Odd-Year Voting Holds Spotlight

Russia's Great Naval Base Is Being Shelled

U. S. WAR LOSSES AT SEA MOUNTING

Odd-year elections, high lighted by the LaGuardia-O'Dwyer mayoralty contest in New York City, drew voters to the polls in a handful of states today to select state and city officers and legislators, one governor and two congressmen.

Except for New York's ding-dong home stretch fight, pre-election campaigns were mostly quiet and dull, featuring only personalities and local issues.

LaGuardia Seeks Third Term

The day provided no clear-cut opportunity to gauge the electorate's sentiment on the question of peace or war, for no countrywide balloting will take place until the Senate and House gubernatorial races a year from now.

President Roosevelt planned to vote early in his home township elections in Hyde Park, N. Y.

Crimea Threatened By New Advances; Red Lines Broken

Tank-led German troops were reported to have opened a violent new offensive today against Rostov-on-Don, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields, while Axis forces pouring into the Crimean peninsula were declared to be ready for a frontal attack "within a very few hours" on Russia's great Black sea naval base of Sevastopol.

Nazi field batteries have already begun shelling Sevastopol, it was reported.

Several ranged attacks Soviet front-line dispatches said the German onslaught against Rostov, directed by the veteran tank army commander, Colonel-General Ewald von Kleist, was attacking from several directions.

At one point, the Russians admitted, the Germans have succeeded in driving a wedge "several miles long" into Red army lines, losing 400 men killed, 15 tanks and 20 field guns. The thrust now has been halted, the Russians said.

Latest advices put the Germans within 10 miles of the big Don river port, a city of 520,000 of whose civilian population was withdrawn last week.

Italian Forces Repulsed

Supported by Red warplanes, Soviet forces repulsed an attack by Italian soldiers, it was reported, and hurled back a savage drive by three tank-packed German infantry divisions in fighting around the beleaguered city.

On the central front, Soviet dispatches said German troops in the outskirts of Tula, key rail junction center 100 miles south of Moscow, had begun to shell the town.

Nazi troops broke through Red defense lines at one point, these dispatches said, but failed to reach the center of the city.

Crimes In Grave Danger

The Russians, frankly acknowledging that the Crimea was in grave danger, asserted however that the strategic peninsula "has not been conquered... fighting is going on and will go on."

London advices said a Soviet "winter army" of approximately 750,000 troops, especially trained in Arctic Siberia, was moving up to the long battered front to bolster hard-pressed Red forces from Moscow to Rostov-on-Don.

Farmers Called On To Help Win War

WACO, Nov. 4.—American farmers were called on today to unleash their full strength for victory in a fight for freedom in which "milk and meat will take up the job where bombs and planes leave off."

R. M. Evans, administrator of the WACO Farmers' Union, said in a speech before a "Food for Freedom" rally here that victory in the present conflict is just part of the job facing farmers in the United States.

Won War, Lost Peace

"Twenty-three years ago we helped win the war for democracy, but we lost the peace," he told farm leaders attending a statewide rally.

"This time we can not afford to lose the peace. In the fight for freedom, milk and meat will take up the job where bombs and planes leave off. That job is America's."

"Our food has potentialities that go far beyond military victory, to the peace table... American farmers and the American people have in their hands right now the power to decide the course of history."

Playing Vital Part

Evans, who has recently returned from England, where he made a survey of food conditions said he saw on all sides conclusive evidence of the vital part food is playing in the conflict.

"They are taking very good care of the food that they have," he related. "Their rationing system is strict, but fair. Being used to the variety of an American diet, I was hungry all the time I was there. I had one egg for breakfast in the four weeks I was in England."

The British, he emphasized, could not get through the winter without food help from America, despite "all the rationing and all the British farmers are able to do for themselves."

Regional Sessions Held

The meeting here followed a series of regional sessions at which plans were made to enlist Texas farmers in the stepped-up program of food production urged as a defense measure by the department of agriculture.

Income Taxes May Be Taken From Salary

Plan Is Outlined To Obtain Funds For Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The treasury is working hard today on a plan for collecting future income tax in advance from wage earners by taking so much each week or each month from their pay envelopes for salary checks.

Although under serious consideration, the plan has not yet been adopted. But if it is, employers will be required to deduct income taxes from pay envelopes in about the same way that they take out social security taxes now.

In "Mopping-Up" Process

A decision is expected before the end of the year, so that the new collection method—if approved—could be applied to 1942 income.

The plan is getting fresh attention because of the recent disclosure of an administration goal of "mopping up" about $5,000,000,000 of so-called excess purchasing power through taxes. This would mean still heavier income taxes on small as well as big taxpayers.

Practical Method Sought

If such a new tax program goes through, the experts believe that it will be impractical to try to collect between $100 to $500 from an ordinary worker in one lump, and hence it will be necessary to devise some method of putting taxes on the installment basis.

As the plan shapes up at the moment, here's how it would work:

At the beginning of the year, the boss would come to John Doe and ask him how many dependents he had for tax purposes. The boss would then look at some specially prepared table for formula and figure out John Doe's approximate income tax for the year. He would deduct a proportionate amount of this estimate from every paycheck and turn the deducted money over to the government.

At the end of the year, John Doe would make out an income tax return just as he does now, but instead of paying the full amount, he would subtract the money already deducted by his employer and pay the difference, if any. In the event the deductions have overpaid his tax, Uncle Sam would refund the difference.

Ambassador Branded "War Monger" Women's Peace Group Showers Lord Halifax With Tomatoes, Eggs In Detroit Appearance

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—Women peace demonstrators showered eggs and tomatoes on Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, today as he entered the chancery building on Washington boulevard in downtown Detroit for a meeting with Archbishop Edward Mooney of Detroit.

The ambassador, making a two-day tour of Detroit's defense industries, was struck by several eggs before police broke up the demonstration.

Halifax Unshaken

Detective Inspector Charles E. Searle, who was accompanying Lord Halifax, said the women were apparently the same who picketed the entrance of the Book Cadillac hotel Monday, during Halifax's visit, carrying placards reading "down with England" and "Halifax is a war monger."

Halifax, his aplomb unshaken by the barrage, said after he was safely inside the building: "Well, I'm sure to see a lot of these things."

Bilbo announced his support of a proposal to arm merchant ships but his opposition to lifting the combat zone ban after Senator Lucas (D-Ill) had urged speedy approval of both amendments.

Declaring that President Roosevelt would not have asked for the revision of the act if the Nazis had not destroyed American ships in the Atlantic, Lucas told his colleagues that this country must plan its defenses on the theory that "dictators some day may control the resources of Europe, Asia and Africa."

Army Officers Pay Visit To Lubbock

A literal "flying visit" was paid this morning to the air corps training school under construction west of Lubbock by the two highest ranking officers of the 11-state Gulf Coast Air Corps Training Center.

The officers were Maj. Gen. Frank P. Lahm, commanding officer of the training center, and Brig. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, chief of staff, both with headquarters at Randolph field, San Antonio.

Here For Short Time

They were in Lubbock less than two hours from the time they were greeted at Municipal airport by Major H. H. Newstrom, present commanding officer of the Lubbock air base, and representatives of the chamber of commerce.

They came here from Midland, Enid, Okla., was their next stop. Each is the site of an air corps construction project.

French Ships Are Captured

LONDON, Nov. 4.—British sailors have intercepted and boarded five Vichy French merchantmen and prevented the scuttling of three of them in an action which "is still proceeding" off the South African coast, the admiralty announced today.

It charged the French with attempting to convoy contraband supplies for the Germans from the east, presumably the Indian ocean or the Orient.

Night Battle Reported

At the same time a night battle in the English channel was announced in which the admiralty said patrol vessels engaged the Axis convoy of a strongly protected supply vessel.

In the latter battle, the British said they shot two torpedoes into a large supply vessel, probably sinking it or causing it to be beached, probably damaged some of the Axis escorts, and in return suffered slight damage to one of their own patrol boats.

Crews of three of the five French ships intercepted off South Africa attempted to scuttle in compliance with German instructions, the admiralty said.

The communiqué said "the Vichy government have recently been attempting to run contraband for Germans from the east to France in escorted convoys."

Two Killed In Austin Flames

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Two persons were killed today and another injured when fire gutted the two-story home of A. B. Spires, manager of a tire sales firm and former president of the Austin Chamber of Commerce.

The dead were Spires' son, Milton, aged seven, and Edna Esler, 19, of Lincoln, Tex., a white girl employed in the Spires household.

Others Make Escape

Spires suffered severe cuts on his feet. His wife and their other two children, Bryan, 13, and Carole Louise, 2, were in the house but escaped uninjured.

Cause of the fire was being investigated. It was discovered shortly before 6 a. m. today and quickly swept from the basement through the interior of the two-story brick home, located in Pemberton Heights.

The body of Miss Esler will be sent today to Lincoln for burial, the funeral home said.

Crew Is Safe After Tanker Is Torpedoed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The navy announced today another torpedoing in North-Atlantic waters—that of the United States naval tanker Salinas—but said that happily there was no further loss of life to add to the 97 men presumed lost on the sunken destroyer Reuben James.

The Salinas was "torpedoed without warning" a large navy statement said. "Slightly damaged, she made her way to port."

Details Kept Secret

"No details of the damage will be released as it will be of no value except to the Nazis," the navy said in disclosing that the tanker was hit last Wednesday night southwest of Iceland.

