Baird Man Sustains Serious Burns

Jesse Wood, age 26, is holding his own at Callahan County Hospital, after suffering third degree burns Friday, about 4 p. m., while working on his 1936 Ford pickup. About three-fourths of his body above the waist was burned. The accident occurred while he and Madison Montgomery were trying to start the motor of the pickup truck. Montgomery was priming the carburetor by pouring gasoline into it from a pint jar. The motor backfired and the jar of gasoline was set on fire. To get rid of the burning gasoline, Montgomery threw it behind him, not realizing that Wood was standing there. The burning gasoline set Wood's clothing on fire. Reports are that he is holding his own, but is not out of danger.

Clyde Mayor Warns Of Water Shortage

Mayor of Clyde, C. H. Manly has issued warning that if lawn and garden watering is not restricted the city will be compelled to cut off water from mains after dusk, to build up a reserve for fire protection.

The mayor said Pumper Tedford had pumped steadily for 36 hours without being able to add to the storage reserve. He added that in an inspection of three wells recently, one well pumped dry in twenty minutes, whereas 60 days ago the pump required 2½ hours to exhaust the well.

Mrs. C. F. Young was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Young, in Abilene, for a birthday dinner on Friday.

'Just Round About

As we walked up and down the street * * * The sidewalks were wet from rain * * * rain that has been the scarsest commodity here in many months. It wasn't enough, but brought some relief from the heat * * * Every day Baird people are giving thanks for their new lake water. "I don't know what I'd do without it now" says Bob Warren, well known meat cutter of Baird. He went on to explain that the well at his home has been supplying all the water needed around the place for sixty-eight years until it went dry last week and he connected on to the city water mains * * * Ranch people are standing by with water trucks and tow sacks ready to fight grass fires. The high grass that covers all this area is so dry, fires are liable to start anywhere at any time * * * H. C. Cotton was inviting folks to attend the annual stockholders meeting of the Citizens National Farm Loan Association to be held Friday evening, August 31, at the court house * * * A. G. Black of Clyde was also extending a welcome to Callahan county people to attend the Farmer's Co-op annual meeting at Clyde on August 25th. That is this Saturday. They plan to have barbecue, music and lots of fun, as well as to attend to some business. The co-op paid a 6% dividend again this year, the fourth time in a row, and that's not bad * * * Well, our boy, Charles Young, collected the prize he won with the best essay in the Premier-Dizzy Dean contest. He took his dad to New York with him, all expenses paid by Premier, and now they are having difficulty adjusting themselves to the normal living. Their friends cheered them and showered them with fine gifts, and extended best wishes * * * K. H. Rowland reports that the opening of school is just around the corner. Numerous Baird business firms are offering school supplies, and now all we need is for fall weather to set in and a peppy tune from the school band. This is going to be a red letter year for pupils in grade school. They will be first to make use of the new school building. All prospects point to a very successful school year ahead * * * Looks like Baird is in for some oil play now sure enough. Drilling is going on all around us, and with surprisingly good results. Men and their families are making a desperate effort to find apartments here. Right now it looks like good business for someone to build some rent houses or provide apartments for these new comers. Quite a number of Baird people are making plans to invest in this business * * * Well, we learned yesterday how easy it is to let little things up-set us. For the last three days we smelled something awful as we drove around town. It seemed that the air was full of the odor, and we kept trying to find what it was that was scenting the air all over town. We drove north, south, east and west and the same sickening odor was everywhere. This morning, we happened to find a dead bird lodged in one corner of the sun visor of our car, and remembered when it flew into the windshield last Sunday. Now the air around town is sweet and clean, and we enjoy breathing deep, loving our home town.

Charles Young Tells About Taking Trip To New York By Air

After submitting the winning essay in the Premier-Dizzy Dean contest which gave Charles Young and his father an all-expense paid trip to New York, Charles made a detailed report of the trip and we are publishing it so all his friends will know about it. Working as printer's devil at The Star office, and being a real baseball fan, Charles seemed to have confidence from the beginning of the contest that he could win the trip. Even with this confidence, Charles was about the most surprised boy we have ever seen when we told him that J. E. Bullock, superintendent of Premier's Baird refinery, had sent word that he won. From that time until they left early Wednesday morning, Charles was all a-twitter.

Charles F. Young, father of Charles, saw New York once before when he sailed for Europe in World War I. For him to go on this pleasure trip was described by him as being "simply wonderful." The whole town rejoiced at the announcement of their going on the trip and they have been the talk of the town ever since. Their many friends extended congratulations, presented gifts to show their affection and wished them well on their flight, which lasted from Wednesday morning until Sunday night. They returned home about 11 p. m. Sunday, tired but happy over their wonderful adventure.

