

REPORT . . .

From Washington

By Armed Forces Press Service

The 376th Heavy Bombardment Group Veterans' Association will hold its fourth annual reunion at Detroit July 27, 28, 29 and 30. This Group was one of the most decorated for World War II service in the USAF, holding 14 battle stars and three Presidential citations.

A "flying laboratory," a specially-equipped B-29 capable of testing jet engines, radar, armament, and other aircraft appurtenances while in flight, will be a feature of the land-sea-air demonstration to be held at Bolling AFB, Washington, D. C., Armed Forces Day, May 20.

President Truman has nominated Archibald S. Alexander for promotion from Assistant Secretary of the Army to Undersecretary. During World War II, Mr. Alexander served in Army intelligence, and as supply chief for Headquarters, Seventh Army, and the Sixth Army Group.

Fewer than 60 of 2,000 top-three-grade Army non-coms in the European Command who were eligible for discharge because of pay disparity under the Career Compensation Act of 1949, requested release.

Naval and Coast Guard personnel applying for the metal pendant authorized for wear with the Navy Commendation Ribbon have been advised that the pendant is not yet available for distribution.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress to increase the number of Air Force three and four-star generals from 17 to 27.

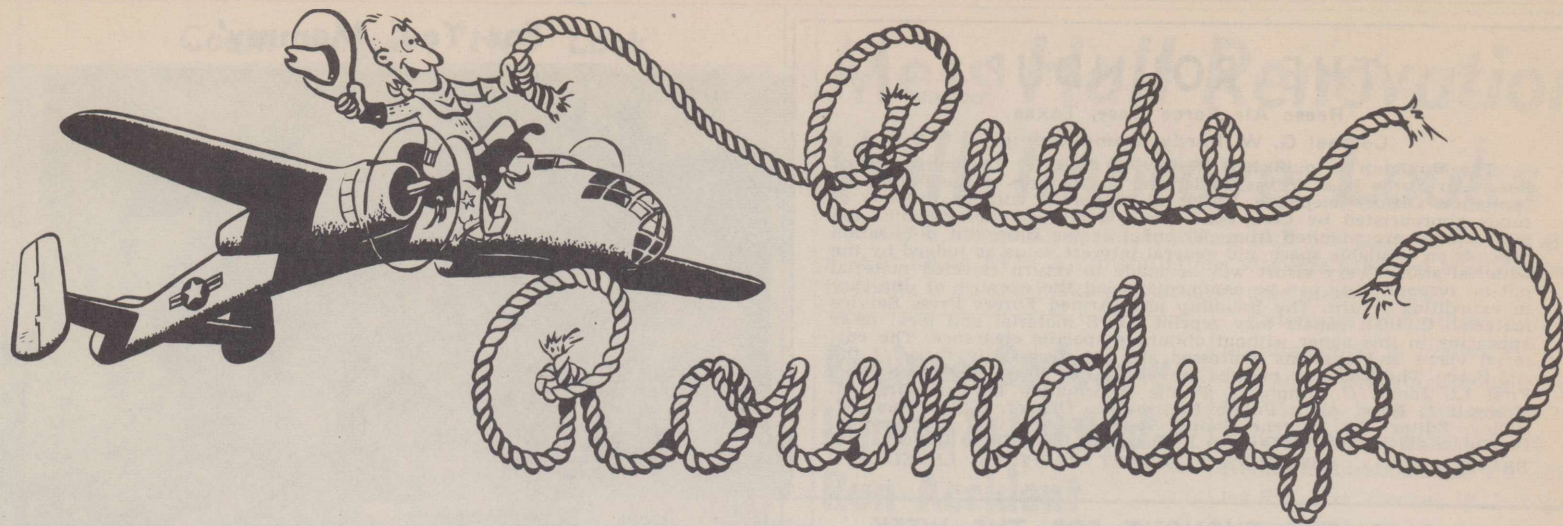

The House has passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing fliers who participated in the Berlin airlift to accept decorations from France and England.

The Army will make pay adjustments for two classes of personnel subject to possible loss of allowances due to operation of the Career Compensation Act. Those affected are personnel whose saved pay status was terminated and whose family allowances were discontinued because of entitlement to subsistence and quarters allowance after October 1, 1949; and those who lost entitlement to allowances when they ceased to qualify, but remained in saved pay status.

