Lubbock Responds To Call Of Red Cross

First Reports Show $4,764 For Campaign

Intensive Drive To Get $14,800 Will Be Staged

Lubbock residents proved with their cash this morning their support of the American Red Cross effort to raise a war emergency fund of $50,000,000.

Less than three hours after the actual start of the effort to provide the Lubbock county quota of $14,800, contributions approximated—perhaps exceeded—$5,000.

Only Partial Reports These represented partial reports from some of the "special gifts" groups who had started work after a 9 a. m. meeting in the hotel with W. H. Evans, general chairman of the campaign.

Support Is General The largest individual contributions reported up to noon were $200. There were many of those.

It will mark the beginning of the general solicitations campaign when a committee headed by De Witt Landis "will comb Lubbock with a fine-tooth comb," the chairman said.

Not A "Dollar Campaign" It will be this phase of the campaign which is to determine whether the Lubbock county quota will be reached, Evans declared.

House Passes Big Navy Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The House unanimously passed today and sent to the Senate today legislation to authorize construction of an additional 150,000 tons of naval fighting ships.

Expansion measure was approved after a brief explanation by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House naval committee, who said that the additional tonnage did not include any battleships.

Flurry Of Criticism A brief flurry of criticism developed when Representative Johnson (D-Okl.) wanted to know why the Navy should continue building battleships after the destruction of such ships by air attack demonstrated that "we can't win this war with battleships."

Later, Vinson ordered that his remark about "ignorance" on Johnson's part be stricken from the record, saying "instead that the Oklahoma man was 'in error as"

NAVY CAPTURES TOKYO'S LATEST INNOVATION OF MODERN WARFARE Japan Using Deadly Two-Man, Midget Subs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The Navy announced today there were indications that the two-man Japanese submarine captured in Pearl Harbor during the Dec. 7 attack was launched from a ship about 100 miles off the island of Oahu to participate in the surprise assault.

Disclosing for the first time a detailed description and operating data on the two-man submarines, the Navy said that these craft were in effect suicide ships, with a cruising radius of approximately 200 miles at low speed.

There are indications, the Navy said, that the submarine captured on the island of Oahu had made a run of 100 miles to join in the attack.

The captive midget sub is 41 feet long, has a beam of five feet and a conning tower four and one-half feet above the deck.

Craft of this type are of such size that they could be carried on the deck of larger vessels and launched overboard by the same cranes and facilities used for handling the small boats of a combat ship.

Constructed of one-quarter inch plate, the hull is divided into five compartments, two of which are occupied by the electric batteries used for operating the motors. The ships are manned by one officer and one-rated man.

The electric motors give the undersea craft a designed top speed of 24 knots. One of the surprising revelations was that the little submarine carried two 18-inch torpedoes, just a little smaller than the 21-inch torpedoes carried in regular American submarines.

"The ship also carries a 300-pound charge of high explosive under the stern, wired to the battery so it can be used as a demolition charge either for the submarine itself in case of attack, or against ship or harbor objectives," the Navy said.

British Desert Forces Close In On Nazis

British desert armies in North Africa have swept 70 miles west of Tobruk and slashed into the heart of strongly-held Axis positions in a great new battle of tanks and men, Cairo headquarters reported today.

British armored forces have now brought to battle all remaining German tank units in Libya, it was reported, and are threatening to cut off Gen. Erwin Rommel's army entirely.

Oil Test May Be Abandoned

Present prospects are that an option to drill a wildcat oil test on the 880-acre city disposal plant tract southeast of Lubbock will not be exercised.

Unless there is a change in the outlook, they were told, N. C. Walter and Earl Smith, East Texas oil operators, probably will surrender their lease on the land when it expires Dec. 30.

Mighty Assaults Face Singapore And Hongkong

U. S. BOMBERS SLASH INVADERS IN LUZON AREA; JAP TRANSPORT HIT

U. S. Army bombers were reported slashing violently at Japan's sea-borne expeditionary force off Luzon island in the Philippines today, seriously damaging an enemy transport, while American defense forces were credited with shooting down four Japanese fighting planes.

The crippling attack on the Japanese transport was off Legaspi, 200 miles southeast of Manila, a War department bulletin said.

"No change in the situation reported from other areas," the communique said.

Other reports indicated that the Japanese, badly stung in attempts to invade the Philippines, had slackened their drive against Luzon island and were striking hardest at British (North) Borneo, Malaya and Hongkong.

Informed London quarters acknowledged that Hongkong, Britain's second biggest stronghold in the Far East, might have to be evacuated and that a serious threat to Singapore had developed in land fighting on the Malay peninsula.

The German radio-quoted Tokyo reports that Japanese troops had invaded parts of Hongkong island, but there was no confirmation elsewhere.

British Admit Situation Serious Previously, the British had acknowledged withdrawing their forces from Kowloon, on the mainland, separated by a narrow stretch of water from Hongkong island.

"British lack of naval superiority has changed the entire situation in the island," the source said. "The British land defense was planned on the basis of naval superiority, but both the British and United States fleets have suffered hard blows."

Now the naval situation has allowed the Japanese to develop an offensive on a large scale. There definitely is danger—a real threat to Singapore by land."

New Onslaught Expected Several British quarters expressed doubt that Hongkong could hold out indefinitely against the concentrated Japanese attack.

Observers in Manila said the let-up in Japanese pressure against Luzon island meant that the Mikado's invasion forces were moving fresh troops and supplies into position off the island coast, resting pilots, overhauling planes, and generally preparing for a powerful new attack.

Meanwhile, two new developments indicated that Russia, with her armies now throwing the Germans back to the west, may soon take an active role in the 10-day-old battle of the Pacific.

Soviet Aid "Assured" In London, Major Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal, told Parliament that "all necessary steps" were being taken to coordinate the military plans of Britain, Russia and the United States.

In Canberra, Australia's Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt disclosed that his country was working "for a full alliance between Russia and the enemies of Japan."

"If and when the military situation becomes stabilized to Russia's advantage, we can reasonably look forward to aid against Japan," Evatt declared.

Heavy Fighting Rages Russia's ultimate design against Japan can hardly be concealed, and in the long run it will be to Russia's advantage to dispose once and for all of the Japanese threat to Vladivostok and eastern Siberia.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters reported that sea-borne Japanese troops, buffeted by a gale, had succeeded in gaining a foothold at dawn on the coast of Borneo, which lies within 600 miles bombing range of Manila.

Simultaneously, London quarters reported "very heavy fighting" between British and Japanese troops in the jungles of Malaya, where Japanese mechanized forces (Turn to Page 6, Column 4, Please)

FDR Asks That Draft Include 19-Year-Olds

President Wants Big Pool Of Men To Meet Dangers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Recommending that the minimum age for induction into military service be lowered from 21 to 19, President Roosevelt said today that the nation should have a sufficiently large pool of men in its armed forces "to meet all contingencies now foreseeable."

The president made his recommendation in identical letters to Vice President Wallace, Senate Democratic Leader Barkley and Senate Republican Leader McNary.

Legislation Considered The Senate military committee now is considering legislation which would make all persons from 21 through 44 liable for military service and would require all persons from 18 to 64, inclusive, to register.

Under the present law, those from 21 through 35 can be drafted, but only men between 21 and 28 have been called recently.

The War department previously had suggested that the minimum age for service be reduced from 21 to 19.

In effect, this represented an appeal from yesterday's action of the House military committee, which approved the department's request for broadening the registration limits, to take in all men from 18 through 64, but voted to make only those from 21 through 44 liable for military service.

Opposition, Has Arisen While predicting a speedy favorable report on the bill, Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Senate group told reporters some opposition had arisen not only to lowering the age minimum to 19, but to expanding the upper age bracket from the present 35 to take in all men 44 years of age or younger.

Another committee member said testimony before the group indicated the Army was much more eager to bring the 2,400,000 men from 19 through 31 into the active service group than it was the older men.

Indications were, this member said, that 1,400,000 soldiers could be obtained from the younger classification and only 400,000 from the older.

Beyond that, Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) said he thought it would be useless to register men above 35 because they probably would never be used for military service.

But Senator Austin of Vermont, the assistant Republican leader, remarked that the bigger pool of men would permit more selection.

Congratulations To: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Smith of Lubbock route 3 on birth of a son weighing 8 1/2 pounds at 12:10 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's hospital. Smith is a mechanic.

Drastic Reduction In Weather Forecasts For Public Ordered

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The weather bureau today discontinued weather maps, long-range forecasts, most wind, fog and cloud data, and some rain and other crop information which might be useful to enemies.

F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the weather bureau, said that generally the only weather information to be given out publicly would be limited to temperature extremes expected in a 25-hour period.

SAYS SHE'LL WED HUGHES—You have the word of Faith Dorn, 17-year-old actress from New Orleans, that she's engaged to millionaire producer Howard Hughes, but that they won't be married for awhile.

Hoover Urges Price Control

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Former President Herbert Hoover urged Congress today to give President Roosevelt the "widest latitude" in legislation establishing wartime controls over prices and commodities.