This was one day before, and in the same general area where the Reuben James, first American warship to be lost in the battle of the Atlantic, went down.

The 16,800-ton Salinas was in a convoy when attacked, the navy said.

Counted also as victims of the ocean warfare were 12 more navy men killed in the crash of a big patrol bomber somewhere at sea.

The Salinas is commanded by Commander Harley F. Cope of New Orleans, La.

Tanker Built In 1920

The tanker was built by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. for the U. S. shipping board in 1920.

It was transferred to the navy and commissioned December 16, 1921.

The navy described the vessel as being of 16,800 tons displacement with a complement of 107 men.

U. S. Suggestion Is Flayed By Germans

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—A Nazi spokesman today characterized the American suggestion that Finland make peace with Russia as "an arrogant demand by the Washington ghetto gangster."

The Nazi spokesman asserted that "this is a piece of Jewish shamelessness that could hardly be exceeded."

"Europe's answer," he continued, "will be that it refuses to let the Washington ghetto interfere in Europe and defame, bespion and insult it according to its own filthy, immoral standards."

Daughter Arrives For Mary Martin

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4.—Mary Martin's theme song "long has been 'My Heart Belongs to Daddy.'"

But maybe now it will be "Wishing."

The ex-New York showgirl and her husband, writer's agent Richard Hatfield, have been wishing for a daughter—ever since the day Mary discovered she was going to have a baby.

Today she arrived.

It's a good thing, too. So confident were the Hallidays that their wishing would turn the trick in pink and made all the other preparations for a feminine arrival.

The 7 pound, 13 ounce daughter will be named Heller, Mary said, explaining: "Down in Texas, Heller means a very vivacious youngster. My daddy used to call me Little Heller."

More Than $500,000 In Food Stamps Are Issued In Area

More than $500,000 worth of federal food stamps have been issued in Lubbock and Hale counties since the plan was inaugurated in September, 1940, according to information supplied this morning by Forrest Wright, supervisor of the Lubbock area office.

The figures for the two counties to Nov. 1, as tabulated by Wortham Seale, assistant supervisor, were $504,345.

Of the amount, $285,349 were in orange stamps and

Heavy Daylight Raid On Northern France

FOLKESTONE, Eng., Nov. 4.—Staging one of its biggest daylight attacks on northern France in some time, the Royal Air Force sent strong formations of fighters roaring across the English channel in the direction of Dieppe today.

British planes attacked in mass. Spitfires and Hurricane fighters in two's and three's had flown across the channel in the direction of Calais and Bologne.

The larger formations returned 30 to 40 minutes after they crossed this area on the way to attack.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Merimon of Wilson on birth of a son weighing 8 1/2 pounds at 1:10 o'clock this morning in the residence; reported by Mrs. Porter and Sis-trand. The infant was named Lee Roy. The father is a farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morris, jr., of 1624 Fifth street on birth of a son weighing 8 1/2 pounds at 9:05 o'clock this morning in the residence, reported by West Texas clinic. The infant was named James Euel.

Phone Strike Is Threatened

Fifteen thousand long lines telephone workers reinforced their demands for wage increases today by authorizing a strike November 14, but their union president said the walkout would be cancelled if the dispute was certified to the defense mediation board.

John J. Moran of Pittsburgh, the president, served notice that the strike, if carried out, would cut long distance wires, civil and military, as well as national radio wire-hooks and the transmission of photographs by wire and teletypewriter news services.

It would affect 42 states—all except Vermont, New Hampshire, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Montana.

4 Per Cent Boost Asked

The union has demanded that the American Telephone and Telegraph company grant a 4 per cent wage increase and narrow the geographic differentials in pay. Present scales range from $18 to $66 a week for men and from $13

British May Attempt To Blast Out Finns

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A British declaration of war against Finland—now considered virtually certain—may presage use of British forces, particularly sea forces, to blast open a new northern supply route to Russia, it was said today.

British naval and possibly air forces, British quarters said, may be employed to push back German-Finnish lines in the Murmansk region sufficiently to enable the use of this all-weather port for entry of Anglo-American supplies to Russia.

Nazis Claim 11 Merchant Ships, Destroyer Sunk

German Action Is Stepped Up

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—The high command claimed another big success for its submarines and British sea lifelines today, asserting that nearly 75,000 tons of shipping, including a destroyer and 11 merchant ships from a single Atlantic convoy, had been sunk.

The high command said that in one big attack against the Atlantic convoy 53,000 tons were sent to the bottom.

Others Said Hit

A second destroyer and three merchant ships were also reported as and severely damaged, it said.

(A similar announcement by the German high command last week preceded the Washington revelation of the sinking of the U. S. destroyer, the Wheeler.

German bombers, said the high command, sank three more merchant ships of 20,000 tons in attacks Monday night east of Aberdeen.

The official news agency gave the tonnage of the ships sunk off the Scottish coast as 5,000, 7,000 and 8,000 tons respectively. It said a transport of 1,500 tons was sunk off the Shetland islands.

The claim coincided with publication by Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, chief of the German navy, of the loss of the Wheeler.

Two of the deaths had been previously announced.

They were those of Commander Guenther Frier, revealed to have been lost last March 7th and Lieut. Comdr. Joachim Schepke, lost last March 17th.

Third Leader Lost

The third commander was Commander Felix Julius Kemp, lost last May 23.

Also announced for the first time was the loss of Capt. Ernst Krueger, commander of an unnamed auxiliary cruiser, revealed to have been lost last May 8th.

Frier early in the war took his submarine into Britain's heavily guarded Scapa Flow naval base and sank the battleship Royal Oak. His exploit was widely publicized by the Germans and Hitler conferred upon him the Reich's highest military honor, the Knight's cross, with oak leaf, of the iron cross.

News Briefs

Son Is Born—Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Davis, of Levelland are parents of a son weighing 7 pounds 11 ounces, born Monday night at 10:30 o'clock in St. Mary's hospital. The father is a mechanic in Plains-Funeral home at Levelland.

Daughter Is Born—Mr. and Mrs. Loy Stewart of Hale Center are parents of a daughter weighing 7 pounds, 7 ounces, born at 1 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's hospital. The father is a mechanic.

To New York—C. M. Stanley, Jr., head of the textile engineering department at Texas Technological college, will leave Saturday for New York to attend a Textile foundation meeting Nov. 12-14 and sessions of the United States Institute for Textile Research.

Nominations Heavy—A. J. Kemp, editor of La Ventana, student yearbook, said approximately 200 nominations for campus beauties had been made at Texas Technological college. The names will be reduced to 32 by a committee of students, an election will divide the number, and a national figure will select half the remainder.

Reservations Received—Twelve schools have made reservations for annual sessions of West Texas Scholastic Press clinic here Nov. 14-15, said Joseph B. Cowan, clinic director; Amarillo, Floydada, Pampa, Happy, Dalhart, Claude, Levelland, Plainview, Tabor, Crane, Clarendon and Lubbock's Junior and Senior High schools.

Students Raise Funds—Textile engineering students at Texas Technological college are making and selling laundry bags, yarn for tufted rugs, crocheted yarn and woolen suiting material and raising funds to make an annual tour of textile schools at spring. Purchases may be made by the textile engineering building.

Get Maritime Training—Larry Doyle, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Doyle of 1918 Main street, is in St. Petersburg, Fla., for two months of instruction in the U. S. Maritime Service Training station. After that he will train aboard a merchant ship and become eligible for ship employment.

County Hog Contest—Four-H and Future Farmers of America boys who were awarded a registered gilt last May in a county-wide contest sponsored by Sears, Roebuck & Co. will bring their animals to Lubbock Friday morning for a judging contest, said Harvie D. Pool, assistant county agent. The contest will be held at the fair grounds, starting at 10 o'clock. There are four club boys and five F. F. A. boys, from chapters at Slaton, Frenship, New Deal, Idalou and Lubbock. N. C. Fine of the department of animal husbandry, Texas Technological college, will judge.

Excavation Opens—Excavation at the site of the agricultural building to be constructed on Texas Technological college campus opened this morning, said C. H. Sikes, of Ingle and Sikes, contractors for the structure. Excavation will require about two weeks.

To Confer Rank—Knights of Pythias lodge will confer the rank of page upon several candidates at 7:30 o'clock tonight at 1107 I-2 Avenue K, lodge officials said.

Dawson Well Has Showings

Favorable showings were reported here Monday in the John J. Handley, being drilled by Roy A. Abaugh of Lamesa and Richmond Drilling company in northwestern Dawson county.

According to Abaugh, the well is swabbing an estimated six barrels of fluid hourly through 3 1/2-inch casing. Fluid is 70 to 80 per cent oil and the balance water, thought to be circulating fluid.

The well is located 600 feet from the south, 1,980 feet from the west line of section 36, block 30 and 1/2 mile east by northeast of Abaugh No. 1, John Robinson, abandoned pumper and first producer in Dawson county. The new prospect is bottomed at 4,980 feet in oil lime, three feet of additional hole having been made after the well was installed to replace rotary. It has not yet been shot nor acidized.

Several Shows

Callihan and Waggoner No. 1 Ed M. Wahlenmaier, Crosby county wildcat 20 miles southwest of Crosbyton, is drilling below 3,570 feet in hard lime. It has picked up several shows of oil, last of which was from 3,550-65 feet, and is carrying about two barrels of free oil per day.

