment are to punish offenders and to attempt rehabilitation, and there is always a certain amount of conflict over the relative emphasis to be placed on each purpose.

Proponents of the plan argue that there could hardly be a better attempt at rehabilitation than to give inmates a chance to prove that they can get along outside the walls without resorting to crime. They also point to the reduction in operating costs and the lessening of the drain on welfare funds.

Skeptics, however, may contend that the idea should be forgotten unless means can be found to prevent too many of the kind of violations which have beset the State's present liberal parole system. And certainly they may contend that the mere existence of the plan would be another lessening of the deterrents against crime.

The study should produce a most interesting round of debate.

Anyone For Tonga?

EVER SINCE the world started becoming mechanized and commercialized, some people have been dreaming of a "paradise" some where far away to which they could escape and find peace. Usually they dreamed of an island in the South Pacific, as the refuge to which they could retreat and live in public simplicity.

For years Tahiti appeared to be such a place. Then the jet age came, the tourists swarmed in and the island largely lost its allure.

But according to the National Geographic Society, there still is a place which lives up to the escapist dream. It is the kingdom of Tonga, which lies North of New Zealand near Fiji and Samoa. These friendly isles apparently have resisted civilization's pace and have managed to retain the type of life pattern which always has appealed to those who wanted to get away from it all.

How long the people of Tonga will be able to preserve their way of life remains to be seen. If the story of what has happened to other island "paradise" means anything, it will not be for very long.

RUTH MONTGOMERY:

Egypt, In Population Crisis, Shifts Attitude Toward U.S.

CAIRO, Egypt—The pill, the loop and the Aswan High Dam are the chief topics of conversation in informal circles here. Without the power the newly arable land to be afforded by the dam, Egypt could not feed its burgeoning population for long. Without the pill and the loop, the dam will be outmoded within 30 years.

Nearly 40 million people are crowded together in the narrow Nile Basin, giving it the highest population density of any country in the world.

IN THE LAST 50 years Egypt's population has doubled. Within another 20 years it will double again, unless its largely Moslem population takes to birth control devices.

None realizes the problem better than President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who within recent weeks has thrown the resources of his government behind volunteer family planning centers that have recently sprung up in 21 areas.

Taking the lead in this historic project is Madame Ahmed (Aziza) Hussein, who may go down in history as the first lady of the Arab World. Aziza, wife of Egypt's regular former Ambassador to Washington, is a soft-spoken dynamo who represents her country at the United Nations' Committee on the Status of Women.

WIDELY KNOWN as a lecturer in the U.S., Madame Hussein has enlisted the help of women's clubs and gynecologists to operate the centers which dispense family planning advice and contraceptives.

Nasser's government, which at first was as reluctant as our own to take an official stand on birth control, has now granted a yearly subsidy to the centers. A first shipment of loops and pills from the U.S. was eagerly snapped up by 9,000 women, but hundreds of thousands more are needed to curb the population explosion in a country where 10 to 20 children in a family is not unusual.

Thanks to its fertile soil and favorable climate, the Nile Valley produces three crops a year. With the newly arable acreage Nasser dreams

And as "returns" from the American "peace offensive" continue to be assessed, participants from President Johnson on down have been unable to discover even a faint sign that Hanoi, Peking and the Viet Cong are considering negotiation of a settlement.

General Wheeler was quoted as saying that, "from the military point of view, in effect you throw one of your blue chips for negotiations over your shoulder." At about the same time, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara reported that the lull had given the North Vietnamese valuable time to rebuild rail lines, truck routes and bridges.

General Wheeler did not say whether he thought diplomatic considerations outweighed the military setback, but Secretary McNamara said this was "a small cost to pay" to demonstrate to the world "our desire for peace and our desire for negotiations."

There has been more than enough evidence that the enemy intends to pursue the conquest of South Viet Nam just as before and, indeed, that it has been encouraged by the American unwillingness to use greater military force. North Viet Nam has been receiving increasing assistance in many forms from many nations, including a number who were supposed to have been impressed by the American "desires."

