The proceeds from the sale of the aluminum collected will go for Civilian Defense and it is expected that this program will furnish, to industry several million pounds of aluminum which would otherwise be lost.

Mayor F. H. La Guardia, Director of Civilian Defense offers the following statement:

"The government needs all discarded or used aluminumware that can be spared without replacement from homes, institutions, business houses, and industrial plants. For example, if a housewife has some new or some old aluminumware and has other types of pots and pans and kettles which can use in place of the aluminum, she should donate all of the aluminumware that she can spare; but she should not give away anything that would require her to purchase new utensils.

The Baird Vol Fire Dept., working with the American Legion has constructed a large wire pen on the Courthouse Lawn and everyone is requested to see that your aluminum is placed in it. Should you be passed up by those who are collecting please bring your aluminum to the Court House.

THE BAIRD STAR

Established by W. E. Gilliland, December 8, 1887

Issued every Friday, Baird, Texas

Entered as Second Class Matter, December 8, 1887, at the Post Office in Baird, Texas, under the Act of 1879.

W. E. Gilliland, Editor and Publisher Hayne Gilliland, Asso. Editor

A noted Texas criminal lawyer was defending a man accused of stealing an automobile.

"This boy," the perspiring advocate said in conclusion, "is as innocent as a new-born baby; he is as pure as the dewdrop that sparkles at morn on the petals of a rose."

"While the jury was deliberating, the attorney went over to his hotel room to put on a fresh shirt and when he felt for his watch, he remembered that he had put it on the table in court so he would not speak beyond his allotted time. Hurrying back to the courtroom, he found only two or three spectators and the only man inside the rail was his client—and the watch wasn't there."

The lawyer said, "Bill, you thieving blankety-blank, give me my watch!"

(As a matter of fact, the attorney's partner had taken charge of the time-piece.)

All the testimony had been submitted in a murder trial out in West Texas. The judge told the lawyers for both sides:

"There will be no time limit for argument; each lawyer can take as long as he wishes."

One attorney, noted for his booming voice and his liking for speech-making, said:

"From here on, it's a battle of wits."

"You're half right," murmured this columnist, at the press table

Dr. Cox Says—

If your work is such that it causes excessive perspiration, add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take to help prevent heat cramps. This is advised by Dr. Geo. W. Cox State Health Officer, to prevent a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 95 degrees and above.

Laborers, mechanics, farmers and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as high as 40 to 50 grams of salt during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to their diet.

Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, tablet salt may be added to each drink of water. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating. Alcoholic drinks should be avoided.

Heat cramp is characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, haedache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate; body salt losses occur with out the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp.

W. T. C. C. Defense Contact Service

Pools of West Texas manufacturers, fabricators and machine shops for cooperative participation in national defense contracts are being organized at several key points, said announcement today by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The WTCC is the assisting agency to the Defense Contract Service of the Office of Production Management in organizing its territory into defense industrial areas. Eight of these have been formed to date and pools are in active formation in four, heading up in the area headquarters cities of Whitha Falls, San Angelo, Brownwood and Waco.

The Defense Contract Service is taking its message direct to industrialists, large and small, of the Eleventh Federal Reserve district whom it is seeking to actively place in the defence supply picture. Last week A. J. Langford DCS district manager, held area meetings at San Angelo, Brownwood and Waco, to all of which he was accompanied by Max Bentley, WTCC activities director. Three additional meetings have been scheduled at Abilene, on Wednesday, July 23; Lubbock, Thursday the 24th; and Amarillo, Friday the 25th.

These three meetings originally were scheduled for next week, but postponement for one week was forced when Langford was notified of the critical illness of aged mother, Mrs. J. J. Langford of Conyers, Ga. The DCS executive took a plane for Georgia following his Waco meeting.

DCS Wants Pools— More than 100 factory heads attended last week's West Texas meetings. Keen interest was expressed in the plan as revealed by Langford for assisting small operators, as well as the big prime contractors, to get their plant facilities before the procurement agencies through which the contracts clear. Langford told the group meetings that this can be best achieved through pooling.

In fact, Defense Contract Service desires the organization of pools and their members individually in touch with the letting agencies and with prime contractors throughout the nation.

"In the Eleventh Federal district," Langford said, "we are organized for helping you to help your country and at the same time help yourselves.

