

Report From Washington

GI Bill Aids Millions

Washington (AFPS) — About 7,758,000 veterans of World War II have received educational or job aid from the government, the Veterans Administration has reported. Each veteran has benefited by about $1,500, the average cost for his training under the Veterans Readjustment Act or the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

The Army Signal Corps has developed a new-type camera using invisible electrical images, which can produce on-the-spot pictures even in active atomic radiation areas. A model recently completed produces a finished 4 x 5-inch picture two minutes after the shutter is snapped.

Pet Lion Shot By Unknown Party

"Lubbock," the African lion owned by Sgt. David C. Hoover of Reese Air Force Base, was slain by two shots from a 30-caliber rifle, about 10:00 p.m. Monday night.

The killing of the lion was a great sentimental and financial loss to Sergeant Hoover, for he had no insurance on it. He stated that the commercial value of the animal alone was $1,500, in addition to another thousand dollars cost in training and feeding the cat. The cost of the animal amounted to approximately $50 per month for horsemeat, straw, sawdust and vitamin pills.

Hoover is at present in the station hospital, having suffered multiple cuts and bites on his right leg and both arms Sunday morning when he fell against the bars of the cage holding the lion. He was unable to release himself from the cat's grasp and was rescued by Corporal Charlie D. Price of the Air Force Squadron on duty at the main gate at Reese who was notified by a woman who saw Hoover's plight as she drove past.

Interviewed later at the RAFB Hospital, Sergeant Hoover stated that he was transferring the lion in order to repair the truck, as he had intended to transport his charge to winter quarters in Gainesville, Texas.