The inevitable conclusion is that the American peace efforts, sincere and massive though they have been, have not impressed the right people. The question now is whether a massive and sincere military effort is the only real solution.

That question is being asked with increasing frequency and concern this week.

Pay That Poll Tax

ONLY A FEW days remain for Texans to qualify themselves for the right, and the duty, of voting in this year's elections.

From throughout the state there have been reports of lagging payments of poll taxes, although this is an "election year." Holders of offices, from Governor on down must be chosen, and there may be bond issues and special elections to be decided.

How much of the lag can be blamed on the fact that the Texas poll tax is under attack in Federal Court is not certain. But Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has been busy warning that poll tax receipts or exemptions should be obtained before the court decision is not likely before January 31, the deadline. The only way for the eligible voter to be sure he doesn't become a "second class citizen" this year is to pay the tax as if there were no suit.

And even those between the ages of 21 and 60 who wish to vote only for U.S. Representative and U.S. Senator—for which no poll tax is needed—must register by the same date or lose even that voting privilege.

"Pay that poll tax now" is the slogan for today.

Tipping Situation

SOMEONE ASKS: "Remember when 15 cents was a generous tip instead of an insult?"

Some persons may, but to do so they have to think a long way back. And if one tries to recall a time when a person who gave a reasonable tip got thanked, he will have to travel even farther than that.

Life is one way trip. Enjoy your trip while you can.

of making Egypt the winter vegetable and fruit basket of Europe, but within the next few decades the population at present rates will surpass the productivity of the new acreage.

Egypt is thus faced with the same crisis that besets nearly all mankind, and which is particularly acute in Latin America and Asia. Barring a nuclear war or virulent plague, nothing but birth control can apparently prevent mass starvation in the foreseeable future.

THE CLIMATE for American business in Egypt has drastically improved in the past few months. So have our government-to-government relations, after several years of bitter wrangling.

When U.S. Ambassador Lucius Battle recently dedicated a health center in a Nile village between Cairo and Alexandria, our diplomats were astounded to see scores of banners reading, "Long Live America," "Long Live Johnson" and "Long Live Ambassador Battle." One long-time member of the embassy staff said it was the first time he had seen such a cordial reception in 20 years here. Almost equally friendly demonstrations have greeted Battle in other village appearances.

Because of its strategic location and potential power, Egypt is of necessity the cornerstone of our Mideast policy. Although Russia rather than the U.S. provided the loans and technicians for the Aswan High Dam, the Communist party is still outlawed here, and the tide seems to be turning in our favor.

THE ONLY TWO foreign firms with oil drilling rights here are American, and a 50,000-barrels-a-day strike has occurred in the Red Sea area. The biggest and gayest hotel in Cairo is the Nile Hilton, and guides proudly point out the Nile vantage point where Egypt hopes Pan American Airways will erect an intercontinental hotel. The former anti-American belligerence seems to be abating. To the surprise of many political prognosticators, Egypt currently provides an oasis of calm in the turbulent struggle between East and West.

The Judge Only Knows

Braves Suit Settled, But In Whose Favor?

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A Milwaukee judge made his decision Monday on the Braves' request for dismissal of Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball, but he didn't make it public.

Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller said he was mailing copies of his ruling to the attorneys concerned late Monday. The lengthy, written decision was to be filed with the court clerk Tuesday and thus become available to the public then.

A Monopoly?

The state suit charges baseball is a monopoly and argues that the Atlanta-bound Braves should be forced to remain in Milwaukee until the National League grants a replacement franchise. The Braves have asked dismissal on grounds that any antitrust regulation is a matter of concern for the federal government, not a state court.

Milwaukee County's federal antitrust suit, now pending in U.S. District Court here, is not affected by Judge Roller's decision. The federal suit has lain largely dormant during the state court proceedings.

Will Continue

County and state attorneys were flying to Atlanta Monday night to prepare to resume pre-trial examinations of Braves' officials, including club President John McHale. However, these sessions would continue in the federal case no matter what the ruling on the state suit should be.

Judge Roller said the decision would be filed at about 9 a.m. CST today.

The white haired judge, working late Monday night in his chambers as his staff prepared extra copies of the bulky decision, would not release any information on his ruling before the morning mail was due to be delivered to attorneys' offices Tuesday.