A wildcat nine miles southwest of Mahanook in Bailey county, Broderick & Calvert, Inc. Amori, G. Carter and others No. 1 G. H. Hayward, is drilling below 3,696 feet in dolomite.

In northwestern Borden county Anderson Prichard Oil corporation and Osage Drilling company, Inc. No. 1 Pure Oil company, M. Clayton is drilling unchanged at 3,310 feet in lime.

American Drilling corporation No. 1 W. T. Funnell, wildcat in western Terry county, had shown nothing in coring to 3,203 feet in lime.

Shut Down For Repairs

In central Yoakum, Sinclair Prairie Oil company No. 1 Charles J. Kleiner, wildcat four miles east of Plains, is shut down for repairs to clutch, bottomed at 5,384 feet in hard lime. It has picked up oil and gas from 3,366-70 feet. A fully recovered core from 5,370-84 feet bled oil in the top two feet but was hard and dry in the bottom 12.

In the Wasson field of southern Yoakum, American Liberty Oil company, No. 1 A. Ruth Bennett is completed for rated flow of 392.64 barrels of oil, plus one and one-half per cent water, while Drilling & Exploration company, Inc. No. 4-A Ed Randall made 430.56 barrels of oil daily.

Auto Stolen From Weaver Recovered

Police announced this morning a 1937 Buick automobile reported stolen Monday from A. V. Weaver, Jr., had been recovered.

The machine was taken from 1901 Broadway, Weaver, an attorney, had reported.

The machine, found by night patrolmen on Fourth street, showed evidence of hard driving. The oil was almost gone from the crank case, there was practically no gasoline in the tank, the frame had been bent or a spring damaged, as evidenced by the leaning angle of the machine.

The persons who stole the car left four new tires on it, taking the spare, an old tire.

Post-Hailowen pranksters put in appearance Monday night, littering a porch at 1512-A Eighteenth street with trash cans and refuse.

A bicycle was stolen from Turner Jacobs of 1509 College avenue.

Former Lubbock Man Called Into Service

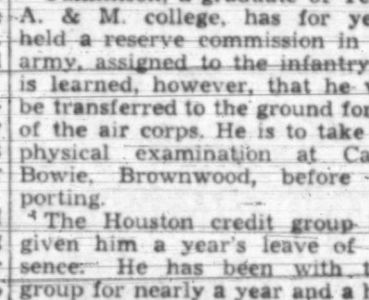

Capt. Otto G. Tumlinson, secretary of the Production Credit corporation of Houston and former Lubbock county agricultural agent, has been called into active military service and is to report Nov. 13 at Fort George Wright, near Spokane, Wash., it was learned this morning.

Tumlinson, a graduate of Texas A. & M. college, has for years held a reserve commission in the army, assigned to the infantry. It is learned, however, that he will be transferred to the ground force of the air corps. He is to take his physical examination at Camp Bowie, Brownwood, before reporting.

The Houston credit group has given him a year's leave of absence. He has been with that group for nearly a year and a half.

and before that was with the state extension service.

Coming to Lubbock before the original AAA program, Tumlinson served during the trying days of 1933 and 1934 and later was named district agent succeeding Sterling C. Evans, who resigned to become president of the Houston Bank of Cooperatives. Later, Tumlinson was transferred to a South Texas district and had been there until he was named to the Farm-Credit administration group. He is well known over the entire state.

Heroic Nava Episode Reaches Climax As Kearny Limpes Into Port

Full Story Of Violent Attack At Sea Related By Survivors

BY DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

REYKJAVIK, Oct. 19 (Delayed)—The climax of one of the most heroic episodes in the history of the United States navy was reached today when the United States destroyer Kearny, battered, bloodstained but still proudly afloat, crept into port escorted by the U. S. S. Greer. A jagged aperture in the Kearny's starboard side testified to the damage done when one of the three torpedoes launched by a hostile submarine smashed through and exploded in the forward fire room at about 1:30 a. m. on Friday, Oct. 17, when the Kearny was escorting an east-bound convoy.

The explosion killed seven enlisted men in the fire room and presumably blew overboard four more men who are at present listed as "missing."

Two other enlisted men were seriously injured. Five others sustained lesser hurts and one officer, Ensign Henry Lyman of Ponkapoag, Mass., suffered shock and exhaustion.

It was from the lips of these men, lying on their cots in the U. S. Army hospital, that the full story of the Kearny's attack was told.

Brief But Violent Attack
It is a tale of a brief but violent attack of long dangerous hours while the destroyer lay crippled on the icy, black Atlantic, of heroic efforts which put the ship in running order again, of desperate conflicts with fire, of sweating men who shored up threatened bulkheads while the Kearny moved slowly through the seas, an easy target for another torpedo.

It is the story, too, of the agonizing trip to Iceland escorted by the United States destroyers Greer and Munson.

Lastly it is the story of Lieut. (junior grade) R. W. Rommel of Oneida, N. Y., a naval doctor, who rowed from the Munson to the Kearny to care for the wounded. With plasma dropped by parachute from a naval aircraft he made three blood transfusions which probably saved the life of Chief Bosuns Mate Leonard Frontkowsky of Norfolk, Va.

Was On Escort Duty
Here is Lyman's story as the tall, bearded, handsome ensign told it today:
The Kearny, a 1630-ton destroyer of the Benson class, was on escort duty with a west bound convoy. She and other destroyers acting as escort received a message that an east-bound convoy was being attacked by submarines. Kearny and the other destroyers turned eastward and with the smoke pouring from its two funnels knifed through the grey Atlantic at her top speed of about 16 knots.

Searching For Survivors
They reached the east-bound convoy, which was protected by Canadian corvettes, late Thursday afternoon. The U-boat attacks had knocked the forward smokestack back and yanked the siren cord. "With the siren screaming and steam escaping you couldn't hear yourself think for a couple of minutes," said Lyman.

"The starboard wing of the bridge was pretty well shot" by the explosion and the starboard whiteboat blown clear.

"It was this whiteboat which hit Frontkowsky, known to the crew as "Murphy", with terrific force.

He's a Tough Man
"It's a miracle he survived but he's a tough man," said Lyman. "The explosion severed the bridge's control of the engine room and the steering apparatus, Lyman said. "But pretty soon we were able to steer from the second conning station."

On the bridge Lyman and the enlisted men tried to fire rockets. "The explosion severed the bridge's control of the engine room and the steering apparatus, Lyman said. "But pretty soon we were able to steer from the second conning station."

No Second Attack
"We were lying there like a lame duck and I figured they'd take another shot at us but I guess the submarine commander thought we were going to sink. Anyway he didn't attack a second time."

Danis coolly made his way aft to the secondary control station. Lyman went below and donned a lifejacket.

When he returned to the bridge the Kearny "was moving ahead more rapidly." The torpedo had "knocked out our signaling apparatus" and the Kearny moved slowly through the sea as a Canadian corvette frantically signaled it, star shells burst to the south and flames from three burning tankers lit up the grim seascape.

The first lieutenant in charge of construction and repair came forward with some enlisted men. They cleared the bridge by dropping the wreckage overboard.

Did Wonderful Job
Meantime the chief engineer and what remained of his crew—"those seven fellows in the forward fire room never knew what hit them"—got the engines into shape.

"They did a wonderful job, repairing flooded fuel lines and working down there in the dark and danger," Lyman said. "Pretty soon we moved forward at increased speed."

"It wasn't only the engineer and his men who did well," the officer continued. "The whole damned crew did a wonderful job. There was no sign of panic. Everyone just did his job and two or three more. If I am torpedoed again, I hope I have this crew with me."

Word was passed to the bridge that an electrical fire had broken out below. Lyman and some enlisted men equipped with extinguishers and emergency breathing apparatus went below and put it out.

Bulkhead Endangered
After extinguishing the fire they found that the bulkhead between the forward engine room and the forward fire room where the explosion occurred was endangered by the water flooding through the hole in the Kearny's side.

"It needed shoring so we shored it up," Lyman added.

"We stayed down there for the rest of the night. When I came on deck it was daylight. We had a little more steam up. The engines were turning over and we even had auxiliary power for lights and cooking."

The Greer, which had been attached with the Kearny to the westbound convoy, had fallen behind when the Kearny and the other destroyers had steamed at full speed to the rescue of the attacked eastbound convoy. She now came up to escort the Kearny home.

Steered By The Flag
"We had no compass working and the helmsman steered by the flag, that is he watched the flag to see which way the wind was blowing," Lyman said.

"The Greer would have located the Kearny earlier but the latter, because of her lack of compasses, missed the rendezvous. "She didn't meet us until about 2 p. m. Friday afternoon," Lyman said.

"I remember because we had a nickel pool aboard and I lost."

The rest of the story belongs to Rommel who was rowed to the Kearny on a whaleboat from the Munson, which also stood by the stricken destroyer.

Had Done Wonders
The Kearny's pharmacist mate had done wonders in the hours before I arrived. The explosion had destroyed about three quarters of his medicines, antiseptics and bandages but he managed to carry on from the after-battle clearing station and he did very well."

"I went aboard the Kearny from the whaleboat which slid from wave to wave like a roller coaster. I gave what help I could. A naval seaplane came over and dropped plasma by parachute. We couldn't get the first batch but we finally reached the second," Rommel said. "I was soaked in seawater and I had to sterilize some of it but I was able to make three transfusions. It saved my boy's (Frontkowsky's) life."

