

80,000 SERBS DEFYING NAZIS

Great Cotton Crop Is To Put Millions Into Pockets Of Farmers

Value Of Crop Estimated At $35,000,000 To $38,000,000; Business Men Profit

The South Plains farmer, tongue hanging out, is chugging back and forth between his fields and numerous gins, at the peak season of gathering what is expected to be the greatest cotton crop in this section since 1937's all-time record of 1,068,000 bales.

Crop authorities and government forecasters juggle ginning reports and acreage figures and come up with a prediction this year's crop will fall a bit short of the half-million bale mark, but in the same breath say that the yield is destined to be the greatest since 1937 and further that:

1. The farmer should receive from $35,000,000 to $38,000,000 for his cotton, including seed.
2. Pickers should make approximately $6,700,000.
3. Ginners should realize approximately $2,700,000.

And business men in general, who splash black ink on their books when the crops are being brought in and the army of transients jingle coins in overall pockets, have a ready grin when the last two Saturdays and Monday's "Dollar Day" are mentioned.

Extra Help Is Required

"Those crowds were made up of the buying element—not showmen," they say, in substance. Extra store help was required.

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies hard-pressed on the sands of North Africa and flung into headlong retreat in the Russian and Ukraine, had a new fight on their hands today as Serb guerrillas were reported battling three Axis divisions in old Yugoslavia.

The Moscow radio reported that Yugoslav guerrillas holding the town of Rudnik had inflicted 600 casualties on German and Italian troops besieging them.

At the same time, a London broadcast reported that fresh German troops had been rushed to points along Bulgaria's southern frontier with Turkey, to which President Roosevelt has extended American lend-lease aid.

Control Is Tightened

The broadcast said that Nazi military preparations all along the frontier had been stepped up, and that the Germans were tightening their control on Bulgarian ports and air fields.

There was no immediate indication whether Germany feared that British-allied Turkey, encouraged by Russia's sweeping counter-offensive in the Ukraine, might open a new "back door" front in the Balkans, or whether Hitler planned to move into Turkey himself.

A Serb communique, issued in Cairo, said the Germans had launched "what appears to be a general offensive" against positions held by unconquered guerrilla forces of Gen. Draja Mihailovic in a valley of the western Morava river.

Action Near Belgrade

"Our forces are resisting successfully in the face of furious onslaughts," the communique said, "although in the sector of Uzice enemy tank attacks have obliged one of our units to withdraw." Uzice, a battle-torn town of 12,000 population, is about 80 miles southeast of Belgrade.

"Our troops are in high spirits," the Serb bulletin said.

German troops in Yugoslavia have been estimated at five divisions (about 75,000 men), while

Gen. Mihailovic is said to have 80,000 soldiers, sworn to wipe out the Nazi conquerors.

A Havas-French news agency dispatch said 1,500 persons were killed by a munitions dump explosion at Oujiza, Serbia, in a fight between guerrilla and government troops.

Parisians Face New Terror

Official London announcements recently have reported 350,000 persons killed in mass executions in Yugoslavia since its fall last spring.

Coincidentally, in Nazi-conquered France, the German military commander of Paris threatened "the most rigorous of reprisal measures" unless Paris citizens surrender the perpetrators of two recent terrorist acts against German soldiers—the latest a German army doctor shot on the street.

On the Russian front from Soviet dispatches reported that Gen. Ewald von Kleist's Ukraine armistees had been driven in chaotic retreat beyond Tanager, 40 miles west of Rostov-on-Don, with four Nazi divisions—60,000 men—knocked out of action.

Moscow Thrust Said Slowed

In the battle of Moscow, the Russians declared that Red army troops had thrown the Germans back 16 to 31 miles in the Stalingrad sector, 120 miles southeast of the capital, and recaptured the

United States Sending Turks War Supplies

Major Defeat For Axis Plans Seen In Allied Move

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The United States began furnishing Turkey with military supplies six months ago so the Turks could stand by their pledge to Britain to defend Turkey and the strategic Dardanelles against any threat of Axis aggression.

This Turko-British pact, it was learned authoritatively today, amounts to a great extent for President Roosevelt's formal decision adding Turkey to the list of nations eligible for lend-lease aid.

Huge Sum Involved

The White House statement yesterday, however, said merely, "The president announced that he had found the defense of Turkey vital to the defense of the United States and had directed lend-lease Administrator E. R. Stettinius, Jr., to see that the defense needs of the government of Turkey were filled as soon as possible."

Under present plans, it was disclosed, future lend-lease aid to Turkey is expected to include some $100,000,000 worth of planes,

Planes Grounded; Traffic Snarled; Death Takes Toll "Pea-Soup" Fog Blankets Eastern States

Up from the deep south, through the Ohio valley, and over the eastern states a dense fog rolled today, crippling air, land and water travel.

Its blanket was 1,000 or more feet thick; its mixture was pea soup—tagged by the U. S. weather bureau the densest fog in years.

Fortunately for city dwellers, the worst of the fog passed in the night, but in the country, across the nation, from Maine to the Mississippi, the wet moisture soaked the city in the early hours. The weatherman said he could measure the moisture in a rain-catching instrument.

Louisville, Ky.—At the air field, a visibility of only half a mile and a ceiling of 500 feet were reported.

New Haven, Conn.—Heavy overnight fog lifted early in the morning; highway traffic badly impeded.

Madison, Wis.—Fog general in most of the state, delaying some railroad freight service.

U. S. PLANS WAR CHEST

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Top-ranking defense officials have approved details of a $5,000,000,000 "victory program" to defeat the Axis and said today they have agreed to build up the defense spending rate to a peak of $5,000,000,000 a month by June, 1943.

Such a program is more than twice as much as Congress has authorized or is contemplating spending. If approved, it will bounce the national debt toward $100,000,000,000.

Broad details may be announced within the next three weeks, one high defense official said. He said sponsors of the program are confident of winning President Roosevelt's approval and that they already have received the "wholehearted" approval of Vice President Henry A. Wallace, head of the supply priorities and allocations board which formulates defense policies.

The existing defense program, including an appropriation of $8,243,639,031 approved by a House committee yesterday, totals $67,990,254,096. The House will take up the new bill today. It includes money for increasing the army to 2,000,000 men and acquiring huge stocks of guns, tanks and airplanes.

But the "victory program" envisages appropriation of at least $75,000,000,000 more, a well-placed defense official said.

Appropriation of such an additional sum would not, of course, add that much to the national debt, which now is above $56,000,000,000. Part of the new funds

White House Takes Notice Of Report Story That U. S. Planning AEF Of Five Million To Be Probed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Stephen Early, White House secretary, said today the government would investigate the source or sources of a report in the Chicago Tribune today asserting that a confidential report of an army news-journal board called for an American expeditionary force of 5,000,000 men for an offensive against Germany by July 1, 1943.

When asked about the story at his press conference, Early replied:

"All that can be said is I've not talked to the president about the story. I am in no position to confirm or deny it."

Later, in response to questions, the secretary said "undoubtedly there will be an investigation."

Early added that the president had not seen the report.

FINNS ADVANCING

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 4.—Russia was reported in usually reliable quarters today to be withdrawing from all Finnish territory as part of a big Anglo-Russian diplomatic move aimed at eventually alienating Finland from Germany.

Finland reported officially that the Russians had started to withdraw their garrison, estimated at 30,000 men, from the big Hangoe naval base on the southwest Finnish coast.

Finland Celebrating

A German official news agency dispatch from Helsinki reported that all Finland was decorated with flags in celebration of the evacuation of Hangoe.

Informants here said the Russians were starting to evacuate all the Finnish territory they acquired in the winter of 1938-1940, which remains in their hands, including the important fishermen's peninsula on the Arctic coast.

The reports were not confirmed officially. It was believed here, however, that Russia and Britain intended to deprive Finland of any

State Rests In Gaines Trials

SEMINOLE, Dec. 4.—The state rested its case in 106th district court here at noon today in the trials of James Latham, 20, and John Allen, 19, negro half-brothers, who are charged with murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Clarence McNeill, Gaines county farmer, about a month ago.

Introduction of prosecution testimony started this morning immediately after Latham had withdrawn his plea of not guilty to substitute a plea of guilty.

Allen persisted in his arrogantly entered plea of innocence.

To Fix Punishment

Both cases will be submitted to the jury for a finding. In Latham's case, it was explained, the jury will have to return a verdict of guilty but will fix the punishment.

Rollin McCord, of Tahoka, district attorney, said that he intends to ask the death penalty for both defendants. He is being assisted

Drastic Terms Of Strike Bill Face Revision

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—A hard-boiled strike curb bill, stamped with an unexpected House endorsement of almost 2 to 1, moved to the Senate today where extensive modification appeared probable.

Senators predicted freely that they would avoid relax the bill's drastic terms, and then let a Senate-House conference committee work out some agreement on the final scope of the legislation needed to avert work stoppages in vital defense plants.

Texas Back Measure

After working itself into a complicated parliamentary snarl, the House finally rolled up a 252 to 136 vote yesterday for the far-reaching bill by Rep. Smith (D-Va.) without even considering some pending "middle-of-the-road" measures.

Eighteen Texas representatives voted for the bill and one, Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston, against it. Speaker Rayburn as presiding officer did not vote, and the vote of Nat Patton of Crockett was not recorded. All others voted for it.

The Smith bill, admittedly subject to refinements of phrasing, provides for cooling-off periods ranging from 30 to 90 days in defense labor disputes, during which time the national defense medication board, given statutory life and power, would use its good offices to prevent a strike.

Forbids Certain Strikes

In addition, the bill would forbid jurisdictional, boycott and sympathy strikes, would freeze existing closed or open shop arrangements for the duration of the defense emergency and would per-

Bonds Are Set In Liquor Law Cases

County Judge C. V. Paturet set bond of $1,000 for each of three defendants charged with liquor law violation, this morning, in county court.

Defendants were E. A. Kinsey, 24, B. J. (Skeet) Childers, 36, of Sundown, and Sam Harle, 45.

In addition, David Moton, 57, and Clarence Littleton, negro, were placed under $500 bail each in similar cases.

Ignacio Palacio and Manuel Ramirez, 36, Mexicans, were fined $100 and court costs each, upon pleas of guilty of liquor law violation and contributing to delinquency of a juvenile, respectively.

Ramirez, the state charged, indicted a 14-year-old Mexican girl from her home with intent to live with her without marriage.

Contributions, as usual, will be acknowledged in both The Evening Journal and The Morning Avalanche.

Same Goal Is Set

Surveys indicate there are approximately 3,600 children in Lubbock who must depend upon the Goodfellows for whatever Christmas they are to have. The number is the largest during the seven years the Goodfellows have operated here. Yet the $1,500 asked is the same goal that has been set in each of the past three years.