"Unpopular Tomorrow"

"It would be contrary to judicial ethics," he said.

The locally elected judge, in response to a question about courtroom photographs of himself, said, "I don't think I'll be popular tomorrow." But he didn't elaborate.

The judge had said previously that his ruling would make him unpopular with one of the two sides, either Milwaukee or the Braves, regardless of which way the decision went.

Austin Ace To Play For Tech

AUSTIN (Special) — The Austin American-Statesman has announced that Austin High center David Stewart will attend Texas Tech next year.

The all-zone selection, recruited by head coach J. T. King, made the announcement to the Austin paper Saturday.

Stewart, a 6-2, 196-pounder, was reportedly being courted by three other schools, two of which were Southwest Conference members.

Stewart transferred to Austin from Tyler his sophomore year and was ineligible in 1964.

SAYS FOOTBALL NO THREAT

New Czar Says Baseball Must Work To Maintain Its Image

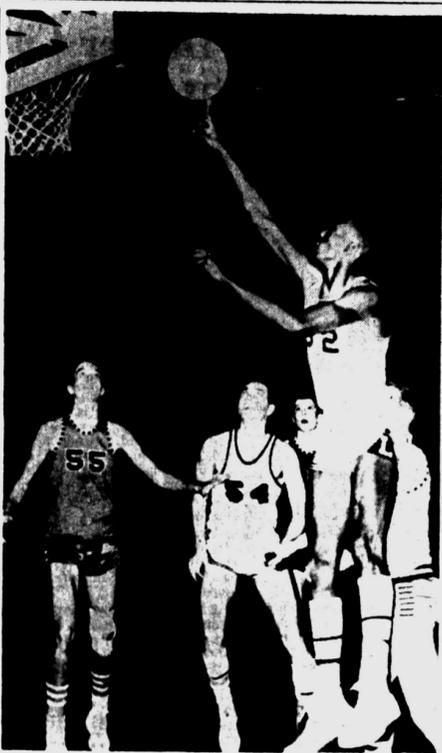

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Newly elected baseball Commissioner William Eckert said Monday he thinks baseball has some public relations spade-work to do to maintain its image, but he is not overly concerned about the rising popularity of professional football.

"I'm not running scared because of any threat from football," Eckert told a group of newsmen at a luncheon staged for Eckert by Minnesota Twins President Calvin Griffith.

"I think that baseball can certainly hold its own against football, or any other sport," Eckert added. "When you look at the statistics, which show the millions who watch baseball, I don't think you need to worry too much about it."

"Baseball has a fascination no other sport has. It takes more personal skill."

Eckert appeared in the Twin Cities for a winter baseball writers' dinner honoring the American League champion Twins. His appearance was part of a concerted effort on his part to tour as many major league baseball cities as possible as soon as possible.

Diane Friesen was the night's most productive point-maker, hitting for 27 for the losers.

The two will meet again tonight at 8 p.m. in a National Girls League encounter. Monday's affair was a non-league affair. Iowa is now 2-2 for the year.

MHS Faces Plainview

Lubbock Opens Show Against Berger Outfit

By CARLTON STOWERS
Avant-Garde Journal Sports Staff

The goal is the same but motivation is just opposite as Monterey and Lubbock High ready themselves for a return to the friendly confines of Municipal Coliseum tonight for a pair of District 3-AAAA cage battles.

The Plainsmen, currently 2-0 in the second round of play and boasting a share of the Loop leadership, hope to extend its victory string to eight straight, while the LHS crew will enter Round Five of its battle to break away from a four-game losing skein.

LHS Tailspin
Coach Max O'Banion's Westerners will host up-and-down Berger in the 7 p.m. opener with Monterey taking on Plainview, unbeaten in second round play, in the 8:30 finale.

Lubbock High, which went into a tailspin on the end of the first round of play after registering six straight wins, is currently 0-2 in the second half after being edged by Tascosa and Pampa. Monterey has, on the other hand, been undefeated since dropping an overtime affair to first round champion Amarillo by one point.