Charles' report, as he wrote it, follows:

Getting off on our trip sent us into a tallsip that we've never been in before. Mother, Dad and all of us found ourselves going around in circles to get us ready for the trip to New York. If our good friends had not come to our assistance, I don't know whether we would have gotten off on time or not. But when Mr. Irvin Corn of Premier's Baird Refinery, called at 6:20 a. m. my father and I hopped into his car and we were off. We reached the giant Premier refinery at Fort Worth at 10 a. m. and were met by Mr. A. M. Ault, gen. sales manager for the company. Mr. Ault and Mr. R.D. Brown took us through the refinery, which resembles a forest of pipes more than anything we could describe. Of real interest to us was the new platforming unit that has caused so much talk lately. It is the first of its kind in Texas, and motorists can tell the difference as soon as they get the first tank full of platformed gasoline in their car.

Knowing that we were interested in printing at The Baird Star, Mr. Brown took us to visit the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. He introduced us to Mr. Flem Hall, the well known sports editor for that newspaper, who was also one of the judges of the contest we won. Mr. Hall congratulated us on winning the trip, and said some real nice things about my essay. After meeting him and learning how the contest was judged, I guess my essay was better than I thought it was at first. I am proud of winning a contest that was handed as fairly as this one was. We visited the composing rooms and press rooms of the big newspaper, and I never dreamed that a printing plant could be so big. It was a sight for us to see, and I appreciate more than ever the big editions of the Star-Telegram with their ads in color and their up-to-the-minute coverage of West Texas.

We checked into rooms at the Baker Hotel in Dallas, after having our pictures taken at the American Airlines office at that hotel. Another picture was taken at an interview with reporters from the Dallas Morning News, and the story appeared in that paper Thursday morning. When we hit the hay early, our feet were about to kill us, so we rested good that night.

Mr. Brown again came for us Thursday morning and took us to Love Field. A newsreel picture was taken for broadcast over WBAP TV. Boy, all this attention can surely make anyone feel important. I had to pinch myself several times to see if I was dreaming. We boarded the plane at 12:35 p. m., bound for New York via St. Louis and Chicago. Odd things can happen. I was introduced to the pilot, Capt. Charles H. Young, but so far as I know we are no kin. It took only three hours to reach Chicago where we landed to refuel. Leaving Chicago we flew over Lake Michigan where I saw my first big ships.

We arrived at La Guardia Airport, New York, at 8 p. m. Mr. J. H. Cassen of American Airlines met us and took us to the Roosevelt Hotel, where we met Mr. E. Carl Zaring, the assistant manager, who took care of us while we were in that city. The Roosevelt is a dream world. My Dad says he could get used to life in a place like that awfully easy. After a good night's rest, we had breakfast at the hotel coffee shop on the morning of the 17th, and were ready for the sights. The tour of New York with the Grayline Sightseeing Company, took us through Upper Manhattan, and that is where we could really see New York. After the tour we visited NBC studios and toured the whole National Broadcasting Company. We saw how sound effects are made. We watched a television rehearsal. We saw the giant control panels and props and more stuff than I can describe.

After the NBC tour, we visited Hayden Planetarium, where all the heavens were projected on the dome ceiling and we could imagine we were sitting out under the stars in West Texas. Three ways in which the earth could come to an end was the program feature. They showed us how the moon is constantly pulling out of its orbit, and in about 15 million years it will be completely free and will fall earthward and explode when it enters the earth's atmosphere, setting the earth on fire. It was a queer feeling to see the whole earth on fire except the spot where we were situated in Hayden Planetarium, Central Park, New York.

Resting for some time, we had supper in Roosevelt Hotel Grill, a beautiful place to dine. Then we saw the New York Yankees play the Philadelphia Athletics over television, with the Yanks winning 3-2. Stubby Overmire, a lefthander, got the win.

Next morning we had breakfast at the Roosevelt Rough Riders Room, then we went to the Winsor Hotel and met Mr. and Mrs. Dizzy Dean, two of the finest people we ever met. The Deans took us to the Yankee stadium by way of Harlem. We saw how the streets have to be roped off each day to provide a place for the kids to play. I felt like gathering all those poor kids up and bringing them back to Texas with me, where they would have the wide open spaces for their play ground, where they could get plenty of fresh air and outdoor exercise. Made me feel prouder than ever to live in Baird, Texas.

After lunch at the Yankee Stadium Club, we went to the Yanks club house where we met the squad: Eddy Lopat, ace pitcher for the Yanks, Vic Rasche, who won the ball game we were to see; Phil Rizzuto, ace short stop for the Yanks; Yogi Berra, catcher, Hank Bauer, outfielder; Casey Stengel, manager, and Joe Di Maggio. They autographed a baseball for me. During the game we sat in W. O. Bankston's box. He is from Dallas, Texas. The game was swell, the Yanks having won by a score of 5 to 1.