Think of it! Only $1,500 to give 3,600 children all the joys of

Japs' Reply To FDR Request Is Awaited

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Roosevelt canvassed the Far Eastern situation with congressional leaders today while the nation awaited Japan's answer to United States proposals for peace in the Orient and an explanation of Japanese concentrations in Indo-China.

Well-informed sources said that Japan must furnish evidence soon that she is renouncing her policy of aggression if she desires to save the U. S.-Japanese "peace" conversations.

Talk Nearly Two Hours

The congressional leaders talked with Mr. Roosevelt nearly two hours. As they left, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Sen. Walter F. George, D. Ga., told reporters: "The Far Eastern situation was thoroughly canvassed in connection with the defense of our territories and our vital interests in the Far East."

Others attending the conference were Vice President Henry A. Wallace, House Speaker Carl Albert, House Speaker Rayburn, Chairman Sol Bloom, D. N.

Major Rindlaub Will Take Post At Tulsa

Major Bruce D. Rindlaub, professor of military science and tactics at Texas Technological college since August, 1940, is to be transferred to active duty in the corps of engineers at Tulsa, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington this afternoon.

Although the official orders have not been received, the expectation here was that the transfer will become effective about Dec. 15 and that Major Rindlaub will become assistant to the Tulsa district engineer.

Major Rindlaub and their daughter, Cornelia (Pinky) Rindlaub, 10, will accompany him when he transfers.

He will be succeeded at Tech by Col. Henry A. Finch, who has been transferred from Camp Bowie, Brownwood, Col. Finch arrived in Lubbock with Mrs. Finch last week and has assumed his new duties. They are at Lubbock hotel.

Whiteface Lad Sends In Dime To Help Buy Circus Elephants

Jim Boy Speer, 8-year-old third grade pupil residing in Whiteface, likes his elephants and circuses.

This he proved in a letter received by The Evening Journal today in which he enclosed a dime to pay for some more elephants to replace the 11 belonging to the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus which died of poisoning in Georgia a few weeks ago.

Jim Boy was inspired to offer his contribution by the fact that Frances Thompson,

Plane Output Nearing Peak

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The American aircraft industry has "every reason to believe" that an annual production of 50,000 airplanes—the number suggested by President Roosevelt before a joint session of Congress last year—will be reached in 1943.

This forecast was made today by John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

Ahead Of Schedule

If that rate is attained next year, the industry will be from two and one-half to three years ahead of the schedule estimated in the summer of 1940 by T. P. Wright, now assistant chief of the aircraft branch of the Office for

This Is A Story Of A Mouse And "Man"

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Washington quickly saw a bus, Philip Caccese, 19, caused a street corner uproar with frantic screams and dashed across the city's main street heedless of traffic.

Two filling station attendants on the other side caught him and removed a mouse from his trouser leg.

Unusual Weather Is Experienced In City

Lubbock experienced weather today which was unusual in more ways than one.

The temperature at noon was 70 degrees and still rising, making it the highest reading in several days.

A sand-laden wind blew from the southwest at a 29-miles per hour velocity.

The barometer had fallen to the unusually low reading of 29.58, and still was dropping.

A falling barometer usually is indicative of an impending weather change, and the official forecast indicated that a change is on the way. Collier with rain or snow is the prediction for tonight and Friday.

Man Shot In Chest Coughs Up Bullet; Escape Miraculous

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4.—(AP)—D. M. Wood, 44, of Tolar, walked into the emergency room at St. Joseph's hospital this morning and announced calmly that he had been shot in the chest.

"I coughed up the bullet," Wood told attendants. "I didn't like the taste of lead."

A physician found the bullet had ranged upward from Wood's left breast—under the skin—but outside the lung cavity—and into his throat. It missed vital arteries and veins.

"This couldn't happen again in a million tries," the physician said.

Wood told attendants that he had driven alone to Fort Worth from his home at Tolar—a distance of 45 miles.

He said he was shot from a 32 caliber pistol dropped from his belt while he was investigating a disturbance in his chicken house about 9 a. m.

The physician said if Wood made "normal" recovery, he would be able to leave the hospital in "two or three days."

Construction Of 20 New Houses In City Planned

Cost Will Be $4,500 Each

Organization of another corporation to build 20 additional houses at an approximate cost of $4,500 each for rental to officers stationed at the air base under construction west of the city was announced Wednesday.

An Associated Press dispatch from Austin revealed a domestic charter had been granted American Homes of Lubbock, Inc., with Jimmie Wilson, H. B. Bryan and Bert Pinson listed as incorporators.

At Cost Of $80,000
Wilson said last night the corporation was formed to provide defense housing supplementary to the $100,000 housing project now under construction by Lubbock Homes, Inc.

The 20 residences, including lots, will be built at a cost of approximately $90,000. Officers of the corporation are Wilson, president; Bryan, vice president; Wyatt Heister, secretary-treasurer; and Pinson and Dr. M. M. Ewing, directors.

Negotiations for lots probably will be concluded today, Wilson said. Members of a committee working to secure the site are J. E. Maissen, Robert E. Gee, Wilson, J. Ray Dickey and Joe McElhaney.

Approval Sought
Plans and specifications will be sent at once to Federal Housing authority officials in Fort Worth and construction will be started as soon as they are approved. Gee will be general contractor.

The plans call for five-room residences with garages, sidewalks and shrubbery. They will be constructed of asbestos siding with composition roofing. They will be equipped with floor furnaces. Floor space will vary from 900 to 1,015 square feet.

They will be constructed at an unnamed spot in the southwestern part of the city, and though they will be adjacent to each other, no two residences will be alike in design.

Plans Announced
Wilson also announced plans for formation of a third corporation, as yet unnamed, to construct 12 residences, which would bring the total constructed for defense purposes to 72.

Persons interested in investing in the corporation were invited to see Wilson for details.

Meanwhile work is proceeding rapidly on the residences under construction southwest of Monroe avenue and Twenty-sixth street by Lubbock Homes, Inc., of which Homer D. Grant is president.

Building permits have been issued for 43 of them, and several are bearing completion, others ranging from excavation and foundation stages to roofing.

America's Winston Churchill Retires From Spotlight To A Quiet New England Village

CORNISH, N. H., Dec. 4—Here in this sleepy little New England town, far from headlines and the horrors of the blitz, Winston Churchill is living in quiet retirement. He has been living here, in fact, for many, many years.

He's the "other" Winston Churchill, No. 1 American author of his day. In his first years of this century, when "Richard Carvel," "The Crisis," "Coniston," and "The Inside of the Cup" were best-sellers, he was the "Winston Churchill" to the U. S.

Parallels Noted
The two Churchills have been confused a number of times in their careers—which, incidentally, parallel each other at many points. The U. S. Churchill graduated from Ann Arbor in 1894 and began a writing career. The British, three years younger, graduated from Sandhurst, English West Point, the next year and also began to try his hand at writing.

The American Churchill, an historical novelist, has produced 11 books; the British, historian and one-time war correspondent, 17. The American's "The Crisis," a tale of the Civil war, is often confused with the Englishman's "The World Crisis," a four-volume history of the first World War.

Like his English namesake, New England's Churchill has been in politics. He ran for governor of New Hampshire when in his 20s, "when I was just a youngster," he says.

Met In Boston
The Churchills first met in Boston in the 90's. At the turn of the century, when the American's

The "other" Winston Churchill first novel, "The Celebrity," was published in England, and the present Prime Minister wrote him suggesting that, if both were to continue writing, one or the other had better "change his name." The American answered that since he was the elder (he's now 70 to the other's 67), he didn't feel it should be he. For that reason Winston Churchill of England has always signed himself "Winston S." (for Spencer).

Won't Discuss War
Tall, gaunt, professorial in appearance, the Winston Churchill of New Hampshire seems the antithesis of "Mr. England." But his cultivated, Boston-Brahmin speaking voice is not unlike the other's, and he, too, is hale and hearty despite his more than three-score years.

Winston Churchill doesn't want to talk about the war, although he has written about war many times and is reported to be in complete agreement with the Prime Minister on war policy. He refers questions to his books—in particular, to "The Uncharted Way," which he published without fanfare last year. Described by him as "an analysis of Christianity and the gospel from a psychological viewpoint," it was his first book in more than 20 years.

In his 175-year-old farmhouse, Winston Churchill finds the kind

Family Skeletons Are Dancing Golden Tune Across The Land Through Unique Business

BY RAY PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Dec. 4—One way to make money is to take a family skeleton and shake it. Sometimes a great deal of the long green falls out.

James Waters and Alfred Shebel do that. They have an office lined with filing cabinets containing family skeletons of assorted sizes and shapes. Out of them they have shaken $715,707. There's no conjurers' trick about it, Jim and Al, to be less formal, dig unclaimed estate cases out of dusty probate court files and locate the heirs. Their moneymaking program is "Missing Heirs." Since October, 1937, when the program was launched, the co-authors have located 119 heirs, all presumably grateful.

Don't Collect Fees
Probate lawyers and Jim used to be a lawyer himself — have been doing this sort of thing for years. "The difference," says Jim, "is that we don't collect any fees. And we have no judicial power. Our only interest is the radio show, and it provides us our income."

Being a professional Santa Claus makes the unusual commonplace. Waters and Shebel have located inheritances for people who didn't know they had an inheritance — a rich one — child murders and scandals have come to light.

Variety Word For It
A bowery bum, a sandwich man from Chicago's State street, an Ohio prison inmate, and a Kansas housewife who never had seen a thousand dollars all in one hunk, all have come in for windfalls.

"We try to help them get straightened out if they'll let us," Jim says.

A staff of five investigators combs the 3,000-odd probate courts of peace he needs to meditate on another book. It will follow the line of his last.

If men would meditate, he feels, if they would realize that "non-contention is not necessarily surrender," if they would realize the "dynamic aspect of the gospel doctrine," and understand that "the really great men of the human species are those who can tell man how to get life" rather than lose it, perhaps all men could find a lasting peace.

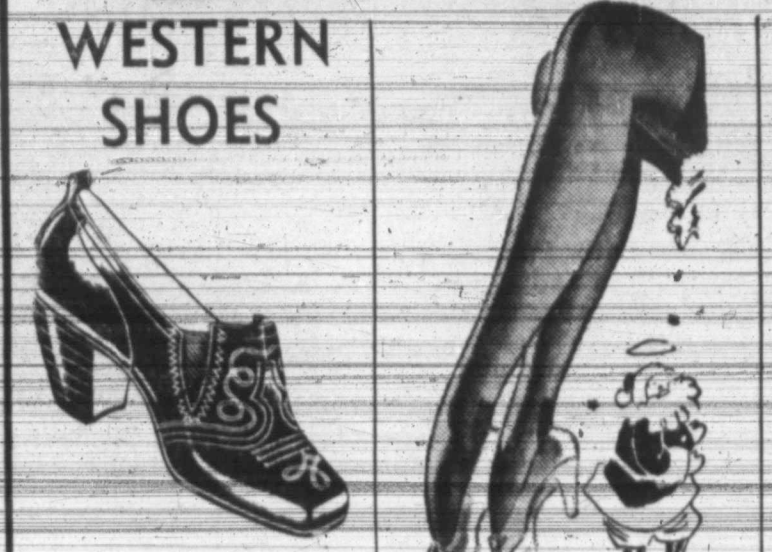

FILE SIFTERS—Al Shebel (left) and Jim Waters get four to five thousand letters a week from people writing in about missing heirs. "You get so you can tell when they're telling the truth," says Jim.

of the country, and when a suitable case is uncovered, the heirs are established. Banks and trustees usually are more than willing to close old accounts.