New Citizen

54 Cadets Given Diplomas And Wings At Ceremonies In Base Theater

This morning 54 Aviation Cadets of Class 50-B reached their goal of commissioned officers and pilots in the United States Air Force after one year of intensive work in academic and flying training. They were presented their diplomas by Colonel George W. Pardy at graduation ceremonies held in the Base Theater at 0900 hours.

History Of Class 50-B's Training

By 2nd Lt. Glenn M. Niewald, USAF

It was just one year ago when the orders we had been so impatiently awaiting arrived instructing us to report to our basic training stations. As various means of transportation converged on our destinations, many cadet friendships were already in the making.

After arriving at our training stations, all of us being with a few years of each other in age, we found some combat veterans, some just out of college and others looking for greener pastures. Yes, what a memorable day the first one was and every day following for the next twelve months.

Soon after the general routine of processing, signing of papers, etc., the work towards our present goal began. We met the men that were to teach us to fly and the academic instructors to teach us the background of flying. That first airplane ride for orientation purposes finally came around in a couple of weeks, and for a lot of us, it was the "first," for others, just a change from civilian to military flying. It lasted on 30 to 45 minutes and was intended to show us the local area and the feel of a real airplane.

For the next month it was really work, but fun too—learning stalls, spins, simulated forced landings, all in preparation for the first solo. That was the big day when the instructor got out of the back and said, "It's all yours— (Continued on Page 4.)"

William C. Becker, Thomas J. McKernan, Lloyd D. Taylor and Carl L. Stoneking were named as the four distinguished cadets of Class 50-B at Reese to receive regular commissions as second lieutenants.

Doctor William H. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian church, Oklahoma City, Okla., delivered the graduation address after being introduced to the cadets, the staff members and guests, by Colonel Pardy.

After Colonel Pardy's closing remarks to Doctor Alexander and the introduction of the staff members, Captain Clyde W. Bradley, Jr., commanding officer of the Pilot Training Squadron (Mil.) stepped forward to the center of the stage and called the graduates forward to receive their wings and diplomas.

As each cadet came forward to the stage he was presented his diploma by Colonel Pardy and received congratulations. Then they were presented their wings by Major Richard P. Haney, commanding officer of Section II and Captain H. W. McEver, operations officer of Section I.

Members of the graduating class and their command assignments are:

South Plains Cub Scouts Visit Base Today And Tomorrow

Five hundred Cub Scouts, accompanied by their Den Mothers and Dads, will visit Reese this afternoon and tomorrow morning. A short tour, lasting about one and a half hours, of various base activities is planned.

The tour will consist of a trip through the flight lines and give the air-minded Scouts a chance to see some of the large and small planes used by the Air Force for training purposes. Aircraft on display will be T-6's, TB-25's, and C-47's. In addition they'll see how they're torn down and rebuilt by maintenance crews.

Other points of interest they'll see are the operation and dispatch section and the field area in general. It is expected that an adult will accompany each four Cub Scouts.

This afternoon packs 1, 3, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 from Lubbock will begin their tour at 1615 hours. Packs 13, 17, 28, 29, 36, 88, 103 and 201 from Abernathy, Clayton, Carter, and New Deal will make their tour at 0945 hours Saturday morning.

MANAGEMENT THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The individual who has not planned an operation is like the soldier in battle without a weapon — "Planning is essential to all operations."

KADET KORRAL

50-B's CLASS BOOK

Our story is not one of personalities but one of teamwork and an objective. We were often at odds as to how some part of the book should be presented. We of the staff represent the states of California, Florida, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Kansas and Connecticut. Obviously the geographical lines were present though not prevalent.

But all the minor differences were resolved by the objective. Ours was always in mind whenever we went to work on the book. The objective—to produce a classbook outstanding in every respect to that of any previous class; to utilize novel and original ideas in the method of presentation; more briefly to give 50-B and Reese AFB a reputation for originality and freshness of viewpoint—a book of which we can all look back on with a pleasant memory.

And so, with our objective in mind, we chose to dedicate our book not to Lt. Augustus F. Reese, but rather to that spirit which made him what he was today.

The staff of "RAMP OUT", signifying completion of a mission, is proud to have worked together to produce the class book of all class-books!!

TEXAS TECH vs. 50-B — OR — WHICH WAY IS FIRST BASE?

Not that our teams were confused by those dazzling college boys—we just couldn't see the ball and are now wondering if the ump saw it either! How can you call 'em if you can't see 'em? Well—we've heard of worse scores—11-1 and 8-2. Bet we could whip those college girls (if we broke their crutches)!