"The other enlisted man seriously injured is Samuel R. Kurtz of Erie, Pa."

Others Not Serious
The enlisted men whose condition is not serious are C. J. Higgins, machinist mate, first class, of Seattle, Wash., H. D. Hinton, seaman second class, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Julius Green (negro), mess attendant first class of Allendale, S. C., Carmine Salvatore, fireman second class of Brooklyn, and John H. Jones, seaman second class of Tampa, Fla.

Salvatore is able to discuss the Dodgers. Green reported he was getting "plenty of shuteye, plenty of shuteye."

The Kearny herself is recovering from her grievous wound at a repair yard, somewhere in Iceland. Other destroyers are continuing the grim business of patrolling the Atlantic.

Highway Bond Issue Up In Lamb County
SUDAN, Nov. 4 (Special)—Election on a $145,000 county highway bond issue is scheduled today in western and southwestern Lamb county.

L. E. Slate, former postmaster, will be presiding judge and voters of the district who are taxpayers, will vote at the city hall. The district will be known as district 4. It was created at a meeting of the state legislature. On June 10 at an election the proposal lost 125 to 90, the state law requiring a two-thirds majority of taxpayers voting to carry the issuance of bonds.

Previous to her alliance with Britain, Russia shipped about 1,000,000 tons of barley and 1,000,000 tons of petroleum to Germany annually.

AAUW, Legion Auxiliary, Sorority Have Programs And Social Hours

Discussions On Defense

Plans for future fast programs—a discussion on women and the present crisis and social hours were features for women's organizations that met Monday night.

Fifty members of the Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women heard a discussion of "The Role of Women in the Present Economic Crisis" in room 107 of Tech home economics building.

Miss Margaret W. Weeks, leader, was assisted by Miss Mabel Erwin who talked on "Practical Helps For Our Pockets" and "Defense." Mrs. Arch Lamb who discussed "Nutrition and Defense," and Miss Sannie Callan who spoke on "The Effects of the World Situation on Family Life."

Dates Are Re-Scheduled

Meeting dates of the branch for the remainder of the year were re-scheduled as follows: Dec. 6, Feb. 7, March 7, April 4 and May 2.

It was voted for annual associate member's dues to remain at four dollars and to include subscription to the official A. A. U. W. journal.

Mrs. J. B. Bridges presided for the American Legion auxiliary session at the Legion hall. Seventeen women were present.

Plans for an annual poppy day Saturday and for the Armistice day breakfast were discussed.

Mrs. Mary W. Doak, 1217 Seventeenth street, gave a waffle supper as a courtesy to Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority.

Following the supper, the chapter heard a program on health.

Miss Mary Ruth Newgent discussed the human body and Mrs. B. L. Manire, "Hints for Health."

Mrs. Weldon George, president of the chapter, presided.

Those attending were Mesdames Harry Buckley, J. Doyle Settle, George and Manire and Misses Lalla D'Spahn, Newgent, Wyndham-Gay Robertson, Lois Alexander, Velma Jo Bishop, Pauline Stafford, Mary Katherine Rice, Virginia Miller and Opal McManis, members. Mrs. Doak and Mrs. Max Eikel.

Dinner And Lecture Are Attended By Teachers

Mrs. R. I. Lockard, Tech instructor in applied arts, discussed the subject "Anybody Can Be Good-Looking" at a dinner meeting of the Lubbock County Home-Making Teachers' association Monday night at 8:45 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Lora Tucker, 1506 Avenue R.

Misses Mildred Billingsley, Graham Hard and Mary Wilson were hostesses.

Those present were Mesdames Ameral Payne, J. L. Lovelace, Raymond Burford, J. C. Bateman, Misses Vivian Johnson, Esther Sorensen, Elma Miller, Gertrude Watson, Marjorie Fleming and Anna Belle Spear.

Rehearsal Is Given For Sunbeams At Church

Sixteen members of the Sunbeams of the Calvary Baptist church rehearsed a program Monday afternoon at the church.

Meet A Lubbock Business Girl

RUBY LEE LEARY—The most exciting day in this slender, blue-eyed blonde's life was Thursday, Oct. 16, when she set her plane down after her first solo and on a flat tire at that! . . . She is a charter member of Lubbock's Feminaes who hope to become 99ers . . . A graduate of Texas Technological college, Ruby Lee is in charge of continuity at KFYO where she may be heard on the air each morning at 8:15 o'clock. . . Her address is 2205 Thirtieth street.

Noah Circle Has Sewing Hour For Red Cross

Skirts for the Red Cross quota were made when the Noah circle of First Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild met at the home of Mrs. L. B. Wright, 1502 Avenue N, Monday night with Miss Gladys Noah as hostess.

Hot chocolate and cookies were served.

The circle will meet next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock with Miss Maud Dee Skeen, 2319 Fourteenth street, to continue this sewing project.

Religion And Child Is Discussed By Group

Dupe Parent-Teacher study course topic, "The Importance of Religion in the Life of the Child" was discussed by Mrs. J. L. G. G. Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the school.

Mrs. Jewell O'Dell reported on an American Childhood Education conference held in California. Twenty-one members were present.

Mrs. Ivy Savage will speak on "Motion Pictures in the Life of the Child" next Monday afternoon.

Editor Gives Experiences

General hints on writing and problems of a country newspaper editor were discussed by Sen. Marshall Formby of Plainview in an address to approximately 75 members of the Lubbock chapter of the Composers and Authors Association of Texas Monday night in Lubbock hotel.

The speaker suggested writers attempt to rewrite some passage from the Bible, in as few words and without changing the meaning, if they would test their writing ability. He presented humorous stories in connection with operation of a weekly newspaper.

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth presided for the program, which included a patriotic selection, "Let's Get Behind Our President," written by J. A. Mullins with music by Winton Kyles, sung by R. B. Parkinson with Kyle as the accompanist.

"Sleepytime" words to which were written by Mrs. William Blake and music by Mrs. Ardelle Seales, sung by Mrs. Seales with Mrs. Lloyd Croslin as accompanist; "Contact," written by Mrs. Luther English, sung by Mrs. Carl Scoggin with Mrs. C. Mr. Sanders Is Speaker At Study Course Hour Liff Sanders talked on "The Faith of the Child" at the weekly meeting of the Sanders Adult Study course at Community Center this morning. Thirteen women were present.

The group will meet next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at the center to hear Judge E. L. Pitts discuss "Discipline and Freedom."

WE CAN EARN LIVING

These young women have chosen a sure way of making themselves "useful." Other women could find just as practical solutions to the problems if they put their minds to it.

These young women have given the word "useful" a more practical meaning than the women who thought of it only in terms of learning to drive an ambulance or fly an airplane.

If the conditions that exist in England today should ever exist here and city children are taken from their homes and herded together for safety, these young

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

Most women have quit going around saying, "If I just knew what I could do to help with the national defense program . . ."

The ones who were just talking to hear themselves talk have settled down to playing bridge again, already weary of the idea of becoming USEFUL. (They always spoke the word in capital letters.)

The ones who meant what they said have thought up ways in which they can be useful and are preparing themselves for the kind of jobs they want to do.

The Cooperative School for Teachers, in New York, has noticed a great increase in the number of young, married women who are registering this fall for a year's course in teacher's training.

The secretary of the school, Dr. Randolph B. Smith, explains it like this: "Apparently certain foresighted married women have suddenly become aware of the desirability of having some specialized professional training of their own to meet any future emergency."

Particularly does this seem to be true in the case of married women who are also parents of young children and who want particularly the kind of professional training which includes not only extensive classroom experience with children, but also contact with the variety of community resources and agencies which must be effectively mobilized to meet any possible emergency.

Importance Of Health And Safety Is Stressed Here

Mrs. Cecile Hardy, health and safety advisor on the national staff of the Girl Scout organization, is in Lubbock for a two-day program of lectures and conferences. She will speak tonight at 8 o'clock at Senior High school auditorium and will address Scout leaders, council members and others interested at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Scout Little House.

Mrs. Hardy whose duty it is to help local Girl Scout councils and troops in developing an efficient health and safety program, stated this morning that there probably is no other field in the Girl Scout program that plays as important a part in all troop activities as the field of health and safety.

"In practically everything the Girl Scouts do," Mrs. Hardy pointed out, "there is an opportunity to quicken the girls' interest in the healthy and safe way of life. It is our desire to increase the Scouts' useful knowledge regarding personal and public health and safety and the scientific principles underlying health practices.

A Way Of Living

"Health and safety are thought of not as topics to be studied," stressed Mrs. Hardy, "but as a way of living that gives greater pleasure in life, in work, in play and in service. To set down a cut and dried program is not only difficult but unwise."

The advisor cited several instances in which Girl Scouts had carried out health and safety projects both within their troops and the community. One group of girls was responsible for interesting an orphanage in replacing an unsafe boardwalk with a cement sidewalk, another group living in a big city made maps of the streets showing danger points to watch.

"If we want happy, active, healthy girls," Mrs. Hardy said, "we must make health and safety popular."

Mrs. Fred Sparks taught a lesson for members of the Mary Louella Dunn circle which met in the home of Mrs. C. W. Bartlett, 2224 Fourteenth street.