Then the story of the legator and heirs is dramatized by a professional cast, using real names. Listeners are offered rewards for help in locating the heirs.

Few cases run more than three months without disposition. It took but three days to locate in Chicago, Rollins Phillips, heir to an $85,000 estate left by his father.

Waters graduated from De Paul university in 1923 and did some newspaper and law work around Chicago. He tried to sell a book about missing heirs and failed. In 1935 he bumped into Shebel, a

Mighty Nazi Military Machine Shows Signs Of Exhaustion

Russians Take Over Offensive

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

Jack London, who not only was a master-writer but an expert in things pugilistic, used to say that every time a man does battle in the ring he loses some of his velvet. That is, a bit of his youthful strength and power of recuperation.

Signs along the now blizzard swept, frozen wastes of the Russian war front are strong in the suggestion that the Nazis have lost a very considerable amount of their velvet since they started beating their heads against the Muscovite wall. Their striking power is noticeably weaker, and on the southern front even their defensive resistance has lowered so that we have the amazing spectacle of a German debacle westward from the Rostov zone.

Reds Not Overconfident

This is not what we have been schooled to expect from the Hitlerian machine that "can't be stopped." Indeed, such a reversal is so foreign to the Nazi operations thus far that one is impelled to caution in reaching conclusions. An interesting appraisal of the position is given by Russian General Bodin in the army newspaper Red Star.

"The initiative now is in Russian hands," says Bodin, "but the strength of the Germans is not crushed. The enemy has many tanks and reserves."

"That looks like a fairly shrewd estimate, though we do need to see a little more before taking it for granted that the present phenomena means that the initiative has definitely passed from the Germans to the Bolsheviks. This much is obvious: that the invaders have lost much velvet and that the Reds are on the offensive in most sectors. For the first time the Nazis are showing signs of heavy exhaustion."

Weather Taking Toll

Moscow reports that along the sea of Azov the Germans have continued their headlong retreat beyond Taganrog, with the Bolsheviks in hot pursuit. That means a retirement of more than forty miles, and the end of the debacle isn't in sight. The Russians also claim the initiative on the bloody Moscow front.

It is true that the Nazi difficulties are due in part to unusual circumstances. For instance, the German radio, as heard in this country by NBC, said the disaster on the southern front was due to a change of weather which rendered useless the mechanized might of the German army. There might easily be something in that, though it wasn't explained what effect the weather had on the Russian mechanized forces.

The Hitlerites have made many of their own troubles by taking huge chances at various places in an effort to achieve some worthwhile victory—almost any kind of triumph, either moral or strategical. They need such a victory both for home consumption and for the effect abroad, especially in view of the critical position of their relations with France and Japan.

Plastic Tried Out On White Traffic Lines

LONDON, Dec. 4 (U.P.)—Eight 10-mile sections of a new plastic white-line have been grafted on to British roads to ease the difficulties of night driving. These permanent white lines are applied to surfaces just like grafting a new skin.

"Wear and tear and weather play havoc with painted lines, and some night lorry drivers complain about the virtual disappearance of what they regard as their main guidance," said a ministry of transport official.

"The new plastic lines are for experimental purposes, and until the new material has been proved, paint will continue to be used."

City's Outstanding Young Man For 1941 Soon To Be Selected

Selection will be made soon by the junior chamber of commerce of Lubbock's "outstanding young man of 1941" according to announcement Wednesday. Henry Elder, vocational agriculture teacher of Lubbock high schools, was given the distinguished service award in 1940, becoming the first man so chosen here. Nominations will be received from anyone, W. M. Pearce, chairman of a committee to make the award, said. Deadline for entries, which should be mailed to Pearce, Tech station, in Lubbock, is Dec. 15.

Damages Assessed By Jury Of View

Damages of $2,350 were assessed Wednesday afternoon by F. E. Duncan, P. H. Sammons and E. Z. Hogan, a special commission that acted as a jury of view, and conformed proceedings affecting lots 5 and 6, block 3, Covington addition were concluded.

Interested parties waived the statutory five days notice of time of hearing and agreed to conduct the hearing Wednesday before the commissioners.

Texas' Small Manufacturers Face Threat Of Industrial Blackout

Defense Work Being Sought

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of daily articles on what is being done and what is not being done for Texas' little businessmen in the national defense effort.)

BY BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff Writer
Texas' 10,000 small manufacturers, threatened with an industrial blackout, look to federal and state programs to save them from the problems created by the priorities system.

Quick response to the efforts of the Texas legislative committee and the Office of Production Management to spread out defense contracts and take advantage of a greater number of production facilities is indicated in a survey of Texas chambers of commerce conducted by the Associated Press.

Disgust Is Indicated
Discouragement and even disgust at the failure of defense officials to bring personnel and facilities of small business into the national defense picture were indicated, however.

Because of the priorities system and the manner of awarding contracts under the defense program, many small manufacturers are unable to obtain materials to continue normal output for private industry and foresee progressively tightened federal restrictions on the use of certain key materials for consumption goods.

Efforts of individual manufacturers and of local and regional organizations to obtain defense contracts small enough to handle in small plants generally have been unsatisfactory, the survey reveals.

Galveston Is Exception
Galveston appears to be an exception, its small plants having stepped up their payrolls and increased their staffs with new defense contracts.

The survey was designed to show how the campaign by the Texas legislative committee and by federal defense officials to aid small manufacturers is proceeding in Texas.

In the first response from the smaller cities, chief complaints cited against defense officials and the manner awarding contracts were:

Failure to compel major factories having government contracts to submit to Texas small plants contracts for parts, fabrication and other manufacturing.

Need Control Authority
Absence of a central defense authority authorized to award defense contracts specifically to the small manufacturer.

Failure to provide government financing arrangements for expansion or alteration of facilities in small plants seeking defense work.

Inclination of defense authorities to favor large factories over smaller concerns in awarding defense contracts.

Failure of defense officials properly to publicize pending defense contracts.

Six cities reported that small manufacturers in their areas had been awarded defense contracts. These were Austin, Waco, Galveston, Corsicana, Temple and Paris.

Pools Are Organized
Efforts to obtain contracts for parts, fabrication and other manufacturing possible in the small plant-to-date have been confined largely to local and regional organizations—principally chambers of commerce—and to individual manufacturers, the survey reveals.

Five Texas cities—Abilene, Waco, Midland, Lubbock and El Paso—have organized defense contract pools to bid on contracts, one plant in each pool acting as prime contractor and the others as subcontractors.

Four cities—Corpus Christi, Waco, Galveston and Abilene—have special representatives cooperating with defense agencies in behalf of their small manufacturers.

Progress Is Reported
Of the first 25 Texas cities reporting in the survey, seven listed definite progress in obtaining defense work for small plants. These were Waco, Austin, Galveston, Temple, Paris, Bonham and Corsicana.

Last April, at the request of the OPM, the Waco Chamber of Commerce selected a local manufacturer to act as adviser for the defense contract service in the Central Texas area and to work with the district office in Dallas.

In August, Waco organized the Central Texas pool composed of small manufacturers for the purpose of combining facilities to bid on defense contracts. Similar pools were formed in West and North Texas.

Panes of glass were cut for the baths in Pompeii, but plate glass did not make its appearance as a rolled product until 1688 in France.

Safety helmets of plastic, pronounced sturdy enough for mining and construction jobs, can be made from heavy cotton treated with soybean material.

Service Men Guests At Gathering Here

Several men now in army or navy service were honor guests at a "dutch" lunch at the regular meeting of Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, in the basement of the Myrick building Wednesday night.

The meeting was devoted entirely to entertainment of officers and enlisted men. No business was transacted.

Ease Neuralgia With Quick-Acting "BC"

New Officers Named By Technical Group

New officers headed by G. W. Parkhill, associate professor of civil engineering at Texas Technological college, as president were elected at the annual dinner of Lubbock Technical club in Hotel Lubbock Wednesday night.

He succeeds Carl L. Svensen, Lubbock architect. Other new officers who were elected were Arch King, vice president, and C. G. Decker, secretary-treasurer.

Dean O. V. Adams of the engineering division at Texas Tech discussed the recent developments in recognition of professional engineers. Approximately 20 men attended.

O. Postelwaite, Lieut. Robert P. Baldwin, and Lieut. Clifford W. Mills, J. E. Calloway, chief quartermaster of the navy, also attended.

An estimated annual damage of $50,000,000 in the United States alone is done by termites.

D. J. Nolan, employed at the Paris Die Co., Cleveland, has submitted for approval to the war department an invention for the remote control firing of machine guns.

According to the inventor, the machine will permit machine guns to be aimed and fired from dangerous advance sectors while the operator remains in a safer rear position.

Wildcat Well Being Cleaned

Cleaning operations are in progress today in the Amerada Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Ruth M. Hudson, wildcat test in northwestern Gaines county three miles west of the Wasson pool, after a 96-quart nitro shot at the 4,952-5,000 foot depth Wednesday.

Shot was tamped with one and one-half yards of sand and hole was loaded with oil. Crew found top of cavings at 4,700 feet and hole now is being cleaned out with rotary at 4,863 feet.

To Go To Clear Fork
In northeastern Hockley county, Anderson-Emhard Oil corporation and American Drilling corporation No. 1 W. L. Ellwood estate is drilling at 4,982 feet in lime. Eighteen feet of lime recovered by coring from 4,871-89 feet showed sulphur water. Contract depth of the well is 5,500 feet and it probably will be carried to the Clear fork, lower Permian lime found productive in central Lubbock county by Lee C. Harrison and associates in the No. 1 W. G. Naim estate.

In the Hockley county part of the Slaughter field Magnolia Petroleum company No. 18-J. Mallet Land and Cattle company flowed 1,291 barrels of oil per day after acidizing with 10,500 gallons at 5,031 feet.

Drilling Ahead
Bieg Oil company of San Antonio has staked location for five more tests in the eastern Cochran county area north of the Slaughter field opened by Bieg (formerly O'Neal Drilling company, Lubbock) No. 1 Dela Slaughter Wright.