At the hotel room that night, while we were resting, we watched a girl's softball game on television.

At the airlines terminal Sunday morning, I rode my first escalator. We boarded the first DC6B Flagship bound for Dallas non-stop. The plane took off at 12:35 p. m. Mr. Corn was there to meet us, and I felt like kissing him. It seemed like we had been around the world and gone home for weeks. Before we left Fort Worth, Mr. Corn's two sons, Jack and Roger, and I took a ride on a miniature train in Forest Park, which was lots of fun even though I had been riding high for several days.

In closing I would like to say "thank you" to everyone for your kindnesses connected with the trip which my father and I enjoyed so much. We appreciate the wonderful way you showed your interest in us as much as we did the trip itself. For the many fine gifts and for every consideration, we say "thank you."

PEDESTRIAN CROSSING BEING BUILT AT CLYDE

Mrs. W. P. Brightwell Among Texas Club Women Who Made European Tour

As the end of an extensive tour of Europe and the Middle East nears for thirteen representatives of the Texas State Federation of Women's Clubs, the eyes of Texas and some of the outside world are no doubt centering on the Lone Star State.

A little bit of Texas was left behind them in each country that the women visited. In the group is Mrs. W. P. Brightwell of Baird, who is state chairman of projects in the Council of International Clubs, T. F. W. C.

Following report of the tour appeared in a recent issue of The Dallas Morning News:

"The countries of Europe are learning a lot about Texas this summer. Thirteen forward-looking women from the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs who are touring Europe as the Texas Good Neighbor delegation see to that.

"They have literally captivated the official representatives of foreign countries they have visited by leaving behind them thirty-two scholarships to the University of Texas.

"This writer met the delegation by chance at a diplomatic party in the Italian gardens of the Villa Taverna, where our ambassador to Italy and Mrs. Dunn were at home to a group of Americans that included artists and archeologists from the American Academy in Rome.

"The animated conversation of the Texas women describing their mission took the spotlight away from the political notables and gave the party as rich a Texas flavor as a barbecue on the grounds of the Governor's Mansion in Austin.

"The Texas women, led by the chairman of their delegation, Mrs. Peston H. Dial of San Antonio were in Italy to present a Friendship Scroll and two University of Texas scholarships to President Gaspari's representative, Sen. Carlo Vishia, undersecretary for public instructions. (Others in the group include: Mrs. Frank S. Springer, Mrs. Lloyd Berry, Mrs. C. D. Berry, Mrs. Mills King, Miss Martha Nan King and Miss Pat Rudley, all of San Antonio; Mrs. W. P. Brightwell, Baird; Mrs. Rennie Wright, New Braunfels; Mrs. Harry Griffiths, Austin; Mrs. A. J. House, Yoakum; Mrs. Rubin Frels, Victoria, and Mrs. Willie.) Left in June.

"The Good Neighbor delegation assembled in San Antonio in June and flew first to Washington, D. C., for State Department briefing, then emplaned from New York's La Guardia Field for London's Northolt Airport. Mills King, prominent San Antonio businessman whose wife and daughter were in the group, had an enormous bon voyage cake delivered aboard the plane just before its transatlantic take-off. The cake was decorated with cowboys and lariats, mustangs and saddles, and sent the delegates into a frenzy of Texas spirit which is unbridled enough when Texans are group-traveling abroad. They sang cowboy ballads and state songs all the way to Gooseberry, Labrador.

"The next day the Texas women were entertained in London. As they were about to be presented to our ambassador to Britain, he surprised them by saying: "But I've met the ladies and heard them sing—though I missed getting a piece of their extraordinary cake." The ambassador had been a fellow passenger the night before on the TWA plane flying them to England.

"They told another story about some European officials who welcomed them to the Netherlands and the Scandinavian countries. Last February a group of leading European businessmen interested in foreign trade came to America to visit United States cities with free trade zones. In Texas they went to

Queen Of The Pre-Madison Square Garden Dublin Rodeo

Pretty 17 year old, Betty Sue Bradley of Dublin, has been selected Queen of the Pre-Madison Square Garden Rodeo to be held at Dublin, Texas on August 29, 30, 31, and September 1. Last year Miss Bradley was one of the Texas sponsors at the Madison Square Garden Rodeo in New York which is produced by Everett E. Colborn of Dublin, Texas.

San Antonio where Mrs. Dial, as a member of their entertainment committee, gave each man a miniature Texas flag. Other more expansive Texans at more expansive parties—men to be sure—sat down and exchanged footwear with them, trading Texas boots for Dutch and Danish shoes.

"Arriving in Sweden, the Texas delegation was met at the Stockholm airport by one of these Swedish businessmen, waving a Texas flag wildly and wearing his Texas boots as proudly as any weatherstained rancher who ever made a dollar off a drouth-starved cow.

