In honor of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month the Floydada ISD and the Whirlwind Booster Club honored local cancer survivors during the game with New Deal, October 19th. The District also wanted to battle those that our community has lost to breast cancer, reading the names and the length of their fight.

The Booster Club sold pink T-shirts during the week and also passed a bucket through the crowd for additional donations. $400 was raised in total and has been donated to the Susan G. Komen Foundation in honor of Floydada's survivors. Those survivors honored that night were Sherre Green-cancer-free for 18 months, Rosemary Gonzales-cancer-free for five years, and Connie Luna-cancer-free for eight years. Those honorees lost to the disease were Maria Elena Torrez-battled cancer for eleven months before passing in 2006; Vikki Garcia-diagnosed in 2008, passing in 2018; Ninfa Enriquez-battled cancer for six months, passing in 1995. On behalf of the Floydada ISD, the Whirlwind Booster Club and this community, we thank you for your strength and courage.

An Honorable Tribute

The community of Floydada lost a truly, good man this past week: Mr. Craig DuBois. In honor to him, his wife Gayle, friends and family, Fire Departments from all over the area attended the funeral with lights flashing and flags waving. Craig spent much of his life working with landowners in saving their property from fire and teaching others the mechanics of doing the same. The enormous show of support is a fitting testament to the man.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I would appreciate contributing a short note of thanks into the Hesperian-Beacon for the support of my mother, Carolyn Cheek, as she spends time in Plainview rehabbing from a mild stroke, fall, and broken leg. I am a long-time subscriber and I know what "the paper" means to Floydada and those of us who have left it.

"My brothers and I truly appreciate the output of love and support shown for our mother. She has stated on numerous occasions that she truly loves her hometown, her friends and her church, and never plans to leave it. We are blessed that you are and will continue to be in her life.

Letter from the Editor

I feel I must apologize for the numerous errors within last week's edition. To those that made the effort to inform us of these mistakes, I do appreciate your reading each week and keeping the entire staff on its toes!

I sincerely apologize to the First United Methodist Church in Lockney. For those that didn't catch it, I announced that the First United Baptist Church in Lockney was having their Fall Festival. Please do not hold that mistake against us. It is always an honor to cover the activities in which your members are involved.

In the About Town article, I completely left out the regular meetings of the Floydada ISD. They are usually held on the 3rd Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. at the FISD meeting room. In months that have major holidays, it's good practice to call and verify the meeting date and time. With that said, this is November—it will be one of those topsy-turvy months where phone calls should be made.

The Scoreboard story was written by me—please don't blame anyone else for any errors made. Also, the story was placed, additionally, below the 1973 Class Reunion photo in error. I'd like to say we wanted to give you TWO opportunities to read this story, but, in truth it was a lay-out error that we didn't catch.

In review of this past edition, the staff has rededicated ourselves to the goal of providing a local, current, readable newspaper on which our readers can rely.

It is an honor, privilege and joy to do this job and I pledge to produce the Hesperian-Beacon on the highest of standards.

Sincerely,
Deon Fincher and the Hesperian-Beacon staff

The 501 The bargain wolf whistle

It's great to find just what you need at an estate sale. It's even more fun to buy a box of assorted items — too much to examine on the spot -- and end up with a 1950s car horn that works off the intake manifold and does a wolf whistle.

Now that young people communicate primarily via smartphones, I'm guessing the guys don't wolf whistle and the girls wouldn't know what to do if they did. Is there a wolf whistle emoji? We digress.

I bought two boxes of miscellanea — one because of an impressive-looking voltage meter and the other for some other items any aspiring electrician might use.

Yes, the term "aspiring electrician" strikes fear in my heart too, especially since I refer to myself.

But there it was — a Square D breaker box that looked like it might work for the 30-amp drop we need at the farm. And sure enough, my husband (who wouldn't be caught dead at an estate sale, except I did get him to go a time or two) was quite pleased with the Square D thing and the meter too. It just needed batteries.

We are a team. I go buy the stuff. He evaluates it and shares with me the joy of a good "find."