"We cannot know what the situation may be a year or five years hence," Hoover told the Senate banking committee as he drew from his experience as food administrator during the last World War to suggest a 14-point program for controlling prices and commodities.

War Changes Problem Still ruddy-cheeked, the only living former president shook hands with nearby senators and waved to veteran Senator Glass (D-Va.) before he began reading a prepared statement at the special committee table.

Only a few spectators were in the large committee room as he began his testimony.

Mr. Hoover said he agreed with Leon Henderson, defense price administrator, that declarations of war had changed the entire situation since the House passed a price control bill.

"The problem has moved from the limited area of preparedness to the direct field of total national mobilization to fight a long and desperate war," the witness said. "This change makes even a wider degree of controls imperative."

Nazi Spy Suspect Arrested With Many Letters From Service Men

Man Found In Army Uniform

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—Authorities held the first spy suspect of the war today "Baron" Ernst Frohlich de Meyer, 27, a German, who was caught in an American Army officer's uniform near important local harbor defenses.

In his apartment, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents found Army, Navy, and Marine corps uniforms, a short wave broadcasting transmitter, more than 200 letters written to de Meyer by an American sailor and soldiers and what appeared to be much data on coast defenses.

Might Face Death
De Meyer, having been arrested while the country is at war, is subject to trial before a military court under the espionage act of 1916. If convicted, he could be sentenced to "death or imprisonment for not more than 30 years."

The FBI held him incommunicado. The investigation, its agents said, was incomplete. They did not know when he entered the United States or if his title was authentic.

The contents of letters from members of the United States armed forces were frequently underscored, the agents said. Their senders will be questioned.

Two Powerful Cars
De Meyer supposedly had been in the automobile parking business. In his shop were two powerful and expensive Duesenberg automobiles registered in his name.

Police halted de Meyer in the harbor area for a traffic violation but their suspicions were aroused when he paid for his Army officer's coat and put on a civilian coat carried in the car. They took him to jail and called the FBI.

$1,000,000 Worth Of Talent Serves Free For Broadcast

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Corp. Jimmy Stewart, on one-day leave from camp, introduced the president of the United States last night in one of the most unusual radio programs ever heard.

It was the Bill of Rights broadcast, put on the air from Hollywood and then switched to Washington for an address by President Roosevelt.

Acting talent which would cost $1,000,000 a year at a conservative estimate participated without pay and, in most cases, anonymously. The talent included Actor Stewart who hurried from the studio after the broadcast to catch a train so he wouldn't overstay his leave.

Archibald MacLeish, librarian of Congress and a well known poet, got the idea for the program and took it to President Roosevelt who approved it.

W. B. Lewis, vice president of Columbia Broadcasting System and now on loan to the office of facts and figures in Washington, lined up a "million dollar" cast including Lionel Barrymore, Edward Arnold, Walter Brennan, Bob Burns, Walter Huston, Edward G. Robinson, Rudy Vallee, Orson Welles, Marjorie Main and Stewart.

Barrymore opened the broadcast and then turned it over to Stewart as narrator. The program traced the development of the Bill of Rights and then Stewart introduced President Roosevelt.

The actors' parts were not identified and the listening public could not be certain who was enacting which role until the end of the broadcast.

Eight Persons Die In Flames

Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 16.—Eight persons perished today, state police reported, in a fire which destroyed a convalescent home several miles west of here in the town of Rotterdam.

The building was a two-story wooden structure, formerly a private home, converted a year ago into the Riverside convalescent home. The site is about four miles west of the Schenectady plant of the General Electric company.

Police reported the fire, of undetermined origin, broke out shortly after 8 a. m. (EST) and spread quickly.

The victims were not immediately identified.

Scout Headquarters Are At Brownfield

Headquarters of John Boyle, Jr., new field executive of South Plains Boy Scout council, have been established temporarily in Brownfield, according to information given this morning by Jack O. Stone, council executive.

The headquarters from which the field executive will work in southern counties of the council will remain in Brownfield if suitable living quarters can be found for Mr. and Mrs. Boyle, Stone said. Otherwise, it will be necessary to transfer the headquarters elsewhere.

Stanton, who plans to leave Thursday for San Diego, Calif., to report for duty in the Marine corps, in which he enlisted recently.

Stone also announced that the annual meeting of the southern district executive committee, scheduled for Thursday night in the courthouse at Lamesa, has been postponed until Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. J. Henry Norris is district chairman.

Another report received at council headquarters was that Scout troop 113 has been formed in Shallowater under sponsorship of a community committee composed of J. H. Galey, B. T. Rucker, J. C. Johnson, L. Lindsey and D. R. Webber. C. H. Brown is scoutmaster. Troop members are E. L. Dickey, Robert Sport, Glenn York Johnson, Jimmie Wright, Walter Hobgood, Wendell Rhodes, Abie Reed and Wynell Lindsey. The first troop meeting is scheduled in the Shallowater town hall Monday night, Stone was advised.

Adolf Ordered To Take Rest

ANKARA, Dec. 15. (Delayed)—Informed German circles reported today that Adolf Hitler has gone to his Berchtesgaden mountain retreat under medical orders to "take a rest cure."

Hitler, these sources said, was warned by his physicians that he has seriously overstrained his physical capacity in recent months.

The advisers were said to have impressed upon Hitler the probable serious results of continuing to overtax his nervous system.

They were said to have advised Hitler to take a thorough rest cure.

Condition Of Gunshot Victim Is Unchanged

Condition of W. A. Neal, 30, victim of an accidental gunshot wound, remained almost unchanged this morning in Lubbock sanitarium, where he was taken about 1 o'clock from his 2704 Twenty-first street apartment.

Physicians said the slug of a .380 caliber gun had been fired into the abdominal region, piercing the liver and intestines.

Neal's outcome was described as "doubtful," but he was said to have required no blood transfusion. He was said to have done "fairly well" in the hours that had elapsed since he had been taken to the sanitarium. The "critical" period in such cases usually is the first three or four days, a physician said.

The employe of Quitaque Sand and Gravel company said his wife, Mrs. Alberta Neal, 40, told sanitarium physicians and police Neal had passed it over to Mrs. Neal. She said she believed the safety guard was locked and squeezed the trigger.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal had been married seven years.

A Plains ambulance transferred him to the sanitarium.

Japs' Thrust At Hongkong Poses Serious, Though Not Fatal, Blow

Strategic Base Is Endangered

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

Secretary Knox's report on the Pearl Harbor attack is but enough news in all conscience, especially as regards the loss of life and the statement that our services weren't on the alert, but the material damage revealed is so bone-crushing as most people had anticipated from the rumors which circulated and grew until they reached gargantuan proportions.

The colonel is a direct actionist and has tackled his uncomfortable job after that fashion. His bluntly told story is calculated to remove fears, and restore confidence not only at home but among our Allies who also have been living on biggest rumors for the past week.

London Incident Recalled
The manner in which Knox has made his investigation and handled his report reminds me of one day in London some years ago. The colonel, with the London correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, Negley Farnon, and I were faced with the necessity of getting across the city in a little open car which wouldn't hold more than two people no matter how much belts were tightened.

The colonel refused a seat, perched himself precariously on the side of the car, with his legs dangling over the side, and thus this distinguished gentleman was carried across one of the world's most conservative cities. That is a mild example of his methods of operation.

Marines Are Praised
Once more the word from Manila is that there has been no change in the position, and that is all to the good, for time fights on our side. Meanwhile we have the assurance that the Pacific fleet is busy and one must assume that almost any hour now our defenders in the Far East will be getting assistance.

By the way, a British general here in New York telephoned me to say that his people were thrilled by the magnificent stand being made by our marines at Wake and Midway islands. He paid the boys a grand tribute, and wound up by expressing the earnest hope that they would be able to hang on until relief came.

There may be bad news for the Allies if there is confirmation of the Japanese claim that they have landed an expeditionary force on the coast of British Borneo. This is a highly strategic position, stuck right in the heart of the Philippine-Singapore-Dutch East Indies area.

Japs Pose New Threat
Borneo would give the Japs a valuable naval and air base from which they could strike readily in all directions. This move is an indication that they may attack the Dutch East Indies in the rear of Singapore without waiting to try to knock the Great British base out.

Another British spot which is in trouble is the big naval base and port of Hongkong. The London newspapers today appear to be preparing the public for the loss of this possession which is one of the most important in the British Empire.

However, it can be said that if Hongkong does fall, its loss will not be fatal to the Allied set-up in the Far East. It would be a serious blow, of course, but Hongkong's importance is small as compared with Singapore. The Japanese capture of this historic place would mean this:

1. It would deprive the British of their strongest naval base next to Singapore, in the South China sea.
2. It would remove one prong of the Hongkong-Manila pincers which grip the South China sea.
3. It would deprive the British of a bomber base to reach such places as the Japanese island of Formosa and the Jap-occupied island of Hainan, off the coast of South China.
4. It would give the Japanese an additional air base from which to reach Manila and the rest of the Philippines.

So while the loss of Hongkong wouldn't be fatal, it would be a matter of grave concern.

