Japanese-U. S. Crisis Nearing Climax

Furious Soviet Attacks Stagger Germans On Vital Fronts

Moscow Facing Greatest Peril Of Conflict

"Most Terrific Offensive Of All Times" Launched

(By The Associated Press)

MASSED Red armies, fighting furiously in the paralyzing cold of their native Russian winter, yesterday parried a renewed German drive upon Moscow with lightning strokes which staggered the Nazi invaders in numerous vital fronts.

Nevertheless, Moscow appeared to face the greatest peril of the war as Adolf Hitler's commanders in the field reported their armies had overrun five more towns and swung close to the headwaters of the Don River 200 miles southeast of the Soviet capital.

The new German drive upon the Soviet capital was described by the Italian radio as "the most terrific offensive of all times." It said Hitler was throwing a million and a half men, 8,000 tanks and a thousand guns into the battle.

Armies Still Broken

Specifically, the Germans, plowing through deep snow to temperatures as low as 31 degrees (Fahrenheit) below zero, claimed they held Moshaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow, and Kani, 30 miles north-west, while pushing steadily forward on the southern flank around Orel and Kursk.

They had captured Malo-Arkhangelsk, midway between Orel and Kursk, and the towns of Livny, Novosil, Mtsensk and Chern, all in a 60-mile arc east of Orel.

But the Russians, reporting the German armies in the south still broken and on the run toward Mariupol, 100 miles west of captured Rostov, said Red armies had won two important bridgeheads in Kalinin sector, 90 miles northwest of Moscow, were holding the Nazis near Klin, 50 miles northwest of the capital, and were moving into German defenses around Tikhvin, 110 miles south.

Host In Sun Bowl Still Not Named

THE Sun bowl situation was still somewhat clouded early this morning.

A poll of Border conference members was still underway late last night and the assumption in El Paso was that Arizona would receive the majority vote, according to a special dispatch to the Sunday Avalanche. Dr. R. B. Homan, Jr., Sun bowl chairman, announced he would not be notified of the choice until sometime today. If Arizona is chosen further action likely will not be taken until Monday. Final word on the matter was:

"Nobody in El Paso knows for sure what Arizona will do. If Arizona does decline Texas Tech is a cinch."

Finnish Vessels In U. S. Seized By Coast Guard

Orders Given As Great Britain Declares War

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The navy department announced tonight it had instructed the coast guard to take into protective custody Finnish merchant ships in United States ports.

The action was under the United States policy of taking over custody of ships of Axis or Axis-dominated powers tied up in United States ports.

The navy announcement listed six ships known to be in American ports at this time.

Only Brief Order

While the navy department's announcement was restricted to the brief order to the coast guard, it was assumed the action was the result of Great Britain's formal declaration of Finland as a belligerent partner of the Axis powers.

The navy announcement gave this accounting of Finnish ships: Oliva, known to be at Boston Dec. 4;

Kuorikoski and the motor vessel Saima, both of which were at New York Dec. 5; Advance, at Philadelphia on Dec. 5;

Asagot, at Baltimore, and the motor vessel Aurora, at Newport News Dec. 5.

Some Are Old

Maritime commission officials said Finland had 24 ships operating in the western hemisphere under a safe conduct guarantee by Great Britain. Eleven are under the Panama flag, 12 under the Finnish flag and in Cuban registry.

Maritime sources said the Finnish vessels under Panamanian registry were subject to seizure by Britain as "enemy" vessels in view of the announcement by Britain on June 22 that she would not recognize transfer from Finnish registry.

The Finnish vessels run in size from 1,088 to 4,965 gross tonnage. With the exception of two built in 1935, they are old vessels, some of them as much as 30 or 40 years, marine sources said.

WHEW! TWICE AROUND THE GLOBE—Mrs. Winifred Newsome Snyder takes time off to smile after studying the world globe to get an idea of the distance she will have traveled to and from college by the time she obtains her degree. She commutes to and from Snyder, 83 miles each way, six days weekly to attend Texas Technological college. The distance by next August will be equivalent to two trips around the globe.

When Co-Ed Wife Finishes At Tech She Will Have Traveled 50,130 Miles

BY OPAL McMAHON

A 10-minute to 5 o'clock pretty Mrs. Winifred Newsome Snyder arises from bed in Snyder and at 9 o'clock she enters the classroom at Texas Technological college.

Each day Monday through Saturday she commutes 166 miles by train back and forth between home and college, besides an additional 8 miles daily between railway station and home at Snyder and station and college in Lubbock.

Working For Degree

She plans to continue that routine until conclusion of summer school next year, when she expects to receive a bachelor of arts degree with a major in English.

Allowing for holidays and between-term recesses, she will have traveled 50,130 miles when she receives her degree or a distance of 40 to 42 trips around the globe.

After figuring that mileage, Zoie Odum Newsome herself was surprised.

Better Be Worth It

"It would be worth it," she said. "I had better be," she said.

"My husband has a law degree and his bachelor's and I decided I should have at least one degree," she explained.

Mixing life of a co-ed and that of a housewife isn't always easy, particularly when one must allow four hours daily for train trips.

It means arising before sunrise in order to cook breakfast and rush to catch the train. It means cooking dinner after her arrival home at 6:10 o'clock each night.

Mrs. Newsome boards the train leaving Snyder at 6:03 o'clock each morning and the train leaving Lubbock at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Huband Encourages Her

"I'm afraid I would get discouraged at times if my husband didn't encourage me to keep on with it," she said.

The train rides save her study problem, because she does most

Japanese Press Accuses FDR Of Insincerity

Premier To Speak 'The Whole Truth' Next Monday

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 6.—The Japanese press, accusing President Roosevelt of insincerity and stalling in talks of peace, sounded a keynote tonight that Washington has turned completely from appeasement to an offensive attitude that would find all East Asia at arms in case of aggression.

In the midst of these renewed blasts at the United States, Premier Hideki Tojo, Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo and Navy Minister Vice Admiral Shigetaro Shimada would speak the whole truth about the current international situation as well as the Japanese-American talks in speeches Monday before a council of the imperial rule assistance association.

Dr. Morinosuke Kashima, Asahi's foreign commentator, asserted that the United States still sticks to its former negative defensive policy of the United States, and in its place is a "positive, offensive attitude diplomatically, politically and strategically."

Attaches Recalled

That the United States still sticks to its former appeasement policy," he said.

Taking much the same line, the newspaper Kokumin declared that in the event of "American aggression a billion people of East Asia would become belligerents against the United States and Britain."

It was divulged during the day, which brought ominous new developments in the Pacific crisis, that certain attaches of the Japanese embassy at Washington had been recalled, but reasons for the move were not specified.

Settlement Possible

At the same time Nippon Yusen Kaisha, the big Japanese steamship company, called home equal

Roosevelt Message Is Dispatched To Japan's Emperor

More Troops Are Reported Concentrated In Indo-China; Explanation Rejected

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Roosevelt has dispatched a personal message to Emperor Hirohito of Japan in the midst of darkening war clouds in the Far East, it was disclosed by the state department tonight.

The president's direct message to the emperor, who is regarded as divine by the Japanese, was immediately interpreted in well-informed quarters as a reflection of his dissatisfaction with the explanation made by premier Tojo of Japan through the Japanese envoys here as to the reason for Japanese troop concentrations in French Indo-China.

The message also was viewed as possibly a step of last resort to avert an open break with Japan since it was considered unlikely that Mr. Roosevelt would communicate directly with the emperor unless virtually all hope had been abandoned of a satisfactory adjustment of Japanese-American difficulties through the usual diplomatic channels.

The state department's terse announcement that a message was being sent by the president to the Mikado gave no intimation of its contents but was pointedly couched with an assertion that 125,000 Japanese troops were reported massing in the Indo-China area and that two heavily armed Japanese convoys had been sighted only this morning steaming toward the gulf of Siam.

Report To Mikado

At the time of the sinking of the American gunboat Panay by the Japanese in Chinese waters in 1937, Prince Fumimaro Konoye, then premier, made a report of the incident to the Mikado following strong United States protests and there also was a direct message from the president to the emperor.

Shortly before the outbreak of the European war, Mr. Roosevelt sent a personal appeal to Adolf Hitler in an effort to avert that conflict.

The importance of the present step can be measured by the awe and veneration in which the Mikado is held by his 100,000,000 subjects. He is considered descended from the Sun goddess Amaterasu in the time unbroken for ages eternal" and holds aloof on a plane far above the ordinary business of government.

Not for years probably not since the death of the great Emperor Meiji in 1912 has a Japanese emperor attempted to swerve imperial policy from the lines marked out by his ministers or the still more powerful chiefs of the army and navy.

The situation with respect to troop concentrations was summarized as follows:

Anti-Strike Act Is Delayed In U. S. Senate

BY GEORGE E. REEDY, JR. United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Senate leaders made plans tonight to postpone consideration of the anti-strike act until after the week-end while hearings are held on a drastic, House-approved anti-strike measure by the Senate labor committee.

Final decision hinged on the attitude of Sen. Tom Connally, D. Tex., who is absent from the capital. Connally has announced intentions to call up his bill to authorize the government seizure of strikebound defense plants and mines when the Senate meets Monday.

Postponement contingent on Connally's consent was decided upon after Chairman Elbert D. Thomas, D. Utah, of the labor committee, held a series of conferences with members of his group. Hearing on the House bill will be a "limited" character, Thomas said.

Advanced By McNary

The proposal to postpone start of debate on labor legislation was first advanced by Senate Republican Leader Charles L. McNary of Oregon, who said that committee consideration would not seriously delay final floor action on the bill. McNary pointed out that labor leaders have complained that the final version of the Smith

Two Mutilated Bodies Found

(By The United Press)

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., Dec. 6.—The mutilated bodies of a coast guard mill worker and a petty quartermaster who had been missing since "Thursday" night were found today near a "lovers lane" a mile south of here.

The girl was Florence Walston, 20, who lived in Camden county and worked in a hosiery mill here, police said. They identified the man as Robert Old, 23, Fort Lee, Va., on leave from his coast guard duties.

No Motive Found

Pasquotank county and Elizabeth City police investigating the double slaying were unable to find a motive or any suspects but were inclined to believe two persons committed the murders.

Authorities speculated that Miss Walston and Old were accosted while on a walk and that one assailant held the victims at the point of a gun while the other struck from behind, possibly with a knife.

Dr. W. H. C. White, Pasquotank coroner, said the girl was struck twice on the head, causing two large gashes, and that she was criminally attacked later.

Almost Decapitated

So the Goodfellows are now anxious about the names. If they have their wish, no children under the age of 15 years residing inside the city limits of Lubbock regardless of race or color, will be forgotten. Perhaps you can help to make certain there will be no empty stockings on Christmas day.

Declaration Of Emergency In Cuba Is Asked

(By The Associated Press)

President Fulgencio Batista declared a state of emergency today, while President General Tiburcio Casias Andino of Honduras declared he had documentary proof that Axis agents had attempted to establish in America governments "manageable by them" to fight against the United States.

"The time has come to adopt extraordinary measures required by national defense," the Cuban president said in his message to Congress. He asked that the cabinet be granted extraordinary powers to rule by decree for 45 days. He did not name specifically the powers.

Plotted To Destroy Port

Before the Chamber of Deputies, President Carias declared that in Honduras enemies of the government had conspired with Nazi agents to provoke disorders. The plotting, he said, also extended to the other Central American countries which are Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

Meanwhile in Mexico City, Vice Admiral Luis Hurtado de Mendoza, said in a published statement that captain and crews of ten Axis vessels seized by the Mexican government at Tampico last April had plotted to destroy the port of the city as well as the vessels.

Two Football Players Are Killed In Crash

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 6.—Two stars of the Robert Lee high school football team, Jack Tubbs and Lloyd Higgins, each 17, were killed last night when Tubbs' automobile failed to take a curve and overturned on the San Angelo-Robert Lee road.

Another member of the squad, Jack Latham, 18, was injured critically. He is unconscious in a San Angelo hospital.

Mississippi Sheriff Has Too Much Money

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Sheriff Fred A. Ross handed the state of Mississippi a bagful of money today — $5,000 worth of evidence from his own pocket that he meant what he said when elected.

For the second year, the 32-year-old Aulerdale county officer proved he wasn't kidding in his campaign when he declared sheriffdom made too much money and he proposed to return to the state for old age pensions all fees that he collected in excess of a reasonable salary.

Last December, when he closed the books on his first year in office, he sent the treasury a check for $5,000 but this year he loaded the cash into a white canvas sack and delivered it in person.

King Vittorio Emanuele III Narrowly Escapes Bombs

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Dec. 6.—A narrow escape from British bombs by King Vittorio Emanuele III of Italy was disclosed today when the little monarch returned from a nine-day tour of air-pounded Sicilian towns.

The king arrived at Villa San Giovanni, across the straits of Sicily from Messina on the toe of the Italian boot, Thursday afternoon just after five British planes bombed and "machine-gunned" the town, injuring nine persons, Fascists said.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A resolution by Rep. Winifred (R-Kan.) to initiate an investigation of the REA by a special six-man House group has been referred to the rules committee, whose members indicated today they were not likely to act soon.

The resolution called for an investigation generally on charges that REA officials were leaders in attempts to extend government control over industry, and specifically on an assertion that the REA was hoarding millions of pounds of copper in Texas, despite urgent defense needs for the metal.

Stored In Fields

This copper, he asserted, was stored in open fields in Texas, where the REA intended to construct transmission lines linking several cooperatives centered around Gilmer, despite the REA's inability to construct a generating plant now, and despite the fact that private utilities were supplying power to cooperatives at lower rates than the new generating plant could achieve.

After introducing his resolution

United States-Africa Trans-Atlantic Mail Service Is Inaugurated Saturday

Two Clippers Off On First Flight

(By The United Press)
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6.—Two big clippers, carrying 30 passengers, took off in a clearing fog today to inaugurate an airline linking the United States with Europe for the first time.

The Puerto Rican Clipper, the four-motored flying boat carrying nine passengers and 376 pounds of mail, took off from Pan-American Airway's marine base. The Clipper Comet left from municipal airport with 21 passengers.

Employees Are Passengers
Most of the passengers on the inaugural flight were Pan-American employees, including pilots for the Trans-African service.

At San Juan, Puerto Rico, the passengers change to the 42-ton flying boat Capetown Clipper, which will take them to Bathurst, capital of British Gambia on Africa's west coast, then to Lagos, Nigeria and finally to Leopoldville, 8693 miles from Miami.

At Lagos the Capetown clipper connects with the new airtline to Khartoum, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, which is being established by a Pan-American subsidiary. Thus observers will be able to fly from the Libyan battlefield to Washington within a week.

Requires Five Days
The flight to Leopoldville requires five days. From San Juan, the Capetown Clipper, under command of Capt. William M. Masland, crosses the Caribbean to port of Spain, Trinidad, for an overnight stop.

Sunday the flying boat will cross the Guianas to Belem (Para), Brazil. Then on Monday the clipper hops to Natal, on the "hump" of Brazil, before departing that night on the 1832-mile Atlantic crossing to Bathurst, arriving early Tuesday. Lagos will be reached Wednesday and Leopoldville Thursday.

The 8693 miles between Miami and Leopoldville makes the line one of the world's longest. PAA's other trans-Atlantic line, between New York and Lisbon, covers only 3447 miles.

Anton Legion Post Now Being Formed

The charter membership now is being enrolled for the formation of an American Legion post at Anton, according to notification received here Saturday by Chas. Whitacre, district commander.

Charles Cooper, chairman of the organization committee, advised that the minimum of 15 members required before a post may be chartered have been signed and that he expects further additions to the list. The record was described by Whitacre as being unusually high because only 32 potential members are listed as residing in the Anton area.

A banquet to be attended by prominent legionnaires of the district and state is being planned for the occasion of the official presentation of the charter, Whitacre was informed.

The district commander also announced Saturday his notification by Andrew Dilworth of San Antonio, state commander, that J. D. Raley, Jr., past commander of the Lubbock post, has been appointed a member of the state finance committee for 1942.

Refresher Work Being Offered

Ten men are taking a "refresher course" in preparation for enlistment in the U. S. Army aviation cadets, at Lubbock Senior high school and they hope to complete their work early in February.

Four nights a week are spent in study, in two class sessions of an hour each. Subjects taught include English composition and grammar, arithmetic, algebra through quadratics, plane geometry, plane trigonometry, general history and U. S. history. The trigonometry course is considered a double course.

"It is not too late for men who want to 'make up' the work already given," said Major Joseph R. Peller, district recruiting officer. "High school graduates who want to refresh their work, and who will work a little harder to make up on their own." An aviation examining board will be in Lubbock Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and those interested can talk to me and to the board."

More Interest Shown
Growing interest in refresher work is being shown, said Major Peller, who added that Pampa had a committee working on the program. Capt. Perry C. Echeverri, district aviation procurement officer, who is to be here, will go to Pampa for a meeting Tuesday noon.

Childress and Shamrock civic groups have had conversations with Major Peller and they are already working through the school systems with committees of business men.

Besides these, Amarillo has 11 men in a course at the Amarillo Junior college; Big Spring has a group at the high school and at Marfa the high school has a group for men from Fort D. A. Russell, nearby. At El Paso a second course is under way.

Nationwide Walkout Of Welders Is Called For Tuesday

Union At Odds With A. F. O. F. L.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 6.—A nationwide walkout of welders, which had its beginning in a jurisdictional strike of 67 men on a $40,000,000 ordinance plant today was called for Tuesday unless there is government intervention.

At odds with the American Federation of Labor over rejection of demands for a separate union, the United Brotherhood of Welders, Cutters and Helpers announced the strike would be effective throughout the country Tuesday morning.

Lloyd Payne, brotherhood secretary, in announcing the executive board's decision in Washington, said 75,000 men would leave their jobs in shipyards and defense construction projects. The union claims 125,000 members.

In Los Angeles, where one small shipyard was closed and another at work on cargo vessels aggregating more than $75,000,000 was seriously hampered by a walkout several weeks ago, welders forecast almost immediate lockouts because of present refusal to pay up dues in the AFL boilermakers union.

Heber James Brown of Oakland, Calif., attorney for the independent union, said President Roosevelt had been advised the brotherhood had no alternative but to strike.

The welders, who tie together sections of steel and pipe into working parts of ships and buildings, are affiliated with various unions within the AFL among them ironworkers, steamfitters and boilermakers.

They are seeking autonomy within AFL and are opposed to what they term exorbitant work permit fees charged by the locals to which they may be attached.

Navy Modifies Its Requirements

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The Navy today announced a modification of physical standards for enlistment in the Navy, the Marine corps, the Naval reserve and the Marine corps reserve.

Men with varicose veins, hernia and hydrocele will be accepted for duration of the emergency in all but the Marine corps. The Marine corps will accept men with varicose veins and hydrocele but will not enlist those with hernia. Applicants with hernia will be treated at the Naval training station.

Barring Defects Listed
Other physical defects which formerly barred men from service but now are acceptable are seasonal hay fever, correctible nasal deformity, undernourishment and underdevelopment which are not due to organic disease, and other minor surgical defects which can be corrected within a month.

The Marine corps is going into the backwoods with recruiting trucks to enlist men in the service, the Navy announced today.

The trucks, built to move over the worst country roads, will carry their own electrical generating equipment for power in isolated sections. Four such trucks with trailers are already on the road.

Refreshments will follow the program, the commander said.

Oklahoma Firms Said Violators

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson announced today that the Copartite and Metal Co. and the Pioneer Iron & Metal Co. both of Oklahoma City, Okla., are "frequent and persistent" violators of the government's iron and steel scrap price schedule.

In the first case in which the Office of Price Administration has given full publicity regarding violators of the scrap price schedule, Henderson declared:

"Public Exposure Necessary
"I regret that these steps are necessary at a time when we are enjoying a very large measure of cooperation from both sellers and consumers of scrap.

"The number of people in any industry who choose to exploit the defense program by deliberate profiteering is very small. But those who do are a menace not only to the public welfare but to the loyal members of the industry whom they outbid for supplies.

"Public exposure of such profiteers is the only fair course. To profiteer in scrap in the present emergency is to strike directly at the general welfare."

Refuse To Make Restitution
According to Henderson, the two iron and metal companies are partnerships with Ralph Finkelstein and Reuben Finkelstein as members. Both firms are affiliated, he said, with Capital Compression Steel Co. of Tulsa, Okla., and Springfield, Mo., and the Utah Compressed Steel Co., Salt Lake City.

Following disclosure of the violations by field investigators, Henderson said, the companies "refused to make restitution or to agree to comply with the schedule" although they "admitted the violations."

Fortenberry Buys Crim Estate Land
W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe was purchaser of a section of land containing the addition to the original town of Monroeville for which a warranty deed was filed in the office of County Clerk Ed D. Allen Saturday afternoon.

The section, No. 27, block D, was described as part of the estate of Ward Crim, pioneer Lubbock county resident who died in 1940. The warranty deed was signed by Mrs. J. J. Adams, a feme sole, and other beneficiaries of the estate.

Consideration was $22,500, of which $17,000 was paid in cash and $5,500 to assume indebtedness on the land. The original deed, dated Oct. 19, 1939, and a confirmation deed were filed Saturday.

Each competitor was given two minutes to milk a Jersey cow. Miss Dougherty checked in a half-pint when time was called. City girls outdid the country lassies all round in the contest. Second place winner was Marion Tillery of Houston, and third place went to Marjorie Sinclair of Houston. The milking was a stunt to boost a variety carnival to be staged by students Monday night.

Error Is Corrected; Firm's Open House Is From 7 To 10 P. M.

Through an error, a statement in the Carpenter Paper company's special section of today's paper says open houses will be held at the company's new warehouse and office at 902-4-6 Avenue G from 7 to 8 p. m. Monday night. The hours of the open house are from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

King Leopold Marries Belgian Commoner

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—King Leopold of the Belgians has been married for several months to a Belgian commoner, it was reliably reported today.

The 49-year-old monarch, now a prisoner of war, was reported married secretly at a church but it was said that a civil marriage ceremony will be performed later.

The marriage will be announced officially on Monday, it was reported.