Mrs. J. W. Taylor, 2412 Tenth street, was hostess for the Mary Ewing Houston circle members. Mrs. F. H. Seales taught a lesson for the eight members present.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND is an exclusively prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desirable. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. . . it helps keep the skin soft and pliable. . . thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin. . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mrs. K. M. Renner, president, presided for the meeting. Forty-five members were present.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Highly prized by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

Asbury Class Plans For Red Cross Sewing Hour

Asbury Methodist Awakened Wesleyan class will show for the Red Cross in an all-day session at the church annex beginning at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Women are asked to bring thimbles and scissors.

Mrs. E. L. Lansford, class president, is urging women of the class and their friends to attend the needlework gathering. A covered dish lunch will be served at noon.

Paul's Episcopal auxiliary was conducted Monday morning at the home of Mrs. John A. Winslow, 1510 Avenue X. About twelve members met at Seaman hall for Red Cross sewing.

When members of the Central Baptist Women's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon they made plans for a rummage sale to be held Nov. 15.

Mrs. Jeff D. Welch gave the lesson. Mrs. W. L. Atkins led the devotion and Mrs. Mammie Monroe gave the opening prayer. Mesdames Dewey Immons and W. M. Jones were new members and 12 other members attended.

Mrs. W. R. Dean dismissed the group in prayer.

Mrs. C. P. Carlock presided for a called business meeting of the First Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service at the church Monday. About 35 women were present.

Psalm: I was read responsively as a devotion.

WHEN 7000 WOMEN SAY THEY USE 1/4 LESS OF FOLGER'S...

they're telling you this richer flavored mountain-grown coffee is the economical buy!

Think what it means to use "1/4 less" every time you make coffee! Instead of using 4 spoons of coffee to make 4 cups—you only need 3 spoons. Instead of buying 4 pounds every month—you'd only buy 3 pounds!

That's the wonderful economy of Folger's! . . . the actual saving reported in letters from over 7,000 women who are using it! They say they use 1/4 less of Folger's—and get better-tasting coffee in the bargain! They're enjoying the world's finest coffee at a year round cost that may be no more than you pay for an inferior brand.

Different—because Mountain Grown

Folger's is more than just another brand—it's an entirely different kind of coffee! Most coffees (up to 3 out of 4) taste alike because they're all the same kind of coffee—lowland grown. But Folger's is mountain-grown—in crystal clear mountain air, sunshine and rain and vigorous volcanic soil—acquiring a richness of flavor no lowland coffee can match!

Trains, planes and exclusive eating places that cater to men—serve Folger's. Why not treat your family to its vigorous mountain-grown flavor? Order Folger's today!

Now in Drip and Regular Grades. Also Pulverized (Packed in Glass for Glass Coffee-Makers).

Military Tumult Chafes Icelanders; Quaint Life Being Disrupted

Natives Long For Old Days

BY PHIL AULT
United Press Staff Correspondent
 REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Nov. 4—Reykjavik, a Greta Garboesque capital which has always wanted to be alone, has a war jammed down its throat like a hot potato and doesn't quite know how to swallow it.

Many of its citizens, stepping into the streets to avoid crowds of strolling soldiers and jumping back to dodge honking army trucks, wish the old days would return, when the only foreigners were an occasional crowd of cruise tourists and there wasn't a soldier in Iceland.

It is a strange mixture, the remnants of a backwater Old World civilization overrun by the strident activity of the British and American armies of occupation.

Sunday afternoon strollers listen with a touch of bewilderment to the creak of winches and shouts of soldiers unloading one ship after another in the little harbor. Long-bearded naval officers roam the streets, waiting for the next convoy to leave. American, English, New Zealand, Norwegian and Scottish men crowd the restaurants so Icelanders frequently cannot even reserve tables.

Military Rule Resented
 Iceland's 126,000 residents lived virtually cut off from the world until the island suddenly became a key spot in the battle of the Atlantic. They are extremely proud that their country was the world's first democracy, started in 930 A. D. with the founding of the Althing (parliament), and they find natural difficulty in accepting the necessary rule that military authority supersedes normal civil life in such a front line fortress.

Many of them, however, are profiting handsomely from their virtual uninvited guests. Stores are doing rushing business, taxi-rab companies are reaping miniature fortunes, tables must be reserved in the best restaurants hours in advance and getting a haircut often requires an hour's wait.

The city's two motion picture houses are operating entirely on a reserved seat basis. It is virtually impossible to obtain tickets for an evening performance after 1 p. m. The theaters are known as "Bio," apparently a derivation of the early Biograph days, and currently are showing such American features as "Drums Along the Mohawk" and "Dance, Girl, Dance."

English Books Stocked
 Bookstores have stocked large supplies of English books and week-old London newspapers to meet the heavy demand. Best sellers are the works of P. G. Wodehouse, mystery novels and "I Found No Peace" by the late Webb Miller, United Press-war correspondent.

Postcard sales have been so heavy that it is difficult to find views of Reykjavik and famous landmarks. The supply now consists largely of an Ireland pony standing on a hill and James Cagney in a cowboy suit.

A treeless, drab city of concrete and corrugated iron buildings, Reykjavik suddenly became an international host at an embarrassing moment since many of its streets were torn up for the installation of pipes to bring water from nearby hot springs into a city wide steam heating project. The pipes were a casualty of war, however, and never left the dock in Denmark.

The streets were filled up in the best manner possible, but the incessant pounding of large British and American army trucks—augmented by heavy rains—has made them muddy washboards.

British and American military police direct traffic and patrol the sidewalks to arrest unruly soldiers. Dispatch carriers whirl through town on motorcycles, left-drive American automobiles and right-drive British cars have miraculous escapes from collisions, and taxi drivers wheel their cars through the narrow streets with the abandon of New York cabbies on Park avenue. Transportation demands are so great that it is not an uncommon sight to see American army majors hitch-hiking rides to and from the city.

CAPTIVE REDS AID WOUNDED COMRADE—Three of the thousands of Russian captives Germany has taken cease being statistics for a moment, making a pathetic picture of Soviet soldiers aiding a wounded comrade along the road to a Nazi prison camp. They were captured in Ukraine fighting, according to German censors.

Sandbag parapets have been thrown up at intersections and strategic points around the city, and there are many signs pointing to air raid shelters. Beneath the bustle the Icelanders try to live their normal lives. Old women with black caps and long braids mingle with American doughboys and killed Scotties. Tiny English-made family automobiles strive gallantly to navigate through the hulking military trucks, and native fishing boats chug through the harbor amid the procession of American and British ships bringing supplies to the armies of occupation. Housing the throngs is a critical problem. Many men have sent their families to the country and are renting their homes. Several families returned from summer vacations in the north to discover their apartments occupied. Rooms at the Hotel Borg, the only good hotel by American standards, virtually are unobtainable by anyone without official status, and rooms in private homes are almost as difficult to find.

An emergency housing project is under way for Icelanders, but it will not solve the shortage. A few store buildings are under construction, but difficulty in obtaining lumber and cement which is not chug through the harbor amid the procession of American and British ships bringing supplies to the

What! You never served BAKED HAM the KARO way?
 Say! if you want to give your baked ham glorious flavor, "dress" it with a Karo glaze. Half-hour before your ham is done, take it from the oven, strip off the fat, and "glaze" it this way:

KARO GLAZE FOR HAM
 ½ cup Karo (blue label) ½ cup water
 2 tsp. clear ham fat 2 tsp. vinegar
 Pour Karo, water, vinegar and ham fat in saucepan; bring to boil; continue cooking 10 minutes. Remove from heat; let cool slightly before pouring over ham. Continue to cook ham for ½ hour, basting several times.

Karo adds food value as well as flavor to meals. It's rich in dextrins, maltose and DEXTROSE, food-energy sugar.

Sportometer Commending Tech "Spirit" By Collier Parris

THAT WAS A SPLENDID DEMONSTRATION of real "school spirit" down at the Santa Fe depot yesterday when the Red Raider griders rolled home.

Seldom is such an enthusiastic reception accorded a winning team, and it is remarkable indeed when a defeated team is greeted by such a large and demonstrative crowd. It was a gesture deserving special notice and congratulations.

President Clifford Jones and a large delegation of his student body, many of the town's big wigs and little wigs, took part in the loud reception that really struck home to the returning gridsters. The boys and the coaches hadn't expected anybody but the taxi drivers to meet them, but a lot of them let big tears escape and got all soft inside when they saw that mob at the platform and as they were carried away on the shoulders of underclassmen.

The coaches and players really appreciated it, folks; they took special notice of the many banners and placards bearing the legends: "To Heck With The Miami Dicks," "Beat Creighton," "Get Set For Hardin-Simons," and "Get Ready For Homecoming," etc.

All the way home Coach Morgan and Huffman, instead of sulking back in their bunks and snapping viciously at the worn-out athletes, were among them with admonitions to "Keep your chin up, quit worrying about Miami, and get set for the games coming up."

On the train Saturday night at Houston was brightened after a long, cruelly hot ride from the tip end of the United States. Coach Huffman rounded the boys up in one end of the car and led them for more than an hour in a loud sing-song. They vociferated away at nearly all the songs Huffman knows, and he knows plenty, brother! It relaxed the boys no end, and they remained in a fairly good humor the rest of the way home.

A contrast, did you say? You don't know the half of it, mister!