In labor 12, league 60, Martin county school land, Bieg staked No. 3, Wright 440 feet out of the southwest corner, No. 4 Wright 440 feet out of the northwest corner and No. 5 Wright in the center of the labor. It staked No. 6 Wright 440 feet out of the southeast corner and No. 7 Wright the same distance out of the southwest corner of labor 18, league 60.

Placid Oil company, Shreveport, No. 1 Higginbotham, southwestern Dawson county wildcat, is drilling below 3,220 feet in anhydrite, Helmer and Payne, Inc. B contracting the 3,000 foot test. Nine miles southwest of Muleshoe in Bailey county, Broderick and Calvert, Inc. Amos G. Carter et al. No. 1 G. H. Hayward is drilling past 5,300 feet in an unreported formation.

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 Montague, Briscoe county deep test, logged a slight showing of gas in Dolomite at 5,709 feet and drilled ahead below that depth.

Mel Richards No. 1 W. R. Drum, eastern Borden county wildcat, is pulling casing preparatory to abandoning at total depth of 3,060 feet in lime. It logged an odor of oil from 3,040-48 feet but ran into a hole full of sulphur water from 3,048-60 feet.

National Legion Of War Veterans In Belgium Is Being Dissolved

Anti-German Plot Suspected In Country; Confusion Is Caused

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—German occupation authorities in Belgium dissolved the Belgian National Legion of War Veterans today and ordered 61 of its leaders court-martialed on the charge that weapons, munitions and anti-German propaganda had been found at legion headquarters.

It was intimated that the Germans suspected the legion of a widespread anti-German plot, supported by many officers of the Belgian regular army.

Caused Confusion
The German-controlled Brussels newspaper, quoted authoritative informants that the legion, founded after the last war, had adopted an anti-German policy and since the German occupation of Belgium last year had secretly carried on anti-German activities, directing its efforts toward "Belgian nationalism."

It was added that the legion's work had caused "a certain degree of confusion."

Berlin-Made Suit In Bundles For Britain

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Some where in England this winter a Britisher will wear an expertly tailored, all-wool oxford gray suit of clothes bearing the label "Peacock & Seck, Berlin S. W., Charlottenstrasse 77."

The Chicago chapter of Bundles for Britain found the almost new suit with the Berlin label among hundreds donated to the organization for distressed war victims in the British Isles.

Santa Fe is a contraction of "La Villa real de Santa Fe de San Francisco," or "The royal town of holy faith of St. Francis."

DOLL FASHIONS—The "fashion note" is the newest thing in the doll picture this Christmas. The idea is to have the dollies dressed in clothes just like real folks wear. Those above show a doll in proper evening dress with an ostrich cape, one in a shepherd plaid sports coat and in the little girl's lap, one in a polo coat trimmed with leopard, with fur-trimmed "beanie" to match.

Cornell Attempts To Quell War Tension

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Cornell university has launched a program to quell war restlessness among its students.

The plan proposes student guidance and counseling, with emphasis on health and recreation. "College authorities have been concerned," a statement said, "with the disrupting effects of the world situation, not only on enrollments but also on the morale of students pursuing their normal courses."

More soap was used by the Dutch annually than by any other nation. Their per capita consumption of soap before the German invasion was 24 pounds; in British India and China, it is 8 ounces.

Interest of some students in maintaining high academic performance, made their appearance, last year.

Man Outpaces Horse Fleeing From Bear

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Elliott Barker, state game warden, says New Mexico ranchers can outrun their horses — if the incentive is great enough.

Barker's proof: A horseman, Dick Nunn of Sierra county, saw a 550-pound bear, dismounted, and shot the animal twice.

The bear charged Nunn and his horse.

Although the horse started first, Nunn quickly passed him. The bear reached the horse, knocked off the saddle, and injured the animal.

He forgot about Nunn, who took aim again, killing the bear.

Lubbock-Wichita "Tossup" Headlines Bi-District Program

Big Throng Expected To Watch Westerners, Coyotes Saturday

Temple, Sunset, Tyler, Corpus Christi, Sweetwater And Paris Heavy Favorites

By TOM W. MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

Lubbock's Westerners versus Wichita Falls Coyotes—a battle of two great defenses—that's the feature game of the bi-district program this week end.

Some 12,000 are expected at Wichita Falls for the Saturday afternoon clash of these two teams, with defenses so strong in the same district they managed to nick their goal-lines for just eight touchdowns.

Elsewhere in Texas the 14 other schoolboy district champions will open their four-week playoff whirl before some 70,000 fans.

Elevens Boast Top Defenses

When the Wichita Falls Coyotes and the Lubbock Westerners tangle Saturday afternoon at Wichita Falls, it will be the first time in 11 years football teams representing the two schools have played.

Once Lubbock and Wichita Falls were in the same district they met in conference play every year from 1926 through 1930, with Lubbock winning three games, tying one and losing one.

Wind Up Seasons Today—The series started in 1926 with the Coyotes winning by 27-0. The next year a 12-12 tie was played. Then in 1929 Lubbock won by 21-13. In 1930 by 6-0 and in 1930 by 13-10.

Both teams drilled on their home fields Wednesday afternoon, with the Coyotes working harder than usual. The Westerners worked at length, but not strenuously.

Today the Westerners will wind up their home sessions with a light drill. Friday morning they leave for Seymour, where they'll spend Friday afternoon and night before moving to Wichita Falls Saturday morning.

Game Time Saturday Is 2 o'clock. The pass-minded Coyotes and the razzle-dazzle Westerners, it has been said, will likely put on a show of offensive football seldom seen in high school.

A look at the records confirms the idea that here are two clubs likely to be strong offensively—but it also shows that both are top-notch defensive elevens.

Eight Shutouts For Coyotes.—Of the 16 teams in the bi-district round, Wichita Falls has the best defensive record, with only 10 points scored against it this season. And Lubbock is second, with 30 points yielded.

The Coyotes gave up 13 points to Masonic Home in the opening game of the season, then swept through to nine consecutive victories with only six more points allowed, blanking eight of their ten opponents.

Lubbock has blanked six opponents, yielded seven points to two, 13 points to one and three points to a fourth.

Lubbock has allowed a net average of 38 yards per game rushing by opponents. Figures aren't available for other teams, but it's probable that this is the best average in the state.

Both Lubbock and Wichita Falls have relatively light teams, with the Coyotes holding a narrow weight margin in the forward wall and Lubbock getting an equally slim edge in the backfield.

SEATTLE, Dec. 4.—There are still a few more games on the 1941 football slate, but individual football laurels have already been nailed down for the season.

The American football statistical bureau, which chronicled the forward advances of 244 teams and 5,909 players in this fall's tip-toe-worn yardstick in the direction of these leaders:

Wilson "Bud" Schwenk of Washington university in St. Louis. Schwenk set a new total offense yardage mark of 1,328 yards in nine games; he set a new forward-pass completion figure of 114, or 21 more than the old standard fixed by Davey O'Brien in 1937, and he set a season "work-horse" record by figuring in 354 plays.

Frankie Spivack, the boy with the broken jaw from Georgia Tech, although records on his last game against Georgia Tech are still unreported, led the nation as a rusher with 1,038 yards, and finished third in total offense with 1,556 yards, a figure which undoubtedly will be expanded by addition to his last Saturday's exploits.

Owen Price of Texas Mines. Price became the only individual to lead a statistical classification both this year and last. The top punter of 1940, he booted one 50-yard spiral last week to nose out Steve Lach of Duke by a fraction for punting supremacy with a 43.33-yard average per boot. Price also finished second as a passer, tying O'Brien's 1937 completion mark at 37.

Passing In Spotlight—Henry Stanton of Arizona. Stanton caught 41 passes for 680 yards, and has one more game in which to better the modern record of 47 catches established by Jim Benton of Arkansas in 1937.

Richardson boasted the best pass completion percentage figure of .637. He completed 58 of 91, with seven intercepted. Previous high man was Hugh McCullough of Oklahoma who in 1938 completed 70 of 111 for a percentage of .631. His figure still stands for passers attempting 100 or more throws.

Paris-Highland Park—The Highlanders have improved fast after experiments in starting line-ups, but Paris is unbeaten and untied in 10 games, has the second best offensive record of 343 points, the fourth best defensive record of 33 points, and has two of the state's outstanding backs in Buryl Baty (160 points) and Bucky Sheffield.

Sunset-Riverside—Sunset has a perfect record; Riverside has lost one game and defeated Vernon, a team which held Lubbock to a scoreless tie in the mud.

Mustangs Too Powerful—Sweetwater-Ysleta—The Mustangs seem to have too much power, 327 points scored in 10 games to Ysleta's 207. In Marion Flanagan, Sweetwater has the state's top scorer—Flanagan has totaled 167 points.

Wichita's Passing Game Big Threat

(Special To The Journal)
WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 4.—Coach Tetterer Wichita Falls Coyotes will go into Saturday's bi-district clash with two full weeks and two days over of preparations behind them.

The Coyotes clinched the District 2-AA title with a 6-0 triumph over Olney Friday, Thanksgiving Day, and since that time have been concentrating on getting ready for bi-district play.

The Westerners, too, have not played since that date, but were not sure of a playoff spot until last Saturday night.

Set For Lubbock Offense—After spending the first week in purely offensive drills, because they did not know who their bi-district foe would be, the Wichita Falls Coyotes got down to hard work Saturday, polishing up a defense for the Lubbock scintillating ground game.

Neither Coach Ted Jefferies nor any of his aides scouted the Lubbock eleven, although they witnessed the Westerners play Vernon and Amarillo. Both times the Coyotes scout was mapping the other team.

However, Coach Jefferies and his aides have a good idea about what the Westerner offensive formations will look like and are proceeding accordingly.

Coyote Forward Wall has piled up a fine record on the defense this season, letting the Masons through for only one of their two touchdowns, while the third scored against the Pack, was on a long punt return in the Graham contest. Nevertheless, the Coyote mentor is spending considerable time in building a defense setup for a Westerner offense that probably will be the most potent ground attack, the Coyotes have run up against this season.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in this work, while Thursday will see the Pack put the finishing touches to their own attack, getting familiar to the last detail with the group of new players given them for this fray.

Friday the Coyotes will take only a light limbering up drill.

Coyotes In Top Shape—The workouts the first week were short, but snappy, as the Coyote coach figured that the Pack was in top shape after going through their ten game schedule and long session would tend to make them stale. This idea he kept throughout the first part of the second week, but the Wednesday session was longer than most of the workouts on that day throughout the season.