"In Copenhagen, in Amsterdam, at the Hague—wherever the ladies went where these businessmen lived—they were greeted at the airport by the men waving little Lone Star Texas flags.

"In Denmark, the delegation were guests of Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, United States ambassador, and had a round-table discussion on industrial education. Ideas on "trainee programs" were exchanged, and besides making the customary gift of two Texas University scholarships, plans were made for on-the-job training of Danish students in Texas industry. Miss Anne Faulk, South Texas delegate, offered to take a trainee in her large dairy and ice cream plant in San Antonio, and Mrs. Brightwell from Baird, volunteered to take a trainee on her West Texas ranch to learn scientific cattle raising.

"In Holland, Dutch officials showed the women an exhibit set up to illustrate the long friendly relations existing between Holland and the United States.

"Most of the Texas delegates agreed that the high point of their trip for gracious hospitality and entertainment was in Luxembourg where Madam Minister Mesta, their constant attendant and hostess, gave them a sparkling party in the American legation.

"As wives and mothers their common hope was to strengthen ties of friendship with the European people and to build a world in which international understanding shall prevail. (Leader of the tour, Mrs. Dial, last year was named Texas' "Mother of the Year" for her work in befriending foreign students visiting in San Antonio.)

"As Louis Foxe, France's top man in the field of cultural relations, pointed out in Paris: "These Texas women have the unique distinction of being the first delegation from the United States to come to Europe bringing university scholarships. The long-range contribution which this action makes for better European-American relation is not lost on the realistic Continental mind."

In Cairo, Egypt, the women presented Egypt's King Farouk, in absentia, with honorary membership in the Council of Pan-American Relations. They also left behind a scroll of friendship a Texas state flag and the two scholarships for deserving Egyptian students.

These were delivered to Princess Khadidja Hassan, a member of the royal family, in a ceremony at the American embassy in Cairo.

The scholarships are being financed by the Texas State Legislature, which previously has awarded scholarships to students from Latin-American countries. This program is being broadened this year to include countries of Europe and of the Middle East.

The women are paying their own travel expenses but are acting as representatives of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of the United States. Their next stop after leaving Cairo was the Holy-land where they visited both Old and New Jerusalem and Tel Aviv, Israel; Returning to the continent, they are spending several days this week in Barcelona and Madrid, Spain, and Lisbon, Portugal.

They will leave Lisbon Sunday (the 19th) and arrive in New York at 8:45 a. m. Monday. Their arrival in San Antonio will be sometime Monday evening.

When Mrs. R. H. Barr of Dayton sent in her renewal subscription to The Star this week, she wrote: "I always look forward to The Baird Star each week. It's getting a letter from an old and dear friend.

"I shall always treasure my wonderful memories of Baird and its wonderful people."

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fetterly had as their guests the past weekend, their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Friery and daughters, Betty Ann and Mary Louise, of Palacios. The Frierys also visited in Crane, Midland, and Abilene before going to Houston for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barton and children, Ann and Tommy, and Mr. and Mrs. Tee Baugh spent Friday and Saturday at Fort Worth.

Eula Episodes

Mrs. R. G. Edwards Elevating Elucidations for the Enjoyable Enlightenment of Everybody Everywhere.

Wild animals are on the prowl. Last Saturday night the Ross Farmers were awakened by a peculiar screaming noise which seemed to be answered by its mate down in the brush north-east of Eula. Sunday and Monday speculation ran high as to what it might have been.

Tuesday morning sometime after midnight Mrs. Cynthia Farmer was awakened by the same noise. It was neither a bark, meow or growl. She wasn't quite sure she had heard something but she stepped to the hall and her mother Mrs. Rosa Miller stuck her head out the door and asked her did she hear something too. They agreed that it must have been something for about that time they heard it again. Mrs. Miller stepped back in her room to get a flashlight to see if they could tell what it was. By that time the rest of the family was aroused.

They started through the kitchen to go outside and some kind of animal, larger than a cat bounded off a kitchen chair and darted through the dining room window. It was only a few steps to a fence about four feet high. It sprang over it and went on down the road and across the pasture with the same peculiar noise.

Mrs. Farmer's house was badly damaged during the storm, and it was in the process of being repaired. They had not got all the screens on the windows and it had come in. Mrs. Farmer said that they only got a glance at it, but it was as large as a good sized dog with a large head. All who heard it said that the noise was more like a human in distress. Tracks were found the next morning outside the window and they were larger than a dog's. Makes us wonder if the dead calf was not some of it's dirty work. Anyway I keep my doors latched and if my dogs act kinda scared, I'm gonna turn them in. Who wants their fine dogs 'et by an old lion.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morris and daughter, Mrs. Thesesa Bennefield and sons are visiting this week in the home of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Ernie Stanczyk and family of Loop City, Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Stanczyk are the proud parents of a daughter born August 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brock and daughter, Rosa Lee, were visitors Thursday night in the home of their son and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Brock and family of Sweetwater.