On paper, it looks like the Westerners' chance to return to good graces. But watch out Coach Tex Hanna's troops, though only 5-13 for the year as compared to the 14-6 ledger of LHS, could be trouble. In fact, it was the Bulldogs who upended Tascosa, 52-47, after the Rebels had downed the Westerners.

Berger is currently 1-2 in the second round of league action, having lost to Pampa and Monterey.

MHS Seeks Rebound

Monterey, which missed out on its engagement with Canyon last Friday due to bad weather, will be looking for an improved showing after scoring a relatively unimpressive win over Palo Duro in its last trip out. The Plainsmen had to stage a desperate come-from-behind rally to down the Dons, 48-44.

Plainview is currently 1-0 for the second half and 9-14 for the year.

O'Banion will open with scoring leaders Wesley Verner (6-1, 11.2) and Don Burrell (6-3, 10.6). Bill Green (6-5, 9.3), Bill Green (6-5, 9.3) and either Ronnie Shuffield (6-1, 4.5) or Freddy Dickson (6-0, 4.9) also expected to see a good deal of action will be Nello Armstrong (6-6, 4.5).

Berger Starters

Hanna will likely retaliate with high scoring Dale Dawson (6-1, 14.0), Pete Loftis (6-0, 8.0), Ricky Williams (6-4, 7.0), Sonny Jordan (6-0, 2.2) and center Terry Moore (6-2, 6.0). George Pettigrew (6-2, 10.0), or Keith Hanna (5-10, 2.7). Pettigrew was the top scorer for the Bulldogs during the initial half of the season but has not seen starting action in the last two outings.

Myers' well-rounded Monterey lineup will stand pat with Kenny Coleman (6-2, 11.0), David Reed (6-3, 11.0), Steve Hardin (6-5, 9.1), Chuck Lewis (6-2, 4.8) and Craig Wright (6-4, 10.8) slated to get the nod. Danny Sledge (6-6, 4.2), Randy Andrews (6-7, 1.3) and Steve Hurt (6-2, 2.1) are also expected to see a good deal of action.

Colorful Bob Clindaniel will likely open with Clay Wood's (6-8, 11.6), Bob Baubling (6-4, 10.1), Stan Rigler (5-10, 4.2).

American Doubles Teams Gain In Australian Tourney

Bill Hart

No Surgery For Holub This Year

FOR E. J. HOLUB, FORMER Texas Tech All-American gragger who now earns his living for the Kansas City Chiefs as a linebacker, this has been a most enjoyable off-season. For the past four years, The Beast has spent some of the winter in a hospital with some doctor working on one of his knees. But that won't be the case this time because those knees have held up and the American Football League veteran won't have to be under the knife again.

"My knees have never felt better and I didn't have any problems with them this past season," he said the other day just before he was leaving Lubbock for his in-laws ranch near Sheffield.

Building Home On His Ranch

E. J. WAS IN TOWN for three reasons, to speak at the Coronado football banquet, to visit with some old buddies and to move the rest of his furniture to his new abode. He bought some land south of Odessa and he plans to ranch there in the off season and live there when his new house is ready. He's got five horses now and another one is on the way.

Holub, who grew up here and was an outstanding athlete for Lubbock High in football, basketball and track, isn't forgetting the Hub City because he plans to come back on occasions for visits with friends. His folks now live in Dickinson outside Houston, where they have a jewelry store.

DESPITE THE KNEE trouble, Holub says he never has considered giving up pro football and he points out the enthusiasm is just as strong as it was the first day he reported to the old Dallas Texans, now the Chiefs.

And, he wrapped up his sixth season two weeks ago when he played in his fourth playoff game, although he was on the bench for the other two, but he didn't compete because of knee operations.

Holub, who just likes to play, enjoyed the new setup in the AFL, postseason classic this year where the league championship plays an all-star team. "Sure, it cut down the chances of guys playing in the game from the other teams, but I liked it. I felt we could win it even though we hadn't been together long mainly because the four guys playing across the front line were the best in the league," he said.