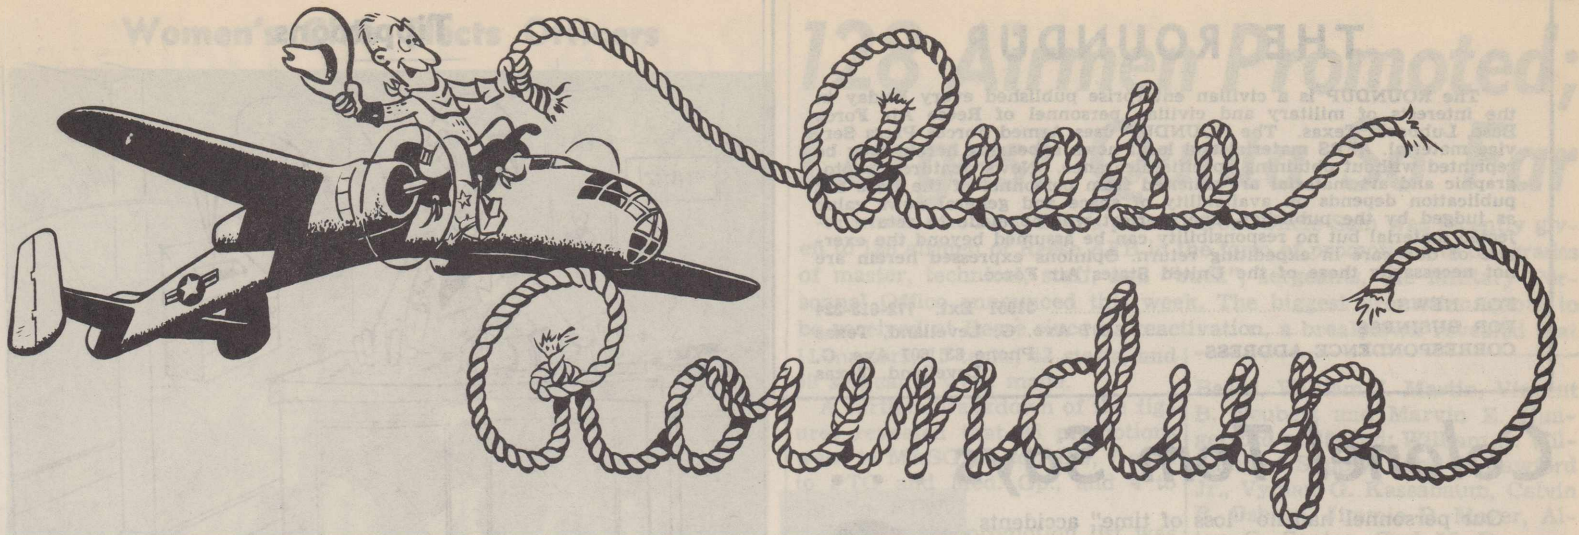

According to Hoover, the accident occurred while he was transferring the lion from the large cage, built on the back of a truck, to a smaller cage. He was standing on top of the small cage adjusting the cage door when he lost his footing and fell against the bars of the cage housing the big cat. The animal, frightened by the noise and the sudden movement, caught the sergeant with his left paw, pulling him close to the bars and in range of his teeth and right paw.

The two-year-old African lion weighed approximately 400 pounds, 200 pounds more than when it was first brought here early last summer.

Sergeant Hoover, a professional lion tamer prior to his entry into the Air Force, displayed the cat last summer in MacKenzie Park and at a carnival at the Base. He presently has four other lions which are leased to zoos. However, they are females and are unsuitable for training. "Lubbock" was the youngest of the five cats owned by the sergeant.

Reese Air Force Base personnel have a personal interest in the polio campaign because of their sympathy for the former commander of Reese, Colonel George W. Parly and Mrs. Parly, whose daughter and granddaughter died during a polio epidemic in 1948.

The campaign chairman for the 1951 drive at Reese is Chaplain (Major) Maurice R. Holt and he stated that plans for the 1951 drive have been drawn up and will begin on January 15. The plans call for the traditional "Wishing Well" to be placed in the lobby of the base theater, and boxes will be in the Air Force Exchange and all the clubs on the base to accept donations.

The Ladies Christian Fellowship will sponsor a cookie and cake sale to be held at the base exchange. The date will be announced at a later time. Proceeds will be turned over to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Manpower and Management is a comparatively new organization with its object to set up standards which will give the Air Force the most in manpower hours with the least possible expenditure and the greatest efficiency. The conferees will discuss problems which already have arisen and will set up "yard sticks" for the future. Proposed regulations for the implementation of proper techniques and surveys will be considered.

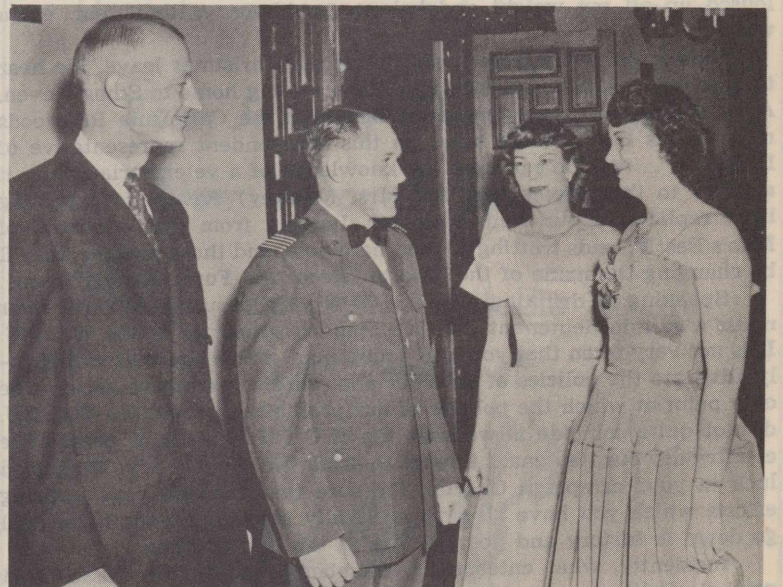

The conference members will begin arriving at Reese Wednesday night and the conference will open Thursday morning, continuing through Friday. The meetings will be held in the ball room at the officers' club.

Colonel Tom Says . . .

Our personnel had no "loss of time" accidents over the holidays. This is indeed a commendable record and one of which you may be proud. This reflects safety consciousness on the part of the many who made vacation trips by automobile as well as on the part of those who stayed at home.