Butch Harris spent last week in the home of his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Faulkenberry of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clifton and small son of Rotan and C. C. Clifton, Jr., of Austin, and Mr. and Mrs. Leldon Clifton of Iraan, spent the weekend in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clifton.

Mrs. Louis Parks and son spent last week in the home of her mother, Mrs. Rosa Miller and brother's Reese, Burrus, and Rufus and their families.

The long drouth and heat wave may be broken. Residents west of Eula received about an inch of rain Saturday night. It was a very partial rain but the atmosphere is cooler to say the least.

BAIRD PLACES GREAT VALUE IN GOOD NAME

Baird is finding truth in the biblical quotation: "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." People in neighboring cities are talking about Baird more now than ever before. They tell their friends that Baird is fast becoming a better town. We hear these nice things everywhere we go. And it makes us glad we live in Baird.

This is not the same kind of talk we heard about Baird a few years ago. Folks were quick to say this town was dead, the people didn't want the town to grow, that they didn't welcome newcomers. Such an under current of opinion can hurt a town and keep it from making progress.

During the past seven years that we have lived in Baird and operated this newspaper, we have not found reason for people to talk against this town. People have proven on many occasions that they want progress and are willing to pay for it. This willingness has probably brought about the turning point in public sentiment toward us.

Baird's big moment came when the lake was completed. This, with other steps forward such as the building of the new grade school, the new highway through town, new homes and businesses, is giving people all over the country something to talk about. Now with the prospect brightening for a new oil field at Baird's north entrance, it looks like we are on our way to better things for all Baird people.

Among the most outspoken of all the people we have heard say these nice things about Baird is the director of "Home Town Headlines," which may be heard over Radio Station KRBC, Abilene, every Sunday at 1 p. m. Almost every Sunday an article is read from the pages of The Baird Star, and the radio speaker comments favorably about the things that are going on in Baird. The listening public is glad to hear these good comments and people everywhere are ready and willing to accept this news as true facts. We appreciate "Home Town Headlines," and all our readers are urged to listen to this fine program every Sunday. In the meantime, take note of Baird's progress, and watch us grow.

MOVEMENT TO GET GRASS FIRE EQUIPMENT GETS UNDERWAY IN BAIRD AREA

Farmers and ranchers of the Baird area have long realized the need for a grass fire fighting unit, but only recently has anyone done something about it. The object now is for those who reside outside the city limits of Baird to pool their assets and purchase a truck and equip it for fighting grass fires. We know of nothing that will pay more dividends to the people of this area than to get such a unit and get it quick. With the high grass, dry as powder, covering all this area, the land owners stand in great danger of loss by fire. A number of fires have occurred during the past few days that sent fire fighters running to the relief of the land owners, and with hard work and a lot of luck, the fires were extinguished without any great loss.

For many years the Baird firemen responded to calls to fight grass fires, realizing that each time they left town with the fire truck, city property was unprotected. Luck has been with us in that there has never been a fire in town while the firemen were fighting grass fires outside the city limits. The firemen are eager to help save property from fire wherever they can, but the fire rate enjoyed by Baird property owners is based on having the equipment available at all times.

The trend of thought is to equip a truck with a water tank, pump, hose and nozzles, suitable for fighting grass fires. It would be given to the Baird Volunteer Fire Department to be used at all fires where necessary inside or outside the city limits. The city of Baird would maintain the equipment.

Money with which to purchase the fire truck will be raised by a plan to assess land owners a small amount per acre. The entire cost would run something like $4000, which should be easy for the land owners around Baird to contribute. Many have expressed themselves to the effect that they would rather donate in this way than to have a tax imposed on them, which would have to be paid each year from now on. The present plan would be completed with the purchase of the truck and equipment.

ENTHUSIASM IS CONTAGIOUS

We heard one man say he couldn't stand around and listen to Pop Whitaker and His Younguns make music without getting a lift in spirit. He certainly does radiate enthusiasm when he plays his fiddle in public. Those who play with him take the fever from him and the audience takes the fever from all of them. The result is the same every time—a high-heel ol' good time for everybody.

Since Pop Whitaker and his music makers have been playing in Baird every Saturday, many more people are coming to town. They seem to enjoy shopping in the stores more than usual, and a warm friendly atmosphere can be found all up and down the streets. We know of nothing that will make people smile more than Pop Whitaker's music and a good soaking rain. This Saturday, we hope you will be here to enjoy both.

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

Conquers Alcoholism

MORGAN C. JUDD, Knoxville, Tenn., says before he could solve the Big Problem in his life, he had to form a whole new philosophy of living. He learned that this had to be done by his own self and that anything another contributed in the way of help was merely help.