He thinks we should sell the wolf whistle (guess he doesn't want me whistling at the boys) and the antique oil can spout. The other stuff we can use. You never know when you might have to replace an electrical outlet. Right? Or change the push button on your doorbell. And we can always make an awl out of the ruined screwdriver to add to our other awls that were screwdrivers in past lives.

WOLF WHISTLE RESEARCH.

I couldn't help but Google the little under-the-hood Yoder Wolf Whistle, made in the USA. They're quite popular in jalopy circles. No surprise. You can even buy new decals if yours needs replacing. Our decal is fine. Because the gadget works off the intake manifold, it's a vacuum-type airflow that makes the whistle function, like sucking on a harmonica. Maybe if I pop the hood on our vintage Chevy truck I'll be able to figure out how to hook the thing up. Better yet, our mechanic can do it. His name is Paul. He knows an intake manifold when he sees one.

Paul is from England. Does he know the meaning of the great American wolf whistle?

MORE WOLF WHISTLE RESEARCH.

Whoa! Looks like I've stepped into controversy. The wolf whistle is indeed known in the mother country. It's even borderline illegal. Wolf whistling fits nicely into the sexual harassment category of legislation recently adopted by Great Britain and other countries. I guess it's like a gateway drug: first marijuana, then heroin. I get it.

Looking on the bright side, my classic whistle should rise in value the more illegal it becomes.

Meanwhile, don't tell my husband I've decided to keep it. He's gonna get my first whistle! Right after Paul.

About town

This past week, Terry and I made a maddeningly quick trip to Greeley, Colorado to attend to some business with my dad. He lives with my oldest sister and her family. While visiting over some delectable pumpkin bars, my sister asked me what my job is like.

I chuckled and replied, "It is six days of mounting stress, then... a day of sublime contentment of what has been achieved. Then, it starts over again."

"How are you getting everything done while travelling?"

Without hesitation, I answered, "I have a lot of people that step in and help when asked."

DEON
FINCHER

As our conversation meandered along, one part of my brain was focused on work, but I wasn't worried—just mindful.

Every week countless individuals contribute, unseen, to each edition of the newspaper. Some consistently feed me story ideas or points of interest that grow into articles. Others generously contribute their time as photographers—and we have some amazing talent in that area. This is so helpful because often there are two or more activities competing for my attention...or, I just can't manage to get to an event. Without a doubt, I know that those friends and acquaintances will be there with their cameras or will 'run down' and snap a few photos if I ask.

Especially helpful to the news gathering process are those coaches and parents that are consistently in guiding and supporting our athletes. When most folks are going home, putting together dinner or getting everyone tucked in for the night, my 'sources' are busy uploading pictures, names of participants and details that can only be obtained if in attendance.

And then there are the reporters! Mercy! Have you ever thought how many words—not just random words, but relevant words—make up a newspaper such as ours? All I can say is, "It's a lot!" Contributions by residents, troop leaders, teachers, and even our Journalism students help fill all the space in each edition. Having these different perspectives serves to give news depth and diversity.

In the background, our small yet productive staff stays close to their cell phones, email accounts and a host of social-media outlets. By the way, we are 'on call' twenty-four hours each day, seven days a week. Weekends are just the same as any other days in the week—we are out and about covering the community activities.

Those willing to support the commercial viability of the paper are necessary, and in Floyd County we have so many generous businesses—both small and large—that share their prosperity. Do all of these organizations need to advertise for new customers? Although increasing customer base is always a benefit, many of our own small business advertise as a means of support for local, small-town news.

Last, but certainly not least, our readers complete the circle. Without our communities, we wouldn't have news...or a reason to report the events and activities that make up our lives. Our readers give us feedback—mostly constructive—on which we strive to implement in an effort to improve the quality and standards of our weekly publication. You also encourage with your compliments. I know of no other professional position in which customers regularly pull us aside to make a comment on something that has been mentioned in the paper. That, dear friends, is the greatest reward.

Opinion

By Robert Romano

I'd like to make a non-political statement about political violence.

Last year a Congressional Republican baseball practice was shot to pieces and U.S. Rep. Steve Scalise (R-La.) was lucky to survive. It was a left-wing nut.