Unless you get yourselves placed as essential cogs in the defense machine you may very soon find yourselves out of business as normal commercial operators. This will be because the raw materials needed in the national defense are going under priorities classification, with many materials in common use already on a ration basis. Soon it will be impossible to get these unless the operator applying for a priorities rating can show that he is engaged in, or is bidding on, a defense contract."

How DCS Will Aid— The pooling arrangement will help meet this problem. As pools are organized and their rosters and listed facilities with the DCS district office, the information is passed on to the various procurement agencies and they are placed on bidders' lists. In turn, information on contracts awarded or upon which bids are being asked will go to each pool. In Langford's Dallas office a priorities division has been lately created, headed by J. B. Crockett, and this division will assist bidders in procuring priorities ratings on supplies they needed.

"Our whole efforts," Langford said, "is to contract manufacturers who might be prime or sub-contractors and then to put them in touch with the procurement agencies. We know there are few jobs that can be done by one contractor. The prime contractor needs the sub-contractor, and we are trying to get them together. Our card index system lists both the items of equipment needed on pending jobs and all concerns having any of that equipment.

"Pools can be large or small. Organization of small pools does not call for heavy spending. The goal is to find the facilities and the operators who can serve if given the opportunity, and that is the job of Defense Contract Service.

All the information needed by DCS from pool operators will be listed on a new type of questionnaire which Langford's office has prepared and, during the week, will send out to all advisers and co-advisers in the industrial areas also to local chambers of commerce within these areas. Managers of these local chambers lately have been designated as assistant to the area co-advisers. In turn, the questionnaires will be passed on to the plant operators, filled in by them, and sent to Langford's office.

Several Kinds of Vitamins. We know there are several kinds of vitamins, and that each has its own specific function in the body. They help children to grow, give endurance and stamina, stimulate appetite, build body resistance, and have other values.

Dr. W. W. Melton Touring Texas

Dr. W. W. Melton, Chairman of the Texas Promotional Committee on Baptist war work, is touring Texas in behalf of the special campaign to raise three hundred thousand dollars in the South. The 3,250 Baptist churches in Texas have asked to raise $35,000.00 on Sunday, July 27th.
"Texas Baptist began a movement in behalf of the soldiers in the fall of 1940. Dr. A. C. Miller was employed to direct the soldiers' work. He has done his work superbly and will continue to lead Texas in her soldier work. Texas Baptists have always been interested in their army camps and have been constantly doing religious work among the soldier. At this time 7 of our Texas Baptist preachers are employed to do religious work in the army camps. This work is directed by Dr. Miller" exclaimed Dr. Melton.

"When Texas launched the campaign in behalf of soldiers' work a financial budget of $50,000.00 was adopted. Of that amount, $27,000.00 has been raised. Texas Baptists are cooperating with Southern Baptist in raising the $300,000.00 a part of which will provide the necessary funds to complete the program for soldiers work in Texas", Dr. Melton said. Committees have been appointed in each of the 17 districts to promote the soldiers work and to aid in raising the $35,000.00 in Texas Sunday July 27th.

Dr. W. W. Melton, General Secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, is chairman of the State Promotional Committee and is leading the campaign to raise the $35,000.00 Other members of the State Promotional Committee are A. D. Foreman, Sr. Houston; Harlan J. Matthews, Marshall; Mrs. E. S. Lyon and Dr. Wallace Bassett, Dallas.

Loyalty Wins WTU Lineman National Valor Award

Lineman J. B. Handley of Childress shows how ordinary fence wire was used for climbing hooks in emergency that won national honors.

Loyalty to his job today is worth $150 in unexpected cash to J. B. Handley, lineman for the West Texas Utilities at Childress, who thus capitalized on the "big blizzard" of February 16-17, 1940.

Handley was selected for the Claud L. Matthews Valor Award of 1940 at the annual convention of the Edison Electric Institute in Buffalo—an award made each year for the outstanding performance of valor in the United States electric industry. A check for $150 and a handsome scroll, commemorating his restoration of lights and power on the Quitaque-Turkey electric line during a severe wind and snow storm, were presented to him at the quarterly safety meeting in Childress.

Nominated for the honor by WTU officers and fellow workmen, Handley, according to the citation, "on his own initiative and at great personal risk patrolled 10 miles of transmission lines, improvised means for climbing ice-coated poles, made necessary poletop repairs and restored electric service to the towns of Quitaque and Turkey . . ."