Morgan kept his pains to himself, or to the privacy of drawing room A, where he had the honor of bunking with him. At the odd hours of the night, or after long silences in the daytime, Morgan would issue a half to himself, half to us. "I made a lot of mistakes. Shouldn't have pulled Dvoracek out after he'd carried the ball to the five," he said once in the dead of night. "But we'd talked with the coach and the other boys. Big Devo was 'jerked' just after he plowed and twisted 15 yards, shaking off three tacklers a la Roger Smith. He was pooped, petered out. His knees were shaking. The coaches' fingers toward the bench. He was blinded by sweat and the muggy atmosphere. Couldn't see across the line of scrimmage. 'Boy, I would have collapsed on the next play, I believe.'"

The coach would say, an hour or so later: "We didn't block so well. But you can't block when you can't run. The boys couldn't run." Then, shaking us from a mystery story just before the cop caught the killer, "Say, how far was that lucky pass Miami scored with, anyway?" But in front of the boys, Morgan was friendly and encouraging. He set no bedtime curfew, fed them the best, encouraged them to get off the train and stretch at every opportunity, turned them loose in New Orleans on the way home for two hours of rambling after a big breakfast at a big hotel, kibbitzed, bridge and domino games and offered valuable tips, gave them full run of the train.

Does that answer the query: How did the coaches take it? The boys were extremely anxious to get off that train (they'd been on it almost continuously for a solid seven days, you know) and into practice suits yesterday. They've got the old come-back spirit, and they won't lose another game this season!

Going and coming, the Red Raiders and coaches bumped into old friends and well-wishers, sympathizers and supporters.

On the way out, breakfast by a call at Morgan's table by his former Austin college instructor and baseball coach, Homer Rainey, the president who makes almost as much as the coach at University of Texas, which also has a pretty fair ball club, and by Fred Hartman, newspaper editor at Goose Creek, who, as editor of the paper at a certain university which got licked by TCU last week, got this reporter started in the profession.

Dr. Rainey was en route to Shreveport, but heard that Morgan and his team was in town, and rode across town to see him and extend best wishes.

At New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lee, she the former Ruth Pirtle, former Texas Tech faculty member, greeted the Red Raiders at the workout, and waved so long on the way home.

At Miami, coach at Miami High school, was Crip Goltightly, former Texas Tech basketball coach, who has kept in close touch with Tech and who was just as heart-broken as any of us over the outcome of the game. But less surprised, since he had visualized the terrific weather conditions under which the Raiders would work.

Mighty Texas, Greatest Team In Nation, Is "Playing Them One Game At A Time"

Bowl Talk Out Until Later

Aggies, Longhorns Still Face Tests

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Nov. 4.—Officials of the University of Texas said emphatically today they had not been approached on a bowl game but Texas A. and M. left the impression it might have received a feeler or two.

Coach D. X. Bible of the undefeated, high-scoring Longhorns—ranked No. 1 among the nation's football teams—brusquely turned away questioners with "we play one game at a time" and at the university it was stated that no one in a position to know had heard of any bowl bid.

Face Tough Foes Yet
On the other hand Coach Homer Norton of the unbeaten but somewhat deflated Aggies said cryptically "we still are undefeated" in declining to make a statement either way on the bowl question.

"We have to play Southern Methodist, Rice and Texas in conference games, and Washington State at Tacoma," Norton hastened to add. "Anything can happen in those four games and we are not thinking about anything but winning them if possible."

May Set Scoring Record
Cotton bowl officials here believe they have first choice, at least after the Rose bowl. As one of them said, "of course we wouldn't blame either Texas or A. and M. for taking a Rose bowl bid. That's the World series of football. But we think either would choose the Cotton bowl above any other bowl if not invited to California."

Right now Texas is riding high in the Southwest conference and if the Longhorns maintain their present pace they'll set an all-time scoring record in championship play. The mighty Orange-White, rated by coaches and critics as the greatest team in the history of the conference, has rolled up 230 points in six games and has defeated each opponent from four to six touchdowns.

Aggies Lose Prestige
A. and M. lost prestige when downtrodden Arkansas battled the Aggies all over the field before losing 6-0 last week and the opinion now is freely expressed that Texas will beat A. and M. when the teams clash on Thanksgiving day.

Texas has a rule against games after the Saturday following Thanksgiving but no one doubts that the Longhorns could obtain permission to play in a bowl contest.

The Cotton bowl invites the conference champion to play in its game but if that team does not accept, then the runner-up is extended the bid.

INTRODUCING THE WESTERNERS — A couple of good numbers are those above, 66 and 99. The 99, on the left, is Wesley Hamilton, Westerner reserve left end who is doing a mighty fine job in his first year of football. Hamilton, a tall, lanky lad who stars on defense, is president of the senior class at Lubbock High. The 66 is Franklin Butler, a fiery veteran guard who won his first football letter as a member of the 1939 state championship team and is now serving out his final year of eligibility. They'll both see plenty of action Friday night when the Westerners play the Brackenridge Eagles at San Antonio.

This Afternoon's Sports Roundup Fordham Vs. Texas In Bowl Is Gotham's Dream; Miami Soph Boasts Great Kicking Record

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Local sports writers are whooping it up for a Fordham vs. Texas bowl game now that they feel sure the Rams won't lose a game... The reason isn't that Jimmy Crowley has enlisted their aid in getting the bowl dough (as one western paper suggested)... They really think the Rams are good, and they'd like to spend New Year's day in a warm climate... It cost Steve Owen a free lunch when the Giants lost to the Cards Sunday. Instead of making his usual appearance at the grid-writers' gathering, where he's on the cuff, Steve called for the season's first Monday practice... Ditto for Frank Leahy, who promised to give the Notre Dame boys a day off if they beat Army... One of the big problems before New York voters today is whether the state shall build a ski run on Whiteface mountain... Eddie (the mouse) Minzel, the White Sox publicity director, has resigned to become a sports writer on Chicago's new morning daily.

FUTURE BOOK
Tom Dorias, son of Coach Gus, may be the regular quarterback at Detroit U. next season... Andy Tomasic, Temple's pass pitcher, would like to be a big league baseball pitcher. The Yankees already have scouted him... Coach Frosty Cox says to look for Dennis Putnam of Colorado to hit the headlines when the basketball season gets going... Instead of talking about his Penn State varsity, which licked NYU, 42-0, Bob Higgins does his raving about a couple of freshman backs, Dave and Harry Alston. Dave, he says, is about the greatest kicker and passer he's ever seen.

RECORD ROUNDUP
Howard Pissman, U. of Miami sophomore fullback, has averaged 45 yards on his 22 punts this season and booted one 74 yards on the fly. That's isn't a record but he hasn't booted over the goal line once—which probably is... Another soph, Emery Nix, passed for 337 yards and three touchdowns for Texas Christian against Baylor Saturday... The previous high mark for a F.C.U. pitcher was Davey O'Brien's 259 yards against

Reiser, Wyatt Next In Line

Dodger Star Given Praise Of Writers

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The most valuable player in the National League this year was Adolph Louis Camilli, the siege gun of the Brooklyn Dodgers, a committee of Baseball Writers Association of America announced today.

The stocky first baseman, whose blasting bat and skillful defensive play led the Dodgers to their first pennant in 21 years, carried off the highest individual honor in his league without a contest.

Of the 24 members on the committee, 19 voted for Camilli for first place, two listed him second, and he received one vote each for third, fourth and tenth.

He was the only player to be named on every Dolph Camilli ballot. On the basis of 14 points for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc., he received a total of 306 points, compared with 183 for his closest rival, Pete Reiser, and 151 for Whitlow Wyatt, both teammates and also outstanding figures in Brooklyn's success.

Home Run King
Camilli led the National League in home runs with 34, in runs batted in with 120, and pushed the Dodgers over many humps along the pennant trail.

But his batting average was only .285 and it is rare—almost unheard of—for the most valuable player award to go to a hitter below the 300 bracket. Therefore the universal recognition given Camilli was a tremendous tribute to his leadership and all-around play.

The 33-year-old Californian, who owns a small ranch near Laytonville, Calif., and is the proud father of five children, is a veteran of nine years service in the National League, and always has been considered one of its leading first basemen. He batted .315 and .339 in 1935 and 1936 for the Phillies.

Wyatt, Reiser Praised
Wyatt received votes from 23 committeemen, although none listed him first, and Reiser was tabbed by 22, including three for the

Red Raiders Prepare For Creighton Test

Bluejays Bringing Impressive Record To City For Homecoming Saturday Afternoon

Texas Tech's Red Raiders, still suffering somewhat physically and mentally from the beating they too at the hands of Miami university last week; returned home Monday and set to work on the business at hand, namely, preparing for the invasion of the Creighton Bluejays.

The Bluejays, Omaha's contribution to the American gridiron scene, will play Texas Tech here Saturday afternoon in the first of a two-year home-and-home series.

Creighton Loses Two
Only twice this season have the Bluejays been beaten: They lost to Tulsa and Oklahoma A. and M., the two toughest members of the Missouri Valley league, of which Creighton is also a member.

The Omahans have downed St. Benedict's, Centenary, Washington, Drake and St. Louis.

Crimsons Will Be Ready
The coaches have an easy job this week. It will require little "firing up" and only the hints of what to expect to make the Red Raiders equal to the Homecoming occasion.

If the team is not more botched up than a general survey disclosed after the Miami game, and if the traveling squad can recover its weight and poise, which it can, you'll see the Red Raiders at their fighting best next Saturday. They're mad boys, and they intend to take their mad out on Creighton.