Big Christmas For Kiddies Planned

A big Christmas is planned this year for the 20 children in the Lubbock Milan home. According to Mrs. W. T. Milan, founder and manager of the home, the children will hang their 20 stockings on the mantel above the fireplace like other children on Christmas eve and there'll be gifts, candy and nuts for everyone on Christmas morning.

Already Excited
The boys and girls are excited already and everyone from the youngest who is nearly old to the largest, who is 17, are busy this week preparing for Christmas activities. The younger children are decorating the house and Christmas tree, which will stand in the spacious living room. They are being left alone and must depend on their own ideas and originality.

Mrs. Milan said the old children have access to the kitchen, where they are busy baking Christmas cakes, candies and cookies. During the holidays, Mrs. Milan throws the kitchen doors open, and lets the children cook what they want and how they want. Mrs. Milan and the girls will prepare the big dinner which they plan to have Christmas day.

Many of the children have been asked into private homes for Christmas dinner. Some calls for children have come from places as far as Spur and one boy has been invited to make a holiday trip to Dallas.

To Have Program

Probably the biggest feature to the children will be the amateur program Christmas morning. Each child is working on some novel, stunt or performance he can give, for they will all have a part. The group will sing Christmas carols. They have prepared the program themselves, Mrs. Milan said.

Lubbock's more fortunate families, again, have an opportunity to express themselves this year by contributing to the home or by inviting one of the children to eat Christmas dinner. Several valuable contributions have already been received. The American

Ginnings For Area Increase

South Plains cotton ginnings, started late, are reaching a huge volume, according to the official ginnings report. Monday it revealed that ginnings in 19 South Plains counties to Dec. 1 totaled 319,010 bales, compared to 366,086 to the same date last year.

Ginnings for the 16 days between reports approximated 150,000 bales, nearly 10,000 bales a day. They exceeded the previous period and, at the same time, total for this year is 4,000 bales above the total on Nov. 14, 1940.

Lynn Tops Out Lubbock
Lynn county, nose-dipped Lubbock out for first place on the South Plains, topping the list with 43,699 bales to 43,433 for Lubbock. Lynn ranks seventh in the state up to Dec. 1 and Lubbock, eighth. Dawson, with 40,460 bales was third in the area and tenth in the state; Scurry was fourth in the area and 19th in the state.

Other area rankings included, Crosby, fifth; Dickens, sixth;

Legion donated the large tree which the children are now decorating; a Lubbock business man gave them their Christmas turkey; a service club is furnishing the milk for this year's festivities; and a bridge club has made a contribution for their Christmas party.

Cards Are Printed

Children there have block printed their own Christmas cards and most of them are making their own gifts. They drew names and will exchange gifts. The older girls are weaving or embroidering gifts. Most of the children are between 10 and 14 years old.

Letters to Santa Claus will be written this week and Mrs. Milan said that practically every child is asking for a pair of skates. Since the gifts which the homes furnishes are mostly clothing, she hopes that the children will receive several pair of skates and other toys from outside sources.

The big playroom recently opened in the basement affords them a place to skate, even in coldest weather.

COTTON CROP CUT

LITTLEFIELD—Recent developments indicate that the cotton crop of Lamb county will be considerably under expectations. It is now believed by cotton men and farmers that the crop may not exceed 45,000 to 50,000 bales, or nearly 20,000 bales under first estimates.

We The Women
BY RUTH MILLETT

Every man who has both a wife and a secretary should be interested in the divorce decision recently handed down by a Chicago judge. Interested—and alarmed.

For when the husband told the judge he couldn't afford to pay his estranged wife $15 a week temporary alimony, the judge told him to give his $30 a week secretary and give the job to his wife, at $15 a week.

Think how tough it is going to be on husbands if judges over the country decide that this Chicago judge had a bright idea and start handing down similar decisions.

If he advertised for the world's worst secretary, a man probably couldn't find a much poorer one than he would by taking on an estranged wife, forced to work out her alimony.

In the first place the average wife—like the one in the Chicago case—hasn't had any secretarial experience. And no matter how expertly a woman handles the job of homemaking, the experience doesn't teach her anything about the business world.

WIVES DON'T FALL INTO 'YES, SIR' PATTERNS
And as bad as that handicap is, the fact is that a man needs to have his secretary think—or pretend to think—that he is a great guy. No estranged wife, who has undoubtedly already told her husband just what kind of a heel she thinks he is, would be able to qualify along that line.

Then, too, a secretary is naturally a meek creature, saying "Yes, Sir" to all the boss's ideas, whether she thinks much of them or not—and being willing to take the blame for mistakes she knows are his. A wife, who for years has answered back, just couldn't fall into that "Yes, Sir" pattern.

And a woman who has been used to the I-can-put-it-off-if-I-want-to atmosphere of the home might treat letters dictated at five o'clock in a too casual manner. A wife can always leave the dishes—but a good secretary always gets the letters out before locking her desk for the night.

So, think about it a while, men, before you tell a judge you can't afford to pay your wife alimony. Maybe you'd rather hand it over willingly than have your wife work it out.

Although a flea's legs are only one-twentieth of an inch long, says a London scientist, it can jump seven feet.

Baptist Circles Attend Pre-Yule Gatherings

Reports of First Baptist Women's Missionary circle meetings Monday afternoon were as follows: Ann Judson, hostess, Mrs. O. W. English, 2809 19th St.; lesson, Mrs. Fred Litton; 9 members present. Annie Jenkins Sallee, hostess, Mrs. Minnie Fickas, 1610 Avenue L; lesson, Mrs. W. H. Trice; 7 members present. Rev. L. R. Reavis of the Plainview First Baptist church read a double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. J. T. Walters sang, accompanied by a Mrs. Goode who played the wedding march.

The couple stood before an altar of greenery and flowers. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a blue alpaca dress and carried gardenias on a white Bible, gift-of-her-aunt, Miss Otelia Masten, who was maid of honor. The latter wore a gold dress and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Lubbock Must Wait For Traffic Lights
The city of Lubbock will have to wait awhile before it gets any new traffic lights, city officials learned this morning from the Federal Office of Production Management.

The city, it was explained, has been seeking priority numbers with which to obtain lights to be installed at Fourteenth street and Avenue Q, Nineteenth and Q, Nineteenth and U and Broadway and T. They are needed principally to slow traffic at approaches to intersections much used by school children.

The priority number finally has been granted, officials said. It is number "B-1," which means it is far down the list and is not classified as essential to defense. Unless a higher classification can be obtained, officials believe, it is improbable the lights will be obtainable until the emergency improves.

Defense Work Being Mapped

(Special To The Journal)
AUSTIN, Dec. 16.—The county judges of the 254 counties of Texas and the mayors of the 636 cities and towns of the state now have in their possession detailed organization charts and suggestions for every phase of local defense work recommended by Federal and State defense agencies, Governor Coke Stevenson, chairman of the National Defense Committee for Texas, announced today.

Two broad divisions are proposed in the local defense organization—civilian protection (relating to emergency services in case of disaster), and community programs (designed to promote the general well-being of the population, to stimulate industrial production, etc.).

Divisions Are Proposed
Under the "civilian protection" section, defense divisions are proposed in the fields of fire, police, emergency medical service, public works and utilities. It was pointed out by the governor that these functions are essentially the responsibility of the public officials, assisted by such volunteers as they may need. A control center is provided for each locality and these emergency functions will be coordinated there.

Divisions suggested under "community programs" include: nutrition, public health, business and industrial cooperation with defense savings' sales organization, consumers' interests, education, housing, conservation, raw materials, recreation, welfare, and cooperation with the local chapters of the American Red Cross.