Handley and two other linemen, Bob Adams and Jay Hunter, were doing routine repair work on the Quitaque-Turkey line, February 16, 1940, when the blizzard struck. They were instructed to return to Childress where they were headed when the line went out. They then tackled the job of making repairs.

Taking turns walking a mile across farm and pasture to patrol the line, while the other two followed the road in a pickup truck, Handley, during his turn, was isolated when the truck was stuck in a snow drift and unable to meet

SAVING MONEY With Cotton Bags

A trim and tailored utility dress can be made from laundered Cotton Flour, Sugar, Feed or Meal Bags. The shirt-waist frock illustrated is pretty enough to dress up in any afternoon and yet comfortable enough to be worn doing the heavier washing chores. No trimming is necessary—but rick rack or colored bias tape will add color and effectiveness. With a little variation the same pattern can be used for a number of dresses. The material in Cotton Bags can be dyed or tinted to any shade you desire—and a little starch makes it crisp and smart.

Other Cotton Bag Sewing Ideas are illustrated in a free booklet. Write to National Cotton Council, Box 18, Memphis, or Textile Bags, 100 N. LaSalle St., Chicago.

Leave Your Guests Alone

CELEBRITIES like to be left alone before a performance. That's the fundamental rule to remember if your club is to have the responsibility of looking after some traveling dignitary during the coming season, says Greta Palmer in the September Good Housekeeping.

In an article directed especially to women's clubs, she points out that the average lecturer is living a busy, hurried life and the kindest gesture of all is to give him a chance to rest in a nice hotel room until the time for his performance.

Certain "don'ts" and "do's" should be engraved on the mind of every woman who comes into even the most fleeting contact with a celebrity, says Miss Palmer.

Don't let a club busybody corral the visitor and monopolize him. Don't let the local papers send a reporter who is so inexperienced that he will misquote the speaker to make a good story.

Coffee Making is An Art

"WHY can't we have coffee like this at home?"

If you've been on the receiving end of an unkind cut like this when dining out, there are some steps you may take to avoid its being repeated. Men who otherwise are indifferent to flavor and quality in food can be the severest critics when it comes to coffee. Good coffee making is as much an art as cooking itself, declares A. N. Clark and P. W. Punnett in the September Good Housekeeping.

A good blend?—one that suits your taste is the best starting point. Each generally consists of a mixture of coffees from various parts of the world. Different kinds have different flavors, and by proportioning these, the roaster gets the distinctive flavor of his brand.

And coffee, to be good, should be fresh. It should be no more than two weeks old when purchased, and kept around the house only a week. For consistently good coffee the same measurements should be used every time. In making iced coffee, use only half the usual amount of water, because the mixture will be diluted when you pour it over the ice.

Your coffee pot, no matter what kind it is, should always be kept immaculate in order to turn out a good brew. Cloth filters should be replaced frequently, and the metal plating inside should be replated at intervals to avoid a metallic taste.

Buried City to Give Up New Treasures

Spring, coming early to the picturesque Kentucky hills, has signalled the renewal of work at King Mounds, Wickliffe, Ky., where archeologists digging among the remains of an ancient buried city expect this year to unearth the greatest cache of treasures yet found at this site, the metropolis of an unknown and forgotten people. Experimental testing, according to Col. Fain White King, state archeologist, who with his wife, Blanche Busey King, ethnologist (inset) is in charge of the work, has disclosed a large mysterious area at the Signal Mound, high point of ground commanding the expanse of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers. Here, more than a year ago, was found the remains of a single individual, evidently a man of high rank in the ancient city. It is the hope that the newly located area may contain his complete personal and family treasures, buried with him as was the custom in that civilization as with the pharaohs of Egypt.

Work of excavating the buried city was started nine years ago. Since then, almost 200,000 artifacts have been discovered. While the work progresses, thousands of visitors annually pass through the site to view these remains of a lost civilization—their burial tombs undisturbed for centuries, their dwellings, their implements, their treasures, jewels and ornaments, even the white ashes of their ceremonial fires—which science has discovered and preserved. It is estimated that complete excavation will take another 10 to 20 years after which it will be housed under permanent stone buildings to preserve its record for education and posterity.