This year it was a right-wing nut who sent around mail bombs to prominent Democrats including former Presidents Bill Clinton and Barack Obama.

Thank God nobody got killed.

Political violence must always be denounced. It occurs in all political stripes. It is not the exclusive province of the left or right or anywhere else.

It is a part of the human condition and one of the many problems the Framers intended to address when the Constitution was debated.

James Madison wrote of "the violence of faction" in Federalist No. 10. He said one of the potential ways to deal with political violence was to remove its causes. But, he warned, the cause was liberty itself—"liberty is to faction, what air is to fire"—and that to attempt to remove it would be worse than the political violence.

I like to think our society can deal with the heated rhetoric, but that rhetoric should never contextually be able to be construed as a call to violence. We all have a responsibility with our discourse not to cross that line. It happens more often than you might think in our current political climate.

The alternative Madison outlined to removing the causes of faction was to control its effects. He went on to outline a variety of factors: the distribution of powers geographically in the federalist system and so forth, the separation of powers between executive, legislative and judicial, that would temper factions. Recall he was making a case for the Constitution, saying doing all those things to limit government would control the effects of faction.

It is also fair to say that the Constitution did not prevent the Civil War and all the same disorders from occurring. In that sense the Constitution on its own was a failure at preventing the great calamity of the 1860s.

It could happen again.

The lesson is that it's on each of us to preserve the civil society.

The acts of the violent do not represent those who still believe in a deliberative system of government. If you still believe in our political system, don't call for violence against your political opponents.

We need to unite on this one. We need to come together and denounce political violence and political radicalism.

Elections are the answer.

The peaceful transfer of power is the answer.

Friendly, spirited debates are the answer.

I am fortunate enough to do that for a living every day. Gather facts that support the policy positions I favor. It saddens me to consider the very real possibility that there could be a day where that will not be the way we peacefully settle our differences.

Freedom from political violence is the only thing that keeps us from the dysfunctions and disorders that ended the Roman Republic and every other great society that once existed. We unite on this question, or civil society fails. Those are the options. Choose wisely.

JOHN WILSON KIMBLE FAMILY

By Joyce Kimble

John Wilson Kimble was born in Floydada, Texas, on April 5, 1918. His father was Thomas Wilson Kimble, an optometrist, jeweler, and watch maker. His mother was Sally Brown McGlinchey Kimble of Aledo, Texas. John had an older sister, Mary Anne, who was born in Fort Worth before her parents moved to Floydada.

After attending Texas Tech University and Texas Christian University, John graduated from Texas Wesleyan College. He then earned a degree in optometry from Southern College of Optometry in Memphis, Tennessee.

World War II intervened and John enlisted in the navy. After serving as a medical corpsman in Norfolk, Virginia, he attended Naval Officers' School at Northwestern University in Chicago, Illinois. His first assignment was in New York City, routing convoys. He then applied for overseas duty. He was placed in command of a Picket boat base in England, and participated in the D-Day invasion of France. John returned from Europe in August of 1945, prepared to go to the Pacific Theatre. The dropping of the atomic bomb on Japan marked the end of World War II and the return to civilian life.

On September 22, 1945, John married Joyce Eleanor Koenen in Oak Park, Illinois. Their courtship began when he was in Mid-shipman school in Chicago. Joyce was the daughter of Harry J. Koenen of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Hazel Musson Koenen of Port Huron, Michigan.

On March 10, 1946, John and Joyce came to Floydada. John practiced with his father until Dr. Wilson Kimble's death in January of 1948. John bought his father's practice and stayed in Floydada.

He and Joyce had four sons; John Wilson II, born February 7, 1947; Harry Jeffrey, born April 23, 1949; James Robert, born March 21, 1951; and Joel Koenen, born October 8, 1952.

During his fifty-eight years in Floydada, John was active in community and church activities. He died on February 6, 1976.