Also, the other team, even though it had played together all year, had some great players, but others were not in the class with the All-Stars and that made a difference," he pointed out. Holub was one of the late additions to the All-Star squad, and didn't find out about his selection until he read it in a newspaper. By the time he got the letter saying he was picked, he barely got to Houston in time for the first workout.

Disappointed Over Team Finish

E. J. WAS KINDA disappointed at the way the race went this year because he felt Kansas City should have done better than it did.

"We had the material to win our half and the guys played hard, but maybe we didn't reach our potential. Oh, we won a lot of games, but didn't win some when we were supposed to. I know the league is much stronger than it was when I first went up there and there's no such thing now as an easy game. You have to go all out every week," he pointed out.

E. J. said he wasn't completely happy playing in Kansas City and not many of the Texans who went up there are. In fact, a lot of the Texans who made the move to Kansas City have either been traded or retired.

"I sure would like to play in Texas, but I don't know about any trades, so I plan to play in Kansas City next season," he said. The Chiefs used him less on offense this year, although he did snap on points when the regular center was hurt.

When it comes time to hang 'em up, he'll turn to ranching on a full-time basis and raise horses. He might even go for the races if he has fast horses, but right now the ones he has are too young and he doesn't know how fast they'll be.

But he's happy just being able to get around on two knees that don't require surgery, because he knows if they held up, he'll be in pro football for a long time.

GETS TWO-YEAR PACT

Red Sox Select Maglie As Tutor For Pitchers

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston appointment of Sal Maglie as a two-year contract as pitching coach, Maglie was scheduled to attend a news conference in the hurler held in 1960-62.

Maglie will resign his $100,000 a year post as a deputy athletic commissioner in New York State to rejoin the Red Sox. Maglie, who posted a record of 119 victories and 62 losses in his pitching career, will be 49 in April. He was the Red Sox' original choice as pitching coach for 1965, but other duties prevented him from accepting the job and Mace Brown served an interim

Ashe Team Is Beaten

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Two American pairs advanced to the men's doubles quarter-finals of the Australian Tennis Championships Monday, but the pick-up team of Arthur Ashe and George MacCall was knocked out in the highlight match of a dull day.

Ashe, the Negro star from Los Angeles who has been a sensation on the Australian circuit this season, and MacCall, 47-year-old captain of the U.S. team, were beaten by Swedish veteran Lennart Bengelin and Richard Crealy of Australia 6-3, 6-5, 7-6.

Richey Called Home MacCall got into the competition when Ashe's original partner, Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., was called home to resume his high school studies.

MacCall and Richey, also teamed in the quarter-final, Emerson and Steve beat Eugene Rizzo and Barry Phillips Moore of Australia 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. Newcombe and Richey defeated Australians Bill Bowrey and Allan Lane 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

In a second round mixed doubles match, Ray Ruffels and Carol Sheroff of Australia eliminated Riosson and Carol Graebner 7-6, 6-2, 6-3.

The doubles action at White City attracted only about 200 spectators, but interest should pick up Tuesday with key singles matches.

Ashe, favored in men's play off his championships in four Australian state tournaments, has a third-round match against Ruffels. Fitzgibbon meets defending champion Emerson Graebner plays Owen Davidson if Australia and Riosson plays Bowrey.

Other pairings include Euche against Tom Okker of the Netherlands and Newcombe against Roger Taylor of Britain.

Three Gridders Receive Awards At Denver City

DENVER CITY—David Mitchell, Harold Shannan and Mike Mead were named outstanding football players for the past season and were honored here Monday night at the annual Denver City football banquet.

Quarterback Mitchell, 16, was named outstanding offensive and defensive back while Shannan, an end, was named outstanding offensive lineman and best all-around player. Mead also an end, was named top defensive lineman.

The awards were based on grade files throughout the season. Some 100 fans turned out at Intermediate School Cafeteria to honor the Mustangs who were district champions this past fall.

Bowyer Tipton, the master of ceremonies, introduced a headliner, Tom King, who in turn recognized his coaches and parents, giving special mention to each member of the varsity squad.

Tipton also introduced J. T. King, head football coach at Texas Tech, who was the main speaker for the occasion.