The king who capitulated to German armies when the Allies were fighting a desperate battle in Flanders and thus opened the British left flank to attack, was first married in 1926 to Princess Astrid of Sweden. She was killed in an automobile accident in 1935.

Austin Girl Winner In Campus Milking Tilt

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—Pretty Miss Becky Dougherty of Austin had no previous familiarity with cows but she won a milking contest on the University of Texas campus today.

With a large throng of on-lookers and rooters, numerous cows entered the contest. It was held on a campus grass plot flanked by a couple of $300,000 buildings.

Each competitor was given two minutes to milk a Jersey cow. Miss Dougherty checked in a half-pint when time was called. City girls outdid the country lassies all round in the contest. Second place winner was Marion Tillery of Houston, and third place went to Marjorie Sinclair of Houston. The milking was a stunt to boost a variety carnival to be staged by students Monday night.

Subordination Of Civilian Requirements To Defense Needs Is Foreshadowed

Production Cuts In Autos Seen

By MAX L. BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Greater subordination of civilian needs to the defense program was foreshadowed in Washington this week in reports that defense officials have drawn up a "victory blueprint" for the production of 600,000,000 to insure Hitler's defeat.

Business experts agreed the plan would force sharp production cuts in automobiles, household appliances and the thousand-and-one durable goods that have made the American standard of living the world's highest.

Scarities Talked
News from the industrial front was highlighted by talk that scarities of steelmaking scrap and pig iron might shortly curtail steel production, although this week's rate rose slightly to 97.4 per cent of capacity.

The outlook for civilian automobile production was unfavorable. The week's output dropped to 90,245 cars and trucks from 93,495 in the previous week and 130,040 a year ago. There were forecasts that before the end of the emergency the industry will be turning out only one eighth as many cars for civilian use as it did in 1941.

Carloadings for the Nov. 29 week touched a new high for the period since 1929. Electricity production set a new record for the week, but crude oil output showed a small decline.

Stocks Fluctuate
Stocks fluctuated erratically in line with shifting developments in the Far Eastern situation. Prices dropped on Monday to new lows since June, 1940, and then came back in heavy volume to replace losses with gains extending to more than 5 points in a number of leaders. On balance, it was the market's best performance in several months and its busiest week since November, 1940.

U. S. government bonds weakened following formal offering by the treasury of $1,500,000,000 in new money securities. Domestic corporation issues were firm. Commodities were mixed, moved higher, featured by gains ranging to more than $3 a bale in cotton and a moderate all-around advance in grains.

FDR Messages Japan

partment show that the Japanese troops being assembled in the Indo-China area are estimated at 22,000 in north China, 25,000 in the north and on ships and harbors in Indo-China, 18,000, which is a total of 125,000.

These 125,000 troops are reported to be on 21 transports in Camranh bay. Other reports have reached the department indicating that large and heavily-escorted Japanese convoys were seen this morning, the sixth of December, to the southeast of Point de Cameau, the southern point of Indo-China, steering westward toward the gulf of Siam (Thailand).

Officials Not Impressed
It had become apparent earlier that officials here were completely unimpressed by Tokyo's explanation of the troop concentrations.

Discussions with Japanese diplomatic representatives here were in abeyance, and when they would be renewed was a matter of speculation. The Japanese have expressed a desire that they be resumed by officials here have not indicated their attitude.

Although there was no doubt that President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull found Tokyo's explanation of Japanese military operations in French Indo-China unacceptable, neither would make any public comment.

Hostile Expressions
Reports from the Orient during the day told of hostile expressions of opinion in the Japanese press, with one paper saying that in the event of American aggression a billion people in East Asia would become bombs against the United States and the Dutch East Indies.

There was a growing impatience at Japan's delay in replying to a memorandum given the Japanese envoys, (Kichiburo Nomura and Saburo Kurusu, by Secretary Hull ten days ago, reaffirming American policy in the Orient and again stating America's opposition to Japanese conquest and aggression.

The explanation of troop movements in French Indo-China came in reply to a question asked later by President Roosevelt. In effect he asked how Tokyo could reconcile its peace talks in Washington with simultaneous warlike acts in the Orient.

Litvinoff Awaited
Japan replied that its troops were in Indo-China under an agreement with the government at Vichy, France, as a precautionary move made necessary by the presence of Chinese forces just across the border in Yunnan province.

Washington officials strongly suspect that the Japanese troop movements actually preface an invasion of Thailand, America, England, the Dutch East Indies and China, acting in concert are apparently ready to offer armed resistance in the event that the Japanese attack Thailand.

Some officials looked forward to the arrival tomorrow of Maxim Litvinoff, the new Russian ambassador, as holding possibilities of providing them with valuable information.

Austin Youngster Is Elected To Phi Beta Kappa At Age Of 16
AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP)—The amazing scholastic career of Martin G. Ettlinger reached a new climax tonight when the husky, 16-year-old youngster was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, honored society of exceptional students.

Ettlinger is the youngest student ever initiated into Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Texas and possibly the youngest in the nation.

Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, Martin's father, said the boy's remarkable progress through school undoubtedly would have been much faster had not his parents refused permission for him to Martin could remain at least approximately with children of his own age.

Martin entered private school when he was five, entered junior high at seven after skipping grammar school. At 10 1/2 years he had sufficient credits to enter the university, but his parents insisted that he remain in high school for two additional years.

During his five years in high school, he has passed all courses in the curriculum. Martin attended school only half of each day and returned to the junior high school daily for his play hour.

When he was eight, Martin had an "intelligent quotient" of 196. The maximum I. Q. is 200.

Martin entered the University of Texas three years ago shortly before his 13th birthday. In the three years, he completed 126 semester hours with the highest grade (A), and was eligible for a bachelor's degree last June, but is continuing work in chemistry, in which he expects to receive a doctor's degree.

Monday, Winter repeated his charges, later in the week before the agriculture appropriations subcommittee, and sought to block one salary item which he asserted would pay the salaries of a group of Communists and fellow-travelers.

His charges were denied vigorously by public-power advocates in the House and by block administrator Harry Slattery. Slattery wrote Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) that the copper was owned by a contracting company and not by the REA; that it was one million pounds and not millions and millions; that it was ordered before restrictions were imposed on copper supplies and had not been used only because deliveries of other supplies were not made as quickly as the copper deliveries.

Misunderstanding On Labor Law Cleared

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP)—Turkey picking for the Christmas markets will be speeded in Texas as a result of notices issued today by Miss Mildred Dougherty of the industrial division of the children's bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Reports from Texas turkey picking districts have been received since the 15th of last month, according to Dougherty, who is refusing to hire turkey pickers under 19 years of age, due to a misunderstanding of the law.

Miss Dougherty said minors over 16 years may be employed in turkey picking. She advised employers to secure federal certificates of age as the employers will be liable for employment of a child under 16 even though the child's age is represented to them as more than 16.

Turkey buying for the Christmas market already is under way and turkey picking plants soon will begin making their shipments to the Eastern markets.

Centralization Of Administration Of Defense Program Is Winning Support

New Cabinet Officer Would Head Plans; Lobbyists Are Attacked

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—A proposal to centralize administration of the defense program under a new cabinet officer attracted strong support in Congress today, with Sen. Mead (D-N.Y.) declaring that such a plan should be adopted if little business is to be saved from destruction.

This plan is embodied in a bill introduced by Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) It calls for the establishment of a department of defense co-ordination and control, with jurisdiction over all defense purchases and over the utilization of industrial plants.

In offering the measure, Kilgore said he believed the time had come for co-ordination of the defense effort under one responsible head.

Something Needed

Agreeing with this idea, Mead told reporters that he believed such a setup would facilitate the spreading of government contracts to smaller concerns, eliminate waste, and give non-defense industries a better chance of obtaining needed materials.

"Something ought to be done, too, about these lobbyists and high pressure people who are running around Washington," the New York senator declared.

Sen. Norris (Ind-Neb.) said he favored placing a civilian in charge of the production program—one who would be concerned with keeping costs down and with spreading the demand work to all sections of the country.

No Time For Change

Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the military affairs committee, to which the bill was referred, said he would order hearings on it soon. While not committed to the proposal, Reynolds said he was convinced that steps ought to be taken speedily to "eliminate waste, duplication and competition among government agencies" in the defense program.

But Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.) said that while the objective might be praiseworthy he felt that this was no time to overhaul the entire defense setup, despite some obvious defects in the machinery.

Federal Agents Capture German

(By The United Press)

RENO, Nev., Dec. 5.—Federal agents who for 18 months had trailed German-born Henry Helmut, 47, for 37,000 miles through Canada, Mexico and the United States, today captured him at Reno.

The treasury department operatives charged him with "conspiracy against the United States government" and said they would return him to New York to face a secret indictment returned by a federal grand jury.

Accusation Not Detailed

They hinted that his alleged criminal activities might include espionage, counterfeiting or narcotic law violations, but they would not detail the accusation against him or discuss the case further.

From Police Chief Andy M. Welliver, however, it was learned that Helmut was born in Germany although a naturalized American citizen, that a former alias was "Dr. Hoffman," and that his hotel room yielded German seaman's papers, a German Mauser automatic pistol, and money sewed in his luggage.

Associated With Counterfeiters

Welliver said his long police record included arrests on suspicion of stock swindles and operation of a matrimonial racket and that he once was associated with "Count" Victor von Lustig, one-time king of the counterfeiters whose extensive operations were broken up in New York in 1935.

While the government agents had accused three countries for him, Helmut had spent the last six months here employed as a "shill" at gambling tables to lure other customers on.

Good One For Job

He was a good one for the job. He is dapper and tailored. He wears a small but elaborate waxed mustache and Prince of Wales feathers with ribbon. He looked like a college professor out on a gay holiday and gambling club operators said he "was the most impressive piece of scenery" they have had around in a long time.

Welliver said that he had Helmut under observation when the federal agents moved in for the arrest. His suspicions had been aroused, the police chief said.

Missionary To Show Pictures At Church

Two nights of unusual motion pictures from around the world and the testimonies of a young missionary couple will feature a week-end series of meetings at Lubbock Gospel tabernacle, 1517 Avenue G, next Friday and Saturday, Rev. Charles Gifford, of the pastor, said Saturday afternoon.

Rev. John R. Turnbull will show pictures of the following countries: Borneo, East Borneo, Japan, China, the East Indies, the Philippines, Ceylon and India, it was announced. Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Garrison will speak. They have served as missionaries in India. They will also speak next Sunday.

because Helmut's large spendings indicated that he had income other than the 50 cents an hour received from the gambling houses. Welliver had believed that Helmut was "casing the clubs for a possible attempt of New York gangsters to enter Reno" but he did not indicate how he reconciled that belief with the federal arrest.

Added to the mystery was a bit of by-play overheard as federal agents placed Helmut in the Reno jail.

"Where's Gestle?" They asked. "We're divorced," Helmut answered.

The federal agents said Helmut had waived extradition and they planned to start back to New York with him immediately.

As An Expert Sees It—

Behind War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

Aside from its prestige significance as the first real Nazi military set-back of the war, the German retreat from Rostov under various Russian counterattacks is a major disaster for Hitler.

Unless Russian, British, American and all other students of Nazi war economy are wrong, dwindling oil reserves led Germany to attempt the Russian "crusade."

Only in lush Russian fields along the far distant Caspian sea could Hitler find the oil essential not only to his vast war effort but to his proclaimed "new order" economy in Europe.

With Nazi forces knocking at the Rostov gate to the Caucasus and also menacing it on the flank from the Crimea, the Germans were dangerously close to their goal. Yet close students of world oil sources and supplies estimate that Hitler even then was perilously close to oil starvation of much of his war machine.

Near Bottom Of Tank

Columns of figures have been assembled to prove the point—impressive—are from Russian sources up to the time of the Hitler turn-about against Russia.

Soviet representatives dickered with the Germans over trade pacts must have learned with reasonable accuracy these points: the amount of German oil reserves; the capacity-limits of Nazi synthetic fuel plants; the effect of sporadic British bombing of such plants on their output. Oil was the prime commodity the Germans sought in their pre-war dealings with their great eastern neighbor. They probably had to lay their cards on the table to get it.

And the consensus of both Russian and all other anti-Axis oil specialists now seems to be that due to the unexpectedly terrific drain on German oil sources and reserves in the prolonged Russian campaign, Hitler is getting close to the bottom of the tank. Some authorities estimate that he cannot have, even now, enough fuel to keep going on all fronts simultaneously for more than a few months longer.

Railroad Strike Threat Is Over

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The threat of a nationwide railroad strike, scheduled to start tomorrow, was dissolved last night.

Operating employees ratified terms of a compromise settlement worked out through mediation of President Roosevelt's fact-finding commission, and a contract embodying the provision was signed by all parties.

Wage Increases Given

The settlement, announced Tuesday, provides wage increases of 9 1/2 cents an hour or 76 cents a day for operating employees who have been receiving upward of $5.06 a day and had called a strike to enforce demands for a 30 per cent boost.

Representatives of 900,000 union non-operating workers said negotiations affecting them probably would continue for several days. These unions did not call a strike although they refused to accept previous terms.

For nonoperating labor, the compromise called for rates of 10 cents an hour or 80 cents a day. They have paid an average of 63.4 cents an hour and had demanded increases of from 30 to 40 cents.

United States Navy Is Best In World, But Must Be Increased, Knox States

Combinations May Be Faced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Secretary Knox told President Roosevelt today that the American navy was the finest in the world but must be increased rapidly to be a match for any combination of powers.

"Our navy must always be to have forces sufficient to enable us to have complete freedom of action in either ocean while retaining forces in the other ocean for effective defense of our vital security," the navy secretary said in his annual report.

"Anything less than this strength is hazardous to the security of the nation and must be considered unacceptable—as long as it is within our power to produce and man the forces necessary to meet these requirements."

May Feel Confident

Knox introduced his report, covering the navy's activities for the fiscal year which ended last June 30, with a declaration that the American people may feel fully confident in their navy.

"In my opinion," he said, "the loyalty, morale, and technical ability of the personnel are without superior. On any comparable basis, the United States navy is second to none."

But the "international situation is such," Knox added, "that we must arm as rapidly as possible to meet our naval defense requirements—simultaneously in both oceans against any possible combination of powers concerting action against us."

Ships Commissioned

As accomplishments of the navy during the 12 months which ended last June 30, Knox reported the commissioning of 325 new ships, acquisition of 2,659 new airplanes, progress on base construction and a net increase in personnel of 15,259 officers and 100,282 enlisted men.

The secretary said that expenditures for the year totaled $253,341,292, while receipts totaled $11,379,232,952 obligated were let. During the present fiscal 12 months, he estimated, the navy's cash expenditures will aggregate $5,852,997,995.

Rockefeller Cites Need For Western Hemisphere Unity

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 6. (AP)—The United States is making energetic, practical contributions to the cause of mutual understanding among Western Hemisphere nations through economic and educational means, Nelson A. Rockefeller, co-ordinator of inter-American affairs, said today.

Addressing a luncheon meeting of the Madison Civics club, Rockefeller said that the concept of total war has altered international thinking.

He declared that the new "philosophy of conquest" has eliminated the old concept of warfare as "an armed struggle between two long lines of men."

"We know now," he said, "that total warfare affects not only the two lines of men facing each other. It affects all men. It affects nations in their entirety. It demands an outpouring of resources which is not only physical; it calls for a complete preoccupation of spiritual, moral and mental forces."

Thus, he said, it has created a new "geography of defense."

"Where we are in danger, our neighbors are in danger. If we wish to maintain and further a democratic method of life and progress we cannot do it if the people next door are subjected to every form of propaganda and coercion which is aimed at the destruction of that democratic method of life."

Byrd Makes Appeal For 'Super-Unity'

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. (AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd today urged American employers to end religious and racial bias in defense hiring, warning that "we cannot build freedom on discrimination."

In a radio address, Byrd said such tactics are "more than the negation of the American tradition of liberty and equality." They are threats, he said, "to America's national security, because it means that our defense effort is not a total effort."

"Let us make our super-unity in fact as well as in word," Byrd said. "Let us work together, shoulder to shoulder, against those who would destroy our freedom. Let us once again, to the world that all men of all races and creeds and origins can work together for the common good of all mankind."

Union School District Rejects Consolidation

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 6. (Special)—Members of Union Independent school district of Terry county today rejected by a vote of 43 to 23 a proposal to become consolidated with the Brownfield consolidated school district.

Members of the Brownfield district approved the measure by a vote of 19 to 3. The Brownfield district includes nine former school districts, which were united in recent elections.

Supt. Emmitt Smith of the Brownfield district explained favorable vote both of the consolidated and the independent district is required. The proposal would have provided for an eight-grade elementary school to be operated at Union under direction of Brownfield district authorities.

Salvation Army Bearing Brunt Of Calls For Help By Large Group Of Transients

By FELICIA BOULTER

With the number of transients on the South Plains and in Lubbock during the past month being double the amount recorded during November of 1940, the Salvation Army has borne the brunt of this influx in receiving an unprecedented call for food, clothing and shelter.

Two hundred and thirty-six men and 29 women, the majority poverty-stricken, have appealed to the army for help since the first of November, lacking only ten being double the October influx. In November, 315 nights' lodging and 452 meals were part of the Salvation Army's contribution to the 236 transients who wandered through Lubbock.

Due To Harvesting Season

This exceptionally large influx of transients is due strictly to the harvesting season. However, these transients are coming in and leaving rapidly. According to Capt. Herman Lambrecht of the Salvation Army, there are three classes of people who call for help; namely, the transient tramp and bum. The present group is truly transient, for they are passing through here to a definite destination, apparently devoid of the wandering instinct which is ordinarily coupled with people in their situation. With weather acting as the influencing factor in the number of appeals for shelter in the Salvation Army home, the nightly average runs from 3 to 30. If it is cold and wet large groups head in for the shelter provided by the home, but if the weather is favorable, the majority remain where they are.

One Of The major problems of the Salvation Army is the provision of adequate clothing for those in dire need of protection from cold and rain. Demands are numerous for clothing and it is difficult to keep sufficient clothing available to answer requests. A typical situation related by Capt. Lambrecht was the midnight arrival of a youth at the home Wednesday, whose sole protection from the cold was a thread-bare pair of cotton breeches and shirt, necessitating the furnishing of adequate clothing by the home.

Average Age Advances

Understandably enough, the national defense proposition has had a far-reaching and marked effect on the average age of the transient. Formerly, the average age was 23 years but it has advanced considerably. Proving that young men are not on the road to a large extent nowadays, of the 14 men taken in at the Salvation Army home last week, five were under 25 and nine were over 35. Of the young ones, one was a 16-year-old boy who had accompanied his father from Oklahoma City, both hunting cotton to pick.

At the transient work appreciative of help, Capt. Lambrecht was of the opinion that the majority are, although there are occasional "smart-alecks." He stated that during the period of depression, the general idea of the transient, hobo, and wanderer was that somebody owed them a living, but that attitude has been dispelled.

Make No Investigation

According to Lambrecht, most of the transients claim to be cotton pickers but no investigation is carried out to verify their claims. When the transient presents his story, it has to be evaluated with the aid of the intelligent study of his appearance. However, the invariable motto of the Salvation Army is, in Lambrecht's words, "If he says he's hungry, feed him. Never argue with a hungry man. If he wants to spend the night and is not boisterously drunk, let him."

Oftentimes the transient does not ask for food or shelter, but merely requests the home for the use of their facilities to bathe and shave. As one transient remarked last week, "I'm not hungry. I'm not cold. I'm not tired. I'm just dirty." Taking the honor as the most peculiar request the Salvation Army ever received in this connection was the request of army officials during the recent Lubbock fair that the 100 soldiers, who were stationed at the fair grounds to exhibit army equipment, could take baths at the home, in shifts of 20. The home complied with the request and one evening the home was overflowing with U. S. soldiers instead of poverty-stricken transients.

An Interesting Case

One of the most interesting transient cases that has been brought to the attention of the Salvation Army recently is the case of the 30- or 40-year-old man who last week arrived at the home and said he was going blind. He had visited a local physician who told him that if he could raise the hospitalization fee and a plate to stay after the required cataract operation, he would render his services. After being promised shelter and care in the home after the operation, the grayed old man

Special Meeting Of Lodge Is Scheduled

The Soviet Union in recent years has been the largest producer of chrome.

rustled up some friends and got the required money. He underwrote the eye operation last Friday morning and is now in the care of the Salvation Army, where he is optimistically but impatiently awaiting the outcome of the operation, his very existence depending on whether he shall or shall not see again.

Occasionally, an extremely disappointing transient case crops up, according to Capt. Lambrecht. Recently a man hobnobbing to New Orleans, where he claimed to have a job, was given food and shelter at the home for three days. One Saturday night a local cafe called in and requested a dishwasher for $11 per week and board. This man was offered the job, but after working two nights, he disappeared. Yesterday he drifted back to the home, saying that a policeman had turned him in for vagrancy while he was going to work. Elaborating on the so-called "police persecution," he said that he was jailed and charged a $100 fine. Capt. Lambrecht told the man that he was going inside to phone the police department for clarification of the story but that if he was lying, to be gone before he returned. Upon investigating, Capt. Lambrecht found that the man was picked up for drunkenness. The hobo's companion standing outside the door said that directly Lambrecht went inside to telephone, the hobo grabbed his bundle and left the building in "high gear."

Farm Prices In Texas Are Lower

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—Prices received by Texas farmers in mid-November averaged lower than a month before for all classes of farm products except dairy and poultry groups, the U. S. Agricultural Marketing Service reported today.

The general level of prices, however, and most individual items were sharply higher than a year ago.

Same Prices Higher

In the grain group, wheat at 95 cents and corn at 85 cents per bushel were both one cent below a month earlier and 23 cents and 15 cents higher respectively for the year. Rice at $1.31 per bushel was 29 cents higher for the month, in contrast to the other grains, and 53 cents higher for the year. Grain Sorghum was 85 cents per hundredweight compared with 93 cents a month previous and 91 cents a year ago.