Several Slightly Hurt
Captain Tyrus Bain sustained a broken nose, and it will require a few days for recovery sufficient to permit him to play. Fullback Owen Lowe, Halfback J. R. Callahan, Fullback Charles Dvoracek, Quarterback Kenneth Robbins, Halfback Tom Douglas, and several others were hospital guests yesterday and last night, but there's a good chance that all of them will work out Friday, and that they'll be ready to play Saturday.

Coach Address "Club"
A large crowd of Texas Tech students and faculty members, including President Clifford Jones, and downtown fans greeted the Red Raiders when they came home early yesterday afternoon—a surprise reception that brought tears to the cheeks of many a varsity ball player and which no doubt added to the Raiders' vow

DUMMY WARFARE: Camouflaged (and antiquated) Mexican tanks cross a dugout and obstacle in practice maneuvers. Note the "opposition" casualties are stuffed dummies.

Mexican Chiefs Down South Of The Border Demonstrate Determination To Back U. S.

BY JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt has a vociferous second in Mexico in his warnings of danger to the Americas and his urgent advice to build hemisphere defense.
His statements of principle bring almost invariably an echo from the Mexican foreign office. On occasion, Mexico is in the lead in proposing measures of common defense.
Thus, when President Roosevelt announced American warships would shoot at Axis naval vessels, Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla warned that a war of vast proportions was looming. He urged steps by all American nations to create interlocking economy and to prepare a joint protective system.
A few days after Padilla's proposal, President Avila Camacho asked Congress to approve new laws by which he could slap secret agents and agitators into prison for long terms.
Mexico is also building up her army on a scale never before attempted. Military preparations include strengthening the air force, mechanizing a part of the army and laying groundwork for compulsory service.
Equipment is being purchased from the United States to set up a motorized, semi-panzer division of 8,000 men. It will consist of light tanks, armored cars, hundreds of motorcycles and mobile artillery.
On order from the United States also are 160 war planes. The air force has 75 planes, but most of them are out of date.
Military training will be given in all schools and colleges. When compulsory service goes into effect it is planned to take in 12,000 additional men the first year, 24,000 the second and 36,000 the third.
The present strength of the regular army is 61,500 officers and men, including 25,000 infantry and 20,000 cavalry. The reserves, made up of poorly trained agrarian troops and labor battalions, number approximately 65,000.
A dozen antiquated light tanks form part of the army equipment. The air force has 650 officers and men. The navy has 1,450 men and the fleet consists of ten 200-ton coastguard cutters, three 2,000-ton gunboats and one transport. There are light coast defense batteries at Acapulco, on the Pacific coast, and Vera Cruz on the gulf coast.
The war budget for 1941 was approximately $22,000,000.
Government munitions factories are producing more powder and rifles than the country needs. The surplus is exported to Central America.

Odd But Science Foxes Confuse Diet Research

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Wild foxes have 100 times more vitamin A in their livers than ranch-raised foxes, the best known diet.
This puzzle in the vitamin picture is reported by Dr. Arthur D. Holmes and Francis Tripp of the E. L. Patch company, Boston, and Frank G. Ashbrook and Charles E. Kellogg of the U. S. Division of Wildlife Research.
The moral apparently is that despite all the publications about diet, scientists are still only at the beginnings of knowing the facts about nutrition.
The ranch-raised foxes were followed from birth to death, and even autopsied. So far as medical skill could judge, they were healthy. Their furs were apparently perfect.
Several of the most scientific fox diets were tested, always with the same result: of but one-hundredth the vitamin A reserve of wild foxes. Where the wild ones get the extra vitamin is not clear. The wild foxes eat when they can and go on periods of hunger when little food is available, while the ranch animals eat regularly. Another difference is that the wild animals are much more active, and average distinctly lower weight and smaller size.

It's an Old American Custom

Remember your first camera? We bet you thought it was swell. But cameras didn't stop improving. Think of your pocket-size "miniatures" today.

This quaint object was once the family bathtub. Few people thought it needed improving. But compare it to the porcelain beauties of 1941.

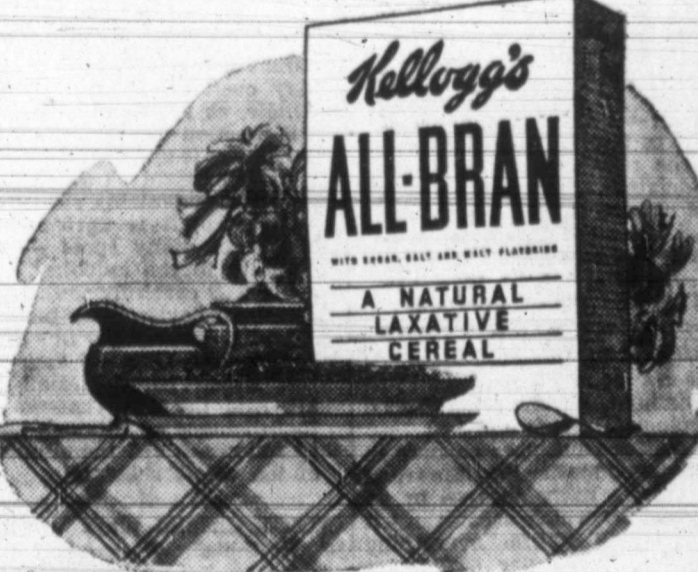

BEST LEMON PIE MADE WITH MY-T-FINE

QUICK AND EASY RECIPE: To make a delicious lemon pie in half the time, mix the contents of one package of My-T-Fine Lemon Pie Filling with 2½ cups water, 2 or 3 table-spoons sugar and 2 slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook over low flame until mixture starts to boil and capsule breaks. Cool slightly, pour into 8-inch baked pie shell, top with meringue and bake until brown.

4 OTHER DELICIOUS MY-T-FINE DESSERTS: CHOCOLATE-NUT CHOCOLATE BUTTERSCOTCH-VANILLA

Making a good thing better is an old American custom! And it's an old custom of Kellogg's, world-famous makers of cereals. Over the last 25 years untold Americans have praised the goodness of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. But now a marvelous bran from one of the world's softest wheats gives ALL-BRAN new lightness, new crispness, new flavor!

Tie a string to your finger and ask your grocer for the improved "golden soft" ALL-BRAN. You'll find it just as effective and twice as delicious as ALL-BRAN has ever been. If you'd like to ward off constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, eat ALL-BRAN every day, drink plenty of water and "Join the Regulars."

That Girl on Broadway says a man yearns for a woman who understands him, but a woman never trusts a man who understands her.

FOR six or seven years now, The Plainsman has been shunted away in a little cubbyhole just off the Avalanche-Journal news-room and being a convivial sort of a guy, he's been very lonesome and unhappy working by himself.

"Hoiman" never says anything. He just sits over on a bookcase and grins. He's not likely to be much help as far as sharing the work is concerned, but that's all right. He's always on hand and his cheery disposition has driven away the loneliness of the cubbyhole.

JUST how The Plainsman happened to come into possession of "Hoiman" is a deep, dark secret which he promised by all that's good and holy not to disclose.

According to information which accompanied our new buddy to Lubbock, "Hoiman" was about 25 years old when the rifle-slug went into his lower forehead.

We know nothing at all about who "Hoiman" was in life, or where he came from, or where he might have gone.

SERIOUSLY, though, "Hoiman" is eyes so much more than just an ornament. He is a mighty good psychological checker.

Since "Hoiman" has been grinning at us from the bookcase across the office, The Plainsman finds he has become more philosophical about the disconcerting things that crop up throughout the working day.

After all, "Hoiman" is concrete proof of the fact that few things are as desperately important as we living humans are likely to take them to be, anyhow.

"Hello, Pam," Vin said as Lenore spoke. Pam ignored Vin's greeting. Her eyes flashed at Lenore. "Spies!" she said. "This beach is public. If you don't want to be seen, go somewhere else!"

"I'll give you something to be ashamed of!" Lenore turned to her angrily. "Hush, honey, change the record. It isn't suited to your voice."

PRESENT—AND FUTURE—EMERGENCIES Predictions frequently are made in high circles that the United States never again will permit itself to be unprepared for emergency.

Probably it is a belief accepted more or less generally that Uncle Sam will be ready "the next time." Perhaps so. But it is a matter of history that this nation never has been prepared for any war emergency it has confronted.

Perhaps the experience of this period is teaching a lesson that will remain. Perhaps we never will allow ourselves to fall into a condition where we are not prepared, and where there may be no opportunity for preparation.

However, all of this deals with a very uncertain future. The immediate and vital problem is to be equal to the present emergency—and no one can believe that Uncle Sam is even close to that happy state yet.

to disappear and, since she liked Vin, she got her school and rode away. But not in exactly what might be called a spirit of forgiveness toward Lenore.

"I think I know how you feel about Winthrop now," he said. "And I want to say this, Pam. I've loved you I love you. I do with all my heart. I always will. But I want you to have the thing your heart desires most. Remember that, will you? And Jerry Winthrop is a fine boy. He has the makings of a fine man."

"But, Jerry, at this hour!" "The hour isn't important, Pam."

"You don't mean that? He took her hands in his and looked down at her. "There was something special for me about you just now. Don't try to deny it; your eyes won't let you."

And Pam knew in her heart there was no use trying to deny it. But she said still with that bright, artificial gaiety: "I'm hungry. Let's get something to eat—come help me get it from the ice box."

Big News Pam hesitated. She wondered how much anyone besides Jerry wanted her to go, how much Jerry himself really wanted her, since he had been willing to bet about her. Lenore, she knew, wouldn't want her. Nothing would make Lenore more angry than to see her arrive with Jerry.

