SWEET N' SOUR By A. Dill

School vacation is only days ay now - in fact two more student work days and then back for final reports Thurs-day, and if the youngsters think they're the only ones looking forward to three months of freedom from lessons 'n such they should take another look at teacher - they're "hooman" too, ya know and after 9 months of pounding the 3r's into young of freedom from lessons 'n such they should take another look at teacher - they're "hooman" too, ya know and after 9 months of pounding the 3r's into young skulls they get a yen for time-out too. With vacation days so very near at hand, the leaders of our Brownie and Girl Scouts are sizedy at work on what prom-mes to be the finest day camp ever. A really well rounded pro-gram, covering all the scouting fields that little girls love so well, is planned so if you have a Brownie Scout in your family waw is the time to contact your op leader and find out the uetails. We had a most interesting let-ter in the mail this week from Mrs. G. Biggerstaff of Putnam.

We had a most interesting let-ter in the mail this week from Mrs. G. Biggerstaff of Putnam.

Mrs. C. Biggerstaff of Putnam, She sent clippings which tell of the history of Grand Saline, which celebrated its centennial celebration recently. Grand Sa-line is Mrs. Biggerstaffs old home. The articles tell of how John Jordan and A. T. McKee became interested in refining salt from the land near Grand Saline after watching the In-dians cook the brine and saline deposits which they called "ma-gic white isand." The Jordans and McKees set up business with two large iron kettles and from this humble beginning our Texas city of Grand Saline, Salt Capital of the South. This story is of particular interest to Mrs. is of particular interest to Mrs Biggerstaff because she has, as one of her most treasured pos-sessions, one of the old original salt kettles which the Jordans salt kettles which the Jordans and McKees used. Three of these kettles are now in existence two others mark the entrances to Grand Saline. Mrs. Bigger-staff's kettle is of 35 gallon cap-acity and she evaluates its age to be near one hundred and twenty-five years old if not old-er. We think many of you will be interested in this and we're sure that if you visit Mrs. Big-gerstaff she'll be happy to show you this valuable and historical old antique. We are indebted to Mrs. Biggerstaff for sharing this item with us.

Try the Extra Measure of a Wide-Track Drive!

Any tape measure will tell you this: Pontiac's stance (not the body) is wider than any other car. But driving a new Pontiac will tell you more. That's when you feel the extra measure of balance, control and sure-footed roadability of Wide-Track Wheels. The difference is so dramatic it's hard to imagine; yet it's easy to discover. Just ask for a Wide-Track Drive.

Mary Wallace Is

Honored At TJC

The Tyler Junior College, April 29, paid tribute to one of its outstanding educators. An assembly started the pro-gram off with "This Is Your Professional Life, Mary Wallace."

This was only part of Mary Wallace Day activities for Mrs. Mary Wallace director of guid-ance.

Mary Wallace Day orginated this year to honor Mrs. Wallace for organizing the Student Education Association on the TJC campus, "for generously contri-buting to the educational world, and for investing in human beings.

Ings." The program was climaxed by the presentation of an award "Sponsor -Emeritus of the Mary Wallace Chapter of SEA." The presentation was made by Miss La Nell Hanna, education major. The award was a wood plaque with an inlaid gold scroll.

She worked her way through

She personally helped seven tudents through TJC. Her assistance began with a young neighbor who wanted to but was financially unable to attend college. Another protege estab-lished the $100 Mary Wallace Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Wallace has many pro-fessional honors to her credit. She is listed in "Who's Who of the South and Southwest" and in the first "Who's Who of Ame-rican Women."

Mrs. Wallace's hobby is music. She organized the Tyler Civic Choir. She is also a member of the Marvin Methodist choir and the Crucia Club hole. the Coterie Club choir