Cotton declined from 15.8 cents per pound on October 15 to 14.8 cents on November 15, but the price was still 3.9 cents per pound a year ago. Cottonseed continued to decline sharply and on November 15 averaged $40.60 per ton compared to $50 on October 15 and $55.80 on September 15. The No-

Christmas Trees Are Selling At Fast Pace

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6. (AP)—Many people in Hawaii and the Philippines will have to do without Christmas trees this year due to a shortage of boats, but those on the mainland are buying more trees than ever.

That's from Mrs. Esther Scott, division manager of a national Yule tree firm established by her late father, J. Hogert. Normally thousands of trees are shipped to United States possessions, but this year ships are crowded with more important cargoes.

"Prices are up about 10 per cent this season, because of rising labor, freight and other costs," Mrs. Scott added. "But more people seem to have money and more Christmas trees are being sold."

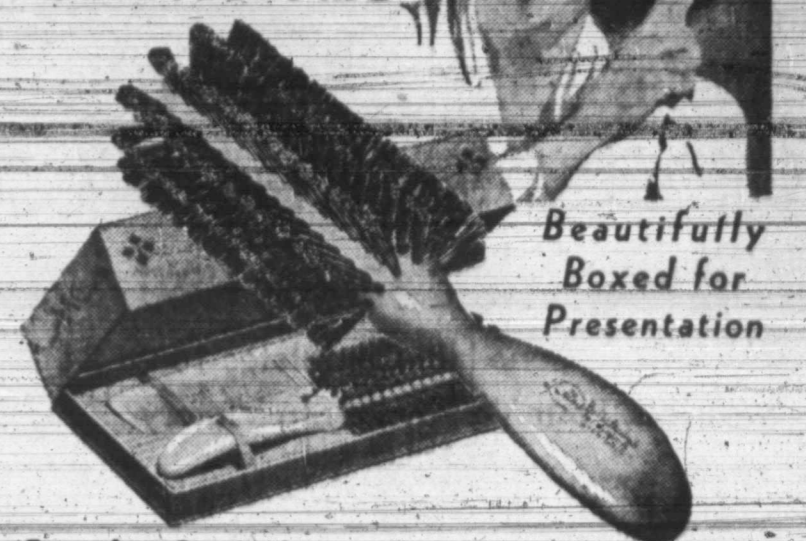

There are some 80,000 species of mollusks, including the familiar oyster and clam.

Butter and butterfat both averaged 35 cents per pound on November 15 compared with 33 cents on October 15 and 28 cents and 27 cents respectively a year ago.

At 17 cents per pound turkeys were 3 cents higher for the month. Eggs at 32.3 cents per dozen showed an increase of 4.1 cent for the month and 11.0 cents for the year.

All meat animals again showed a monthly decline but were still sharply higher than a year ago.

Westerners Wilt Before Wichita Falls Aerials, 30 To 13

Coyotes' Scorching Passes Wipe Out Lubbock Lead In Last Half; Winners, Ysleta Tangle Next

Wichita's Gene Hill Completes 16 Of 24 Aerials, Four To Paydirt, In Victory

By JOE PIERCE

COYOTE FIELD, WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 6—There are those who would say that little Gene Hill has an arm like a rifle.

That would be a compliment to the rifle. No field piece in Uncle Sam's army could match the accurate, constant bombardment the little 144-pound Wichita Falls quarterback turned in here today.

The Lubbock Westerners couldn't match it either, nor could they better it with their expected strong running game. And they went down in 30 to 13 defeat.

Sunset, Lamar, Ysleta Are In Quarter-Finals

Wichita Falls' Coyotes exploded the Lubbock bubble in the Texas schoolboy football race Saturday, heading eight teams into the quarter-finals of a campaign-roked from Panhandle to gulf by a swarm of upsets.

Lubbock, the dark horse, fell before the pass magic of the comeback kids 30-13 to push the Coyotes to the top rung of favoritism. Adding to the already super-erratic race was the 14-7 defeat of Sweetwater by little Ysleta.

Sunset Comes Through In Quarter-Finals. Sunset of Dallas was one of the few teams to live up to predictions, the speedy Bisons pushing Amon Carter Riverside of Fort Worth out 14-0.

The praying Ganders of Robert E. Lee lost their first game of the season by Lamar (Houston) 7-0 to complete the quarter-final round. Next week-end they pair like this:

Wichita Falls vs Ysleta, Highland Park (Dallas) vs Sunset, Temple vs Tyler and Austin vs Lamar.

Temple, Sunset Undeafated. Highland Park won its bi-district game Friday by beating Paris 19-0. Temple blasted out Breckenridge 13-7, Tyler ousted Nacogoches 28-7 and Austin downed favored Cooper 30-12.

Only Temple and Sunset remain undefeated and untied for the year. Wichita Falls came from behind to blast the Westerners with three touchdowns and a safety in the last half and to leave little doubt the Coyotes were the team to beat in the upper bracket of the schoolboy race.

Gene Hill was on the pitching end of the sensational Wichita Falls aerial attack, passing for all of the Coyote touchdowns. Hill threw three Blackwell behind goal line.

Sunset Speed Pays Off. Bill Blackburn and Sonny Kemble, a couple of boys with speed to burn, crushed Amon Carter Riverside's hopes of taking up where ineligible Masonic Home left off. It was through ineffectuality of the Masons that Amon Carter Riverside got into the play-off.

Masonic Home had been the popular choice for the state championship until that time. Blackburn and Kemble drove over for the Sunset touchdowns and Kemble kicked both extra points.

Ysleta came from behind to beat the favored Sweetwater Mustangs. Brown passed to Ballentine for the first Ysleta touchdown and the latter converted, then after Ysleta had recovered Indiana's fumble on its 45, the Indians marched to victory with Ballentine's pass to Cates bringing the pay-off touchdown. Ballentine again kicked the extra point. It is the first time Ysleta ever

H-SU Defeats Tempe, 20-0. TEMPE, Ariz., Dec. 6. (AP)—Hardin Simmons university finished its first year in the Border conference with a record of three victories and no defeats in circuit play by defeating Arizona State Teachers college at Tempe 20 to 0 here tonight.

So ends the Westerners' championship hopes, and so ends the high school football season in Lubbock. This victory, rated an "upset" by most "experts" gave the Coyotes the bi-district championship of District 1-AA and 2-AA and the right to meet Ysleta, surprise 14 to 7 winner over Sweetwater today, in the quarter finals next week.

Twenty-four times Hill fired passes and 16 times they were completed, four times for touchdowns. The total gain on Hill's passes was 259 yards, exactly 20 more yards than Lubbock gained with a strong ground game.

It was little Bobbie Dee Smith, one-half of the Coyote twin combination, who caught most of the Scoring summary: Lubbock—Touchdowns, Wright 2, extra point, B. Emmerson, 28-0. Wichita Falls—Touchdowns, R. D. Smith 4 (passes from Hill); extra point, B. Emmerson, 30-13.

Hill-thrown aerials, and it was Bobbie Dee who snared all four of the touchdowns totes. Brother Bobbie Dee Smith came to kick all four extra points to make up a total of 28 for the Smith family for the afternoon.

Lubbock Starts Strong. The other two points came when Lubbock tried razzle-dazzle end-around play from the three yard line and Hill broke through to snare J. A. Blackwell behind the goal line.

The Westerners put up a gallant fight, and for the first 24 minutes of the ball game found little trouble in smothering over the Coyotes. At the half they led, 13-7, and the 1,960-plus Lubbockites who contributed to a crowd of 10,000 that jammed this stadium to every available corner were very cheerful indeed.

The turning-point in the ball game came in the opening minutes of the second half on a peculiar bit of pass interception business that first saw the Coyotes threatening to break a receiver loose for a touchdown, then found Lubbock facing goalward with the ball and wound up with the Coyotes regaining possession on the Lubbock 49, from where they drove to the tying touchdown.

Four Straight Completions. Hill started with the second half kickoff, which was taken on the Coyote 32 and returned to the 39. On the first play Hill tried to pass and lost 14 yards when he could find no receiver. Then two off-side penalties pushed the ball back to the 36.

Hill faded back to pass again, fired far down field to an open receiver, out of nowhere came Tackle Robert McKinley to intercept the beam. When Hill, he later said to Guard Franklin Butler and Butler headed for open spaces.

After a 10-yard run, Butler was hit and fumbled when down on (Continued on Page 12)

Mighty Texas Runs Wild For 71 To 7 Triumph Over Oregon

HOW IT HAPPENED—Here are the plays just after the second half started which were the turning points of the Lubbock-Wichita Falls game. Top is a play that saw hopes rise and fall for each team, and ended with the Coyotes continuing their march for their second and tying touchdown. The photo shows Tackle Bob McKinley bent over in the middle of the picture of Lubbock who had intercepted a pass from Wichita Falls' Gene Hill. McKinley has just lateraled to Guard Franklin Butler of Lubbock who is shown dropping the ball after being tackled by Robbie Dee Smith standing up, hand over his mouth recovered the fumble. Billy Wright (No. 44) and Center Roland "Tuffy" Nabors (No. 20) charge up on the play. In the scene at the right is the touchdown which followed the play above. The tables were definitely turned here as Bobbie Dee Smith leaps high to snare an aerial from Hill for the second Wichita Falls touchdown. Bob Brewer is set to tackle Smith but didn't do so until the goal line was crossed and the Coyotes had surged into a second later going into a 14 to 13 lead they never relinquished in their last-half 30 to 13 rout. (Photos courtesy Wichita Falls Times).

The scores by period: LUBBOCK 0 13 0 6-13. WICHITA FALLS 0 7 9 14-30. Total—Lubbock 19, Wichita Falls 30.

Wichita Falls' Gene Hill completed 16 of 24 passes for 259 yards and four touchdowns. He was intercepted by Lubbock's Bob McKinley. Hill's passes were completed by Bobbie Dee Smith, Franklin Butler, and Billy Wright.

Lubbock's offense was stymied by the Wichita Falls defense. The Cardinals are out of the running, but their performance tomorrow when the National professional football league reaches the end of the 1941 campaign will determine whether there will be one post season playoff or two.

The Cards collide with the defending champion Chicago Bears, who need a victory to tie the Green Bay Packers at the top of the western division. If the Bears come through as expected, they will share the western title with Green Bay, each with 10 wins and one defeat. That would necessitate an extra playoff December 14 to pick the western winner to tangle with the New York Giants for the league crown.

The championship playoff will be held December 21, if the Bears and Packers need an extra game. Should the Cardinals win tomorrow, the Giants and Packers will clash in the final playoff December 14.

The Giants, who clinched the eastern flag two weeks ago, finish their regular schedule tomorrow at the Polo grounds against the Brooklyn Dodgers. The only other game on the final league program sends the Philadelphia Eagles against the Washington Redskins in the nation's capital.

The Ravens closed their second consecutive unbeaten, untied season and now have a winning string of 18 games. The two Lubbock boys, both former Westerners, have been in on the last 17 of these victories.

Hill was selected on the first all-Kansas junior college team chosen by the Associated Press and was named co-captain of the Raven team by his mates. Hill shared the captaincy with Art Ramage of Tulsa, Okla., who played and opposite him and who also was on the all-state team.

Phillips was moved into the backfield from end this season and the dynamic little 142-pounder turned into one of the best broken field runners in the circuit. Phillips scored four touchdowns to tie made a remarkably favorable impression upon a half-hundred metropolitan writers and sports notables who gathered to wish him well. Made Big Hit. The kid from New Orleans reared back and answered a barrage of questions, courteously and sensibly. He did not attempt to conceal the plight of the Giants, who dropped into the National league second division under previous management. He only said he hoped to finish higher next season.

He made a hit, and there was an unusual air of optimism in the Giants office when he finished. Ott, who started as a fat-legged boy under John McGraw and who admitted today he never had been really booed—not even in Brooklyn—said he was so surprised he was big-eyed when President Horace Stoneham called him in and told him he was the new manager down in Jacksonville the other day.

To Continue Playing. "You might not believe it," he said, "but Horace didn't even know I was in town. He phoned me in New Orleans and found out I was in Jacksonville. I'm mighty glad he found me." Ott intends to go right along playing right field, he said; which means he will have to sign up two new coaches. He will attend to that at the big league meeting in Chicago next week. "He's leaving tonight for Chicago."

Plans Improvement. "We have a lot of deals in mind," he said, "and I can get all the players I'm after I think we'll have a good chance of climbing into the first division. We need infield help and we need one really good pitcher. We have a lot of average pitchers, but we need one that can win 20 games for us. Catcher Harry Danning, by the way, is going to stay with us."

Hank Leiber (just obtained from the Chicago Cubs) should help our outfield. He got a thorough going-over at Mayo clinic and they say he is completely recovered from his injury of last year. We won't know for a couple more weeks whether we're going to lose First Baseman Babe Young in the draft."

Longhorns Turn On Steam With Crushing Display Of Power As 16 Seniors Play Final Tussle

Dana Bible's Boys Parade Might Before 26,000; Three Full Teams Get In Game

By RAY NEUMANN Associated Press Staff Writer. AUSTIN, Dec. 6—The team called Texas' greatest in history reached the end of the gridiron trail today with a smashing 71-to-7 victory over the University of Oregon. Crushing the heavier Pacific coast conference team at every turn, the Texans, scoring almost at will, used three full teams to demolish the Webfoots.

The Longhorn first stringers, headed by Pete Layden, Jack Crain, Malcolm Kutner, et al, were accorded a tremendous ovation when they left the field for the last time. About the only weapon used with any effect by Oregon was passing and a tricky hand-off reverse play by which it managed its only score. This touchdown came in the second period when, catching the Steers flatfooted, Halfback James Newquist handed the ball to Curt Mechem, who chased wide for eight yards and the marker. Newquist booted the point.

Devastating blocking and raging line play on the part of the Steers featured the contest which played out in a blinding weather under a bright sun and before 26,000 spectators. The Longhorns' first touchdown came after a 71-yard march. Halfback Jack Crain, who turned in one of the greatest performances of his career, charging over from the one. Fullback Pete Layden and Halfback Noble Doss also carried the ball in the campaign. Layden hurled one to Kutner for 20 yards and the Steers' second marker while Doss, on a beautiful 33-yard gallop, which carried him through the Webfoot eleven, laid the third.

Safeties Also Counted. The Oregon score culminated a 31-yard drive, Mechem crashing to a first down, then passing to (Continued on Page 12)

It's a long, hard campaign the Texas Tech basketballers are facing, and they open the home portion of it this week in fitting fashion. The Red Raiders will entertain two quintets that rank with the best of the nation, and there's a good chance that their 23-game home court victory streak may not get past the opening game of its third year.

Play Texas Mines Saturday. Wednesday night the Techsahs, who haven't been beaten in Lubbock since the early spring of 1939, battle the Omaha university five, and Saturday night they open the Border conference schedule in a game here with the conference champion, Texas School of Mines. Coach Bert Huffman's Crimmon cagers already have dropped one game this season, losing to Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater last Wednesday, 53-40.

Omaha opened its season with Friday and Saturday games at Chihuahua City, Mexico, against the Chihuahua State Teachers team. Tuesday night it will play West Texas State Teachers in Canyon, then come here for the Wednesday game.

El Pasoans Favored. Coach S. T. "Stu" Baller of the Omahans always has one of the most powerful clubs in the Midwest, and though he is moaning about a shortage of material this season, is likely to come up with a team capable of upholding his reputation. Saturday night the Texas Miners come to Lubbock to open defense of the Border conference crown they won last season. With Marshall Pennington's Miners will be favored to defeat the Techsahs.

Tech Boasts Great Record. The El Paso team opened its season Monday night by swamping New Mexico Mines 45 to 16, then Friday night they downed the New Mexico Teachers team 44 to 26 after trailing at halftime. Last time Tech Texas was beaten in early March of 1939 when the Red Raiders bowed to the New Mexico Aggies, then Border conference champions. Since then the Techsahs have compiled 23 consecutive triumphs on their own floor without a defeat.

Probable starters for the Red Raiders in this week's games are Forwards Elvis Erwin and Bob Phillips, Center Byron Gilbreath and Guards Gabe Gilley and Norman Volz. All but Phillips, a transfer, are lettermen for the 1940-41 team.

Class A Play Reaches Regionals This Week. Defeat of Grapeeland's hitherto unscored on Sandles was the highlight of play last week. Jasper tumbled the Sandies 13-6. Lineup Is Announced. As a result of the big district round they will meet as follows for regional titles: Region 1—Phillips vs. McLean; Region 2—Brownfield vs. Ballinger; Region 3—Stamford vs. Comanche; Region 4—Handley vs. La Vega; Region 5—Rockwall vs. Gilmer; Region 6—Center vs. Gaston; Region 7—Jasper vs. Dayton; Region 8—Aldine vs. Navarro; Region 9—Taylor vs. Harlandale (San Antonio); Region 10—Hondo vs. Mission.

Arizona Loses To Utah, 12-6. TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 6. (AP)—The best team of the Big Seven was too good for the co-champion of the Border conference today as Utah defeated Arizona 12 to 6 in a well-played game witnessed by 8,000 spectators. Utah scored a touchdown in the first quarter. Peterson plunging over after Spector dashed 60 yards to the Arizona 5. This advantage stood up until the fourth quarter was more than half gone. With six and one-half minutes to lay, Arizona's assing game clicked. Taking the ball on the Utah 40 after a punt, Ruman passed to Matulis on the Redskin 5, and threw another to Matulis, who scored. Gay Adelt Utah left half, blocked Irish's conversion attempt and it was 6-6.

With three minutes to play, Utah applied the clincher.

USC 7-UCLA 7. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6. (AP)—The under-dog University of California at Los Angeles and Southern California's Trojans battled to a 7-7 tie today before 65,000 hometown fans in the final Pacific coast conference grid-battle of the season.

Rice Edges Past SMU, 6 To 0; Texas Aggies Drop Washington State, 7 To 0

Four Lubbock Men On District Team

Plainview Places Three, Amarillo And Pampa Two Each; Nabors, Mason Tops

District 1-AA, the toughest circuit of the 106-team Texas interscholastic league, annually produces about the finest crop of high school footballers you'll find anywhere. Some of the biggest names in college football got their start in this tough circuit, which has produced a state championship team in five of the last seven years.

In this 1941 season, which saw four of the five teams gunning for the district title right down to the last weeks of the season and two of them winding up in a tie for the championship, there was no shortage of capable performers. The annual all-district team, chosen by coaches and sports writers from over the loop, reveals that clearly.

The race for honor positions was closely-contested as the race for the championship. Red and Wick were the same four teams dividing the honors. Lubbock led by placing four men, Plainview had three and Amarillo and Pampa two each.

Nabors, Wick Mason Tops
There were two unanimous choices, Center Roland Nabors of Lubbock and Back Wick Mason of Plainview.

The voting revealed an extraordinary number of good guards, an average number of capable centers, backs and tackles, with the ends showing up below par for the year.

Nabors and Wick Mason were easily the outstanding players of the season in the district. Nabors was almost universally regarded as the finest pivot man in the history of the district—an All-Stater.

Blackwell Named At End
End J. A. Blackwell of Lubbock easily won one of the end positions, though only half the selecting group named him. Other votes were divided among six players, with Alvin Thomas of Plainview barely edging out Hubert Bechtel of Lubbock, E. J. Watson and Jolly of Amarillo.

Three tackles divided all but one of the votes at that position, with Roland Phillips of Pampa lacking only one vote of gaining unanimous support. His teammates, John Chesher, earned the opposite spot by the end of the year. Jim Warner of Amarillo, who was all-district and all-state last season.

Collins' Popular Choice
Amarillo's Capt. Burrell Collins also missed getting all votes by one to lead four candidates for guard honors. Plainview's Otis Olds won the other post, only one vote ahead of Lubbock's Franklin Butler. Ralph Burnett, Pampa co-captain, also had strong support.

At center, Nabors hadn't a rival. Mason in the backfield was unanimous, and Lubbock's Billy Wright was only two votes behind. The rest of the selections were split among 10 different backfielders, with Lubbock's Milner Thorne and Amarillo's Leroy Boyter winning the two remaining spots.

Participating in the balloting were Coaches Jerome Vannoy of Plainview, Howard Lynch of Amarillo, W. W. Nicklaus of Borger, Buck Prelean of Pampa and Goob Keyes of Lubbock; Jerry Main of Amarillo Globe News sports editor; Gerald Sprague, Borger Herald sport editor; Harry Hoare, Pampa News sports editor; Jack Woodward of the Plainview Herald and Joe Pierce and Jay Harris of the Avalanche-Journal.

86-Yard Thrust Beats Mustangs Before 10,000

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

Rice made one magnificent surge of 86 yards for a touchdown to defeat Southern Methodist 6-0 in the Southwest conference finale here today.

All the action was jammed into the closing periods. Rice scoring to open the third quarter and the Mustangs driving to the Rice 24 with three minutes to go only to lose the ball before the sterling Owl passed defense.

Clinches Third For Rice
A crowd of 10,000 witnessed the game, the result of which clinched third-place honors in the conference race for Rice.

The Owl touchdown drive came on eight plays with Stoop Dickson, Rice's great punter, racing 16 yards on a lateral from Bob Brumley for the score.

The first half was colorless, featuring a punting duel between Dickson and Clark Wells of the Owls and Bo Campbell and Abel Gonzales of the Mustangs.

Rice took the ball on the third period lull off on its 14-yard line. Dickson made one at guard, then pitched to Joe Price for 17, Dickson then whipped around right end for 24.

Dickson rammed left tackle for four and Brumley made it first down on the Southern Methodist 30.

Dickson crunched into tackle for two. Price picked up two at left end, then Brumley dashed through right tackle. He had some six yards when a group of Mustangs ganged him. Seeing he was trapped, Brumley lateraled to Dickson who stormed to the touchdown.

Lynn Bostick rose up out of the Southern Methodist line to block Brumley's try for the extra point.

The Mustangs shortly afterward got as far as the Rice 16-yard line at the end of a 39-yard drive but Bill Blackburn intercepted Cliff Hagerman's pass to halt the surge.

Texas is better, said one Oregon player, than the Oregon State team that beat them 12 to 7 last week.

Coach Tex Oliver declared that he "wouldn't say Texas is the best team that I've seen this year, but I wouldn't say it isn't either."

Said Coach D. X. Bible of Texas: "A fine finish for a fine team. Twenty-six thousand spectators agreed."