Miracles Christmas Parade 2018

Special to The Hesperian-Beacon

LUBBOCK...The 14th Annual Miracles Christmas Parade will take place on Saturday, December 8, 2018 on 34th Street. The free, family-friendly nighttime lighted parade will start at 6:00pm at 34th and Ave Q and proceed west down 34th Street to Indiana Avenue, according to Jason Davis, Parade Chairman for the Wranglers, the volunteer producers and hosts for the annual Christmas season event.

The parade theme this year is "A Fairy-Tale Christmas" and a crowd of more than 30,000 spectators is expected for the colorful, lighted parade. The purpose and goal of the parade is to bring cheer to every spectator, participant, and organizers, and to provide families and individuals an event that will continue to build lasting holiday memories for everyone.

"Applications should be submitted as soon as possible. Deadline for applications is November 30, 2018 at 5pm," according to Davis. Parade information, participant rules and applications, are now available on the web at www.miraclesparade.com. Fees and complete information are now available on the site for those planning to participate.

The Texas Tech Masked Rider has again agreed to be a special guest as a parade participant. The Masked Rider is always a big hit with families and children wherever a public appearance is offered.

Wranglers, the group of volunteers who plan and coordinate the parade, also remind the public that this free parade features Santa Claus, who will be riding the final parade unit with the United States Marines. Marines will walk beside their trucks and collect unwrapped toys from spectators for their annual Toys for Tots campaign. In 2017, more than 7,500 individual toys were collected during the parade.

"We are expecting more than 40 parade units," said Davis, "which will include marching bands, riding clubs, beauty queens, and many non-profit groups from Lubbock and area towns including school and church organizations." Each parade participant unit is asked to put at least 1,000 lights on their float or vehicle to illuminate it for the nighttime parade.

A mandatory safety meeting for parade participants will be held Tuesday, December 4th prior to the event. Details and all information can be found at www.miraclesparade.com.

Craig DuBois

Craig DuBois, age 63, of Floydada, passed away Saturday, October 20, 2018.

Graveside service were held at 10 a.m., Thursday, October 25, 2018 at the Floyd County Memorial Park in Floydada.

Visitation was held from 5 p.m. - 7 p.m., Wednesday, October 24, 2018 at the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department Fire Hall. Arrangements were under the personal care of Moore-Rose Funeral Home of Floydada.

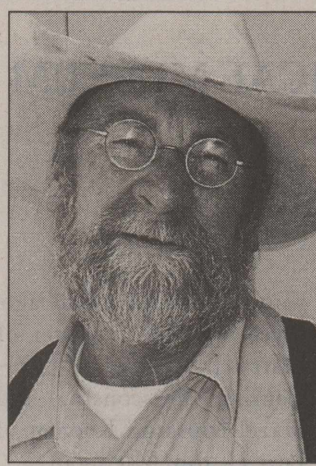

Craig was born January 9, 1955 to Bill and Wanda (Lackey) DuBois in Odessa, Texas. He married Gail Po-reet on June 15, 1974. They made their home and raised their family in the Cedar Hill Community, before moving to town in 2000.

Craig was the Fire Chief at the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department for many years. Voting is how we participate in a civic society - be it for president, be it for a municipal election. It's the way we teach our children - in school elections - how to be citizens, and the importance of their voice.

Election days come and go. But the struggle of the people to create a government which represents all of us and not just the one percent - a government based on the principles of economic, social, racial and environmental justice - that struggle continues.

As I have done in every election since I started voting so many years ago, I always like to take my time and examine the two candidates, see not only the two candidates but the policies they will bring in, the people they will bring in, who they might appoint to the Supreme Court, and look at the whole range of issues before making a decision.

God's Works of Art

We are God's handiwork, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do.
—Ephesians 2:10 (NIV)

Our youngest daughter, Nan, is a gifted quilter. After hearing me speak about these verses in Ephesians, she said to me, with a smile, that a quilt is a useful work of art. As I thought about how quilts are made and used, I realized that she was right. Depending on the quilt's intended purpose, the quilter chooses the fabrics, pattern, size, and the intricacy of the project. Although many quilts are created to be objects of beauty — and we have several of our daughter's quilts displayed in our home — most are made to be used. We have one spread across our bed, and we have some smaller ones that we use to wrap up in during chilly winter evenings. One that my husband especially enjoys is made of flannel.