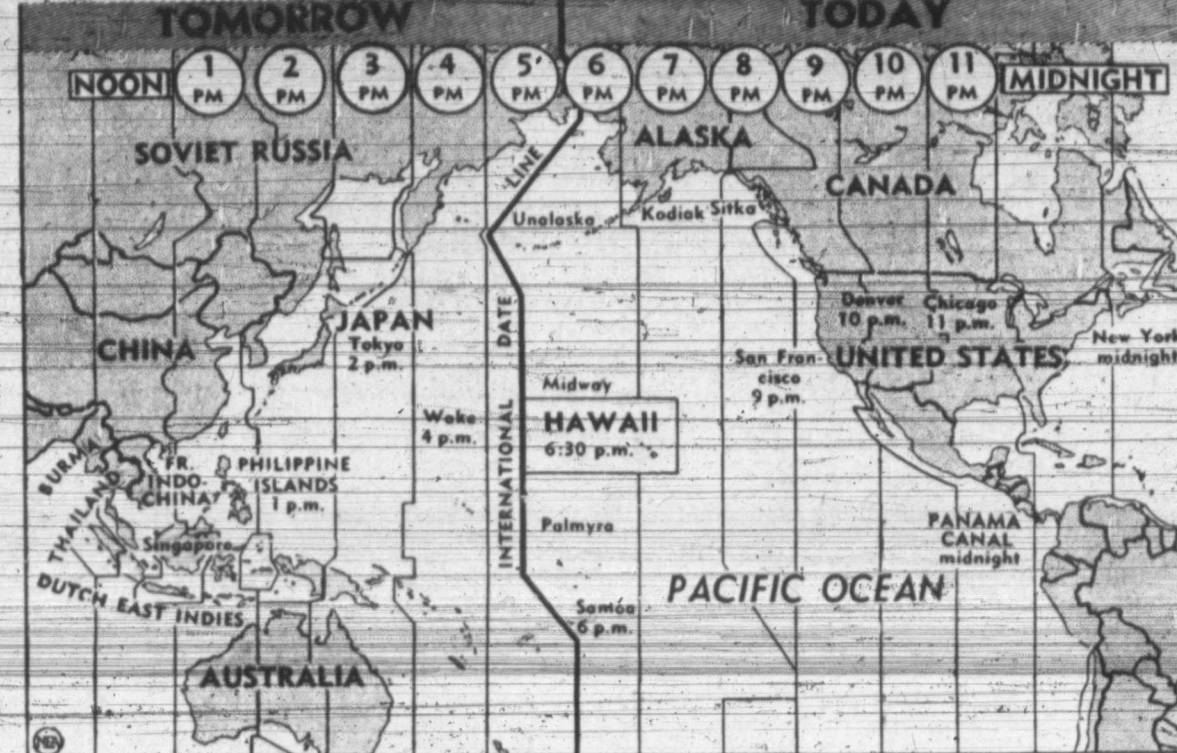

Two months ago, the governor, upon recommendation of the National Defense Committee for Texas, appointed the county judges as county defense coordinators for the areas outside the corporate limits of cities and towns, and the mayors as municipal coordinators for their several jurisdictions.

Supplementing the suggestions contained in bulletins which the governor is sending to the county and municipal defense coordinators every day, the various divisions of the state defense organization—such as health, police, fire, nutrition, and welfare—are sending to the appropriate local officials detailed outlines of the activities proposed in those several fields by the federal and state defense officials.

Committee Members Listed
The National Defense Committee for Texas consists of the Governor as chairman; the Lieutenant-Governor or President Pro Tem of the Senate as vice-chairman; the Secretary of State as executive secretary; and the following members: The Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Adjutant-General, the Attorney-General, the chairman of the Board of Public Welfare, the chairman of the Public Safety Commission, the chairman of the State Board of Control, the chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers, the chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, the chairman of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, the Commissioner of Agriculture, the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the President of the A. and M. college of Texas, the President of the Texas Technological college, the President of the University of Texas, the State Health Officer, the State Fire Insurance commissioner, and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Experience And Totalitarian Command Are Ace Cards For Japanese

U. S. Can Upset Tokyo's Plans

BY THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The Japanese leaders who decided to attack the United States are not quite the madmen some Americans would have us believe. They are takers of calculated risks, as all who wage war must be.

And while our leaders and our people believe lust for the treasures of Asia has made them risk too much and calculate too little, yet they have calculated.

Japs Have Experience
We can upset those calculations only if we drop now the great American sport of wishful thinking and take a look at the cards. It requires no card expert to fathom Japan's game. She counts on striking quick, hard blows to win a short, fierce war. And she leads with war's most demoralizing weapon—surprise, backed by its toughest—experience.

In that hardest, best school were taught her seamen who approached Hawaii, her aviators who bombed it, despite our Navy's off-shore patrol and our Army's defenses; her soldiers who have invaded the Philippines and are attacking Malaya.

For ten years, practically, they have been at war, which is a far better teacher than maneuvers—as all old soldiers know. Yet maneuvers are the only preparation any of the troops opposing her, save the under-equipped Chinese, have had.

Big Test Facing Allies
Of the British in the Far East—including Canadians and Australians—almost none has heard a shot fired in anger. Britain's East Indian and Indian armies, totaling a million, comprise diverse and sometimes mutually hostile races and religions, mostly crude farmers inexperienced in mechanics.

The ability, even the willingness, of some to stand with the white man against the Japanese, who, like themselves, are brown, is as uncertain as that of the natives who are Holland's main reliance in the East Indies. Even Russia's Siberian army, if it joins in, has had relatively little fighting experience and has been weakened by the demands of Europe.

Supply Lines Long
And all these armies that have now become our Allies and our advance guard, rely on us for equipment, especially tanks, and the airplanes that are manufactured virtually nowhere in the Far East save in Japan.

The Japanese know our planes must be brought by ship, since neither they nor any other weapons are made in our Philippine outpost. They know also that Lieut. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's 150,000 native troops are still so incompletely trained, especially in teamwork and staffwork, that the islands must be defended largely by American troops.

Of late our garrison has been greatly increased in number and efficiency, but the sudden bombs bursting among them were the first enemy fire they had endured, just as the whole sun onslaught was the first trial by fire of their superiors.

mendous for the Allies than for the Japanese; such as the 7000 miles from California to the Philippines—the three weeks from the Atlantic fleet to the now weakened Pacific fleet—three weeks so long as the Panama Canal works.

Also the very fact that we and our Allies "encircle" them gives the Japanese, broadly speaking, the advantage of interior lines. Within limitations, they have the same advantage that enables Germany to shuttle troops and supplies back and forth between Russia and western Europe while her enemies must go around the block.

Vital Supplies
This Japanese card look a trick, the instant war began. Already it is making our ships go around a block from Hawaii to the Philippines. No longer can they safely run the gantlet of the "mandated" islands that Japan holds because in 1919 we trusted her, let her surround Guam and command essential American trade routes.

Now we must go by a southern route, two thousands miles longer. And "we" means not only our out-bound warships but transports and supply ships and cargo vessels bringing from the East Indies the raw materials that are vital not only to our economic life but to our war-making power.

These include hemp, chrome, graphite, mica, tin, and rubber. The Japanese think they can raid this lifeline with submarines and planes and especially with cruisers.

May Attempt Grand Slam
But beyond mere raiding, the Japanese, if they take Singapore, or perhaps sooner, may try a grand slam. They may try to cut off our supplies at the source by invading not only the British but the Dutch East Indies. One reason they know that our rubber supply will not last a year unless we can miraculously stimulate the growth of our infant synthetic rubber industry.

Brazil's rubber will be too little and too late—200 tons the past month, and just starting. And rubber shortage means creeping paralysis of the automotive industry and transport that are the country's life.

Tokyo Also Needs Supplies
Cards stacked against us? Not a bit. We will lose more tricks than some American wishful thinkers and sound-ers would have us believe. We must face that, and take it to us in all our chips, and fight the harder. Japan's will be early tricks.

As our stockpiles of rubber are too low, so are Japan's stockpiles of more things than rubber. If Japan can hamper our commerce with the East Indies, we, aided by the British and Dutch navies and we hope, the Russian submarines, can strangle hers. We can starve Japan out, in time.

And in time we can learn to fight, and fight better than the Japanese because more intelligently and presently, perhaps, more unitedly—for most Japanese did not want war. They did not have it forced on them by infuriating, treacherous aggression. But, hating Japanese revolt, we cannot fight more bravely than they. This is the fatalistic courage of the timeless East.

Wichita Falls Also Looking Ahead—Here Is Coyotes' Success Secret

BY TOM W. MILLER
United Press Sports Writer
If the Wichita Falls Coyotes win their first state schoolboy football championship this year, it seems to be the payoff year in a generous slice of the credit should go to the "Rowdies."

The red Coyotes have done well without a veteran team of experienced stars. Coach Ted Jeffries had but two lettermen when his squad reported this fall. But this seems to be the payoff year in a generous slice of the credit should go to the "Rowdies."

Backfield Aces In Limelight

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
Bill Blackburn vs. Gene Hill. Ray Borneman vs. Wayland Hill.

There you have the ingredients for a couple of sensational battles in the Texas schoolboy football semi-finals Saturday.

In fact, the all-state backfield is likely to be made up of those four, although their performances this week will have much to do with the ultimate selection.

Dallas Ace Vassatta
Blackburn is the great all-around back of Sunset's mighty undefeated, untied Bison.

Gene Hill is the sensational passer of Wichita Falls' Coyotes. Borneman is the one-man gang of Lamar's Redskins.

Wayland Hill is the great running back of Temple's Wildcats. They present a study in contrasts although each is a star in his own specialty or specialties.

Blackburn is being rated as one of the finest backs of schoolboy history in Dallas. He does everything. He not only is a sensational runner but is a fine kicker, pass-receiver, punger and defensive star.

Lubbock Remembers Hill
Hill's fame comes through the air. In the two games played outside the district—against Lubbock and Ysleta—Hill has passed for seven touchdowns. And that was the total number of touchdowns scored by Wichita Falls.

Borneman is regarded as the prize catch of the year so far as the college scouts are concerned. He weighs 194 lbs. and is so well proportioned he looks like 170. He not only is a terrific punger, but is elusive. He is a great kicker, a fine passer and the whole show on defense.

For instance, Borneman intercepted five Austin passes and when Austin's air game was stopped, so was Austin.