Whirlwinds' Joe Rushing Unanimous Floyddada, Matador Dominate District 4-A Mythical Team

Floyddada's champion Whirlwinds and Matador's runnerup Bull Fighters dominate the All-District 4-A selections, announced this morning, just as they dominated season's play in the district.

Coach Don Martin's Matadors placed five men on the honor team. Coach Floyd Murry's district champions landed four positions. The remaining two went to Lockney and Spurr.

Most Coaches Ballot
Only five of the district's seven coaches participated in the balloting. Coach Woodrow Duckworth of Spurr left for Camp Mabry at Austin immediately after the season ended where he is now in the rookie school of the state highway patrol. Efforts to contact him there failed. The Crosbyton coach did not submit a ballot.

Participating in the voting were Murry, Martin, Wilson Head of Lockney, Neil Davis of Paducah and Fred Salting of Ralls. Rushing Unanimous Choice
One player won unanimous mention from the five coaches. That was Joe Rushing, fullback and captain of the Floyddada team.

Four others missed by only one vote. They were Back—Clinton Mitchell of Lockney, Center Virgil Boteler of Floyddada, Tackle—Baxter, Floyddada.

Guard—Smith, Spurr. Guard—Fawver, Floyddada. Center—Boteler, Floyddada. Back—Rushing, Floyddada. Back—Mitchell, Lockney. Back—Campbell, Matador. Back—Durbill, Matador.

Honorable mention: Ends—Newman, Lockney; Sandlin, Paducah; Sparks, Floyddada; Pearce, Paducah; Biddy, Paducah. Tackles—Thomas, Ralls; Byers, Lockney; Stockton, Crosbyton; Tyler, Floyddada; Smith, Spurr.

Guards—Warren, Floyddada; Spivey, Ralls; Cox, Matador. Center—Allen, Matador. Backs—Atterbury, Ralls; Titworth, Ralls; Sandlin, Paducah.

The 4-A All-District Team: End—Tunnell, Matador. End—Green, Matador. Tackle—Junior Pitts, Matador. Tackle—Baxter, Floyddada. Guard—Smith, Spurr. Guard—Fawver, Floyddada. Center—Boteler, Floyddada. Daniels, Rogers Team On Aerial For Touchdown

Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of substitute sophomore backs teamed in the fading minutes of the first half today to score the only touchdown for Texas A. & M., and give the Aggies a 7 to 0 victory over Washington State college before more than 25,000 fans in "Evergreen bowl."

Moser, Daniels, Rogers Star
The starring line was pass pitching Leo Daniels, a soph in competition although not in classes, and Cullen Rogers.

Derace Moser, the Aggies' star passer, made one of the work as the Aggies got to the Cougar 38. Then Daniels replaced him. He threw a long sharp pass to his left. Rogers hauled it, spun as the flying body, or defending Felix Fletcher, W. S. C. half, tried to flag him, then turned and out.

Hot Trade Left Sizzling Among Majors
Brooklyn May Trade Cookie Lavagetto For Cliff Melton

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 6. The hottest trade left sizzling as the baseball meetings broke us here was a deal between the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers which reportedly would send Lefty Cliff Melton to the National league champions for Third Baseman Cookie Lavagetto.

Negotiations were temporarily broken off while the baseball scenery was shifted from this Florida metropolis to Chicago, where the major leagues will be in session next week, but there seemed to be good prospects that some such trade might be closed there.

Dodgers Seek Southpaw hurler
It might have been completed here except that Brooklyn has been searching for a third baseman and probably is loathe to part with Lavagetto until President Larry MacPhail can get his hands on another.

Brooklyn's greatest need is a southpaw pitcher and the veteran Melton, who won 8 and lost 11 last season, is about the best pitcher available to the Dodgers. He will be 29 years old next month, but has been in the major leagues only five years and many managers believe he has considerable pitching ability left.

Lavagetto, 27 years old, came into the National league in 1934 as a second baseman and later developed into one of the leading third basemen of the circuit. But last season his batting slipped to .250.

There was some chance that the Dodgers were hoping to get Chuck Aleno of Cincinnati to play third base, however, as a preliminary to the trade with the Giants. The only major league business (Continued On Page 12)

BILL DEAN'S COLUMN

A LONG range prediction filed for publication before the Wichita Falls game: If the Westerners get by Wichita Falls, get ready to follow them each week-end. They will go to the State finals.

WELL, things finally worked out don't they? We worried about the crop during that long rainy spell—but we are having the best fall season one could wish for. We thought the High School was out of the football race and here we are participating in the State finals. We worried about the scarcity of this or that but we get along somehow. We just naturally must have something to worry about, which is not a bad trait after all. If no one cared things would be in a heap of a mess wouldn't they?

ONE of the things all of us should worry about is the annual Goodfellow's tree. Enough of us worry about it the Goodfellows will go over big.

DON'T waste time and money on leaky radiators. One permanent and satisfactory method is to have them repaired at BILL DEAN'S. New radiators, besides being expensive, are in the "hard to get" list. Take care of your radiator while a repair job will make it function properly. Cooperate with the conservation program and keep your car in good operating condition.

CONDOLENCES and sincere wishes for his speedy recovery go from this corner to Collier Paris, sports editor of the Avalanche-Journal. Collier is having a tussle with pneumonia. As latest reports he was improving. Hurry up and get well "feller." We miss you.

THERE is reported to have been great indignation in Pampa over the vote of the Committee giving Lubbock the right to represent District one in the State play-off. Up Pampa way they feel that Amarillo knifed them in the back in voting for Lubbock. This is reminiscent of the days when Borger citizens boycotted Amarillo over a misunderstanding on the football field. Seems silly but wonder if Lubbock wouldn't have been up in arms under the same circumstances.

IF you have battery trouble call BILL DEAN. Batteries have a habit of failing when you need them most. If you are late for work some cold morning, don't cuss your battery. Let BILL DEAN fix you up with a new National Battery.

THE cannonading you hear these days is not a sham battle between army units. It's the firing of the citizens in quest of the little quail. From all reports, the hunting is good, though the excessive vegetation this year is making the fun somewhat laborious. Rayford Hitts, who owns a good bird dog has suddenly found himself most popular. (hope this sounds right).

THIS week BILL DEAN will give the following items free to the persons listed below, provided they call BILL DEAN's Fourteenth and Avenue J by Monday noon. 5 gallons Texaco gas to Dutch Wiginton 3111-22nd Street. Wash and grease job to Sam West, Hilton hotel. See you next week. See BILL DEAN any week.

Great Britain Formally Goes To War Against Hungary, Finland And Rumania

Little Change In Relations Seen

LONDON, Sunday, Dec. 7.—The British quietly and formally went to war against Finland, Hungary and Rumania this morning because they were fighting on Germany's side against Soviet Russia.

The zero hour, one minute after midnight, was observed in London, and in London time, passed almost unnoticed in blacked-out London.

Newspapers gave it scant attention and the Dispatch even criticized the British foreign office for waiting so long to comply with the Russian request.

Even before the zero hour Scotland Yard operatives moved swiftly against newly-designated "enemy aliens."

More than 200 persons were arrested, including 150 Finns who will be removed later to concentration camps. Newly designated "enemy diplomats" prepared to leave London.

Each of the German satellite states had refused ultimatums that they halt hostilities against Russia, Britain's ally.

Finland turned down the British demand with a reply which was termed "entirely unsatisfactory." Hungary and Rumania did not answer.

The British said the declaration will not materially change the present military situation. The chief difference, they said, would be that the Finns, Hungarians and Rumanians will be sitting "on the other side" at a peace conference table.

Many Are Arrested

In Helsinki, Finnish President Risto Ryti called Russia's friendship with the United States and Britain "a leper's handclasp."

He declared the Finns were unable to understand how Britain "which proclaims she is fighting for the liberty of small nations and democratic freedom, can uphold the bloody, despotic Soviet union as a champion of the same causes."

The Finns hope, fervently, Ryti said, that British-American friendship with Russia will not cause them "irreparable injury."

Field Marshal Baron Gustav Mannerheim also cheered his countrymen with a special order of the day in which he asserted that the hardest part of Finland's army's job was over and the goal of "total security for our country's independence" near.

Sweetwater Upset

Lamar drove 59 yards in the second period for the touchdown that brought Goose Creek its first defeat of the season. The counter came on a pass from Raymond Borneaman, the state's second highest scorer, to Floyd Ford. Borneaman converted to bring his total to 164.

Goose Creek got as far as the Lamar three-yard line in the second period but the Houston team stopped the drive. Borneaman had saved a touchdown by tackling Joe Hazlewood on the two after a 42-yard sprint.

Sites and dates of all quarter-final games have been determined. Highland Park and Sunset will meet at Dallas Saturday. Tyler and Temple play at Temple Friday. Austin clashes with Lamar at Austin Saturday and Ysleta plays Wichita Falls Saturday at Wichita Falls.

Hot Trade Looms

on the final day of the convention was the sale of outfielder-third baseman Debs Garms to Sacramento of the Pacific coast league by Pittsburgh.

This transaction apparently was the final installment toward the payment of pitcher Hank Gornicki whom the Pirates purchased from the St. Louis Cardinals a couple of days ago for about $15,000 cash. Yesterday the Pirates sent Catcher Ray Meulter to Sacramento, which is one of the Cardinals' farms.

The minor leagues completed their business with the election of Dr. E. M. Wilder, president of the South Atlantic league, to the chairmanship of the executive committee of the National association.

Aggies Drop WSC

ran safety man Jay Stoves for the touchdown.

It was Rogers' ninth touchdown pass reception of the season. Veteran Jack Webster, fullback, kicked the extra point right out of the open end of the concrete horseshoe clear down to the railroad tracks, which skirt scenic Commencement bay of Puget sound.

Up to that time the Cougars had dominated the first half. The second half, however, was just about all Aggie.

Texas Crushes Oregon, 71-7

Tony Crish. A penalty placed the ball on the Texas 27 from where M. Hamari tried to Newquist who was nailed on the eight from where Mechem scored.

Tex. In when Guard Ja. Freeman recovered Mechem's fumble on the Oregon 10. Spec Sanders of the Steer second team led through the seven and Ken Matthews added four. Sanders ripped around end for the tally.

The Longhorns managed four points on safeties by blocking Webfoot punts which rolled out of the end zone. One of these occurred shortly before the half-time whistle making the score Texas 30, Oregon 7. Freeman blocked the kick.

Pigskin Parade Deluxe

A 59-yard drive resulted in another Texas marker to open the second half. A pass, Layden to Preston Flanagan, set up the score, with Layden crashing over from the two.

After Doss intercepted an Oregon pass, Kuttner on an end-around shook off several tacklers on a 20-yard run to the seven. It was Crain who scampered around end and then fought his way over to pay dirt.

Opening the final period, R. L. Harkins uncorked a rainbow overhead good for 69 yards all told to the end zone. Crain, who had then hurried one to Wallace Scott on the Webfoot 7 from here he ripped through the middle for a score.

Texas Subs Also Hot

The Longhorn third-stringers, to be denied, then went out and punched in a score of their own—a 29-yard campaign featuring Walton Roberts, Lewis Mayne and Max Minor who went over from the seven.

The Longhorn first team returned to the fray by Coach D. X. Bible for one last exhibition, which, with another touchdown, it drove 43 yards on two passes, one from Layden to Doss who was hauled down on the Oregon five and Layden to Vernon Martin, the Steer's blocking back, in the end zone. It was Martin's only touchdown of the year.

A final Texas on two passes, when the Texas second-stringers passed 27 yards, Mayne to Sanders, over the goal after halting an ineffective Webfoot pass barrage.

Crain, Sanders and Flanagan booted all the Steer's extra points.

his own 49. Wichita recovered, and from there it was a matter of four consecutive completions to a touchdown for the Coyotes. R. D. Smith was the receiver on three of them, including the scoring one which was good for eight yards.

Lubbock Rally Falls

B. L. Smith's true placement kick put the Coyotes ahead 14-13. Lubbock had the kickoff but the Westerner's couldn't go. Wright kicked from the Wichita 45 and the ball traveled only three yards past the line of scrimmage before twisting out of bounds.

A long pass by Hill was intercepted by Lamford on the three-yard line, and he was tackled in his tracks. Wright went back to kick, but the ball was snapped to the short man who handed it to Blackwell. Blackwell tried to run around end, but Hill came in from the back of the goal line. That made the score 16-13.

Coyotes Strike Again

A 51-yard quick kick by Hill that went out of bounds on Lubbock's three put the Westerners in a 21-yard pass to Thorne for a first down on the nine. Four plays, five yards and Wichita took over on the 14.

A 52-yard kick by R. D. Smith backed Lubbock up to the 31, and from there the Westerners started the drive which earned the first touchdown. Thorne returned the kick to the 33, then smashed to the 42. As the second quarter opened Thorne got a first on the Lubbock 45, then Wright spun through the middle for 25 yards and a first on the 30. Walthall got five, Wright seven for a first on the 18. Walthall one and Thorne three. Then Thorne broke away for 10 and a first down on the 8.

Thorne crashed for three, and Wright dove over from the one for the counter. Walthall's kick was good.

Coyotes Come Back

Exactly three plays later the Coyotes had tied the score. The kick-off went out of bounds on the 42, and from there Hill spotted Smith with a perfectly thrown pass that nestled in his arms on the 25, from where he outraced Brewer across the line.

The third play was B. L. Smith's perfect placement for the tying point.

The teams wrestled around in midfield until a couple of minutes before the half time gun when Wright booted down to the three-yard line. The kick-out was short and Lubbock took over on the 27. The Westerners couldn't gain and gave up the ball on downs, but Franklin Butler intercepted a pass to return the ball to Lubbock on the Coyote 27. Wright picked up a first down on the 16, then Walthall passed to Bechtol, who lateraled to Wright, who crashed on to the two. From there it was two tries and over, with Wright scoring from the one foot line.

Hill picked up the first down of the game for the Coyotes on the final play of the first half, running 10 yards when he failed to find a receiver.

Then came that wild second half that left the partisan crowd happy—and sure that their Coyotes will make a big impression in the remainder of the state race.

Boost Seen In Cotton Prices

(By The United Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 6—Cotton futures advanced nearly 34 a bale this week on a series of mildly favorable developments at home and abroad.

At Friday's close quotations ranged 64 to 75 points above last Saturday's 53.20 to 53.75 a bale.

Buying sentiment was aided chiefly by indications that Japan is not anxious to break off the present conversations with Washington.

Japan Seen As Outlet

It was felt in the trade that if the differences between the United States and Japan are ironed out, Japan again will become an outlet for huge supplies of American cotton.

If normal trade relations were to be resumed, it was estimated Japan could take 2,000,000 or more bales of U. S. cotton in 1942.

Other developments of bullish aspect this week included Senator Bankhead's proposal for a sliding scale on loan rates. The tight spot situation in the South and the growing belief that the government's December crop estimate is to be released Monday, will show a sharp drop from the Nov. 1 level.

Reduction Expected

With regard to the probable size of the crop, private estimates this week all pointed to a reduction in the yield during November. The latest estimate—that of Nat C. Murray of Chicago, on Friday placed the probable yield at 10,978,000 bales, against the 11,920,000 predicted by the census bureau in November and a 12,566,000 in October.

Southward advances indicated during the week that producers are more determined now than ever to get 18 cents per pound or better for their cotton.

The Bankhead proposal for a sliding loan rate on cotton produced the earliest level. The percentage on current parity instead of the parity price established at the start of the marketable year. This would mean higher loans inasmuch as the present parity is 5 percent above the earlier level.

A bill also was proposed this week by the House Agricultural committee to provide government aid for farmers hit by drought, flood or other disasters.

The rise in cotton futures prices this week also brought a rise in the maximum prices for cotton graygoods but although a price of 44 cents now is permitted by the quotations, mills still were reluctant to accept any sizeable volume of business. It was believed in the trade that a further advance from the present level soon will be posted.

New Forecast Map Approved

A new weather forecast map for West Texas, including a specific subdivision for the South Plains, has been approved in Washington, according to a letter received at the chamber of commerce Saturday from D. C. Cameron of Albuquerque, N. M., meteorologist in charge.

Twenty-three counties are included in the South Plains subdivision, as follows: Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley and Cottle.

The weather forecasts for West Texas, it was explained, are intended to apply to the area which lies west of the 100th meridian. In the past, the forecasts have divided that area into the northern, central and southern parts of the South Plains having been included in the northern part.

Sub-Divisions Listed
The chamber of commerce has urged over a long period that more specific territorial designations have been needed so as to clarify the areas to which forecasts have been intended to apply, and has been corresponding with Cameron

LOBSTER CLAWS
The two great claws of a lobster are made for different purposes: one for cutting and the other for crushing. When a claw is lost in an accident, the one that replaces it may be of the opposite type, however.

OLIVES AND PEACE
Early barbarians considered olive oil as valuable that defeated tribes sent an olive tree to the opposition to signal a truce. In later times, just an olive branch was sent.

As the result, according to information Saturday, the following territorial sub-divisions have been created: The Texas Panhandle, lying north of the South Plains; the South Plains, El Paso area, Pecos Valley area, Big Bend area, east of the Pecos area and the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area.

TO PLAY FOR BAND BENEFIT—Mondro, above right, magician and illusionist, and his two stage assistants shown with him, will appear in a two-hour program of oriental magic and illusions at Senior High school auditorium Tuesday night being sponsored by the Western band. Men In White Desperately Fighting Their Own Battle

BY VIRGIL M. PINKLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WITH FURTHERMOST CARE
CIVIL CLEARING STATION
ON FRINGE OF LUBBOCK BATTLEFIELD, Dec. 3 (Delayed)—Today I visited the men in white trying desperately to save human lives on the edge of raging battles.

In this North Africa mobile ambulance hospital the operating theater unit has just completed 106 major operations within 72 hours without losing a single case. The work has been done by two teams working 12 and 16 hours at a stretch and then returning after only two or three hours of sleep.

Avoid Amputation
Doctors in this group avoided making a single amputation among their latest cases, a matter of great gratification to their commanding officer.

The unit was taken as close to the battlefield as possible to avoid carrying casualties to ambulances long distances over rough desert tracks. Much of the equipment used was made in the United States, including the operating table, X-ray machines and medicines.

As I entered the theater, I saw a red-eyed doctor and his assistant removing pieces of shrapnel from a corporal's knee. They had just completed a delicate operation on an armored car gunner's face, which had been shot up badly in a strafing by a German stuka.

Chance For Good Work
"We work under trying conditions but with excellent equipment," a serious young captain surgeon said. "There is a chance to do good work here."

About 50 per cent of the patients handled at the station suffered from shrapnel wounds, mostly from strafing by dive bombers. During the first 10 days of battle the unit handled about 700 cases—some 60 of them Germans and Italians.

The unit twice was surrounded by Axis tanks and armored cars as the fighting shifted. The first time was at night when lights burned brightly and 40 major cases were in the hospital.

"Had they moved in, a large number undoubtedly would have died," a colonel said. "Nazi tanks halted, made an investigation and then passed 20 yards distant. Later British successes brought the unit back to our own territory."

Col. O'Reilly Named To Succeed Col. Beck
BROWNWOOD, Dec. 6 (AP)—Col. John J. O'Reilly of Fort Worth, surgeon of the 11th medical regiment, today was assigned to duty as state medical officer of selective service in Texas.

He succeeds the late Col. J. W. E. H. Beck, former state senator and health department official, who died last week in a Denver hospital.

Col. O'Reilly, whose headquarters will be in Austin under Adj. Gen. J. Watt Page, director of selective service, began his military career as an enlisted man in the medical corps during the Galveston storm of 1900.

He is a native of Dallas and a graduate of Texas Christian university, Niagara university and Baylor university medical school.

Homemakers Class To Have Friday Banquet

Plans were completed for a Christmas banquet to be held Friday night at 7:45 at the Country Club at the meeting of the First Baptist Homemakers class Friday afternoon in the activities center.

Twenty-seven members attended. A devotion on "Love" was given by Mrs. G. L. Douglas. Mrs. L. C. Caddell closed the program with a prayer.

Athenaeum Club Is To Have Yule Program

Roll call at the Athenaeum club meeting Tuesday will be answered with a Christmas custom in a foreign land. Meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in Hotel Lubbock.

Mrs. E. L. Mader, program leader, will tell the Christmas story. "The Other Wise Man" will be told by Mrs. M. L. Shepherd and Mrs. C. C. Galbraith will speak on "Christmas in the Old South." Carols will be sung.

HOW IT WAS NAMED
A drink of Jamaica rum and water was served by Admiral Vernon on a British frigate in 1740. The guests were so pleased with the drink that they named it after the admiral's program uniform, and thus was born "grog."

Mrs. H. C. Shambarger, 2413 Broadway, plans to spend the holidays visiting relatives and friends in Dallas, Marshall and other cities.

Operations Of U. S. Soil Conservation Service In Lubbock Area Curtailed

Lack Of Funds Slowing Work

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Impounding of non-defense U. S. government appropriations amounting to $450,000,000 has resulted in a major cut in operations of the U. S. soil conservation service in the Lubbock area, causing a withdrawal of men in half a dozen districts, C. E. Williams, district conservationist, announced.

The Lubbock area, in addition to losing six districts that were being started, will lose two that were projected, but had no personnel appointed. Three of the district conservationists were assigned to other districts in this region, while three were given furloughs.

Will Be Closed Out
Crosby, Swisher and Lubbock county soil conservation districts will be closed out, as will the Blackwater Valley district at Muleshoe. Hale and Castro county wind erosion districts also are being closed. In addition, a district to be formed in Lynn county and a new wind erosion district in Briscoe county will not be started.

E. R. Steen, who has been district conservationist for the Lubbock district, has been transferred to a side-camp of the Morton CCC camp at Kennel, N. M., about 75 miles from Morton. A. B. Chapman, district head of the Blackwater district, was sent to Fort Morgan, Colo., and W. L. Knapp at Crosbyton, was transferred to a Moore county wind erosion district at Dumas. Troy Weaver, Hale county; Miles Kelly, Castro county; and Jess Shaw, Swisher county, were given furloughs.