Just as a master quilter carefully constructs quilts, so our God has created us specifically for the good works that our particular skills, talents, and gifts can meet. God has stitched us in love and graced us with faith; it is our responsibility to follow God's way for us and reach out to those God brings across our path. We are to serve God as useful works of art.
— Sara Powell (Georgia)

The rains have subsided, the sun is out, and my door (without a screen, mind you) is wide open this afternoon! It's just one of those days that I cannot seem to get enough sunshine.

The past few weeks I have struggled physically and mentally, and today, I needed some therapy for my brain and body. That therapy comes in the form of dirt and seeds, a trowel and a spade...and a little bit of water.

My therapy came about as I poked around in each of my gardens this morning. I pinched off low leaves from cabbage and kale plants, removed our pepper and chili plants, admired the last few cherry tomatoes and pledged to let them grow as long as the weather allows, and planted some seeds in bare spots.

My hollyhock plants scattered its seeds all over the walkways in between our garden beds, so I took my spade and dug up these established plants. They will be replanted along our fences and house corners this afternoon so that they may send their roots deep into the soil during the winter months. Next spring, because they are already yearlings, those plants will spring forth with a stunning display of purple, pink, and maroon blooms.

The rains have given all my fall-planted garden varieties a boost! Kale, onions, lettuces, greens, beets, turnips and cabbage all poked their heads out during the storms. Those that were already up reached toward the sun's heat, adding a few more inches to their leaves. This winter is going to be so rewarding as we feast on nature's abundance--even in the cold.

On the other hand, there are many plants that have grown all summer, produced fruit, scattered their seeds in the wind, and have finished their whole cycle. From those plants, I have collected their seeds and labeled the envelopes for next spring, then pulled the stems from the ground and added what is left of their vines, stems and leaves to our compost pile. During the winter, all of those 'pieces' will be decomposing into a pile of rich, life-giving soil...starting the circle on more time.

My hands are caked in dirt, my feet are muddy, my shirt has been spattered with water and mud, my jeans have dirty hand-prints on them, and I probably have some seeds, grass blades, and soil in my hair. I have to say, "This has been a WONDERFUL day!"

Kane Beef Under Court Receivership

By Tony St. James
www.ALLAgNews.com

(CORPUS CHRISTI, TX) Just over a week ago, a U.S. District Court Judge placed South Texas livestock processor Kane Beef into court-ordered receivership. This followed months of growing debt and outstanding financial commitments - including millions to cattle feeders and other creditors like the city of Corpus Christi. The beef plant harvests around 5,000 head per week from almost three dozen Texas feedlots. Now under the control of Retired U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Richard S. Schmidt, he controls all of Kane's finances, property, and assets, including a plant that has been in business for more than 60 years, employs 750 workers and generates around half a billion in annual sales. Schmidt stressed that receivership allows time to cut costs, retain employees, maintain operations and search for a suitable buyer or investor, whereas a bankruptcy could require closing the plant. According to Ross Wilson, President/CEO of Texas Cattle Feeders Association in Amarillo, "unpaid cattle feeders have the highest priority of outstanding debt, and (TCFA) is working with the receiver and exercising that priority through the court".

FDA & USDA steps cautiously with cell-cultured meat

By Tony St. James
www.ALLAgNews.com

(WASHINGTON, DC) — Industry leaders have gathered this week to discuss future steps in the regulation of cell-cultured meat products. The product is produced by in vitro cultivation of animal cells, instead of from slaughtered animals and is referred to as a form of cellular agriculture. Cultured meat is produced using many of the same tissue engineering techniques traditionally used in regenerative medicine. Both the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) have vowed to work together in addressing the new and emerging industry. On Tuesday, the focus of the two-day forum was on a collaborative approach to setting up a sensible, dual-agency regulatory framework - or oversight - for the industry. The second day was reserved for issues involving labeling of the product.