Of course, the famed aerial attack of the Coyotes will come in for its share of the workout Thursday. With Gene Hill and the Smith twins, Robbie Dee and Bob Lee on the throwing end and Troy Stewart, George King, Charley Hair, and the reserve wings, Bill Collins and Clifton Davidson on the receiving end of the passes, the air bombardment the Coyotes have met this season. Even in the mud, as witnessed by the Riverside and Graham tussles, the Pack can travel through the air. The Wichita Falls eleven completed a pass from Hill to Parker, sub back, counted the tally against the Carter Eagles. Two of the markers against the of the season.

Duke over Oregon State in the Rose bowl—This one, I think, is just a case of one team being too good for the other. The Pacific coast probably remembers Duke as a strictly defensive team that kicks and waits for the breaks, satisfied to get a tap or wig by a score of 3 to 0 or 7 to 0. Not so this year. Wallace, W. G. L., has offensive strengths and can start the rolling toward pay dirt anytime he feels like it. Steve Lach will be a revelation in the Rose bowl, and I wouldn't be surprised if the score mounted and mounted, say something like 35 to 7. Reports from the West coast indicate that Oregon State has a cracker-jack defensive club, so they may be able to hold down the score. Nevertheless, I think Duke is the surest bet of all the bowl teams.

Georgia over Texas Christian in the Orange bowl—This is the game where one man—Frank Sinkwich of Georgia—is going to have a lot to do with the outcome. TCU is going to have to find some way to stop Sinkwich from running, and the catch in that is that if you mass a line closely against him he will drop back and start slinging passes. Ask Georgia Tech about that. The trouble is that Sinkwich can do everything—run the ends, smack the line and pass. Texas Christian can do a pretty fair job of throwing the ball, too, with either Gittespie or Nix in there, but there is an old saying in football that you can't score touchdowns unless you have the ball. The two lines shape up fairly even.

Predictions On Big Grid Classics—Ferguson Names Duke, Aggies, Missouri And Georgia To Cop New Year's Day Bowl Games

BY HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Rushing in where angels fear to tread in an attempt to pick the winners of the new year's day bowl games.

Missouri over Fordham in the Sugar bowl—this one should be the best of the bunch. It pits two high-scoring teams against each other and both of them are loaded with fast, powerful, colorful players. As a guess, Fordham probably will be the betting favorite, chiefly because of the good impression they made in the South and Southwest in the Cotton bowl game last season. Trying to predict the pattern of a football game is like trying to forecast the trend in women's hats, but here's the way I think the game will shape up.

Missouri, moving along the ground and breaking away for long gains; probably will score first. Fordham will come back with a passing attack—and the game will see-saw fairly evenly into the final period. At that stage, I think, the superiority of the Missouri line will begin to show and the Tigers will come out about one touchdown ahead. Loyds of London refuses to insure football bets, so don't sue if I'm wrong.

Duke over Oregon State in the Rose bowl—This one, I think, is just a case of one team being too good for the other. The Pacific coast probably remembers Duke as a strictly defensive team that kicks and waits for the breaks, satisfied to get a tap or wig by a score of 3 to 0 or 7 to 0. Not so this year. Wallace, W. G. L., has offensive strengths and can start the rolling toward pay dirt anytime he feels like it. Texas Christian can do a pretty fair job of throwing the ball, too, with either Gittespie or Nix in there, but there is an old saying in football that you can't score touchdowns unless you have the ball. The two lines shape up fairly even.

Texas Aggies over Alabama in the Cotton bowl—Maybe I'm off on a tangent here because I saw the Aggies play this season and didn't see Alabama. Another angle is that the day I saw the Aggies they were busy mopping up the gridiron with New York university, which isn't much competition. Nevertheless, I think Homer Norton has a slick, powerful and resourceful team that should be able to nose out Alabama. In De-race Moser the Aggies have one of the nation's finest backs, either in running or throwing the ball. And, of course, there is always that lanky gent named Litterback Henderson who is likely to pop out of nowhere and snare a touchdown pass. On the other side Nelson and Rast, United Press All-American ends, can cause trouble too. It should be a tight, hard-fought ball game and Dallas wouldn't be a bad place to bet on New Year's day.

SELL-OUT IS SEEN—DALLAS, Dec. 4.—Orders for Cotton bowl tickets from 32 states, Mexico and Bermuda today prompted bowl officials to predict a sell-out within two weeks for the Texas A. & M.-Alabama New Year's day tilt here.

Arizona Likely To Refuse Bid

Xavier Boomed As The Visiting Team

Texas Tech vs. Xavier university in the Sun Bowl? That lineup today appeared possible for the El Paso New-Year's Day classic as reports multiplied that the University of Arizona would refuse an invitation to the game if it were offered and a boom for the Cincinnati school as the visiting team took on added proportions.

As the champion or co-champion of the Border conference, which has the privilege of naming the host team, Arizona has been considered the logical choice. But there have been persistent reports that the Wildcats did not care to play in a post-season game, and would decline the invitation.

Last night Vic Thornton, sports editor of the Arizona Daily Star at Tucson, where the university is located, wired the Evening Journal:

"Unimpeachable source at Arizona university says: 'Arizona definitely won't play in Sun Bowl and inasmuch as Texas Tech has best record in state outside the conference, Arizona vote probably will go to Tech. Athletic officials at Arizona refuse to be quoted on question, but my source has never been wrong on athletic questions, so I myself am sure that Arizona won't receive invitation.'"

Meanwhile, the boom for the Xavier team continued to grow. The once-beaten Musketeers, one of the leading small college teams of the Midwest, have indicated their willingness to accept an invitation, and Xavier alumni have been contacting Sun Bowl officials in an attempt to swing the bid to rounded into condition for the indoor game. The Oklahoma Aggies leave next Tuesday for four games on the seaboard, including a feature battle with City College in New York City's Madison Square Garden.

RECEIVED ROSE BOWL BID—NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Maybe the fates that hover over the football fields held a caucus and decided that Fordham should never go to the Rose bowl. That theory receives strong support in the latest announcement from the Jesuit school overlooking New York's teeming Bronx, to wit, that last Sunday morning Fordham received an invitation to Pasadena just an unlikely eight hours after the Rams had committed themselves to play Missouri in the Sugar bowl.

AGGIES TO VISIT COHAM—The Texans appeared less ready for the season-opening game than the Aggies. The Raiders have had less work and depend on several footballers who returned from a recent gridiron trip only in time to catch an automobile for Stillwater.

It appeared Tech would be a contender when the team has

Texas' Pension Rolls Now Largest Of Any State; Millions Expended

161,302 Will Receive Funds

By The United Press
ASTORIA, Dec. 4.—The Texas department of public welfare announced today that this state now has the largest number of old age pensioners of any state. If the November 1941 payments totaling over $3,000,000 will be made to 161,302 persons over 65 years old.

The average December payment will be $19.13, compared to a November average of $19, when 3,457 fewer persons were on the rolls.

More Than Any State
The state paid grants averaging $13.93 to 122,059 persons last January, but the average check dropped to $11.46 for 133,659 recipients in May, before funds became available from the legislature's $20,000,000 a year omnibus tax bill for social security.

"Texas now has more people receiving old age assistance than any other state in the nation," said the welfare department report. "For every cent of the state's population over 65, there are 1.5 cents in assistance. The only other state having a higher percentage is Oklahoma, which gives aid to 53 per cent of its aged population."

Almost Twice As High
The average state grant checks 45 per cent of being twice as high as the average in June, 1940, of the 11 southern states from which many Texas recipients migrated. These states give an average of $9.79 per month to 27 per cent of the population over 65 within their borders.

The 11 states used in the comparison are Louisiana, Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama, and Virginia.

The department added that within the next three weeks checks will be mailed to 1,360 designated relatives of 2,876 dependent children to be aided under that program. Payments will average $20.71.

Aid to needy blind this month will average $23.25 for 1,818 recipients.

Sun Bowl Rumors

The Cincinnati school, Coach Clem Crowe of Xavier, now busy with basketball duties, says his griders are ready to resume training immediately if wanted in the Sun Bowl. The Musketeers closed their season last Saturday with a 14-0 victory over Georgetown, the team that lost to Mississippi State in the Orange Bowl last season.

Xavier is a Catholic school located in Cincinnati, Ohio. It has 1,450 students, 725 men. Crowe, who played under Knute Rockne at Notre Dame in 1924-25, is in his sixth year as head coach. The Musketeers were beaten this season only by Kentucky, 6-21.

The conference invitation might go to Arizona, Texas Tech or Hardin-Simmons university. Though Tech did not compete for the football championship, the Red Raiders would be eligible to represent the conference if chosen by majority vote of the nine members.

Arizona and Hardin-Simmons will be tied for the circuit championship if the Cowboys defeat Arizona State of Tempe Saturday.

Ready To Invite Tech
If the team selected by the conference declines to play, then the choice of a host team reverts to the Sun Bowl committee, headed by Dr. Robert Homan, Jr., of El Paso.

The committee has indicated that it stands ready to invite Texas Tech as the home team if the eleven selected by the conference declines to play.

Morley Jennings, director of athletics at Texas Tech, when told of the statement above, said:

"Of course, we have heard nothing officially from Arizona university authorities, and won't until after Saturday's Utah-Arizona game. So we know no more than any one else about the situation."

Arrangements For Funeral Not Made

CROSBYTON, Dec. 4. (Special)—Body of Tosco Apole Fudge, about 35, was returned to Crosbyton early today for arrangement of burial.

He died at 10:22 o'clock Wednesday night in West Texas hospital, where he had been taken in unconscious state earlier in the week. He never recovered consciousness.

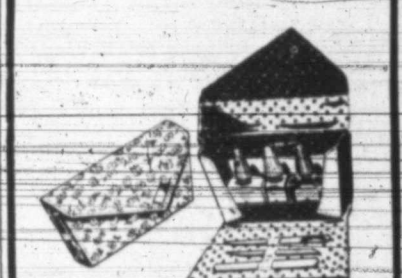

Sheriff Roy Hillin said the man, a cotton picker from Hill county, had been arrested early Sunday by a Crosbyton nightwatchman, Eudge, suffering a head injury, was taken to jail and treated by the county health officer who advised hospitalization.

Investigation failed to show who Fudge's assailant, if any, was, Sheriff Hillin said.

"He had a head operation several years ago and had what was explained to us as soft areas of the skull," the sheriff said. "Where he got his lick we have not been informed."

No funeral arrangements had been announced.

Roosevelt Policies Face Test At Polls

Debate Raging In Vote Drive

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—A major test at the polls of President Roosevelt's foreign policy appeared today as the special primary campaign in Massachusetts' defense-booming seventh congressional district gained fury.

The showdown was indicated in the contest among ten candidates for the Democratic nomination for the seat vacated by the death of U. S. Representative Lawrence J. Connery (D-Lynn).

Isolationist In Race

Demands that the campaign be confined entirely to foreign policy came early from a 33-year-old state senator, Joseph B. Harrington of Salem, a leader in the America First committee, who is running on an out-and-out isolationist platform.