Those To Remain
Remaining will be E. H. Kemp, Floyd county; A. Patrick, Brownfield; Terry Cochran, Yoakum district; B. F. Parsons, Hall-Childers district; Will J. Clutter, Deaf Smith district and Quinton Williams, Oldham district.

Williams said he was personally delivering to each of the district boards of supervisors affected by the new order, a letter from H. H. Finnell, Amarillo, regional conservator, explaining the reason for the unexpected change in plans.

At the same time it was indicated that there was a chance Congress might make available more funds for the year beginning next July 1, to continue the work.

Letter Is Quoted
Finnell's letter said in part: "The appropriated funds allo-

Causes Of Improved Prices Pointed Out

Collective causes of improved price of cotton at the start of the season, marketing quotas and the loan program, W. Y. Wells, secretary of the Lubbock county AAA committee, announces.

"American prices are about twice that of foreign countries, none of which have a farm program approaching ours," the chairman said in pointing out that cotton prices are nearer parity than in many years.

In receiving better prices for cotton, farmers are enjoying a measure of prosperity more comparable to other classes, he said.

Farmers of Lubbock county should learn all the facts about cotton before voting in the national referendum, Saturday, the AAA official pointed out.

At the same time farmers are voting in the referendum, the fate of the loan program will be decided. According to the AAA, act, loans cannot be offered during any year in which quotas are voted down in a grover referendum. By planting within acreage allotment, various non-defense activities are being impounded for the purpose of creating a budget reserve. These developments, taking place since the planning of our year's soil conservation work program at the start of the fiscal year, compel us to readjust substantially our plans for operation during the remainder of this fiscal year. We will not be able to give technical assistance to as many districts as we had originally intended.

"This does not mean that the Soil Conservation service is disowning its obligation to the land and the people who operate it. With such facilities as remain in our hands, we expect to continue to do the best job we know how of making surveys, assisting in the making of complete conservation plans, and giving the technical assistance necessary to help farmers and ranchers put their plans into operation. The full weight of the service will be thrown into an effort to contribute effectively towards the agricultural and industrial strength of the nation, which we believe is the duty of every person, whether a public official or a private citizen.

"In order to do this, it is apparent the dictates of good management require that we concentrate our remaining forces in the areas already organized into an active program rather than to attempt to spread to new areas so thinly as to become inefficient and ineffectual."

JUST A PAIR OF BUDDIES—Never a cross word mars the beautiful friendship of this pair owned by widowed Mrs. Annette Rado, who runs a candy shop near New York's harbor front. They spar constantly but neither Skippy, a 3-month-old kitten given Mrs. Rado by a Dutch sailor, nor Prince, a 2-year-old German shepherd, is ever damaged. Watch those jaws, Prince!

Farm Defense Board Chairman Urging All Farmers To Make A Check Of Equipment

Set aside one day or several days sometime soon and go over all farming equipment in the advice C. E. Lilley, chairman of the USDA defense board, gives to Lubbock county farmers.

By checking and determining extent of repairs, farmers will know the amount of work and ments, over 90 per cent of the farmers in the United States are eligible for loans at the full rate, the secretary said.

"Cotton marketing quotas are not new to Lubbock county farmers and it is essential that a large proportion of them vote in the referendum," Wells said.

ONCE IS ENOUGH

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—On top of a hard day's work Pvt. James M. Krug, a draftee from Pittsburg, Kans., was handed a letter from his local draft board notifying him to report for induction into the Army. Private Krug already had been in the army a month. He sent his draft board a letter.

"Getting into gear boxes, hooking into turning and moving parts of combines, mowing and planting machines now is the best way to determine the extent of repairs needed," the chairman said. "Flow points should be taken to blacksmiths for reconditioning now instead of waiting until time for working comes around."

Have Various Methods
Farmers repairing machinery during slack winter months have various methods of determining the extent of work required, Lilley

Farm Sessions Are Scheduled

Educational meetings at which the cotton marketing program of the U. S. department of agriculture for 1942 will be explained, will be held this week in nine communities, beginning Monday night.

The meetings for cotton producers of Lubbock county will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Speakers will present information on the marketing quota election to be held Saturday, at which farmers will decide whether a quota will be used next year.

All Urged To Attend
"We want to urge every farmer who can to attend these meetings," said Walter Y. Wells, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Saturday. "The AAA is urging every farmer to vote in other years only a third of the producers have voted; this year we hope a majority will cast their ballots."

C. C. Johnson, county farm agent and Harvie D. Pool, his assistant, and Robert H. Gibson, assistant to Wells, are to speak. R. L. Hooten, county chairman of the farm bureau, has announced he would attend some of the meetings.

To Discuss Elections
During the meetings plans for the annual community committee elections on Dec. 19 will be discussed, as well as selection of a delegate to name a county committee the following day.

"It should be remembered that under the law, if the quota is rejected there can be no cotton insurance," Wells added.

Schedule is as follows: Monday night, Slaton city hall and Shalwater community club house; Tuesday, Wolfthorpe, Friendship school auditorium and Idalou community club house; Wednesday night, New Deal school, Monday, Rection school; Thursday, Rection school and Cooper school; Friday, county courthouse, courthouse, Lubbock.

Man Keeps Promise To Pay His Debt

DENVER, Dec. 6 (AP)—It was a chilly, rainy night sometime last spring. A shivering man approached Desk Sergeant Cornelius O'Farrell. He asked if he could work for 50 cents to get a meal. There wasn't any work, but O'Farrell handed him a half-dollar.

"Some day I'll pay it back, whether you believe it or not," the shabby one said. "I wasn't always like this, and I don't intend to be for long."

Topped by a sprig of holly, a package arrived for Sergeant O'Farrell yesterday. It was a box of expensive cigars and an envelope with 50 cents. A note said "thanks."

Hockley Farm Sheets Signed

LEVELLAND, Dec. 6 (Special)—The sign-up on the farm planning worksheets in the interest of national defense for Hockley county has been very gratifying, according to J. W. Evans, Hockley county administrative officer.

Evans states that to date, approximately 90 per cent of the farmers have executed these farm planning sheets and at the same time received their cotton allotments and yields for 1942. It was necessary to obtain this information for estimates of surplus vital commodities such as milk, butter, eggs, pork and beef for national defense. A summary of these worksheets will be submitted to the Department of Agriculture at Washington and from the total estimates throughout the nation, the Department of Agriculture will make their estimate of these vital commodities that can be supplied to the countries now fighting for democracy.

Evans also states that in the very near future, there will be a series of educational meetings with reference to the cotton marketing quota referendum which will be held December 13. The county AAA office has carried on an enlarged program as never before carried out by the county office and with the added volume of work carried on this year the expense cost for administration purposes is the same as last year. This is contributed to the efficient personnel employed.

All parity applications have been submitted to the state office with the exception of seven which are held up for various reasons such as non-resident landlords. All checks on parity applications are expected in this office in the very near future. The total amount of money received for parity applications is in excess of $300,000.00. The county office to date, has submitted 1,100 applications for conservation payment to the state office. The county office expects to have all conservation applications submitted not later than December 15, with at least $200,000.00 received in the county office before the Christmas holidays, which is considered early for this area.

With more than two million farmers in the United States planting within cotton acreage allotment they are cooperating in an effort to keep supply in line with demand, Lilley said.

Farmers To Vote Next Saturday

By marking a "Yes" or "No" on the face of the ballot, Lubbock county farmers will help write the answer to the question: "Do you favor marketing quotas on the 1942 crop?"

The question will be answered Saturday, December 13, according to C. E. Lilley, chairman of the Lubbock County AAA committee, when a national cotton marketing quota referendum is held.

Must Approve Quotas
To be in effect, marketing quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the cotton farmers voting in the national referendum, he added. Cotton quotas have been approved for the past four years.

Regardless of whether farmers approve quotas, conservation features of 1942 AAA farm program will be the same, but loans for cotton cannot be made unless quotas are approved, Lilley pointed out.

Quotas Are Explained
According to the AAA act, marketing quotas on cotton are proclaimed in any year when the supply of cotton is more than 7 per cent above the normal supply. With 23,800,000 bales of American cotton in the world August 1, 1941, the total supply was 31 per cent above normal. About 23,000,000 bales of the total supply were in the United States.

"The purpose of marketing quotas is to divide a limited market equally among cotton producers," Lilley said.

Plans To Reclassify Thousands Of Draft Registrants Are Being Considered

Inductions Are To Be Speeded

By JOHN D. GONZALES
United Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Selective service officials are considering plans to reclassify draft registrants deferred for reasons of occupation, it was disclosed today.

Present war department plans call for a 2,000,000-man army by next April. This will be attained by induction of some 500,000 selectees after Jan. 1, as announced yesterday.

Concern Is Expressed
But official army concern over the means of obtaining additional men, if needed, was expressed by Lieut. Col. Joseph F. Battley, a selective service adviser, in an address to army, navy and OPA representatives gathered here to discuss questions of labor supply and occupational deferments in New England and Middle Atlantic defense plants.

Battley said the army now stands at a strength of about 1,600,000 men, but that "no person knows when we may have to double, or triple our armed forces."

"One of the leading officials of the war department," he added, "stated publicly not long ago that we may have to think in terms of an army of 8,000,000 men."

Official Is Named
He told the United Press later that the official he referred to was Assistant Secretary of War John J. McCloy. But McCloy, reached at his home here, said he couldn't recall ever having made the statement.

The $6,000,000,000 new defense appropriations bill passed by the House yesterday provides funds to equip an army of 3,200,000 men.

Studies made by the army and navy general staffs, as disclosed by the Chicago Tribune, contemplate an army of 4,400,000 men, plus 2,950,000 for the air corps. That while government agencies continued their investigation of how the Tribune obtained the secret documents, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said, the published plans "have never constituted an authorized program of the government" and are only "unfinished studies of our production requirements for national defense."

Re-Examination Ordered
Battley, who also serves as labor adviser to Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, said the army has called for re-examination of all registrants in class 2-A with a view to inducting some of them for service. He added that "We are looking forward in the matter of class 2-B deferments."

Registrants in class 2-A were deferred because their occupations "contributed to health, safety and interest" of the nation; class 2-B because of defense jobs.

2-A deferments, Battley said, soon "should shrink to a negligible number." He recalled that the army has said that it is going to be harder to get into 2-A and still harder to stay there.

Battley said the government's

Aggie Banquet Set For Tuesday Night

Seventh annual banquet of the Agricultural club of Texas Technological college will be attended by students, faculty members and alumni of the agricultural division and their guests at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in the women's new dormitory on the campus.

W. C. O'Mara, manager of the Sears Roebuck & Co. store in Lubbock will be the principal speaker.

Approximately 300 persons are expected to attend, said Matt G. Pederson, sponsor of the club. Roy Moffett, student from Camp Springs, is club president. He will introduce the toastmaster, Arch Lamb, 1939 graduate of the dairy manufacturers department and now plant superintendent for Banner creameries at Abilene. Jack York's orchestra will play. Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, will introduce O'Mara. Pederson will introduce guests. A. H. Leidigh, dean of agriculture, will speak. Dress will be semi-formal.

British Build Battlefield From Suez To Caspian Sea

BY FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Wide World News Analyst
The war news this week has come out of so many shotguns that it has tended to break the general picture into pieces. A story from Cairo this morning helps to put it back in perspective.

This Cairo story is by the AP's Preston Grover, who has made a slow and interesting trip from Turkey to the valley of the Nile. Mr. Grover found that the British were building a modern battlefield from Suez to the Caspian sea with the same enthusiasm and method which they would apply to a new rugged field at High Wycombe, and that military preparations over these vast expanses of Babeland were pointed toward the month of March, 1942.

Where War Will Turn
There is definite reason to believe that in the long-range British strategy this is considered the fighting ground where the war will turn.

If that is so, one may consider that the British are attempting to consolidate a line running between the 30th and 40th parallels from Gibraltar to the Caspian sea; that the present desert fighting in Libya is a flank action designed to anchor the line on the west, and that the Russians, from the standpoint of British empire security, now are fighting a successful defense of the Caucasus.

Handy Little Hand Hold On Saddles Is Likely To Vanish

DENVER, Dec. 6.—That handy little hand hold on the dude ranch saddle—the saddle horn—may vanish for the duration of the emergency.

Denver OPM officials said nickel, bronze and brass used in manufacture of horns on saddles employed exclusively in the dude ranch business are needed for tanks, guns and ships.

Saddle makers are being pressed to design a hornless saddle for dude riders.

The working cowboy can scarcely do without a saddle horn. He needs it especially as an anchor for the lariat when he ropes a critter or the range. In the better riding circles it's not used as the tenderfoot might use it to grab and hang on for dear life.

Without a horn, the cowhand would have to tie his steer to a fence or sagebrush at branding time.

At one time recently over 25,000,000 gallons of blackstrap molasses was stored in Cuba.

IN MINSTREL SHOW—Sheriff John Greenwood of Gaines county, above, is to take off his badge and gun for hunting criminals Friday night to do a disguise for hunting laughs in the Seminole Lions club charity minstrel at the Seminole high school auditorium. The show, second annual affair, played to more than 2,000 people last year. More than 45 persons are in the cast.

Man Gets His Wish As He Drops Dead

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 6.—A man listed as Howard J. Crawford of Texas was working today with a crew of city prisoners cleaning a vacant lot.

"I wish I was dead," the man declared to Guard P. A. Brookins.

Two hours later he dropped to the ground. Deputy Sheriff Neal Keen, who investigated, said the man apparently suffered a heart attack. City police were trying to contact relatives.

Eire has about half as many jobs as at this time last year.

Beatrice Henry Will Face Trial Jan. 10

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 6.—Mrs. Annie Beatrice Henry, twice convicted of murder and twice winner of a new trial, today was scheduled to go to trial again Jan. 10 for the slaying of Joseph P. Calloway, Houston, tire salesman.

The former Beaumont, Tex., resident has won a re-trial from the state supreme court after each conviction. Calloway, 48, was shot to death near here Feb. 14, 1940, after he picked up Mrs. Henry and Finnon Burks, hitchhikers, near the Louisiana-Texas line. Burks was sentenced to death for his part in the crime.

Take a tip from the Old-Timers

TRAVELING around town here, tall unnoticed among newer, brighter, sleeker models, you'll find a lot of faithful old Buicks that are still in service after six, eight, ten or even more years of use.

They may look sort of funny next to trim 1942 models, and they undoubtedly don't get off as fast on the lights.

But it's worth noting that these sturdy old Buicks are still running, still serving faithfully and well.

Because they have the same basic type of engine as the sleek 1942 Buick—a rugged, long-lived, extra-efficient valve-in-head, though it is now made better by FIREBALL combustion.

They have the same dependable drive—a stout torque tube encasing a sturdy steel shaft stretching its unbroken length from transmission to rear axle.

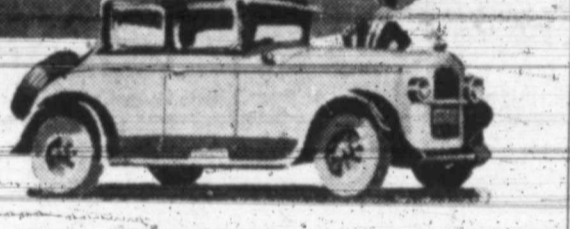

Frames are fundamentally the same now as then; brakes, though hydraulic now, use the same, efficient, self-energizing action. These Old-Timers even used the same piston-material.

All the factors that make for strength and long life are present today as in the past—plus such further advances as all-coil springs that never lose their comfort, Domite pistons that squeeze more good from gasoline, Compound Carburetion that spells peak economy with unmatched reserve power.

There's more comfort, more convenience, more beauty, more power in these '42 models—dollar for dollar there's far more value than the old-timers had.

But what counts most, in view of what seems ahead, is that they're still Buicks—tough, rugged, dependable—good to the last mile.

Take a look at what your next car is likely to be up against and ask yourself if it isn't smart to get a car right now that you'll some day know as "old faithful."

Dawson County Well To Get Test; Wildcat Will Be Started In Dickens Area

New Production Shows Decline

BY JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

Tests scheduled in the week's close were directed to determine the potential of Dawson county's discovery well, Ray Albaugh and Richmond Drilling Co.'s No. 1 J. Handley, and the extent of an oil showing in Amersoda No. 1, Ruth M. Hudson, Gaines county wildcat, which had been drilled with the total depth 5,000 feet. Isaac Deck of Spur prepared to start Wednesday a scheduled 5,000-foot cable foot wildcat in Dickens county five miles northwest of Spur. The test will be on J. McMahan's land in the northwest quarter of section 319, block 1, H. & G. N. Ry. Co. survey.

New production in the most northerly oil producing counties in West Texas Permian Basin dropped to 23,996.96 barrels by 22 wells after increasing for two weeks. It had approached a recent high the week before when 29 wells were completed with combined daily potential yield of 32,859.90 barrels. In the Slaughter field, Hockley county last week added a dozen wells rating 115.32 barrels daily and Cochran county four for 4,493.60 barrels daily. Yoakum county registered two producers good for 645.84 barrels and Gaines county four for 1,741.80 barrels. Bailey, Terry and Borden counties registered an abandoned test each during the week. Sunray Oil Co. No. 3 Bagley extended the east side of the Foster pool in Ector county one location south.

Albaugh and Richmond No. 1 Handley in northwestern Dawson county tested to test bottom at 4,980 feet in lime, in completing cleaning out after a shot it swabbed 44 barrels of oil in 16 hours and was estimated by the operators to be good for 75 to 80 barrels daily on the pump. The well is 660 from the south, 1,980 feet from the west line of section 34-M-EL&RR.

Placid Oil Co. No. 1 Higginsbotham, Dawson county wildcat in the northwest corner of labor 13, league 269, Moore county school land survey, had drilled past 3,950 feet in anhydrite.

Amerada No. 1 Ruth M. Hudson, Gaines county wildcat three miles west of the south end of the Wasson field, was swabbing after treating with 5,000 gallons of acid. On its last test before acidizing and after cleaning out following a 96-quart nitroglycerin shot from 4,952 to 5,000 feet, the total depth, it swabbed 2 1/2 barrels of oil in five hours, showing an average of four per cent basic sediment and water. Location is 2,651 from the south, 2,264 feet from the east line of section 10-33-T&P.

Callihan & Waggoner No. 1 E. M. Wahlenmaier, Crosby county wildcat, plugged back from 4,034 feet in lime to 2,930 feet and shot bailed 20 barrels of oil after standing six days. It was to plug off water, set casing and acidize, probably this mid-week. The test is in the northeast corner of section 31-1-WTRR.

Unable to recover stuck drill pipe, American Drilling Corp. No. 1 Hufnall, Terry county wildcat, in the southeast corner of section 14-D14-C&M, was abandoned at 5,435 feet in lime. It's last core bore a strong sulphur odor.

Anderson-Prichard and American Drilling Corp. No. 1 W. E. Ellwood, Hockley county wildcat 14 miles northeast of the Slaughter field, had drilled below 5,175 feet in lime. Lime cored from 4,571 to 4,589 feet showed sulphur water. No. 1 Ellwood is in the northwest corner of section 15-A-R. M. Thompson.

Stanolind No. 1 Victor J. Williams, Hockley county wildcat nine miles north of Levelland, with elevation of 3,514 feet, topped the anhydrite at 1,960 feet, reportedly normal, and drilled ahead at 3,475 feet in anhydrite. It is 467 feet from the south and east lines of labor 21, league 717, State Capital Lands.

Broderick & Calvert and Amon G. Carter No. 1 G. H. Hayward, northwestern Bailey county wildcat 10 miles southwest of Muleshoe, was abandoned at 5,801 feet in lime. It was in the center of labor 24-17-Sutton.

M. L. Richards No. 1 W. R. Drum, Borden county wildcat in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of section 307-97-21 & T.C. was pulling casing for abandonment at 3,960 feet in lime. It showed an odor of oil from 3,040-48 feet and struck a hole full of sulphur water from 3,048-60.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 1 Charles J. Kleiner, Yoakum county wildcat 3 1/2 miles northwest of the Owenby pool, was running for part of a joint of drill pipe, a bailer and approximately 600 feet of sand line. It was bottomed at 5,436 feet, having plugged back from 5,900. Location is in the northwest corner of section 426-D-John H. Gibson.

Six of the 12 wells completed in Hockley county were finished by The Texas Co. Its No. 34 Slaughter was good for 2,335.80 barrels daily. No. 60 Slaughter 1,387 barrels. No. 61 Slaughter 1,567.84 barrels. No. 62 Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 29-B Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 12-F Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 10-D Mallet with a daily rating of 1,061.68 barrels. No. 26-B Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 29-B Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 12-F Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 10-D Mallet with a daily rating of 1,061.68 barrels. No. 26-B Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 29-B Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 12-F Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 10-D Mallet with a daily rating of 1,061.68 barrels.

Four wells were finished by Honolulu Oil Corp. No. 11-A Mallet with a daily rating of 1,061.68 barrels. No. 26-B Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. No. 29-B Slaughter 1,245.08 barrels. Past Year Has Been Bad One For Vitality Of Seed, State Seed Analyst At Tech Says; Germination Tests Needed Before Planting

This has been a bad year for the vitality of seeds according to Early Pelletier, State Seed Analyst at Texas Technological College. Seeds are germinating at 74 per cent against the 98 per cent germination last year. This means the farmer will only get 71 pounds of good seed out of a hundred. Most of the tests will be made in March or April. "It is very important for a farmer in North Texas to know what per cent of his seed will grow since the growing season is so short here. There is no need for trial and error planting when tests can be given to determine the germination and purity of the seeds," said Pelletier.

May Get Free Test—All seeds sold for planting purposes must be tested and tagged according to a recently enacted Texas seed law. "Farmers using their own seed may have it tested at the state laboratory free of charge," said Pelletier. "We have made about twice as many tests this year as we did up to date last year," said Pelletier. "This is probably due to the fact that farmers want to know more about the rain damage and if it will be profitable to buy seeds from this year's crop. The damaged seeds must be used unless California exports several carloads to Texas, which is unlikely since they raise only enough for home use." Seeds for planting purposes, such as barley, rye, wheat, cotton, corn, alfalfa, and soy beans are tested and tagged.