Our March of Dimes goal has been set at $3,000 — $250 over last year's quota. This increase is not out-of-line considering the increase in base personnel. I hope that we can get 100% participation in the drive. I am sure that this will not work a hardship on anyone, as the contributions need not be large. If we all participate, reaching our goal of $3,000 will be no problem.

Behind-the-line pilots are to be directed to turn in their B-15 flying jackets. The steadily increasing student load and the decreasing supply has reached a critical point. In fact, it is to the point that if one more instructor is assigned, a flying jacket will have to be taken from a student and passed to the instructor. This will necessitate extra exchange of equipment and will lead to a great deal of confusion in property accounting. Since there is a shortage, and behind the line pilots do not have the need for the jackets that students and on-line personnel have, the directive has been necessary.

A regulation has been published to the effect that all officers are required to take a physical examination within 60 days of their birthdays. This action may be initiated at any time within 60 days prior to the birthday and should be completed by the birthday.

The combat readiness program is not ready to be implemented, and until such time that the base can make full utilization of the extra one-half day on Saturday, the base will remain on a five-day week.

KADET KORRAL

Two men not mentioned in last week's Korral who marched down the well known middle aisle were Peter J. Daniels and James E. Curtis. They are now spending a glorious honeymoon with their brides in the bright lights of the city of Lubbock—how lucky can you get?

Well, with class 51-B now putting in application for their truck drivers licenses and 51-C spending their weekends attempting to get their night vision and everybody in general, deciding its time to get in and dig again, the Cadet Area is once more the scene of great enthusiasm and anxiety. Judging from the crowds at the new Cadet Club, Reese wasn't such a bad place to come back to after all.

Class 51-D was well pleased with the formal dance given in their honor last Friday evening at the Hilton Hotel. Plaudits go to the Lubbock Lions Club and Lubbock Service Organization for arranging the enjoyable event. The 514th Dance Band supplied danceable music, feminine companionship was also available . . . even the punch was good. Members of all classes commented on the success of the affair.

51-A, experimental class of the Aviation Cadet Program, bravely faced the newly revised 60-4 written exam for their instrument cards (white variety) last week. We don't say it was hard, but our advice to the underclassmen is to forsake the frivolity of weekend open post and press nose to book. In other words, play Boy Scout—and "Be Prepared."

The new Cadet Club is really everything and more than was expected. Saturday night finds the place packed and everyone seemingly enjoying themselves. The Cadet Detachment's thanks are extended to all those who had a part in the realization of the Club.

Bob Supnick, 51-A, gave birth to a ½ lb. appendix recently. Commented brave patient Supnick . . . "Didn't need 'em anyhow—only loused up all my weight and balance problems with their extra weight."

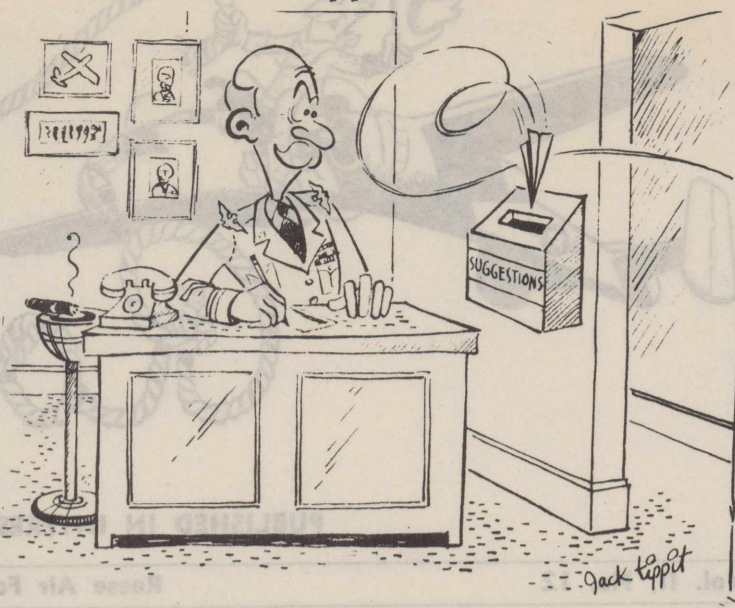

Rattler got away from it all during the Christmas leave. We hear that he was taken to California by Cadets going home to Smog Haven. After Texas cactus we wonder if he found the California Redwoods more to his liking. More news on this independent representative of Dogdom . . . we don't profess the knowledge of a veterinarian, but it appears to this novice eye that Mrs. (Whitey) Rattler is expecting little replicas of our canine mascot. Judging from the number of Man's Best Friends trotting around here now, and those to come, they'll be changing the name of the base to "Reese Air Force Kennel" soon.