His challenge brought a quick response from the two candidates generally considered the favorites at this point of the campaign for the Dec. 16 primary.

Opposed To War

Assistant Democratic floor leader of the Massachusetts senate, Thomas J. Lane, 43, of Lawrence, asserted that he was "casting my lot with the kind of Americanism typified by President Roosevelt" and added "I pledge my full support to his foreign and domestic policy."

Three of the books were reports of explorations and surveys of route for a railroad from the Mississippi river to the Pacific ocean—known as the Isaac I. Stevens reports—of 1854.

Youths In Jail Learn Of Bible

(By The United Press)
 CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—A young killer brought compulsory religious training to Cook county jail. Soft-spoken Warden Frank Sain ordered the training for all prisoners between 18 and 21 years old soon after Bernard (Knifey) Sawicki, 19-year-old former reformatory inmate who boasted of slaying four persons, was lodged in the jail in August.

Two priests visited Sawicki and gave him a Bible. The killer leafed through it and said he couldn't understand a thing in it.

Warden Acts Promptly
 "The thought flashed through my mind," Sain said, "that here was a boy who had been in all our juvenile institutions for the past six or eight years and didn't know about our living God. Someone had slipped up. Religion is the most important part of a youth's life."

The result of Sain's reflections was a compulsory program of two hours weekly of religious study. Classes of about 25 men each are conducted in the jail chapel. A priest meets with Catholics, a pastor with white protestants and a negro minister with inmates of his race. The curriculum includes Bible study, hymn singing and prayer.

Program Accepted By All
 So effective has the program been, according to Sain, that even the snarling Sawicki, who is awaiting execution for murder, has been seen to smile. There has been no opposition to the program, Sain said.

One young man, who was a member of the jail's first religious class, failed to find a job after his release. He appeared in Sain's office one night.

"I'm hungry and I want to be kept in here," he said.

Wardens in other jails are following Sain's lead. In St. Louis, Mo., the warden reported that inmates were reading the Bible and praying.

Gold Star Mother Fears U. S. Entry
 AKRON, Ohio, Dec. 4.—Mrs. Martha Abels, of Akron, Ohio's official Gold Star Mother, says she favors American aid to Great Britain, but afraid the United States is "drifting into war."
 Mrs. Abels, who gave four sons in the World War, was officially designated as Ohio's Gold Star Mother by former Gov. Vic Donahey a number of years ago.
 She says she prays every night that "whatever else happens, we'll never send our boys overseas again."
 Mrs. Abels says she stakes her faith on aid to the British on the hope that "if we strengthen British resistance perhaps we can still manage to keep out."

London Night Life Booming; 1940 Season "Blitzed Out"

BY PAUL MANNING

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
 LONDON, Dec. 4.—The boom in London these crisp fall evenings is not coming from German bombs or English anti-aircraft fire. The British capital is having a theatrical and night club boom the likes of which has not been seen since the hectic, escapist pre-war days of 1933, when every one went out at night to relax and get away from the war of nerves.

The entertainment gold rush started here in the middle of the summer, has yet to reach its climax. Meanwhile producers and night club proprietors are holding their breaths tensely, hoping there will be no repetition of last year's disastrous season.
 The 1940 Season Blitzed Out
 During the winter of 1940 there was virtually no real entertainment in the city of London. Many attempts were made to keep shows running, but as December faded into the January of a new year, show after show folded. Either a 1000-pound bomb made a theatre untenable or else the people stayed home and the productions starved to death. The public, last winter, got the shortest measure of entertainment they have ever received.

The present boom is a result. No matter what opens, the play is assured of an enthusiastic audience both in London and in the provincial cities of England.

Musical revues in London, like the current hits, "Rise Above It," "Up and Doing," "Lady Behave," "Fun and Games," "Black Vanities," and "Applesauce" are all sold out at both performances each day. The afternoon matinees start at 2:15; the evening performance at 5:15.

The Saville Theatre, where "Up and Doing," starring Leslie Henson, Binnie Hale, Cyril Ritchard, Stanley Holloway, Patricia Burke and Carol Gibson and his band have long been playing, was badly hit by a bomb last spring. Now it is again open with the same cast doing business back at the old stand.

It is not only the musical revues which are prospering. People are patronizing ballet, open air concerts and art gallery exhibitions in a frenzied sort of way because they sense that it all will not last too long.

Chekov's "The Cherry Orchard" has been running for four weeks now at the New Theatre and has done an enormous business. They are planning to take it on a ten-week tour of the provinces soon, which is the first time locked up before I do something else," he told the warden.

The youth was asked to lecture to new inmates on how his religious training gave him determination not to resume a criminal life.

Once more theater alleys blossom out with "Stage Door Johnnies" as London's theatrical boom gathers momentum. But the traditional top-hatted, bouquet-bearing ladies are gone—mostly replaced by husky, khaki-clad soldiers.

any Russian play has ever toured outside London.

There's a new combination musical revue, and play which might make London theatrical history. Scheduled to open in November, it's titled "Get a Load of This." George Black, London's top-flight producer, is handling the play, and judging from the money, beautiful girls now being cast and the general plauds being made, the production should be either the most sensational hit or most dismal flop ever to open in the British capital. Nothing in between. Staffing Vic Oliver and Celia Bilton, it is something of an all-American revue. Manning-Sherman, the American composer who wrote "A Nightingale Sang in Berkeley Square," is doing the music. But it is the book, and the man who has prepared the dialogue and plot, that make "Get a Load of This" something to wonder about.

Blood And Thunder
 James Hadley Chase writes the toughest dialogue in England. He's never been to the U. S., but his tough, American plots, staged against a backdrop of crime and gangster in St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City and New York, have these English-gangster.

STEAM LIGHTER

A cigarette can be lighted by steam. This cannot be done by the visible cloud that comes from a tea-kettle, and which is vapor, but by real steam in gaseous form.

His books, inexpensively priced, are a sellout whenever they hit the stands. It's not high class literature he writes, but it is box office and unlike any Hollywood gangster-film, something horrible always happens to the heroine—repeatedly.

liberally sprinkled with hotchotch blondes and lots of shooting, his milder dialogue runs like this: "Moving softly, Raven stepped behind and shot him through the head. The gun made a little hissing sound. Then Raven looked at the girl and raised his gun. She saw the little black hole of the barrel pointing at her, and she hid her face in her hands. The heavy 45 bullet smashed two of her fingers before it blew the top of her head off."

His titles, too, have punch. "The Dead Stay Dumb," "Twelve Chinks and a Woman," "Lady—Here's Your Wrath."

James Hadley Chase isn't as tough as his books. He's got a wispy moustache, a slight stoop when he walks and, with his glasses on, he looks like a college professor. They had him writing RAF communications for a while during the Battle of Britain but that didn't turn out well. He couldn't get out of the habit of spilling blood in every paragraph.

For his new play, they've remodelled the interior of the London Hippodrome into a replica of an American night club. Audiences will sit around what will be not only a stage but a floor where they can dance during intermissions to the down-beat of a colored Boogie-Woogie piano player. They are going to get a load of fast hoofing, murder, undraped blondes, American gangsters and Tommy guns.

During the gang-war climax, the din is terrific. The producers hope there will be no realistic competition from German bombs to further upset any touchy audiences.

Office Open Day and Night Except on Sunday Afternoon 1211-12 Texas Avenue

For The Love Of Pete

BY BURTON BENJAMIN Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

That Girl on Broadway says many people are so poor in the virtues that they can't afford the luxury of telling the truth.

We're getting considerably fed up with history repeating itself—the big bore!

WELL, we see by the papers where Governor Olson, of California, has given an unconditional pardon to Richard Krebs, self-confessed ex-convict—former Russian espionage agent and Communist saboteur, whose book, "Out of the Night" carries his pen name, "Jan Vatin."

That gives the California governor a batting average of about 1,000 per cent in the pardoning league. He also pardoned Tom Mooney, whose conviction on a murder charge growing out of a Preparedness Parade bombing had been upheld by every court in the land for over two decades. All Krebs ever did was nearly kill one man in California because he failed to get his fault and work with might and main to tear down the American form of government and foment revolution; all Mooney did—according to the testimony and decision of the trial jury in his case—was to bring death and injury to a flock of people cheering their country at a time of great national danger.

Both these gentlemen should, of course, be decorated with medals. They represent the fine, upstanding type of citizenry we need in times like these.

Speaking of Krebs, or if you please, "Vatin," reminds us that he is scheduled to "lecture" in Plainview within the next few days, sponsored by the Plainview Rotary club.

Right here and now, we hasten to shout that what our good friends in Plainview, or in the Plainview Rotary club, do is none of our business. But as a South Plains citizen and as a West Texan, we sorrow at the spectacle of a fine group of neighbors sponsoring the man Krebs in such a good American community as Plainview.

We can see some reason for people's wanting to see a man who "confessed all" in a best seller and who presents himself as a "reformed Communist" who spread strife, disorder and physical violence (according to his story) over several nations.

But instead of being paraded as a "lecturer," we think it would be better to cart him around the country in an air-conditioned glass cage and let the curious gawk at him at two or three cities over several nations.

You know, like Ringling Brothers show Gargantua, the gorilla.

DRIVING across the country last Sunday morning, we happened to tune the car radio onto one of the chain programs which was presenting the men's chorus and glee club of Elmhurst college, Elmhurst, Illinois.

For 30 minutes or more, the young gentlemen of the Illinois school presented a series of songs which must have greatly pleased an overwhelming majority of listeners, just as the presentation pleased The Plainsman. It was a swell program and it set us thinking about a subject which, from time to time in recent years, has crossed our mind.

That subject is: Why doesn't Texas Tech have a glee club?

There are few types of entertainment superior to a good men's glee club.

And what is also important to this college community is the fact that there are a few better mediums of advertising for an educational institution.

Time was when glee clubs, both male and female, were any college's best advertising, but perhaps football has supplanted the musical organizations to a great extent.

Yet the fact remains that a good glee club at Texas Tech would be good for the college, as well as offer the entertainment to thousands over West Texas and New Mexico.

WITH the right sort of showmanship and business management, a college musical organization can be made to pay its own way—and then some.

We need to look no further away than Abilene and Hardin-Simmons' famed Cowboy band to prove that point. And the Cowboy band has given Hardin-Simmons more national and international publicity and goodwill than all of its good football teams, combined.