Relief Plans Drawn Up For Little Business

BY PETER EDSON Journal Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Five important suggestions to relieve the difficulties of small business firms and help spread defense production are being considered by the Defense Contract Service of OPM, new under the directorship of the phenomenal Floyd B. Odium.

Odium, recalled to make a second appearance before the Truman committee, gave an hour's testimony on the issue when Truman asked for solutions, saying it was high time a little common sense was used in tackling this situation.

Odium urged his memorandum with his papers in a thick, battered leather case overflowing into a bundle of papers wrapped in string. The suggestions had not been typed but were merely roughed out for Odium's associates to pick to pieces.

Odium's ideas for the relief of small business boil down like this: 1. Until June 30, 1942, set aside in a separate category firms employing fewer than 20 people.

2. Plants that are catalogued by Army and Navy as known or potential producers of defense materials should be left to the supervision of the armed services. These plants would be the bigger companies, the prime contractors or the more important sub-contractors.

3. Creation of the foregoing two divisions would leave to the Defense Contract Service the intermediate field of 30,000 or more plants for whom there should be allocated an emergency pool of raw materials that can be converted to defense production. Odium be-

Half of the merchant ships now being built in U. S. shipyards are of welded construction. One green Senate page boy was initiated by being sent for a "bill stretcher." He fooled his tormentors and actually rigged one up with rubber bands.

Odium will simply have to be charged off as a defense expenditure. The program may not be adopted in its entirety, but it does serve to show how Odium is thinking about his job.

The Love Of Pam

gay, show Jerry just how little she cared.

"You will let me take you?" she heard Jerry asking eagerly.

"I'd love going," she said. "Who all will be there?"

Not that it made much difference, because Pam was suddenly determined that she would attract her share of attention, if only to annoy Lenore. Pam had never taken pleasure in making others angry, in hurting them or getting even in any small way. But Lenore had been cruel. And Pam had overlooked much.

Her mind was absorbed in thought. Finally Jerry's voice came through it. She was aware of an eager, pleading note in it.

"Everybody will be there. But that's not important. Pam," he was saying. "The important thing is that Freda's made an honest man of me. She's released me, darling. That's what I came to tell you when you ran out on me with Lenore. I came back, and I've been sitting here all evening, waiting to tell you. I suspected you wouldn't let me in if I got in ahead of you!"

Pam was looking at him, wordless, wondering if the glory that warmed her heart was shining in her eyes, and hoping it wasn't. She didn't want Jerry to know how happy his news had made her because she didn't dare quite believe in the happiness herself.

"And now, Pam, darling, will you let me tell you all over again that I love you? And will you marry me? And you will go to the party?"

"I'll go to the party with you, Jerry," Pam finally agreed.

"Is that all you have to say to me, Pam?"

"Isn't that enough, just now?"

"I suppose it has to be, if that's the way you feel about it. Why, Pam? Why are you still holding me at arm's length? Because I haven't got the ring back from Freda? Isn't the promise all that important?"

He paused an instant. "I thought, Pam, I'd let her keep the diamond. All I wanted was to be released. It's in its meaning, I wouldn't want to give you that ring, anyhow; that is, when you finally say yes to me."

"You're awfully sure, Jerry?"

"I am. I can be. Because I intend to keep at this until you're mine, until you say yes to me."

Finland, yanked unhappily into two wars in a year and a half, is caught so tight in the vise of the present one that she has almost no chance of getting out. Indeed, she may never get out alive.

Russia, whom Finland again is fighting, this time as a Germany ally, wants Britain to declare war on the Finns because Russia is Britain's ally against Germany.

The United States, which last summer told Finland that Russia was willing to cede territory to get the Finns out of the fight, now has informed Helsinki that the Finns will forfeit American friendship if they keep on fighting Russia.

Britain does not want to declare war on Finland because Finland is an old friend. America's friendship for Finland has been even closer, for the Finns warned American hearts by paying their debts.

Russia Paid Back

By a hard fight in Karelia, not directly sortied by the Germans, the Finns have practically paid back Russia for a territorial score for the war of 1939-40. Now, however, the Finns say they intend to advance to a secret line, presumably somewhere between Lake Ladoga and Lake Onega, for security purposes.

That, however, is only part of the story.

The rest is that the Germans do not intend to let the Finns quit and they have, from the start of the war, taken measures to prevent them from quitting.

Near Allied Supply Base

Most important of these is the presence of a German army in Arctic Finland. These German fighters came across Norway from the former battle zone at Narvik, and they have been steadily supplied. Apparently in conjunction with some Finnish forces, the German Arctic army has advanced very slowly toward Murmansk, the ice-free port of Russia on the Kola inlet of the Barents sea. At last reports, the attackers were about 14 miles from Murmansk.

This portion of Europe is very important right now. Ships carrying western supplies, bound for Russia, are making a wide circuit of the north cape of Norway, passing Murmansk and putting in at Archangel, some 400 miles south-east of Murmansk, across the Kola peninsula and the White sea.

Outright Truce Doubtful

Murmansk would be a better supply port, ordinarily, than Arch-

U. S.-MADE FLYING FORTRESSES BLAST GERMAN SHIPS—

angel, for the Atlantic drift keeps its waters comparatively warm, but it is too close to the fighting and besides, the Finns have cut the railway leading south.

It is not conceivable that the Germans, with an army on the ground, will let Finland do anything which would make it easier for Britain and America to supply Russia through the Arctic.

Secretary Hull has displayed a sympathetic understanding of Finland's practical difficulties in quitting the war. Britain, too, is reluctant to force the stage of actual belligerence with the Finns, especially since the military value of such belligerence would be, at present, nil. Both Britain and the United States, however, are pledged to aid Russia, and are being pressed by Russia to do something about Finland.

It is probable therefore that the pressure now being put on Finland from the British-American side, is applied with the idea of inducing Finland to slow down to a state of passive non-cooperation with the German war plan, rather than with the hope for an open Russo-Finnish truce.

Southern Methodist last Saturday. The Gophers dropped to second, 1,140 votes to 1,111, although they triumphed over strong Northwestern, 8 to 7, with only a little help from their aging star, Bruce Smith.

Texas was voted either first or second on 110 of the ballots.

Texas Aggies Fifth

The next three places retained the same holders as a week ago with Fordham, Duke and Texas Aggies—all unbeaten or untied—following in that order.

Navy hopped to sixth from 11th on its win from previously undefeated Pennsylvania. Notre Dame, held to a tie by Army, skidded to seventh. Michigan backed down to eighth, and Northwestern collected the tenth spot.

Ninth place went to Stanford, sixth a year ago but outside the honor list last week. Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt, defeated last week for the first time this season, flattered to also ran classification.

Paducah and Spur, both of which will be idle Friday, save their moxie and spirit for an Armistice Day battle here in the Cottle county capital, chief interest in which springs from the traditions involved. Since the clubs have been clashing in this holiday series, dope has figured lightly and scores have been close. Paducah's bi-district champion team swatted Spur 20-0 last year for the most decisive victory in recent years. With Fullback Elmer Biddy in the saddle again, however, the Dragons will be favored. A Paducah victory will leave the once-tied and once-defeated Dragons with a slim chance to retain their title. Spur is no longer in the race.

Coaches Morgan and Huffman approached before the weekly Touchdown Club members last night at Hotel Lubbock, pointed out, without making excuses, that their team lost to Miami, gave a few reasons why. That they did not go into detail regarding the unfavorable circumstances leading up to and carrying through the game as a mark in their favor. They could have made much longer and more colorful and explanatory speeches.

Wyll, a genial 32-year-old cast-off from the American league, was Brooklyn's pitching ace with 22 victories and 10 defeats. Altogether, seven Dodgers were given ranking somewhere in the voting for the most valuable player and five others were included in the honorable mention list. Twelve of the St. Louis Cardinals received a point rating.

Defense Program Is To Be Talked Here

Further discussion of the defense food and feed program is scheduled at a meeting of the county defense board and Agricultural Adjustment committee this afternoon in the office of the committee, 1320 Avenue G, according to C. E. Lilley of Slaton, chairman of both groups.

Meantime, said Walter Y. Wells, administrator of the AAA, farmers are being notified to come to the office to sign up applications for the soil conservation payments. Those who do, will also be asked to sign the defense plan sheet. Notices were mailed Monday.

Each sheet, said Wells, will contain the 1942 allotments and yields, with a pledge on the part of the farmer to raise specified increases in food and feed crops over his present program.

Conservation allotments are planned for the following: Slaton, Monroe, Shallowater, Wolforth and Woodrow, with possibility of a meeting at both Slaton and Beeton. This will be determined later.

Carruth Funeral Is Held This Afternoon

Last rites for Mrs. Ella Carruth, 79, who died of a malignant ailment at 9:30 o'clock Monday night at her home at 602 Avenue F, were conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, followed by burial directed by Williams Funeral home of Slaton.

She had been a resident of Lubbock 22 years.

She is survived by five sons, Dave and Ben Carruth of Lubbock, H. L. Carruth of Slaton, H. A. Carruth of El Cajon, Calif., and John Carruth of Holtville, Calif., four daughters, including Mrs. Bessie Cole of Plainview, Dolie Mae Gillett of Lubbock and Mrs. Kattie Montgomery of Amarillo; 15 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.