Large Attendance Seen
Hill is the "money player" type. He's the boy who delivers best when the chips are down and everything depends on one big run or one mighty pass.

These four stars will go on display before probably the largest attendance the schoolboy semi-finals ever have had.

Sunset and Wichita Falls will battle at Dal-Hi field, Dallas, at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Just 30 minutes earlier Lamar will tangle with Temple in Rice stadium, Houston.

Rich Sports Events Cancelled In West

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16. (AP)—War cancelled California's rich winter sports program today. Here's what we won't see:

Jan. 1, Pasadena—Rose bowl football game between Oregon State and Duke university, transferred to Anaheim, Calif.

Jan. 1, San Francisco—East-West All-Star football game, to be transferred, possibly, to New Orleans Jan. 3.

Jan. 4, Los Angeles—Pro bowl football game between National League champions and League All-Stars, to be transferred, possibly, to Chicago.

Sensational Schoolboy Battles Expected

Red Raiders Facing Rough Afternoon Against Tulsa

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—If it's true that revenge is sweet, I hope for the sake of the Oregon State football team, the Tournament of Roses committee and the sports writing brotherhood of Los Angeles that Wallace Wade isn't afflicted with a sweet tooth.

If he is, notice is hereby given that all Californians had better plan to spend Jan. 1, 1942, in California—not Carolina.

For if ever a man had a chance to deal from the bottom, to rig the wheel with wire and to cock the dice on at least three sides, the Duke football coach is that man. After 10 years of having to prove that he could take it, Wade has been given an excellent opportunity to dish it out to the same parties who so diligently dish it out to him.

In one fell swoop the Rose bowl game—or is it the tobacco bowl game now?—has come home to Durham, N. C. It has come home to root-right in Wade's backyard and with it come many lingering memories that Wade lets behind him in the big saucer in the arroyo sec on more occasions than he cares to remember.

Would Be Too Busy
Obviously, however, Wade won't take advantage of this chance for eye for eye and a tooth for a toothache. He wouldn't have time, even if he were so inclined. For to be the sort of host he has found the Rose bowl to be in years past, he'd have to refuse Oregon permission to practice in the stadium plant again in every tree top and camouflage every cameraman in Durham with pine cones and turn 'em all loose on the Beaver players.

He'd have to do even more to square the count on petty annoyances and minor humiliations, but there isn't time for that. Whether the Rose bowl was wrong or Wade should be blamed for his own aloofness in public relations makes no difference now. The only thing to remember is that this game must prove an epic in Rose bowl history.

Is A Fine Gesture
For Wade already has repaid evil with good. He alone has kept the 1942 Rose bowl game alive when its abandonment appeared inevitable. He has done this, there should never again be a voice raised against him in Southern California—not even if he should take to smoking opium, dancing in conga lines or writing publicly for the Miami Chamber of Commerce.

In one fine gesture, the Blue Devil coach has torn several very spotted pages from the Rose bowl book. He has come up with a stadium which will seat 55,000 with temporary bleachers and he has said, in effect: "It's all yours; just take it over and manage it as you see fit. You can handle the gate receipts, and everything else. Just move in."

May Like Durham
This is the first really genuine friendly move in a good many years of the Pasadena game, one which has produced notably little of the "good will and peace on earth" spirit which it is supposed to promote. The truth is, more feuds have come out of Pasadena than friendships. Every game has given the parties concerned their second headache of the holidays.

What Wade will do now is try to make his visitors feel at home. Of course, he won't be able to make them feel completely at home unless he declares open season on himself, too. It would be a nice party, because the Duke people were Rose bowl guests themselves once and didn't like the treatment. Now they can correct what they disliked.

I hope they don't make things too nice down here in Durham, though, because I'm a Californian myself and I know what the reaction may be. If ever those Pasadenaans attend a football game when all the traffic isn't routed over one road, when parking facilities are adequate, and when they don't have to wait five hours after the game ends to go home—Well . . .

Well, I'm afraid those Pasadenaans may tell Durham: "You keep the Rose bowl, we like it better here. And, after all, we can drive home just as fast from Durham as from the arroyo sec."

Durham To Be Site Of Game

(By The Associated Press)
DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 16.—The scene of football's oldest and biggest extravaganza—the Rose Bowl game—shifted cross country today to the land of tobacco.

War cancelled the big New Year's Day contest between Duke university and Oregon State as far as the huge Rose bowl stadium, the Tournament of Roses and Pasadena are concerned.

60,000 Tickets Sold
There was little doubt that the game would be played here January 1. Governor J. M. Broughton of North Carolina personally intervened and assumed Washington officials that the game would not interfere with the state's defense program. He then announced: "I think the army will give its permission."

Military expediency demanded blackout of the game on the California coast. Sixty thousand tickets had been sold for approximately $254,000. The money will be refunded by individual check with Oregon State assuming the postage bill. Rose bowl officials hope to recover at Durham $30,000 already spent on game preliminaries.

Celebration Planned
Fast on the heels of the announcement that the game would be played here as an official Rose bowl engagement, came word from civic leaders that a celebration, though not as elaborate as the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, was in the making.

Duke stadium will seat more than 50,000 persons and tickets will sell for $4.40 apiece.

Cotton Bowl Tilt To Be Held As Planned

DALLAS, Dec. 16. (AP)—Unless there is a drastic change in the military situation in this area the Cotton bowl football game will be played New Year's day.

Dan D. Rogers, Cotton bowl president, said he had received official word of that decision from Maj. Gen. Richard Donovan of the Eighth corps area. Officials disclosed approximately 37,000 of the 45,000 seats in the bowl already have been sold for the clash between the Texas Aggies and Alabama.

CROPS WELL OUT
LEHMAN—Both cotton and feed crops in this section of Cochran county are well out. Farmers estimated 75 per cent of the cotton and as much, if not more, of the feed, is harvested. There are 1,300 bales of cotton on gin yards here.

Huge Army Of Civilians On Guard Against Surprise Air Attacks

Men Are Ready Day And Night To Warn Of Hostile Planes

EDITOR'S NOTE: Japan's surprise attack on the United States inspired the average man and woman to ask, "What can I do?" Wide World staff reporter John Lear has for the federal government to find out. This is the first of three daily stories. Tomorrow: What to do before any bombs fall.

BY JOHN LEAR
WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(Wide World)—An army of civilians bigger than the number of United States soldiers at the time Germany invaded Poland is on the watch today against surprise air raids on this country's coasts.

Up and down the Atlantic and the Pacific and across the Gulf of Mexico, men are ready day and night to warn the land of enemy bombers.

Like a safety belt 400 miles wide, they girdle the continent. Join their ranks, one government official says, and you can fight the Axis with your own bare hands.

You Don't Need A Gun
"You don't need a gun. You don't need military training. You don't need to be so many years old, or have so many teeth. Even flat feet can't stop you.

For this is America's civilian protection army. Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York is its commander-in-chief, and its personnel is exclusively volunteer everyday citizens, banded together in their own home towns to protect their homes, their families, and their way of life.

Mayor La Guardia has promised that anyone who wishes may join his army.

A Place For Yourself
In this story, you may see a place for yourself.

The front lines of this defense force stretch over hills and tall buildings tops from Maine through Florida, Texas and California and up to the state of Washington. Every 32 square miles of land lying within an hour's flying time of any point on the country's coastline has its corps of watchers constantly scanning the sky.

Backstopped by the keen ears of mechanical sound detectors secretly located at strategic spots, these volunteer men — and women — report to a central office when they enter the field of the glasses they sweep across the heavens. The direction of the ship, its markings, the number of its motors, all are noted.

Course Is Charted
Within ten seconds of the sighting of a plane in the sky, the news has traveled a fast telephone line into what is known as a filter center. There the plane's presence is marked on a map and its course charted. Speed can be gauged by the number of motors as well as the watcher's calculations.

Ten seconds later, the news has traveled another fast line to an information center — if the filter center knows the plane not to be on a scheduled commercial flight. Now the plane is marked on a bigger map.

If warnings from the observation outpost (hundreds of them have been heard from by the time the regional information center is reached) indicate a raid, an army officer plugs in a telephone line direct to the airfield nearest the approaching invaders and orders defender ships aloft. Watching the map, where the invasion movement is plotted minute by minute, he talks into the earphones of the defender pilots, guiding them until they make visible contact with the foe.

Units Put On The Alert
On other telephone lines, anti-aircraft units are put on the alert and moved about to harass the enemy.

While all this is going on, a man who is not in uniform, an ordinary citizen like yourself, is sliding over the map a transparent disk geometrically lined in three differently colored circles. The inner circle is red, the second circle blue, and the outer circle yellow. This map is the civil air raid warning officer.

As the raiders move along, the center of the disk is placed on each plane. The yellow circle encompasses certain areas. In a switchboard in front of him, the officer and his aides plug in a yellow phone line.

Miles away, in little offices in district air raid warning centers, yellow lights glow, and some average citizen in each one, on duty as a volunteer, throws a double row of switches and speaks into a telephone one code word. In fifteen different towns roundabout, the local air raid officer gets the news in this one word. With a prearranged telephone signal, he warns the police and the fire companies to be ready. He gets his bomb spotters out.