MORE CLASS BOOKS COMING

CRESWELL and staff editing 50-C's class book—they say it's well on the way with continued new originality and promises to be one of the best.

50-D's book edited by GUNDERSON and staff also is under way. These two books will go to press at the same time.

FAREWELL TO 50-B

Exactly six months and 12 days after our illustrious class descended on REESE AFB, we are to take leave of the "fair" South Plains. Indeed, few of us will be "lucky" enough to see the old Lone Star State for quite a while. Our TOKYO and AFRICA bound friends may truly weep over that one. However, methinks it will be enhancing to one's education to see the "other half" of the UNITED STATES now that we have seen TEXAS. (This could go on all day!)—Who said it is difficult to get out of Training Command—a vicious rumor circulated by the ball-and-chain bearers at SACRAMENTO! Careful men—those California clouds have hard centers where you are going!—"God's Country, here I come" (end quote by SAUNDERS, PORTER, POTTS, SMITH, GULDEMOND et al). How lucky can you get? — We're also "sorry" for the Wakiki Beach crew—all that sky and water with nothing to do all day but fly, travel, sunbathe, swim, gape at hula girls, night club life, boating and fishing! Such a deathly bore this mortal life can be. Well anyway, it has been a great experience to see this program thru. We're just a little stuck on ourselves for having attained our goal, and the first and last words you hear from us after MAY 12 will be good wherever it comes from. May our successors be as fortunate as we.

"... DEAR MOM, I'M SITTING OUTSIDE THE BARRACKS WRITING THIS LETTER....."

'For You, Mommy'

Mother

Who is it teaches at her knee
Who is it knows no hour free
From daily worries, fusses, cares
Yet calls them "blessings" in her prayers.

Who is it spends her life in toil
Who is it has the right to spoil
A little child from cradle days
Until he grows to manly ways.

Who is it seeks no earthly gain
Who is it suffers all the pain
But smiles in tears or pride or joy
And calls man "just a little boy."

Who is it grows to age with grace
Who is it no one can replace
For when she's gone there is no other
Yes... She's the angel man calls Mother.

Varied Educational Services Available At AI&E Office

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles from the AI&E office about educational opportunities available to officers and airmen.)

The following services are available through the Base AI&E office:

1. USAFI high school level GED test: In most states a diploma or certificate of high school equivalency may be given to a serviceman who passes this test. The Air Force recognizes this test in lieu of a diploma for military purposes only.

2. USAFI college level GED test: The American Council on Education recommends that individuals successfully completing this test be given 24 semester hours of college credit.

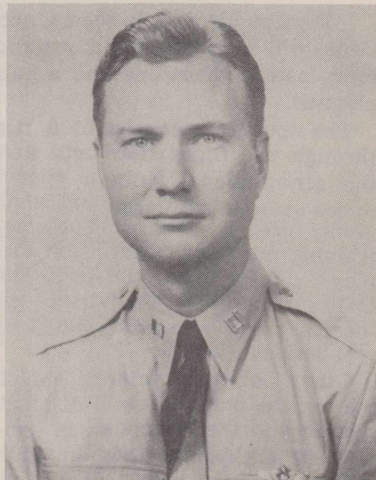

3. USAFI correspondence courses may be taken by military personnel with the initial fee of $2.00 which will permit any number of courses to be taken. Courses must be taken consecutively.

4. College correspondence courses: The Armed Forces has 49 colleges and universities under contract offering correspondence courses to military personnel. The Government pays the lesson service while the individual pays the enrollment fee which varies with the course and the school.

5. Group study classes: These classes are organized for operation during off-duty hours in high school and elementary subjects using USAFI texts. The classes cost nothing.

Information on other services may be secured from the Base AI&E office.

Captain Wynkoop

Captain Noah N. Wynkoop was separated from active duty Wednesday and transferred to the Air Force Reserves where he has a mobilization assignment performing the same duties that he did here, that of personnel services officer.

He will devote full time to his business in Lubbock, the Ming Tree restaurant on Broadway.

While overseas in Korea the captain served with the American Military Government in charge of the importation of American food at Pusan, a Korean port and the redistribution of the food to the Korean Provinces.

Captain Wynkoop said: "I will be happy to see my friends from Reese when they come to Lubbock and invite them to visit the Ming Tree."

Sergeant Retires

Master Sergeant Bill Robinson, consolidated mess steward, recently retired at the end of 20 years, 2 months, and 10 days service. Sergeant Robinson was connected with food service throughout his military career. Before coming to Reese he was a food service technician at Barksdale AFB.