He awoke one day about six years ago to find himself definitely an alcoholic. He had suddenly realized that every time he took a drink, he wanted to keep on drinking until he "drew a blank." The habit, of course, had come upon him by degrees, and in the full belief that when he wanted to stop drinking, all he had to do was to stop. Now he knew it was not as simple as that. Every time he had had occasion to worry, he had taken a drink every time Fear had risen within him, he had taken a drink. Now he could not stop, for his will power had been, if not destroyed, at least stymied.

Realizing the seriousness of his condition, knowing that it couldn't get better by putting off from day to day, from drink to drink, the actual discarding of the now terrifying habit, he appealed to that Society that has done so much to help men who have similarly suffered, Alcoholics Anonymous. After telling him that his case was most hopeful, since he really wanted to cure himself, they gave him rules to practice. Here are two; the first one was the most important:

- 1—Every day decide that you won't take a drink today. Never mind about tomorrow, that will take care of itself. Live for today only.
- 2—Forget your own problem by becoming interested in others.

There were other sage pieces of advice, but Morgan Judd says these two alone were sufficient for him.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

PRESIDENT TRUMAN believes that flood control in the mid-west depends upon the choice of congressmen. He has called for the election of more "forward-looking liberal-minded members of congress."

The President is highly critical of "shortsighted people who can't see beyond their purely local interests." He is referring in this quotation to this summer's disastrous Missouri-Kansas floods.

He criticizes congressional refusal to authorize flood control dams on the Kansas river and its tributaries.

Truman's views were expressed in a letter to C.I.O. President Philip Murray who asked him to create an emergency commission to draw up a river control program for the Missouri valley.

There may be a new price turn upward. If so, there will be two reasons: government defense spending at about $50 billion a year and cutback of civilian production. More money in the economy and less goods act together to create a spiral. All this is in face of Truman's description of the bill to amend and extend the defense production act of 1950—the bill that's supposed to constrain inflation—as "the worst I ever had to sign."

Neither Senator John Butler of Maryland nor Senator McCarthy, his supporter, have reason to be too happy over a document issued by a senate subcommittee on the election tactics by which Butler defeated Senator Millard Tydings. Evidence is clear that a smear campaign was conducted against Tydings and the Maryland voters were told that the Tydings committee report on the state department loyalty cases showed a sympathy with Communism. The truth is, Tydings refused to convict accused persons on insufficient evidence and was punished for his fair-mindedness with a "despicable backstreet type of campaign" by Butler.

The two Harrys—Truman and Byrd—are the outstanding leaders of the dissident factions in the Democratic party. Byrd is the voice of the rebel southerners, and especially bitter to Truman is Byrd's continual harping upon alleged fees received by Democratic Chairman William Boyle after successfully petitioning for certain clients loans from the R.F.C. Byrd is demanding a thorough investigation of Boyle's activities and his ouster from the party leadership if he is found guilty of any political influence on the R.F.C. to obtain the loans.

Byrd, as if assuming Boyle's guilt, declares, "The time has come when this moral deterioration at Washington must stop and those guilty of such acts must be exposed and punished."

Satirizing the southern hospitality to northern G.O.P. overtures, the Detroit News recently carried a cartoon, showing a composite Dixiecrat-Republican exclaiming to a psychiatrist, "I'm all mixed up, Doc! When I am not hating Truman, I hate myself."

Some Republican legislators are blaming the defection from honor of the 90 West Point cribbers upon Truman's administration.

Besides Truman's $10-billion demand for new revenue, foreign aid authorization and regular appropriations, congress still has on the agenda:

Formal termination of the war with Germany; statutory banning of exports of military items to Russia and satellites and cessation of aid to countries making such exports; authorization of transfer of 24 destroyer escorts to France, Denmark, Peru, Uruguay, Brazil and Great Britain, which the house has authorized $5.8 billion dollar program of construction of military bases and facilities; legislation to control interstate criminal activities.

There's a report that in 1948 Senator Kefauver condemned all senate and house subcommittees. He declared he favored abolishing all such committees to keep the vaudeville actors out of congress and save the taxpayers money. He declared that these committees had to do something sensational and grab headlines.

PRICE STABILIZATION

OPS Price Specialist Herman Golden, who conducted a "Price Clinic" for local businessmen here August 17 has announced that the OPS has set dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for scrap and reclaimed rubber, issued a regulation covering tire mileage service, and exempted Goodwill Industries from price regulations.

Mr. Golden said that Ceiling Price Regulation 58 set ceiling prices for reclaimed rubber, while CPR 59 established ceiling prices for scrap rubber, and that CPR stated the method by which contract tire mileage charges are to be computed.

Tire mileage services are usually provided by tire manufacturers to operators of taxicabs, fleet trucks, and car owners on a contract basis, he said.