Bombs May Start
In 20 minutes the bombs may begin to fall.

In five minutes —

Military men say what happens in those last five minutes depends most of all on you. Will you be ready? Will your town be ready? The greatest fear military leaders have in connection with air raids is that you will not be ready, that you will not take the possibility of bombings seriously enough to organize in advance. They cite the case of San Francisco, the night of Monday, December 8, when a blackout test left the outlines of the city plainly visible from the sky.

You, with your own bare hands, can do much to defeat the enemy, they say, if you want to badly enough. Because, they say, bombing can have greatest effect only when people are panicky. There will be no panic if you do your part.

Texas Fourth With Men In Services

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Texas, ranking sixth among the states in population on the basis of 1940 figures, stood fourth in the number of men it had in the Army in June.

The strength of the armed forces is restricted information since the United States has no independent nation but according to the last public figures the Lone Star state, with a population of 6,416,321, had 71,126 in the Army.

New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, first, second and third in population, were in that order in the number of soldiers. Although Ohio and California surpass Texas in the number of residents they are behind in enrollment of regulars, national guardsmen and selectees.

Oklahoma, 22nd in population, stands 15th in the Army, ranking with 26,768 troops out of a population of 2,329,903.

Twenty-Seven Enlist In Army Monday

Twenty-seven Army enlistments were reported here Monday by Major Joseph R. Pelier, district recruiting officer.

Twenty men were enlisted for the air corps at Sheppard field, Wichita Falls. They were Emmett L. Adams, Paul V. Watkins, Orvil L. Oden, Lewis Embry, Odes Q. Jones, Glen Bundy, Melford B. Condon, Luther W. Butler, Goran L. Thomas, Charles C. Carter, Thomas L. Pearson, James B. Kirk, Robert H. Ogerly and John W. Crisswell, jr., all of Lubbock; John G. McPherson, Elliott D. Lee, Harvey L. Hooten, Jr., and Cleo E. Russell, all of Amarillo; Lee A. Herridge of Plainview; and Winford A. Sargent, Pampa.

Other enlistments reported were: Floyd Barbee, Harry Hodge, Edward G. Robgood and John T. Henderson, all of Lubbock, and George B. Fields, jr., of Amarillo, all to Fort Sill, Okla.; George H. Redmond, Lubbock, coast artillery in Hawaii; and John B. Mayo, III, to eighth corps area air corps detachment.

HOPING TO RETURN—Nineteen-year-old Lou Hubbard, wife of Carroll Hubbard, formerly the "Little Caesar" of Senator Lee O'Daniel's hillbilly band in Washington, is still in Washington employed as secretary in the office of an English woolen tailoring company, but she is hoping soon to rejoin her husband, who has left the band and returned to Texas.

Two Of Senator O'Daniel's Musical Minute-Men Leave For Open Spaces Of Texas

BY L. T. EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Back to the open spaces of Texas where the O'Daniel hillbilly band less than four years ago bloomed overnight from flour-settling to political potency have gone two of the junior Senator's musical minute-men.

Little Caesar and Klondike they were to radio listeners down in Lee O'Daniel's bailiwick. In real life they are brothers, Carrol and Leon Hubbard of Fort Worth, both violin players, 22 and 16 years of age respectively.

These personnel changes are the latest among the members of the band that is indelibly identified with O'Daniel's political career.

Recruit From Maryland
The only member of the band without a government job is a new recruit—John Maryland.

While Carrol and Leon have both returned to Texas, Little Caesar and Klondike live on in the weekly radio broadcasts of the Texas senator. Their parts are filled by new members of the band. The story of the brief existence of the Hubbard boys in the program originating in Washington came from pretty 19-year-old Lou Hubbard, wife of Carrol.

The auburn-haired, blue eyed young woman remained here, she said, because they didn't have enough money to buy transportation home. Employed at $17 a

Marines Are Asking For More Japanese

HONOLULU, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Take it for what it's worth, but this is the story that has been circulating in Honolulu. When Navy officials established contact with the Marine garrison defending tiny Wake Island they asked, "Is there anything you want?" "Yes," came the reply, "send us some more Japs."

Says O'Daniel The Best
Mrs. O'Daniel always accompanies her husband to the studio and waits outside, but in range of loudspeakers until the recording is over. The director of the studio, Robert J. Coak, says that the senator is the best program director of all the Congressmen and Senators who use the recording facilities.

It was at one of these broadcasts that the Senator authorized the members of his band to acknowledge their real life identity to the public. All of them are employed on the side, but in capacities where they seldom come in contact with visiting Texans. They appear to be mostly in their early twenties.

Four Have Federal Jobs
Of the five only the Maryland youth, Little Caesar, is in private employment. He works at one of the big local department stores. Perrin (Texas Songbird) works in the Senate office building post-office. Kitty Williamson (Texas Rose) works as a clerk in a back office of the senator. Searcy (Klondike) operates an elevator in the senate wing of the capitol.

Bratcher (Ezra) passed civil service examinations and went to work as a clerk in the War department.

Explaining why he identified his band members only by their radio characters, the Senator noted that over the many years he had made broadcasts with his Hillbilly band there had been a great number of musicians to fill the various roles. Consequently, his listeners have come to know the bandmen by their play characters.

It was in one of these turnovers that the Hubbard brothers were replaced.

Leons Cause Senator Trouble
The wife of Carrol said difficulty arose over conflicts between the program recording hour and night high school classes the 16-year-old Hubbard brother (who was Klondike) planned to take. She said the upshot was that Leon was let out of the band and Carrol (her husband) quit in sympathy with him.

The brothers went home together by train, continued the young wife, with the understanding he would stay here and work, and that as soon as her husband lined up with some musical organization she would follow.

She said she and her husband met a little more than two years ago while he was on a band tour to her home town of Danzey, Ark., and expressed the hope they would be reunited by Dec. 16, their second wedding anniversary.

Another Leon Recalled
It was another young man whose real name was Leon that caused a minor sensation when he and the Hillbilly band came to the parting of the ways during O'Daniel's incumbency as governor.

Leon, the Texas Songbird, Huff was just a big, blond tenor who was adept at hymns as he was at hillbilly tunes, and whose playing guitar was a feature of O'Daniel's first whirlwind musical campaign across Texas.

O'Daniel was seeking his second term as governor and an opponent was Jerry Sadler, member of the railroad commission. One day Leon appeared in the Capitol press room at Austin and startled the correspondents when he shouted: "Hurray for Sadler."

Huff and several other musicians accompanied Sadler on his campaign tours, in the race in which O'Daniel led and Sadler ran fifth.

While playing for O'Daniel in his governor's mansion broadcasts, Huff held a state job with the adjutant general's department. Others of the band also had state jobs—Texas Rose, for example, with the secretary of state.

For The Love Of Pete

BY BURTON BENJAMIN Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: When State's star footballer, Pete Laird, lost his head at a crucial point in the game with Minnesota...

NICE BLOCKING, BOY CHAPTER XII: George Landers looked up from his hospital bed and saw Pete Laird in the doorway.

"Not until you hear what I have to say," Pete moved toward the bed. "Even a criminal gets that break."

"Make it quick," Landers didn't even look at him. "I've got an idea," said Laird, "an idea how we can beat Notre the latest—and doubtless the last—issue of the propaganda sheet in the light of recent events the current issue of 'The Review' would be hilariously funny...

"The Review" would be hilariously funny, if it did not have a background of blood and tears, and as nasty a piece of treachery as the world has ever seen.

"The Review" simply accentuates the devilry of the collective minds of the Jap government.

The sheet must have been printed only a few days prior to Sunday's blitz in the Pacific, since it was published in New York, was mailed second class and did not reach Lubbock until the morning of December 11—four days after the war began.

"Lubbock until the morning of December 11—four days after the war started and mailed on the very day Japan sneaked in to smash at Honolulu.

Anyhow, now grim Americans may get a very smile out of some of the items in the sheet which is made up in tabloid newspaper style.

"We'll give you some of the headlines from the publication circulated in this country by some of our 'lovely friends' in the far Pacific.

"No! I'm not in the age I read 'Hopeful Tone Sounds Amid Secrecy of Washington-Tokyo Discussions'...

"Another head went: 'Britain Shows Japan Share in Materials Now' another, 'Seattle Churches Laud Good Character of Japanese and Pledge Aid in Army Crisis'...

"Calls Nippon Her Motherland Through Adoption," says the paper, which gives a column to the alleged interview 'Voicing Love for Japan'.

Two inside pages are given over to pictures showing high Japanese officials, including Kurosu and Nomura, grinning happily and amiably at American diplomats, including Secretary Hull...

"We can all be patriots in one way or another—even if our patriotism is neither sensational, nor the object of loud applause."

WHAT with conditions as they are, and all a little foolishness certainly isn't out of order. So-o.

A traveler in the middle of the Sahara desert stopped his camel in surprise at the same, across a pedestrian, clad only in a bathing suit.