Bowyer club president Dave Mitchell introduced the other officers and made a few remarks. The boosters sponsored the banquet.

Coach King introduced quarterback Tom Wilson of the Bowyers, who was a special guest along with sporting goods salesman Bill Kelley of Lubbock.

SEEKS THIRD LOOP WIN

LCC Hosts Phillips

Locals Face League foe

The Lubbock Christian College Chaparrals go after their third Western Junior College Conference victory here tonight when they play host to South Plains.

LCC is currently tied for second place in the conference race with an 8-2 record.

For the year, LCC is 10-6 and Frank Phillips is 5-0.

Coach Lester Perrin probably will start Gene Hight, Robert Evans, Ernest Chessire, Jim Harv and Marvin Levels, but he'll have a new player on his roster for the first time, 6-6 Norman Hallmark of Hobbs. He became eligible at midterm.

LCC has posted loop wins over Howard County and New Mexico Military Institute, but lost a two-pointer to Amarillo. Frank Phillips has lost to South Plains, Odessa and Amarillo.

Probable starters for the visitors will be Danny Heil, Bob Brown, Curtis Whaley, Joe Shelton and Carl Reed. Heil is a former Pampa High standout while Shelton performed for Ranger High. Whaley is from Sanford, Ark.

Tippoff for the contest will be at 7:30 p.m. in the LCC Field house. The Chaparrals will play host to league-leading South Plains Friday night.

Evans is the leading scorer for the Chaparrals with a 26-point average, while Harv is averaging around 20 points.

Heil sparked Frank Phillips in his last two outings, scoring 30 and 28 points, but the Plainsmen lost to Odessa 97-77, although they had the most field goals, 79-8 and to Amarillo 81-74. For the year, he has scored 296 points.

Gainsborough, Hyperion, Pensacola, Ponder and Needles represent five generations of coaches. He played in the Los Angeles Open earlier this season, tying for 28th.

MEETS HOWARD COUNTY QUINT

South Plains Puts League Lead In Jeopardy Tonight

LEVELLAND (Special)—The Western Junior College Conference leaders, South Plains, will play host to arch rival Howard County in a big league game tonight.

Tippoff is set for 8 p.m. in the South Plains Gym.

Coach Bill Powell's Texans are 4-0 in league play, while Howard County, always tough, are 1-2. The Hawks must win this one if they hope to overtake the Texans in the race.

Powell will be without one of his starters, guard Ronnie Phillips, who hurt an ankle in the 75-70 win over Amarillo two weeks ago.

He'll be replaced by 6-8 Melvin Davis or 5-10 Charles Ledbetter.

Other starters will be 6-7 Dwight Haley, 5-11 Dennis Patton, 6-5 David Pape and 6-2 Vic Hines.

Probable starters for the Jayhawks will include 6-6 Curt Papp, Henry Willis and Larry Morris. Willis is from Levelland and Morris is from McAdoo.

Venturi Chosen For Ben Hogan Golfing Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Ken Venturi, who won the 1964 U.S. Open golf championship, and then fell victim to a numbing circulatory ailment, has been voted the Ben Hogan Trophy by the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association.

The trophy, given annually to a golfer who has conquered some serious handicap, will be presented at the group's dinner here Feb. 22.

At the same time Arnold Palmer will be presented the Golf Tee Award for his contribution to the game.

The San Francisco player underwent an operation at Mass. Clinic and then returned to the clinic. He played in the Los Angeles Open earlier this season, tying for 28th.

BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Denver City-Post Tilt Heads Area Cage Slate

By BILL HART, Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor. For most area basketball districts, league play is either half over or will be after tonight, but naming champions are long ways off.

However, Denver City and Post, tied for the 4-AA league lead, clash tonight in Post and the winner will have the inside track the rest of the way.

These two teams have battled it out for the championship for the past two seasons, but Denver City has won the title since 1960.

Another big game is slated in Andrews where the Mustangs are trying hard to snap Seminole's 12-year dominion. Andrews holds a two-game lead over Kermit, Ector and Seminole and tonight's action reaches the midway point.

Even with a victory tonight, Andrews can't breathe too easily because the Mustangs must go to Ector and Seminole in the second half.