The OPS representative also stated that products of Goodwill Industries of America, a non-profit organization providing vocational rehabilitation and training to disabled persons, had been exempted from price stabilization regulations.

Earlier the OPS had exempted from price regulations sales of Boy Scout and Girl Scout uniforms, Future Farmers of America supplies, sales of CARE packages, sales of used and waste goods by the Salvation Army, and 4-H Club and Camp Fire Girls supplies, said Golden.

He stated that the next "Price Clinic" for Baird will be Friday, September 14, at the Chamber of Commerce office starting at 9:00 A. M.

LONGHORN LEATHERNECK

DALLAS, Tex.—The Marine Recruiting Office here has announced that arrangements have been completed to conduct the swearing in ceremonies of the Longhorn Leatherneck Platoon, on the stage of the Majestic Theatre in Dallas.

Major E. L. Bale, Jr., officer in charge of the Dallas Marine Recruiting District said, "The ceremony will take place Friday, August 24th between 7:30 and 8:00 p. m. on the stage of the Majestic."

Interstate Theatres have scheduled "Flying Leathernecks" starring John Wayne for that date, and the swearing-in ceremony will take place between showings of the regular feature.

"Response to the Longhorn Leatherneck Platoon, has been gratifying," the Major said. "The number of applications thus far indicate that there will be more than enough men applying to fill the maximum number of 75 men that can be accepted. Interested young-men should act fast, if they wish to be considered for enlistment with the platoon," he warned.

Applications are being accepted by all Marine Recruiters, however young men from Baird and vicinity, should apply at the Marine Recruiting Office at The Post Office building in Abilene for enlistment with the platoon.

NUMBER OF 18-YEAR-OLDS FAILING TO REGISTER

AUSTIN — The number of 18-year-old Texans failing to register under the federal draft law is increasing, Brig. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said here today.

State draft headquarters records indicate that registration has been falling off since the end of March. General Wakefield estimated that 2,000 to 2,500 18-year-olds currently are unregistered.

"We've been watching this situation closely since late spring with the hope that the trend would stop," the state draft director said. "We've asked the local draft boards to act under a provision of the regulations whereby a letter will be sent to men in their communities suspected of being delinquent under the law."

General Wakefield reminded males to registration of penalties if convicted of failure to comply with the law. He quoted from a section of the law providing maximum penalties of fine up to $10,000 and imprisonment up to five years.

Under the draft act, all 18-year-old males are required to register with the nearest draft board on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

"It's up to local boards whether or not they want to turn any man over to federal district attorneys for prosecution," the state Selective Service director said. "Our board members are patient, considerate men, and usually give a man better than a fair chance, if he's willing to co-operate."

"If the registration record doesn't improve within the next two or three months, we're going to advise the boards to be a little tougher than in the past. After all, the man who doesn't register on time isn't pulling his share on the load our people are carrying. He isn't being fair to the man who does register on time."

"A man is dealing fairly with his neighbors if he obeys the law just as they do. We hope parents and public-spirited citizens will keep 18-year-old men reminded of their responsibilities under the law," General Wakefield concluded.

"STRANGERS ON A TRAIN" NEW WARNER DUE

The casual meeting of two strangers aboard a passenger train, an everyday occurrence, draws deep shades of dread and suspicion in "Strangers on A Train," the new Warner Bros. mystery drama, opening Wednesday at the Plaza Theatre.

Farley Granger heads the stellar cast as a young man confronted with a romantic problem until he is approached by a stranger with an unusual offer which subsequently almost costs him his life.

On the distaff side, Ruth Roman is the girl who becomes innocently involved in a murder plot from which she must also extricate the man she loves.

Robert Walker, whose boyish appeal has won him many fans among the feminine movie-goers does a complete turnabout as Bruno, the sinister playboy who uses a disarming smile to disguise a paranoic personality.

To get the proper background, Director Alfred Hitchcock took his cast and crew to New York, Washington, D. C. and Danbury, Conn., where scenes were photographed at Pennsylvania Station, the Washington station, Jefferson Memorial, the Capitol Building and Arlington Bridge.

Also, an entire side show and carnival, with amusement concessions and accompanying paraphernalia, were erected to key the suspenseful chase sequence for "Strangers on A Train."

Danny Tarver of Fort Worth has spent two weeks with his grandmother, Mrs. Royce Gilliland.

TAKE YOUR PICK OF BAIRD PROPERTY NOW WHILE PRICES ARE LOW

All indications show that Baird will soon become a prosperous oil town. It might be wise for you to invest in property before the big demand makes prices go sky high. If you are looking for a bargain in residential property cast an eye at these places:

A six-room house over on the hill, the choicest residential location in Baird. Four lots, two-car garage. House faces east on paved and curbed street. Modern, but needs paint. The new owner can fix it up like he wants it. This place is priced to sell quick as is. $4750, half down, balance monthly at 6%.