"YOUR CHAPEL"

"BEING A MOTHER"

Every woman who bears a child is not a Mother. For a woman to become a Mother she must measure up to a certain standard. (This applies to Fathers also).

Though God has given us power over the child, we must not abuse that power. We must remember that our children are, in a particular manner, pieces of ourselves and therefore ought to be governed not with harshness and indifference but with great tenderness and love. How often I have seen children driven from their homes because of the lack of tenderness and love.

Then the Mother and Father must also be patient with the child. After all we were children once but we never tried the patience of anyone, we were always perfect little Angels. We never asked crazy questions like: "What makes the birds fly?" "Where does the sun go down at night?" "Who made me?" No, we were born with all the answers and never asked or worried anyone, therefore, even as we were perfect children we want our children to be perfect. We can readily see the fallacies in this reasoning for as we think of the great amount of patience expended by Mother on us it behooves all of us to take this virtue of Motherhood more seriously, and have patience with the children.

Then last but not least it is a Mother's place to bring them up well in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. It is a great duty to bring the children up with a good education but don't cut their education short with only the secular side, but also remember the religious side of their education. It has often been said and no truer words ever spoken than: "Train a child in the way it should go and it will never depart therefrom."

So Mothers, and Fathers, too, measure yourselves by these and see where you stand. For where there is love, tenderness, understanding, appreciation and patience in the home surrounding the child the phrase: "Juvenile delinquent" will pass from our vocabulary and then true Motherhood will be in vogue again.

Jared A. Walker,
Chaplain (Capt.) USAF,
Ass't. Wing Chaplain.

Cooks Acquire 'New Look'

The Mess Stewards at Reese, M/Sgt. C. H. Steen, T/Sgt. J. H. Harvey, and T/Sgt. C. N. Richards, model the new, white summer uniforms that will be in use in Reese mess halls. The "new look" has not only hit the mess hall but the mess personnel also. First cooks, chief bakers, and chief butchers will wear the same uniform also.

Consolidated Mess Stewards Are Well Trained In Food Service

Good chow doesn't just happen; it's made! And the personnel at Reese's Consolidated Mess Hall have had considerable training and skill in preparing appetizing meals. The cooks work in the kitchen under the direction of three qualified mess stewards who have plenty of know-how. They are M/Sgt. C. H. Steen, mess steward; T/Sgt. John H. Harvey, and T/Sgt. Cecil N. Richards, assistant mess stewards.

Sergeant Harvey just took the eight-week mess management course at the 4th Army Food Service School at Fort Sam Houston and graduated 28 April as honor student with a 93 plus average, for which he was presented with a beautiful carving set by the Base Commandant. While in school he studied mess supervision in connection with the new Air Force career program.

Last summer he attended the ten-week hotel and restaurants, chefs and bakers courses combined at St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio, Texas. While attending the Air Force sponsored school, he learned the duties of the chef and chief baker in hotel management.

Sergeant Harvey, whose hometown is Shreveport, La., came here from Barksdale, where he was assistant mess steward of the 3500th Supply Sq. At present he is responsible for the physical operation of the consolidated mess during the shift he's working.

He's been in service nine years, eight of which he worked either as a cook or mess steward. He served in the Pacific in 45 and at Adak, in the Aleutian chain, in '47 and '48.

Another man with considerable experience in food service in Alaska is Sergeant Richards. He was mess steward at Camp Naknek, an air base 302 miles from Anchorage where all supplies had to be flown in, for 61 months. While there he fed such VIP's as Generals Cannon, Lemay, and Craig.

The sergeant has been in service ten years, all the while in food service. He started in as a KP and worked his way up. In 1941 he attended Cooks and Bakers' School at Omaha, Nebraska.

Before coming to Reese he was assistant mess steward at Barksdale's Consolidated Mess. Now he takes care of all the paper work at Reese's Consolidated Mess.

Since 1946 Sergeant Steen has worked in food service, most of the time attending schools. He studied mess management and food service supervision and then assumed duties as post supervisor at Fort Lewis, Washington. Then he went to the 4th Army Food Service School at Fort Sam Houston, where he was assistant commandant and training officer.

While there he resigned his commission as captain and enlisted as a master sergeant. He then attended a ten-months' Advanced Food Service Course at Camp Lee, Virginia. Subjects covered in the course included nutrition, proper preparation and service of food in consolidated and unit type messes, market center operations, and sales commissary operations.