District 4A now has two teams tied for the lead, Petersburg and Lorenzo, and both are in action tonight. Petersburg plays host to Spur, while Rails is at Lorenzo.

Rails knocked off Crosbytop Friday night in Crosbyton and prior to the contest, the Chiefs were tied with those two clubs for the lead.

Stanton, the 5-A leader, meets once-beaten Plains tonight in a top contest, while Seagraves, a one-time loser, tries to keep its hopes alive at O'Donnell, winless thus far in district play.

District 3-AA has two undefeated teams, Dimmitt and Abilene, thanks to the bad weather over the weekend. They were supposed to play Friday, but now the game is set for later this weekend.

Tonight, Dimmitt meets once-beaten Floydada, while Abilene's tactics off-beaten Lockney.

Two district leaders in the area, Shallowater and Meadow, are assured of staying right there because they are idle as far as loop foes are concerned.

Sands is the undisputed leader in 71-B and the Mustangs take on Loop tonight in the start of second half play.

Almost all of the weekend games were postponed because of the bad weather and some probably will be made up this weekend.

LSU Loses To Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Louisiana State's guns were hot Monday night but Kentucky's were hotter as the second-ranked Wildcats shot down the Tigers 111-85 in a Southeastern Conference basketball game.

Kentucky attacked early with sparkling performances by sophomore Thad Jaracz and junior Pat Riley, the game's leading scorers with 25 and 24 points, respectively.

Jaracz, with splendid moves under the basket, hit from close in while Riley was firing well from the outside.

It was the 13th straight victory for undefeated Kentucky and kept it in the SEC lead at 4-0. LSU is 4-10 and 0-5.

During the first half, the Wildcats shot 72.7 per cent from the field. The Tigers fired a respectable 51.4 per cent but trailed 66-43 at intermission.

In that hot shooting first half, Jaracz scored 21 points. LSU never threatened in the game.

Tom Thigpen led LSU with 23 points.

Texas Western Coach, Despite Success Of Miners, Is Stricken With The Jitters

By ED FITTE
DALLAS (UPI)—In the words of the team's publicist, Texas Western's basketball coach, Don Haskins, is "as nervous as a fireman with a busted hose."
That may be hard to picture about a man whose team is one of the nation's top undefeated major college powers, is ranked No. 6 nationally and boasts the third stingiest defense in the country.

But, Haskins insists there is every reason to be skittish about the last half of the season which gets under way Thursday night with an invasion of Tempe, Ariz., to meet the Arizona State Sun Devils.
First, Haskins feels his El Paso-based Miners are bound to be rusty since they have not played a game since Jan. 6 because of the long term examination layout.

Second, Haskins has never coached a team to victory at Tempe. One-fifth of the losses Haskins' teams have compiled in a 92-25 won-loss record have been suffered at Tempe, including three to the Sun Devils and two others in a tournament.
Third, Haskins isn't sure how his players will respond to foreign boards. Ten of the 12 victories have been on their home court. The other two were 88-42 and 86-49 triumphs over South Dakota and Nevada in a holiday tournament at Rock Island, Ill.

Thus, the Tempe game is just one of the frustrating dates that lie ahead for Haskins and his Miners. There are a half dozen others, several of which could prove real booby traps for his prospectors.
Texas Western plays at Colorado State Feb. 4, at tough New Mexico University Feb. 12, at fast-improving Pan American Feb. 19, at West Texas State Feb. 24, at New Mexico State March 2 and closes at Seattle March 5.
The remainder of the home schedule doesn't appear nearly as tough. West Texas State goes to El Paso next Saturday, New Mexico State Feb. 1, Arizona Feb. 10, Arizona State Feb. 14 and Colorado State Feb. 26.

The Miners have gotten where they are today without a standout individual. Their high scorer, Nevil (The Shadow) Shed, is averaging only 12.8 points per game, but Bob-Joe Hill is averaging 12.5, Orsten Artis 12.3 and David Latin 11.6. Harry Flournoy, the team's top rebounder with 12.6 per game, is hitting at a 9.8-point clip and halfpint (5-6) Willie Worsley at 9.5.
So, there is scoring depth throughout the club, and when the defense provides a 23.6 point cushion per game (79.4 to 55.8) there is less pressure on the offense.
"With this group we have now," Haskins says, "we don't have to stress the shooting game too strongly. They like to jack-it-up."