Some years ago, the University of Oklahoma had a glee club simply glittering with stars—musical and otherwise. One of its stars, who did humorous recitations and chalk-talks between musical renditions, became so well known and so popular in every cross-roads village in the Sooner state that he skyrocketed first into the House of Representatives at Washington and two years later, into the United States Senate where today he is

THE STORY: Where is Pete Laird, here of State's opening game with California? His sweet-heart Anne Humphreys, his team captain and best friend George Landers, his coach Dinty Dugan, and 500 alumni, are waiting at the hotel for him. They do not know that Hollywood star Stephanie Stevens had asked Pete to meet her after the game, but they soon learn that the two of them were in an automobile crash in which Stephanie's chauffeur was killed; late papers come out with the story. Fulsland and Anne take a train back to State, without seeing Pete, whose head is turned by Stephanie's smooth compliments, her kiss, her invitation to a party at her home. Stephanie's conversation with her manager, Larry Winship, remains that she has attached herself to Pete only for his publicity value.

ALONE WITH STEPHANIE CHAPTER IV

Glasses tinkled and conversation buzzed as Pete Laird and Sterling Rand walked down the stairs to Stephanie Stevens' recreation room. A sudden hush fell over the guests as they descended. All eyes rested on Rand and the trim, athletic young man at his side. Stephanie's intimate little party proved to be quite an affair. The room was full of people. Verbose Larry Winship stepped forward. "Good people"—he ordered like an over-stuffed ward-heeler—"may I present to you America's greatest sports figure—the one, the only, the incomparable—Pete Laird!"

"Clear, hear!" shouted the guests. Whistles and cheers filled the room. Pete felt himself reddening. Stephanie stepped forward. She wore a sleek black gown that doubled her stunning figure. "Don't let that introduction throw you, Pete," she reassured, clasping his hand. "Come on, I'll introduce you around."

Guests stepped forward eagerly to shake Pete's hand and utter some choice bit of adulation. There were familiar names and faces in that crowd. Important figures in the movie industry. It seemed fantastic to be the center of attraction in such a gathering. Yet Pete was fairly mobbed.

Someone shoved a Scotch and soda in his hand. He drank it hurriedly in an attempt to relieve the tension. More drinks followed. Pete soon became articulate and joined the party. Guests prodded him with questions, dangling on every word.

The rest of the evening was a rushing panorama that Pete relished. He kissed her, they drank too many drinks, and suddenly he realized the room was empty and he and Stephanie one of the New Deal's chief spokesmen. He was—and is—Joshua Bryan, a "fish" in cities and towns in Oklahoma when the O. U. glee club came to put on a show. It was a "big event" for Tulsa and Oklahoma City, the state's two metropolises, just as it was in such whistling posts as Okemah, Muskogee, Okemah and Waurika. Folk turned out in droves and they liked the Oklahoma glee club.

We suspect that every community over a several hundred mile radius from Lubbock—if not in all Texas—would like a good glee club program from Texas Tech.

Anyhow, it appears to us that a male glee club for Tech is something to think about.

What do you think, Doctor Blitz?

Of course, it's too late to do anything about it now. But we've been spending considerable time lately trying to figure out whether we were born into this world too soon—or too late!

That Man on Avenue Q says the only way to end trouble and strife and war and we in this world would be to repeal or largely amend human nature.

OPINIONS PURELY PERSONAL: Among the most attractive and charming of Lubbock's younger matrons is Mrs. James G. Allen, wife of the Tech dean and an assistant professor of journalism in her own right. "We'd gladly go in debt $1,000 if we could play an organ like Maestro Bernardo Howell, and another $1,000 if we could share his talent of being mildly amused rather than all worked up over this cock-eyed world. You should add to your list of unusually pretty young women the name of Mrs. Aetna Christie, wife of the west Broadway merchant."

A girl we know quit her job as a maid in the home of a Texas Tech professor.

She says she got tired of running from the keyhole to the dictionary during the many quarrels she overheard between the professor and his wife.

A GREAT RESERVOIR OF DEFENSE

From numerous seemingly authoritative sources have come assurances of late that the small industries of the nation—industries like some to be found in Lubbock and other South Plains towns and cities—are to have a share in the national defense program. The least that can be said of this prospect is that something of the kind is long past due.

Individually, the small factories and shops may be small. Collectively, they represent a tremendous producing capacity. Being small, converting their individual potentialities into useful national defense production should be neither expensive nor difficult nor greatly time-taking. Furthermore, through them could be spread some of the national defense spending to large areas of the nation which have experienced the rising costs but none of the benefits of the industrial boom.

Actually bringing the small industries into the picture should serve the double purpose of speeding the defense effort and of equalizing the economic problems that have mushroomed with the emergency.

Next-headed, exhilarated, he sat next to her on the divan. He rested his head on the back of the couch and felt his cheek brush her shoulder.

"You've had quite a day, darling," she said tenderly. "Four touchdowns in the afternoon, an auto accident for dinner, and you captivate the movie colony in the evening."

"And you?" he whispered, drawing closer. "I'm afraid I'm more than captivated," she said in a low voice. Her lips were only a few inches from his. He kissed her, gently at first, then with a passion that made the blood pound in his head.

"Oh, darling, darling," she murmured. "Stephanie... honey," he whispered, crushing her in his arms.

Pete staggered into his hotel room at 4 that morning. The liquor had left him soggy. His head ached and he was dog-tired. Tiptoeing into the room, he threw himself on the bed, not bothering to undress.

Suddenly the light flicked on, and Landers sat up in bed, rubbing his eyes. "Where've you been?" he grumbled.

"None of your business," snapped Pete. "Yes, it is, brother," retorted Landers, now fully awake. "It's my business until this season's over."

He got out of bed and walked over to Pete. "Been drinking, huh?" he growled. "Not enough, Anne," the team and 500 alumni in the lurch! Sure, that's fine! Double-cross the whole bunch for some Hollywood tramp."

Pete bolted out of bed. "Say that again, and I'll tear you apart!" Landers laughed. "Why, your stew-bum, I could break you in two when you're sober. Drunk, I wouldn't dirty my hands," he sneered.

Pete had to push Landers away but he was too tired, too dizzy. Landers grabbed his collar and pulled him close. "Listen, punk," he snarled. "I'm not going to say this again. I thought you were too smart a guy to kick away everything you have at stake. But that's your business. The team's my business, and if you pull any more funny stuff, I'll shove Laird away. "G-wan to bed."

Foggly Pete tried to protest, but he could scarcely keep his eyes opened. He undressed, slumped into bed and was snoring before Landers had fallen back to sleep. Next morning, State's squad hopped a bus for the airport. Laird sat alone. The players shunned him. As the bus plodded toward the field, Pete tried to Pete's thoughts returned to Stephanie. He felt a funny little ache that was new to him. Anne had never affected him that way. Was he falling in love with this incredibly love girl?

WHY doesn't some newspaper assign its dramatic critic to review the hamming of any of those elite first night audiences? Why do so many of the radio comedians still use the same jokes that helped murder vaudeville? Is Sen. Wheeler going to sue "The Face" for those libelous cracks? Only one appeal. CONGRESSMAN SHERIDAN said millions of workers in private industry through their unions secure increased wages, but organized government workers do not have the same avenue of collective bargaining. They can only come to Congress and ask for relief. He said a government survey in 1939 showed that the cost of living at maintenance level for a manual-worker's family of four in Washington was $1,467.76 a year. This means that 44 per cent of the government employees—some 125,000—were necessary to support a manual worker's family.

One striking fact is the small number of government employees who are enrolled in unions. According to their own figures, there are 75,000 in the National Federation of Federal Employees, 40,000 in the American Federation of Government Employees and 27,000 in the United Federal Workers of America. That adds up to only about 10 per cent of government employees.

The American Federation of Government Employees is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the United Federal Workers are affiliated with CIO. The latter has announced it intends to drive toward enrolling 1,000,000 members. Michael Widman, assistant director of CIO organization, directed the campaign among employees of the Ford Motor company successfully, and has been assigned this new job. The CIO affiliate was founded in 1937, and has 203 locals of which 30 are in the District of Columbia. It is all CIO unions, it does not WANTS MOVING COSTS THE OLDEST organization in the National Federation of Federal Workers, founded in 1917. Formerly affiliated with AFL, it withdrew in 1931. NFEW has 722 locals, 13 being in Washington. In addition to the planks common to all three organizations, it demands a shorter work week and allowance for transportation costs if employees are transferred from one city to another.

The American Federation of Government Employees was founded in 1932. It has 600 locals, 77 in Washington. Among its planks are demands for a bonus of $240 a year to offset the present increased cost of living, a five-day week, and establishment of a board of appeals to hear complaints of employees about decisions of the Civil Service commission.

The right of government employees to organize in unions was conferred upon them by an act of Congress, approved Aug. 24, 1917, but that organization has progressed slowly. Maybe it will be different now with hot-shot organizers at work for CIO.

Uncle Sam Is Getting A Taste Of Organized Workers

New Bill Would Raise Federal Employees' Pay

BY NEIL BRONNER NEA Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Uncle Sam is a stingy boss who ought to pay many of his civilian employees a better wage.

Such is the claim of three rival national organizations of federal employees, the National Federation of Federal Employees, the American Federation of Government Employees and the United States Workers of America.

They have many differing planks in their platforms, but all agree on three things: A pledge in their constitutions that they will not tolerate strikes against the government.

A desire for extra pay for overtime and night work. A minimum wage of $1,500 a year.

The government is the biggest employer of labor in the country. In the executive branches, there are 1,391,687 workers, 185,182 being right here in the capital. A survey made in 1937 by the Civil Service Commission showed that 92 per cent of all government employees outside the postal service received less than $3,000 a year. 71 per cent got less than $2,000; 44 per cent made less than $1,500, and 11 per cent less than $1,000.

To remedy this, Congressman John E. Sheridan of Philadelphia introduced a bill which provides that every annual compensation year, 71 per cent shall be increased to more than $1,200 and less than $3,200 shall be increased $300, except that $3,000 employees shall get $200 more and the $3,100 employees shall get $100 more. Hourly wage rates would be increased 10 cents an hour.

POUR ME MORE OF THOSE MOUNTAINS, JANE!

ISN'T IT EXPENSIVE?

NOT FOLGER'S! IT'S SO FLAVORFUL I USE 1/4 LESS!

Jane's not the only one! Over 7,000 women write: they use 1/4 less of Folger's—and get better-tasting coffee in the bargain! Unlike most other coffees (up to 3 out of 4 are lowland grown), Folger's is nurtured in crystal-clear mountain air, rain, sunshine and vigorous volcanic soil! Get Folger's... for taste-thrilling flavor no lowland coffee can match!

Japanese Introduce Dreaded Gas On Major Scale In War On China

"U. S. Will Find Out, Too, If They Fight Japs," Is Warning

The first serious gas attack of the "Hundred Days" war is described in this exclusive NEA Service dispatch from Betty Graham, 24-year-old Seattle girl who was with the Chinese forces on the Ichang front at the time. Miss Graham is a well-known member of the small American colony in the beleaguered Chinese capital of Chungking.

(By NEA Service)

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 4.—Was it only 48 hours ago that victory had seemed so certain?