"Where on earth are you going?" asked the man on the camel. "Goin' swimmin'," said the other.

"For Pete's sake," ejaculated the camel rider, "you're a hundred miles from the sea!" "Yep," returned the other complacently. "Wide beach, ain't it?"

Today's Journal Editorial

DANGERS OF WARTIME EPIDEMICS A headline in The Evening Journal, Monday, read: 'Typhus Outbreak Now Raging Over Europe.' Extensive detail was lacking.

However, it was a reminder of one of the worst dangers bred by war. It is a danger recognized and feared by those most competent to recognize and fear it.

It is the danger of disease. It is the danger of an epidemic far worse than any of those that have visited man from time to time.

Obviously, no soil could be so fertile for such an epidemic as that of war, when men and nations are so engaged with one another it would be almost impossible to unite them, until too late, in resisting a common enemy like disease.

Unhappily, there is no practical answer to this danger. About all that can be done is for each nation, with particular reference to America, to maintain a standard of national health so high that it will offer natural resistance to any epidemic that may break out.

Dame Saturday. "Yeah," sneered Landers. "Send Stephanie to South Bend!" "Forget her," said Pete evenly. "I have. By request."

"You mean—Landers bolted upright in bed. "What's your idea, Pete?" "Twenty minutes later Laird got up from the bedside. "Well, George," he said anxiously, "what say? Will you back me up?"

"All the way, son," Landers grinned and Laird felt a thrill. One barrier was down.

"Dinty Dugan sprang a bombshell Monday. After running over movies of the Minnesota debacle he stepped before the squad. "There'll be a change in the lineup Saturday," he announced. "Sheridan will start at tailback."

Stunned, the squad stared at Dugan. Laird a blocker? Was Dugan crazy? Why that guy would dirty his hands if there wasn't a headline in it, Pete sat there grimly, expressionless.

Pete Laird learned to be a full guy that week. His body and shoulders pained him, and his head was filled with new assignments and plays. Pat Lester spent hours with him every afternoon, and at night Pete would drag himself to the hospital for a session with George Landers.

They charted plays, talked strategy, tapped Landers' vast store of knowledge. Anne opened the door one night and found Pete administering a body block on the bed post and George sitting up in bed yelling: "That's it, Pete! Ride that end out on 62, else you're all jammed up!" Landers noticed Anne standing there and winked. Her face was aglow and her eyes shining. She winked back and shut the door silently.

Saturday came—brisk and clear. Despite a week's cramming, Laird felt leery. As he dressed in the locker room Dugan came over and rested his hand on Laird's shoulder.

"Pete," he said, "you've done a marvelous job. I know your head's full of plays, but I want you to help Billy Sheridan all you can out there today. Keep on feeding him advice. He can use it."

"You bet," Laird nodded. "I figured on doing that."

They trotted out on the field. It felt strange yelling signals as they ran through plays. "One—two—three—hike," "one—two—three—hike."

State received the kickoff. Sheridan spearing it on the 10-yard line.

ON BROADWAY (Copyright 1941, by The Journal)

RUSSELL SWANN, the magician who became a comedian, was offered a job by the Music Corporation of America booking dept. . . Swann thought the salary too small and turned it down. "I don't mind your offering me such a small salary," he said, "but aren't you ashamed to work for such a small commission?"

A Broadway actor wrote the gov't saying he'd like to know what he could do to help the men in the service. They told him they'd like him to go to Iceland and tell some jokes to the men there.

"Iceland?" he exclaimed, "Any way there?" "You'll only be gone for forty days," the voice said. "I can't go," he replied, "I don't look good in a life preserver!"

NEVER Give Up the Ship Dept: Several years ago a young author became discouraged about a sea novel he was trying to write. He told his agent, Ed Bodin, that he didn't think he could finish it. . . To which Bodin wisely counseled him: "The strongest boats in any port harbor are the tugboats. And the tug is a true anagram for guts. You'll never dock without same."

The discouraging WINCHELL Richard Sale. The advice helped him finish his manuscript, which Simon & Schuster published under the title: "Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep" . . . On the screen it was called "Strange Cargo."

How to Write Movies in One Easy Lesson In Sun Valley, California, Joan Davis meets Milton Berle in a resort. She asks him for a contribution for charity and he donates a dime. . . A few hundred feet later on in the film, Miss Davis again encounters him and requests another contribution. "Hey, hey, Berle, 'I gave you something before!'" "So," Joan exclaims, "you're the guy!" . . . And so saying she puts a huge "X" on Berle's sweater and zig-zags from the scene while the audience roars, laughs and holds its sides.

From the column of January 24th, 1940: It is supposed to have happened in one of Broadway's shadier joints. A cagey chorus girl, slightly tipsy, has on equally lippy-gentle and is giving him a sobby saga. . . Rent due, an ailing mother, an unemployed father and brother, etc., rah-rah. . . And so the hiccuppy listener slipped her $50.

AN HOUR later she met the man in the hat and started to unfold her story. "Hey," he interrupted, "you told me that story an hour ago!" . . . And so the gal took out her lipstick and put an "X" on his forehead and zig-zagged away.

AL JOLSON'S intimates caution the name of Ruby Keeler, his ex-wife. "He isn't carrying any torch for her," they explain, "but it reminds him of a headache he has gotten over."

A moment later in one of the elevators at the Hotel Lord Tarleton in Miami Beach, Jolson started teasing one of the pretty girls who operate the elevators. "He said, 'Is it Flo, Flossie, Frederica, Faany, Freda, Fay or Frenesi?'" "It's the nicest name in the world," she said, "it's Ruby."

Speaking of lurch-carriers, the name Mr. Jolson was arguing the subject with a chum, whose wife went to Reno. "I suppose," said the chum, "the best way to get over 'the lurch' is to go out and look for another love."

"You can't look for it," said Mr. J., "you've got to find it!"

LIBBER-McGEE relays the one about the horse that went up to the Mutuels window at the race track. "I want to put two dollars on myself in the next race," it said. . . The teller got as white as a sheet. "I don't believe it," he exclaimed. "I just don't believe it!" "Don't believe I can talk, eh?" said the horse.

"No," sneered the teller, "I don't believe you can win."

A refugee, noting the American flag flying from the Waldorf, remarked that our national emblem was a "bit peculiar." The red and white stripes, he observed, "look like a peppermint stick."

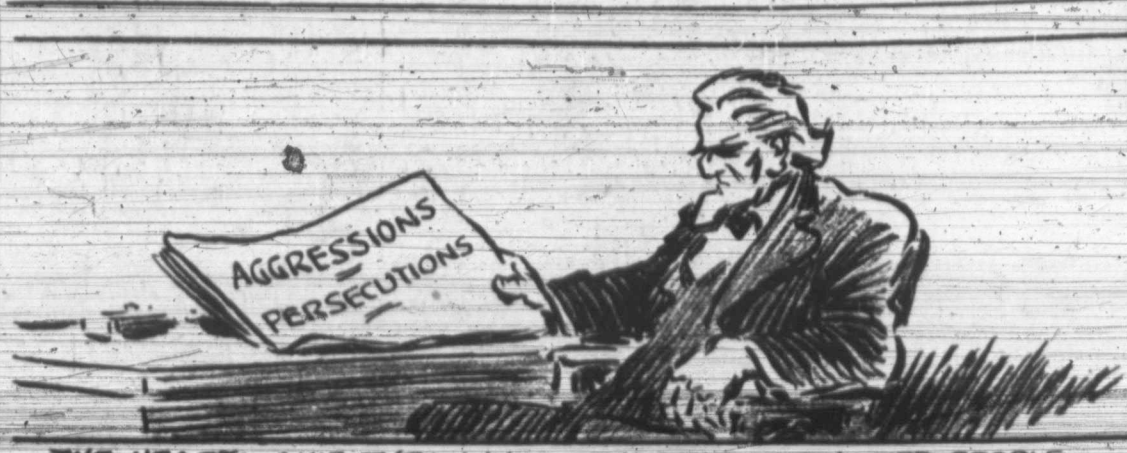

"Yep," yipped a cab driver, "the kind of peppermint stick that makes everybody sick who tries to lick it."

pulled out from his guard position and cut down the line-backer and Sheridan followed Laird into the secondary.

Only two men could reach them and Pete saw them cutting across the field to position themselves.

Only Ultimate Ruin Can Face Land Of Rising Sun Jap Economy Is Not Geared For New Strain

BY PETER EDSON Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The wonder of it is how the Japanese statesmen figure they can afford to take on a war against both the United States and Great Britain, considering only Japan's unquestionably lousy economic position. Four years of war weariness are just a beginning. On top of that is a general business recession that points only to ultimate economic ruin.

The Department of Commerce information on Japan's internal economy and her foreign trade present the real picture. Here is a country which is only half self-sufficient in normal and piping times of peace.

More than 50 per cent of these imports have come from the countries on which Japan now wages war—the United States, Great Britain, Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. All this trade it now kisses goodbye. And it is only from these countries that Japan can obtain the metals, chemicals, petroleum and machinery which are vital to its heavy industries.