Lockney Longhorns

Longhorns fall short to Bobcats 40-15

By Charles Keaton
The Hesperian-Beacon

SMYER – Lockney jumped out to an early lead, but the Smyer Bobcats scored 28 straight points as they defeated the Longhorns in a District 4-2A-2 battle, 40-15. The Longhorns fall to 0-8 and 0-3 while the Bobcats improve to 2-6 and 2-1.

The Longhorns put the first points on the board on a Devin DeLeon four-yard run and with the extra point from Josh Jimenez, Lockney took a 7-0 lead with 9:42 left in the first quarter. The Bobcats answered back, with 6:42 left in the quarter, Ethan Ramirez found Dominic Lucero open for an 11-yard touchdown pass. The two-point conversion was no good and Lockney led 7-6 after the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Ramirez scored on a 25-yard run with 9:29 left in the quarter. After the two-point conversion, Smyer held a 14-7 lead. Ramirez scored again on a nine-yard run with 2:41 left in the half and after the extra point kick, the Bobcats held a 21-7 lead at the half.

The Bobcats extended their lead on a seven-yard run by Braxton Lozano with 4:50 left in the third quarter to give Smyer a 28-7 lead.

The Longhorns scored on a four-yard run by DeLeon with 11:48 left in the fourth quarter. Anson Rendon rushed for a two-point conversion, but Smyer still led 28-15. With 7:17 left in the game, Ramirez scored his third touchdown of the night for Smyer, this time on a six-yard run to make it 34-15. Lozano added a two-yard touchdown run for the Bobcats with 2:57 left in the game to give Smyer a 40-15 victory.

“The turning points in the game were when we allowed two fourth down conversions, one in the first half and one in the second half that lead to two touchdowns,” Head Coach Stacy Ward said.

Offensively for Lockney, they had 256 total yards including 207 yards rushing and 49 yards passing. For Smyer, they had 410 total yards including 253 yards rushing and 157 yards passing.

ADDITIONAL NOTICE. TCEQ's Executive Director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application. After technical review of the application is complete, the Executive Director may prepare a draft permit and will issue a preliminary decision on the application. Notice of the Application and Preliminary Decision will be published and mailed to those who are on the county-wide mailing list and to those who are on the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the deadline for submitting public comments.

PUBLIC COMMENT / PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting on this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. TCEQ will hold a public meeting if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for submitting public comments, the Executive Director will consider all timely comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Unless the application is directly referred for a contested case hearing, the response to comments, and the Executive Director's decision on the application, will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments and to those persons who are on the mailing list for this application. If comments are received, the mailing will also provide instructions for requesting reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision and for requesting a contested case hearing. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court.

TO REQUEST A CONTESTED CASE HEARING, YOU MUST INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING ITEMS IN YOUR REQUEST: your name, address, phone number; applicant's name and proposed permit number; the location and distance of your property/activities relative to the proposed facility; a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the facility in a way not common to the general public; a list of all disputed issues of fact that you submit during the comment period and, the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing." If the request for contested case hearing is filed on behalf of a group or association, the request must designate the group's representative for receiving future correspondence; identify by name and physical address an individual member of the group who would be adversely affected by the proposed facility or activity; provide the information discussed above regarding the affected member's location and distance from the facility or activity; explain how and why the member would be affected; and explain how the interests the group seeks to protect are relevant to the group's purpose.

Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the Executive Director will forward the application and any requests for reconsideration or for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

The Commission may only grant a request for a contested case hearing on issues the requestor submitted in their timely comments that were not subsequently withdrawn. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact or mixed questions of fact and law relating to relevant and material water quality concerns submitted during the comment period.

TCEQ may act on an application to renew a permit for discharge of wastewater without providing an opportunity for a contested case hearing if certain criteria are met.

MAILING LIST. If you submit public comments, a request for a contested case hearing or a reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision, you will be added to the mailing list for this specific application to receive future public notices mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk. In addition, you may request to be placed on: (1) the permanent mailing list for a specific applicant name and permit number; and/or (2) the mailing list for a specific county. If you wish to be placed on the permanent and/or the county mailing list, clearly specify which list(s) and send your request to TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.