Speaking of drinking, Class 51-B is very proud to have in their midst a certain lieutenant that is a staunch supporter of the W.C.T.U. It is not very often that you will find a man of this age that will firmly advocate the policies of an older and more conservative group. The only point at which the policies of our prohibitionist and the W.C.T.U. do not quite coincide is whereas the W.C.T.U. intends to preach the country dry our lieutenant intends to drink the country dry. Well, good luck in your campaign Charlie, I'm sure that through your untiring efforts which you have already so vividly displayed, your name will go down in history and your picture in the hall of fame.

Incidentally, what enterprising member of our group missed that good ole California sunshine so much that he bought a sunlamp to get that bronzed tan? The L. A. Chamber of Commerce would be proud of you, son.

MAO TSE TUNG
RULER OF RED CHINA
By ROBERT PAYNE

Never in history has any man possessed such vast power over such vast multitudes of people as Mao Tse-Tung. No man in the modern world has climbed to great power so speedily. Two years ago Mao Tse-Tung was hiding in the caves of Shensi; today he is the undisputed ruler of more than 400,000,000 Chinese.

For good or evil, the power represented by Mao Tse-Tung has come to stay; and from now on, the destinies of Americans, of all people will be affected by the decisions that he makes and those of the people he leads.

This is the first full-length biography of Mao Tse-Tung and is a fascinating study of the emergence of power, but it is also a study of this man's mind, his fierce intellectual stamina, his scholarship, his diffidence, and the perplexing element of poetry in him.

To relate Mao Tse-Tung to his own times, the author has ranged the whole course of Chinese history, seeing the origins of the present revolt in the Taiping rebellion and the periods of upheaval which produced the great mediaeval Chinese novels—novels which Mao Tse-Tung assiduously read, and from which he learned the techniques of revolution.

In the concluding chapters Payne traces the fundamental quarrel between Mao Tse-Tung and Chiang Kai-shek to the predominant streams of Chinese history.

Payne believes that the Communist revolution in China has its seeds in Chinese history, and owes little, except some outward trappings, to Marxist-Lennist theory. Base Library has a copy.

THE WILL OF GOD

Man has always been tempted to fit God into man's own pattern of thought. We ever stand in danger, consciously or unconsciously, of thinking of God as doing our will instead of our obeying His will. In all of our prayers we are continually asking God for something and never following the advice of Jesus, "Even so not my will by thine be done." We are forgetting that God is supreme and his infinite wisdom, while we as human beings are limited and finite; hence, we try to make ourselves equal with God and attempt to tell God what to do.

The scriptures continually warn us against making ourselves equal with God. They teach us that God is justice and righteousness and when we depart from His standards we invite destruction. Isaiah declared that Israel was made captive because the people forgot God, because they were greedy, because they were pompous, and because they had a false sense of values. They considered drunkenness as an accepted social habit. Their love for material things proved to be the root of all their evil; for spiritual things were forced completely out, and the people did not consider God, neither did they consider "the operation of His hands." The great Roman empire that spread over all the known world likewise fell because they forgot God in their search of material possessions. Today in our own country we are possessed with a very great tendency towards the same thing that caused the downfall of those two great nations; we are apparently forgetting God and His church.

Woe indeed in the man when he forgets God! However, Isaiah reminds us that there is the other side of the ledger. That is, if the justice of God is exalted and His will is sovereign in our lives we shall then feed in His pastures. So today may our prayer be, "Grant unto us the wisdom and power to seek first the kingdom of God." It has been promised to us that if we seek to establish the kingdom and righteousness of God in our lives, our homes, and in our nation, all good and needed things will be added unto us.

Chaplain Jared A. Walker.