Next he was transferred to Barksdale AFB, where he worked in the food service supervisor's office as a food service technician. He came here and has been working as mess steward since last December.

Sergeant Steen has 15 years in the service, having served during the war as assistant G-3 (plans and operations) officer for the 99th Infantry Division in England, France, Belgium, and Germany. For his services he received two purple hearts, a silver star and a bronze star.

Negro Hostess Club Formed For Airmen

A meeting was held recently in the home of Mrs. Corrine Fair, 2007 Avenue A, Lubbock, to organize a hostess club for the Negro airmen stationed at Reese Air Force Base.

The name chosen for the club was Skyway and it will have the same primary function as the Hub-Ettes of the Lubbock Service Organization, that is to provide hostesses for dances given for the airmen.

Ladies attending the meeting were Mrs. Marjorie McHaney, Mrs. Maggie Hatten, Mrs. Mareta Briggs, Mrs. Ivey Walker, Mrs. C. E. Fair, Miss Nell R. McQuinney, Mrs. Ora Lee Paul, Miss Leona Johnson, Mrs. Mary Simmons, Mrs. DeAlva Herod, Mrs. H. M. Brown, and Mrs. Bessie Bascus.

Mess Hall Renovation Will Improve Looks

A dim, dismal Consolidated Mess Hall will soon be a thing of the past at Reese AFB! Air Installations workers are now busily engaged in fixing it up and making it an enjoyable place to eat.

Extensive rehabilitation and decoration work is underway under the supervision of Colonel George W. Pardy, base commander. A committee consisting of Lt. Col. Kenneth Rosebush, Lt. Col. Charles Eld, Mrs. George W. Pardy, Lt. Arthur Blakeslee, and Lt. Douglas Clevenger are directing the improvement activities. Lt. Col. Galen Price, ABG commander, is also enthusiastically working on the project.

At the present time work is in progress on the East Wing. According to Air Installations, the plan is to seal in the interior walls of both wings, then paint and decorate them. All interior walls will be sealed with sheetrock and plywood. Sheetrock will be used on the upper portion of the walls and plywood will be used for the base. The walls will be painted in a two-tone color scheme of beige and coral.

Some tables have already been sanded and will soon be painted. It is hoped to eventually install four-man tables. The floor has been waxed and polished, and beautiful drapes will add the finishing touch to brighten the interior.

All mess hall kitchen equipment has already been painted and future plans call for painting the kitchen interior white. Another future project will consist of overlaying the kitchen floor with concrete.

Engineer Seriously Injured In Hit And Run Accident

Private James B. Spivey, 809th Engineers was seriously injured Sunday afternoon at Plainview, Texas, when he was thrown from his motorcycle by a hit-and-run driver.

The accident occurred near the intersection of Columbia and Ninth Street where he was hit by a 1941 Chevrolet and thrown 89 feet against a tree and then on the rebound was thrown against another tree.

Private Spivey was taken to the Plainview hospital where he underwent a spinal operation to remove pressure resulting from a back injury which had caused a paralysis from the hips down.

Hospital authorities reported that his condition was satisfactory after the operation.

Also injured in vehicle accidents in the past week were PFC Ralph G. Collins, 3500th Supply Group and Staff Sergeant Glendle L. Miller, 3501st Maintenance Squadron.

Gen. Bradley's Ex-First Sergeant

M/Sgt. Arthur W. Daniels, prison sergeant for Reese, checks a roster of prisoners under his jurisdiction. Sergeant Daniels, with the 3500th PTW since 1946, will be part of the honor guard that will meet General Omar N. Bradley's plane when it arrives at Reese on 22nd May. Sergeant Daniels was General Bradley's first sergeant in the ETO from 1944-1945.

Air Police Sergeant Is Former Top Kick For Chief Of Staff

Monday, 22 May will mark the date of the first Armed Forces Day to be held and it will have an even greater significance to M/Sgt. Arthur W. Daniels, prison sergeant at Reese. General Omar N. Bradley, chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, and his old commander, will arrive in Lubbock to deliver the principal address for Armed Forces Day.

Sergeant Daniels was first sergeant for Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 12th Army Group, General Bradley's wartime command, from January 1944 until March 1945 when he returned to the United States. In the same year he enlisted in the Air Force.

A member of the 3500th PTW since March 1946, Sergeant Daniels was part of the Honor Guard that met General Bradley's plane when he landed at Barksdale last year. Noticing the sergeant, General Bradley stopped his inspection of the guard to shake hands with him. As Sergeant Daniels later put it, "It was one of the proudest moments of my life."