In the first counter-offensive of four war years, Chinese troops had marched on Ichang. The commander, at headquarters, guaranteed Ichang would fall—a day or two and I'd be drinking beer in the city, he promised.

Was Vital Step

And Ichang's recapture would signal China's long-awaited all-out counter-offensive, would herald the march on Hankow. Its recapture would reestablish direct contact between north and south China, would give China back 100 vital miles of Yangtze river, would open up another rice area for China's hungry millions.

Everyone was tense with excitement. Telephones jangled incessantly. Messengers rushed in and out. Too much was at stake to notice the Japanese bombers rampant overhead or to hear the heavy cannons roaring on all sides.

Nothing mattered but the wireless messages from the troops at Ichang's wall. They sounded wonderful at first.

"3:10 a. m. . . Shock troops enter the city . . . heavy street fighting continues . . ."

"3:28 a. m. . . Three regiments ordered rush forward enter city."

Victory Seemed Certain

No one doubted the outcome. The commander opened a bottle of port and we toasted the success of his strategy.

"Our victory will be America's also," he replied.

More messages.

"3:47 a. m. . . Japanese artillery across Yangtze river opened fire . . . heavy barrage, but main force still going forward . . ."

The commander seemed unconcerned.

"They're firing blindly into the darkness," he explained. "We'll have the town before dawn."

Then came a fourth message.

"4:14 a. m. . . Enemy using gas . . . three batteries in our rear opened fire with gas shells . . ."

Then It Struck

The faces of the officers hardened. A half hour later it was worse.

"4:43 a. m. . . Enemy increasing gas barrage . . . sounds of street fighting quieting . . . fear shock troops being wiped out . . ."

Japanese reinforcements believed crossing river, also coming up from rear . . .

4:52 a. m. . . Making last effort—capture city before dawn . . . morale high despite continued gas attacks . . . casualties heavy

And then . . .

5:03 a. m. . . Ordered attack Ichang cease . . . concentrating holding positions.

"Messages Of Horror"

Still they came, these messages of horror.

"Gas barrage continuing" . . .

"Sixty enemy planes released gas bombs" . . .

"No sounds fighting within city" . . .

"Estimate 3000 casualties, one-fourth result gas" . . .

We could deny it to ourselves no longer. The Japanese had saved Ichang by resorting to the only weapon by which they could hope to hold it—by gas, from guns and airplanes.

"Where's the commander?" I asked. "I must go up the line and see some of the gas victims."

"The commander's staff looked at me with sad, tired eyes.

"He's in his room alone. He's crying. So many soldiers . . . they had no chance . . ."

"But I must get pictures of them. There have been many unconfirmed reports of Japanese using gas. No one in America will believe it without pictures."

"What difference does it make if they believe it or not in America?" demanded an angry voice from the doorway. The commander strode into the room, his face drawn and lined from days without sleep.

"What difference will it make now? The Japanese have used it many times before . . . but never like this . . . never as much as this . . ."

He stood in front of me, and suddenly his anger was gone.

"If the Americans don't believe our enemy uses gas," he said with resignation, "they'll find out soon enough if ever they fight Japan too. They'll see their soldiers fall and die like this . . ."

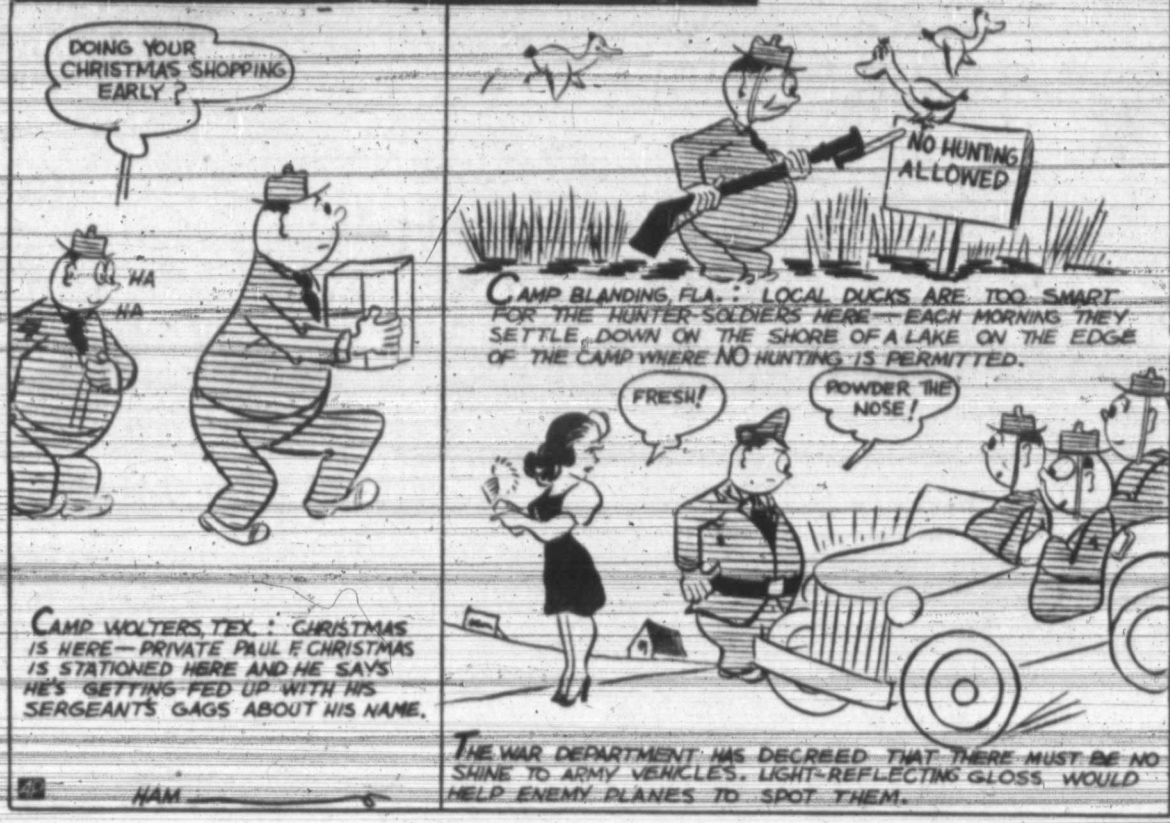

Chinese Retreat

That afternoon Chinese troops began withdrawing from the Ichang front. Their attack had depended on swift surprise action, but that attack had been broken by an unanticipated weapon.

And now, two days later, at my feet sprang a few of those struck down by that weapon—only a few because most had died on the battlefield. Here in a tunnel of a railway never completed, in a black cavern echoing with screams, moans, retching, hysterical sobbing, signs of hopelessness, here lie 300 broken bodies symbolizing China's broken hopes.

In tight-packed rows they lie upon the straw-carpeted floor. Their thin cotton uniforms are stiff with blood. Eyes bandaged with red-stained cloth. Muscles twitching to move limbs no longer there. A soldier with bandaged feet feeding another with two taped hands. A third, his face turned to the wall, crying softly.

Scene Was Horrible

And in a corner, the victims of Lewisite gas—their skins blackened as if by powder burns, flaming scarlet patches glisten where blisters have broken as if some hideous disease has torn the skin away. These blisters—some puff out like ping-pong balls, others spread over half a back and hang heavily with the weight of water inside.

A Polish doctor working for the Chinese Red Cross had told me that some gas remains inside these watery blisters eating away at the flesh until the blister is opened. He said that after treating gassed victims, his own hands and arms began to itch from contact with this released chemical.

Two gas victims are carried outside for me to take their pictures. One is a young machine-gunner, the other his assistant platoon commander. Both were wounded during the first gas attack on Ichang's outskirts. The commander, Wei Tso-kan, is able to sit up and describe his feelings during the barrage.

"On October 17th we drove the Japanese 13th Division headquarters back from Tungshanshih, the district just south of Ichang's airfield," Wei explains. "I had 28 men in my unit with orders to 'defend Tungshanshih to the death.' The enemy counter-attacked furiously, but throughout the night and the next day we held our position."

"A Strange Feeling . . ."

"More of our troops kept coming up and by the night of the 20th the battle was very hot. Shells came at us from all directions—we had slipped through the enemy's circle of mountain strongholds guarding Ichang and some of their strongest gun emplacements were at our rear. It was dark and we couldn't tell how things were going in other sectors. Everything was chaos and noise."

"Then . . . I had a strange feeling that something was wrong . . . not exactly fear. Suddenly I realized what it was. The shells were exploding about us with a queer soft noise. There was a curious fragrance in the air. In the light of flares I saw a mist swirling close to the ground."

"My eyes started watering. My soldiers were crying too. What was happening? My nostrils burned and I started coughing violently. We were all choking and grasping, but we continued fighting and didn't feel it was very serious. But two hours later my skin began to itch and burn all over, especially under my clothes."

"Within 15 minutes huge blisters full of fluid formed on my back and neck and continued to spread. The pain became agonizing and even the pressure of my clothing against them was almost unbearable."

"Some of the men ripped off their uniforms . . . even that was little relief. I started to vomit and fell to the ground . . . my muscles wouldn't respond . . . I was becoming paralyzed. The others were also falling down in frightful pain—blinded, vomiting and choking. Some, I think, suffocated very quickly, but the rest of us didn't lose consciousness—for a long time though we could no longer speak."

"I guess it was four hours be-

Cashiers Always Are Ready For English

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP)—A British army cashier, member of the Royal Army Pay Corps, went with the troops to Spitzbergen, taking with him enough money to pay British and Canadian troops their wages, and cash to buy stores for them.

The men in Tobruk are paid every Friday without fail. A cashier arrives with the money by sea or air.

When pay day comes, there is the cashier and there is the cash. Members of the pay corps travel hundreds of miles across the desert every week in the Middle East to pay the troops.

"On the dot, that's how we pay," says the men of the pay corps.

Sometimes the field cashiers have to get rid of their money in a big hurry. Cashiers at Dunkirk made stacks of their notes and buried them.

Some of the cashiers who went with the army to Greece and Crete have never been heard of since.

fore the stretcher came for us. But, there were only eight left alive to take away."

"How can Chinese soldiers combat a gas attack?" I asked. They have no equipment against chemical warfare. What can they do? He clenched his fist defiantly.

"They can do nothing . . . nothing but stay and die."

REFUGEES BOTH—Hanna Pillarska, 4, and friend arrive in New York aboard Excambion from France.

and shows Americans that IT COULD HAPPEN HERE!

With rising prices, higher cost of living, scarcities, priorities and restrictions on goods, all Americans will want to see this important issue of The March of Time.

In This film you will meet the Davis Family—typical Americans who, like countless thousands of our fellow-citizens, are sacrificing their time and energy to work as volunteers for national defense . . .

See their "all out" fight for victory, to make secure our country's freedom and future prosperity!