Man about to become an owner of the electric company

WAIT a minute—this man is taking a medical examination, isn't he? That's right—and what's more he is passing it.

But what in the world does that have to do with owning an electric company?

It's this way: The man is applying for life insurance. And when he becomes a policy owner he will automatically become a part owner of some electric company. The same thing would be true if he were depositing money in a bank. For every one who has a bank account or a life insurance policy is part owner of some electric company.

How is that? Because the money you put in the bank, or buy a life insurance policy with, is invested in various businesses, including electric companies.

This makes you one of the millions of people who have a personal stake in the electric companies—an extra "plus" benefit to you from a business operation which has not only steadily improved your electric service, but has also succeeded in reducing your electric rate about 50% in the past 10 to 15 years. And it is the aim of the people who have accomplished these things—the employees of your electric company—to keep on bringing you more and more of the benefits of electricity at less and less cost.

Hope And Goddard At Lindsey In "Nothing But The Truth"

Hollywood On The Loose...

Some Unknowns You Will Be Knowing In Future Films

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Writer
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6. — It's true that Jack Oakie is still playing college freshman roles and that many of the boy-meets-girl situations in the movies involve pairs of well-preserved veterans who are in fear and danger of becoming grandparents, but youth is beginning to get a break in Hollywood.

There are a few striking evidences of the trend around several studios, but most examples are at Paramount. Just starting is "Out of the Frying Pan," with Edward G. Robinson producing and directing a top-budgeted version of the play without a star name in the cast. They're mostly able youngsters who have been seen before in minor roles.

Although no players have been chosen yet for "For Whom the Bell Tolls," it seems likely that Henry King will make it with people of whom you've never heard. And it will be one of the really big pictures of the year—although I'm not sure which year.

The co-stars of another film in mid-production, called "Dr. Broadway," are MacDonald Carey and Jean Phillips. I had a yarn about her several weeks ago telling how she once was Jean Harlow's stand-in and served as a "leg-art" cutie. If you saw the New York plays last season, you'll remember Carey as Gertrude Lawrence's leading man in "Lady in the Dark," but he's brand-new to the screen.

A Lad's Job

AN IMPORTANT drama now under way is "This Gun for Hire," Veronica Lake and Robert Preston have the romantic leads, but the real acting role belongs to a slim, intense young man named Alan Ladd.

Ladd has had quite a time of it in his local high school years, besides being a track star and becoming West Coast diving champion. He went in for all available dramatic roles in the university—acted in a dramatic play, studied for intensive training in acting. Tyrone Power was one of them but was let go at the end of a month. Ladd lasted four months, but won no roles.

He did save enough money for a year's tuition at a dramatic school. Still no movie roles. Finally, he became a contract actor at a local radio station and worked in from 15 to 20 programs a week. He played all sorts of parts, and it was a dual role of a father and son that brought him to the attention of Sam Taylor, who's now an agent. In two years she found about 30 movie jobs for him, but they were all unimportant.

Slave Driver

MISS CAROL worked hard and drove her client hard to win every possible break. She got him a test for the soda-jerker's role in "Meet John Doe," and he sat up all one night drinking coffee and learning the eight-page speech which did so much for the career of Regis Toomey, who eventually got the part.

Recently, when Miss Carol found there was a chance for Ladd to play the most dramatic of the escaping British prisoners in "Joan of Paris," she insisted he practice Welsh, Scotch and Cockney accents. The studio decided to make the character a cultured young Englishman, but Ladd won the role anyway.

It was his best up to that time, and shortly afterward he was able to test at Paramount as the psychopathic young killer in "This Gun for Hire." With the part, he got a seven-year contract.

President Sends His Sympathy To Boy

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 6. (AP)—Shim Malone, only son of Attorney and Mrs. Dudley Field Malone, ill for more than two years with a leg infection and now facing a major operation received a telegram from Washington, D. C., today, which said:

"I just want you to know that I am thinking of you and wishing you the best of luck. Keep your chin up. Faith and courage will do the rest."

The message was signed Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

It's "Nothing But The Truth" folks!

Theater, too, is in for another hilarious hit today through Wednesday.

Hollywood's top comedian, Bob Hope, is on another laugh spree. And Paulette Goddard, Edward Arnold, Leif Erickson, Helen Vinson, Catharine Doucet, Glenn Anders, Grant Mitchell, Rose Hobart and Willie Best all turn in rousing supporting performances for one of the best comedies of the season.

"Nothing But The Truth" is the Lindsey headliner. Makes $10,000 Wager. This is the third comedy in which Hope and Miss Goddard have starred, and critics acclaim it as the best yet. In this one, Hope is a stockbroker, who insists that truth-telling ought not to be just an occasional virtue but an everyday obligation. His new partners in the stock-selling business, Arrangers and Anders, on the other hand, declare that it is impossible to tell the truth in business and still remain solvent.

Ridiculed to exasperation, Hope wagers $10,000 with Arnold, Anders and one of their clients, Erickson, that he can tell the absolute truth for a period of 24 hours. When he calms down a bit, Hope realizes with a spasm of desperation that the money he bet isn't his own—that it was given him by Miss Goddard, Arnold's niece, for investment, with the injunction that he must double it immediately. What makes matters still worse is that the money isn't hers, either.

Before the cinematic 24 hours are up, Hope has insulted a palatial house-bought full of guests, been forced to do a woman's dressing gown to escape his tormenting questions, been dunked in a live-bait tank, won, lost and won—Miss Goddard, Arnold's niece, through numerous other escapades, all in howling fashion.

"Bowery Blitzkrieg" with the east side kids, is the feature at the Palace today, Monday and Tuesday.

Leo Gorcey, Bobby Jordan, Hunt Hall, Warren Hull and Charlotte Henry take leading roles. "Bowery Blitzkrieg" is the saga of Mugs McGinnis, a tough young character who, after the east side with all iron fist Mugs, played by Gorcey, finally gets in one fight too many and winds up in reform school. Policeman Tom Brady believes that Mugs has the stuff to make good and has him paroled in his custody. McGinnis makes a valiant effort to justify this faith in him by training hard for the Golden Gloves bouts in which he is to represent the police department.

Gambling racketeers move in and from then on the action is hot and heavy.

"Belle Starr" at Tower

"Belle Starr," the petticoat terror of the Ozarks, comes vividly to life on the screen at the tower for the next three days.

Gene Tierney and Randolph Scott have leading roles in this Technicolor production. The film opens in Belle's home in Carthage, Missouri, at the close of the Civil War and shows the developments that turned this sheltered but

Thrilling Air Drama, "Dive Bomber," Tops At Broadway

"Sierra Sue" Is Lyric Feature

WARNER Brothers' "Dive Bomber," opening today at the Broadway for a four-day engagement, stars Errol Flynn and Fred MacMurray in an exciting flight picture filmed in Technicolor, one of the "biggest" productions of the year. The supporting cast includes Regis Toomey, Ralph Bellamy, Allen Jenkins, with the lovely newcomer, Alexis Smith, as the leading woman.

This exciting saga of the air is a thrill-a-second drama of the work being done by the flight surgeons to lessen the physical hazards to the dive-bomber pilots. Seen As Rival Officers. Co-starred as rival officers, a better selection of stars than the dashing Flynn and the homespun MacMurray for the two top roles can not be imagined. Flynn plays the role of a flight surgeon who is out to overcome pilot fatigue, and develops a flying suit to relieve the pressure of high flying and dive bombing. With the hard-bitten cynicism of the seasoned flier, MacMurray at first scoffs at the work Flynn is doing, but soon sees the importance of it and eventually makes the test flight that proves its worth.

The personal rivalry between the two men is played up in a brief but memorable episode which adds up more trouble between the two fliers, with the remarkably photographic Miss Smith providing the friction.

Planes Real Stars

Real stars of "Dive Bomber" are the planes themselves, for every type of fighting and observation plane used by the United States navy, including the newest super-bombers and latest pursuit and interceptor planes of the assembly lines, were used in the filming of the picture. Parts of the film were made in Pensacola, Pearl Harbor and at the San Diego base.

Starting at the Lyric today for a three-day engagement is "Sierra Sue," a film story of the modern west and two groups of ranchers who feud over the proper method of ridding the grazing land of poisonous devil weed.

Gene Autry, singing two songs, "Sierra Sue" and "Be Honest With Me" in his own manner, and Smiley Burnette, his aide and colleague, play the part of the young rancher who cannot be won over by Gene to the modern method of removing the poisonous growth.

OLD TIME RELIGION

COLUMBIA's new education at Stephens College here have been so besieged with student requests for advice in religion and philosophy that they have set up a clinic in the religious education department to which the college's young women are flocking for individual conferences.

"The Lady From Cheyenne" Is First-Run Tech Feature

"The Lady From Cheyenne," starring Loretta Young, opens a three-day run at the Tech theater today.

The story, given a background of Wyoming frontiers of the 1860's, deals with the fight of a native school teacher to obtain women's suffrage in order to end the rule of a ruthless town "boss." Comedy, action and romance insure its wide acceptance.

Story Gay And Modern

It is gay and modern in timing, and its outdoor action background will please the fans who prefer that type of picture but also it will not disappoint lovers of sophisticated comedy—a rare combination.

The supporting cast includes Robert Preston, Edward Arnold, Gladys George, Frank Craven, Jessie Ralph, Samuel S. Hinds, and Willie Best.

A double feature attraction will be the Arcadia's Sunday and Monday offering. Fred MacMurray and a large supporting cast will appear in "Rangers of Fortune," story of three men who escape shooting by a Mexican flying squad through a ruse. "The 12 Meet Betty Brewer and Brande Tynan," militant frontier news paper publisher and his efficient teenage assistant. The two have been driven out of the settlement of Santa Marta.

The big relief, with them, help re-establish the paper and join the fight to learn who is behind the headstrong girl, passionately devoted to the cause of the South, into a daring desperado and later to an unexpected and breath-taking change. A featured supporting cast adds to this unusual photoplay.

Texas Features Comedy

Laughter and thrills, excitement and chills are in the offing for Texan theatergoers today through Tuesday when "The Smiling Ghost" hits the screen.

A tale of killings and quips, the film shows what happens when a guy goes out of his way to tangle with a jinx. This particular jinx is none other than a very beautiful and very rich girl played by Alexis Smith. It seems that Alexis has proved to be a jinx to several would-be suitors. All of them with one exception (and he can't be considered too fortunate because he reposes in an iron lung) have met violent deaths. Wayne Morris, as a graduate engineer and able to use a little extra cash, is hired by Helen Wesley, to act as her grandchild's fiancé and disprove the jinx.

Variety Tops Twin-Bill

What happens when you has the audience on the edge of the seats and the characters on the edge of hysteria.

Variety is the keynote at the Cactus today through Tuesday. "Mountain Moonlight" and "The Great Train Robbery" make up the twin program which highlights the film menu.

The Weaver Brothers and Elvira along with John Archer and Betty Jane Rhodes take top billing in the delightful "Mountain Moonlight," a story of the kindly homespun virtues of the Ozark mountain folk. "The Great Train Robbery," starring Bob Steele, Mickey Stone and Claire Carleton, is the story of how an entire train is stolen.

The Belgian Congo is discouraging the shipping of foreign charcoal into the country.

Midway Presents Laugh Hit, "My Favorite Wife," Today

Grant And Dunne In Lead Roles

A NOTHER one of those "sophisticated" comedies—"My Favorite Wife"—tops the menu for Midway moviegoers today through Tuesday.

With Cary Grant and Irene Dunne turning in sparkling performances, "My Favorite Wife" returns to the city to furnish laughter with a fast-moving dialogue and rib-ticking scenes.

Has Unusual Plot

In this latest variation of the Enoch Arden theme, Grant and Dunne play an unintentional bigamist and his wife who, believed drowned in a shipwreck, returns the day her husband remarries.

The comedy evolves from the husband's inability to tell his second wife why he is kissed, from her disappointment at the postponement of their honeymoon which leads at length to her seeking advice from a doctor concerning her bridegroom's strange actions, and from the efforts of Wife No. 1 to convince her husband that her companion on an island for several years after the shipwreck was not an aggressive specimen of manhood.

Fine Supporting Cast

The complications are resolved in a courtroom scene which is a high spot of comedy. Other situations also add to the entertainment value of the film.

Others in the cast include Randolph Scott, Gail Patrick, Ann Schoemaker, Scotty Deckert and Mary Lou Harrington.

Scout Meeting Set For Today

Three Lubbock district Boy Scout meetings will be combined into one in Mackenzie state park this afternoon, according to an announcement Saturday by Jack O. Stone, council executive.

They will be the final session of a leadership training course which has been in progress three weeks, starting at 3 o'clock, the regular meeting of the Lubbock Scouters' roundtable, and a meeting of Boy Scout troop No. 9, sponsored by First Baptist church, winner of a recent district round-table contest.

Guests At Chili Supper

Boys in the troop are to be guests at a chili supper at 6 o'clock, and members of the training class and of the roundtable are to eat with them. Sam Lefestie is instructor of the class and F. P. Smith is scoutmaster of troop 9.

Numerous other events are scheduled at the council during the week. Stone announced.

Organization of new cub pack 81 is planned in Abernathy at a meeting of leaders Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Mrs. Dan Ward.

The regular court of honor for Blanco district is to be held in Ralls Monday night.

A meeting of South Plains council executive board is to be held in Lubbock hotel here Tuesday night at 7 o'clock for final action on the 1942 budget, according to Dr. F. B. Malone, council president.

The annual southeastern district banquet is to be held in Post Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock to select a new name for the district and to elect officers. Rollin McCord of Tahoka is district chairman. Weldon Skinner is in charge of arrangements. Post, Tahoka, Southland and Slaton are included in the district.

Money orders issued by the Snyder postoffice for 1941 to date number 2,889 and total $46,514.34. This presents an exceptionally bright picture, when compared with 1,740 money orders issued to the same date last year and amounting to $21,229.47.

You've Got To Hand It To The Engineers For Ingenuity; Balloting Is Made Easy

You've got to hand it to these engineers for ingenuity, and here's a case in point, related by Walter Studhalter, president of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity at Texas Technological college.

The society is to conduct an annual initiation banquet at Lubbock hotel at 7 o'clock, and initiates were elected at a recent meeting.

Voting Made Easy

Members had found, however, that voting on each of nine candidates was a tedious process, so they devised this system: Each member was given a dry-cell battery and a wire was strung around the assembly and attached to a voltmeter.

When voting time came, each of 13 members connected his battery to the circuit for an affirmative vote, and short-circuited it for a negative vote. The voltmeter was adjusted to register one volt for each dry cell.

Therefore, 13 volts, 13 votes "yes," seven volts, seven votes "no" and six "no."

To Become Members

Studhalter announced a list of initiates who will become members of the society Tuesday night.

Howard Garrison, Kenneth Beane, John McEwen, Travis Moore, Forrest Bell, Vernon Bennett, Mack Atchison, G. D. Lewis and Byron Bennett. Bennett is the only junior to be initiated. Only one junior is selected each year, the rest being seniors.

Also elected to honorary membership was C. V. Bullen, head of the department of electrical engineering.

Officers of the association are Studhalter, president; Tom Pickett, vice-president; Watson Carlock, corresponding secretary; Lee Perry, secretary; and Edgar Hash, treasurer.

Studhalter will be toastmaster at the Tuesday night banquet.

Mechanics For Navy Service Are Sought

A special quota of 100 mechanics for the navy's aviation service has been assigned the Dallas district and the Lubbock sub-station is expected to furnish at least five men.

F. F. Callaway, chief quartermaster and recruiting officer, said Saturday:

"Men with mechanical aptitude, as may be indicated by graduation from an aviation, vocational, aviation trade school, previous employment, are sought," he added.

"Also men with any mechanical experience."

Openings are for men between 17 and 36 and enlistments are for the duration of the emergency. Each man accepted will undergo a period of six weeks of military training, be sent to a navy trade school for aviation for a period of from four to six months, and then will be attached to an aviation unit of the navy.

"Selective service men who have not received their army physical examination, or who have not been called by their draft board, for induction, are eligible to enlist."

Night Life In Russia's Alternate Capital Limited; Grand Hotel Center Of Activity

BY EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Nov. 28. (Delayed)—There's plenty of night life in Kuibyshev, alternate capital of the U. S. S. R., because the sun slides early into the west behind the leader Volga.

"There's plenty of life because almost a million people dwell where only a few hundred thousand formerly lived but night life is limited."

Center Of Activity

The center of activity is the Grand hotel, where after dinner diplomats, soldiers of many nations, certain Soviets and newsmen gather.

"The building is a gray, squat affair in the city's main street, overlooking the river."

Grand hotel's life is crowded into two rooms. At one end of the smaller room plays an orchestra which is a sort of corny outfit with slowed-down waltz tempo.

Plays American Tunes

The band plays American tunes for dancing but significantly the seven musicians outmimic the ladies dancing.

Slaton Plans For Yule Decorations

SLATON, Dec. 6. (Special)—Slaton is to wear a full Christmas array of decorations this season, the chamber of commerce and board of city development decided when it voted funds to complete a full decorative program. Business firms, civic organizations, the city itself and individuals are participating in the program. Ladies of the Wednesday Study club are working on a striking Christmas scene to be located on the city hall lawn. Business firms are showing an enhanced interest in beautifying their store fronts and window decorations. Briggs Robertson, manager of the chamber of commerce and board of city development, said today. Lawns and store fronts over the city are being prepared for decorations, as the chamber of commerce plans to offer prizes for the most attractive displays in addition to an award for the most striking store window.

they cannot leave the institution to look for one. One young man, with no family connections in the United States, recently left Elmira after serving nearly four and a half years more than his minimum sentence—simply because he couldn't find work. The reasons for this paradox are manifold. For one thing, there are still many state penal institutions, perhaps the majority of them, which have made no changes in their rehabilitation programs. Some have no special programs of this sort at all. Others, dependent on state funds, cannot afford to supply their machine shops with modern machinery.

Flight Board To Visit Here

Planning to join the air corps? Or perhaps you are interested in a navigator's job. At any rate word has been received from the aviation procurement officer, at Fort Bliss, that a "honor" aviation cadet examining board from Goodfellow field, will fly to Lubbock on Dec. 8 and 9 and interview men who are interested in becoming aviation cadets in the United States Army.

The aviation procurement officer states that many changes have occurred in the requirements for aviation cadets and it is now possible for a student to gain exemption from examination with relatively few hours, if they are in the right subjects.

To Be At Tech

The aviation cadet examining board will be on Tech campus and the flight surgeon of the board will give the physical examination. The rest of the board, two of whom must be flying officers, meet all those who are physically qualified and pass upon and evaluate their college credits. They also give advice and information to men who are anxious to follow the course they have taken just a short time before.

The age limits have not changed. A man must be 20 years old and not yet 27. He must be unmarried and in good health. For navigators, however, the eye requirements have lessened a bit, making it possible for men with the necessary educational requirements to become navigator students even though their eyesight is only 20/40 or must be corrected by glasses.

The board will be at the Tech gymnasium on Dec. 8 at 1 p. m. and will stay through Dec. 9 and longer if necessary.

Motor cars are seldom seen in many towns of Spain as a result of the gasoline shortage.

CARPENTER PAPER COMPANY

"Lubbock's Own Paper House"

Serving The Great Empire Of West Texas And Eastern New Mexico

THE CARPENTER PAPER company of Lubbock is a branch of the Fort Worth house and one of the 27 Carpenter houses located through the Middle West.

Frank Phillips, local manager, is a native of Belton where he received his grade and high school training. On graduation from high school, Phillips entered a business school in Tyler and on completion of his business training in June, 1921, moved to Lubbock to enter the automobile business.

In the summer of 1927, Phillips joined the Taylor Paper company, which was purchased by the Carpenter Paper company in July, 1931, representing this company in West Texas and New Mexico. Seeing great possibilities in the city of Lubbock as a distributing center, Phillips persuaded Carpenter officials to start a house in Lubbock.

THE FIRST stock was carried in a public warehouse and through the efforts of Phillips the business grew and prospered. Larger quarters were necessary to carry on the expanding business and on Oct. 1, 1937, the stock was moved to a two-story building at 811 Avenue H. Additional salesmen, office and warehouse employes were added to assist Phillips in taking care of the increasing business and in August of this year, the company found it necessary again to seek larger quarters. On Nov. 1, the company moved to its new location on the corner of Ninth street and Avenue G.

The new office and warehouse is of the latest construction. One floor, with balcony, containing 18,000 square feet of floor space, is barely sufficient to carry the large stock necessary to serve the trade and both Phillips and the company are looking forward to the day when further expansion will be necessary.

PHILLIPS is known to a great many of the newspaper publishers and merchants in West Texas and eastern New Mexico as 'Phil.' He is a member of the Lubbock Lions club, Lubbock Sales Managers' club, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the Methodist church. He owns his home here and is one of Lubbock's most enthusiastic boosters. Energetic and restless, he can be found at his desk from early until late and he is never too busy to help a customer or a friend.

Vegetable Fibers Base For Paper

All paper is made from vegetable fibers. Trees, cotton, flax, jute, straw, esparto, sugar cane, cornstalks, hemp, bamboo and many other plants and grasses are used, but the finest quality paper comes from pulp of which spruce is the base.

The fibers of the spruce wood are strong, uniform and have been found to be best adaptable to paper making.

About half of a spruce log is usable fiber in a paper mill. The rest is lignin and other-binding agents which must be removed. It is the job of the pulp mill, usually located near the forests, to separate the usable fibers from the rest of the wood. This is done by various "cooking" processes involving use of dissolving agents—sulphites and sodas.

Cut Into Chips
After the bark and knots have been trimmed from a log, the wood is fed into chipper machines which cut it up into small chips. These go into great retorts called "digesters" where the "cooking" process soon dissolves, washes and drains away everything but the wood fibers. The result is paper pulp.

Pulps usually are blended at this point in accordance with the particular grade of paper wanted. Pulps of various kinds can be mixed such as tobacco, coffee and whiskeys are blended to improve flavor, aroma, etc. Modern paper mills have extensive laboratories and research staffs which constantly experiment with new blends and mixtures.