Sergeant Daniels also stated that General Bradley is one of the most liked generals in the service today.

A native of Conway, South Carolina, Sergeant Daniels entered the Army in 1938 and was almost immediately assigned to Hawaii. Returning to the United States in the same year, he was stationed at various posts until his European assignment during the war.

He is presently residing on the base with his wife and family.

Capt. Fanyo Given New Assignment

The Staff Communications Officer at Reese, Captain William B. Fanyo, has been placed on orders to go to Newfoundland, the adjutant's office announced this week.

Captain Fanyo has been with the 3500th PTW since September, 1949, when he came from Scott AFB, Illinois. A native of Peoria, Illinois, he graduated from flight training in 1943. He has been awarded the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with battle star, and the American Theatre ribbon.

take it around the pattern a couple of times."

For a moment we had to stop and think "Is he kidding?" But believe it or not, that was the easiest decision of all our training. The next happiest moment came up shortly thereafter when our buddies tossed us into the pool, or tied us into a chair in the shower, or held us down and put the hose down our backs!

But really the work had just started. Now we had to learn how to fly in all conditions and positions—landings were practiced—crosswind, power on, power off, 360 overhead, 180 side approach, etc. Proficient instrument flying was accomplished—then the final check-rides and graduation from basic training.

We separated from our compatriots of the preceding six months and were sent to points of advanced training; some to fighter schools the rest to multi-engine bases.

Upon our arrival here at Reese, we met new fellow cadets who came from other basic stations than where we had trained. Flying continued in the T-6 for the next 12 weeks. Then we were introduced to the TB-25, the plane we had long awaited. Our instructor did not sit behind us any longer—he was right there beside us and could show and point out our mistakes much more easily. We could scarcely believe that the old "Iron Monster" T-6 had prepared us for this twin bird. However, after most of us had conquered the TB-25 in less time than it had taken in the basic counterpart, we became aware that our reasons for requesting multi-engine had been well founded.

Time was never allowed to drag during our stay here, and as a consequence, we all feel now as though we're not as well acquainted with our surroundings as we might be. The light that marked the goal shown brightly ahead of us and by keeping our eager eyes peeled on it, we have at least reached the point where we may pause to look back and say, "Now what was so hard about that?"

Softball Intra-Squadron Play Starts Monday; Five Diamonds To See Plenty Of Action

More than 15 teams will take the field starting Monday to begin this year's softball season at Reese Air Force Base. With games scheduled at 1500 and 1800 hours, the five diamonds will be in full operation, Monday through Thursday.

A meeting of all squadron softball managers was held Monday in the Base Gym and minor items such as furnishing of plate umpires, game balls and other equipment were brought up before the group. S/Sgt. E. L. Lewis, personnel services athletic director, stated that this promises to be one of the finest softball seasons he has had the pleasure of working.

Plans call for two games per week for each team and a total of 21 games before season play is ended in September. At that time the top four teams in each of the two leagues will have Shaughnessy play-offs to determine league champions. The winners of the league play-offs will play for the base championship.

Determined to be the softball champions this year as well as to have some wholesome recreation, the 3501st Maintenance Squadron has started playing outside games to get in practice. So far they have won eight games by lopsided scores.

The base softball team is still in the process of formation and there will be more news out on the team in the next week.

The women's teams are practicing each day to get in shape for the opening of the Lubbock league.

Meanwhile the Aviation Cadets have been taking on the Texas Tech teams and the rest of the squadron teams have been playing each other in preparation for the day when the "Ump" will say, "Play Ball!"

3502 Maint. Team Wins Volleyball Championship

The 3502nd Maintenance Squadron continued its dominance over intra-squadron sports with its recent capture of the Base Volleyball Championship from the B. Cadets.

This was the second meeting between the two teams for a base title and each time the 3502nd team has come out on top. They came from behind during the basketball season to cop that title.

Under the direction of M/Sgt. James A. Barlow, the 3502nd team had a clean record for the volleyball season, never losing a game and winding up with a 24-0 slate.

In regular volleyball competition the winning team had to win two games out of three to take the set and in championship play three games out of five. The 3502nd team never played more than two games of a set during regular play and no more than three during the finals.

Safe!

New York Giant's Alvin Dark dives back to first base when Braves pitcher Warren Spahn tried to pick him off at a recent game in Boston. Braves' first sacker Earl Torgeson gets the ball too late to make the tag. Boston won 2-1 in the 10th frame.