Rattlers Split Doubleheader With Biggs; At Sheppard AFB Today

The Reese Rattlers broke even with the Biggs AFB team 49-38; 49-40 in a hard fought series here. Without the essential playing of Dale White and William Wright the Rattlers played the same heads up ball.

The first game was Biggs' favor most of the way, though we did have come back attacks by Neil Beard, Wayne Cox, and Joe Lopez. Half-time score was close and the Rattlers were still in the ball game.

Reesettes Win First Of Their League Games

The Reesettes scored a victory over the Sanders Cleaners 25-20 during the holidays. This game was their first league game of the season. Lucile "SEtrick" Wenzlick was the center attraction with 12 points.

Later on they played West Texas Hospital and lost a heart breaker 26-25 in an overtime period. Dean Henderson was outstanding with her ability.

Mr. Bishop, the Reesettes' coach, stated "He is very much pleased with the team's improvement". The girl play that never give up again game with a lot of spirit.

With 13 memberh, the Reesettes look toward a good season.

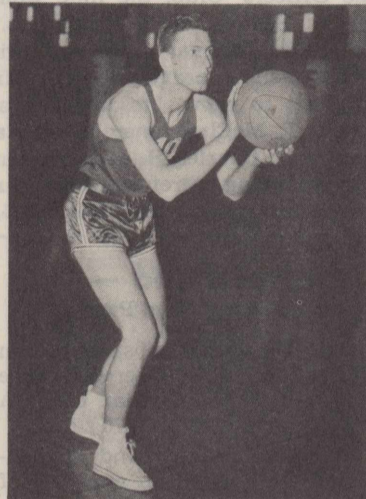

This league is played at Lubbock in the J. T. Hutchinson gym, 32nd and Canton Avenue. The games usually start at 7:30 p.m. with two games a week. Director of the league, Curtis Barrett, forwarded me this schedule as follows:

Meet the Rattler

In the guard position on the Reese Rattlers, is 6'2" Neil "Holly" Beard of Sharon, Pennsylvania. Sports followers will remember Neil as captain of last year's 3501st M&S champions. During his High School basketball career, "Holly" held "High Scorer" honors in 1946, '47 and '48. Before coming to Reese, guard Beard played one year of basketball at Barksdale AFB, Louisiana. With the same fighting spirit, he's helping his team-mates win laurels for the Rattlers.

Bowling Alley Done Four Lanes Used As Balls Start Rolling

Lt. Thomas C. Glover stated that the bowling alley "will be open" 1700-2300 hours through Saturday. On Sundays and holidays it get underway from 1300-2300 hours. You pay twenty-five cents per line for each game and ten cents to rent a pair of shoes. There will be a league about January 25, with Sgt. Ernest Lewis being the bowling manager in charge. All squadrons should make up their teams now and reserve an alley for practice. The bowling alley, sponsored by the Post Exchange, suggested for all personnel to improve or help the management of the alley. In the future, the Post Exchange intends to have a snack bar inside.

POINTED PEARLS

A moment of thoughtful action will do more good than hours of worry.

Joys shared become brighter. Troubles shared become lighter.

Patience gains time. Impatience loses it.

Centuries ago, the natives of Tibet devised their own theory of evolution by claiming descent from a sacred monkey.

The latter part of the second half was too much pressure for the Rattlers, but they never gave up. Biggs' attack of five fast goals was enough to advance the lead to a win with the score 49-38, as the game ended.

During intermission Coach Adams told his team how to correct their mistakes and also take advantage of Biggs' ideal playing.

The Rattlers were a different ball club in the second game with that extra push to stay ahead all through the game. Dalton Touchett came through several times to hold that lead for the Rattlers. Biggs AFB team was really tough once or twice during the game, which made it exciting and anybody's game.

With the Rattlers ahead in the second half, they never lost that confident feeling of victory. Every player seems to acknowledge the fact they can still win when times are rough without those vital players. For insurance, Cox and Beard dropped successive field goals which enabled the Rattlers to win 49-40.

The Rattlers go to Wichita Falls January 11 and 12 and play the Sheppard AFB. The next home games will be with Perrin AFB, January 18 and 19.