Many More Processes
Pulp is paper, but it isn't yet ready for commercial use and must go through other intricate processes before it is in condition for the trade. The paper mill does this job.

Pulp fibers go through machinery which soaks them so thoroughly that they "virtually" swim around by itself. To help out in this, the mushy solutions go through "beaters" which crush and stir the pulp in great tanks and between iron "ribs." The pulp is flattened, beaten and otherwise maltreated.

Paper makers say paper is "made in the beater," which means its ultimate quality is determined by how well the pulp is beaten. In the beater, too, color is added to the pulp if the finished stock is to be other than natural white.

Bleached By Chlorine
Bleaching is sometimes done in the beater, although many pulp mills do it. Chlorine is the principal bleaching agent and it turns the pulp from its natural yellowish tinge to the plain white most paper must be.

The real miracle of paper making comes about in an extremely simple process. It is in the Fourdrinier machine that the watery pulp emerges as paper.

Fourdrinier is probably the most important name in paper making. Henry and Sealy Fourdrinier, two wealthy English brothers, paperized themselves in perfecting a machine invented in 1798 by the Frenchman-named-Louis-Robert.

The latter developed a rough mechanism with a moving wire screen that made a continuous sheet of paper. Up until that time, 1798, all paper was made by hand, one sheet at a time, in wire-bottomed moulds.

The Fourdriniers acquired the Roberts patent and worked out a machine which is basically the same today.

Liquid Paper First
"Liquid paper" in the form of pulp which is 1/2 of 1 per cent pulp and 99 1/2 per cent water flows onto a moving screen of bronze wire. The screen is 65 mesh and it shakes sideways as it moves forward. This motion interlaces the fibers and at the same time drains part of the water away through the screen.

The Fourdrinier screen gives the paper its first tentative form—a loosely knit, pulpy and watery mass that has some resemblance to a sheet of paper. It is still about 80 per cent water at this point and has just enough tensile strength to jump a short gap from the screen to press.

This is another endless belt, made of high grade wool. This belt takes the pulpy paper under rolls which squeeze out more water and compress the paper still more compactly.

The presses take out 10 to 15 per cent more of the water and send the paper on to the driers, which are huge metal rollers fitted with steam. These dry out all but 6 per cent of the water and squeeze the paper into its final form—thin dimensions. From the driers it emerges in substantially its finished form.

Calendars, which are very heavy and highly polished steel rollers, give it a final smoothing and ironing, and then nothing remains but to wind it on reels and process it into the myriad shapes and sizes demanded by modern business.

Sultan Slain, First Turkish Mill Wrecked
Around the beginning of the last century the Sultan Selim II established what was said to be the first paper mill of modern times in Turkey. It was located at Scutari, a suburb of Constantinople.

Why Paper Is Scarce? Defense Program Is Taking Vast Amount

You wonder why paper has gone up? Just take a glance at these defense program requirements:

2,500 tons (375 carloads) of mimeograph paper.

2,500 tons (375 carloads) of typewriter paper.

2,000,000 rolls of toilet paper for each army camp.

30,000,000 file folders.

3,750,000 sheets of carbon paper.

4,000,000 paper milk-bottles per day to each army camp.

30,900,000 defense stamp albums.

100,000,000 pounds of book paper and 100,000 pounds of cover paper for soldiers' handbooks.

3,000,000 sheets of poster paper for "minute men," national defense posters.

11,000 tons (550 carloads) of target paper.

11,000 tons per month (550 carloads) of board for shell containers.

every year by the government.

The plans for a battleship require a carload of blue print paper.

Estimated requirements of defense and consumer for 1941: 26,000,000 tons; estimated production, 21,000,000 tons.

Paper Has Many Classifications

How many kinds of paper can you name?

The layman might name and define 100 or more if he thought hard. But the paper industry has more than 1,000 classifications and definitions.

Some years ago a committee representing the major mills, manufacturers and paper supply houses of the country set up a list of definitions which now are standard throughout the industry. It starts out with "abrasive paper—a good grade of manila wrapping paper, in many weights, coated with glue and an abrasive material such as sand, crushed quartz, garnet, emery, carborundum, etc." and concludes with "zinc liner—refers to the use of zinc plates on top and bottom of each sheet of paper in making the plaster book."

In between there are more than 1,000 papers: Acid-proof, air-dried, browns, aluminumized, barbed dried, beer plaques, blasting, bogus, cake board, calf, Cambridge, Bible, cartridge—etc., hundreds of odd names of material for odd uses in life.

Folded Paper Gets Small Quickly; Try It Fifty-Four Times

Anyone experienced in binding or folding paper knows how few times a sheet can be folded before it comes down to a tiny square.

In order to make any large number of folds in a sheet of paper, a tremendous size is required. If one wanted to fold a piece of paper merely 34 times, it would require a sheet 185,000,000 miles long—long enough to reach to the sun and back again.

Old Documents Of Adam's Day Found

Although the world too often takes for granted the part which paper plays in preserving history for posterity, every now and then some dramatic incident brings this important fact into fresh focus and forces the world to pay homage to the great service of paper to mankind.

Such an event recently was recounted when valuable lost diplomatic documents of the United States dating back to the Russian ambassadorship of John Quincy Adams in 1816, were found in Leningrad in the ancient American embassy buildings. Hundreds of bound volumes, maps, pamphlets, and bundles of correspondence were discovered.

Behind the buildings, in a dimly lit room in the musty disused stables, were found bundles of correspondence which government historians now are using to piece together the jigsaw puzzle of history. Once again paper speaks from the grave.

Oldest Known Cotton Document Dated 1102

The oldest known document on cotton paper is a deed of King Roger of Sicily, dated 1102. It is probable that the famous mills of Fabriano sprang from Sicilian sources. Their establishment was followed in 1360 by a mill in Padua, and later in Treviso, Bologna, Palma, Milan and Venice. The first paper mill of Germany was that of Ulman Stromer at Mainz in 1320.

Parchment Used For Enduring Newspapers

Newspapers which wish to preserve complete copies print a limited number of editions on special parchment paper which will not decay. Historical societies and most publishing houses now print a few copies of important books and pamphlets on paper that will last.

Business Started In Omaha Has Grown Into An Empire Now Busy In 17 States; New Plant Here

Most successful businesses are the lengthened shadow of one man—a fact which has been recognized and commemorated by epigram and story for a long, long time.

Other men have an important part, to be sure; but somewhere along the way—often in the beginning, sometimes later—is one man whose vision, ability and energy lay the foundation of a great institution. In the case of Carpenter Paper Co., the man was the late Isaac W. Carpenter.

The senior Carpenter founded the business and was its guiding light for almost 50 years. Ill health forced him into semi-retirement a few years before his death in 1923, but he took a keen and active interest in business affairs to the last.

One of the hallowed rituals in the Carpenter organization for years was the founder's annual letters to all his subordinates, sent out on each anniversary of his entry into the paper business. The last one was written July 14, 1925.

In the previous 49 years he saw the small paper sales company he started grow to a dominant position in the middle and far west.

latent were largely responsible.

Carpenter was born on a farm near Marengo, Ill., in 1858. The family was large—six sons, two step-sons and a daughter, in addition to the two hard-working farm parents. His early days were typical of any farm boy's life. He carried his share of the farm load, and in later years attracted much of his success to the rigorous environment which taught him to work hard—and enjoy it.

Off To Chicago
He acquired an elementary school education in those days, and when he was 20 years old decided to leave the farm and go to work. The panic of 1873 had jolted the business world as well as the farmer, and there had been some tough times on the Marengo acres.

Nearby Chicago was the commercial magnet of the surrounding territory; and in 1876 young Carpenter struck out for the growing city, supported by a cousin of his who was manager of a small paper company in Chicago and Carpenter sought work from him. He got a job as shipping clerk at $3 a week, and this was the life work of the future founder and president of the Carpenter Paper Co., determined.

No Soft Snap Then
The work was hard and the hours were long. Few of the power-machines which now cut, trim, stamp, pack, wrap and carry paper were in use; and a prime requisite anywhere around the plant was a strong back and tough hands. Carpenter recalled, too, that working conditions were not ideal.

"My employer was a hard taskmaster," he wrote, "and many times I had plenty of excuse to resign on account of harsh language used relative to myself and my work. But I stuck for 11 years with that house until I acquired a fair knowledge of the paper business."

Encouraged by Isaac's progress, younger Carpenter brothers left the farm and migrated to Chicago. George obtained work with W. D. Messenger, whose name still survives in the paper trade, and Frank came along in 1880 and went to work in the same paper department of the E. P. Elliott company.

With New Organization
Elliott some time before had absorbed the Ypsilanti Paper Co., which was the original company with which Isaac Carpenter had gone to work. He had gone in with the new organization. A few years after Frank joined the Elliott forces, brother James came on to Chicago and asked for a job. Elliott, however, thought he had enough Carpenters on the payroll and turned him down. So with Isaac's help, Jim established a line of credit to buy wrapping paper, and this he sold from a wagon he drove about the city.

The brothers by this time were experienced in the paper business, and the field was developing by leaps and bounds as the country's increasing commercial life turned to paper for more and more use. They had saved a little money and began looking around for a way to get into business on their own.

They thought of starting in Chicago, but a paper manufacturer dissuaded them. They approached this man with a request for supplies on credit. He told them his arrangements with the Elliott company prevented him from extending it, and that Chicago was well supplied with paper houses anyhow. There was no deal so far, as Chicago was concerned.

But he also told them about a small town out in Nebraska. It also was a paper business town; it had no paper business, and he said if the brothers would undertake to get started out there he would provide the necessary credit.

Frank was designated to investigate. He looked around Omaha and some other new towns in the middle and northwest, and from his report the decision was made to settle in the Nebraska metropolis. It was a wise move.

$11,000 To Begin
The brothers had some savings of their own and they got some additional backing from their father, who had sold part of his Illinois farm and was willing to loan them the proceeds. They had in all about $11,000 when they moved into the struggling frontier town of Omaha in 1886 and rented an empty livery stable for $55 a month.

Omaha developed rapidly as a railroad center, and as the jobbing headquarters for a large new territory. Foundations even then were being laid for some important businesses, and the Carpenter paper business grew from the start. Merchants in Omaha and adjacent territory were glad to have a paper supply house in their midst instead of having to depend on shipments from Chicago and St. Louis. They patronized the pioneer paper men from the first, and Carpenter, incidentally, takes a pride to this day in the fact that many of these original customers are still on the list.

Incorporated In 1889
It was not until March, 1889, that the brothers incorporated as the Carpenter Paper Co. The first officers were Isaac W., president; James A., vice-president; C. L. treasurer; J. F., secretary. These men, with their brother, George, comprised the board of directors. Frank and Isaac alternated as road salesmen and city salesmen. They quickly sewed up the Omaha trade and branched out for that of the surrounding territory.

New Locations Needed
George eventually was assigned as a permanent road salesman and he pushed the Carpenter line into all the towns along the Union Pacific railroad—Fremont, Cheyenne, Denver, Ogden, Salt Lake City, Pocatello, Butte and Anaconda became important commercial centers in which the Carpenters drummed up business.

The original Omaha location was quickly outgrown and in 1889 the Carpenters moved into a five-story building equipped with a power elevator, which in those days was a hallmark of progress and prosperity. This second location served until 1906, when the company built a modern eight-story building in downtown Omaha from which it has operated ever since.

Branching Out In Other Directions
Paper is a bulky commodity that requires storage space pending its processing into the myriad shapes and sizes demanded by the consumer. The Carpenters early saw the advantage of warehouses at strategic points in their territory, and in the natural course of events began acquiring them.

A Des Moines branch was opened in 1896 with George Carpenter as manager, and the Kansas City Paper House was started in 1902 with Brother Jim in the driver's seat. A branch was opened in Lincoln, Neb., in November, 1908, and the company got started in Oklahoma in 1909 when a salesman opened a small warehouse in Guthrie, Oklahoma headquarters was transferred to Oklahoma City in 1916, and the Carpenter Paper Co. of Oklahoma was incorporated in July, 1931.

Mergers And Expansion
Thus the San Antonio Paper Co. was organized in July, 1913, to serve South Texas. A merger with Carter, Rice and Co. of Denver in 1905 established them firmly in the Rocky mountain area. The Carpenter Paper Co. of Utah was formed in January, 1916, with headquarters at Salt Lake City, although Carpenter had operated a distributing point in Salt Lake City as early as 1903.

Sales were made on the Pacific coast as early as 1903 by traveling salesmen, but Carpenter did not get a real foothold in California until 1917 when P. C. Holland, an experienced paper man, sold out his interest in an established house and became the Carpenter representative. He built up the business steadily, and incorporation of the Carpenter Paper Co. of California was effected in 1931 with Holland as vice-president and manager.

Into North Texas
Since then there have been acquisitions of other competitive houses; the senior Holland has died and his son, Kenneth, is now vice-president and manager of the Carpenter west coast interests.

Latest major acquisition of the Carpenter domain has been in North Texas. The firm was well established in South Texas as early as 1913, but not until 1935 did it get into the Dallas-Fort Worth area in earnest. In June of that year it bought out a competing organization, the Tayloe Paper Co., of Memphis. The Tayloe brothers, incidentally, began their paper career in Omaha in 1903, but soon moved over to Tennessee and their paths did not cross with the Carpenters again until the North Texas deal was started.

All In One Company
The Carpenter Paper Co. of Texas was organized with headquarters in Fort Worth, and since then additional warehouses have been established in Lubbock and Dallas. The firm has moved into a new warehouse here at 902-04-96 Avenue G.

In 1937 all of the assets of the 14 subsidiary companies were liquidated into one organization, the Carpenter Paper Co. Thus, the Carpenter empire now extends through 17 states west of the Mississippi river and serves this vast territory with warehouse stocks of merchandise in Omaha, Kansas City, Oklahoma City, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Dallas, Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, Lincoln, Billings, Great Falls, Grand Island, Sioux City, Des Moines, Harlingen, Austin, Odgen, Pocatello, Topeka, Lubbock, Pueblo and Albuquerque.

While policy and central management is settled at Omaha, each subsidiary has a local operating staff which identifies itself closely with local interests. Each company personnel takes an active part in civic and community affairs; each branch supports local projects and builds itself into the life of the territory from which it obtains its trade. Purchases for each office are made locally so far as this is possible.

Active In Civic Work

In Lubbock for example, Frank Phillips is an active member of the chamber of commerce, Lion's club and Sales Manager's club. He has been active in newspaper association work and is never too busy to help in building his community.

This civic activity is typical of Carpenter organizations—everywhere. Company executives are encouraged to give time and effort to worthwhile civic endeavor. It is a policy of the company to give financial aid to worthy organizations arising from community funds, chambers of commerce, etc.

Each year a carefully chosen group of young men is brought into the organization and started

Company Executives In Omaha Headquarters Have Had Long Experience In All Branches Of The Paper Industry

J. A. CARPENTER Chairman of the Board

Headquarters of the Carpenter Paper Co. are at Omaha, where these officers direct the activity of the far-flung empire. However, all the various branches, of which the Lubbock branch is one, have wide managerial powers, and management is vested to a unusual degree in the local officials. Three of these men are sons of the founder.

on a rigid training regime which eventually will fit them for the executive positions of the future. The company has through this system now built up a reservoir of potential executive talent from which it can draw its future managers as time requires.

All the present executives of the company have come up through the ranks and have long service records with Carpenter.

J. A. CARPENTER, chairman of the board, has been active in the paper business for almost 50 years. He was born on a farm in Marengo, Ill., and started selling papers on the streets of Chicago in June, 1884. He drove a horse and wagon all over the south side and built up a steady business for those days. In February, 1887, he gave up his Chicago business and moved out to Omaha where his brothers already had laid the foundations of the Carpenter company. He served as city salesman in Omaha until February, 1902, when he was sent to Kansas City to take charge of the subsidiary

Kansas City Paper House. He retained this connection until December, 1925—when his elder brother, Isaac died. J. A. succeeded Isaac as head of all the Carpenter interests and when the Carpenter Paper Corp. was formed in 1930 he became its president. He was named chairman of the board in April, 1936—the position he still holds.

I. W. CARPENTER, JR., president, from his Omaha headquarters he directs the merchandising and operating activities of the entire Carpenter group. He came into the paper business in 1916 as a city salesman and became active in the manufacturing and merchandising departments. He soon was made manager of the Federal Envelope Manufacturing subsidiary. He continued his merchandising and sales work in the fine paper department and in 1926 became vice-president of Carpenter Paper Co. of Nebraska. In 1930 when the Carpenter Paper corporation was formed he was elected first vice-president and later, in 1936 became its president.

H. F. FIELD, first vice-president and treasurer, is responsible for the finances of the company. He joined the Carpenter organization at Omaha in 1892, and soon became cashier of the Omaha office. He later, traveled the north-west territory as salesman, and in 1902 went to Kansas City as treasurer of the Kansas City Paper House, at the time it was acquired by the Carpenters. In 1930 he was made a vice-president and treasurer of the Carpenter Paper corporation, and in 1937 was elected first vice-president and treasurer of the Carpenter Paper company.

G. E. CARPENTER, vice-president, started with the company in 1905 as city salesman. Later he broadened his experience by selling in the important country territories of Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. In 1925 he was elected vice-president and appointed country sales manager. He is now in charge of the Montana operations and is on the general office merchandise staff at Omaha.

The executive committee consists of James A. Carpenter, chairman; I. W. Carpenter, Jr., H. F. Field and G. E. Carpenter. These four are on the board of directors as are Charles E. Schoff, vice-president of San Antonio, A. P. Spilko, vice-president, Salt Lake City, and C. Y. Offutt of Omaha.

Holy Paper Immunizes Jap Girls From Danger
The Japanese prayer and charm worn by Japanese girls from the day of their birth is supposed to protect them from sickness, trouble, and danger. It consists of a wooden tablet, sanctified by a priest and a prayer printed on holy paper, to be used when danger threatens.

Salute To Progress

Progress is traditional with the Carpenter Paper Company. Its new building is symbolic of the forward strides it has made over the years. 'Paper Crumbled Into Dust, And With It, All Civilization'

An inspired publicist, writing in a pamphlet published by the Neenah Paper Co., Neenah, Wis., has speculated on what would happen to the world if some evil alchemy should destroy all paper in a twinkling.

"Before my startled eyes the morning paper, folded neatly beside my mail, fell gradually apart and crumbled into dust. As I watched, amazed, several magazines did likewise. Horrified, I seized my mail and began frantically to open it. Even as I worked, envelopes, letters, checks, a telegram slowly went to pieces in my hands. My desk was littered with gray dust.

"Memoranda of the day before, my calendar, blotter, telephone directory withered away. Even the pictures on the walls turned to empty frames, staring at me with vacant glassy eyes. In a sudden panic I dialed "information," only to find that paper everywhere was vanishing.

"Government, business, transportation, printing were paralyzed. A frantic people watched currency, securities, legal documents, life insurance policies decay into nothing. Great industries saw blup prints, orders, files, pay rolls, records, everything disappear. Libraries were gutted with this plague. Our law and the treasures of literature were gone. And with all this went civilization."

EARLY PAPER INSTRUCTION

In 1754 Dutch workmen were brought into Austria at the public expense by the Empress Maria Theresa, for the instruction of master paper makers; and the monopoly to buy rags was abolished.

Endless Variety Of Uses—Paper

Paper has an endless variety of uses in modern life.

In the home, in the office, in the factory, in the store, in the school—everywhere.

It is a relatively bulky commodity that requires considerable processing. That is, from the time it comes from a mill as a continuous sheet of paper it must undergo cutting, trimming, printing, shaping, pasting and various other manufactured steps before it is ready for the consumer.

Don't Do These Tasks.

The retail grocer on the corner near your home doesn't want to buy plain brown paper from a mill, cut it to the required size and shove it into the sacks in which he will carry your sugar and potatoes.

The bakery that bakes your bread doesn't want to coat paper with wax, print fancy trade names in various colors and otherwise fix it up before he can wrap his product in it. The corner drug store can't manufacture the paper picnic plates, the boxes of letter paper, the rolls of cleansing tissue.

PROVIDING EFFICIENT SERVICE—This is a view of the truck loading dock, where equipment is available to speed city deliveries. New machinery and equipment was installed in the new plant to insure the best of service.

Secret Messages Once Kept On Thin Metals

Many curious practices flourished before the popular use of paper. Aeneas Poliorcetus, who lived about 720 B. C., relates that women carried secret messages written on small leaden volumes, or rolls of very thin metal, which they wore as earrings.

They were made pliable by beating with hammer, and sometimes were sometimes sewed into women's shoes to allay suspicion.

Rolls Of Papyrus Rag Pulp Made Found In Tomb From Old Cloth

Rolls of papyrus rag pulp were found in a tomb in Egypt. The pulp is made by cooking the rags in chemicals to separate the fiber from fatty and starchy matter. The dirt is drained off and the pulp carefully washed for several hours, after which it is bleached, re-washed and refined in the beater.

The raw material may be obtained direct from textile mill ends or bales of unsorted dirty rags, from collectors. They first are thrashed to remove dust, then sorted and all buttons, hooks, buckles, et cetera, cut off before being reduced to pulp.

Blotting Paper Made Accidentally

Blotting paper was discovered by accident. It was not until after the Civil War that the use of blotting paper became general. A pewter shaker of dusting powder or sand was employed for the "blotting" purpose before then.

The blotting paper industry was born when a careless workman forgot to put sizing in a batch of ordinary rag paper. Distracted over the loss, the mill owner attempted to utilize the paper for his own correspondence, but when he began to write on it the ink spread all over the paper. Then the idea occurred that here was a substitute for sand drying. Thus was blotting paper born.

Record Of Death Kept 37 Years

In 1860 the whaling schooner "Hope" was sailing south of Drake straits when an ice barrier parted, revealing a strange craft encased with ice, rigging fallen and sails in tatters.

The captain of the "Hope" boarded the battered derelict and found a crew sitting in natural positions, frozen in a perfect state of preservation. The corpse of the captain was seated in a chair with a pen still in his hand, and before it a page of the log book which told the story. "May 4, 1823, no food for 71 days. I am the only one alive."