With the door now slammed on these natural sources of supply, Japan has been set back on her own heels and the resources of what are known as the yen bloc countries, Manchuria, Kwantung and occupied China. These countries, while they are valuable customers for the materials which Japan manufactured from raw materials imported from other countries, are no good as sources of raw materials. Japan itself therefore must become the source of whatever it can scrape together to keep going.

Salvage A Big Business The result has been a series of salvage campaigns that make our aluminum and wastepaper collections look like the picnic affairs they really were. Scrap iron has become almost as precious as Japanese pearls. Manhole covers, sheet iron roofing and the ornamental iron fences around government buildings have disappeared. Salvaging of ships wrecked and sunk off Japan's rocky coasts has become a leading industry.

Transportation has been cut drastically. There is a shortage of coal, further cut by the necessity of using more coal to reduce such low-grade iron ores as can be obtained from the yen bloc countries. Motor vehicles are at a premium and such as there are in bad repair. Gasoline and oil must go almost entirely to the military uses. Buses and taxis can no longer use gasoline and oil, and even the substitute fuels, like charcoal gas, are under government regulation.

Plant operation has been curtailed not only because of the shortage of raw materials, but also by a shortage of skilled labor. Night shifts have been eliminated. Glass manufacturers were reduced in number from nearly 4000 to 50. Japan's once-thriving cotton textiles trade has been cut 50 per cent. The United States, India and Brazil were formerly chief sources of Japanese raw cotton, but shipping shortages and embargoes have cut off these supplies and the raising of cotton in occupied China has been a disappointment.

Silk Becomes Surplus Japan's world-wide export business, once accounted for a third of the country's sales abroad. Raw silk has been the one raw material of which Japan had a sufficiency, and now it is an unappreciable surplus because the United States and Great Britain have stopped buying.

Limitation of the silk industry has meant that much of the average in mulberry trees is being converted to food crops, and this tells the story of Japan's food shortage. Originally, only rice and wheat were rationed, but early in 1941 fish, eggs, meat, rice wine, bread and edible oils were restricted. In October the government added to the list cow peas and buckwheat.

Price control measures have been applied with a vengeance in an effort to curb an increase in the cost of foodstuffs and commodities which, at the 1940 retail level, have been 46 per cent above the average of 1936 when the China campaign began. Compared with 1914, the living cost in 1940 was 266 per cent higher.

The Japanese national debt has tripled from 10 billion yen to nearly 30 billion. The sale of the China campaign alone has cost 22 billion yen, but that's nothing compared to what this war against the United States and Great Britain will cost. And the question naturally arises as to how any country can wage a war on an economy like that.

Mid-Winter Cherry Blossoms JAPAN HAS SIX cities of more than a million population—Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, Kyoto, Kobe and Yokohama. . . Tokyo, with 4,800,000, is third largest city in the world. . . Japan's total population is 105 million. . . In 1929, last full year for which Japanese statistics are available, Japan's exports were 2.9 billion yen, her exports 3.5 billion yen. . . The Love Of Pete

"They're too close together," he thought. "Maybe I can knock 'em both."

Pete charged low into the first defender and sent him sprawling backward toward his teammate. The second Irish back saw what was coming and tried desperately to get out of the way, without losing position. But he couldn't do it. He tripped heavily over Pete's head and neck and Sheridan raced by into the clear.

The crowd was insane. No one noticed two Notre Dame men rise gloomily to their feet, nor did anyone see a State man lying unconscious on the ground. While the cry was "Sheridan!" "Sheridan!" Pete Laird went off the field on a stretcher.

Joey Anderson, cool as an iceberg, stepped into the huddle. "This kick's for George," he said, and then, looking up, "and for Pete, too." He split the uprights. State led 7 to 6. The gun barked two minutes later.

Pete opened his eyes slowly and started at the white ceiling of the hospital. Anna Humphreys stood beside him. A large curtain obscured the rest of the room.

"Pete," it was Anne whispering. "Pete, darling..."

"It's you, Anne. He rubbed his eyes in surprise. "What are you—I mean why?"

"How are you feeling, darling?"

"Not bad." He managed a faint smile. "Little dizzy, that's all. Who won?"

"We did!" She rung his hand. "Thanks to you."

"Thanks to you?" He shook his head. "Sheridan was the boy. Great kid!"

"Pete..." she rested her head on his chest. "Darling, you're you again. You're real and I'm proud of you."

"But, Anne," he was bewildered. "I don't understand. What about you—and George?"

"What about him?" Landers belatedly it as he pushed his head through the curtain. "How can I compete with a guy who blocks like that?"

Pete stared at George, then at Anne. A big grin spread across his face. "What a bump I must have got!" He said, taking her in his arms.

Landers pulled back the curtain and picked up his magazine. "Glamor in the Rough" was the story's title. He laughed softly to himself and turned the page.

Lone Star State's War Effort Gaining Momentum

Protection For REA Lines Talked Here

Steps to protect lines and other properties of rural electrification cooperatives against sabotage were planned by officials of South Plains and New Mexico groups at a meeting here Monday in offices of South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc. according to W. G. Newton, manager.

A resolution asked specifically that all persons refrain from shooting birds perched on electric lines, he said.

The resolution also pledged every effort to increased production of foodstuffs.

Among those present at the meeting were Garland Pennington, superintendent and John Heck, president of the Lytlegar cooperative at Tahoka; O. K. Woodall, superintendent of Lamb county cooperative at Littlefield; Cecil McLaury, superintendent of Bailey county cooperative at Muleshoe; Mr. Scott and Bob Kuykendall, representing the Swisher county cooperative at Tulla; L. W. Chapman, superintendent of the Floyd county cooperative; O. B. Bryan, Caprock cooperative at Big Spring; Oliver Kimbrough, Curry county cooperative at Clovis, N. M.; James A. Salisbury, NEA field representative on applications and loans; and Cliff Anderson, REA field engineer.

Sale Of Bonds Rises Sharply

(By The Associated Press)

Texas' war effort is gaining momentum.

Post offices are selling defense bonds so fast that the supply is running out. Receipts were issued to buyers in some instances until the bonds could be received from the treasury department.

C. T. Rattan, Dallas post office money order cashier, received 2,000 bonds of the $25 denomination. He had requisitioned 5,000 from Washington on Nov. 23.

They're Crying For Them

The 2,000 just arrived will not last more than a week, he said.

"We have stacks of telegrams and many telephone calls asking us to furnish more bonds, with virtually every first and second class post office in the northern half of Texas crying for them."

Texas landowners pledged their wholehearted support in the nation's war effort at a meeting of supervisors of 71 soil conservation districts at Temple.

V. C. Marshall, administrator for the state soil conservation board, told the conference that state and federal agencies serving in the districts are assisting disparting cooperators to develop farming and ranching systems which can be readily adjusted to production of whatever foods, fibers and vegetable oils are necessary for America and her Allies.

Economy Is Practiced

The state department of health at Austin put into practice wartime economy by using post cards whenever possible instead of letters to save postage.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said the cards would bear the slogan "Using this card saves two cents for defense."

Governor Coke Stevenson turned over to county and municipal defense coordinators offers of cooperation from heads of veterans' organizations for emergency duty during the crisis.

"These are the men who brought prestige to our country and victory for our cause in former wars," the governor said.

"They know the lessons of discipline, obedience and courage in."

ODD GATHERINGS

A total of 836 congresses, assemblies and exhibitions were held in Europe during 1940. Among the most unusual were the International Congress of Tramps; the International Congress of Lodgers and a gathering of 20,000 herring fishermen.

The board of directors of the State Fair of Texas made plans to operate the exposition in 1942 despite the emergency.

Dinner Is Called Off

But State Democratic Chairman E. B. Germany called off next year's Jackson day dinner, saying there are no more Democrats and Republicans while this war is on.

There was no immediate danger that the sixth annual Cotton Bowl game scheduled in Dallas January 1 between the University of Alabama and Texas A. and M. college would be cancelled.

Commanding General Richard Donovan of the Eighth corps area at Fort Sam Houston told President Dan D. Rogers of the Cotton bowl committee that unless there was a drastic change for the worse in the war situation he would not consider it necessary to request cancellation of the gridiron attraction.

In Texas newspapers appeared an advertisement of the U. S. maritime commission for young men to apply for jobs in the U. S. merchant marine. The "coast guard" also made known its need for recruits.

On Way To Camp

Earl Thomas, Carothers, of Dallas, intended to enlist in the Army air corps. Yesterday the recruiting station told him to drop by and get some papers. Today he is on his way to a training camp.

Robert Hoyt Bradley, cross-country hitchhiker, drifted into a Longview drug store and some boys asked him why he didn't join the Army. Bradley explained that he was under 21, had no one to sign his enlistment papers. A guardian was officially appointed, signed the papers and Robert is on his way to a training base.

Initial enrollment of applicants for raid wardens in Dallas totaled 500 persons, including 30 women.

C. A. Matney, in charge of the civilian defense division, announced.