Here's another desirable home, located over on the hill, but not on paved street. Three bedrooms, living room, kitchen, bath, car port, two large lots, located on the corner near new subdivision. This is a real bargain at $5600. Part may be financed.

In town within two blocks of the courthouse is another conveniently located home. Three bedrooms, living room, kitchen, porches, bath, garage, nice shrubbery, garden spot, paved sidewalk, just off new highway, not far from school, churches, business district. Owner wants only $3800 cash. This place would make good rent property and would bring at least $50 per month.

FOLKS

In Our Home Town

By Arelle Dill

Hear that faint chime in the distance? That's school bells that will be ringing out for Baird youngsters in just about another week. August is gathering up her yellow skirts, and clearing the way for September, who will be popping her russet brown head around the corner any day now.

Mebbe next January, we'll wish we had some of this summer heat bottled and ready to use when the snow flies — but right now, it's popularity isn't exactly tops. If anyone asks you how hot it is in Baird, Texas, tell 'em, dear, that you can fry eggs on the sidewalks, and you'll be sooo right. We tried one on the street by Mac's Humble Station, and it sizzled to turn in a few seconds.

Welcome home to our gal, Madge Loper Pierson. Madge is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Loper. Right now, she's busy giving brother Jerry a helping hand at the City Pharmacy and greeting all of her many friends. For sure'n Madge has plenty of 'em.

It's been a busy week for Mrs. Terrell Williams. Maurine celebrated a birthday Saturday and made a hurried excursion to Odessa to welcome a new niece. She's home again now 'n just as well, because we can't get along without nice folks like that 'r long.

Someone else is back home 'n we're spreading the welcome mat for her — Mrs. Eddie Konczak. Ovina is recuperating from a major operation and doing fine, and that's wonderful news for all of us.

Have you noticed that beaming smile of Stella Smith's lately? That's because daughter Beatrice and tiny granddaughter, Nancy, are visiting with her. And Nancy is every bit as pretty as her grandmother says she is, and that's about as big a compliment as a baby can get.

So until next week, it's "so long" to all you nice people, and please be watchin' for us when it's "Baird Star time" again.

WARNING TO MERCHANTS

We have been advised by the Texas Press Association that the customary crop of transient salesmen are operating in Texas, selling advertising specialties to local merchants in towns over the state.

Some of these salesmen sell merchants space at two or three times the local newspapers regular rates, then offer it to local publishers at their regular rates; some of them sell space in newspapers, collect for it and that is the last that is ever heard of them.

Another racket of the fly by night salesmen is to sell cartoon advertising with the promise that the cost of the cartoons include the running of the cartoon in the newspaper, which it very seldom does.

In the past we have had these kind of salesmen work in our town and they take your advertising money, and you get nothing in return for it.

When an advertising salesman of any kind, who is not a representative of The Baird Star calls on you, we suggest that you telephone us for confirmation. Most likely when you tell him you are going to call us, he will leave or tell you there is no need to do so that he has already made a contract with the local newspaper.

We suggest that you telephone us anyway, because he has most likely not even been in the newspaper office.

We strongly advise every merchant in Baird to be very careful about signing any contracts with unauthorized salesmen, and that you check with us when a high-pressure ad salesman comes along. It will save you money — and will keep your money at home.

McCrea Predicts Great Future For Stockwell

Popular Joel McCrea has a philosophical outlook toward fellow actors who are capable of stealing a scene here and a scene there throughout nine reels of a movie.

"I've worked with veteran scene stealers all my career," says Joel. "That's great with me."

"As long as the picture that's being stolen from me is a good one—that's all that matters."

Joel McCrea is now starring with juvenile actor Dean Stockwell in Universal-International's technicolor western "Cattle Drive, coming to the Plaza on Sunday and Monday.

McCrea and young Stockwell scored a great hit together in "Stars in My Crown" a heart-warming movie released last year.

"He's a natural scene stealer," McCrea admits. "I just have to recall our scenes together in 'Stars in My Crown' to be fully aware of that. He's also the finest 14-year-old actor in films today."

"Dean's the kind of a kid" Joel continues, "who gets so much sympathy the minute his little mug hits the screen that you'd be a dead duck even if you were the reincarnation of John Barrymore and Edwin Booth."

The actor even worked with the greatest little movie scene stealer in the history of the cinema—Shirley Temple.

McCrea also admits to the fact that he did a bit of scene stealing early in his career when he played a minor supporting role in "Private World" which starred Charles Boyer and Joan Bennett.

"Cattle Drive" is the exciting story of a two-week cattle drive across the burning New Mexico desert and features Chill Wills, Leon Ames and Bob Steele.