The permanency of the paper preserved the fact that the "Jenny" was caught in the ice jam of May 4, 1823, and had cruised with its crew of dead men for 37 years.

Early Mills Blamed For All World's Evils

In 1696 the people of Buckinghamshire and Middlesex, England, petitioned the privy council to abolish paper mills in that vicinity. They declared that paper makers were responsible for the plague in that country, claiming it was brought in by their rags.

The petition also accused paper manufacturers of killing the fish with their double water wheels and of damming up the water and causing a flood in the countryside.

Paper Is Aid In Civilizing World

Among some peoples in remote parts of far countries every man's actions are under suspicion. On the Arabian desert the merchant and traveler are met on approach to camp or village by armed outposts.

In the march of civilization, such practices gradually are disappearing, largely as a result of the influence of communication among people. Were it not for paper, which is serving as a medium for transmitting thought, it is safe to say the entire world would not yet be emerged from its former state of civilization.

Fool's Cap Coined As Contemptuous Term For Ruler

During the reign of Charles I, all English paper was stamped with the royal arms of England. The monarch, in consideration of certain moneys, granted monopolies to several companies for the manufacture of paper.

On the accession of Oliver Cromwell, he commanded the royal arms to be removed and ordered the substitution of a fool's cap and bells in the water mark as an indication of contempt for Charles I.

FRANKLIN SERMON SEIZED

In Philadelphia, soldiers entered the old printing house of Benjamin Franklin and took 2,500 copies of a sermon. They used the paper for musket packs in the Revolutionary battle of Monmouth.

MEANWHILE TARZAN DETOURED TO PICK UP PROVISIONS FROM THE IBEKS, THEN RESUMED HIS JOURNEY TO SOLIFARA.

MEHARA, HIS CAMEL WAS OLD AND SLOW, BUT THE JUNGLE LORD'S KINDLY COAXING INSPIRED HER TO DO HER BEST.

LATE NEXT DAY, OLD MEHARA BEGAN TO TREMBLE. SHE SNIFFED THE AIR, AND BLEATED UNHAPPILY.

SOON TARZAN SAW THE CAUSE-A GREAT CLOUD OF SAND SWEEPING OVER THE HORIZON-THE DREAD KHAMSI!

AS WAS HIS CUSTOM AT INTERVALS, THE APE-MAN LOOKED BEHIND. THERE WAS NUMALI, IN SWIFT PURSUIT!

NUMALI FIRED BUT TARZAN WAS TOO DISTANT FOR ACCURATE AIM. THE BULLET WHISTLED PAST THE APE-MAN.

OLD MEHARA BALKED IN THE FACE OF THE SANDSTORM. SHE WANTED TO LIE DOWN, BACK TO THE WIND, AND WAIT IT OUT.

ONLY BY DESPERATE URGING DID TARZAN KEEP THE FRIGHTENED CREATURE GOING.

THE WHIRLING SANDS, WHIPPED TO FURY BY THE WIND, ROLLED NEARER. BEHIND, NUMALI DREW CLOSER.

AGAIN THE PURSUER FIRED.

Japan Includes Britain In Action And Sinks English Gunboat; Several Jap Planes Reported Shot Down In Attack

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Japanese warplanes killed 350 men at Hickam field and set fire to the U. S. battleship Oklahoma today in a sudden raid on Pearl Harbor and Honolulu, an NBC observer radioed direct from the scene today.

Two other ships in the harbor also were attacked, he reported. The first news of the attack came about 8 a. m. Honolulu time, (1:30 p. m. EST) (12:30 PCS) he said.

Imperial headquarters at Tokyo declared war late today against both the United States and Britain after Japanese bombers had attacked the great Pearl Harbor Naval base at Honolulu.

An NBC broadcaster said Japanese planes—estimated as high as 150 in the opening assault—struck at Ford island in Pearl Harbor, the U. S. Navy's mighty fortress of the Pacific, and dropped high-explosive and incendiary bombs on Honolulu itself.

Despite an official White House announcement that Japanese warplanes had also attacked Manila, an Associated Press dispatch from Manila timed at 4:25 EST Sunday, said the city was quiet with no signs of war.

A bulletin from Honolulu said a naval engagement was in progress off that famed island playground, with at least one black aircraft carrier in action against Pearl harbor's defenses.

Aerial dogfights raged in the skies over Honolulu itself as American warplanes rose to give battle to the Japanese invaders.

Cabinet, Congressional Leaders Called By FDR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The President decided today after Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor and Manila to call an extraordinary meeting of the cabinet for 8:30 p. m. tonight and to have congressional leaders of both parties join the conference at 9 p. m.

Mr. Roosevelt, the White House said, is assembling all the facts as rapidly as possible and in all probability, he will, as quickly as possible, make a full, informative report to Congress, probably in the form of a message.

Confers With Officials At the time of his decision for a special meeting of the cabinet and congressional leaders, Mr. Roosevelt was conferring with his War and Navy secretaries and the Army chief of staff, Gen. George C. Marshall.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said that the meeting would emphasize international affairs rather than military strategy. He emphasized that for the time being Mr. Roosevelt was not calling on chairman of the Senate and House military and naval committees.

Invited to the White House from Capitol Hill tonight were Vice President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn, House Minority Leader McCormack, House Republican Leader Martin, Chairman Bloom of the House Foreign Affairs committee, Representative Eaton (R-N.J.), a high-ranking minority member of the same committee, Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, Senator Austin of Ver-

Industry Should Be Given Due Credit For Defense Efforts, Keller Declares

Chrysler's Head Cites Progress

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Industry has not been taken up the cause of national defense that the public should stop harping on industry's past mistakes and give it due credit for its present achievements, K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler corporation of America, told the National Association of Manufacturers' annual convention last night.

The United States, operating under a free competitive enterprise system, has, in little more than a year, "reached a production stage that it took German industry, under a dictatorship, from three to five years to reach," he said.

Exceeding World War Output

"One day's production from all tank plants in this country exceeds the total number of tanks made in the United States during the World War," he declared. He said Chrysler's tank arsenal was producing "more tanks in a month than were produced in this country during the whole of the World War."

The United States had produced 1,000 six-ton tanks when the Armistice was declared, and 778 by March 31, 1918. The United States and Britain were to produce jointly 30-ton tanks, the United States supplying motors and driving mechanisms and Britain, armor plate. The nations had planned 1,500 tanks, and the United States was believed to have made parts for half its share when the war ended.

Arnold Raps Unions

Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, another speaker, charged that illegitimate practices of labor unions were costing consumers $1,000,000,000 a year.

"Independent business men are being compelled to hire men they do not need," he said. "They are stopped from giving consumers the benefit of more efficient methods or better materials. They are crushed in battles between rival labor unions in which they have no interest or even an influence."

"Consumers, because of the illegitimate practices of labor unions, strategically located in transportation or distribution of interests, are being forced to pay a tribute estimated by some economists to be over one billion dollars a year. Labor conspiracies in many large cities are preventing consumers from having cheaper houses, cheaper transportation and cheaper distribution of the interests of life."

Three Socks Of Mail, Hidden 89 Years, May Be Worth Fortune

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6. (AP)—Three socks of mail, apparently hidden 89 years ago by a robber, today held high hopes for philatelicists and historians—and the reason why love affairs and business dealings inexplicably went awry in the fall of 1852.

Mr. and Mrs. James Heigh, young commercial artists, discovered the cache among attic eaves while renovating an old house they recently purchased in downtown Philadelphia.

Among the 100 pieces of mail was a copy of the New York Herald for November 2, 1852, election day. Postal inspectors believed this dated the robbery and local newspapers at that time tell of a series of mail thefts "between here and Baltimore."

All seals had been broken—the letters were not in envelopes but folded and sealed as was done then—and investigators were of the opinion the robber had hidden his loot after taking any cash found in the mail.

But the cancelled stamps, he casually stuffed away, may be worth a small fortune, a collector here said. He pointed out that catalogs list a one-cent blue stamp current in those years at $2,000. Other issues in common usage when the robbery occurred were worth from $8 to $2,500.

The finders claimed the stamps, but postal officials have withheld a final decision on ownership of the mail.

Big Army Bomber Is Accepted By Army

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Dec. 6. (AP)—The B-24, back home to the Army, and simultaneously Douglas Aircraft Co. announced its formal acceptance by the air corps after "more than meeting army specifications in every phase of its test program."

The aerial Leviathan, built at a cost of $3,500,000, was flown June 27 to the army air base at March field, 70 miles inland, and here has made 15 test flights with the veteran pilots, Lieut.-Col. Stanley M. Umstead and Major Howard G. Bunker at its controls.

Douglas disclosed that the army actually accepted the craft early in November, although no announcement had been made, but that a program of formal acceptance will be held early in January.

Childhood Diseases May Raise Many More Problems For Army Than Battle Injuries

(By The United Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Measles, mumps and other childhood diseases may raise more problems for the army than battle injuries, Dr. Wilbur Davison of Durham, N. C., said today.

Davison wrote in War Medicine, publication of the American Medical Association, that communicable diseases in the first World War caused more hospital admissions, deaths and man-days lost than wounds.

Suggestion Not Foolish

"Perhaps in the present emergency a consulting pediatrician who has had experience in preventing communicable diseases among children should be appointed," he said. "In the light of figures on the frequency of children's diseases in the army and navy during the last war, this suggestion is not as foolish as it may seem."

Davison said influenza, pneumonia, bronchitis and tonsillitis caused most of the illness and deaths in the army of 1918 but added that "half a million soldiers and sailors were affected by the purely pediatric diseases, especially mumps, measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, meningitis, dysentery, impetigo and chicken pox in that order."

Affected Twice As Many

"These 12 children's diseases affected twice as many men in the army and navy as did influenza," he said. "To reduce this incidence of infectious diseases in troops, pediatricians would recommend the adoption of the preventive measures which have been found to be efficacious for children."

"Some of these precautions at present are being used in the army and navy, but more of them should be applied."

New Battalions Are Planned

(By The United Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today announced that 52 new-type tank destroyer battalions will be formed soon to combat mechanized striking forces.

Ten other battalions, all to be equipped with the latest types of self-propelled guns, will be formed as soon as there is available manpower, Stimson said.

Personnel and equipment from existing anti-tank units will be utilized, Stimson said, with four battalions to be created for each division of troops.

Three Types Formed

The orders call for establishment of the first 52 battalions Dec. 15. They will be organized from the field artillery, cavalry and infantry, with each unit generally to be assigned to the arm from which the personnel comes.

Stimson said that three types of battalions are to be formed. These are: light battalions with towed weapons designed for operation with foot infantry divisions; eight battalions with self-propelled 75, 75 and 105 MM. guns for use with cavalry and motorized divisions; and heavy battalions for use by armored divisions, army corps and field armies.

To Replace Other Troops

The new battalions, Stimson said, will replace anti-tank troops of the 1st and 2nd cavalry divisions; all anti-aircraft, anti-tank platoons in field artillery battalions and regiments in continental United States; and all field artillery 75 MM. anti-tank batteries including 105 MM. and 155 MM. Howitzer batteries or regiments in the continental United States.

Stimson announced that the 6th infantry division at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and the 9th infantry division at Fort Bragg, N. C., will be completely motorized, doubling

Austin Youngster Is Elected To Phi Beta Kappa At Age Of 16

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP)—The amazing scholastic career of Martin G. Ettlinger reached a new climax tonight when the husky, 16-year-old youngster was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, honor society of exceptional students.

Ettlinger is the youngest student ever initiated into Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Texas and possibly the youngest in the nation.

Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, Martin's father, said the boy's remarkable progress through school undoubtedly would have been much faster had not his parents refused promotions for him so Martin could remain at least approximately with children of his own age.

Martin entered private school when he was five, entered junior high at seven after skipping grammar school. At 10-1-2 years he had sufficient credits to enter the university, but his parents insisted that he remain in high school for two additional years. During his five years in high school, in which he passed all courses in the curriculum, Martin attended school only half of each day and returned to the junior high school daily for his play hours.

When he was eight, Martin had an intelligent quotient of 196. The maximum I. Q. is 200.

Martin entered the University of Texas three years ago shortly before his 13th birthday. In the three years, he completed 126 semester hours with the highest grade (A), and was eligible for a bachelor's degree last June, but is continuing work in chemistry, in which he expects to receive a doctor's degree.

Misunderstanding On Labor Law Cleared

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP)—Turkey picking for the Christmas markets will be speeded in Texas as a result of notices issued today by Miss Mildred Dougherty of the industries division of the children's bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Reports from Texas turkey picking districts have been received by the department, and it is reported that notices issued today to turkey pickers under 19 years of age, due to a misunderstanding of the law.

Miss Dougherty said minors over 16 years may be employed in turkey picking. She advised employers to secure federal certificates of age as the employers will be liable for employment of a child under 16 even though the child's age is represented to them as more than 16.

Turkey buying for the Christmas market already is under way and turkey picking plants soon will begin making their shipments to the Eastern markets.

Another Nazi Raider Reported Destroyed

Operations Of U. S. Soil Conservation Service In Lubbock Area Curtailed.

Lack Of Funds Slowing Work

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Impounding of non-defense U. S. government appropriations amounting to $450,000.000 has resulted in a major cut in operations of the U. S. soil conservation service in the Lubbock area, causing a withdrawal of men in half a dozen districts. O. T. Williams, area conservationist, announces.

The Lubbock area, in addition to losing six districts that were being started, will lose two that were projected, but had no personnel appointed. Three of the district conservationists were assigned to other districts in this region, while three were given furloughs.

Will Be Closed Out
Crosby, Swisher and Lubbock county soil conservation districts will be closed out, as will the Blackwater Valley district at Muleshoe. Hale and Castro county wind erosion districts also are being closed. In addition, a new district to be formed in Lynn county and a new wind erosion district in Briscoe county will not be started.

E. B. Steen, who has been district conservationist for the Lubbock district, has been transferred to a side-camp of the Morton CCC camp at Kenna, N. M., about 75 miles from Morton. A. B. Chapman, district head of the Blackwater district, was sent to Fort Morgan, Colo., and W. L. Knapp at Crosbyton, was transferred to a Moore county wind erosion district at Dumas. Troy Weaver, Hale county; Miles Kelly, Castro county; and Jess Shaw, Swisher county, were given furloughs.

Those To Remain
Remaining will be E. H. Kemp, Floyd county; W. A. Patrick, Brownfield; for Terry Cochran, Yoakum district; E. F. Parsons, Hall-Childers district; Will J. Clutter, Leaf Smith district and Quinton Williams, Oldham district.

Williams said he was personally delivering to each of the district boards of supervisors affected by the new order, a letter from H. H. Fennell, Amarillo, regional conservator, explaining the reason for the unexpected change in plans.

At the same time, it was indicated that there was a chance Congress might make available more funds for the year beginning next July 1, to continue the work.

Letter Is Quoted
Fennell's letter said in part: "The appropriated funds allo-

Causes Of Improved Prices Pointed Out

Collective causes of improved price of cotton are acreage allotments, marketing quotas and the loan program. W. Y. Wells, secretary of the Lubbock county AAA committee, announces.

"American prices are about twice that of foreign countries, none of which have a farm program approaching ours," the chairman said in pointing out that cotton prices are nearer parity than in many years.

In receiving better prices for cotton, farmers are enjoying a measure of prosperity more comparable to other classes, he said.

Farmers of Lubbock county should learn all the facts about cotton before voting in the national referendum, Saturday, the AAA official pointed out.

At the same time farmers are voting in the referendum, the fate of the loan program will be decided. According to the AAA act, loans cannot be offered during any year in which quotas are voted down in a greater referendum.

By planting within acreage allotted to various non-defense activities are being impounded for the purpose of creating a budget reserve. These developments, taking place since the planning of our year's soil conservation work program at the start of the fiscal year, compel us to readjust substantially our plans for operation during the remainder of this fiscal year. We will not be able to give technical assistance to as many districts as we had originally intended.

"This does not mean that the Soil Conservation service is renouncing its obligation to the land and the people who operate it. With such facilities as remain in our hands, we expect to continue to do the best job we know how of making surveys, assisting in the making of complete conservation plans, and giving the technical assistance necessary to help farmers and ranchers put their plans into operation. The full weight of the service will be thrown into an effort to contribute effectively towards the agricultural and industrial strength of the nation, which we believe is the duty of every person, whether a public official or a private citizen.

"In order to do this, it is apparent the dictates of good management require that we concentrate our remaining forces in the areas already organized into an active program rather than to attempt to spread to new areas, so thinly as to become inefficient and ineffectual."

Farm Defense Board Chairman Urging All Farmers To Make A Check Of Equipment

Set aside one day or several days sometime soon and go over all farming equipment is the advice C. E. Lilley, chairman of the USDA defense board, gives to Lubbock county farmers.

By checking and determining extent of repairs, farmers will know the amount of work and number of parts necessary to get farm machinery in A-1 condition to handle next year's crop, he said.

"Getting into gear boxes, looking into turning and moving parts of combines, mowing and planting machines now is the best way to determine the extent of repairs needed," the chairman said. Plow points should be taken to blacksmiths for reconditioning now instead of waiting until time for working comes around.

Have Various Methods
Farmers repairing machinery during slack winter months have various methods of determining the extent of work required, Lilley

ONCE IS ENOUGH

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—On top of a hard day's work Pvt. James M. King, a private from Pittsburg, Kans., was judged a felter from his local draft board notifying him to report for induction into the Army. Private King already had been in the same month. He sent his draft board a letter.

He pointed out that some farmers locate the parts to repair and tag them. The tags, bearing short descriptions of the extent and kind of repairs to be made, can be removed, as work progresses during the winter.

As farmers go into the Food For Freedom campaign, it is just as important to have plows, harrows and ensilage cutters in perfect working order as to have tanks and planes ready to run and fly, the chairman added.

Farm Sessions Are Scheduled

Educational meetings at which the cotton marketing program of the U. S. department of agriculture for 1942 will be explained, will be held this week in nine communities, beginning Monday night.

The meetings, for cotton producers of Lubbock county, will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Speakers will present information on the marketing quota election to be held Saturday, at which farmers will decide whether a quota will be used next year.

All Urged To Attend
"We want to urge every farmer who can to attend these meetings," said Walter Y. Wells, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Saturday.

"The AAA is urging every farmer to vote. In other years only a third of the producers have voted; this year we hope a majority will cast their ballots."

C. C. Jobson, county farm agent and Harvie D. Pool, his assistant, and Robert H. Gibson, assistant to Wells, are to speak at the meetings. Hooten, county chairman of the farm bureau, has announced he would attend some of the meetings.

To Discuss Elections
During the meetings plans for the annual community committee elections on Dec. 19 will be discussed, as well as selection of a delegate to name a county committee the following day.

It should be remembered that under the law, if the quota is rejected there can be no cotton insurance, Wells added.

Schedule is as follows: Monday night, Station city hall and Shattower community club house; Tuesday, Wolforth, Freshman school auditorium and Idalou community club house; Wednesday night, New Deal school; Monday, Becton school and Cooler school; Friday, county courthouse, Lubbock.

Man Keeps Promise To Pay His Debt

DENVER, Dec. 6 (AP)—It was a chilly, rainy night, sometime last spring. A shivering man approached Desk Sergeant Cornelius O'Farrell. He asked if he could work for 30 cents to get a meal. There wasn't any work, but O'Farrell handed him a half-dollar.

"Some day I'll pay it back, whether you believe it or not," the shabby one said. "I wasn't always like this, and I don't intend to be for long."

Topped by a sprig of holly, a package arrived for Sergeant O'Farrell yesterday. It was a box of expensive cigars, and an envelope with 50 cents. A note said "Thanks."

Farmers To Vote Next Saturday

By marking a Yes or No on the face of the ballot, Lubbock county farmers will help write the answer to the question: "Do you favor marketing quotas on the 1942 crop?"

The question will be answered Saturday, December 13, according to C. E. Lilley, chairman of the Lubbock County AAA committee, when a national cotton marketing quota referendum is held.

Must Approve Quotas
To be in effect, marketing quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the cotton farmers voting in the national referendum, he added. Cotton quotas have been approved for the past four years.

Regardless of whether farmers approve quotas, conservation features of 1942 AAA farm program will be the same, but loans for cotton cannot be made unless quotas are approved, Lilley pointed out.

Quotas Are Explained
According to the AAA act, marketing quotas on cotton are proclaimed in any year when the supply of cotton is more than 1 per cent above the normal supply. With 23,900,000 bales of American cotton in the world August 1, 1941, the total supply was 31 per cent above normal. About 23,000,000 bales of the total supply were in the United States.

The purpose of marketing quotas is to divide a limited market equally among cotton producers. Farmers planting within acreage

Hockley Farm Sheets Signed

LEVELLAND, Dec. 6 (Special)—The sign-up on the farm planning worksheets in the interest of national defense for Hockley county has been very gratifying, according to J. W. Evans, Hockley county administrative officer.

Evans stated that to date, approximately 99 per cent of the farmers have executed these farm planning sheets and at the same time received their cotton allotments and yields for 1941. It was necessary to obtain this information for estimates of surplus vital commodities such as milk, butter, eggs, pork and beef for national defense. A summary of these worksheets will be submitted to the Department of Agriculture at Washington and from the total estimates throughout the nation, the Department of Agriculture will make their estimate of these vital commodities that can be supplied to the countries now fighting for democracy.

Evans also states that in the very near future there will be a series of educational meetings with reference to the cotton marketing quota referendum which will be held December 13. The county AAA office has carried on an extensive program since the referendum out by the county office and with the added volume of work carried on this year the expense cost for administration purposes is the same as last year. This is contributed to the efficient personnel employed.

All party applications have been submitted to the state office with the exception of seven which are held up for various reasons such as non-resident landlords. All checks on party applications are expected in the near future. The total amount of money received for party applications is in excess of $300,000.00. The county office to date, has submitted 1,100 applications for conservation payment to the state office. The county office expects to have all conservation applications submitted not later than December 15, with at least $200,000.00 received in the county office before the Christmas holidays, which is considered early for this area.

Stipulations established under the AAA program are permitted to sell all cotton produced on these acres.

With more than two million farmers in the United States planting within cotton acreage allotment they are cooperating in an effort to keep supply in line with demand, Lilley said.