BILL AUSTIN ASSUMES ROLE

New Steelers Coach Cites Importance Of Discipline

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Bill Austin officially assumed his duties Monday as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers and let it be known that he considers discipline the key to a coming win in the winning football team.
The 37-year-old former Los Angeles Rams line coach repeatedly emphasized a need for discipline on Saturday. Austin was named Thursday night as well as Sunday after succeeding Mike Nixon, 43, who was fired Dec. 28 after finishing the 1965 season with a 2-12 record seventh and last in the Eastern Conference.
An experienced assistant coach, Austin brings with him six years of coaching in the college and professional ranks, including a six-year stint as line coach under Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi.

SAYS MANAGER HERMAN

Youth To Get Chance As Red Sox Rebuild

BOSTON (AP)—Manager Billy Herman, whose Boston Red Sox finished ninth in the American League in 1965, said Monday that youth will be given its chance in an effort to rebuild the club this year.
Herman said that only left fielder Carl Yastrzemski, runner-up for the batting title last year, and right fielder Tony Conigliaro, the league's home run king with 22, are assured of playing time when spring training camps open in Winter Haven, Fla., late next month.
"We have very few positions definitely set, especially as we're a ninth place club," the manager said.

"We'll have 44 players at camp, including three on the service list and Billy Conigliaro, Tony's brother, who is not on our major league roster. Any one of the 44 can make the club."
Herman said he plans to concentrate on defense in Florida training.
"I definitely want to strengthen our defense," he said.
There's no sense in finishing one-two in hitting and home runs and winding up ninth in the standings.
"Our while key is pitching and defense. And I'm sure the pitching just has to improve with a better defense."

In the standings:
The ratings are based on games played through Saturday, Jan. 22.
St. Joseph's, bumped by St. John's (N.Y.), fell from third to fifth behind Vanderbilt, which retained its No. 4 ranking. St. John's used the 82-72 upset as springboard to the top 20, landing in 15th position.
Bradley, battered by Cincinnati 85-69, plummeted to eighth and Kansas, an 83-75 victim of Nebraska, slipped to ninth. Cincinnati, 14th last week, vaulted into 10th place and Nebraska climbed from 18th to 13th.
Utah, winner of three games on a Hawaiian tour, increased its point total from 28 to 46 but nevertheless skidded from 10th to 12th.
Michigan and UCLA, the finalists in the 1965 NCAA championship, ranked 11th and 14th, respectively. Two more western teams, San Francisco and Brigham Young, were 16th and 17th.
Tulsa, the surprise leader of the Missouri Valley Conference, and Dayton were locked in a tie for 18th while another deadlock existed in 20th where Syracuse and Iowa held forth.
Duke, which drew the remaining 26 first-place nominations, returns to action on Saturday against its toughest Atlantic Coast Conference foe, North Carolina State. The Wolfpack, second in conference standings this season, upset Duke in the ACC tournament last year.
Kentucky, which met Louisiana State Monday night, faces Auburn on Saturday and Providence ends its "vacation" the same day versus Niagara. The basest team, however, will be Loyola. The Ramblers, after a Monday night game against Marshall, tackle UCLA and Kansas State on consecutive nights this weekend.
Seven coaches from each of the five geographical areas of the nation comprise the UPI board. Each week they vote on the top 10 teams with points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th place.

VETS RESENT BONUS BABES?

Cards Boss Denies Mutiny Almost Wrecked Grid Team

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Cardinals' football team Monday denied the players' charge that the team's top rebounder, Harry Flournoy, was being offered a $100,000 bonus. The team's top rebounder with 12.6 per game, is hitting at a 9.8-point clip and halfpint (5-6) Willie Worsley at 9.5.
So, there is scoring depth throughout the club, and when the defense provides a 23.6 point cushion per game (79.4 to 55.8) there is less pressure on the offense.
